Does a country get the government it deserves? Does it get the television and radio it wants? Recently there has been much talk in public, press and parliament on the dangers of monopoly. But there are some advantages. Monopoly as understood by the British brings with it in high degree a sense of responsibility to the nation.

The BBC, entrusted with this, responds by projecting Britain's impartiality in news, its traditions and cultural heritage—in radio through its Home, Light and Third programs—in television by its special programs for children, housewives, for lovers of opera, ballet and the classics. Star actor Donald Wolft received typical letter after two-hour "King John": "We are working class and just got our television; I do hope we will have a lot more Shakespeare. It shows us our own old England as we never knew it before."

Serious side of television strikes with "World Survey." "Foreign never knew it before."

Serious side of television strikes with "World Survey," "Foreign Correspondent," "Eye of the Artist." "Matters of Life and Death," "Science Surveys." Dramatized documentary may be unlikely to attract sponsors, but the BBC's TV made considerable impact with such subjects of social importance as "Dangerous Drugs" and "The Rising Twenties"—series designed to help Teenagers with such problems as life in Army Call-up, Boys' Clubs, First Job or as Factory or Salesgirl.

75% British Isles Coverage

Television now has five transmitters and covers 75% of the British Isles. Predominance of plays in full is making remote rural dwellers drama-minded and standard TV schedules include Ibsen, Tchekov, Turgenev along with Priestley, Rattigan and new works of all sorts. Three recent TV hits, "Albert R.N.," "Dial M for Murder" and "Night of the Fourth" have now gravitated to the theatre, with no doubt movies to follow.

with no doubt movies to follow.

In its responsibility to minorities the BBC sets its professional standards very high and in "Solo Performance" when top stars speak poetry makes no concession to popularity; feels that can well be left to the vast Staurday night audiences for "Music Hall" or Vic Oliver's potpourri of show business.

ness.

Who but a monopoly would put on special programs of "Triumph over Adversity," of Amputees, of backward infants, or items for deaf children? Children's TV programs, strictly rationed to one-hour daily, have since their start been acknowledged of real interest to their young audience and are graded to guide juniors into wise channels.

The halance of political continuous guide juniors into wise channels.

The balance of political opinion is carefully preserved in the exact proportion to the parties. General responsibility stretches to audition units for drama, music and variety. TV further recently established a paid training course for new producers, with side courses for would-be script writers and designers.

The British care of proportion be script writers and designers.

The British sense of proportion takes the form of limiting hours, rather than increasing them, for the good of standards of art and performance. Of course a contributory factor is the country's forced preoccupation with rearmament limiting present studios and gear to London, though mobile units range about the provinces. This accentuates Britain's strong regionalism, forcing attention, as well as by new advisory committees, on the claims of Scottish and Welsh programs on say the Midlands and North as well as London and the South, which have dominated the scene since 1936.

Monopoly vs Salaries

Monopoly vs Salaries

Monopoly vs Salaries

One argument against monopoly from artists' point of view is modest fees for complicated work (full length play involves three weeks) and no prospects of real increases while publications and License revenue one and one-half million paying TV £1) remain BBC's sole income, now raided by 15% for the Government funds with Post Office charging collection fees besides. Another argument is lack of alternative program, a single knob to turn on and the public forced to take what it gets. BBC's reply to this is, small regional alternatives to the national network. But the single program has a virtue all its to won if based on a well-balanced plan. London is vastly cosmopole itan. BBC wants the world's best and employs large numbers of force in the second of the doubt before.

This year TV will already have seen the Royal Funeral, two TV exhibitions, two new transmitters (bringing TV within range of 6,000,000 more viewers) as well as the Olympics, Wimbledon, Edinburgh Festival, I.E.E. Convention and a Commonwealth Broadcasting Conference. BBC's new Monday through Friday 15-minute Newsreel allows special stories to develop at more leisurely tempo than formerly. formerly.

velop at more leisurely tempo than formerly.

For the Englishman foreign travel is so restricted on only £25 allowance as to be negligible. TV programs "About Britain" and "London Town" are starting to "sell" Britain to Britons. On top BBC has launched into Europe with a week in Parls, so that Scottish crofter has been vicariously taken inside "Nouvelle Eve" nightery, up the Eliffel Tower, into the Louvre. With TV started in Italy, Holland, Denmark and contemplated in Switzerland, Spain, Belgium and Germany the European links are forging rapidly. Russia is still unknown as TV quantity.

On credit side in Britain for performer, since TV is still a novelty, is knowledge that entire country is virtually watching everything that comes on the screen. With no competition a star can be made by only a few programs. Many artists in the States faced by fierce parallel competition, have only added to their radio value by new reputations gained in another medium like films. England being compact geographically, a London star can play in West End stage success, make films by day, and turn in radio and TV guest shots at weekends, so keeping in touch with the whole population on all fronts.

On the debit side of TV monop-

CURT MASSEY

Now in his fourth year for Alka-Selt-zer on "Curt Massey Time" with Martha Tilton and Country Wash-burne's orchestra. Heard on more than 700 stations of the CBS and Mutual networks and Radio Luxem-bourg in Europe. Coral Record artist.

oly is staff's own situation since de-dicated experts have no other out-let in case of clash of views. Artists must also accept a decision as to employment without appeal to rival networks.

networks.

Some feel the BBC could adopt a bold policy now towards sponsorship and save high capital cost of rival transmitters and adaptors on receivers by offering certain hours commercially, say 6-8 p.m. or 10-12 p.m. reserving only rights of-control over quality and credits.

trol over quality and credits.

When all ingredients are added, with Britain so conscious of its post-war problems, strategic, monetary, housing, manpower, markets and the rest, and since all are assiduously brought right into the parlor, Television is truly changing life in Britain and, thanks to monopoly, TV is causing the nation to be thoughtful.

WFIL Ups Harrison Philadelphia, July 15.

Charles F. Harrison, Jr., has been named news editor of WFIL and WFIL-TV.

Harrison formerly held a similar post with the Sawyer chain of stations in Ohio, including WING, WIZE and WCOL,

The Slings and Arrows of Outrageous TV Fortunes By EDWARD D. MADDEN (NBC-TV Network Operations, Sales V.P.)

To Be or Not to Be:

To Be or Not to Be:
That is the question . . . which stirs Hamlet in his famed Act III, Scene I soliloquy. "Whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune" we will not discuss; but I think there is a 20th Century equivalent of Hamlet's ponderous problem which bears discussion.
That is, to be or not to be in To on_a participating basis. This is the question which faces many advertisers today.
Obviously. most advertisers

advertisers today.

Obviously, most advertisers would like to have their own executarism television program, but the impact of this TV cost on total advertising budgets makes necessary a careful scrutiny of the multiple participation type of show.

A look at the media purchases of the 50 leading national advertiers shows the importance of this cost-sharing principle: which we advanced as a new advertising concept three years ago. Of the leading advertisers, 48 are using television. Thirty-six of these are using some form of participating sponsorship. In the second group of the next 50 leading advertisers, 35 are using television and 19 of them are using some form of participating sponsorship.

Something For Everybody

Something For Everybody

These new selling concepts are making it possible for moderate budget advertisers and for advertisers with somewhat larger budgets to co-sponsor network television programs which they couldn't afford alone. The figures above prove the success of our attempts to make it as easy for the advertiser to buy television as it is for him to buy space in magazines.

If he wants to sell to housewies.

tiser to buy television as it is not him to buy space in magazines.

If he wants to sell to housewives, for example, he can buy a 15-minute spot on the "Kate Smith Hour"—which can be compared to a woman's magazine. If he wants to reach children, he can buy a portion of "Howdy Doody." If the adult evening audience is his target, a segment of "Your Show of Shows" will sell them. Should he desire to reach the whole family—first thing in the morning before any other advertising impression has been made on their minds—a segment of the Garroway "Today" show is his answer. He can buy a five-minute, seven and one-half, 10 or 15-minute segment one to live times a week. In addition, he can buy specific features of the show—ball scores or temperature charts, for example. He can use the show to push sales during peak season periods, or to give impetus to the introduction of a new brand. There is hardly an advertiser whose neds cannot be saitsfied by some form of joint sponsorship. Regardless of the audience composition, geographic, saturation or frequency problems the advertiser has, TV has the answer. The tremendous impact of television and its proven sales effectiveness has prompted advertisers to realize that their competitive position can hinge beavily on the use they make of it.

perations, Sales V.P.)

of it.

This new advertising principle will grow in importance in its future. For if selling concepts like those outlined above are important now, they will be doubly essential when the network of stations throughout the country expands further.

throughout the country saxpands further.

I have used the application of the co-sponsorship theme to show that while TV—like any other industry—has problems, it is finding solutions to these problems as it matures. The accumulation of knowledge gained in the past promises to make the problems that much easier to handle in the future.

Capsule Drama As New Pattern For Television

By WORTHINGTON MINER

Approximately six weeks ago, the problem of presenting a half-hour dramatic show was presented to me. I had felt for some time that there was great need to explore the possibilities within this form. Over the course of the last few years, I have seen various techniques employed in an attempt to achieve dramatic impact in approximately 23½ minutes of playing time. With the exception of the situation comedies, such as "The Goldbergs" and "I Love Lucy," the failures have been more frequent than the successes. They have also been frequent in the field of murder mysteries.

I have also been acutely aware that a considerable number of shows attract attention and hold interest up to the first commercial break. There is a grave tendency, however, for these programs to blow up in the last 10 minutes. From the strictly practical standpoint of advertising, this is a tremendous handicap. Even though the viewer may remain through the first commercial, he is frequently waiting with his hand on the dial to turn away the moment the uncertain and unconvincing denouement is over. Thus, he misses the final commercial.

In order for the sponsor to get his value out of a half-hour of air time, it seemed necessary to find a new formula that would hold an audience's attention throughout the total 29 minutes and lose it for the last 14.

From the point-of-view of the writer, I am convinced that an opportunity to build a situation for approximately 22 minutes without break, and without having to bulld a false climax in the middle of the program leads to a far greater cumulative impact. Not only would he be able to write more legitimately, but he has an opportunity to build a flase climax in the middle of the program leads to a far greater cumulative impact. Not only would he be able to write more legitimately, but he has an opportunity to build the one important moment (and I believe there should only be one in a half-hour) unhurriedly and legitimately, I further believe that, if this climax is sufficiently powerful, the home audience

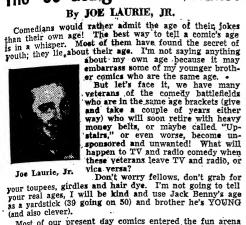

Resting Up Before a Tough Winter!

THE NELSONS

OZZIE, HARRIET, DAVID AND RICKY Preparing for radio and television in the Fall. Our Writing Staff: Ben Gerahman, Bill Davenport, Don Noison

The '39 Going on 50' Bracket

By JOE LAURIE, JR.

and also clever).

Most of our present day comics entered the fun arena at the turn of the century. They tried to fill the vacancies caused by the demise or retirement of the veteran comics who were steadily matured in their art, the vendors of chuckles and belly laughs, the important buffoons and pedigreed clowns of our lime, who have spread their happy mischief of golden fun. I am not claiming that being old makes you a good comedian (we have had some awfully bad old comedians), but the so-called old comic that has survived vaude, burley, farce, musical comedy, pictures, radio and TV has that enviable background.

My voice is thin, my vocabulary too small, my mental faculties too weak and my two typewriting fingers too indefinite to give the early piligrims of comedy their due, but I have fond recollections of the old masters of our profession, who are upwigone and whose memories grow greener with time.

Reading From Left to Right

Such greats of the monolog, high, low and broad comedy like Tom Lewis, Barney Bernard, James J. Morton, Lew Dockstader, Florence Moore, Mathews & Bulger, Nat C. Haines, Snith & Campbell, Ton Nawn, Junie McCree, Lew Kelly, Dave Marion, George Munroe, Harry Fisher, Sam J. Ryan, Mark Murphy, Bickle, Watson & Worthe (Harry Watson is still with us and in my opinion one of the comic greats, as witness his Philadelphia Jack O'Brien and his phone booth scene in Jack Norworth's 'Odds and Ends''), Bert Williams, Ernest Hogan, John & Emma Ray, Sam & Kitty Morton, George Fuller Golden, Marie, Dressler, Honey Boy Evans, Nat C. Wills, George Thatcher, Moran & Mack, Bert Swor, Press Eldridge, Pat Rooney Ist, Jim & Bonnie Thornton, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew, Willard Simms, Fred Niblo, Weber & Fields, Roger Bros, Joe Cawthorn, Billy B. Van, Harry Kelly, Raymond Hitchcock, Thomas Q. Seabrook, John E. Hazard, Nat C. Goodwin, Louis Mann, Sam Bernard, Eddie Foy, Charlie Case, Jeff De Angelis, Richard Carle, De Wolf Hopper, Johnny Slavin, Maggie Cline, Frank Monish, Ward & Vokes, Yorke & Adams, George Sidney, Joe & Ben Welsch, Hines & Remington, Will Rogers, Johnny Weber, Fields & Wooley, Erra Kendall, Gallagher & Shean, Herb Williams, Digby Bell, Dave Warfield, Conroy & LeMair and of course McIntyre & Heath! Their great funmaking will always be sealed in the memory of old troupers.

When these great artists reached their sunset years, or were called by the Great Stage Manager, we already had youngsters ready to try for the comedy stakes; youngsters raised in the Schools of comedy—vaude and burlesque The youngsters of that time are today's veterans.

We should be proud and grateful to still have with us such five-star Generals of Comedy as Fred Stone, Victor Moore, Ed Wynn (now celebrating his 50th year as a comedian, and we are celebrating it with him); Smith & Dale, who have been together for 53 years of comicing; Bobby Clark, Charles Winninger, Leo Carrillo and Lulu McConnell. Your brother and sisters salute you all!

A Load of Laugh Impresarios

Then there was the younger squad (and not so very much younger) like Eddie Cantor, Georgie Jessel (a young fogle), George Burns & Gracie Allen, Jack Benny, Jack Haley, Joe E. Brown; Groucho, Harpo & Chico Marx, Charlie Ruggles, Jimmy Durante, Lou Holtz, Sid Silvers, Bert Lahr, Jack Pearl, Fred Allen, Roy Atwell, Jimmy Savo, Ben Blue, Joe Frisco, Joe Laurie, Jr., Charlotte Greenwood, Edgar Bergen, Milton Berle, Ray Bolger, Will Mahoney, Frank Fay, Amos 'n' Andy, Three Stooges, Bert Wheeler, Martha Ray, Morey Amsterdam, Judy Canova, Henny Youngman, Joan Davis, Fibber McGee & Molly, Red Skelton, Joey Faye, William Gaxton, Olsen & Johnson, Bert Gordon, Danny Thomas, Walter O'Keefe, Eddie Foy, Jr., Hamtree Harrington, Bob Hope, Jackie Gleason, Bing Crosby (yeh, a very funny man), George Shelton, Tom Howard, Joe Browning, Harry McNaughton, Al Pearce, The Aces, Abbott & Costello, Charlie Cantor, Ken Murtay, Jerry Colonna, Eddie Green, Arthur & Puggy Havel, Herby Faye, Jack E. Leonard, Bob Burns, Jerry Lester, Benny Rubin, Phil Harris, Peter Lind Hayes, Talullah Bankhead, and of course, Beatrice Lillle! And now, these children of yesteryear are vets!

(I am still speaking of radio and TV comics.)

The Younger Fraternity

The Younger Fraternity

And so now we have another set of "kids" who have broken into the laugh-getting ranks and if you judge 'em by their samples they are worthy successors for comedy honors. Sid Caesar, Imogene Coca, Herb Shriner, Larry Storch, Alan Young, Jean Carroll (the one and only lady monologist), Garry Moore, Kean Sisters, Frank Fontaine, Jack Carson, Jan Murray, Steve Allen, Art Carney, Minerva Pious (Mrs. Nussbaum), Arnold Stang, Lew Parker, Ozie & Harriet, Mel Blanc, Henry Morgan, Billy Vine, Marie Wilson, Paul Winchell, Peter Donald, Keenan Wynn, Ed (Archie) Gardner, Jim Backus, Dennis Day, Arthur Godfrey (oh, you gotta count him), Carl Reiner, Al Bernie, Jules Munshin, Jack Carter, Cass Daly, Frank Sinatra 'a swell light comic), Pinky Lee, Jack Paar, Victor Borge, Dona'd O'Connor (practically a vet), Sam Levenson, Harvey Stone, Phil Foster, Jackie Miles, Lenny Kent, Robby Hackett, Dagmar and a couple of Johnny-comelatelys, for whom I will go out on a limb and predict a great future—Martin & Lewis!

'Now You Take Television'

By MAXIE THE TAXI
(Eddie Cantor)

Hollywood.

Hop in mister. Where to? Oh, sure, I know where it It's between seven'y-secon' and seven'y-thoid. We'll miss some of the traffic if I take ya thru the park. Okay? ... Big game today between Giants and the Bums. Too bad they don't have radios, in cars anymore. It used ta kinda make the day go a little faster. And when I hadda work Sunday nights, aroun' eight o'clock I'd listen to Eddie Cantor. Yeah, he was awright only couldn' stand his talkin' about his wife and five. daughters! What does he think? He's of I netted on It? Othen receipe have adagness: what does not think: He's got a patent on it? Other people have had five daughters too.

Eddie Cantor

Yeah, I guess you're right, mister—he's the only one who made a fortune out of it, outside of Papa Dionne Cantor was Dionne in slow motion

Cantor was Dionne in slow motion.

No, no, they'll never put television in cabs. I say, keep 'em outa all automobiles. Why, there wouldn' be a pedestrian left. You take one look at Dagmar on the screen, and the driver knocks down il people. Yeah, I think she's fine. I used ta see her on "Broadway Open House" with that Jerry Lester. I'd come home aroun' 11. o'clock, and with a bottle of beer or a glass of wine, I had my own little floorshow. There was a real "show" girl. . . . I agree with ya, mister, Television is the biggest thing that ever happened, but I think you're wrong when you say radio is dead. I know my wife is all day long at the radio. If one day should pass that she don't know what happened to "Ma Perkins," there's no livin' with her. And sometimes I think she's more interested in "Widow-Brown" than she is in her own children, o'r me.

I don't care what you say, tella, when you're cleaning

I don't care what you say, tella, when you're cleaning the house; and you're cooking, and you're doin' other things that women do, a radio is beautiful to 'em. Last week, let me give you a for instance: Some actor—Fr sure he was an actor—he talked like he had marbles in sure ne was an actor—ne taixed like he had marbles in his mouth—when he gets out at the cab, he leaves a paper behind—Variety. So while waiting for a fare, I read it, and y'know something? There's over a hunnert million radios in this country. So who is big enough to press a button and have 'em drop in the ocean? A hunnert million! Why that's more radios than some countries have neonle. people.

what other things do I like: Well, there's Arthur Godfrey—a very simple fella—talks easy—just like my brother-in-law—excep' Godfrey can make a livin'. Yeah, he's good on radio too. My wife likes him there, but me? I like to look in his face. He's got a twinkle in his eye like he's thinkin' of somethin' dirty. . . Also, there's Durante, who, himself alone, is worth the price of my set. When his big nose comes on the screen, I'm all eyes. I'm crazy for him. Y'know why? Some people with a big nose is ashamed to walk in the street. He sticks it right into your parlor and makes ya like it. And he makes up such woids! His own woids, they must be. And his writers must be big dopes because the woids they give him, Durante can't even pernounce. And the time when he was on with Margaret Truman—that's the President's daughter, y'know. Oh, you know—well, I thought I'd die laughin'. He acted with her like she was the daughter of the president of our lodge instead of the United, States of America, which is this country.

'Member the time that Helen Trouble from the opera

'Member the time that Helen Trouble from the 'Member the time that Helen Trouble from the opera was with him on the program? She says to him in one part, "Mister Durante, do you know anything about music?" So he says to her, "Why, Miss Trouble, I've rubbed elbows with Iturbi—I've rubbed elbows with Shostakovich—I've rubbed elbows with Tchaikowski—an' when she looks surprised, he says. "I hadda rub elbows with 'en —they wouldn' shake hands with me." Even though I didn' have a fare that whole night I just hadda bust out

Misses the Palace

The only thing I miss in television is this: I used ta go to the Palace Theatre a lot in the old days. And I usta enjoy to see all the actors workin' with each other. It looked like they were all good friends, and the people would love ta see 'em—like one big happy family. Whycan't they do that in Television? I seen it once or twice, and it's wunnerful! Like the other night—Bing Crosby and Bob Hope is makin' up a collection to send American atletes to Helsinki, and you oughta see the actors that was on that show besides Crosby and Hope. All guys from different networks—from the movies—from the sports world. I stayed up the whole night. I was groggy, but happy, and I'll tell you something, Mister, I sent in a $10 bill. Why can't more actors work with each other to make it look like the old days at the Palace? I once seen Georgie Jessel with Burns & Allen, with Eddie Cantor. and a few others together and it was a bargain like goin' to Macy's and pickin' up nylons for 39c. Then one time I caught Kate Smith with four or five other stars all buttin' into each others acts, and it was like Sunday afternoon in the parlor in the olden days. Remember?

Now, if they was to do that today in television—visit

Now, if they was to do that today in television—visit aroun—I think the whole country would feel like one big happy family. Imagine, from coast to coast, one coffee klotch . Mind ya, I'm not complainin' altho there's room for complaints. Like, for myself, I don't mind, but when my kids are watchin', I don't like for some comedian to make out like he's a sissy or to tell the kinda joke that we usta tell after the lodge meetin'.

We usta tell after the lodgo meetin'.

Ya see what television has done—where else could a mugg like me buy for a few hunnert dollars, a set where the biggest Democrats and Republicans come into my own house to audition for me Yessir, television is here to stay, if I can keep up the payments on it... but like I said before, radio's awright yet too... Well, here you are sir... that's seven'y cents. Thank you very much. 'Bye... what a taxi driver's gotta go thru. You get a passenger in your cab and it's chop-chop-chop. I thought he'd never that upl

'Pops' Pops Some Teasers

By PAUL WHITEMAN.

So many people ask me for my impressions on the present and future of television that I'm getting to believe I'm an authority on the subject. But maybe they're thinking of all the years I've spent in show business, and assuming that I ought to have good, solid opinions on TV to match my conclusions on the theatre, music, stage and radio. If they are, I'll try to oblige.

When I look back over the years, having observed one new medium after another take hold of the public's imagination—and a firm grip, incidentally, on the owners' or sponsors' dollar—I can't remember one show business innovation that didn't inject new life and vitality into this wonderful profession of keeping Americans entertained. Any time an older medium suffered it was because the for a relapse, anyway.

for a relapse, anyway.

Each time we've had to work out adjustments, but the ultimate result always, somehow, worked out to the advantage of the older media that still had something to offer.

I firmly believe that this holds true for television. Once TV's growing pains are alleviated, both the movies and radio will-be stronger than, ever. I look for a happy wedding between Hollywood and television. The really stiperior movies will continue to be profitable, while Hollywood will find it within its resources and its inclinations to turn out excellent material for TV. As for the radio crystal ball, I'm convinced that both local and network radio will survive, but it does seem that network radio will find the adjustment more difficult.

No Time for Ridicule

However, my experience has taught me one simple axiom—and that is, don't ridicule or underestimate the potentialities of any new medium in this business, particularly if you have a stake in an older, competing medium.

medium.

My memory is crammed with a number of classic examples of this too common error. There was, for instance, the vaudeville operator (one of the top men in his field) who sneered openly at the "dead movies" and predicted that they'd never capture the permanent allegiance of a public accustomed to live actors and living, breathing musicians. That was, of course, a fatal mistake. The silent movies delivered a lethal knockout punch that leveled burlesque and played havoc with the live stage, including the hundreds of repertory and stock houses throughout the country. And what they did to musicians—before they eventually recovered—we well remember.

Recording people, including some supposedly wise ex-ecutives, made the same mistake about radio. And they were just as wrong, if you recall how radio crippled the record business.

But observe how all the media that were essentially vital and necessary in the entertainment world recovered their balance and went on to greater achievements. Hollywood and the radio industry will do just that. Mainly because they're alive to the necessity of combining their own best features to blend with the best potentialities of television. They won't take a truculent attitude, as did the big top name in the silent movies, who said, when the talkies loomed ahead: "Sound will stink!" He isn't around any more.

Ouch, Those Costs!

You can't stay on this subject very long without being confronted with what some people seem to think is the key question. The introduction to panic is that current classic—"But what about the high costs of television?"

The answer, I'm convinced, is that television production costs need not be so high. In fact, they ought to be much lower, and you're going to see them come down appreciably. For one thing, television broadcasting centers have no place in the middle of big, city tracts of ground, where the rents and taxes and building and maintenance costs are almost prohibitive. They belong, instead, out in the fringe areas—with resultant economies all along the

"But the talent can't make those long treks to TV loca-

When they give you this answer you know they are ignorant of the forces that made for early progress in the motion picture industry. Many of the great movie lots were open country before the industry settled there. Eventually, as in the movies, the TV personnel will move to tually, as in the movies, the TV personnel will move to where the center of activity has been established.

where the center of activity has been established.

Other extravagances, too, contribute to TV's so-called prohibitive production costs. All the networks and, to a degree, local stations, have much to learn about setbuilding economies, and the sooner the industry gets down to settling this problem the better off it will be. Perhaps one answer will be in a cooperative plan enabling all concerned to use materials over and over again with minimum alteration costs. And still another saving will have to be encompassed in lower set transportation costs.

No Pollyanna Tinge

I hope this resume of my feelings doesn't appear to have a Pollyanna tinge. But remember, I've seen the early movies challenge the stage, the talkies take a nasty crack at the silents (that one stuck), the big radio bear threaten to gobble up every media that preceded it, and now I'm watching television prance along the entertainment path like a Pied Piper, with all the people, big and little, under its hypnotic spell.

But in the end TV will prosper, Hollywood will solidly entrench itself by (1) making really great pictures, and (2) providing dependable movies for video, and radio—perhaps by szeking new horizons both program-wise and by reorienting its commercial structure—will demonstrate forcefully that it has a definite stake in the country's future.

Putting the 'Cast' Into Broadcasting

By GERTRUDE BERG

You don't see actors wearing pin-striped suits and Homburg hats around Radio City anymore. Actors—and actresses—are a lot more business-like nowadays. The elevator Hamilets are disappearing. Time was when anyone casting a network show like "The Goldbergs" could expect to find an actor or actress popping up almost anywhere for an on-the-spot audition. I would sometimes find myself buttonholed in a Radio City elevator by an actor eager for a part. However, actors' index fingers are no longer raciloused from buttonholing casting directors, Talent is no longer auditioning op-the-run. It doesn't have to.

When I cast "The Goldbergs" I use just two things, my intuition and my file box. Of the two my file box is perhaps easier to explain. Many an actor has successfully passed his audition, landed in my file box and then got his first inkling of it when he was called for a particular part. I enjoy dramatic shows on TV and very often jot down the names go into the file box along with other actors who have auditioned "live."

Sometimes an actor will strike me as a unique type, a character, someone I can daysles a particular and auditioned "live."

me. The names go into the file box along thin other actors who have auditioned "live."

Sometimes an actor will strike me as a unique type, a character, someone I can develop a part for. And this happens quite unexpectedly. Not long ago, for example, I saw Leonard Silman's fine revue, "New Faces of 1952." All of the cast was excellent but for me, vibrant Eartha Kitt stood out as a special talent. I felt she was an actress I would like to write a part for. It was a case of a part growing from the actor, rather than vice versa. Since our airtime and her showtime didn't conflict, I wrote in a part for Eartha on "The Goldbergs."

Although I don't regard it as a must, most of the "The Goldbergs." cast have had considerable experience on the Broadway stage. Harold Stone who is Jake Goldberg has a long list of Broadway shows to his credit and was doubling in "Stalag 17" this past season. Arlene McQuade, my TV daughter, Rosalle, made her mark in Tennessee Williams' play, "Summer and Smoke." Larry Robinson, who plays my son, Sammy, has been on the stage since he was three years of age, got fine notices in "On Borrowed Time" and in "Life With Father." Eli Mintz, Uncile David on the show, is a stage veteran, too, and has been effectively playing old men parts on the stage since he was a boy of 14.

During the past TV season, a total of 90 actors were needed for

During the past TV season, a total of 90 actors were needed for various roles on the show and many of the parts went to newcomers, actors and actresses drawn from my file box. Very often, as with Eartha Kitt, an actor will strike me as an unusual character type and sooner or later I find myself developing a part on the show for him,

With the heavy rehearsal schedule we have needed for "The Goldbergs" this past season, five-and-a-half hours on show days and four hours on non-show days, naturally I like an actor who is a quick study. Veteran actors are usually up in their part at the first reading.

Despite the advantages of having an actor who is a quick study, however, it's not a basic requirement for getting a part on "The Goldbergs." Let's say I always hope each actor is a quick study.

As everyone known, I firstly believe in type acting. I like it for

As everyone knows, I firmly believe in type-casting. I like it for radio and I feel it's absolutely essential for television. The viewer must feel the actor he is watching IS the character he portrays. Finding the right "type" for each part makes the actors work easier and the whole effect far more believable.

As I mentioned before, actors are becoming more businesslike. They call my assistant, Mrs. Fannle Merrill, find out when I'm seeing new people and then audition. I like new faces and fresh talents and make it a point to see as many newcomers as humanly possible. I think this new business-like approach that actors have developed is a fine thing. Occasionally, I miss seeing those ad lib performances in Radio City elevators but on the whole, I like the new approach.

Danger, Men Spieling

By JOHN SAVAGE (Freelance Announcer)

In the many reams, or anyway quires, of newsprint in the trade papers currently being devoted to the subject of television commercials, I find little mention of one of the most frequent variations of this art form, the commercial that doesn't quite come off as planned. This is a situation which I have long felt needed remedy, and I am happy to use this method of bringing lay readers up to date on this video phenomenon.

this method of bringing lay readers up to date on this video phenomenon.

To begin, I should like to thank my publishers, Hart, Shaffner & Engels, for their kind permission to quote copiously from my recent book, "Live Commercials for Beginners" (New York, 1962, 376 pp., $475—sent in plain wrapper). Commercials are divided roughly into two groups (some more roughly into two groups (some more roughly than others, depending on the time available for rehearsals): the film commercials for mind and the live commercial, which is usually on film, and the live commercial, which is characterized by not being on film, but is done "live," that is, not on film. It is important to keep this distinction in mind as we progress. Those of us who are devoting our efforts to the live commercial (the writer is an announcer now making a poor but precarious living out of this sort of thing look with contempt on the announcers doing filmed work, faiter all, where is there a challenge or thrill of adventure in film commercials? If something goes wrong, you just do it over and keep doing it over until it comes out right. On the other hand, in live commercials, especially on small non-network TV stations, symething always goes wrong, and the men are separated from the boys! and the look of the spelling of the work of the progress, why, don't you hesistate hence are separated from the boys!

Announcer)

quickly by their ability to cope with the amazing variety of emergencies that come up.

You might easily think that delivering prepared copy about a product requires no special gifts, and, indeed, it wouldn't, except, as I say, something always goes wrong—such as getting your hand caught in the suction end of the vacuum cleaner you're selling. Until you've done a pitch with a vacuum cleaner steadily swallowing your arm as you talk, with all the while the cold, contemptuous eye of the camera upon you, you can have little understanding of the thrills and perils that await you in this type of work.

The Dolfuss System

MARTHA TILTON

Fourth Year for ALKA-SELTZER
Starring with Curt Massey
On GBS and 400 Mutual Stations Exclusively on CORAL RECORDS
Direction: MCA

on this beautifully rebuilt model I have here before me. This is not going to cost you $200 or $100, which is what you expect to pay these days —no sir, we've got this for you as a TV special at a simply incredible low price. But first, let me demonstrate this beautiful machine for you. I just awitch it on and then listen to this high-speed power motor as she goes, . There's really nothing to it. I just throw this little switch and then listen to this high-speed. . Well, ha ha! (Looks frantically off to right.) Guess the boys are playing a little trick on me, eh? Ha ha ha! Oh, what a bunch of characters we've got around here, always playing around. We always have a lot of boys are playing a little trick on me, eh? Ha ha ha! Oh, what a bunch of characters we've got around here, always playing around. We always have a lot of fun here at good ol' WWW-TV. (Waves furiously at someone off-camera). Guess the boys pulled the good ol' plug out! Ha ha! There! All set now? Good! Now, just listen to this high-speed power motor as I throw this little switch. . . Uh. . . (With a pained expression on his face, he grasps the machine in both hands and shakes it angrilly.) Oh, boy! (Smiles again.) My mother told me there'd be days like this—ha ha! Now let's just throw this little. . . H'mm. . . But, wait a minute, friends! I'm forgetting just about the most important part! It's this wonderful set of attachments you get! Let me hold them up here where you can see them . ."

Also the Seatwell System

you get! Let me hold them up here where you can see them ..."

Also the Seatwell System

The Seatwell System, or pretend-everything's-going-well- and-maybe-nobody'll-notice, was thought up by Sacheverell Seatwell, of San Francisco. It is definitely not recommended for the beginner as it takes courage, poise and a clear, cool head. I shall illustrate this with basic situation "B," where the appliance doesn't do what it's supposed to.

ANNCR: "Friends" (it should be noted here that every commercial of this type starts off with either "Friends" or "Say, friends"; there are no variations on this allowed) you've seen vacuum cleaners and you've probably thought they're all alike. Well, most of them are. But just take a look at this beautiful new Windswept—it's the 1952 Model 14B which you've been hearing so much about. Now, see that ash-tray? Full of ashes and clgaret-butts, isn't it? Well, I quickly put on this attachment, takes only a minute or so—there! Oops, hurt my hand a little, but it's nothing, it's nothing. Now just watch this wonderful 1952 Windswept go to work! (He dips cleaner, attachment into ash-tray and immediately all the cigaret butts become jammed in the attachment's mouth and stay there. Talking steadily, he shakes it a couple of times and then bangs it on the table, but the clgaret butts remain jammed. We then cut back to a long shot and he continues, as follows.) "Friends, I don't know how else I can show you what a really great machine this is. Yes, it's guaranteed," etc., etc.

The important thing to keep in mind in the Seatwell System is that no matter what happens during the commercial, you just go on as though the appliance had performed the way it was supposed to and hope that the viewers all have seven-inch screens or a dis-

'c (Codtinued oh page 50)

Radio—An Old Hat With a New Band By JOSEPH H. McCONNELL (President, NEC)

Radio and television have embarked on their greatest partnership venture. They have teamed up to bring America, by word and picture, the most thorough coverage of political events the nation has venture.

The goal of this dual venture is a fully informed electorate—an electorate capable of making the best possible decisions because of its intimate acquaintanceship with the leaders and the issues of 1952. I think we will approach that goal; I think next November will see the purest expression of ballot-box democracy in our history.

Already, millions of Americans have a next-door-neighbor kndwledge of our major presidential candidates. They can give you an opinion on which ones have a low boiling point, which ones look an issue, straight in the eye and which ones are adept at the give-and-take of informal debate. They can do this because television has provided an unparalleled opportunity for character study of the men who seek to lead the nation.

For 17,000,000 Americans who own home received the comment of the living room.

men who seek to lead the nation.

For 17,000,000 Americans who own home receivers, television has shifted the Chicago conventions to the living room. And television has ranged the campaign fronts for them; it has peered with an impartial eye at a rain-soaked man in Abilene, a determined senator in Ohio, at a door-to-door campaigner from Tennessee. It has shown every candidate in moments of tension or elation or concern; indeed, no unguarded mannerism has escaped the searching scrutiny of the camera, In summary, television has made the political leader a living, breathing reality to Americans everywhere.

By November we articipate more than 18 000 0000 sets in use is the mg reanty to Americans everywhere.

By November, we anticipate more than 18,000,0000 sets in use in the United States, reaching an audience of nearly 80,000,000. For the first, time, approximately half our people will be able to see the day-to-day developments on the national political scene. And certainly by 1956 nearly every American voter will be within televigion range.

This, perhaps, is the more spectacular half of our partnership venture. But it should not obscure the vital role of radio in the joint effort.

National campaign coverage is old hat to radio. Yet, this year's coverage plan is more elaborate than ever, and it will effectively supplement the television schedule. There are 105,000,000 radio sets in this country today—an all time record—and a sizeable percentage of these sets will function in areas where television can't reach.

Why Stay Home?

Remember that much of the national campaign is being fought during summer months, the vacation months, when millions of Americans are at the seashore, at mountain resorts or on the highways. They still want to keep abreast of the political picture, and radio is their link to the developing campaign. Today, there are 25,000,000 car radios alone; and no American, however remote his location, need be isolated politically.

In addition, radio is assuming a new effectiveness because of television. People who have seen candidates on television have a keener appreciation of political programs on radio. They find it's rather like talking on the telephone. The talk becomes more meaningful when they have met at first hand the fellow on the other end.

We at NBC have realigned our organization to fit this partnership pattern. The radio and television networks have been placed under single control. We believe this will promote better teamwork and will result in better listening and better viewing. And it will benefit not only our political coverage, but every type of entertainment and information program.

It should, for example, promote a more efficient use of our artists.

Will assure balanced participation of our stars on both networks;

Will permit more coordination of schedules between radio and telesion. And it will give us a firm basis of parallel growth in the

This becomes of particular importance because the formula for television expansion has been announced by the Federal Communications Commission. The extension of service through radio relay stations and coaxial cables is already under way. New stations are the next order of business. Soon television will move up the scale to a full national service.

And it is our firm intention to see that radio continues to march abreast of television in this expansion era. The teamwork fashioned through political coverage will set a pattern for years to come.

of Time & Spots

By EZRA R. BAKER, JR. (Director of Sales, Intl. Movie Producers' Service)

The most valuable element in the producing of a one-minute TV spot is that which everyone in television is fighting against . . .

TIME!

Time for creative thinking.
....time for scripts and storyboards.
....time for approval.
....time for bids.
....time for awarding contract.

Time for casting.

Time for casting.
... time for sets.
... time for props.
... time for recording.
... time for shooting.
... time for printing.
... time for rushes.
... time for re-shooting.

Time for artwork.
... time for approval.
... time for animation.
... time for shooting.
... time for opticals.
... time for approval.

Time for editing.
....time for interlock screening.
....time for re-editing.

Time for acceptance.
.... time for composite prints.
.... time for delivery. And even TIME to buy TIME at the right TIME.

Did someone say, "TIME is MONEY"?

When there isn't enough TIME . you're not only spending more money, but getting lifers yet.

'Cantor and Me'

By EDDIE DAVIS
As Told to Al Robin

The one-time taxi driver who climbed out of his cab to write gags for Eddie Cantor, and went from there to pen three Broadway hits, looks back upon his hilarious days with the Banjo-Eyed comic.

Yes, that's me. I'm the guy Eddie Cantor took off a taxicab and hired as one of his writers. That was 18 years ago, and since then a lot of words have been written about the incident, and also about some of the experiences I shared with Cantor during our association. Perhaps you've read about one or more of them. Many of these tales were fact. An equal number, however, were fiction and probably created and tossed into print because they were thought to make good reading. Here, then, is the real story of my days with Cantor—as seen through the knot-hole on my side of the fence.

As a kid fighting for survival and the good many the good man

As a kid fighting for survival and the good name of Davis down on Manhattan's East Side. I was exposed to an old bromide. Give or take a syllable, it went, "If you want to amount to something, hitch your wagon to astar." A harmless little phrase, maybe, but it haunted me as I grew and I was never able to completely dismiss it from my mind. Probably due to the personal irony involved. You see, I wanted to amount to something, and pretly desperately at that. But I didn't have a wagon—or for that matter, much of anything else. In fact, where I was raised, if you had ears you were either a girl or a sissy. To give you a better idea of our circumstances, there was the time my mother took all 11 of us kids to the photographer. He was running a sale. "What are your rates?" she asked.

"Ten dollars a dozen."

"Ten dollars a dozen."

"Ten dollars a dozen."

"I'll be back next year," she said. "I only got 11 now."

At length, however, I realized what in the neighborhood was looked upon as the dizzy height of prosperity. Two pairs of well-ventilated pants and a taxicab. I thought it best to hang onto the pants, but now I started casting about for a star to hitch my American Cab Co. wagon to. Since they all seemed equally distant, I decided to take a whack at the brightest of them all. And that star was Baddie Cantor. Eddie Cantor

Eddie Cantor.

Back in 1933 when I was driving my cab around the Times Square area, it seemed that on Sunday nights between eight and nine o'clock a peculiar phenomenon was taking place. The whole world was staying home to listen to Eddie Cantor. Now I'm sure that was fine for Eddie Cantor and the whole world, but for me it only meant that during his program time I couldn't get a call for my taxi. Without even knowing it, Cantor was killing an hour's worth of my Sunday evening business. A crisis!

Star of the Cab Circuit

To make matters worse, as I had been sitting in my cab listening to Cantor, I knew that I could write material for him if only I could get the chance. You see, I had gags and routines that had made me the star comedian to my fellow cab drivers, just as Cantor's gags and routines had made him the star comedian to millions of radio listeners. As I figured it, one reason Eddie Cantor made more money than I did was because there were more people listening to the radio than driving taxicabs.

The problem then became one of setting to him with more money than I did was because there were more people listening to the radio than driving taxicabs.

The problem, then, became one of getting to him with my jokes. This, I was to discover, would be no harder than walking into Fort Knox with an empty suitcase.

At first I tried waiting for him with my cab in front of NBC. Cantor, however, invariably made his appearance with a convoy of friends and studio executives. Obviously people with money. Upon seeing my cab, though, they showed a definite preference to walk rather than spend any of it. I next attempted getting into his studio after program time, hoping to meet and bombard him with a stream of my gags. The idea was fine, but one thing prevented me from gaining entrance. Namely a regiment of doormen and ushers. For a while it looked like I would be executed before my idea was. I just had to take one step in the direction of the stage door and they acted like they were the entire Notre Dame football team and I was a fumbled ball. Finally, after three weeks of getting nowhere with this basic training, I hit upon the gimmick that was to solve the problem. I rented a chauffeur's uniform and set out for NBC. Parking my cab around the corner, I waited for Cantor's show to be over, and then marched blithely to the stage door. I now informed the guards that I was Eddle Cantor's chauffeur.

"Let me in. I have to tell him where the car will be." This not only turned the trick, but now they held the door open for me.

Once within I-took off the rented coat, pinned on my en for me, within I took off the rented coat, pinned on my

Once within I took off the rented coat, pinned on my taxi badge, rounded a corner in the corridor and was astounded to find myself face to face with Eddie Cantor! Providence was with me.

"Mr. Cantor," I announced, "my cab is outside. I'll be waiting whenever you're ready." It had happened so quickly I didn": have time to get nervous. And Cantor, having no reason to say "No," replied with a detached "Fine. Be out front in five minutes," and entered his dressing room.

dressing room.

I'll never forget that taxi ride and neither will Cantor.

At the time, however, he didn't think either of us would live to remember 1t. It had rained all afternoon so the streets were pretty slippery as I asked, "Where to?" and careened down Sixth Avenue at 50 miles an hour. Cantor replied in a low scream, "Take it easy, will you!"

As I turned to answer, he roared, "Watch where you're going!"

I tried to reassure him. "Do what I do-close your

"At least drive in a straight line!" he pleaded. You're weaving like a drunken basket-maker!"

"Listen," I said. "I don't tell you how to put over okes—don't tell me how to drive a cab."

Thinking the time right, I proceeded to hit him with a ne of my Sunday gags. But whenever I turned around his, I thought, is a very edgy guy. He probably works to hard.

This, I thought, is a very eugy out too hard.

"If you don't slow down," Cantor warned, "we'll wind up in a funeral parlor, and you can't tell jokes there."

"Use my gags and you'll have the world at your feet."

"Watch where you're going or I'll have a tombstone at my head."

Having 'sufficiently softened him 'up. I belied home

my head."

Having 'sufficiently softened him 'up. I balled home.

a nifty. "You say to your announcer, Jimmy Wallington, 'Jimmy, what does NBC stand for?" And he replies, 'National Broadcasting Company.' Then you answer, 'What - and all the time I thought it meant NOTHING BUT CANTOR!!"

CANTOR!!"

"T'll buy that!" he snapped. "But if we're both dead before I reach home you won't get a nickel. LOOK OUT!"

We had missed a truck by a worn coat of paint.

"Stop the eagh," he shrieked, "I'm walking!"

"Fine! And I'll drive slowly along the curb and tell you some more jokes." Cantor was trapped.

By the time we arrived at his hote!, I had sold him five jokes. Once there, Eddie said, "I'll pay you $20 for every gag I use. Here's a hundred as a starter. Buy some life insurance." With that, he reached for the cab door and freedom, door and freedom,
"Wait a minute," I reminded.
"What?"

"There's 80 cents on the meter!"
Driving home, I awoke my mother and displayed the 100. "My God! Eddie," she groaned, "you've sold the

From Taxis to Taxes

After surviving several of my hair-raising chariot rides and buying a few more gags, Cantor concluded that his life would be safer if I could sell my taxi. To facilitate this, he gave me a permanent job on his writing staff. I was in. Without quite knowing it I had taken the long stride from taxis to taxes.

When I told my mother that I was working for Eddie Cantor, she directed all the neighbors to be sure to hear the program. "My son," she said, "is going to make Eddie Cantor a big star." Sometimes I wondered which of Eugle Cantor a big star." Sometimes I wondered which of us should have gotten the job.

That was the beginning, however, and from then on a number of things happened that stand out vividly in my memory. Like a mustache in Minsky's chorus. Yes—vividly and indelibly. And that's due entirely to the individual with whom the incidents are associated. A guy named Cantor.

named Cantor.

Shortly-thereafter, Cantor went to Chicago to lay the groundwork for a giant benefit show. He figured to be gone several days. Therefore Eddie decided to take his writers along so that the week's program could still be prepared under his supervision, Arriving in the Windy City, he put us up at Chicago's classy Shoreham Hotel. When the manager heard that we were with Eddie Cantor, he got the notion that we'd like some champagne sent up to our suite. Cases of it. It was a novelty at first, but after three days the novelty wore off and the hangover didn't.

On the third day Cantor dropped in to see how the program was developing. He was greeted by three writers—standing around at various angles—and by a bill that read: Champagne: $310. As you might expect, this came as quite a surprise to him. Of course, the fact that we were able to stand at all, came as an even greater surprise.

Cantor asked the $310 question: "What's the meaning

Cantor asked the $310 question: "What's the meaning of this?"

Although we actually hadn't ordered the stuff, we still felt rather guilty about it.

Reeling forward, I volunteered, "To tell the truth, Eddie, it was awful. We're all 'sick from the stuff and it only made us burp, anyhow."

Cantor let the matter drop at the time—in fact, he got whole case of seltzer was delivered to our suite with a note attached. "Drink this," it read. "You'll burp louder and cheaper." I needn't tell you who wrote it. quite a laugh out of our condition—but the next day a We spent the month of December working from California, and New Year's Day, which happens to be my lovely wife's birthday, found us all on the train heading back to New York. When we married the year before, I couldn't afford much of a ring for Helen, and now I wanted to compensate for it. Mr. and Mrs. Cantor were both very fond of Helen. I told Ida that when we reached New York, I'd appreciate it if she helped me pick out a diamond wedding band for the occasion. Ida agreed and immediately told Eddie about it. Upon hearing the news, Cantor wired ahead for flowers, hors d'oeuvres and champagne. It was all delivered at the stopover in Chicago, and from there to New York we were Eddie's guests as he tossed the most elaborate party for my wife that the Super Chief ever saw. To top it off he presented Helen with a final package and told her not to unwrap it until we arrived in New York. When opening it in our hotel, we found a dozen beautiful towels—marked PULLMAN. Cantor is as fast with a gag off the air as on it.

Join Cantor and See the World

Join Cantor and See the World

We must have been in Manhattan all of three days when Eddie decided that it was too cold to get any work done. He packed up the entire company and we were off to Florida. Talk about travelling—for seeing the world, working for Eddie Cantor was better than joining the Navy.

Cantor broadcast from Miami all that winter, and it wasn't long before he became more important to Florida than oranges. He would open each show by saying, "Here we are again, Ladies and Gentlemen, broadcasting from beautiful, sun-drenched Miami Beach." The California Chamber of Commerce must have committed hari-kari.

We were still in Florida when one day Eddle proclaimed, "I have a new system." As three writers reached for the Hialeah Scratch Sheet he said, "No, no. This is for the program."

Said system was the inauguration of a Sunday afternoon preview broadcast. We would then devote the interim hours before radio time to brushing up the script, polishing off the rough edges and generally profiting from the audience reaction of the afternoon. The idea worked out well. During the previews, the writers would be out front listening to the show for weak spots. We made note of any material that came to us during the run-off, things that could be used to strengthen the show for that evening. While viewing one of these tryouts, it seemed to me that this particular show wasn't up to the usual standard. I sat there writing away like mad, devising new bits to hypo the program. By the time it ended I was sure I had sufficient new material to fill the bill. Picking up my notes, I rushed back stage where I found Cantor talking with a group of people. There didn't seem to be anything about the gathering, so with my usual enthusiasm I burst into the conversation about as casually as a hydrogen bomb. "Don't worry, Eddle—I've got the whole show—all new gags, it'll be great!" He said he'd meet me at the hotel in an hour and quietly asked me to please leave the studio. Back at the hotel my wife told me that she had just heard from Cantor. He explained that the Said system was the inauguration of a Sunday afternoon (Continued on page 56)

Getting So a TV Comic Doesn't Know What To Steal First

sions of the comics, as though it were an International Harvester going through Kanass.

If there is ever an old-age pension fund set up for anybody of working people the comics of television should have at least twice that in their old age, if they live (which I doubt!), for their attempt to hold the fickle knobtusiting public of the television audience.

Take your stars today . . Red Skelton, who has been a smash in his first year, now has one of the Mayo brothers doing straight for him . . . The Perfect Fool, Ed Wynn, can't remember what hat he had on last . . . Abbott and Costello, with their bladder in shreds, don't care who's on first . . they want to know who they're going to follow . . Milton Berle, Mr. Television himself, has used up so much material he's stealing from himself . . Fred Allen, the wit juggler, is now at the DuPont factory in Wilmington working on a transparent camera so that the studio audience can see the comedian.

All this is happening while Arthur Godfrey, old Fort Knox with wrinkles, just drawls along, loaded with charm and a big audience.

I guess the big event of TV this year was Bing Crosby's debut on the Olympic marathon, where old Happy Hips really scored . . And also looked like Gary . . Smart fellow, Bing . . He has a used car dealer for a makeup man. . . Phill the three looking at the camera, and the two red eyes on the camera staring back . . This was a great show . . And almost everyone in Hollywood participated in this flicker filibuster . . Too many of these telethons can't help the theatre business, so we must pick our spots . . Otherwise it's like spitting in your own eye . . Now that everyone has his own theatre, and some of the furniture companies are putting out living room chairs with built-in popcorn . . And the audience can see the boxing bouts, conventions, ice-capades, movies, and all types of entertainment without taking off their pajamas.

and all types of entertainment without taking off their pajamas.

Most of the picture studios have the big stars and thus should only produce attractions that lure the loot . . . I think that every movie company should produce, at once, an all-star movie, utilizing every name they have under contract in one big revue picture . . . To spearhead this promotional movement aimed at getting the movie-going public into buying tickets again.

Certainly big pictures like "Star-Spangled Rhythm," "Zlegfeld Follies," et cetera, can't do anything but make money for the studios and also provide the exhibitors with an opportunity for great exploitation of name values. . . No doubt about it, the competition is pretty terrific, but this is no time for the picture companies to lose courage . . "The Birth of a Nation" cradled the picture business, which will go on to new heights, in the face of this new challenge, if new thoughts, new ideas, and especially ney and more flamboyant ideas of exploitation are employed.

Berle Boils as Rome Burns

I love Italy. After 39 weeks of TV (Tired Vaudeville), a vacation here is just what I need. I'm tired out from being funny this past season, so I came to Europe for a rest. But what heat!

The temperature here is as high as I wish my Nielsen was.

Who can be funny in this weather? Dante must have written his "Inferno" in my hotel room. They must have known I was coming because, as I walked over to the elevator, there was a sign saying "Lift." I got up on the wrong side of the heat today. Some friends had invited me to go to Tivoll. (You know, Tivoli spelled backwards means "I love it.") (Cops, Betty Kean!)

I saw Orson Welles out in front of the Excelsior Hotel. We chatted for a few minutes and had a million laughs. None of them mine.

Sophie Tucker ambied by and for the first time I realized that her billing is correct: Last of the Red HOT Mamas. Naturally I saw Ingrid and Roberto (Ingrid Schwartz and Roberto Noodlebaum, formerly of the William Morris office.) I've been trying to make the folks here Johnnie Ray-conscious, but I realized that first I'd have to make Johnnie. Ray conscious.

office.) I've been trying to make the folks here Johnnie Ray-conscious, but I realized that first I'd have to make Johnnie. Ray conscious.

There are no picture corporations here, only independent producers. I saw one of those Italian pictures today and don't know what they have to be independent about, Excelsior Hotel looks like Grossinger's on a bad night. The latest rumor is that they are going to get together and make "100 Producers and One Actor."

I wasn't left out either. Cicignola and Tuttibezzi, the Beckman and Pransky of Rome, approached me and offered me a split week at the Colosseum. Incidentally, I understand Beckman and Pransky are doing a Roman version of "Bagels and Yox," called "Pizza and Squigigli."

They wanted me to appear on TV here and I happened to remember some old Clark and Verdi scripts. I sang my theme song, "Nero You," followed by another chorus of "Lire You." I did well on TV here, but think Caesar (Sid) could do better. I might produce a show to outdo Mike Todd's "Night in Venice," titled "Night in Rome," but might have to settle for Canal Street.

Getting back to the picture business, it really is booming here. I met one producer who hadn't made a picture all day. But all in all, Rossellini has been crowned the best "producer" of them. 2111, 22 c. (1) 3 3 (10 c. 1) 1 2 2 1

'H'wood, N.Y., or Europe?' Depends On Where Your Story Will Be Told Best

By DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS, JR. (President, Douglat Corp.)

Hollywood.

Somehow the impression has gotten abroad that the answer to TV's vexing economic problems lies in European production. As a result, London is jammed with newly arrived television entrepeneurs, complete with script and other accourtements ready to open offices and go to work.

The period of disillusionment sets in very quickly. Stage space is at a premium. The economy.

coolie wages, either. Eyen office space is hard to come by.

When I arrived in London some months ago to set up one of the first American TV outposts there, I was hailed as a trail-blazer by the British press, which envisioned a whole new activity in the entertainment field which would provide jobs and badly needed American dollars. This has come to pass and, it is hoped, will flourish with time—but I believe it is important that the American producer planning to transfer his activities abroad carefully assess his position before taking this vital step.

We were able to surmount such basic difficulties as adjustment to a new way of working; language differences—and, believe me, there is English and English; a different tempo and set of values; because the Dougfair Corp., which I head, has long been established in England where we recently completed the production of two films for the American market—the Bette Davis-Gary Merrill starrer, "Another Man's Poison," and "Mr. Drake's Duck."

But even we had to make allowance for some basic differences.

Duck."

But even we had to make allow-ance for some basic differences which I should like to list on the chance that they might be of some help for videoers studying travel folders.

Different Economy

Let's take this matter of economy. The British work at a different pace than we in Hollywood. Hence the ordinary two and a half day schedule prevalent in Hollywood TV film production will probably stretch to five. With lower salaries this will still be somewhat less expensive than domestic production, but not nearly as much so as is commonly accepted. Stage space is most difficult to get. This is the height of the reg-ular film production season and no studio owner is going to tie up his space for intermittent TV produc-tion when more certain and sub-stantial bids from the moviemak-ers are pouring in: Thus we had to film our three productions, "International Thea-tre," "Foreign Legion" and "The Silent Men" at three different studios.

studios.
There is also a lack of trained TV personnel. This will be remedied as TV activity increases, but BBC's current video schedules provide limited training opportunities.

es. There's a bright side to the pic-

There's a bright side to the picture, however.

To begin with, the prejudice and snobbery which has prevented the TV debut of some of our most talented film people simply doesn't exist in England. Virtually every top director and star is vitally interested in this new medium. London is the great melting pot of the theatrical world so that virtually every type of accent—including the American—is available. Canadians do a pretty good job of duplicating our homegrown intonations.

tions.

Europe provides backgrounds which cannot begin to be matched

Europe provides which cannot begin to be matched in America.

I think the most important of Europe's assets for the producer, however, are the locations mentioned above. As a matter of fact, I think this should be the determining factor in planning production abroad. If the script requires the exotic, the historic or the unusual not easily available in the United States, then Europe has these. If this is not a script requirement, then the producer might be just as well off at home.

We, for example, are making our "Terry and the Pirates" series for Official Films in Hollywood. Our three for NBC, especially fashioned with Continental backgrounds, will be made abroad.

with Continental backgrounds, win be made abroad.
Europe welcomes the TV maker and will offer him every cooperation, but again, I repeat, he'd better make his decision on the basiof where his story will be told best, rather than any other considerations.

Christal Gets WGY Biz

"IT GOT AWAY and SO AM I"
Happy Vacation
"IT MEL BLANC

John Cameron Swayze

TV's CURVES

By OSCAR KATZ (Director of Research, CBS Television Network)

As everybody in the industry knows, television's development has been so rapid that, in the past, all estimates have been on the low side, and the crystal balls have been too small. As of the beginning of this year, there were already 15,500,000 television homes. And this figure is expected to rise to 20,000,000 by the end of the year.

A perhaps unrecognized fact is that the potential growth of television lies as much in the current television areas as in the areas without TV service. One third of the nation now owns sets; another third lives in TV areas but do not have sets; and the last third lives in non-TV areas.

In TV sets, the Northeast has reached the highest level, with 50% ownership. The North Central and Pacific regions are at about the national average; and the South and Mountain and Southwest areas have been far below. Incidentally, the importance of future growth of present and new TV markets varies widely by region. In the northeast, for example, if every family within present TV range is were to acquire a set, this would account for close to 90% of all the families in this part of the country. Thus, new markets in this region will cover only 10%.

By contrast, if set ownership were universal in the present Southern TV areas, this would mean that only 45% of the families in the entire region would own sets. Here, then, the markets which have still to get TV represent a large potential.

Breaking all this down to individual markets, here is the development of TV set ownership in the metropolitan districts of three different places as determined by actual month-by-month survey. We picked these cities — New York, Dayton and Birmingham — to represent different present levels of TV penetration. New York was picked for a high degree of penetration; the next city for an intermediate level of 49%, and the third for a fairly low level of 30%. The most striking feature of a chart of the three growth curves is that, though they are on different levels, the lines are similar in rate of growth.

As far as cities which will be getting TV in the future, I expect that the growth of set ownership will follow the same kind of curve shown with one important difference — i. e., growth will probably be at a faster rate during the first few months after a station goes on the air. This is because television itself should have even more appeal to the portant at times for the emotional well-being of an individual.

That Premature Requiem

A perfect illustration of this point comes to mind in Kathi Norris' "Escape With Me" radio show. In this weekly series, Kathi invites the audience to escape to faroff lands for intriguing stories. She can say, "Now let's go into the wilds of the Amazon jungle" and the listener's imagination takes him into that jungle. He closes his eyes and, for that half-hour, he IS in the jungle. Just try that on television. Of course, you could film the story in the Amazon jungle to achieve reality, but, after the first show, you'd file a petition in bankruptcy. Try it in the studio and who would believe the authenticity of your set? Even the most naive vlewers would laugh at anything you would present as a real jungle.

So we see that the full play of imagination—possible ONLY IN RADIO—is a decided asset for entertainment.

Hypnotic, That's What!

I never did like to go to fumerais especially when the "corpse" is not dead.

That's why I resent the flowery memorial services frequently held for radio. While radio is far from being a lusty youngster, it most assuredly is a vibrant, husky adult in the prime of life.

Let's face it. Radio will always be important because it is the only true medium of escape—that is, complete escape. When one goes to the theatre or movies or watches a TV show, he is always conscious of his surroundings. In the legitimate or motion picture theatre, the surroundings. In the legitimate or motion picture theatre, the surroundings walls are always present. The stage or screen is there to be seen. The actors are there to be seen and, in many instances—all too frequent—are there to be seen and, in many instances—all too frequent—are there to bring us back to reality. The same applies to television, too, of course.

Radio, on the other hand, obliterates everything—repeat, EVERYTHING—but the voice. The listener can settle back in an easy chair (or lie on the floor, for all we care) and close his eyes. No is to far announcer to distract him, no beautiful hair to remind him of his bald spot—no nothing. Just a voice. So he listens and escapes completely. And, escape, according to many psychologists, is important at times for the emotional ewell-being of an individual.

A perfect Illustration of this point comes to mind in Kathi Norse's "Escape With Me" radio show. In this weekly series, Kathi in the tites the Amazon jungle" and the listener's imagination takes him into that jungle. He closes his eyes and, for that half-hour, he IS in the interest imagination takes him into that jungle. He closes his eyes and, for that half-hour, he IS in the interest imagination takes him into that jungle. He closes his eyes and, for that half-hour, he IS in the interest imagination takes him into that jungle. He closes his eyes and, for that half-hour, he IS in the imagine that has previously been set up. This actual visualization bort. In the listener w the image that has previously been set up. This actual visualization bars a full rapport,

What all these remarks boil down to is very simple. Don't make any plans to attend radio's funeral. Actually, you ought to start saving your pennies to present it with a gift on its 50th birthday.

GENE DE YOUNG BUYS KERO, BAKERSFIELD

Hollywood, July 15.

Paul Bartlett announced the sale of KERO, Bakersfield, to a group

From a sales point of view, it is equally important. Oh, yes, I've known all about the Chinese proverb that one picture is worth 10,000 words. But they didn't have television when that maxim was concorted. Please don't misunderstand me. Video is a powerful selling medium. But, drawing an analogy, and I think it's a sound one, hypnosis is like radio—it, too, obliterates everything except the voice. The hypnotist, with several irrelevant exceptions, can make his subject obey his will. That's the way it is with radio. The listener hears merely the voice, suffers none of the distractions referred to above, and can easily be sold. (There are plenty of other distractions on TV, too. How many times have you

* NELSON CASE

SELLING AMERICA TO AMERICANS By FREELON M. (NAT) FOWLER (Manager, TV Film Programming, ABC)

Private Industry, without actually comprehending it, is, at this writing, responsible for some 832 half hours of broadcasting in its own interest over one New York station alone without huying air time. And this in any broadcaster's ledger amounts to about $1,500,000 of would-be billing's year. How many of these broadcast times are you taking advantage of? And if not any, why not?

Agencies such as Young & Rubicam, Kenyon & Eckhardt and BBD&O have learned there are institutional gains to be had through the medium of no-charge television programming which veritably every station in the country offers them with regularity. Companies such as Standard Brands, Shell and Standard Oil, United States Steel have learned this too. To you who have not boarded the bandwagon yet let us review the formula—for years industrial film makers have been convincing you of value derived from production of industrial films designed to either inform your employees of your operation, instruct schools, clubs, and other groups of your operation or for consumption by the public at large in clubs, churches, and other meeting halls. Now television offers you itself as your exhibition medium. Your films have probably included obvious direct advertising copy which under commercial competitive broadcaster operations would render them unusable without first buying the station's time for airing. When these plugs are removed, in nearly every case informative entertainment remains without aftering the story line. And usually the direct advertising can be removed in such a manner that even the producer, unless he has a script in hand, is unable to notice the deletion.

Broadcasters have an obligation, a desired obligation, to inform as well as entertain the home viewer and we have learned that we can also sell Americans America at the same time by showing its industries and vast resources, its habits and resulting standard of living. Once you have gone through your vaults and weeded out your film which would interest a broad audience we broadcaster

Central Clearing House

Central Clearing House

As a broadcaster, and undoubtedly my colleaguer concur, I have often wished for one central clearing house for industrial film. Perhaps this writing will move one of the industrial press to set out on such a project or perhaps an agency may result representing intra-industry film availabilities to serve all television. But in spite of this unchartered field we have unearthed some 5,000 industrial motion pictures which, though not all acceptable for broadcasting for one reason or other, have been made available by private industry. These have come from over a thousand sources with which we keep in active contact so as to avail ourselves of new material as it may be loosened for television broadcasting. Newspaper listings show some eight hours of such programming as I have described on one local New York station alone in one week this year. If this schedule should keep going the year round we would be offering the combined American industries some 418 hours of no-charge time per year. Imagine the public service relations achieved if only 50 of the present television stations in this country were introduced to your availabilities.

Specifically to the stations—space in Varnery available for this subject does not allow inclusion of more than a handful of companies interested in our program. For your starter here are a few: all the boat lines, airlines, railroads, Underwood Typewriter Co., Pan American Coffee Bureau, National Cotton Council, Milliken Fabrics, Standard Brands, Bituminous Coal Institute, Bell Telephone Co., all major oil companies, the larger steel companies, insurance companies. And for series presentations there are excellent sources ready to serve broadcasters. They include the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, the American Legion, Boy Scouts of America, the Industrial Home for the Blind in Brooklyn, AAA of New York, National Safety, Council, Canadian National Railways. Though not addressed principally to government, it would be only fair to include the various fine films available

KEN ROBERTS RADIO AND TV

John Cameron Swayze

Putting the Props Under Television

By NORMAN and: IRVING PINCUS

Most producers hand their packages over to the networks and let them take over the mechanics of designing and building sets. As independent producers, we like to handle every phase of production ourselves. We believe this makes for more efficiency and better economics. We maintain our own set designer, our own builders and our warehouse. designer, our our warehouse.

This means considerably more work and responsibility for us, but it gives us closer control of our shows and enables us to keep within budget. It also enables us to build up a "library" of props and scenery. cenery.

The costs of producing video shows are ballooning so rapidly as to frighten most sponsors. Dramatic shows are particularly expensive. The basic costs even before the cast is engaged are colossal.

colossal.

There are ways of controlling such costs which we have learned through experience. We have never exceeded our budget, even in times of emergency. One week a fire in our warehouse destroyed several sets, including the one we needed for our next "Ellery Queen" show. Putting our staff to work on a 24-hour basis, we were able to replace the set in time for the show. True, it cut a dent in our profits, but it didn't cost our client anything.

Because we are so familiar with

Because we are so familiar with our sets, and build them so they are demountable, we can use them over and over again. You'd never know it's the same set either, because of the way they are propped and dressed. And it's not done with pairways. Because we keen the same and dressed. And it's not done with mirrors. Because we keep the same personnel year after year, every-one is completely familiar with his job. This saves time and energy ... and money.

one is completely familiar with his job. This saves time and energy . . . and money.

Producing dramatic shows has become a highly specialized field. Without know-how, the costs can become astronomical. Not only that, but so many things can go wrong, it can give you ulcers overnight. Like having a principal on the show conk out just before broadcast time. This happened to us a few weeks ago when-Betty Garde was hurt in a taxicab accident a few hours before airtime. It was impossible to get a replacement on such short notice, and so we used a kinescope of a previous show, which we kept for just such emergencies. Or like the time Richard Hart, the original "Ellery Queen" of TV, suddenly passed away 48 hours before airtime. It took some tall hustling before we obtained a replacement, Lee Bowman. He did such a fine job on the short notice that he has had the role ever since.

We have never laid down a rule that props cannot be changed at the last minute. In other words, we don't hamper the writer or director if he wants to make changes right up to broadcast time, if it will help the show. Often these changes require alterations in the sets. The hammering may go on until we get the on-the-air signal but we nevertheless do it. Sometimes there's almost as much drama in our own problems as in the show itself and one of these days we're going to do a show based on that. Probably call it Never A Dull Moment.

Arthur Murray Taught Me Ratings in a Hurry

By ARTHUR MURRAY

By ARTHUR MURRAY

If you want to make everybody connected with a radio or TV show dance on a cloud pull the latest rating sheet out of your pocket and show them the substantial gain made since the last rating. Everybody in the industry suffers from ratingitis, whether it be the office boy or the prima donna. Shows are bought, renewed or cancelled because of these ratings. They have been blessed and cursed, praised and condemned, recommended and denounced. If your rating is high, then the rating system is the best in the world. Should the rating drop, then suddenly rating systems in general become very unimportant. Twe known companies to switch to another rating service because it gave them a higher numerical pointage. This did not mean they had more viewers. It just sounded better.

When my program switched from Wednesday nights to Sundays at 9

When my program switched from Wednesday nights to Sundays at 9 on ABC, I had a problem of establishing a good rating at an hour when the competition was pretty keen. The spot had a small rating when we moved into it.

on ABC, I had a problem of establishing a good rating at an hour when the competition was pretty keen. The spot had a small rating when we moved into it.

I observed that the top shows were the comedy programs. Also the ones which featured name personalities. So I realized that in order to reach the public I had to give them stars and comedy. These are the most expensive items you can buy. But you can't stint on costs if you want to get a rating.

I threw my previous budget out of the window and began to buy or stars. Another problem was making the public aware of the program. For years they had been schooled to watch either the "Philco Playhouse" on NBC or Fred Waring on CBS. We had to pull them away from fixed viewing habits. It occurred to me the most effective way to do this was to advertise heavily in the newspapers. I ran small ads every day of the week and the campaign reached a climax on Sunday, the day of the show, with large conspicuous ads. Readers just couldn't miss noting them.

It paid off in more ways than one. After only four weeks in the brand new time, our rating was the second highest on the ABC network. We edged ahead of Waring. We didn't take too much away from the "Philco Playhouse" which proved an interesting point. Rather than cutting into our competition, our newspaper ads helped increase the television audience. People watched our show who otherwise would not have turned on their sets at all. Artists who had been reluctant to do guest shots changed their minds because of the extra publicity these ads gave them.

It seems to me other sponsors might derive a lesson out of this. Especially in a city like New York which has seven TV stations, competition is keen. Sponsors should not heistate to advertise their advertising. Every rating point they gain is supposed to represent almost a million extra viewers, which can be translated into considerably more sales of the sponsors' product. Even if it is costly to raise your rating in a hurry, the added sales make it worthwhile.

Blame the Other Guy! By HARRY WAYNE McMAHAN (President, Five Star Productions)

Hollywood.

"TV film spots cost too much!"

VARIETY started the chant last month, and advertisers from coast-to-

VARIETY started the chant last month, and advertises and coast are echoing it.

"Sure!" say the agencies. "It's the producers' fault!"

"Our hands are tied," say the producers.
Looking at the situation objectively, there is little question but that all three are at fault: advertiser, agency and producer.

First, let's admit that film commercials cost 20% to 30% more than they should. Let's see why:

The Advertiser costs unnecessary expense when:

1. He insists on being a "showman"; trying too much to entertain rather than sell.

He adds too many unnecessary elements to the agency's scripts.
 He goes on the producer's set to "keep a finger in" production—costly factor in any producer's budget.

Now, the Agency costs money when:

It uses inexperienced writers who do not know per-scene costs.
 It does not plan for long range; requires fast, costly deadlines.
 It has poor liaison with advertiser or producer, causing costly re-

- takes.

 And the Producer has his share of blame when:

 1. His sales costs are too high. (Some firms figure 35%.)

 2. His labor costs are out of line; he lacks sufficient constant flow of business for maximum efficiency.

 3. His error incidence is too high, requiring "cushion" in his bid. Yes, TV film spots cost too much.

 Production-wise, Hollywood is showing the lead in how to trim costs. Competition will force New York to do the same within another year.

BILL WILLIAMS *KIT CARSON"

*ponsored by Coca-Cola B

All Pager the Fountry

'Today' as an Experiment. Bodes Encouraging Manana

"Today," the morning news prosize man, has now been on the air for six months, and our observations are now conclusive enough to indicate that people will watch television at the early hours of 7 to 9 a.m.

Our program is one that you can take in small or large doses. You can tune in at any time between the hours we are on the air. Whether you stay with us for a short or a long spell of time, you'll at least get the highlights of the news, weather, time, sports, features, fashions, interviews, books, movies, theatre, etc.

"Today," in effect, is a national newspaper, delivered to the homes of millions in 34 cities, from Boston to St. Paul and from Miami to Houston.

ton to st. Paul and from Miami to Houston.

Our program has been geared to give information to the man and woman, as well as the child, of the family. We would like to be informative, interesting, newsworthy.

To get back, however, to the information that I have been asked about—"will people watch a morning program?"—the answer is a definite "yes." The surveys, the ratings, the fan mail, the results that our sponsors have had from this program in the matter of sales and mail response, have given us more than sufficient evidence that the whole idea was sound both on an entertainment and a commercial basis.

Pat Weaver, in a speech made ctal basis.

Pat Weaver, in a speech made several months before the program was launched, said, "We will change the habits of millions, who, up to now, have gotten their news by radio and newspapers only." I could go on and give you many proofs that the statement has become a reality, but the best proof is to tell you about some of the unsolicited mail which has come in by the basketful, day in and day out.

Typical Examples

Let me cite some typical ex-

"All of us eat our breakfast off the bridge table in the parlor."

"My husband said I should put casters on the TV set so I can roll it around and see it from the

"I used to get all the dishes washed by 8:30—now I don't do a thing until 10 o'clock."

"My husband now dresses in the living room."

"I'm a nurse who lives alone, and it's wonderful to have someone in for breakfast."
"My husband said I could buy a small TV set for the kitchen."
"I would love to keep you on the full two hours, but electricity is so expensive."
The dean of a coult.

so expensive."

The dean of a southern university wrote: "Twenty of us on the faculty now meet every morning at the Faculty Club for breakfast, and watch your show in its entirety. It keeps us well up on current events."

entirety. It keeps us well up on current events."

"Dear Mr. Garroway: Please say' something about the kiddies. They have to get dressed and go to school, or they'll be late.

In citing excerpts from the hundreds of thousands of letters, it is not our intent to merely show that people will write letters to us, but to show that in each bit of fan mail we get a new thought and understanding of why television will attract an early listener.

We have also discovered that, while entertainment is the important factor in programming for television—especially in the evening—a program like ours, which makes news live each day, also attracts millions, both young and old. When we say "news," we go back to the basic meaning of the word — th at we are presenting something "new." And "new" does not have to cover merely accidents, fires, and politics, but also or leadership.

Dave Garroway, Jack Lescoulie and Jim Fleming, our chief news commentator, are very mindful of those dimensions when they are 'on stage' and are responsible for the ad libs, quips and verbiage tossing.

tossing.

Our list of sponsors has grown and we have had repeated renewals. Sponsors have detected a great public reaction, and at least half a dozen have shown us their confidential figures indicating sharp increases in sales. This, from sponsors who were carrying no other type of advertising at the time and could compare their figures in TV markets against those in non-TV areas.

Most important of all is to have

Most important of all is to have mothers write to tell us that we have become a great influence on the lives of their children.

the lives of their children.

One woman in Boston wrote us that her five-year-old boy tuned the set in at 7 a.m. each day and had thus made viewers of herself and her husband. One afternoon, she said, she heard the child talking in his room. She looked in and saw him, with a toy telephone in hand and a small blackboard, drawing lines over the blackboard and muttering into the telephone: "Hello, Jim Fidler in Washington. This is Dave Garroway in New ling lives of the sour promise we will.

STAATS COTSWORTH

Radio's Top Dramatic Actor" ont Page Farrell, NBC—Marl Frail, ABC—Lone Journey, ABC Special Events Narrator For News Week Dumont and CBS TV

York." This child was merely do-ing what Dave Garroway does each day on the show—talking to the Weather Bureau in Washington, while drawing a Weather Map for

Gamble for Survival

By G. W. (JOHNNY) JOHNSTONE o TV Director, National Assn. of Manufacturers)

Radio and television networks must gamble for survival. What's better than gambling with the future of talent? The field of industry, particularly in science, research and engineering, has developed the university and college scholarship plan to enormous proportions. That's an investment in the future of talent within industry. Why not, then, an investment on-the part of networks—and stations, too, for that matter—for the future "Top 10" in the radio and television firmament? Through the years we've been attempting to sell this idea to the network brass, but so far it has fallen on deaf ears. Reminds us of the time, the morning following an epochal radio broadcast by a then little known news commentator under our direction. Appearing before the executives who controlled the pursestrings of our outlet, we recommended that the commentator be signed up immediately on an exclusive basis "for $15,000 a year guarantee plus 50% of any income over that figure, the outlet to retain the other 50%."

"What do you think we're in—the gambling business?" we were told. "Let's stick to the radio broadcasting business," they added.

It was less than a week following that an advertising agency got to told. "Let's stick to the radio broadcasting business," they added.

It was less than a week following that an advertising agency got to the commentator directly, signing him up for a four-figure amount weekly. So what else happened? A clause in the advertising agency's contract included the reading of a "personal message concerning the product," written and voiced by the commentator, as a middle commercial in each broadcast! The guy has been a terrific financial success, the middle commercial still goes—neither the stations nor the network can do anything about that. Oh,'yes, I hear you—time is sold. But it stops there. It is our contention that the original plan would have made more money for the outlet and no one would have been the loser.

'Farm System'

Which brings us to our "investment in talent for the future" idea: why not a "farm system" for radio and television talent? A "farm system" built along the same lines as in professional baseball.

system" built along the same lines as in professional baseball.

Network X—take your pick—owns a half dozen radio stations and several television stations, all strategically placed in major markets throughout the country. Rarely does it present talent which it is developing except from home base. Just as an example, we know of one rather accomplished news commentator who has been employed on the Pacffic Coast by a network for several years, yet has not been heard in a full commentary period east of the Rockies! Is this star development? And please pardon us if we seem to dote on news commentators but we've been working with them for nigh onto 30 years, in fact, helped develop quite a few. But they re talent too!

Our point here is that the petworks should take cognizance of the

Our point here is that the networks should take cognizance of the fact that their owned and operated stations are not only their investment, but they're also members of their own family. An investment in Artist X at one of the owned and operated stations, if that artist has any potential future, is as good as an investment in any network mail we get a new thought and understanding of why television will attract an early listener.

We have also discovered that, while entertainment is the important factor in programming for television—especially in the evening—a program like ours, which makes news live each day, also discovered that the future of talent at heart; a guy who also has the personality and one of the major league ball teams, he should have the personality and other facets of endeavor that make up our daily living habits.

What he future must bring forth, if show business is to maintain the future of talent at will develop a "farm system." In the program, it good as an investment in any network at the future of talent at heart; a guy who also has the personality and other facets of endeavor that make up our daily living habits.

When we discovered much to our amazement, that youngsters of five and upwards were facinated by our program, it gave us new dimensions to shoot for—a dimensions to shoot for—a dimensions to shoot for—a dimensions to shoot for—a dimensions for the first of the entertainment is the important factor in programming for the way in the even in program is good as an investment in any network at the first of the fir

TV Pic-Making in Stockholm Not All Sweetness & Smorgasbord

By SHELDON REYNOLDS (Producer-Director 'Foreign Intrigue')

Eighteen months ago before I decided to go to Stockholm to make a pilot film for a prospective television series I had my own ideas on what motion picture production was like in Europe. How wrong I was! Now, after spending one year at work producing and directing 39 chapters of "Foreign Intrigue" not only in Stockholm but in practically all the free countries of Europe I have a more accurate and factual knowledge of continental film making.

While Stockholm is our home base, in that we use the facilities of the Europa Studios and do the major portion of our indoor shooting in that city, each week's work in the production of one television show requires one location trip. "On location" for us is a lot different from the Hollywood version: To begin with passports are needed for every member of our troupe. On these safaris I generally take along my cameraman, assistant director, film cutter, script girl, the two American stars of our show, Sydna Scott and Jerome Thor, plus any other essential character actors necessary to the current plot.

On our most recent trip of this type we combined the work of four

On our most recent trip of this type we combined the work of four films and stayed out for two weeks, stopping off for "shooting" in Copenhagen, Hamburg, Vienna and Munich before coming back to Stockholm. This one trip seemingly gave us a backlog to cover four different episodes. But, while we were away with all the important elements of the show production in Stockholm was at a standstill so that we actually had to make up for lost time. And, travel expenses in Europe are not low. For this one-trip the plane fare was well over $1,000. The transportation charges for our camera equipment were about $1,500. To this must be added such things as hotel accommodations, transportation within each country, meals for all, salaries for the crew assistants we would hire in each country—a total of $6,000. The total cost is high but it is the necessary factor in the production of "Foreign

'Socialized' Production

"Foreign

Socialized' Production

Back in Stockholm we have been fortunate in having a crew willing to keep going at the pace necessary for one-a-week production. In a co-operatively socialized country like Sweden all the studio personnel are unionized. But, they still take a few liberties. Once a crew knows that the required number of people are employed there is no longer any shop delineation on the set. An electrician may help you to move a prop or if necessary a "grlp" may handle lights.

Since only my two leads are Americans the rest of the cast must be recruited from the English-speaking actors in Stockholm. While most Swedes learn English in school those who know it well enough to use it dramatically are in a minority. This group is confined to their stage and screen stars. This means that I must use stars, at star salaries, for even mipor roles. While this is a lot less than our standard for stars it is still a good deal more than we pay our extras.

Making a film with one imported star in the cast is one thing. But, working with an entire cast (except one) of actors foreign to the language in which the film is, being made is quite another. And our schedule does not give them time to refer to their dictionaries.

While the studio personnel is highly skilled and I doubt if there are better cameramen in the world than we have on this show they still had to be indoctrinated with our method of working. Most have never been to the U. S. and none have ever seen a television show. Thus even this basic concept of the program was completely foreign. In the beginning it took us two weeks from the time the cutter was finished with the work print until we shipped the finished job to J. Walter Thompson Co. to New York. Today we can do the same job in three and a half days.

As you can see, Europe is not the place to go to in an effort to save money in the making of a small budget 30-minute film. Perhaps a lavish and expensive full-length feature could be made for less money over there. Time and experience do not cut

Blame It on Lack of Vision

Continued from page 38

willing to admit that a constantly growing stockpile of creative talent willing to admit that a constantly growing stockpile of creative talent is its essential source of raw material.

Every industry has problems and they can generally be solved on an industry-wide basis. Rather than do this, show business prefers its own peculiar sort of masochistic chaos because it, somehow confuses chaos with creation. So, instead of any honest cooperation on an industry-wide basis, the elements of show business prefer to squabble among themselves, remaining a loose amalgam of semi-autonomous but inter-related operations each being run on a gold-rush basis with everyone angling for that one big strike without any intelligent regard for what's been done, what's being done around it, and what the future might conceivably bring forth.

Need Manpower Pool

The Year That Television News Came Of Age

The year 1952 will be recorded as the year that television news came of age.

Speculation has always raged as TV's "magic" news formula, Critics and friends alike have talked of the distant day when someone would discover the ideal way to report news by television.

They can stop speculating. The day has already arrived but the formula hasn't taken the shape they were expecting. They thought of it in terms of a program format; something contained in 15 minutes and bounded by station breaks.

It isn't and won't be that. No earthly news director will ever be able to arrange for the world's big happenings to occur between two station breaks. And television's strength, equalled by no other reporting medium of sight and sound. is putting the news event simultaneously into 17,000,000 homesas it happens!

Basic reporting by television is an atomic blast, a bitter campaign for the Presidential nomination, political conventions, a tour of the White House with the President as guide, a President announcing he would not run, a world series, the top football games and the best prizefights.

That's TV news-reported on the spot with sight and sound, flashed into your living room while it unfolds miles or hundreds of miles or thousands of miles from your set.

That is primary news reporting. But the rest of the "magic" formula, which really is no formula but simple common sense, is the panel show, the combination film and live "straight" news show, the combination film and live telementary, the one or two time-special event. the one or two time special event, and last but hardly least, the audio bulletin for informative purposes. In 1952, then, the TV news pattern is taking solidified shape.

Page 1 Breaks

The panel show not only brings news to its listeners but makes news for other media, For example, the front page breaks of "Meet the Press" and "American Forum of the Air," to mention a few. It would be interesting to know how many viewers, outside of trained newsmen realize Sunday after Sunnamy viewers, busine of trained newsmen, realize Sunday after Sun-day that news is literally being made before their very eyes and piped into their living rooms.

RADIO

'What are the A & P Gypsies Playing Tonight'?

sports of the current season is called "radio-baiting," Almost called "radio-baiting," Almost anyone can play and the rules are simple for simple people. You lift a very dry martini in such watering places as Louis & Armand's or the Barberry Room, reach away from the check and say to some harassed but loy-assed but loval broadcasters, "The trouble with radio is there are no new ideas."

The amateur who plays this game must observe one extra rule: he must not listen to the radio. Taking time out to find out what's Taking time out to find out what's really going on over the air spoils fun, because upon discovering that radio is doing some new things forces him back to play another game that was popular last year. That was called "TV Films vs. Live Telecasts."

usually a critic and "radio-bait-ing" is always good for 500 to 750 words on a dull Monday when the writer has exhausted his paens of praise for Kukla, Fran or Mollie Berg. The professional who indulges is

As one of those intrepid souls who has a deep and abiding faith in this sound, solid advertising medium known as broadcasting, I have been subjected to "radio-bait-vorite news format—a 15-minute roundup of the news; except that here, television again reaches into its hag of electronic tricks to bring film of an event minutes old to millions of living rooms. Witness NBC's feat on the Eisenhower speech at Abilene. Fifteen minutes after the General spoke at Abilene a film insert led off the "Camel News Caravan" from New York.

York.

The combination film and live telementary, the documentary of the films, serves still another purpose. It probes behind the spot news, seeks to bring background unavailable in the straight news show for time reasons, and the significance of the events around us. Here, "See It Now" and "Battle Report" have their place in television's overall presentation of news.

The one or two time special event The one of two time special events is obvious. It's Eisenhower's arrival or MacArthur's or a Truman speech to Congress on a vital issue. Or, still a sub-category—the scripted, rehearsed report of the Americal Arabidal Arabidations of the American area. can Medical Association's conven-tion, complete with operation. And Bertrand Russell's ruminations on 80 years of life.

piped into their living rooms.

The combination film and live "straight" news show is actually a pictorial adaptation of radio's fa-other basic news programs directed

I am aware that most advertising men are frightfully busy but I think it is important to the advertiser as it is to the broadcaster that they help us stimulate and encourage the development of new radio programming patterns.

When a time sale is made to radio programming patterns.

When a time sale is made too often the buyer takes the easy way out and buys some ancient but honorable property that once had a glowing Crossley rating. There are some yeteran attractions around that still have enough vitality to do the job. We've sold them and we have more for sale. But let's not bring back the Cliquot Club Eskimos.

All we want is an ecceptoral.

All we want is an occasional half-hour of a potential sponsor's time to demonstrate that there are quite a few new radio shows available and that they're pretty good. The roster of new CBS-Radio shows includes: "December Bride," shows includes: "December Bride," a situation comedy starring Spring Byington and created by Parke Levy of "My Friend Irma" writing fame; "Gunsmoke," an exciting, adult western, the Frank Fontaine show, the Doris Day show (sold for the summer to Rexall), a nightly strip starring Steve Allen, and the adventures of Horatio Hornblower, with Michael Redgrave playing C. S. Forester's seaworthy hero.

For sin time couplit your faces.

For air time, consult your favor-mercial sponsorship of a big news event was not too tough a hurdle.

Until now, the real concern of the industry's leaders, rightly, has been to get their properties out of the red and into the black. That corner has been approached and turned in many instances. At least they can see daylight after the red days. But there is still need for more understanding and knowledge on the part of top industry leaders to know the detailed problems of a television news presentation.

Technical advances come when

Technical advances come when operation personnel tell the engineers what they need and want. A new type mobile unit, the NBC crash truck, a veritable moving studio, is in operation. The walkietalkie-lookie, television's answer to the walkie-talkie, has already been in operation. We will be refined, its pack transmitter weight reduced and its range improved as it is used and tested. It will permit the "close-in" camera work needed for big public meetings and the crowd reaction at sports events. And as the industry grows, camera sizes will be reduced, power requirements simplified and the on-the-spot pickup made as simple as the radio pickup of today.

Preview or review—1952 is the talkie-lookie, television's answer to Preview or review—1952 is the year of television news.

Film Comm'ls Don't Have To Be Bad Ones

By WILL BALTIN : (Screen Gems, Inc.)

very clever ideas have Same been embodied into the television film commercial. And some rather poor ones, too. In the latsome ter case, costly errors in judgment might have been avoided if the needed know-how in film making had been harnassed to the effort—before the effort was even initiated.

One of TV's prevailing maladies, One of TV's prevailing maladies, commercially speaking, is the hangover from radio pervading video departments in many agencies. And it's understandable. Copy writers whose alliterative urgings pumped sense and sales into aural messages trumpeted through microphones for nearly a quarter of a century, suddenly found themselves swept but the tide of falexision into the

for nearly a quarter of a century, suddenly found themselves swept by the tide of television into the less familiar atmosphere of visual creation on film.

Likewise, individuals with equal competence and experience in the field of "live" TV program production have veered into the agency field and are attempting to adapt their talents to the writing and supervision of commercial film production. production.

production.

What is needed—and it will come before long—is closer liaison between the advertising agency, on the one hand, and the television film producer, on the other, in the development of an idea from its earliest stages. Top agencies are not short on ideas—good ones. But the moulding of the basic idea into a walloping roll of sales-on-celluloid must be fashioned in collaboration with those who know and understand the techniques of film. making.

Experience has shown that when Experience has shown that when a good idea—raw and undeveloped beyond its basic conception—is tackled in an atmosphere of genuine understanding by agency representatives and craftsmen who know film and know how to pattern a sales message to fit squarely into the television medium, the developed result is not only highly satisfactors—but the concentre of satisfactory—but the economies ef-fected sit well with the sponsor and satisfactory—but the economies effected sit well with the sponsor and his agency.

In the final analysis, a partnership of effort is essential to the success of a filmed commercial—a well-knit partnership embodying sponsor, agency and film producer. How much better TV commecials on film would be if the following logical sequence of operations were to be adopted by the agencies: first, decide which producer is best sulted to handle their needs; second, be straightforward as to budget limitations; third, eliminate uncertainties attendant to competitive bidding; fourth, develop ideas for TV film commercials in close cooperation with the producer to insure sound production techniques and maximum economies.

One of the more tiresome indoor or of the current season is alled "radio-baiting." Almost anyone can play and the rules are sim ple for si

'The player opened with this gem: "Why don't you fellows have an evening of straight, popular music?"

music?"

I told him that we do have such a schedule on CBS-Radio every Friday; quite good, too.

"Oh," he said, a little deffated, "well, how about a weekend roundup of world news, bringing reports from your correspondents from all over the globe. TV can't do that, you know."

I explained that this has been a ue that, you know."

I explained that this has been a CBS-Radio feature for a long time and the Sunday session had a happy sponsor.

"Really?" he countered, "well to tell you the truth I haven't been listening to the radio for quite a spell."

I reached for the tab and promised I would have a service man over in the morning to check up on his Atwater-Kent.

Fortunately, this adversary's critique of the mother medium didn't distress me too much. He was not an advertising man but a relative, and you know what they're like.

For it's only when advertising men accost me with "the trouble with radio is there are no new ideas" that I come back fighting. We do have new ideas for radio but the idea we really need is to figure some way to have these fellows listen to them.

And this is not a new problem.

Even before TV new ideas for radio struggled for attention. "Life Supermarket."

For the A. & P. Gypsies try your radio struggled for attention. "Life Supermarket."

at a specific audience—the early morning one. An audience that supposedly didn't have time for elevision—but apparently found

BEN GRAUER

All of these make up television's news report. They correspond in the rough, perhaps, to a newspa-per's basic format of the front page, the opposite editorial page, the sports page and the feature story sports page and the feature story. This year, as it has every year, since it became a part of American life, television news coverage has advanced. The conventions, one of which will be over when this article appears, will be the halfway mark in the year that television news came of age. Big as the events will be, terrific as their impact will be on the 'political forces within the country, they will be only a part of the beginning of mature news coverage by the 'world's youngest medium for the communication of news. nication of news.

How fast it will reach maturity depends on many things. The economics of the industry, the vision of its executives, its technical ad-

Economies, the routine excuse or not doing many things in tele-ision, should be no serious prob-em. The sale of the convention for not doing many things in ter-vision, should be no serious prob-lem. The sale of the convention coverage of three networks to sponsors proved that if the event is worth it someone will pick up the check. And what is more it proved also that a long time taboo on com-

TRANSMITTER SHIFT TO HYPO SALT LAKE VIDEO

Salt Lake City, July 15. Granting of permission by the FCC to KSL-TV and KDYL-TV to move their transmitters has started a flurry of activity by both stations to rush construction, while video set distributors are hailing the change as a much-needed shot in the arm for retail sales.

for retail sales.

New transmitters will be located atop the nearby Oquirth Mts. at the 9,000-foot level. As result of the move, station engineers predict video audiences in Utah will be doubled, with about 87% of the state's population receiving good coverage. Lee Flint, RCA Victor distributor, says he believes in the neighborhood of 75,000 additional sets will be sold as soon as the move is completed.

Problem of setting up trans-move is completed.

Problem of setting up transmitters at that altitude can be seen by the fact that KSL-TV was able to get into their site just five weeks ago for the first time since winter snows started to melt, and even at that late date had to blast 40-foot snowdrifts to get through.

JACKSON BECK Actor-Announcer-Narrator

MUrray Hill 8-6600

Estimated TV Film Spot Program Costs

(1952-53)

Costs are those charged individual stations by distributors. Since the costs are figured on a formula based on set circulation in individual markets, the range from low to high in most cases is based on prices charged Albuquerque and New York. Price per station for certain shows, as listed, is based on a percentage of the station's Class A rate, which also reflects set circulation.

١		Citas	:					ponents of our new video-audio system of communications—
2							-	television.
E	ROGRAM.	COST PER	FORMAT	LENGTH	HOW SOLD	PRODUCER	DISTRIBUTOR.	First, let's take a look at "Live versus Film" and ask, "Who's fighting?"
	dventures of Cyclone Malone	$38-525	Children's	15	Participating	Consolidated TV.	.Consolidated TV Sales	A few "very long" years ago in 1948-1949—it seems that it was a
1	All American Game of the Week	146-2,000 (Based on	Sports Drama	30 15-30 -	Available Available	Sportavision, Inc Consolidated TV	.Consolidated TV Sales .Consolidated TV	battle between east and west. A ig Game Hunt	'A' 'rate) 100-500	Jungle-Adv.	30	Participating	Jules B. Weill	.Explorers Pict. Corp.	mer would argue, "You've got to be on the spot, there is no real
3	ig Town	75-300 100-435	Drama Mystery	30	Available	Gross-Krasne	.CBS	place for film in TV;" while his California motion picture friends
- 6	Chevron Theatre	117-2,250 (Based on	Drama Western	30 30	Participating Participating	Revue Prods. Ziv	MCA .Ziv	would vehemently counter with, "There is no substitute for the
1	Buster Crabbe Show	'A' rate) 100-750	Western	30 30	Available	Jules B. Weill Adrian Weiss Prods	Film Vision Corp.	study and care plus the scope of a filmed program."
٠, (Craig Kennedy, Criminologist Crusade in Europe	111-2,193 125-800	Mystery-Det. Commentary	15	Participating	20th-Fox	.20th-Fox TV Prods.	Soon our TV baby started to grow and it extended itself some-
1	Dangerous Assignment	(Based on 'A' rate)	Mystery-Adv.			Donlevy Corp	.NBC	where in the neighborhood of 2,000 miles on the new micro-wave
	Dick Tracy	48-290 80-500	Children's Drama			tions Sales, IncGalbreath	Snader H. S. Goodman Prod.	feeding formula. Suddenly both sides of the argument seemed to fall apart. It appears that film and Dilemma Dr. Fixum Household Hospital	50-400 75-775	How to Do It	15	Participating	Vogue Wright Studios	S.Snader	live were virtually married.
	Double Play Dick Dunkel's Football Ratings Fearless Fosdick	39-781 (Based on	Sports Children's	15	Available	Tel Ra Prods Chas. Guggenheim	.United Feature TV	The Californian, now able to reach the nation from his own habitat, was found to admit, "Say,
	File Facts	'A' rate) 7.50-71.50	How to Do It	5	Available	Kling Studios	UTP	there is something to this live thing." The New Yorker, seeing
	Files of Jeffrey Jones Football Extras	125-750 70-500	Mystery Sports	30	Participating	Lindsley Parsons	CBS	the film advantages, all too reluc- tantly gave way to, "Yes, there's Football This Week	78-800	Sports			Norman Sper	.Station Distributors	a real and important place for film." The result—no contest.
	Foreign Intrigue	(Based on 'A' rate)	Mystery		Ballantine- Participating	Sheldon Reynolds	JWT	Let us now take a look at the subject overall and see how the
	Fun With Felix	100-500	Magic			Fletcher Smith	Ted Baldwin	pleces fit! Big Town Conversion
	Ghost Towns of the West Goin' Places with Gadabout	25-400	Drama			Simmel-Meservey		We at Ruthrauff & Ryan have had some particularly good advan-
	Gaddis Great Foodini	65-510 (Based on 'A' ratè)	Sports Children's	15 30	Participating	Beacon TV FeaturesFletcher Smith Studios	Prockter Syndications	tages through which to take such a look and make a proper appraisal.
4	Gruen Theatre Headlines on Parade	117-1,688 35-400	Drama Quiz-News	30 15	Gruen Watch	esRevue Prods United World Films	MCA	Among our shows—live and filmed —is "Big Town" for Lever Bros.
•	Hollywood Offbeat	75-1,775 40-400	Drama Interview		Participating Available	Marion ParsonnetCBS	UTP CBS	This program has had the benefit of eighteen months of live and is
	Hollywood Reel	25-200	Commentary	15	Participating	Erskine Johnson &	. Paramount TV Prods.	now on film. It enjoyed an ex- tremely high rating as a live show, but we felt that an action melo-
	Hopalong Cassidy	(Based on 'A' rate)	Western	60	Gen. Baking- Participating		NBC ·	drama, with the added scope film
	Inspector Morley of Scotland Yard Invitation Playhouse	110-660 115-1,508	Mystery Drama	30 15	Participating		McGraw Assoc.	could give, needed to be given a chance to be put on film. This op- eration has now been on film for )	Jewel Theatre	(not set) 45-400	Drama General Con	30	Hamilton Wa Intl. Silver	Screen Televideo	(not set yet)	several months, with the retention of its live format and its central
	Little Theatre	50-575	mentary Drama	15 15		Paul Moss		character (Steve Wilson, played by actor Pat McVey).
	Major League Highlights Movie Quick Quiz	58-1,262 125-750	Sports . Quiz	30	Available	Tel Ra Prods Schwimmer & Scott	Tel Ra Prods.	Our expectations for greater scope were realized in being able
	NBC Daily News Report	150-350	News	10	Available		. '	to move outside the studio walls to an actual waterfront, a railroad
	NBC News Review of the Week.	33-275	News	15		NBC News & Spec. Events	NBC	yard, a mountain lodge, etc. Per- formance and portrayal of char- acters improved because of the re-
	Old American Barn Dance Pulse of the City	75-675 50-700.	Music Drama	30 15	Participating Participating	Kling Studios Telescene Film	Telescene Film Prod.	finements which could be made in direction, camerawork, film editing
	Range Rider	125-1,500 50-700	Western Sports	30 30	Participating	Flying A. Prods	CBS	and scoring. We found further that we were
	Royal Playhouse	75-757	Drama	30	Participating	Bing Crosby Ent	UTP	able to gain certain economies for
	Sleepy Joe Speed C'assics			15 № 30	Available	Cardinal Products Dynamic Films, Inc.	DuMont Film Dept.	did not want to enter and antici-
	Stars Over Hollywood	25-400 72-900	Sports Quiz Drama	15 30	Ethyl-Partici	pating United World Films Revue Productions .	United World Films	from re-run use of the product.
	(Fireside Theatre)	60-110	Drama	15	Available	Gordon LeVoy	CBS	In addition to this we have seen the show enjoy a higher rating.
	Stranger Than Fiction Sunkist Premier Playhouse	15-175 (Based on	Human Interest Drama	15 30	Participating	United World Films	UWF	Maybe it's because the delayed broadcast stations or stations off the network are getting specifically
	Tales of Famous Outlaws	'A' rate) 35-275						corrected optical prints rather than kinescopes. But then again,
	Telesports Digest	(Based on 'A' rate)	Western Sports	15 • 30	Participating Participating	Western Adv. Prods. Tel Ra Productions.	Western Adv. Prods. UA-TV	maybe it's because of the other benefits of film generally.
	Televideo Theatre	(Based on 'A' rate)	Drama	30	Electric Cos	Gil Ralston-Jacques	Reynolds Product.	We hope what we have said does
	The Brokenshire Handyman	19-465	How to Do It	t 5	(Available i markets	n 11	teyholds Floduct.	think "Live is Dead" or some other such nonsense.
	mb. Oktoor	00.400				Center, Inc	Princeton Film Center	The newscast, the sports events,
	The Chimps	20-400 55-400	Children's Women's	15 15	Participating	Bing Crosby Ent Emil Velazco, Inc	UTP UA-TV	many other types of programs
	The Sportsman's Club This Is the Story	66-440 24-300	Sports Gen'l Com- mentary	15 15	Participating	Woodruff TV Prod	Woodruff TV Prod.	to envision will carry on hive
	This Week in Sports	(Based on 'A' rate)	Sports	15	Participating	Morton TV Prod Morton TV Prod	Snader Telenews Prods.	types of situation comedy, West- erns and many other types of pro- grams will continue to have their
	Time for Beany	150-175 58-1,262	Children's Sports	15 30	Participating	Bob Clampett Tel Ra Productions	Paramount TV Prods.	place on film. At Ruthrauff & Ryan we have
	Unexpected	(Based on 'A' rate)	Drama	30	Participating	Ziv	ziv
	Unk and Andy	45-200 55-400	Children's News	15 15	Participating Available	Jack Kenaston Prode	sUnited Artists TV	since the beginning of commercial television. Since 1950, we've had a fully staffed film production
	Washington Spotlight Wrestling from Hollywood	20-260 100-400	News-Com- mentary	15	Participating	Snader Telescription	ne Cnodon	department. We think we see both sides of the coin. And believe us,
	TELEVISION IIVIN TONT WOOD	100-400	Sports	ou or 90	Participating	Klaus Landsberg	Paramount TV Prods.	there are two sides.

(V.P., Director of Radi Ruthrauff & Ryan)

Like the "beat-beat of the tom-tom," or the discordant strains of a convention bloc screaming "Wintergreen for President," we have heard the nightmarish we have heard the nightmarish rhythm of "film tops live," "live tops film," until we have had to stop and take periodic inventory of ourselves and recount the components of our new video-audio system of communications—

The Network And Film

By R. W. SARNOFF (V.P. in Charge of NBC Film Division)

(V.P. in Charge of NBC Film Division)

Only yesterday, as head of Production Units, my world was one of tre me nd ou is comedy-variety shows, rotating comics, multiple sponsors, huge budgets—a tireless, but tiring search week after week to meet the insatiable demands of the TV cameras and the eagerness of the American viewer for new live productions. The enthusiastic public acceptance of "Show of Shows," "All Star Revue," "Comedy Hour," has been most gratifying, and with the return of these great shows in the fall, we have proof that it is real value that counts. But now I face up to a new task that offers a huge challenge and limitless possibilities.

Today I find myself in another world—a place of countless would-be producers, numberless ideas, each one considered by its owner to be the greatest, and the price of translation into production rarely less than $500,000; more often $1,000,000. Behind all this is the magic word "Film" and the widely held belief that films are the answer to television's problems. The magic word sparking this new conflagration is not really "Film" but rather "Residuals." To some this period appears as the "gold-rush" of the TV industry, nurtured by an overwhelmingly security complex on the part of producers, performers, and others.

NBC-TV has just established a Film Division to coordinate its film activities, with particular emphasis on expanding its film syndication operations: This is a very interesting step for a network to take.

As far as we are concerned, it is believed that some types of pro-

As far as we are concerned, it is believed that some types of programming can be presented better on film than live, and since we are dedicated to the purpose of providing the best possible programming to the greatest number of people, it is only natural and fitting that we use whatever methods and facilities are, available to achieve this end. It is pertinent, therefore, to point out a few of the things that should be borne in mind by those who are eager to advance the cause of film and those who are eager to preserve and exwho are eager to preserve and expand the stature of the networks.

First, Last, Always: Merit

who are eager to preserve and expand the stature of the networks.

First, Last, Always: Merit

First and foremost, we must ask each time "Will this film or series of films be worth showing?" This could be the kind of programming that the network should include in its schedule?" This criterion must apply particularly when the film under consideration by the network is for syndication use only. In other words, one certain way for the network to maintain its stature and importance is to make sure that it does not yield only to commercial temptation, but that it also judges film programs on their intrinsic merit.

Second, the present great motion picture studios, as well as the independent producers, must regard the television public as worthy of the best that the long experience and creative ability of, the motion picture industry can produce within the financial limitations of this new and expanding field.

Third, and what may seem like an obvious truism to many, but important enough to bear constant repetition, is that it isn't enough to make a good pilot and then coast through production of the series on the theory that once it has been bought the rest is "in the bag." That could lead to unfortunate results for all concerned.

It should be borne in mind that film 'TV' programs must justify themselves on an artistic as well as economic basis if they are to take the place of a substantial portion of live programs must justify themselves on an artistic as well as economic basis if they are to take the place of a substantial portion of live programming on TV networks and stations.

Fourth and last, we must not allow ourselves to be pressured advanced to the programs which we honestly believe can be better presented live. This may sound like heresy coming from on who is responsible for a network's film activity. But the simple fact is that we must do whatever is best for the medium of television. Only in this way can we best serve the public interest which means the interest of the industry as well.

Estimated Network TV Film Program Costs: '52-'53

Overall costs include production expenses, actors, musicians, writers, royalties, directors, etc., but not commercial announcers, agency directors, agency commission or time charges.

Agencies listed by initials are Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborn; Benton & Bowles; Cunninghum & Walsh; Dancer, Fitzgerald & Sample; Needham, Louis & Brorby; J. Walter Thompson, and Young & Rubicam.

. !
:	PROGRAM	COST	NET	FORMAT SPONSOR AGENCY PRODUCER
: 1	Fred Allen		NBC-TV
9				Comedy-QuizOld GoldLennen & Mitchell Goodson-Todman
;	Amos 'n' Andy	40,000	CBS-TV	ComedyBlatz BeerWeintraubJames Fonda
,	Gene Autry	17,000	CBS-TV	Western
	Biff Baker, USA	20.000	CBS-TV	Drama Lucky StrikeBBD&O Revue Prods.
	Beulah	15,000	ABC-TV	ComedyP&G
4	Вешан	16.500	CBS-TV	Config.
•	Big Town			Drama Lever
+	Boss Lady	17,000	NBC-TV	ComedyJack Wrather & Rob-
	("Fireside Thea." Summer		ent)	ert Mann
	Burns & Allen	25,000	CBS-TV	Comedy
	Campbell Playhouse		NBC-TV	Drama
١,	Campbell Lagliouse	12,000	2,20 2 .	Daniel
1		B# 000	(Screen Televideo
	Cavalcade of America	25,000	(not set)	DramaduPontBBD&OJack Chertok
	•		.	Screen Gems
	Dragnet	30.000	NBC-TV	MelodramaFatimaC&WJack Webb
	Stuart Erwin Show	15.000	ABC-TV	Comedy
•	("Trouble With Father")	10,000		Comedy
,		10.000	NDC mit	Promo
•	Fireside Theatre	19,000	NBC-TV	DramaP&G
				(Jules Bricken)
	Ford Theatre	30,000	NBC-TV	Drama
•	4-Star Playhouse	25,000	CBS-TV	Drama Singer
1	Gangbusters	14,000	NBC-TV	MelodramaChesterfieldC&WPhillips Lord
3			NBC-TV	Sports
7	Greatest Fight (stock film).			Sports
	The Hunter	15,000	CBS-TV	DramaPathescope
	("Man Vs. Crime" Replace	ement)
=	I Love Lucy	32,500	CBS-TV	Comedy
- 1	Lone Ranger, The	17.000	ABC-TV	Western-Adv General MillsDF&SJack Chertok
t	My Little Margie	17,000	CBS-TV	Comedy
s			ODD-1 4	Comedy
,	("Lucy" Summer Replace		A DO MIT	ar i and a management of the control
	Mystery Theatre	13,500	ABC-TV	MysterySterling DrugDF&SRoland Reed
Y	Our Miss Brooks	30,000	CBS-TV	Comedy
-	· ·			(Desilu Prods.)
-	Playhouse of Stars	25.000	CBS-TV	DramaSchlitz BeerLennen & MitchellEdward Lewis
	Racket Squad	12,500	CBS-TV	MelodramaPhilip MorrisBiowShowcase Prods.
				includiana
~	Rebound	18,000	ABC-TV	Drama
S				(Basil' Grillo)
-	Roy Rogers	17,000	NBC-TV	Western
-	Sky King Theatre	16,000	NBC-TV	Western
v	Smilin' Ed McConnell	12,000.	CBS-TV	Childrens' Brown Shoe Co Burnett Frank Ferrin
'n	The Doctor		NBC-TV	DramaP&GB&BMarion Parsonnet
•
	Wild Bill Hickok	15,000	DuMont	Western
C	You Bet Your Life	25,000	NBC-TV	Quiz
-	(Groucho Marx Show)			1
r

WGN's 'To Market We Go' Hoopla; Ties In With 1,369 Grocers

With 1,500 divections Chicago, July 15e WGN is the latest Chi station to climb aboard the grocery chain merchandising bandwagon. The Chi Tribune station has completed a deal with the Independent Groers' Alliance for a merchandising tie-in with its 1,369 stores within WGN's coverable area.

cers' Alliance for a merchandising tie-in with its 1,369 stores within WGN's coverage area.

Food advertisers spending a minimum of $500 weekly for 13 weeks will get a "favored week" in the IGA stores. Sponsor's products during that week will be featured "As Advertised on WGN" will get preferred counter positions and special displays and newspaper ads.

To assure a follow-through at the store level, a weekly spot check will be made to determine the actual number of outlets taking part in the campaign.

Project was set up by William McGuineas, WGN commercial manager, and Orville W. Johler, IGA ad director.

CLAIMS WNOE UNFAIR TO HIS CANDIDACY

New Orleans, July 15.

J. Ben Meyer, candidate for the House of Representatives from the First Congressional District, Thursday (10) asked the FCC in Washington to order radio station WNOE to allot him equal time with Rep. F. Edward Hebert.

In his squawk to the FCC, Meyer stated that James A. Noe, owner and operator of WNOE, told him he was going to pay for Meyer's opponents radio time and television time.

Meyer also complained that Noe is not privileged to give radio time to Hebert unless he gives him equal facilities. He said he was at a disadvantage when he ran against Hebert two years also because of the "broadcasting over WNOE for and by Hebert."

Pro Grid TV Sked
Detroit, July 15.
Four road games, including one midnight show, will be televized by the Detroit Lions of the National Professional Football League next season. Games will be shown over WWJ-TV, with Van Patrick han-dling the play-by-play. Goebel Brewing Co. is the spon-

There's a Gleam In CBS' Television Eye

These days, there's a real gleam in the CBS Television eye. It's been looking out from an increasing number of television screens with increasing effectiveness, all this year; and what it sees for next season is an even more glittering prospect.

As I write this, the Republican convention broadcasts are in full swing; and however much we protested before that television was going to be important during the political campaigns, I think most of us are pretty much bowled over by just how important it is. One of the by-products of these broadcasts, I feel sure, is that they're going to oblige us to revise upward our estimate of set sales for the year; for the non-owners in television areas are realizing as these meetings go on that they just plain can't live without it.

Since Variety subheads this is-

Since VARIETY subheads this issue as "Review and Preview," this gives me a good excuse to do some reviewing and previewing myself. As far as CBS Television is concerned, the 1951-52 season has been our biggest, both in programs and billings. The period from January to May, 1952, showed an increase in gross billings of 91% over 1951's corresponding period—a greater increase both in percentage and in dollars than any other network showed—and there are still no signs of any abatement in the trend. The present summer season shows CBS Television with every one of next fall's sponsors holding his place on the schedule, with the prospect of the same kind of successful summer record they racked up last year, when many of them discovered they had actually won their big audiences at a lower circulation cost than their October-April average. This year may be even more spectacular, in fact, since the political broadcasts, plus the improved quality of general summer programming, are likely to result in an even higher sets-inuse figure than last summer.

By J. L. VAN VOLKENBURG (President, CBS Television) By J. L. VAN VOLKENBURG(President, CBS Television)

To us, the most significant broadcasting fact of the season—apart, of course, from the biggest news of all, the lifting of the freeze—has been a shift in programming emphasis—a shift which has been brought about by and particularly benefited CBS Television. This is the emergence of the situation comedy as the most potent program material on the air, in one short season, CBS Television's "I Love Lucy" has won the largest audience ever to look at or hear a regularly scheduled broadcast. There could be no more striking justification of CBS Television's basic programming philosophy than the success of "Lucy," together with our many other standout programs of the same genre that audiences charish—the warm human grams of the same genre that audiences cherish—the warm, human values of plot comedy, with characters they can identify and look for week after week.

acters they can identify and look for week after week.

This fall, we can look forward to the unveiling of other sure winners in the field; "Our Miss Brooks," "Life with Luigi," the Eddie Bracken and Cass Daley shows, "Life With Father," "Leave it to Dad." Long experience in the situation comedy—as true of radio for many years as it is today in television—leaves no doubt we will lengthen our lead in this area. And then, of course, there's Godfrey, who, when the records of this turbulent broadcasting generation are written, will surely emerge as one of the most influential one-man movements in history, as well as one of its most loved individuals. Once again we can look forward to a season of knowing that everything Arthur touches will turn to gold, both for his devoted audiences and his lucky sponsors.

Fall Planning Board

And there are other big programming plans afoot, running through the whole spectrum of effective television: the "Jackie Gleason Show" which we believe will be not only the most spectacular of the fall entries but will move Gleason directly into the charmed (Continued on page 51).

(Continued on page 51)

CHARLES IRVING LE 2-1100

HOLLIS IRVING LE 2-1100

From 1939 To Korea

By HENRY SALOMON-(NBC Television Producer)

One of the most futile current arguments is being waged by those who think that live shows are better than film on TV, and vice versa. There is more than enough room for both. Why limit a limitless medium? In the final analysis the vehicle employed in transmitting a TV show should be determined by considerations which yield the maximum artistic effect.

with "Victory at Sea" NBC has established itself as the first TV network to complete a series of motion pictures through the use of its own staff of technicians and creative personnel. It is now equipped to move forward, able to cope with all manner of film problems. The unit has been given the broadest leeway to experiment in the development of film for television. Thus NBC affirms its faith in the future of films for television. The series will run to 26 half-hour programs, and will tell the world-wide story of sea power from 1939 to Korea. History on TV obviously calls for a good deal more than merely transferring text-book events onto a screen. TV, like any other mass medium, is nothing if it is not showmanship. The problem is not to patch up a half-hour of film clips and run it through the projector. Rather it is to select and edit the film in such a way that the essence of the event is captured, giving the audience not a blur of mere happenings, but a stirring, emotionally rich experience.

Buried in government archives around the world, abandoned in

Buried in government archives around the world, abandoned in hombed-out theatres, stored in enemy film libraries—millions upon millions of feet of motion picture film have been uncovered, dusted off, and finally brought to the light of modern projection rooms as cutters, editors and directors of "Victory at Sea" have pieced together the naval story of World War II.

Sifting 50,000,000 Feet of Film

We began our project with 50,000,000 feet of combat film from every conceivable source. Our task was to winnow cut the best 61,815 feet of this. In other words, the usable footage for a series of 26 half-hour programs amounted to one-tenth of one per cent of the film we had to work with.

This is the opposite of the problem facing most motion picture producers whose job is to create enough new material to make a film. In order to eliminate the 99.9% of the 50,000,000 feet we had at our disposal, we had to set up an index system of 60,000 cards, just to be able to figure out what we could throw away.

able to figure out what we could throw away.

To complicate matters even further, certain of the footage, which was absolutely essential to achieve our objective, was the most difficult to locate, while other footage which we could obtain by the ton, the most unessential. As an instance, in our desire to portray the story of all naval operations in World War II, we needed 717 feet of 35m fine grain film from the Indian Navy. The first step in procuring this footage was for the Indian Government to send 16m prints by air from New Delhi to its embassy in Washington. The Indian Embassy then forwarded the film to us in New York for screening. From the several thousand feet sent us, we tabbed the essential 717 feet. The 16m film was thereafter returned to Washington and sent by diplomatic pouch to Bombay where a representative of BCA, coordinating the activities of NBC with the Indian Government, finally located the 35m negative, part of which was at Simla in the Himalayas, and the rest in Bombay.

Bombay.

We believe there is plenty of room for a fresh approach in every aspect of historical films for TV—film, script, and music. In no other series ever offered the television audience has the music, for instance, played so dominating a role. Richard Rodgers has written for "Victory at Sea" an original, and the longest, symphonic score ever composed which takes him into an entirely new field of composition and marks a new phase of his career. The Rodgers music, as arranged by Robert Russell Bennett and performed by the NBC Symphony Orchestra, should be a television event in its own right. Combined with the films, which the music was especially created to interpret and supplement, it will lift these programs to a level of artistic excellence which, we believe, will be unique in television.

Along with this pioneering emphasis on music to reinforce the imwe believe, will be unique in television.

Along with this pioneering emphasis on music to reinforce the impact of the pictures has gone a corresponding de-emphasis of the script. The narration, as conceived for "Victory at Sea," is to serve only as an unobtrusive guide to events on the screen, not as a continuing commentary. It will be heard only where absolutely necessary for clarification, and be withdrawn wherever the pictures and music alone can tell their own story, which is most of the time.

By thus assigning new proportions to the time.

By thus assigning new proportions to the basic elements of filmmusic-script we hope to achieve entirely new effects. How far we will succeed, of course, only the judgment of the public will determine.
The very fact, however, such experimentation with film is going on is clear evidence that motion pictures are vital and alive, and their employment on TV gives them added horizons and dimensions.

We have tried to make use of the best techniques employed by Holly-wood and Broadway while recognizing TV is a new medium which demands treatments and techniques that are new, that are its own. In short, we are developing motion pictures for television rather than using television to exhibit motion pictures.

using television to exhibit motion pictures.

It is fortunate that this development came about as a public service. From this broad framework of thinking it is hoped we will emerge with programs, both now and in the future, which approximate our ideals. The combination of the finest in all the arts, springing from integrity of thought and motive, can result in nothing but good. The only limitations are those within ourselves.

GALEN DRAKE SIGNS 7-YEAR CBS PACT

Galen Drake, CBS Radio commentator who handles the Housewives Protective League shows, was signed by the web last week to a seven-year firm deal that also gives CBS an option for his TV services. Web plans to build a video show for Drake, but the contract doesn't preclude his going to another network for TV.

Under his current setup with to another network for TV.

Under his current setup with CBS, Drake has been doing a half-hour afternoon strip and a 15-minute nighttime strip, both for the HPL and aired locally on WCBS, the web's N. Y. flagship. In addition, he has a Saturday morning show on the network in which Flako and U. S. Rubber are participating bankrollers.

Lou Mindling and Mike Nidorf handled the deal for Drake with J. Kelly Smith, CBS Radio administrative veepee.

Public Service Block Pgm. Idea in San Anton'

San Antonio, July 15. Public service programming has been given a lift at KONO here by a new concept of station manager Jack Pink. A block program idea, the series opens at 7:30 p.m. and runs for some four hours, with some of the toprated local programs comprising the series.

grams comprising the series.

"KONO Forum" opens the parade, discussing pertinent topics of the day. This is followed by "District Attorney Speaks," with a question and answer session on legal problems. "So You Want To Be A Cop," a taped record of events in the life of a San Antonio policeman on a typical night, follows. The final session is presented by Trinity U. students, who receive classroom credit for their participation.

EDDY ARNOLD

On CBS-TV for Chesterfield Cigarettes
Monday, Wednesday and Friday
7:45 P.M. EDST.
Now in 9th year on Radio Coast to Coast
The EDDY ARNOLD SHOW for Purina Mills
RCA Victor Recording Artist
Exclusive Management
THOMAS A. PARKER
BOX 417, Madison, Tenn.

Men Spieling Continued from page 42 :

torted picture and won't be able to tell the difference anyhow. I am forced to confess that, though great progress has been made in dealing with mishaps dur-ing commercials, all is not peaches and cream. There are a large number of emergencies for which number of emergencies for which there are, as yet, no bat answers. Prominent among these is the question of what to do when the announcer suffers actual physical injury. Pitchmen throughout the country are working on this now, and it is hoped that some solution to the problem will be forthcoming by fall when the big programs return to the alreaves, to use a technical trade term. There is very little recognition on the part of the public of the dangers lying in wait for the commercial announcer because of accidents. For instance, I was watching a commercial several months ago in Detroit where the pitch opened with a cover shot of the announcer standing behind a sewing machine. He was to sit down to demonstrate it, the boom man's hand must have slipped or something, because the microphone came crashing down like some sort of Damoelean there are, as yet, no pat answers. slipped or something, because the microphone came crashing down like some sort of Damoclean sword, landing with a loud bong! right on the poor chap's head just as he got seated (this was all framed beautifully in the shot, by the way, and constituted some of the finest action camera work I've seen). For a good, I'd say, 30 seconds, the man just, sat there holding his head, his face contorted with pain, his eyes watering. Then, in a broken voice, he slowly continued the pitch, bravely smilling occasionally through his tears. I don't know whether or not he sold any sewing machines, but I can honestly say it was one of the most, moving commercials I've ever seen.

ever seen.

It is obvious to anyone that neither System, the Seatwell nor the Dolfuss, would be of any value in this situation. As I say, someone will just have to come up with something. (The announcer in incident, by the way, was rushed to the hospital immediately after the commercial where it was found that he was suffering from severe concussion and possible skull fracture. Soon after, he was released, ostensibly cured, but he was never quite the same again and, I understand, later went into programming.)

Another event which remains

Another event which remains vividly in my mind has to do with an announcer demonstrating a vegetable-peeler who had the misregetable-peeler who had the misfortune to remove a large portion of flesh from his left hand with the implement right at the beginning of the commercial. For a while, in spite of the gushing forth of quite a bit of blood, I thought he'd get through it all right, since he had ben peeling beets and the colors blended together in such a way as to lead the viewer to think that it was all merely beet-juice, but, as it turned out, he had a weak stom-

TV and Statesmanship

By ROBERT E. KINTNER

For television, this is a time for strength and statesmanship. Just recently, television has been faced in several quarters with varying facets of the same problem—its right to report major events of great interest to the taxpayer and voter. In each instance, television faced up to the problem. So far it's had a split decision, it won at Abilene. It lost at Chicago to the Republican National Committee when it was hearing convention contests. And it won! Igain with the Credentials Committee of the GOP convention when it televised the committee's session.

committee's session.

Incidentally that same problem came up in radio here in New York city a few weeks ago, when WJZ reporter Julian Anthony was ordered to remove his radio recording equipment from a session of the Board of Estimate considering the taxt fare increases. Anthony himself was not excluded but, very properly taking the position that the equipment was essential to his professional activity, declined to return to the hearing.

These incidents point the way television should take, that of establishing its equality with every other form of journalistic media.

lishing its equality with every other form of journalistic media.

Television's coverage of the Republican National Convention proved conclusively its right to that equality. Its completeness, its variety, its thorough-going reporting of every phase of the proceedings both from a news and feature standpoint were not only apparent to the viewer but emphasized to every thoughtful observer of television's part in the convention. In an editorial discussing this, the New York Herald Tribune said . "The fascination of the spectacle lies in the way it shows the democratic political processes actually at work. The home viewer gets a more clearly defined understanding than ever before of how candidates are chosen, and possibly, how Presidents are made."

Must Keep on Fighting

On the record it established in covering the Republican convention, television should press vigorously for every opportunity possible to show that it can do its own original reporting of events of wide public interest. It must not be bound and hampered by the whims and dictates of those who would like to make use of it, when it is for their purpose but would deny it opportunity to when and where it will in the service of the public.

Talexicon should press toward that end on every level—national Television should press toward that end on every level—national, sectional and local. The medium has now been thoroughly accepted by the public for its marvelous ability to bring the news right into the living room. It remains to achieve the same acceptance by all public bodies, not only as a potent medium of communications but as a strong force for public good.

At the same time statesmanship in its use is called for from both the telecaster and those who use the medium. It must not demean itself to partisan or biased journalism. It must remain objective, impartial and vigorous.

At the same time, those who expect to use television as a means of reaching large audiences for public affairs must join with the telecaster in making that possible. It has been objected by some that the advent of television into public events has a tendency to create confusion and a "circus atmosphere." I think that it has now been clearly demonstrated that this is so only when there is a lack of cooperation between those in charge of such events and the television industry. I think it has been fully proved that wise planning in advance and sensible consideration of the utilization of television completely obviates such objections to it.

I do not think that those who would attempt to confine television to a narrow and subordinate field will succeed in such efforts. The public already has established its attitude that it has the right to see and hear and this demand will grow as television spreads even farther across the country. I think that any attempts to shackle it as an instrument of widest public information will react most unfavorably upon anyone trying it.

Television has come of age, has proved its ability and its appeal and it's high time everyone both inside and outside the industry comes to realize it.

ach for such things and collapsed on the table right in a tossed salad he had been preparing, the camera remaining in tight on him all the while (most directors seem all the while (most directors seem, to take perverse pleasure in keeping the camera trained on whatever is going wrong, when you do something right, it turns out that the director has moved the camera way back for a very long shot or else has gone into slides).

era way back for a very long shot or else has gone into slides).

And then there are other problems which lack of space prevents me from discussing—how to carry off with aplomb the collapse of the set, for instance. Or what to do when somebody trips over some cables and all the lights suddenly go out, leaving you a mere disembodied voice. Or—and this happened to me in Baltimore—how to get through a commercial when, after you've started, someone discovers that the boom and the microphone have accidentally been left all the way down at the other end of the studio. (I did the only thing I could—i. e., I shouted, hoping to be picked up by the mike some 35 feet away—but it was hardly satisfactory. I was told later by those who saw the commercial that it had looked fine, but the audio sounded like a man crying for help from the bottom of a well, which, now that I think of it, was the way I felt.)

No, we have a long way to go before the world is made soft for

WOAI STRIKERS BACK ON JOB WITHOUT GAINS

San Antonio, July 15. Striking WOAI and WOAI-TV workers were back on their jobs late last Wednesday (8) without any concessions in the 46c an hour wage hike and other demands.

Radio and TV supervisors worked overtime at technical and engineering jobs to keep WOAI-TV going and bring complete cover-age of the Republican convention.

age of the Republican convention.
Seven of the striking workers returned, of the 11 who originally walked off their posts on strike. According to Arden X. Pangborn, manager of WOAI and WOAI-TV, jobs of the four had been filled with non-union workers.

Showerman's Sales Spot In Teleprompter Setup

In a further expansion of Teleprompter Corp., I. E. (Chick) Showerman, formerly national television sales chief for Free & Peters, has been signed to handle all sales of the prompting device to video stations in the U. S. and Canada. Showerman takes over as sales veeper of Teleprompter National Sales Corp., a newly-formed subsidiary of the parent company.

under the new setup, the parent company.
Under the new setup, the parent outfit will continue to supervise sales to networks and for all film uses. Showerman was also a long-time NBC veepee in charge of that web's central division, prior to joining Free & Peters.

IN ON TV ACT

By DEAN MARTIN & JERRY LEWIS

When we set around of an evening thumbing through old copies of Whiz Bang seeking a few bon mots not already filched by Bob Hope and Red Skelton, we sometimes discuss in hushed tones the effect television has had on the only legitimate way left of steeling moneyshow business! What a panic it has created. Two years ago theatre owners, movie producers and Pat Di Cicco sneered it would never make inroads into the sale of ice cream bon-bons and B-Epics but we know it has because we also sell the things on our paper route.

Actors now ignore Louella Parsons and Hedda Hopper and spend their time currying favor with any reporter with granulated eyelids. Nobody cares any longer how their picture is doing in Upper Sandusky but if their press agent tells them he personally arranged that flattering review in the trade papers, the happy grafter is in line for a bonus. Joan Crawford used to command the front table at the Brown Derby. Not any more. It's Space Patrol who gets the privilege of sliding $10 into the maitre d's canvas lined vault. And the introductions are changing. No one ever says "Meet Clyde Cranston, he's just finished a new picture for Hal Wallis," now it's "Say hello to Kermit Kaufman—he has his own TV show, you know."

"In the cocktail parties." Rooms used to buzz with "long shots," "flocation trips," "L. B. Mayer," but now it's "Micro-wave," "Telethon" and "Pat Weaver." Even the hors d'ouvres have changed. They used to feed people salty caviar and herring so they would have to run to the theatre lobby for a cream soda during the newsreel, but no more. They won't even serve drinks at the parties for fear someone will have to exit the room during the commercials. Film producers and directors formed strong guilds to see-that they received proper billing at the beginning of the picture, but the TV boys are much craftier. They give themselves parts in their own shows and deliver their own credits as part of the plot. Insurance companies are now up-grading policies on film producers-directors. They fear mass su a few years back!

Also think of the changes TV has wrought right in your own home. It's getting so your wife won't go shopping without light panchromatic makeup and a dress of approved TV coloring 'cause who knows when she'll appear on the screen at the super-market. Even the house dresses have that Hattie Carnegie look, for mama never knows when the mobile unit will pull up for an interview. And little Busser! After Faye Emerson and Dagmar who needs to tell him about the birds and the bees. He knows more about cleavage than Errol Flynn.

You can't help thinking some whimsical spirit thought the whole thing up and is enjoying Haig & Haig and knackwurst on cloud 33 laughing like the devil at the whole beautiful, confused mess he has created.

How They Make Bing's Toupees

How They Make Bing's Toupees

One thing, though, it has given industry a shot in the arm. The girdle manufacturers are a year behind in orders because madam's derriere looks even rounder on a 10-inch screen. Even the riding horse has taken a beating. Look at the tails of the horses you see on the bridle paths. Plucked bare to make toupees for Bing. And after just one appearance! God help the poor guy who doesn't like tea for he's sure going to get it. Didn't Arthur Godfrey say on TV it was good for him? Also who can risk carrying around a cigaret whose manufacturer doesn't sponsor a good video program.

Now the politicians have gotten the message. The political candidate who doesn't have a TVadvisor is like Marllyn Monroe in a diver's suit. He just ain't going anywhere. Nowadays the timbre of a candidate's voice is unimportant. 'First he has to dig which camera is on. What he says won't matter if he has practiced his smile and knows how low to bow.

Let's not forget the world of sport. How can Leo Durocher cuss out the ump with the cameras trained on him and the country full of lip readers. And the baseball uniform has changed. Some teams are even going in for shorts. Next it will be elevator shoes. The spectator isn't even safe. Who can take his girl friend out with his wife sitting at home with the old eagle eye glued to the screen.

Florence Chadwick; the channel swimmer, had problems. She had to have a Ceil Chapman suit made to show off her bountiful charms and even had to learn to breathe differently so her mouth wouldn't look like a gopher hole when the cameras were on her. And the smile. Sure, she cultivated a TV smile. Her public must see her at her best.

Lace Pants & Hadacol

Think what TV did for Gussie Moran. She parlayed a pair of lace pants into the best publicity gimmick since Hadacol. The footbal players are now wearing double reinforced pants. Can you take a chance that a ripped seam will make 6,000,000 women faint? And always the spectator. When the old magic eye points in their direction they smile, stick out their tongues, thumb their noses and all sorts of cute things. It wouldn't be surprising if some of these characters won awards for outstanding performances.

The thing that surprises us the most is the shortsightedness of our government. They spend millions on the atom bomb, condemn thousands of acres of ground around Las Vegas to shoot them off, built a guided missile proving grounds at White Sands, N. M., and countless more millions developing jet fighters—The Sabre Jet—The Super Jet—The Jet-Jet and even the Jet Submarine, yet overlook the most obvious weapon of all. TV. Has anyone ever considered what would happen if an enemy agent ever infiltrated one of the popular home-maker programs? With one siy addition to a cooking recipe they could knock off 20,000,000 guys after breakfast with stomach lumps from the morning pancakes.

Of course our mental wanderings are never complete without think-grams? With one sly addition to a cooking recipe they could knock off 20,000,000 guys after breakfast with stomach lumps from the morning pancakes.

Of course our mental wanderings are never complete without thinking of our fellow actors. Now theirs is a happy lot. With the motion picture still going strong and TV gaining ground in the stretch drive, these bewildered souls don't know who to be nice to. God forbid you should be seen with a felevision producer if you're up for a role at Fox. But if Y. Frank Freeman is seen laughing at your one joke you might not get that job on "What's My Line?" And of course they have another worry. All that amateur talent. Who can compete with a fat lady adjusting her bra while being pinched in the rear by her boy friend? But they all want in. As a matter of fact, Central Casting with everyone in those blue suits and light blue shirts, now resembles the union hiring hall for the pall-bearers guild.

The actresses are also having a rough go. The television camera hasn't been developed to the fine point of motion picture equipment and a gal with wrinkles is in big trouble. A few little lines and their faces look like a muddy road after a motorcycle race.

By this time you should be getting the idea. Everybody is in the act. But we're worried. With everybody rushing to the ball park or to the nearest corner where the man-on-the-street is telecasting just to get to wave to the neighbors, who is going to stay home to watch? For our money Willie Shakespeare was the greatest prophet of all time and could give Nostradamus 10 points. All the world's a stage and most of us are players. He only made one small mistake! ALL OF US ARE PLAYERS, TV or not TV. Any questions?

EVERYBODY WANTS (GETS) Reflections on Production Of TV Film Commercials

By NORMAN C. LINDQUIST (Atlas Film Corp.)

The production of motion picture commercials for television has become big business for the advertisers, agencies, and film producers, we like many others in the field, believe there are many steps that could be taken to make the job less hectic for all concerned and, at the same time, improve selling effectiveness.

We, the producers, can in many instances blame ourselves for not instances blame ourselves for not being mroe aggressive in our relationship with advertising agencies. Too often, the producer, to avoid any friction, goes along and does exactly what is asked of him by the agency whether or not he actually feels that the job could be done better or more economically with a slight revision or change in the method of treatment. On the other hand, there are times when the producer, because he is so close to the medium, shuts his eyes to the possibility of new ideas and techniques which—are proffered by the creative staff of an agency.

Too often, the writing of TV

creative starf of an agency.

Too often, the writing of TV commercials is turned over to straight copy writers instead of creative people with a good, sharp visual sense.

visual sense.

It has been written again and again, but it is nevertheless true that commercials for television should be thought out in terms of what is going to be seen on the face of the picture tube before a word of copy is written. This does not mean, however, that a good copy headline from a magazine or newspaper ad can't act as a spring-board for visualizing the theme of a TV commercial.

Good visualization of ideas is escaped.

Good visualization of ideas is essential to good commercials and that is one excellent reason why more and more advertising agencies active in TV are turning to their art departments for assistance

The copy can come later and will e that much better when the The copy can come later and will be that much better when the writer can see what he is writing against. Then, it is a good idea not to think in terms of how many words you can squeeze in 18 or 58 seconds, but what can be said to accomplish maximum sales effectiveness without distracting the viewer from the visual impressions you want your product to make.

Don't Compromise

Allotting sufficient time for planning is an old adage that is too often ignored. Time and again we are told: "Delivery? Oh, this job should have been completed yesterday." Rushing blindly forward in film production is like building a house without a blueprint and usually ends up in a compromise which no one is completely happy with.

The selection of your film pro The selection of your rum producer is a very important task, and more and more agencies have discovered that the producer who employs his staff permanently and owns complete facilities including owns complete facilities including a motion picture laboratory is usually a safe, sure bet for getting top quality film commercials that will please his client as well as sell the product. Too often, we run into the contention that a producer, in order to be qualified, must have "Hollywood" after his name. No matter whether your producer's studios are located on the east coast, the west coast, or the middle west, he can deliver to you only what his facilities and personnel have the ability to produce. Since there has been so much

Since there has been so much discussion recently about the price discussion recently about the price of television film commercials, this might be a point worth going over briefly. In our shop our prices are always based on the costs. As a matter of fact, we were getting so many inquiries about what factors contributed to the cost of producing motion pictures for TV that we recently made a short motion picture called, "What It Gonna Cost?", which has found wide acceptance among our clients and enjoys many a repeat performance. This picture among our clients and enjoys many a repeat performance. This picture was slanted especially for the folks who don't get the opportunity to work closely with film producers and has undoubtedly helped many a writer to prepare his script within the budget.

By GUY V. THAYER, JR. (V.P. Roland Reed Productions)

Hollywood.

Once the maker of film commercials for television has learned to view the situation from the standpoint of the sponsor there are virtually no problems.

Creative and mechanical genius the Hollywood film industry has had in abundance for many years. What the boys in the back rooms of the motion picture studios can of the motion picture studios can do, the workers in the animation, special effects and miniature departments, make Alladin's lamp second rate magic.

The last two years have developed a healthy, beneficial mutual understanding of the processes and objectives of sponsors and agencies on the one part and the producers of motion pictures on the other.

We take all the leging agency with

We take all the loving care with 20-second commercials that we expend on an 80-minute three-color feature commercial or industrial film—and the last one we did concluded with a ballet number

The shorter the commercial the

The shorter the commercial the faster must be the action to drive home the sales point.

Occasionally, in weaker moments, it has occurred to me as strange that so many of the agencies' most scintillating and sensational ideas blaze forth just 24 hours or fewer before the shipping deadline. Happily, we have proven more than once that it's only the impossible that takes us longer than right now to perform.

After all, what's the joh' To get people into the tent and after they're in to make them want to buy something. The advertiser, agency and film producer work together and the job's done.

There's a Gleam,

Continued from page 49 =

Continued from page 49

circle of television's greats; new panel shows which we believe will carry some of the magic success-powder that explodes on "What's My Line?" each week; new experiments in news and documentary techniques that aim at the record of "See It Now," and in drama to capture some of the values of a "Studio One;" and the absorbing experiment of the TV-Radio Workshop of the Ford Foundation; a 90-minute show for Sunday afternoon with some of the finest talent in writing, performance and production ever made available to television.

One more factor that gives us particular pride is that this fall some of these programs will be originating from CBS Television City in Hollywood, and will furnish new and exciting answers for the efficient and economical operation of television production.

VARIETY'S recap of the season's final rating score showed CBS Television with four out of the seven leaders on all three of the nationally-projected TV rating services. We know, too, that CBS Television won the season's highest average rating for all nighttime commercial shows. Far be it from a man in my situation to be greedy, but the rating for all nighttime commercial shows. Far be it from a man in my situation to be greedy, but our plan is to show you an even tighter hold on the top rung for next season, and an even brighter gleam in our even

DALLAS SOLONS PROBING WRR NIX ON EDWARDS

Dallas, July 15.

Dropping of news commentator Frank Edwards' Mutual net program here last December by WRR, municipally-owned station, will be investigated by local city councilmen at request of the Dallas Central Labor Council.

M. S. Novik, N. Y. radio consultant in charge of Edwards' program for the sponsors, American Federation of Labor, told the city governing board that "your radio license is in jeopardy. You can't sustain the action if you go to a hearing before the FCC." Novik stated that the local outlet, WRR, was the only one of 231 MBS stations that had cancelled Edwards' newscasts.

Status is permitting clients to figure in the is permitting clients to figure in the sonus spot on their regular cumulative discounts.

For sponsors now participating in WNBT shows, any using three or more spots per week sans Shelion get an immediate extra spot on the Sheldon show gratis. For those now using three or more, including Sheldon, they get an immediate extra spot in the show of their choice.

Shows in which the bonus spots are available include "Breakfast with Music," for which WNBT charges $230 gross per spot; "Hollywood Playhouse," at $150 gross; Sheldon show and the Richard Willis beauty program, also $230 gross.

By HAL ROACH
(President, Hal Roach Studios)

Hollywood,

Our higgest problem regarding television commercials is getting enough of them to produce.

Many persons think of the Hal Roach Studios only as producers of entertainment films. However, an equally important part of our business is making commercials, Our facilities are complete and our capacity unlimited and as head of the studios I'm entrely in favor of more business.

The only problem, if there is one, in the making of commercials, is simple and we solve it every day. It involves merely learning exactly what the advertiser and the agency wish to accomplish. The agencies with whom we have dealt have had complete blueprints. Occasionally, because of our experience and special knowledge of picture making, we're able to offer suggestions and we have yet to find an agency which did not welcome help.

Just as agency men are saleswelcome help.

welcome help.
Just as agency men are salesmen, so are we motion picture producers. We have always practiced the business of making stars and selling them to the public by presenting them in such a way as to make people want to see them again and again. So with a bottle of beer or a package of chewing gum we sell through showmanship.

-And Plenty of Actors

Our studio is especially adapted to the making of commercials because we have all services on our ot. We have all the creative skill, manpower and equipment that were utilized in the making of such pictures as "Joan of Arc," "Top-per," "Of Mice and Men" and hunwere utilized in the making of such pictures as "Joan of Arc," "Topper," "Of Mice and Men" and hundreds of others.

We have writers, directors, art directors, artists, prop shop, electrical department, wardrobe department, film editorial department, film editorial department, everything. We also have in Hollywood the widest selection of acting talent in the world. And a hansom cab, a Chinese junk, 400. Apache Indians or a fully equipped 1890 barber shop are no farther away than the telephone on my desk,

We have a special effects department that performs magic with film you wouldn't believe.

Best of all, we have skilled artisans who have been 20 to 30 years practicing their special trades: Ask a painter in Chicago to paint a house so as to make it appear to be 40 years old and he'll think you're crazy. Hollywood studio painters do such chores every day and think nothing of it.

We're proud of the commercial films we make and we'll be making more and more of them. Just as an agency calls a competent artist for the making of a fine advertisement on on most thinking people go to competent show people when they want commercials which sell as well as advertise.

WNBT Set Up Bonus Sales Plan as Lure For Sheldon Clients

For Sheldon Clients

In an effort to sell more participating spots on its cross-the-board Herb Sheldon show, 'WNBT, the NBC video web's N.Y. flagship, has launched a new boaus sales plan under which any sponsor buying Sheldon and two other daytime spots henceforth will receive another spot in a show of his choice at no extra cost. Deal is available starting July 28, and the station is permitting clients to figure in the bonus spot on their regular cumulative discounts.

For sponsors now participating in WNBT shows, any using three or more spots per week sans Sheldon get an immediate extra spot on the Sheldon show gratis. For those now using three or more, including Sheldon, they get an immediate extra spot in the show of their choice.

Shows in which the bonus spots

Video As An Indispensable U. S. Service

By DR. ALLEN B. DU MONT

At this writing the television in-dustry is engaged in the greatest use of its resources, to date—its extensive coverage of what has been called "America's greatest recurring drama—the nomination and election of a President."

and election of a President."

Through its pictorial, on-thespot, type of journalism television is offering programming that is truly serving the needs of the community. Out of this extensive political coverage will come the realization by the public of the indispensable role that video can play in the nation's life.

Much has been discussed and

play in the nation's life.

Much has been discussed and written anent the tremendous public service the industry is rendering through this campaign coverage. However television's public service is not to be measured solely in terms of news, discussion and a bringing forward of current issues of the day, on the regular broadcast bands.

More Than Luxury Service

There is another segment of the industry well within the realm of public service which gives us positive assurance that television is not merely a luxury service or a pastime.

pastime.

I refer to the non-entertainment aspects of the industry—adaptations of the medium which are put to daily use in the varied fields of education, industry, science, research and in the national defense effort. effort.

The most spectacular, highly-publicized of these has been the use of closed-circuit color systems for mass viewing of operative pro-cedure in medical schools and hos-witches.

In the educational field we see In the educational field we see increasing uses of television as a supplementary aid for more effective teaching. Last April, a milestone was passed when Montclair State Teachers College in New Jersey, conducted an entire day's classes on television to 12 primary and secondary schools in the Montclair area.

Montclair area.

Throughout the nation, colleges and universities are setting up extensive and adult education courses via television. The reservation by the FCC of 242 channels for educational purposes means that state educational boards and schools will have an opportunity to effect great use of the medium.

American industry has discovered.

American industry has discovered television as more than a device which brings entertainment into the living room. Typical American ingenuity has made the medium an important industrial tool.

Television cameras located in strategic positions and transmitting to monitors at central viewing posts are being used for observation and control of steelmaking and other metallurgical operations, railroad yards, mining, oil drilling, manufacturing processes of all types and for supervisory purposes in large plants where personal control is important.

Recearch and science have found

Research and science have found television a valuable ally because it permits close observation of extelevision a valuable ally because it permits close observation of experiments, by personnel, previously unfeasible, because of the safety risk involved. We find television actively in use in atomic energy plants and A.E.C. research installations, in experimentation and development of jet aircraft engines, and in various phases of research where around-the clock observation of experiments is important.

Our military uses of television are widespread. They range from troop training and as a vehicle for the dissemination of civil defense instructions to front line observation use.

Security regulations prevent a detailed resume here, of television in our defense blueprint. However, it suffices to say that television plays an important role in the thinking and planning of our national defense strategists.

While not as pretentious as public broadcasting, this segment of the television industry is more than doing its share in providing the American people with the fullest measure of public service.

HARRY SALTER MUSICAL DIRECTOR Stop the Music—ABC

Combs' New Time Slot

George Hamilton Combs show, which was formerly bankrolled entirely by the Hotel Sherbrooke, N. Y., has been sold as a package on an exclusive two-year deal to WJZ, key station of the ABC web in N. Y. Show is packaged by Larry Curtis Associates.

Combs, who does a "controlled controversy" type of show, will continue to air from the Sherbrooke, but will go from 10:15 to 11 p.m. nightly, instead of from midnight to 3, am., which he formerly did. Under the new deal the Sherbrooke continues as one of a group of participating sponsors, which includes also Collegiate Institute and Mutual of Omaha.

Boston—Irving E. Rogers, president of WLAW, annonced appointment of Lambert B. Beeuwkes as general manager.

Okay Dead Air for FMer

Minneapolis, July 15.
Radio station WCAL-FM at Northfield, Minn., near here, has received permission from the FCC to remain silent temporarily, pending formulation of future plans.
Operated by St. Olaf college, the non-commercial station has shared a wavelength with KUOM, University of Minnesota, also non-commercial. Its programs have been educational and religious for the most part, but also have included music and entertainment. It has had only a small portion of the channel time.

Wind Up Arguments In 650G 'Jack Bellboy' Suit

Detroit, July 15.
Final arguments were concluded last week before Federal Judge Arthur F. Lederle in the 4850,000 damage suit filed by WJBK against WXYZ over the switch of disk jockey Ed McKenzie (Jack the Bellboy) from the former to the latter boy) from the former to the latter station.

WJBK also is suing McKenzie for rights to the name "Jack the Bellboy". The suit against WXYZ is based on the claim that $650,000 worth of sponsors shifted with Mc Kenzie and that WXYZ improperly allowed McKenzie to use his "Jack the Bellboy" trademark. Judge Lederle said he would rule on the suit sometime before Labor Day.

Chi TV Set Sales Off

Chicago, July 15.
Anticipated spurt in video sets installations because of the political convention telecasts failed to materialize in the Windy City during June, latest Electric Assn. tally shows.

TV sales totaled 11,353, down slightly from the previous month.

SOBEY MARTIN

DIRECTOR.

"Your Show Time"—Grant-Realm
TV Prods.; "The Unexpected"—Ziv
TV Prods.; "Masterpieces.in Miniature"—Werner Janssen Prods.

Blind Date' Exiting?

"Blind Date," revived on tele-vision this summer as partial re-placement for NBC-TV's "Show of placement for NBC-TV's "Show of Shows," may bow off the air before the season's end. Block Drug bought the show on only a six-week deal with options, and is now re-scanning its ad budget to de-termine whether it can continue it for the remainder of the sum-mer.

mer.

If the show is dropped, NBC plans to expand the "Saturday Night Dance Party," now aired from 9:30 to 10:30 Saturday nights, to a full 90 minutes to fill in for "Date," "Dance Party," starring Jerry Lester and spotlighting a different name band each week, now has only one half-hour sponsored.

Youth and Television

By FRANK WISBAR

Hollywood.

I think it is not pure coincidence that the discovery of gunpowder and the invention of the printing press, in their time, followed each other as closely as the discovery of atomic power and the invention of television in ours.

invention of television in ours.

Not a thousand years apart, both double-events were deplored in the same pessimistic language.

Gunpowder and atom bombs were labelled as destroyers of civilization, printing press and television as ruinous of the health of morals and godliness.

The would be the would as all

The youth of the world, as al-ways, is the only hope against pes-simistic thinking. Youth always learns to harness the frightful po-tentials and use them in a positive way to push the world to its higher planes, enriched with greater free-dom and deeper knowledge.

dom and deeper knowledge.
Youth has never feared the approach of new horizons.
I greet the new young men in television who are being shouted and screamed at with the same fervor as the young men of Gutenberg's day were lambasted when the first sheets came from the plates of the still fumbling printing press, but already bringing to all the hungry hearts the first readable translation of the Word of God, the Bible.
We can look at our young men

God, the Bible.

We can look at our young men and women in television with great pride and satisfaction, at the young men working as sponsor and agency representatives, executives under 30, at the young producers, directors, writers. There is an endless flow of young acting talent, new ballets, new singers and entertainers of every kind. It is inspiring to see the unbelievable wealth of talent from the 48 corners of the land stream towards the television centers.

Why Make Trouble?

Why Make Trouble?

Whether the television show is put on live or by means of film is irrelevant. This, again, is a question thrown up by trouble makers. We need our shows live and we need them on film. We will produce them by viedomagnastripe. We will make our shows in black and white and in color. The method doesn't matter, as long as the show goes on.

Television offers our youth the opportunity of a lifetime, for it's big, new, fast-growing... with little time for endless apprenticeship. To the new artist, the new craftsman it shouts, "Come on, pitch in!" And out of the bloody battle of trial and error, the wrangle, the hustle and bustle, the new young master emerges.

Television is a new weapon of airliverse at educates. It blings young master emerges.

Television is a new weapon of civilization. It educates. It brings news and entertainment into the living rooms of the nation, and a vast and hungry audience accepts this new medium with overwhelming enthusiasm. The young creators hold in their hands preclous food to fill empty plates and satisfy the spirit and soul of the millions.

isfy the spirit and soul of the millions.

If atom bombs build protective walls along our borders, television creates the fortifications in our homes, increasing the strength of our American ideals by presenting inspiring lectures, religious services, clean sport events, wholesome shows for entertainment and the thousand facets of our daily life. Television is the only force in the world to reach across mountain, stream and dale into the remotest-hut to make the lonellest man in the world consciouts of the fact that he "belongs" and is a vital part of his country.

Yes, atomic power and television are here to stay. They will influence our lives as long as we breathe. Believe me, young friends, not without important historical reasons did the advent of these forces occur simultaneously.

Cleveland — Charles V. Hunter, former WJW program director, is now managing a station in Korea for the Army... James C. Hanrahan, general manager and veep of WEWS, has been named to the CBS advisory board... Former AFRAN and now assistant to the president of Cleveland-Sandusy Brewing Corp., Ken Sleds, lusted newly-elected AFRA officers and members at a beer party.

TV NETWORKS' FALL PROGRAMMING SCHEDULE

Following is the tentative fall evening programming schedule of the four major television networks, based on plans and contracts either aiready in the house or in the works. ABC-TV, currently revamping its entire sked in the wake of a number of cancellations, expects to have an additional 10½ hours of commercial time weekly sold by September. Besides the network shows listed, many of the local shows are SRO on the webs' key N. Y. outlets.

		SUNDAY		NBC
	ABC	CBS	DuMONT	NBU
5 P.M.	Samuel Clause		OPEN	Zoo Parade (Quaker Oats)
15	Super Circus (Canada Dry	Ford Foundation
30— 45—	Alt. weeks) Mars Candy	(Sustaining)	Documentary Theatre (Sustaining)	Meet the Masters (Lees Carpets) alternates with Sky King (Derby)
6:00-	1		i i	Kukla, Fran &
15	ODWY	Man of the Week (Sustaining)	Week in Religion	Ollie (RCA— alt. weeks only)
30-	OPEN		(Sustaining)
45		See It Now (Alcoa)	_	Roy Rogers (Gen. Foods)
7:00-
15	You Asked for It (Skippy P'nut Butter)	Gene Autry (Wrigley)	Georgetown U. Forum (Sustaining)	Red Skelton (P&G)
30-				·
45	Horizons (Sustaining)	This Is Show Bix (Lucky Strike)	M'Hattan Playhse. (Participating)	Eddie Maychoff (Reynolds)
8:00-				*
	İ
15— 30—	OPEN	Toast of the Town (Lincoln-Mercury)	M'hattan Playhouse (Participating)	Comedy Hour (Colgate)
45-		•
9:00	Walter Winchell		 	·
15	(Gruen—½ of show)	Fred Waring (Gen. Electric)	Rocky King, Det. . (Amer. Chicle)	mar mar i
i			, ,	TV Playhouse (Philco and
30— 45—	OPEN	Break the Bank (Bristol-Myers)	Plainclothesman (Edgeworth)	Goodyear alternate)
10.00
10:00		Celebrity Time	1	The Doctor
15	OPPN	(Goodrich)		(P&G)
30	OPEN		They Stand Accused (Sustaining)
45		What's My Line (Stopette)		Meet the Press (Revere)
11:00-	Drew Pearson	Sunday News	Late News Show
15	(Carter Prods.)	(Norwich)	(Sustaining)
-		•		(Local)
30	(Local)	(Local)	(Local)	(Local)
			i e	i e

(Continued on page 53)

Library Service Advantages

By MILTON BLINK

(United Television Programs)

Let's face it—television audiences are becoming more and more demanding in their search for different and better programming. The harassed program director is beside himself searching for fresh ideas at low cost. The salesmen are forever looking for new programs to sell at low cost. Applicants for new stations, especially those who may not get national affiliation, are worried about the proper programming for new markets, or how to steal a chunk of audience from the wellestablished TV operations.

Film library service solves quite a few of these problems.

Film library service solves quite a few of these problems.

AM stations have perfected the library technique to a highly profitable degree in the last 20 years. Television, combining the audial as well as visual, presents a tougher problem. It is not enough for the new TV station operator to say that if it works for AM it will work for TV. I seriously doubt if it's that simple. On AM it is enough to present good library disks, dress up the program with an announcer or ennee and let it go at that. The listener does not necessarily confine himself to the side of his radio to enjoy the program. In TV, however, the impact must be primarily visual. The picture must induce the viewer to remain in his chair, eyes front.

front.

Accordingly, a TV film library must get its sock across immediately and then follow through with sustained interest. It's not enough to film a song; on TV a song must be dramatized. Imagine what the "Hit Parade" would be like, week after week, if the featured artists merely stood in front of a drop and behind a mike.

We were convinced from the

We were convinced from the start that the library—any library—must emphasize and re-emphasize visual impact. Oddly enough the ear is more tolerant of poor material than the eye.

the ear is more tolerant of poor material than the eye.

In effect, then, quality is the keystone upon which rests the long haul success of any program. It is my belief that a library service, to be successful, must be composed of well-balanced "acts" with no expense spared to give them high budgeted production background, and should be continuously supplemented with fresh ideas and stars. Then, and only then, does it answer a station's problems. To the program director it means a program for every conceivable demand—in ample quantity to enable him to build unlimited programs of unending variety ... to the commercial manager it means the chance to offer programs featuring the greatest names in the entertainment field, for almost giveaway prices—and to the viewers, it means the chance to see and hear America's top entertainment at most any time of the day. Settle your program problems with a TV film library.

St. Louis' KWK Files For Channel 14 TV'er

For Channel 14 TV er

St. Louis, July 15.

Radio station KWK, headed by Robert T. Convey, has applied to FCC for TV channel 14 in St. Louis with request for 100,000 watt power, the maximum allowable. KWK originally applied for a TV permit more than four years ago, and the current application is necessary under new FCC rules when the TV freeze was lifted last April.

Convey said the application proposes 16 hours of daily TV operation. for a total of 112½ hours a week. KWK, located in the downtown area in a building constructed for TV purposes, will spend $600,000 in equipment, and will be able to start operation within 90 days after approval is granted.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat, only morning paper here, which constructed KWK's present quarters, owns a minority interest in the station.

Antonio-Mission Broadcast-San Antonio—Mission Broadcasting Co., owners and operators of KOMO here, have filed application with the FCC for license to operate a TV outlet here on Channel No. 12.

Application was filed last week by the Boxar County Television Corp., KABG, for similar facilities.

TV NETWORKS' FALL PROGRAMMING SCHEDULE

(Continued from page 52)

MONDAY 5 P.M. Hawkins Falls (Lever) Gabby Hayes (Quaker Qals) 15 OPEN (Local) (Local) 30 Howdy Doody (Participating) 6:00 15 OPEN (Local) (Local) (Local) 30 7:00 Space Cadet (Kellogg) OPEN (Local) Captain Video (Gen. Foods) 15 OPEN (Riggio Tobacco) Doug Edwards News (Oldsmobile) Perry Como (Chesterfield) Those Two (P&G) H'wood Screen
· (Ironrite) OPEN 45 News Caravan (Camel) 8:00 Winchell-Mahoney Lux Video Theatre (Lever) Pentagon Washington (Sustaining) (Crosley and Speidel alternate) 15-OPEN 30-Johns Hopkins Science Review Talent Scouts (Lipton's) Voice of Firestone (Firestone) 45 (Sustaining) 9:00 Guide Right (Sustaining) Lights Out (Pearson Pharm.) I Love Lucy (Philip Morris) OPEN Life with Luigi (Gen. Foods) 'Boxing (Participating) Robert Montgomery Show Hour of Decision (Billy Graham) (Lucky Strike and Johnson Wax alter.) 10:00-Studio One (Westinghouse) Boxing (Participating) 30-OPEN Who Said That 45 11:00 Chronoscopes (Longines) OPEN (Local) (Local) (Local)

45 TUESDAY CBS DuMONT ABC NBC Hawkins Falls 5 P.M. (Lever)
Gabby Hayes
(Sustaining)

(Local)

(Local)

Meet the Boss (Sustaining)

(Local)

Howdy Doody (Participating)

Fred Allen Show (Old Gold)

OPEN

Bob Considine (Mutual of Omaha)

(Local)

(Local)

OPEN

30

45

10:00-

30

45 11:00

> 30 45

OPEN

OPEN

10
6:00-
15—
30	OPEN	(Local)	(Local)	(Local)
45
7:00—			Captain Video	Space Cadet (Kellogg)
15	OPEN	(Local)	(Gen. Foods)	Short Short Story (Pepsi-Cola)
30	Dl.)	Doug Edwards News (Pall Mall)	OPEN	Dinah Shore (Chevrolet)
45	Beulah (P&G)	Music Hall (Lever) .	OI EIV	News Caravan (Camel)
8:00— 15—	On Trial (Sustaining)	OPEN	Bishop Sheen Show (Sustaining)	Texaco Star Theatre
30 45	United—or Not (Sustaining)		Keep Posted (Curtis Pub.)	(Buick has every fourth week)
9:00— 15—	OPEN	Crime Syndicated (Schick) alt. with City Hospital (Carter)	Charlie Wild, Det. (Wine Corp.)	Fireside Theatre (P&G)
30 45	OPEN	Suspense (Auto-Lite)	Quick on the Draw (Sustaining)	Armstrong Circle Theatre (Armstrong)

(Continued on page 54)

Danger (Block Drug)

Balance Your Budget (Sealy Mattress)

(Local)

How Green Was Our Net

=By JOHN GUEDEL =

Hollywood, this year o As of September of this year our organization will be grossing at the rate of a little more than $4,000,000 a year, more than half of it in film television. Of which we are very proud, Which is ginger peachy.

proud. Which is ginger peacing.
But—
Our net won't be much larger than it was last year. Simply because the extra money goes into pretty lights and magnificent cam-

cause the extra money goes, into pretty lights and magnificent cameras and great piles of cans of film. And do you realize that we have to pay more per month for a comfy fireproof room for these films to just sit, than we did for our entire office rent the first year we were in business? ($30, in case you want to rent space for films to sit).

You may gather that we are unhappy about film television. This is not true. While it puts a lot of equipment to work, film TV not only gives employment to men to build and run this equipment, it also gives employment to more men than we ever dreamed would be necessary to make a movle. More men take home a paycheck from film TV than live TV, mostly because a live show is completed when the shooting is over, but at that point in a film show there's a long road ahead filled with processing and editing, and several little mysterious byways labeled "fine grain prints" and "answer prints" and "reduction prints." There must be more prints than on file at Scotland Yard.

Anyway, with so many people getting weekly checks it makes for and "reduction prints." There must be more prints than on file at Scotland Yard.

Anyway, with so many people getting weekly checks it makes for a sound economy. (At this point those favoring "Live TV" shout, "Yeah, but they'll be out of work when the re-runs fill up the dial").

Which brings me to another reason in favor of film TV. In radio it always bothered me that some wonderful shows—original dramas, a particularly good sketch on a variety program, or a situation comedy gem—would be blown away with the wind after one performance. A radio writer says: "Did you hear it last night. It was my best." When you shake your head there's nothing for him to do but repeat it word for word while you're walting for the signal to change. Which, of course, he does.

When any artist does something he hopes it will last. Even if it's a stage play it's repeated every night until everyone with the yen can see it. If an artist's work is captured in a magazine or a book, or on celluloid, it's so much more satisfying. This goes for all departments—the actor, the writer, the director, producer, set designer—everybody. Each knows it has a chance of being seen again. I'm not saying that up to now television on film has more quality than live stuff.

Actually the more artistic work in dramatic shows has come from live offerings. But I believe that's because of the fantastic costs of film and the feverish pace required to shoot it in two or three days no matter what it looks. like. But the fact remains that any artist would rather put his talents toward something that will last, something that actually exists and can be kept in a can, even though it has to sit in a nice outside room with a southern exposure at $80 mmonth. month.

a southern exposure at $80 month.

Those 'Residuals'

It's easier to make deals with movie stars for film TV for this reason plus the magic word "residuals." Another word for same thing: "Deferred payment." "You work once." they said, "and then the money rolls' in 10 years from now—yes six, $1,500 a week forever. Let's see, 5,000 new TV stations, and naturally each one will buy my show at a $100 a week for a rerun every six months—well, I figure—and this is conservative, mind you—that the least we could make is $10,000 a week for 20 years!" Sometimes all this "residual" talk reminds me of the Kingfish. As I said above, the idea of repeats is good. We pioneered it in radio with "House Party" and "People Are Funny," and this summer have added Groucho on both radio and TV. But these are shorterm repeats for summer only, and the public knows that all will be fresh come September. When you think of hundreds of shows all repeating on television—well, it may (Continued on page 54)

(Continued on page 54)

Bring 'Em In Live!

By DICK PACK =

(Program Director, WNBT, N. Y.)

It may be news to some video entrepreneurs, but paradise isn't made of celluloid, Utopia doesn't come in a can of film.

Some of the TV operators who are looking forward smugly to that beamish day when most shows are on film, may be in for a rough kick in the iconoscope when they kick in the iconoscope when they actually bump into the realities of tomorrow's TV—on the local'scene. Certainly, there's going to be a lot more of television on film, particularly in network production, but when it comes to local television, film is not going to supply all the answers.

Sure, local operators need—and will eventually get a bigger and better supply of film shows. But that won't be enough. Local stations, in a tough competitive market, need a diverse stable of live shows.

et, need a diverse stable of live shows.

The stations whose managers may be in for the greatest shock if they think they can eventually rely primarily on film are, I feel, those in the current one-station and two-station markets. Wait till those boys really have to go out and compete. Some of them will really discover they're in the television business. Certain of the one-station an two-station market operators, some of whom now exist in a pushbutton paradise (push the button, and get a network show) may then find out that the margin of profit or loss, lies in the local show. The local show with the local advertiser—and the local Spells L-I-V-E

Local Spells L-I-V-E

Local Spells L-I-V-E

There are quite a few good reasons for spelling local 1-i-v-e. Even when your local sponsor can afford filmed commercials, he very often wants the flexibility of live commercials. That gives him a chance to change his copy to meet his day-to-day sales problems. He can change prices, copy slants, products, and test varying sales and merchandising pitches.

But that's not all. With a show built around a live personality, the advertiser gets a flock of plus values. He gets a local personality, with that wonderful indefinable extrappeal which is the hometown appeal, the local-boy appeal that wins friends and makes sales in New York or Nebraska. He gets all the added force of a live local personality delivering his sales message the way he wants it. He gets a personality he can merchandise—meet his customers, his salesmen and dealers.

This holds good not only for local advertisers but for national gets a personality he can merchandise—meet his customers, his salesmen and dealers.

This holds good not only for local advertisers, but for national advertisers who buy locally and regionally. They can get the added advantages, community by community, for their local campaigns with local live programming.

Expensive? . . . It's not cheap. But, basically, of the scores of hours of live local programming on WNBT today, there are very few program features that cannot be approximated with variations on almost any station in any market, at relatively the same costs. Our basic strip shows are built around one personality in a simple format. And in combination filmand-live packages, created around a format of a live personality and integrated films, lies the way to many effective local shows.

And remember this: a local station is, after all, a local station—a community station, and it owes a responsibility to its community to be more than just a way-station along the network line, more than an electronic free movie theatre. Plus this fact: that if television's to develop fresh, new personalities, it cannot rely only upon railo or movies or the stage for young talent. Radio found many of its greatest acts in local radio. It was a strict in potential talent, is it is in natural resources; but the method the same. The United clates is as rich in potential talent, is it is in natural resources; but the don't get me wrong: I love ilm, from Hollywood or New York.

But don't get me wrong: I love ilm, from Hollywood or New York. 'ould use a lot more of it right

	TV NETWOR	(Continued from	nammint DU	OLV VIII
		WEDNESDA
	ABC	CBS	DuMONT	NBC Hawkins Falls
5 P.M.				(Lever)
15-	OPEN	(Local)	(Local)	Gabby Hayes (Minute Maid)
30— 45—	OPEN	(Local)	AND TO THE PARTY	Howdy Doody (Participating)
6:00-
15
80	OPEN	(Local)	(Local)	(Local)
45
7:00-			·	Space Cadet
15	OPEN	(Local):	Captain Video (Gen. Foods)	(Kellogg) OPEN
30-	Name's the	Doug Edwards News		Those Two
45-	Same (Swanson and Bendix	(Oldsmobile) Perry Como	OPEN	(P&G) News Caravan
1	alternate)	(Chesterfield)		(Camel)
8:00-		Godfrey & Friends (Toni and
15	Paul Dixon	Pillsbury alternate)	OPEN	Tony Miner Drama Series
30	(Sustaining)		OPEN	(Tentative)
45		Godfrey & Friends (Chesterfield)
9:00-
15—	Ellery Queen (Bayuk Cigar)	Strike It Rich (Colgate)	OPEN
30—				Kraft TV Theatre (Kraft)
45	OPEN	Man Against Crime (Camel)	Starring Editors (Grand Union)	}
0:00—				OPEN
15		Blue Ribbon Boxing (Pabst)		OPEN
80-	OPEN	(Paust)	(Local)
45		Sports Spot (Gen, Çigar)		(Local)
1:00-		Chronoscope (Longines)	,	ĺ
15			(
30	Wrestling (Co-op)	(Local)	(Local)	(Local)
45
1		THURSDA	Υ .	1
P,M.				Hawkins Falls (Lever)
15				Gabby Hayes (Sustaining)
30-	OPEN	(Local)	(Local)
45				Howdy Doody (Participating)
6:00-			-
15	•			(
15— 30—	OPEN	(Local)	(Local)	(Local)

30	OPEN	(Local)	(Local)	(Local)
45
7:00-				Space Cadet
15	OPEN	(Local)	Captain Video (Gen. Foods)	(Kellogg) Short Short Story (Pepsi-Cola)
30—	Lone Ranger	Doug Edwards News (Pall Mall)	OPEN	Dinah Shore (Chevrolet)
45	(Gen. Mills)	Music Hall (Lever)		News Caravan (Camel)
8:00-	OPPN	Burns & Allen (Carnation		(ounici)
15	OPEN	alternates with Goodrich)	OPEN	Groucho Marx (DeSoto-Plymouth)
30—	~ · · · · · ·	Amos 'N' Andy
45	Chance of Lifetime (Lorillard)	(Blatz) alt. with Four Star Theatre (Singer Sewing)	B'way to H'wood (Tidewater)	T-Men in Action (Borden)
9:00-				Gangbusters
15—	OPEN	Biff Baker, USA (Lucky Strike)	Gruen Theatre (Gruen)	alternates with Dragnet (Chesterfield)
80 45		Big Town (Lever)	What's the Story (DuMont Sets)	Ford Theatre (Ford)
10:00-		Racket Squad	Pro 1 2 2 2 2
15—	ODDM	(Philip Morris)	This Is Music (Sustaining)	Martin Kane (U. S. Tobacco)
30	OPEN		·
45		Crime Photographer (Carter)	Author Meets Critics (Sustaining)	(Local)
11:00-
15—
30	OPEN	(Local)	(Local)	(Local)
45

(Continued on page 55)

Dems Considering Free Radio Plank

Chicago, July 15 Free radio plank is under consideration for inclusion in the platform of the Democratic Party. There was none in the GOP plat-form adopted last week, although both major parties have had such planks in the past.

planks in the past.

One important section of the new Republican platform pledges a study toward separating the various types of taxation among Federal, state and local governments. At present, all three sometimes tax the same industry.

the same industry.

Motion picture people have been pushing for a division of the fields of taxation to benefit the admissions levy now used around the country by local, state and Federal governments. Jack Bryson, MPAA legislative rep, was in town on this last week and Eric Johnston came in for a day or two to help.

Film industry wants the Federal government to drop its 20% admissions bite.

admissions bite.

Republican anti-censorship plank covers only the so-called "government gag" on certain types of information which prevents the public from knowing "what their government is doing," according to the Republican platform.

Film industry did not seek a plank for elimination of state censorship of pix, although considerable thought was given to this.

It was finally decided that the best way to handle the situation was by working with the individual states and by taking cases to the courts in accordance with "The Miracle" and "Pinky" decisions.

How Green

Continued from page 53

be too much for the public to take be too much for the public to take a few years from now when there's a leveling off in TV set sales. Originally, with so many new set sales every day there was a brand new audience every day. Then new ways of making moving pictures for much less money will no doubt be perfected and in general use in the near future. Thus we face the possibility of fresh pictures at no greater cost than what we expect from reruns. Meanwhile we have rented two more outside rooms so our cans of film can be comfortable while they sit. ($240 a month).

I'm not against the principle of while they sit. ($240 a month).

I'm not against the principle of reruns, obviously. They help ease the load on the advertiser, and keep from burning up the writers too quickly. But I'm against all this blue-sky dream talk about how hefty residual money is going to be. We've used two excuses in repeats so far: (1) We run the best I3 of the previous 39. This is sort of an anthology of the best, and so the repeating is offset by knowing we are doing only the best ones. (2) We give the advertiser a summer bargain — a time when he's inclined to sneak off.

In any event, to have any kind puest ones. (2) we give the advertiser a summer bargain—a time when he's inclined to sneak off.

In any event, to have any kind of repeats you need film. Most Variety readers are familiar with most of the other advantages for disadvantages of film, but you may not have realized what we discovered about audience participation shows which require a lot of camera movement. We did a "People Are Funny" type show, one year live and the next on film, ("Life With Linkletter.") After the continuous half-hour of the live show, the stopping every 10 minutes for new setups, new lighting, and film changing for the film show, left no doubts in our minds that such a program comes off much better in a live version. Spontaneity is lost when everything stops every 10 minutes and the audience just sits there. It seems to work with "I Love Lucy," but not with a show in which the studio audience itself figures in the piece. As for edited shows like Groucho Marx' "You Bet Your Life," film is the obvious answer, but we lick the stopping problem by having three banks of two cameras each so that there's no stopping to change camera loads—you just switch from one to the other in the same bank. And of, course the single set requires no change of lighting. But the big secret is—*

*Note: I've reached my 850th word. Thank you for the

*(Note: I've reached my 850th word. Thank you for the opportunity to shoot off a bit.)

Walker Asks Educ'l Action on Tele In. Year of Decision

State College, Pa., July 15. Warning that anyone may re quest that unused educational channels be turned over to com-mercial interests beginning next June 3, FCC Chairman Paul A Walker urged educators here last week to get busy with a definite program to raise funds for noncommercial TV stations.

Addressing the fifth annual ra-dio and TV institute at Pennsylvania State College, Chairman Walker said the movement to build educational stations has hearty endorsement" of President Truman, who is impressed by the potentialities of the medium ťο the children of America and is "keenly interested" in the success project.

of the project.

Pointing out that the television "boom" is on, with over 500 applications filed with the Commission, Chairman Walker told the educators this is the "year of decision" for educational television. "The battle hour has struck," he said. "You must not relax until you see that television tower on your campus rising toward the sky."

sky."

FCC chief said it is "short-sighted" to suggest that educational TV stations will create unfair competition to commercial outlets. "On the contrary," he said, "educational and commercial stations should complement each other."

tons should complement each other."

Various broadcasters recognize this, said Walker, and are assisting educators in plans for noncommercial stations. "Of course," he added, "I do not overlook the fact that these broadcasters are also motivated by the spirit of good citizenship in helping to give the children and the adults of their communities the very best educational service of the times."

Chairman Walker expressed condence that "other broadcasters, after viewing this matter in broad perspective, will likewise contribute their knowledge and experience to this greatest advance in education in modern times."

Walker congratulated Emerson

education in modern times."

Walker congratulated Emerson
Radio and Phonograph Corp. on its "generosity, vision, public spirit and industrial statesmanship" in launching plans for a $5, 000,000 fund to assist educators and donating $10,000 to each of the first 10 noncommercial stations.

"This is the type of imaginative tion," he said, "that sheds lustre n our private enterprise system."

Convention Hypoes Mpls. TV Interest; Pressure Now Seen for FCC Grants

Minneapolis, July 15. Republican convention gave TV its biggest inning here. Tremendous amount of newspaper space and word-of-mouth publicity which TV received from its convention coverage is expected not only to stimulate set sales, which rose substantially just prior to the Republican shindig, but also to substantially increase pressure for speed-ier FCC action on applications for TV station permits, TV circles here helieve

Thus far there has been no action on any of the Minnesota and North and South Dakota applications, and the two Twin Cities TV stations, KSTP and WTCN, continue to be the only ones throughout the three states.

Morning after the convention

10:00

15

45

30

11:00 15 OPEN

OPEN

Morning after the convention ended, the Tribune carried a column-long story, with a three-column head which stated "City Went to Chicago via TV" and that "convention's drama lured passing crowd."

Most hotels, restaurants and bars set up TV sets especially for the occasion and advertised the fact. The RKO-Orpheum had a set going in its foyer.

TV NETWORKS' FALL PROGRAMMING SCHEDULE (Continued from page 54) FRIDAY ARC DuMONT NBC S P.M Hawkins Falls (Lever 15 Gabby Hayes (Quaker Oats) OPEN (Local) (Local) 20 Howdy Doody (Participating) 6:00 OPEN (Local) (Local) (Local) 30 45 7:00 Space Cadet (Kellogg) OPEN (Local) Captain Video (Gen. Foods) °15 European Varieties (Tentative) Doug Edwards News (Oldsmobile) 30 Those Two (P&G) Stu Erwin Show (Gen. Mills) OPEN Perry Como (Chesterfield) 45 News Caravan (Camel) 8.00 Mama (Gen. Foods) Down You Go (Sustaining) RCA Victor Show 15 OPEN 30 My Friend Irma (Cavalier) 20 Questions (Sustaining) We, the People 45 Rebound (Packard) (On five ABC-TV 9:00 Life Begins at 80 (Serutan) Playhouse of Stars (Schlitz) Big Story (Amer. Cigaret) 15 o.&o.s only) 30 Tales of Tomorrow (Kreisler & Masland alt, weeks) Campbell Playhouse (Campbell) Our Miss Brooks (Gen. Foods) (Local) 43 10:00 Police Story (Pearson Pharm.) 15 Cavalcade of Sports (Gillette) Cavalcade of Stars (Druggists of America) OPEN 30 It's News to Me (Simmons Mattress alternating weeks only) Greatest Fights (Chesebrough) 45 11:00 (Longines) 15 OPEN (Local) (Local) 30 (Local) SATURDAY 5 P.M Youth Wants to Know (Sustaining) OPEN OFF (Local) 30 Rootie Kazootie (Co-op) 45 6:00 15 OPEN (Local) (Local) 45 7:00 Saddle Pal Club (Sustaining) Stork Club (Sustaining) (Local) OPEN 15 One Man's Family 30 Pet Shop (Sustaining) Beat the Clock (Sylvania) (Miles Labs OPEN alternating weeks only) 8:00 TV Teen Club (Nash-Kelvinator) Jackie Gleason (Schick Shavers— Thos. Leeming; pne-third of show open) 15 All Star Revue (Participating) OPEN 30 OPEN 45 9:00 Your Show of Shows (Participating) OPEN OPEN OPEN 30 45

OPEN

Wrestling (Co-op)

Sports Showcase (Autobrite)

Wrestling (Co-op)

Your Show of Shows

Hit Parade (Lucky Strike)

(Local)

(Cass Daley Show)
(Tentative)

Battle of Ages (Serutan)

(Local)

Photographed Film Isn't Motion Pictures

By GORDON W. LEVOY-

Hollywood.

Hollywood.

Two years ago it was heresy to suggest that quality television shows could be of a motion picture type. Today it is fashionable to proclaim that 75% of the future programs will be on "film." Too many, however, who do lip service to this philosophy believe that motion pictures constitutes merely setting up photography under better lighting conditions.

A camera should be used for more than a mere recording device, except for news events. In order to have that audience appeal so that you feel you are a part of the story, it must portray the characters in a much more realistic action. Between plain photography and that of a properly prepared motion picture, there is the same kind of difference that you would find between a snapshot and a painted portrait.

Most of the arguments in favor of "film" are already pretty well known. The leading ones generally advanced are the following:

1. Story. Because a live action show must be presented within the confinement of a stage, the type, number and quality of the plots are likewise severely limited. The demands of TV will require an exhaustive number of scenarios. Motion picture production unquestionably affords a much greater story source.

Motion picture production unques-tionably affords a much greater south picture production unquestionably affords a much greater story source.

2. Acting. Motion picture production proceeds only one segment at a time, so that the actor has but a few lines to remember in any given moment, with each scene being photographed as many times as necessary. In live action, however, performance of the whole presentation must be rehearsed letter perfect from the beginning; if it is to be properly done it requires weeks of preparation at prohibitive expense and exhausting energy. energy. Flexibility

Regy.

3. Quality production. The sets and properties in a live presentation are again necessarily very limited, whereas motion pictures can build any type or kind, or use "stock shots" from other pictures, or go to the mountains, the desert, the ocean, have snow, rain, almost anything. Trick effects, process camera production, use of miniatures and superior lighting possibilities also contribute.

4. Editing. In a live show you see only what the particular camera may happen to pick up the first and only time, from wherever it may be, whether it is good, bad, or indifferent. Motion pictures will have a half a dozen "takes" of the same scene—closeups, long shots and angles from one to the other of the cast while talking or in action, so that when edited only the best is retained even within scenes and, of course, intercut in sequence, most of the photographed material being discarded as unsuitable.

5. Finished production. In a motion picture you will not see suitable.

5. Finished production. In a motion picture you will not see fluffed lines, cues missed or names mispronounced; nor will there be occasions, as there are even today in live shows, where you will see a script girl or a stage hand walking across the back. The sound, of course, will be always perfectly regulated, not as you will sometimes see in the live show where the sound comes from one corner of the room while the people are in the lother.

the sound comes from one corner of the room while the people are in the other.

6. Exhibition. The time of presentation of a live show from coast to coast involving the expensive cable costs cannot vary to suit the particular product. A 9 o'clock audience in New York should not be a 6 o'clock audience in Ios Angeles, or vice versa. In motion pictures a child's audience, a woman's audience, a late night audience, can be picked in each particular region. region.
7. Markets obtainable. There is

7. Markets obtainable. There is also the factor that it is getting increasingly difficult to clear time across the nation for a live show. On a market by market basis, film becomes practicable so that if in a closed area time is not available, other time can be secured.

The technique of production for television is not exactly similar to (Continued on page 96)

'Cantor and Me'

group I had exploded into was merely composed of the executive directors of the Texas Oil Co., makers of Texaco gasoline. That they, along with their advertising representatives were down here to look over the program, as prospective sponsors. What I had done simply made it appear that I was writing the whole show myself—plus confusing the entire issue in general. Very good, Davis.

Of course, as it worked out Texaco bought Cantor in

What he called Helen about, though, was to spite of me. spite of me. What he called Helen about, though, was to have her tell me that in the future I was to see him privately with my new material—for obvious reasons. The following day Cantor informed me that he wasn't trying to restrict me in any way. He still wanted to hear all of my stuff. It was just that it could no longer be done in public because another such incident might put us both out of work.

'Just the Three of Us'

Naturally, under the new order I had to operate differently. I not only told him a new gag every time I saw him alone, I made it my business to be where he was day and night. When he went sunbathing I went sunbathing. There were just the three of us—Cartor, myself and a gag. After exposing him to one of dubious quality he said that out in the sun I should wear something to cover my head.

When he ate, I ate. When he played handball, I played handball. When we went swimming, I dove in after him. The fact that I couldn't swim never stopped me. When he took a shower I scrubbed his back—still trying to tickle his funny bone.

tickle his funny bone.

We finished out that season in Florida, and then returned to what was now a much warmer New York. With our stories of broadcasts over, we hit the summer layoff—something I had looked forward to. It would afford me time to see my mother again. Cantor himself went to England. But before leaving he arranged things so I would receive a check every week even though we weren't working. I visited my mother quite often during this period and she could never understand why I wasn't busy. She would ask, "Son, what are you doing these days?"

"Yothing, Mom. I get a check every week."

"Oh," she said, "back on relief!"

That I once drove a cab was never allowed to be for-gotten for any length of time. Cantor loved to tell his friends about Eddie Davis. He cited me as what he called a living example of democracy, "that a guy could even come out of a taxi and amount to something in show business."

business."

Comedians usually aren't around at writing sessions when a new script is taking shape. Cantor, however, as a great gagman in his own right, was present whenever possible. He would see that all was going well and also kick in with a good deal of the material himself. Being a born perfectionist, Eddie often said, "I never ask any of you to do what I myself can't." Of course, I have yet to encounter anyone capable of doing the work that he can, or who possesses his incredible energy. Cantor is the entertalment world's answer to the vitamin pill.

At one particular writing session we had developed a solid comedy situation but found ourselves stumped for the clinching gag that would tie it all up. We wrestled with it solid comedy situation but found ourselves stumped for the clinching gag that would tie it all up. We wrestled with it for hours without any success. Finally Cantor pointed to me and said, "Eddie, I can't understand it. When you were driving a cab you shot gags at me faster than you passed red lights, but now—? I want you to get back behind the wheel of a taxi and don't come back here until you've got the punch line." At first I thought he was kidding, but there he was—holding the door open for me. Fortunately, I had a friend who drove a cab, so I borrowed it for awhile. The whole thing consumed an hour and a half but the idea paid off. I not only came back WITH the gag BUT I also netted $8.75 in fares. And would you belleve it—to this day Cantor still claims he deserved a cut of the money?

As you probably gathered, Cantor is a great prankster. And the impish twist he could add to almost any situation was something he carried with him onto his program. On one show it went something like this: Jimmy Wallington would say, "Eddle, I'd like to take this opportunity to congratulate you. After you sang 'Potatoes Are Cheaper' on last week's program we received 5,000 letters requesting that you sing it again. That's wonderful. I'd like to shake your hand!"

After the handshake, Eddie screamed, "Ouch!"

After the handshake, Eddie screamed, "Ouch!"
"What did I do?" asked a surprised Wallington.
"Nothing," said Cantor, "but how do you think YOUR hand would feel after writing 5,000 letters?"
I recall something in a similar vein that happened on the train back to New York. It was 1937 and by now Cantor and I knew each other pretty well. At mealtime the waiter approached with pad and pencil and told us to write down what we wanted. He would return in a minute to pick up the slips. Cantor couldn't control his smile as he instructed me to order "postafazoolie" for him. When the waiter delivered our food it turned out to be two platters of scrambled eggs. Eddie beat me to the punch, saying, "I thought this would happen! EGGS I knew you could spell!"
But little did he know what a time I had with "scram-

But little did he know what a time I had with "scrambled"!

As I mentioned earlier I had always taken delight in As I mentioned earlier I had always taken delight in imitating Cantor, and several months after we got back to New York, Helen presented me with a wonderful baby girl. On this occasion, Eddie wired: "SO! YOU'RE STILL IMITATING ME!" Of course, I never let the suitation get out of hand the way he did.

As I said, I spent a good deal of my first summer layoff with my mother. In later years, however, I usually asked Cantor to "loan me out" to other comedians while he was off. I wanted to continue working, and, of course, making money. This pollcy gave me the opportunity to associate with a number of other comedians and in one instance, the opportunity to work myself into a beautiful jam.

I spent the summer of 1937 with Ed Wynn. As head-writer, this was a full time job, but when Milton Berle also approached me to work for him, I unthinkingly agreed. It didn't take an atomic physicist to realize that the situation was impossible. There was only one of me while there were two of them and they both wanted me to work full time. Not having a split personality handy, I either had to relinquish one of the assignments or live dangerously. Frankly, the former consideration never occurred to me. I would write material for one of the shows each week, then switch it to suit the style of the other comic. Such intrigue!

That Man Berle

Berle's show was on in mid-week, while Ed Wynn worked at the week's end. Therefore the material first had to be written for Milton, then switched for Wynn. I knew that Ed spent most of his evenings at home. Armed with this information, I prevented him from hearing the Berle show by phoning him when it began and keeping a conversation going for the full half hour. This worked to perfection for two weeks but on the third something that I no longer remember came up and I was unable to make on the following day and he recognized it. "Say, Eddle," the call. Disaster! I presented Wynn with my material he said, "this is the same stuff that Milton Berle used last night!" "How do you like that Berle!" I blurted. "NOW he's

'How do you like that Berle!" I blurted. "NOW he's night!"

"How do you like that Berle!" I blurted. "NOW he's stealing our gags before we even tell 'em!"

The following issue of Vaniety reported that the pressure of other work had forced Eddie Davis to retire from the Milton Berle show. We parted under friendly enough circumstances, however. In fact, I am presently connected with his television program.

Through the years, Eddie and I had few disagreements concerning the program scripts, and when we did I always made it a point to bow to his greater knowledge and experience. Always—except once. I vividly recall a writing session in New York. There I was, stubbornly insisting that my blackout gag was strong enough as originally written. "Change it? It's a masterpiece! And doesn't need any changing." Cantor disagreed. I held out for my joke though and finally Eddie said, "Okay, I'll do the gag your way on this week's preview, just to prove to you that it's going to lay flat! That's the only reason I'm going to use it, and you'll see for yourself that it's lousy!" At this, I began to think. And the more I thought, the more frightened I became. If the gag died, I'd be in I couldn't very well back down, Eddie would never let for a riding.

I couldn't very well back down, Eddie would never let

I couldn't very well back down, Eddie would never let me forget it—so I decided to think of a way to insure the laugh. To make certain that the house would rock when Cantor told the gag. The idea came to me like a stroke of genius. As Eddie did the joke; I just took off my pants and walked across the stage behind him—in my long underwear. Needless to say, pandemonium resulted. And to this day, Cantor, doesn't know how that gag drew the howl it did. Wait till he reads this!

They're all wonderful memories but as is usually the case, one story in particular stands out in my mind as, if not the funniest, certainly the most ridiculous. It happened in 1937. Cantor always offered his writers a sizable bonus for whoever could devise a continuity gimmick. That is, some idea that could run for several successive programs. Eddie knew that anything capable of being carried over from one show to another was great for stimulating audience interest as well as making each program that much easier to create. Leave it to me, I dreamed up a gem to be known as "Oscar the Flea." The theme was for Cantor to announce that the pride of his life, Oscar, his trained flea, had disappeared into thin air and that he, Cantor, would pay a substantial reward to anyone who could return Oscar.

Eddie agreed that it was an interesting device. Oscar would bow in on the next show. The thought was that we could perpetuate the idea indefinitely by announcing the week-to-week progress made in the flea-hunt. Complete, of course, with all the trappings. Clues, police descriptions—the works.

Dogs, Dogs, Dogs

Dogs, Dogs, Dogs

We happened to be in Chicago at the "contest's" inception, and it was another two weeks before we returned to California. I checked into a hotel, then drove out to meet Cantor at his home. I was greeted by a sight I will never forget. It was fantastic! There on his front lawn stood, Cantor. Surrounded by I'll never know how many dogs. Dogs! Dogs to the right! Dogs to the left! Big dogs! Little dogs! Barking dogs! Thoroughbreds! Mongrels! Just dogs! Also a stray camel that needed a dry cleaning, three or four goats and a shetland pony, yet. But mostly dogs. Quite a spectacle. In short, if it had fleas and walked, we had it.

Cantor was furious. The fact that a St. Bernard was chasing him around licking his face didn't soothe Eddie any. "You and your ideas!" he shrieked at me. "This is in response to your contest!" And as everything went black I heard him shout, "Next time you get an idea keep your big mouth shut!"

I left Cantor in 1939 when presented with a chance to write a Broadway show, "George White's Scandals," and I followed that with another musical, "Hold On to Your Hats," starring Al Joison. Shortly after, however, my health began to fail and I came down with a bad case of asthma. I was forced to leave New York by my doctor, although there were a lot of people who thought the advice came from the theatre critics. Anyhow, I went out to Arizona—which is really nothing more than the Catskills with cactus—built a home and lived there for two years. My health improved considerably during this time so I came back to Broadway and did a show called "Follow the Girls," starring Gertrude Niesen. Luckily, it turned out to be a smash. After the reviews were in I received dozens of congratualatory messages. They were all wonderful but there was one that I wouldn't trade for anything, and to this day I carry it with me. You guessed it. It was from Cantor, and it read: "Congratulations, Eddie. You're back in the driver's seat again."

Life seemed to be one big piece of Lindy's cheesecake, when sudde at the time was that he knew I'd only blow it on necessities like slik shirts and alligator shoes! What a guy His eyes are as big as an ordinary man's heart and his heart is as big as an ordinary man.

heart is as big as an ordinary man.

Back in New York, I started on another show, "Ankles Aweigh." It was slow work at first, but things finally began shaping up and I expect to get it into rehearsal next fall. As you know, Cantor is doing his television show. White waiting for my own revue to take shape, I recently wrote a sketch for the program. In connection with this I dropped in backstage one afternoon last week to watch the rehearsal and there was Cantor going over his now famous Maxie and Taxie routine,

"How do you like that!"

"How do you like that!" I said. "NOW who's imitating who!"

"You're right," Eddie laughed. "I took you from behind the wheel so I could get there myself."

After the rehearsal, Eddie and I left the studio and climbed into my convertible parked in front of NBC. It had rained all day and by sheer coincidence the streets were slippery as we turned down Sixth avenue at 50 miles an hour.

"It call the tall" reports Contor.

"Look out!" roared Cantor.

"Relax," I said. "There's no meter in this one!"

"I know!" Eddie snapped. "That's what worries mel NOW if anything happens I won't even be able to sue the company!"

Puffing & Sipping

-he stuck to the fact that the Morris cigaret was made for pleasure and not ingredients. That was the inference to us—but for good solid inhaling and exhaling the Philip Morris man is right up there with the best.

we also accepted the suggestion of the Lucky Strike people who asked us to compare their cigaret to determine its "packability" in relation to other brands. This test called for us to purchase a package of all other brands —something we didn't quite understand—as why would the Lucky people want us to buy the other brands just to rate its stability in the rice paper. Our outlay here was about $1.50 and we wished we had it back.

about $1.50 and we wished we had it back.

The Lucky test was shown on the TV screen by a young (or old) lady's well manicured hands ripping the paper from several cigarets. If we were to judge hands in this survey, we'd allow they were quite efficient but for the life of us we couldn't remove the cigaret papers without having all the brands fall apart—including Luckies—but this certainly is no reflection on the Lucky people as when it comes to cigaret ripping we're just all hands.

Our researchers jokingly expressed the hope that other manufacturers won't ask us to tear their products apart—especially automobile sponsors—as that would be rather expensive and this certainly would drive us out of the research business.

The ladies and gentlemen who smoked king-sized cigarets professionally were considered and appraised for our final observation. This group includes Fatima, Pall Malls, Dunhills and Cavaliers and to our amazement, the professional puffers of the king sizes are no larger in stature than their brothers who smoke on regulation cigs. We naturally expected to see large, oversized people drag on the oversized smokes but the Pall Mall group and others tripped us up on that one.

Regarding Pall Mall, it was a revelation to see that the puffer didn't inhale or exhale smoke—but the commercial—one of those animated things—displayed the man puffing and from the cigaret emerged certain words of praise for Pall Mall. It was pleasant interlude for us after having seen nothing but smoke for these many years. The Cavalier puffer—Bob LaMond—expressed more pleasure with his job than all other king-sized smokers and for downright beauty, this LaMond pleased the female smokers.

The question evices whether an all other oversized smokers.

smokers.

The question arises whether or not a beer sipper could ever qualify as a cigaret puffer, or a puffer could make the grade as a sipper. We caution those who would turn from puffing to sipping to first examine the prominence of their thyroid cartilages and to the sippers who wiggle their Adam's Apples we suggest they consider puffing.

We didn't give much study to commercial auto drivers on television but our attention was pointed to Groucho Marx's driving of a DeSoto Firedome (we were unable to ascertain what a Firedome was) along the expansive boulevards of Beverly Hills. As Mr. Marx smoked his cigar and glided along in his convertible, one researcher remarked, "Marx would make a hell of a beer sipper—look at him—his Adam's Apple is practically stationary."

Thorny Problems

have had to cancel Amos 'n' Andy for instance, because of repeats.

As to prices for film, it would seem that each film producer expects each station to pay the entire original production cost in their "asking" prices. Of course, the business of bargaining has been going on for many years, but it does get awfully tiresome haggling over exorbitant prices. I suppose the film people feel that we buyers are a bunch of chiselers, but the fact of the matter is we know what local sponsors will pay for film, and from my experience, the age or star value of any group of films doesn't seem to make too much difference to these local sponsors. We have tried unsuccessfully in many cases to obtain more money from our sponsors for films, but apparently our present figures have reached the top bracket. The pricing of 15-minute film series seems to me the

The pricing of 15-minute film series seems to me the furthest out of line. Film producers will ask almost as much per time for these 15-minute programs as they do for a 90-minute star-studded feature. It would seem to me that lower prices would bring greater volume of sales, but of course, this is against the economic theory.

As to quality of prints the force offered runs the gamut

As to quality of prints, the fare offered runs the gamut from excellent to terrible. Generally, we have found that the first two or three films from the same source, and of the same series, set the pace for the remainder. If the first two or three are good, the rest of the series are good. However, if the first two or three in a series are bad prints, the rest of that series show up badly.

Vidipix's 50% Hike

own lineup of stations and specific columbia stations in some-mar-time slots, is a hotly-debated ques-tion. Figures gathered by Vargery

The fact that film once on the reveal that five and one-half hours webs is being re-issued on a spot time slots, is a honly-drawated quickly configures gathered by Variety reveal that five and one-half hours of programming were placed on a national spot basis in the survey week of May 1951, with the total upped to seven and one-half hours for the comparable period this year. That represents a growth of 86%. Standard for counting a syndicated film as a national spot deal was whether it was backed by one sponsor in at least five markets (webs consider a show networked if they beam it to their five owned-and-operated stations). That this kind of setup, by-passing networks, is picking up acceleration is evident from the number of upcoming telefilm series which are slated for the spot trail in the fall. At least four national spenders are booked for canned shows on a station-by-station format for next season (such as Singer Sewing Machine and Pacific Coast Borax), and other similar campaigns are in the offing.

Feature Oldies Excluded

The figure of 18 hours on the webs and national spot, it should be stressed, does not include old features not originally intended for video. Were the theatrical product counted in the film column, the amount of celluloid tallied on the chains would have been hiked appreciably, and, of course, antique reels are an even greater staple in the 'local station's diet. VARIETY vidpix tabulation also does not count film inserts in basically live shows' (such as "Treasury Men in Action" or "Big Story") or newsreels for which film clips are a vital ingredient. The heavy amount of film used for commercials is similarly not included, but does indicate tele's dependence on film.

The main telefilm inroads so far.

amount of film used for commercials is similarly not included, but does indicate tele's dependence on film.

The main telefilm inroads so far, it's important to note, are confined to the nighttime hours. Videix accounted for only 45 minutes of network programming weekly before 5 p.m. this year, while occupying 11¼ hours after 5 o'clock. Networked vidpix are, for the most part, in the half-hour dramatic category — in the general drama, whodunit and situation comedy bracket, although the Groucho Marx entry is an example of a quizzer on reels.

This suggests that films-for-tele are not the answer to all program needs, that moving from the image-orthicon to the motion picture camera should be dictated by the type of presentation desired and that there will always be many types of airers for which live production is preferred.

While network programming fell off in the evening periods, it was not due primarily to the film upbeat. The amount of vidpix on the skeins almost doubled, from six and a half hours in '51 to 11¼ hours in '52, but that is still a relatively small segment of total program time. The decline in evening hours of networking, from 125¼ last May to 97 hours in May, '52, resulted in large part from other causes. Demise of "Broadway Open House" on NBC-TV in the 11 p.m. period, loss of several commercial shows on ABC-TV and DuMont and dropping of some network feeds at other times cut the volume of live after-dark programming about five times as much as the intro of celluloid entries.

Daylime Expansion

In the daytime portion of their schedules the skeins expanded—and in spades—giving the webs an

Daytime Expansion

In the daytime portion of their schedules the skeins expanded—and in spades—giving the webs an over-all gain in airtime from 175 to 193 hours weekly. NBC-TV's "Today" operation alone added 15 hours of live production a week—more time than the vidpix total on all four webs. That doesn't indicate that live programming is still open time in which live teevee can expand.

The chains are not oblivious to the threat of telefims. Programs which were once screened on the skeins are now making the rounds station-by-station. A notable example is product previously beamed on Procter & Gamble's "Fireside Theatre," now syndicated as "Royal Playhouse" and "Strange Adventure."

The webs, further, are not averse to making a buck from TV

The webs, further, are not averse to making a buck from TV films, even if it means competing with themselves, and they have entered vidpix production and syndication, In some cases, an NBC film series is being varried by

The fact that film once on the webs is being re-issued on a spot or local basis underlines the economic factor which is spurring the development of vidpix. Film can be used again and again, in contrast to a live presentation which has no re-run value (except for the limited use kinescope recordings can be put to). On the other hand, telefilm has important subsidiary potentials, including possible theatrical release, Latin-American and European video rights (the Italian TV network recently purchased a large number of American telepix), subsequent rerelease on the chains, and spot syndication.

The spot market adds signifi-cantly to the dimensions of films-for-TV. Included in the seven and one-half hours of spot-placed cantly to the dimensions of films-for-TV. Included in the seven and one-half hours of spot-placed shows are such items as "Old American Barn Dance," a 30-minute vidfilm program backed in a dozen areas by American Snuff Co., a bankroller which does not need a national network's "umbrella" coverage but rather pinpointed circulation following its distribution pattern. Beer, bread, and oil companies, most of which are local and regional, are heavy users of spot and are buying film airers for their markets.

In addition to the network and regional advertisers using film, a great many local spenders are backing vidpix series. "Double Play," a 15-minute show, was backed by one sponsor in four markets and by another in three markets and thus narrowly misses getting into the national spot classification (on the basis of five markets for a single advertiser).

Yet many of the almost 100 vidpix series available have a long live was the series and live was long live was the series was lived at live was the series was lived at lived li

Yet many of the almost 100 vid-pix series available have a long list of outlets carrying them, sev-eral with as big a lineup as net-work shows (with their multiple clearance problems) are able to

On a regular basis, Variety will tabulate the growth of vidpix visa-vis non-film programming, reporting by means of its "Filmometer" on the shape the video medium takes.

Midwest Colleges Prep Plunges Into Educ'l TV; Kansas Schools Combine

St. Louis, July 15.

U. of Missouri, at Columbia, last week filed application with the FCC for a commercial TV permit, and while the school's board of curators didn't disclose how the project would be financed, a spokesman said it wouldn't be necessary to ask for funds from the State Legislature.

Curators stated they hoped that

State Legislature.

Curators stated they hoped that at least 50% of the TV time would be devoted to public service programs, and that profits would be used for inprovement of the station's programs. Initial cost was estimated at $1,006,880, operating costs at $302,000 annually and the station was expected to show a profit in its second year. University's plans also call for a $480,000 TV studio on the campus and erection of a 796-foot tower four miles south of the town.

One hitch may upset the plans

One hitch may upset the plans as the application seeks channel 3, the same being asked for by the Missouri Farmers Assn.'s insurance division for station KMMO at Marshall, a radio station it owns.

Joint Kansas Expansion

Joint Kansas Expansion

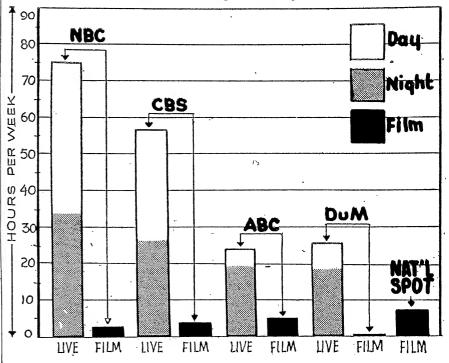

Kansas City, July 15.

Educational television has aroused interest of Kansas' two leading universities. In a joint project, the U. of Kansas at Lawrence and Kansas State College at Manhattan are filing applications for non-commercial, educational stations of 50 kw.

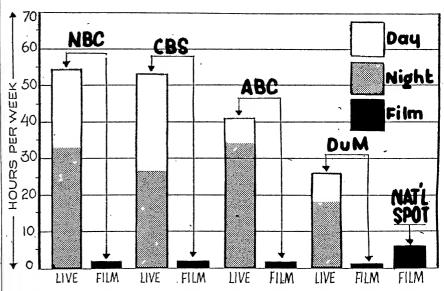

stations of 50 kw.

It's estimated that each station will cost $362,000, and plan calls for programs to originated on both campuses and be fed by microwave relay both ways. Whether or not the venture becomes a reality depends on appropriations of the Legislature.

Network TV Programming—1952

Network TV Programming—1951

From May, 1951, to May '52 the total hours of live programming on the four networks increased more than the hours of film shows the networks added. However, in the cases of ABC and DuMont, the amount of programs, both daytime and nighttime, fed to the network declined. Figures are in hours per week, for a week in May of each year. National spot figure is for film shows sponsored on at least five outlets by one bankroller.

DURWOOD KIRBY

GARRY MOORE SHOW—CBS-TV

YEAR TELEVISION PLAYHOUSE—NBC-TV

BOB AND RAY SHOW—NBC-TV

HILLTOP HOUSE—CBS-RADIO

Glenn Clark Miller moved up from director of the AM station to Smith's former post. Earl Corbett, program, director of WCPO, steps that in Miller's former by the state of the Miller's former by the Mi GARRY MOORE SHOW—CBS-TV
GOODYEAR TELEVISION PLAYHOUSE—NBC-TV

Crosley Signs Al Morgan

Cincinnati, July 15.

Al Morgan, singing planist who became a TV name in 1950 with his recording of "Jealous Heart," is to return soon to his native Cincy under contract to the Crosley Broadcasting Corp.

Peciden processing on WI W. W.

Besides appearing on WLW-There he will be programmed on one of the major video webs, according to Robert E. Dunville, Crosley chief.

chief.

His bookings at theatres and night clubs were interrupted for a few weeks last year when he made an unsuccessful bid to revive the Glenn Rendezvous, nitery in Newport, Ky., opposite Cincy, as operator and entertainer. ery ir Cincy, tainer.

WCPO's Exec Shuffle

Cincinnati, July 15.

Three executive changes were made this week at WCPO stations by Mortimer C. Watters, general

John Patrick Smith was upped from national radio and TV sales manager to assistant general mana-ger of sales for all operations.

Wherever you find commercial TV

around the free world

-you'll find

McCANN-ERICKSON

Argentina

Television is just getting under way. Two of our TV executives have already had States-side training.

Brazil

There's one station in Rio and two in Sao Paolo—with more stations on the way in both cities and 16 stations planned for the interior of the country. We have complete TV staffs in both our Rio and Sao Paolo offices, producing some of the leading programs on the air.

Cuba and

Mexico

Since TV's beginning in Cuba and Mexico, McCann-Erickson has pioneered the commercial use of the medium. Today eleven trained TV specialists in Cuba and eight in Mexico are producing top shows in both countries.

Dominican Republic,

Our Caracas office is tooling up for TV in Venezuela; we're set for TV in the Dominican Republic, and we're ready to go in Puerto Rico.

Puerto Rico, Venezuela

England

Our London office is prepared for commercial TV — whether it comes tomorrow or two years from now. (Just completed:—a survey of viewing habits among 2971 viewers.)

United States

At present we are serving 27 different clients using television in our U. S. offices. The experience we've gained from over half a million specialized man hours working on TV in the states is being passed on to our other offices throughout the world.

McCANN-ERICKSON, INC. Advertising 50 Rockefeller Plaza New York, N. Y.

Kagran Corp. and Kagran Films

in association with

Martin Stone

Television Howdy Doody-NBC Gabby Hayes-NBC Author Meets the Critics-DuMont

> Radio Howdy Doody-NBC Gabby Hayes-MBS The Jackie Robinson Show-WNBC

> > FilmHowdy Doody Iron Mike—(Full length feature)

> > > 4 West 58th Street New York, N. Y.

COMEDY STAR of the James Melton TV Show

WALLY BROWN

Thanks to JAMES MELTON for 7 WONDERFUL MONTHS on the FORD FESTIVAL SHOW

ALSO THANKS

Star of the Family

Currently Headlining All Major Theatres

CO-STAR of 19 Motion Pictures

FEATURED COMIC in 22 Others for Major Studios

Music Corporation of America

* BETTY GARDE

Radio – Stage – Television – Screen

Du Mont creates television that impresses advertisers because Du Mont offers sound television value—good shows that impress audiences at a reasonable cost. The results of this down-to-earth showmanship have been most impressive to the many sponsors who have come to Du Mont in search of good, sound television value.

If you want this kind of advertising value, you'll be impressed with the way your Dollars Do More on Du Mont.

> DUMONT TELEVISION NETWORK

515 Madison Avenue, New York 22, N. Y., MU 8-2600 A Division of the Allen B. Du Mont Laboratories, Inc.

Managaran paragaran de la company de la comp

WORLD'S GREATEST VENTRILOQUIST...

JIMMY NELSON

DANNY O'DAY HUMPHREY HIGSBYE

and Our New Mascot

"Farfél"

WATCH FOR THE JIMMY NELSON

SHOW

To Be Announced Soon

Returning SEPT. 16 for 1952-1953 Season MILTON BERLE

TEXACO STAR THEATRE NBC-TV

Guesting AUG. 3rd with

ED SULLIVAN

"Toast of the Town"

Personal Management

LOUIS W. COHA

1776 Broadway, New York

Booking: WM. MORRIS AGENCY Publicity: FRANCES E. KAYE 203 No. Wabash Ave., Chicago

SIEGAL & ROTHENBERG, Chicago

WILBUR STARK

Producer

KATHI NORRIS

HOLLYWOOD LOVE STORY - NBC Radio NEWSSTAND THEATRE—ABC Radio KATHI NORRIS SHOW - DUMONT TV ANYBODY HOME - NBC Radio ESCAPE WITH ME -- ABC Radio THE BIG HAND - ABC Radio

Co-Producer:

ROCKY KING, DETECTIVE -- DUMONT-TV

In the Works:

WHAT'S THE GAG LADIES' CHOICE THE ATOMIC PHANTOM THE LADY'S A COP IF I WERE YOU WHAT'S YOUR FUN

JOHN GART

Musical Director

"Chance of a Lifetime" with DENNIS JAMES

-ABC-TV-

THE BIG STORY

TELEVISION, Fridays, 9 to 9:30 P.M., NBC-TV

RADIO, Wednesdays, 9:30 to 10:00 P.M., NBC

For PALL MALL CIGARETTES

Agency:

SULLIVAN, STAUFFER, COLWELL AND BAYLES

TREASURY MEN IN ACTION

TELEVISION, Thursdays, 8:30 to 9 P.M., NBC-TV For BORDEN'S INSTANT COFFEE

Agency:

DOHERTY, CLIFFORD AND SHENFIELD

POLICE STORY

TELEVISION, Fridays, 10 to 10:30 P.M., CBS-TV

For ENNDS Chlorophyll Tablets and Eye-Gene

Agency:

HARRY B. COHEN

NEW TELEVISION SHOWS AVAILABLE:

Heart of America Quick as a Flash Affairs of Ann Scotland We, the Women

THE PEPSI-COLA THEATRE

TELEVISION

STARTING SEPTEMBER 30th

Tuesdays and Thursdays,

7:15 to 7:30 P.M., NBC-TY

Agency:

THE BIOW COMPANY

PROCKTER PRODUCTIONS, INC.

221 WEST 57th STREET NEW YORK 19. NEW YORK JUdson 6-4830

high man

Mister PLUS stands for the one network that dominates radio listening-by nearly 2 to 1—throughout

"Non-TV America"... that 45-state market where 60,000,000 customers live and listen...where there are as many radio homes as there are TV homes in the entire U.S. .. and where Mutual has 416 stations, more than the other three networks combined.

Actual Listening in Non-TV America (Day and Night All Week Long) proportion, are non-MBS markets, MBS-only markets, and markets total U.S. area where TV cannot be seen. Included, in proper This chart summarizes the findings of a 1,000,000-interview study (by J. A. Ward, Inc., Feb-Mar, '52) in 151 markets Full proof of Mutual dominance is available on request. shared by MBS with 1, 2, and 3 other network stations. in 45 states ... distributed for accurate sampling of the low man

rate card in the business-and consistent is so geared to the current advertising Mister PLUS also stands for the one economy that its clients can continue network that traditionally offers the in all radio, Today especially, Mutual delivery of PLUS-values which no lowest-cost route to sales success to depend on the lowest-scaled other broadcasting network can match.

the Mutual network of 560 affiliates

... THE NUMBER ONE ROUTE TO NON-TY AMERICA... AND THE LOWEST-COST ROUTE TO ALL AMERICA

REGARDLESS of who is ELECTED PRESIDENT

"TWO FOR THE MONEY"

a Nau

TV QUIZ PROGRAM

Created by Goodson & Todman

Starring Fred Allen

Sponsored by ... Old Gold Cigarettes

Will Be Presented Over the NBC TV FACILITIES

Starting September 30th

JANE ACE

(DISK JOCKEY)

Telefilm's

"Roving Cameras"

(65 Complete Episodes)

Open Ends and Center For 10-Min. Time Ségment

An outstanding $8\frac{1}{2}$ minute show available to Stations for sustaining or sponsored programming.

Complete Production Facilities

Available for 16mm Commercials—T.V.—

and Commercial Motion Pictures

Full Information on Request - Write or Wire:

TELEFILM

• INCORPORATED •

Cl. . . 1020

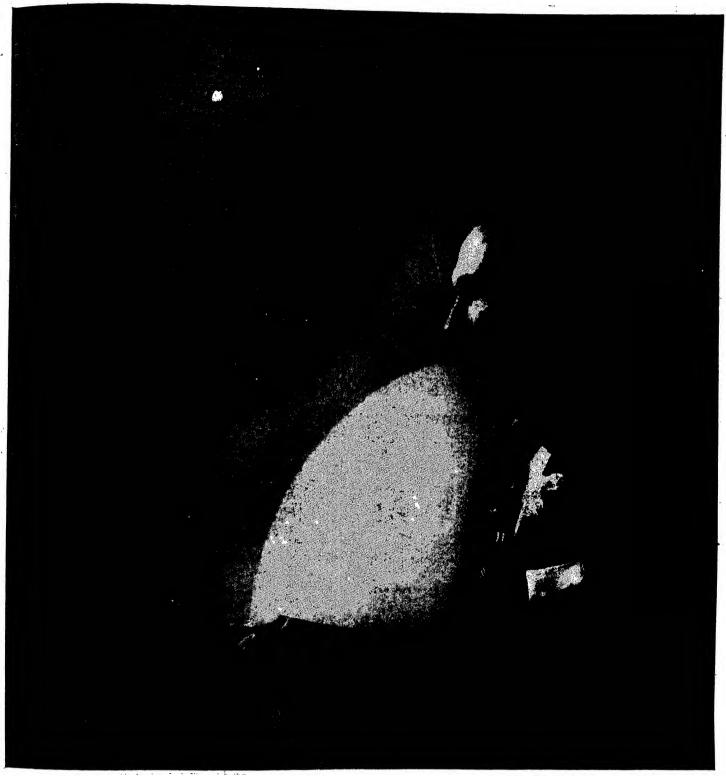

6039 Hollywood Blvd.

Hollywood 28, California

Phone HO. 9-7205

SATURDAYS AT 8 P.M. EDST

NBC

Photograph by RALPH STEINES

"It never occurred to me that my neckties might be a problem . . ."

Not only his neckties, but his shirts, gestures and state of health are of tremendous concern to John Cameron Swayze's regular viewers. Swayze, who started as a reporter and newscaster in Kansas City, must choose his accessories as carefully as he edits his script. Television's most decorated newsman, Swayze has won more awards for accuracy than a Swiss watch... including the coveted DuPont award. Formerly Director of News for NBC's Western network, Swayze's phenomenal memory and brisk showmanship first gained national prominence with his TV coverage of the 1948 presidential conventions. Now with his daily Camel News Caravan, television's highest rated news show, Swayze is one of the most-heard newsmen in the business.

As a keen interpretive reporter and knowledgeable showman, Swayze knows that 1952's big story is politics, and his first assignment, like that of 100 other NBC men of news, is to cover the conventions and the elections as they've never been covered before.

Swayze, Pearson, Kaltenborn, Mueller—these are a few of the outstanding reporters who make the NBC News Center pre-eminent in broadcasting. News reaches most Americans first through radio and television, and ratings prove that, day-to-day, more Americans prefer NBC as their primary news source on both radio and television. The reason is simple. NBC's news-gathering facilities are larger and more active, and NBC consistently broadcasts more hours of news, more special events than any other radio or television network.

Politics makes more than strange bedfellows. It makes exciting news, and in this, the most intense political campaign since 1932, more Americans will hear the news first and hear more of it from NBC.

NBC radio and television
a service of Radio Corporation of America

BERT LYTELL

FATHER BARBOUR
in Carlton Morse's Television Version of "ONE MAN'S FAMILY"
Sponsored by ALKA-SELTZER

JOHN REED KING ENTERPRISES, INC.

55 WEST 53rd STREET, NEW YORK COLUMBUS 5-0343

SALE #4 "PUD'S PRIZE PARTY" FOR FLEER'S DUBBLE BUBBLE GUM, ABC-TV

JACK MILLER

and His Orchestra

THE KATE SMITH HOUR

Monday thru Friday NBC-TV

HAL FRIEDMAN

Producer-Director

TO FOLLOW THE SUN with a message... hit every time zone—same day, same hour—straight across the country—to do all this efficiently, economically—USE FILM...

Complete information concerning film selection and processing available . . . also details concerning special Eastman technical services, equipment, and materials.

Address: Motion Picture Film Department, Eastman Kodak Company, Rochester 4, N. Y. East Coast Division, 342 Madison Avenue, New York 17, N. Y. Midwest Division, 137 North Wabash Avenue, Chicago 2, Illinois.

West Coast Division, 6706 Santa Monica Blvd., Hollywood 38, California.

DANNY THOMAS

of impressions at a few cents a thousand

For only 9 cents a thousand WHOM reaches Italian homes in the greaters New York area ... the lowest cost of any station broadcasting to the Italian radio audience. ... according to ADVERTEST RESEARCH which reached this conclusion after making an elaborate survey of listening habits in Italian homes....

WHOM 1480 on your dial • 5000 watts AM . FM The Il Progresse Station 136 W. 52 ST. N. Y. 19 . Cl rcle 6-3900

HENRY"", SYLVERN

MUSICAL DIRECTOR

"THIS IS SHOW BUSINESS"

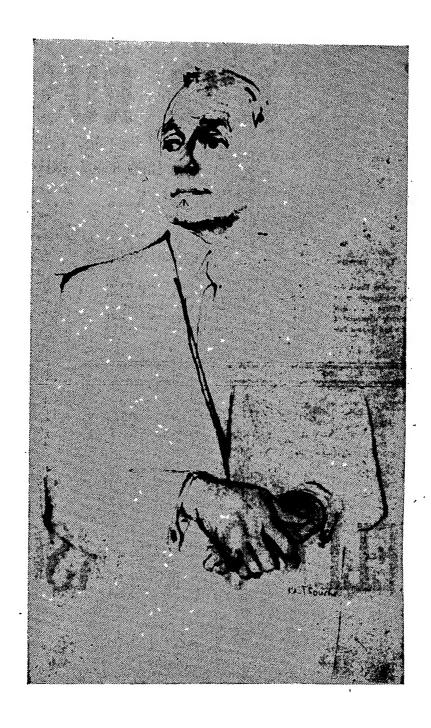

MURRAY HILL 8-6600

JOHN J. ANTHONY

MUTUAL BROADCASTING COMPANY

Sunday, 9:30-10:00 P.M.

For Ironized Yeast — Haley's M-O — Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder

THE ONLY 6 STAR PERFORMANCE IN HISTORY

★ M. C. ed

★ STAGED

★ DIRECTED

★ WROTE

* CHOREOGRAPHED

* MUSIC and LYRICS

From The Editorial In the LONG BEACH INDEPENDENT, Long Beach, California:

"As we sat in the auditorium Saturday night we were thrilled to see and hear the most entertaining and beautiful pageant we have ever attended in Long Beach. In our 37 years' residence in this city nothing ever approached the Miss Universe pageantry... The auditorium was packed. On two successive nights the audience sat for four hours each night without a moments boredom... The city council is now making up its budget for the next year... We know of no expenditure that would bring greater or better publicity to our city. It would be a sign we have really reached maturity."—L. A. C.

From the Editorial in the ATLANTIC CITY TRIBUNE, Atlantic City, New Jersey:

TRIBUTE TO GENIUS

"...he is a fine singer with a ready wit and a knack for appropriate introductions... To the girls in the competition he is coach, guide, bulwark, anchor and entertainer... Bob Russell's part in the production can't be properly appreciated without a look-see at rehearsal... as usual he had done a terrific job and he's been doing it every day since."

BOB RUSSELL

Just Concluded the "MISS UNIVERSE" PAGEANT In LONG BEACH. CALIFORNIA

GILBERT ROLAND Said:

"I've seen the greatest out here, but nothing to equal the job Bob Russell had done."

CATALINA, INC.
City of Long Beach
Pan American Airways
Universal-Internetional Studios
(Co Sponsors) Said:

"To Bob Russell fell the duty of holding the impatient audience for more than 4½ hours . . . He is a master entertainer, ad-libber and director . . . Results beyond our greatest expectations We don't know of anyone who could have equalled Russell in this spot."

MAYOR.B. W. CHACE Wrote: Long Beach, California:

"Terrific job . . . this is not an ordinary compliment. Because you were magnificent. We are sold on you and on the 'Miss Universe' pageants."

Direction
MIGNON SIMPSON
GAINSBOROUGH STUDIOS
222 Central Park South
New York 19, N. Y.
Phone: Circle 7-5600

LOUELLA O. PARSONS

CBS RADIO NETWORK

SPONSORED BY

LUSTRE CREME SHAMPOO

GOODSON-TODMAN PRODUCTIONS

Creative Programming for Radio and Television

49 East 52nd Street New York 22, N. Y.

MARK GOODSON

BILL TODMAN

"MAM.

THIS is the Hansen family. The Hansen family plays a fresh story every Friday night at 8:00 on CBS TV, from New York (where the program is enacted) to San Francisco (where the original Hansen family lived). The actors are Peggy Wood (Mama); Judson Laire (Papa); Rosemary Rice (Katrin); Dick Van Patten (Nels); Robin Morgan (Dagmar); Ruth Gates (Aunt Jenny). Carol Irwin produces "Mama"; Ralph Nelson directs it; Frank Gabrielson supervises the scripts. Iss good to remember.

Consistently The Top Rated Local TV Show on the West Coast!

SPADE COOLEY

Sponsored by

Chesterfield

lpana

Anacin

American Home Food Products

Boyle-Midway

And we're proud as punch that our one-hour show has been telecast every single Saturday (over KTLA-Paramount Television) for almost four solid years!

WORLD FAMOUS

SANTA MONICA BALLROOM Santa Monica, Calif.

Decca Records — Standard Transcriptions

WALT FRAMER

Produces

Nine Solid Hours Weekly Top-Rated TV-Radio Shows

"STRIKE

CBS-TV

WEDNESDAYS 9:00 P.M.

NBC-RADIO MONDAY THRU FRIDAY....11:00 A.M.

"THE BIG PAY-O

NBC-TV

SUNDAYS 8:00 F.M.

TV and Radio Shows with "HEART INTEREST"

WALT FRAMER

123 West 44th Street New York 36, N. Y.

PLAZA 7-0800

James C. Petrillo

President

AMERICAN FEDERATION OF MUSICIANS

DOROTHY KILGALLEN and DICK KOLMAR

"WHAT'S MY LINE?"

"BREAKFAST WITH DOROTHY AND DICK"

"GUESS WHAT?"

Mary Margaret McBride

Exclusive Management:
ESTELLA
H.
KARN
49 West 45th Street

New York City

MEMO: COLLECTOR OF INTERNAL REVENUE

Dear Sir:

Recently we have played engagements at the MAYFLOWER HOTEL.......Plymouth, Mass.

LAKE TARLETON CLUB...........Pike, N. H. and soon must head cross country to

Hal Braudis' Thunderbird Hotel in Las Vegas, Nevada.

We would like to know this—may we list the PULLMAN COMPANY as a dependent?

Hopefully,

Nelle Fisher and Jerry Ross

Personal Management:

JACK VAUGHAN & PEGGIE GATES

13 half-hour Telepix now ready for national sponsorship or syndication!

RENFREW OF THE MOUNTED"

AN ACTION-PACKED TV SERIES THAT IS A "NATURAL" FOR PRODUCT PROMOTION!

Renfrew of the Mounted LIVES!

Renfrew is no story-book hero of the past but is regularly featured in today's headlines...a symbol of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, the world's most modern, colorful and publicized police force.

Renfrew is WHOLESOME entertainment!

Renfrew outsmarts the craftiest of criminals without resorting to violence or trickery. This is a TV series that is packed with thrills, mystery and action yet is completely wholesome and digestible.

Renfrew is a FAMILY hero!

Surveys show that Renfrew fans include as many adults as children. This is attributed to a careful formula compounding a hero capable of withstanding the critical accuracy of the modern adventure fan.

Renfrew has a READY MADE audience!

Renfrew has become one of the best known and liked fiction characters of modern times. He is the only Canadian Mounted Police hero popularized in this country through books, short stories, radio, pictures and TV.

Writel Wirel Phonel

M&A ALEXANDER PRODUCTIONS, Inc.

6040 Sunset Boulevard Hollywood 28, California Hillside 3414

ROBERT MONTGOMERY

Presents

"YOUR LUCKY STRIKE THEATRE"

"THE JOHNSON'S WAX PROGRAM"

JOHNNY OLSEN

Now Facing the TV Cameras for the 8th Consecutive Year

Johnny Olsen's RUMPUS ROOM
DAILY ON DUMONT

KIDS and COMPANY
SATURDAYS ON DUMONT

Working Right thru the Summer
ALSO HEARD ON RADIO AND RECORDS

Soprano, Metropolitan Opera Association Operatic Queen of Television (NBC Show of Shows)

Personal Manager: J. GRAYES McDONALD 430 East 63rd Street, New York

TEmpleton 8-3629

My appreciation

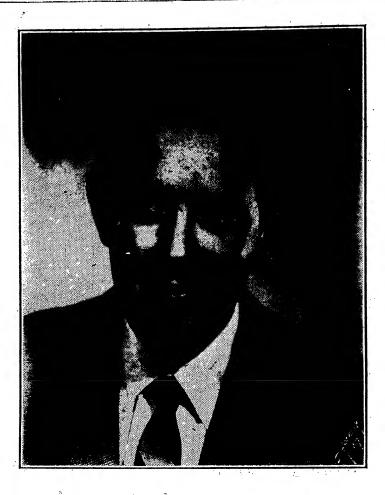

To Procter & Gamble and Compton Advertising, Inc.

My thanks

To the many devoted and tireless friends of production staff and crew.

They are the best!

Kanshistar

Starring on CBS-Radio's "MUSICLAND, U.S.A." FRIDAYS, 8:00 - 9:00 P.M., E.D.S.T.

EARL WRIGHTSON

RCA-VICTOR RECORDS

Personal Management: JACK BERTELL New York 19, N .Y. 4 West 58th Street

Associate: DON COPLIN

STEVE ALLEN

Management: JAMES L. SAPHIER AGENCY, INC.

NOW AVAILABLE!

ROCKY JONES - SPACE RANGER

Starring

RICHARD CRANE

from the Producers of...

TROUBLE WITH FATHER MYSTERY THEATHE

Starring STU ERWIN

Sponsored by GENERAL MILLS

Starring TOM CONWAY Sponsored by STERLING DRUGS

BEULAH

Starring LOUISE BEAVERS

Sponsored by PROCTER & GAMBLE

MY LITTLE MARGIE

Starring GALE STORM and CHARLES FARRELL Sponsored by PHILIP MORRIS

Also Producers of COMMERCIAL and INDUSTRIAL TV FILMS

ROLAND REED PRODUCTIONS, INC.

275 S. Beverly Dr.

Beverly Hills

CRestview 6-1101

AN AMERICAN INSTITUTION

Original
AMATEIR HOUR
TED MACK

PRODUCED BY

THE MAJOR BOWES STAFF

5th YEAR
ON T-V

COAST TO COAST!

18th YEAR ON RADIO

COAST TO COAST!

18th YEAR
ON The ROAD

= EVERYWHERE =

TED MACK'S AMATEURS ON TOUR

Publicity DAVID ALBER

JAN MURRAY

Star of

"Meet Your Match"

TUESDAYS

NBC NETWORK, 9:00-9:30 P.M., E.D.S.T.

Currently Headlining

PARAMOUNT, NEW YORK

Management JACK BERTELL

Bookings M.C.A.

ONE MAN'S FAMILY

Broadcast Over NBC Monday through Friday for MILES LABORATORIES

ONE MAN'S FAMILY

Televised Over NBC-TV Every Saturday Evening for MILES LABORATORIES

I LOVE A MYSTERY

Broadcast Monday through Friday for CO-OPERATIVE SPONSORS

THE WOMAN IN MY HOUSE

Broadcast Monday through Friday, NBC for SWEETHEART SOAP

CARLTON E. MORSE

PRODUCTIONS HOLLYWOOD

NEW YORK

Norman and Irving Pincus

TELEVISION PRODUCERS

101 West 55th Street, New York City

Ellery Queen

Mr. I. Magination

Authors' League Theatre

MARJORIE GATESON

Currently

MOTHER BARBOUR
"ONE MAN'S FAMILY," NBC-TV

There's Only One

FRANK DeVOL

CONDUCTOR

ARRANGER

COMPOSER

M.C.

COMEDIAN

5th Season on CBS-Tide Show

"The Frank DeVol Show" on KTTV (DuMont)
Every Saturday Night

"MUSIC OF THE CENTURY" Dance Band

Publicity BOB WEISS

Agent M.C.A.

JAY Marshall

Should Have His Own TV Show

Signed

MARK LEDDY

JAY MARSHALL

Management: Mark Leddy

> Leon Newman 48 West 48th St., New York 19 JUdson 6-2760

Meet your BEST CUSTOMER

Who is he? He's the American Farmer, the current American capitalist. He's the real owner of his own business—and farming is big business today.

He makes a lot, he saves a lot, he spends a lot. He's your best prospective custamer.

One-tenth of all these prosperous prospects for your product live in WLW-Land — One-tenth of America. The best way to reach them is by Radio ... and the most effective and economical radio in this area is WLW.

The full story of "Your Best Customer" — all the facts and figures—is on film. Ask to see it.

REgent 7-9200

Producers of

TELE-DISCS—distributed by United Artists, maintains New York's largest independent studios for complete motion picture production—from script to finished film—in the past year over 200 films for TV advertisers.

WLW The Nation: Station .

SID CAESAR – IMOGENE COCA – MAX LIEBMAN
"YOUR SHOW OF SHOWS"
NBC-TV

4th Season Commencing Saturday Sept. 6th

Jackie Gleason's fracturing us on tour!

BUSHKIN

and his quartet

with

IOE IONES

BUCK CLAYTON

MILT HINTON

HAPPY ADVERTISERS are our BUSINESS

In June an advertiser wrote WGN-TV:

"...our telecast exceeded our expectations as to returns. Our product is somewhat seasonal, and April and May are usually our dullest months in the year from the standpoint of sales. Orders received as a result of our telecast brought our cost per dollar order down to 14.2c. We also received an increase in sales during the last week in May which was attributable to the telecast."

Hes...happy advertisers are our business...

Buy WGN-TV in Chicago... you'll be happy you did

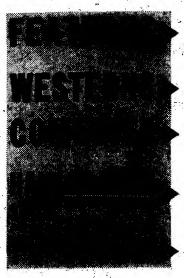

The Chicago Tribune Telebision Station

Atlas elevision Corp

Murray Hill 7-5535

VSensible prices VAudience Appeal √High Quality VTop Ratings √ Efficient Service

for TELEVISION

37 BRITISH PRODUCED INTERNATIONAL FFA Sters, AMERICAN FEATURES — Dyama—Adventure — Myster, —Comedy, A sound buy,

FILMS

FULL LENGTH or HALP HOUR VERSIONS Tem Tyler, Gabby Hayes, Jack Perrin, Lane Chandler, Bab Guster, etc.

350-15 MINUTE or TWO
REEL YERSIONS
Teyriffic Sales results. Specially for CH IL DREN'S SHOWS—also ADULT IN TERTAINMENT. Top Start
Top Rafings. In Hour Length
as COMEDY CARNIVALS.

HILLARIOUS HALF

LIBRARY OF 100

(4th Street , • New York 36, New York

HOPE YOU'VE ENJOYED OUR

PHILIP MORRIS

COMMERCIALS .

"I LOVE LUCY"

LET OUR TELEVISION EXPERIENCE SERVE YOU, TOO!

Dudley Television Corporation 9908 Santa Monica Blvd., Beverly Hills PHONE: CR 1-7258

> Television and Radio Productions

JERRY LAYTON ASSOCIATES,

New York 17, N. Y. 551 Fifth Ave. MUrray Hill 7-6320

Starring

AMERICA'S FAVORITE SON!

Featuring

with • David Rose • Jimmy Wallington And an all-star supporting cast!

> NOTE: CAPTURIA

THE SPIRIT,

THE DRAMA AND

THE EXCITEMENT

OF THE U.S. SENATE AT WORK!

THE MOST TIMELY AND IMPORTANT PROGRAM ON THE AIR TODAY!

- SUPERR MUSIC BRILLIANT SCRIPTS
- EACH HALF-HOUR

TRANSCRIBED FOR LOCAL AND REGIONAL SPONSORSHIP

THE NON-PARTISAN INSIDE STORY OF WASHINGTON, D.C.

ator Dear Edward

1529 MADISON ROAD · CINCINNATI 6 OHIO

OUR LATEST 16-

"NEW FACES OF 1952"

DICK and EDITH

OF ALL MUSICAL NUMBERS

also in 1952 ...

"RINGLING BROS. BARNUM and BAILEY CIRCUS" Directed — Staged and Chereographed

"SHOOTING HIGH"—Revue Palmer House, Chicago Written, Directed and Choreographed

"DOROTHY LAMOUR"-"Smashed Records"

-Roxy, N. Y.

Act Written — Directed — and Stuged

Cecil B. De Mille's-Film Epic-"GREATEST SHOW ON EARTH" Choreography and Special Staging

OH Yes - and TELEVISION too -

Nate Gross says-"THE TOP BROTHER AND SISTER TEAM IN VIDEO"

Direction: WILLIAM MORRIS AGENCY-

Profitable TV Audience exclusive with

Maria William South Bearing to Soll office to 18/4

LANCASTER, PENNA

Only TV station a nonly TV

Represented by

ROBERT MEEKER ASSOCIATES

COSTUMES TELEVISION

n experienced personnel with special raining are available to give you im ite rental charges.

BROOKS COSTUMES ARE ON EVERY TV CHANNEL EVERY DAY

Talavisian's Official Costumer

BROOKS

COSTUM'E CO

Yelephone PL 7-5800

4 Reasons Why

Jewish Market of Metropolitan New York

 Inherent listener ...
 Potential buying per Send for a copy of WHO'S WHO ON WEVD

"REMAINS TO BE SEEN" CLINTON, MASS.

Coral Recording Artist
Direction: MCA

New starring on MRC's ALL STAR REVUE

A REMINDER!

Westerns, Features, Travel, Novelties FOR TV

Telecast Films, Inc.

New York 36, N. Y.

JUDSON 4-5488

TELEVISION PLAYHOUSE

Sunday, NBC-TV

FRED COE Producer

GORDON DUFF Associate Producer

DELBERT MANN Director

VINCENT J. DONEHUE Director

ORACE

Guest Appearances

Lux Theatre Tales of To-Morrow Not for Publication Crime Syndicate

Texaco Star Theatre Ed Sullivan's Show Ken Murray Show

RADIO

Philip Morris Spotlight

THEATRES

Comerford Theatres Olympia, Miami

Direction: LOUIS SHURR OFFICE

Television's Most Exciting New Panel Show

'MASQUERADE PARTY'

Summer Premiere

SPEIDEL

NBC-TV on Mondays at 8 P.M.

M.C.
Bud Collyer
Panel
Peter Donald lika Chase
John S. Young

Wolf Associates 420 Medison Avenue New York City, N. Y.

EYES TIRED? . . .

. . . Then Close Them and Hear

MEREDITH WILLSON

AND GUESTS IN HIS

"Music Room"

WITH THE LONG AND SHORT OF IT

ON NBC (RADIO—THAT IS)

EVERY SUNDAY AT 8 P.M. (EDT)

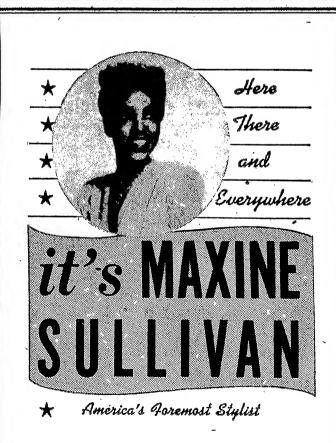

FOR RCA-VICTOR

Exclusive Management
MARTIN GOODMAN
65 West 54th Street
New York City

Sincerely Yours,

ARLENE FRANCIS

RADIO-T.V. — NITE CUBS — VAUDEVILLE THEATRES — PICTURES

Direction: GALE AGENCY, 48 W. 48th St., New York City

Your Lucky Strike Hit Parade

presents to all our friends during our 8-week hiatus a special summer service!

Your Lucky 7 tunes that you would have heard last week as determined by Your Hit Parade Survey, which checks the best sellers in sheet music and phonograph recerds, the songs most heard on the air and most played on the automatic.

coin machines. 1. KISS OF FIRE

2. Blue Tango

3. DELICADO

4. I'M YOURS

5. WALKIN' MY BABY

6. Here In My Heart

7. BE ANYTHING

Look for this listing every week. We'll be back on Radio—AUGUST 29 TV-AUGUST 30

ON TV-"Your Hit Parade"... starring Eileen Wilson, Snooky Lanson, Dorothy Collins and Raymond Scott. Back on the air Saturday, August 30.

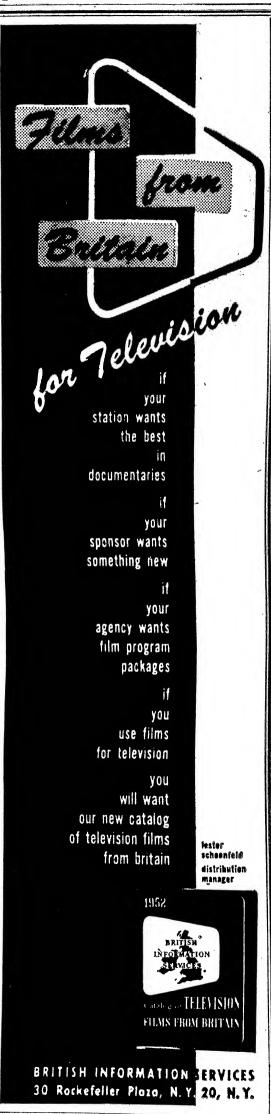

CIGARETT

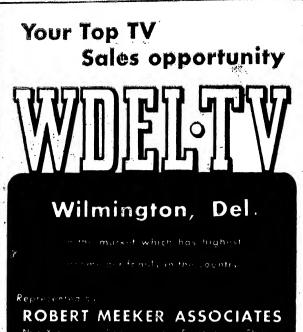

See your Lucky Strike Hit Parade Summer TV replacement

Saturdays at 10:30 P.M., NBC Television Network

MFFT VICTIM

26 fifteen minute tv film invsteries

STERLING TELEVISION CO., INC.

316 W. 57TH STREET, NEW YORK 19, N. Y. JU. 6-3750

We Sell We Rent We Service

35mm-16mm Mitcheil, Bell & Howell, Maurer, Arriflex cameras

DOLLIES 000

Manufacturers of Balanced TV Tripod Head

TV GROUND GLASS ... for Mitchell Standard, N. C., Bell & Howell 35mm cameras. Shows TV alignment. Outlines active receiving area and Academy (sound) aperture.

Griswold HOT SPLICERS! . . . $65. Your Griswold Splicer, Models R2 and R3, CAMERAS

MOVIOLAS

converted to hot splicer $40.

Expert factory repairs. We mount lenses.

There are very few situation comedies in television today and their quality is admittedly poor. Most shows depend primarily on the revue, burlesque, night club and vaudeville show for its comedy. 'Slaproutines for its comedy. 'Slap-stick' has become the order of the day, because situation comedy, the most difficult of all productions in comedy presenta-tion, must enjoy the security of filming in order to maintain a constant high standard

Local stations must depend upon their mother network in order to supply their area with high caliber, up to date, shows. This practice has proven to be very taxing on the facilities of the local stations.

Before the advent of "Poor Charlie" few, if any, producers had conceived or attempted to invade the film field with a situation comedy made specifically for the local stations and within a price range that would be profitable in each individual market area.

We believe that "Poor Charlie" can reverse this trend, and even set a pattern for all future situation comedies on television. The time is coming shortly, it may be quite soon, when vaude-ville will have been so over-worked that it will die a second death, and this time television, not the movies, will have killed it. The trend will then move, as it did in radio, towards the situation comedy.

"Poor Charlie" combining as it does comedy, music and oc-casionally pathos, is the ideal show to meet that coming trend.

POOR CHARLIE INC. 166 West 75th Street New York 23, N. Y. EN 2-5489

A timely TV first!

OLYMPIC CAVALCADE

A 55-minute documentary of the great 1936 Olympics in Berlin.

Narrated by BILL SCATER. Scored with powerful music.

America's immortal athletes filmed by over 600 cameramen!

The greatest sport scenes ever filmed.

WCBS bought it Immediately. .

For details phone or wire:

United Television Programs, Inc.

444 Madison Ave., New York City PLaza 3-4620

360 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago CEntral 6-0041 740 N. La Brea Ave., Hollywood Webster 8-9181

RETURNING IN FALL TO

Hotel Roosevelt, New York

Next Spring

THIRD ANNUAL CONCERT TOUR

DECCA RECORDS

RADIO:

LUCKY STRIKE'S 'YOUR HIT PARADE,' NBC, FRIDAYS' and F. W. ZIV'S TRANSCRIBED 'GUY LOMBARDO SHOW'

Publicity: DAVID O. ALBER ASSOCIATES, INC.; Gene Shefrin

Exclusive Management

MUSIC CORPORATION
OF AMERICA

CIRCLING THE KILOCYCLES

Worthington, O.—Harry Bruce, member of WRPD's sales staff formerly performed by Paine, in since 1949, has been named stations sales manager. Bruce formerly worked for WOSU and was a disk jock-announcer for WCOL before Johning the Peoples Broadcasting Corp. station.

Memphis—Larry Higgins, former w.k. Miami disk jockey, has been added to the WHHM staff here in a similar role. Prior to joining the Dallas—George K. Utley has been upped to commercial manager of WFAA, the Dallas Morning News' 50,000-watt AM outlet, according to station manager Alex Keese. New post puts Utley in charge of local, regional and national sales, with Ted de Hay assisting on national sales.

Minneapolis—Phil Lewis, WCCO staff member since 1947, has been upped by general manager Gene Wilkey of the GBS owned radio station here from assistant sales manager to sales manager. He succeeds Roy W. Hall who becomes account executive with the CBS Network Television Sales in New York.

Memphis—Larry Higgins, former w.k. Miami disk jockey, has been added to the WHHM staff here in a similar role. Prior to joining the Memphis indie, Higgins handled several shows for WWPB. Miami and WMIE along Miami Beach. In addition to his daily d.j. stints here, he is also doing several newscasts and sports shows.

Bloomington — Elmer G. Sulzer, U. of Kentucky radio chief, has been named director of radio-TV broadcasting at Indiana U. He'll take charge of all radio and TV shows originating from the campuses here and at Indianapolis and from the nine adult education centres throughout Indiana. He'll also manage WFIU, the university's FM station.

Television Sales in New York.

Schenectady—Caleb Paine, former program supervisor for WGY, has been appointed to the new post of director of public service for the General Electric radio outlet as well as for the company's WRCB-TV, Ray W. Welpott, manager of stations' operations, and nounced. Bernard S. Krause, supervisor of science broadcasting tivities, which also were carried by four local radio stations.

James E. McGovern, who recently resigned as local WDGY radio station news director, has been named news director of CBS affiliate station WISN, Milwaukee.

Dicker for Web, Sponsor On Sugar Bowl Telecast Paralysis Fund Benef New Orleans, July 15

San Antonio—Edward V. Cheviot, advertising executive, has been appointed commercial manager in charge of Television sales for WOAI-TV, effective July 24. He succeeds Jerry Lee, who has resigned Announcement of the appointment was made by Arden X-pangborn, general manager of WOAI and WOAI-TV.

Paris, Tex.—Fred Kincaid, manager of KPLT here, has been named prez of the North Star Broadcasting Co., owners of the outlet. Boyd Kelley, now manager of KPRN, Wichita Falls, has been named veepee, and Lewis Selbert, manager of KGKL, San Angelo, was named secretary-treasurer.

Kincaid came here as manager on Sept. 1, 1950, from KRLD, Dallas.

Dallas—George K. Utley has been named commercial manager of WFAA here. Utley will be in charge of local, regional and national sales. Teddy Hay will be Utley's assistant on national sales.

Dallas — Ward M. Wilcox has been named a veepee of Glenn Advertising and will head the Dallas office, Agency now main-tains offices also in Fort Worth and Los Angeles.

On Sugar Bowl Telecast; Paralysis Fund Benefits

New Orleans, July 15.
The Sugar Bowl football classic will be televised over a nationwide hookup for the first time next Jan.
1, Irwin Poche, president of the Mid-Winter Sports Association, sponsors, said Friday (11). Negotiations now under way for both sponsors, said Friday (11). Regional consors, said Friday (11). The bowl game has been televised locally since its inception. The coaxial cable, which added New Orleans to the national network on July 1, will make the national telecast possible.

Poche said the added income from the saie of the TV rights will assure participating teams and conferences greater revenue. Maryland and Tennessee each got $126,232.47$ last winter.

He added that the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis will receive a portion of the fees received from radio and TV rights.

The game will be advanced to 1 p. m. from 2:15 p. m., the former starting time, "to obtain complete clearance on the air and the microwaves," Poche also said.

waves," Poche also said.

Keene, N. H.—Recently added to the announcing staff of WKNE is Joe Sabla. Before coming to WKNE, Sabla was program direc-tor at WHOB, Gardner, Mass.

Conn. TV Blanket Due Soon by FCC OK on UHF, VHF

Hartford, July 15. By start of the new year, Connecticut will be blanketed by TV etherings by four new stations and one VHF. The four UHF's were authorized by the FCC last Friday (11). The VHF, WNHC-TV of New Haven, has been in operation for several years.

Haven, has been in operation for several years.

Two of the UHF stations are in Connecticut. The other two are in southern Massachusetts. They will service the northern part of Connecticut. Station WKNB of New Britain and the Southern Connecticut and Long Island Television Co., Inc., are owners of the new Connecticut outlets. Former will operate on Channel 30 in New Britain and umbrella-cover Central Connecticut. The S. C. & LI. TV. will operate on channel 43 in Bridgeport and give UHF coverage in the state's southern part. The two Massachusetts stations are in the Springfield-Holyoke area. All four have indicated they will try to get on the air by Jan. 1, if possible. All have equipment on order.

Springfield Television Broad-carting Comp. will other two datasets.

on order.

Springfield Television Broadcasting Corp. will use channel 61.

Its transmitter will be on Mt. Tom in Northampton. It will use some studio facilities of WSPR in Springfield. The other permit in the area was given to Hampden-Hampshire, Inc., which will use channel 55. The company, which operates radio station WHYN, with transmitter in Holyoke, its owned by two newspapers—Holyoke Transcript-Telegram and Dally Hampshire Gazette of Northhampton.

WKBN is owned by the Britain Broadcasting Co., whose president is Julian Gross, Hartford advertising man. It will be the first TV station to hit the Hartford market. Although the permit is for a New Britain station, the transmitter will be located at Berlin, only nine miles from Hartford and 2½ miles from New Britain. Station may be the first of the four to go on the air, by Nov. 1, although a Jan. 1 date has been set. Peter Kenney, manager of WKNB, will double as manager of the TV outlet. WKBN is owned by the Britain

Suddenness of the FCC decisions left the New Britain outfit without definite plans for network affiliations. Ty'er will probably operate on a short-term CBS arrangement. NBC has several ties with WNHC-AM and WNHC-TV in New Haven, making that net unavailable. Full tie with CBS probably won't be made, because of a Hartford situation. Here the CBS outlet, WDRC, has applied for VHF and will be engaged in a dog-and-cat fight for channel 3 with two other outfits. One is WTIC and the other the huge construction firm, McGraw Construction from, McGraw Construction for suit of that contest hirliges a permanent CBS tie.

New Britain Broadcasting Co. approximations of the contest in the contest of t manent CBS tie.

New Britain Broadcasting Co. applied for VHF in 1947. This spring, outfit asked for the sole UHF charnel for New Britain. Its application was revised about a month ago. Estimated cost to put the New Britain (Hartford) TV'er in operation has been set at $500,000.

REHEARSAL HALL

8,000 Sq. Ft. Heart of B'way used by the Philoo Playhouse for the past three years, now available 5 or 8 days weekly from 10 A.M. to 5 P.M. Call

Judson 2-1937 het. 10 A.M. to 4 P.M

PITCHMAN - TYPE TY ANNOUNCER

wanted by national advertiser. Finoportunity for big money in isading the control of the control

154 W. 46th St. New York 36, N. Y.

RADIO MUSIC QUIZ

Who does the music for "Top Guy"-ABC Fri. at 8:00 p.m.

See Page 98

USIC AND SPO

happened on the baseball diamond-in the prize ring-on the gridiron—and elsewhere—to the great, the near-great, and the unknowns who played the game and played to win-often when there was more at stake than just the game itself.

> A complete script package featuring your own talent with records . . . available three times weekly as a 15-minute presentation.

YOU'RE SAFE IN USING BMI CONTINUITY

TEEN AGE BOOK PARADE

Sparkling and appealing 15-minute scripts available on a three times weekly schedule ... Brings to your audience a series of distinguished reviews by America's outstanding book critics. Slanted to the teen-ager but captures the adult as well.

ACCORDING TO THE RECORD

Timely facts about the unusual, with musical cues that fit neatly into a dynamic 5-minute show. Available seven times per week for 52 weeks. Now in its 8th successful year. MAK

YOUR CONCERT HALL

The finest in concert music presented as a series of full-hour programs, three times weekly. Authoritative scripts which make concert music popular music. Supplemented by "TODAY IN MUSIC"—dates and facts about the important music events of the

SPECIAL EVENT SCRIPTS

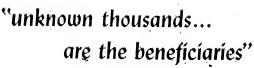

Complete half-hour programs based on periodic national events... timely and ef-fective supplements to the "According to the Record" series.

BMI CONTINUITIES are a regular service to BMI-licensees at no cost. They are designed as practical programs and may be used as commercial or sustain-

TO INSURE your receiving "STORIES FROM THE SPORIS RECORD" and other BMI scripts regularly, simply send your request to BMI's Continuity Department.

BROADCAST MUSIC, INC.

580 FIFTH AVENUE NEW YORK 36 7

...E. ROLAND HARRIMAN

Pres., Nat'l American Red Cross, Wash. D.C.

Congressional Record

PROCEEDINGS AND DEBATES OF THE $2 CONGRESS, SECOND SESSIO

Na 54

Eddie Cantor Assists Red Cross Blood Plasma Drive

WASHINGTON, PRIDAY, MAY 14, 1952

EXTENSION OF REMARKS

OF

HON. B. W. (PAT) KEARNEY

OF NEW YORK

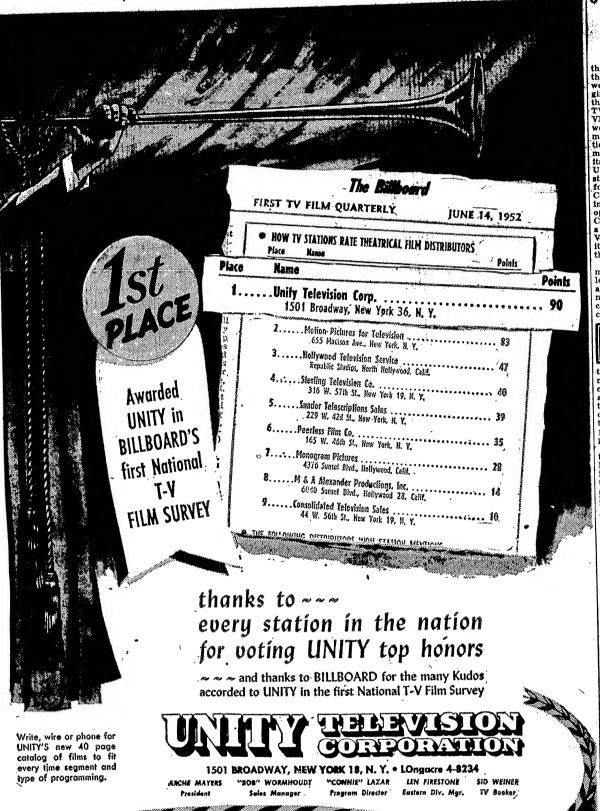

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, May 16, 1952

Mr. KEARNEY. Mr. Speaker, our Nation is engaged in a drive to replenish the blood-plasma reserves of our Armed Forces, which were depleted by the extensive use of plasma for our casualties in Korea. A gigantic goal of 300,000 pints of blood per month is necessary to meet future needs and at the same time continue the flow of whole blood to Korea for current needs.

I have just learned of the valiant assistance being given to the American Red Cross in this program by Mr. Eddie Cantor. He has just completed a tour of seven major cities where he gave his one-man show for blood donors only. It has been estimated by Red Cross officials that this effort resulted in the donation of nearly 100,000 pints of blood. He is now campaigning for blood on the Pacific coast.

Mr. Cantor says that he made this trip to repay part of his debt to America. He has never forgotten that he began life in a tenement on the lower East Side of New York City and that in no other country in the world would it have been possible for him to have had such a successful career.

Noted for his aid to patriotic and philanthropic causes, coining of the slogans "The March of Dimes," and "Gifts for a Yank Who Gave," Mr. Cantor celebrates his forty-third anniversary in show business on Sunday, May 18. It seems a fitting occasion to record here the appreciation of the many who have benefited through the patriotic efforts of Eddie Cantor.

3 Denver Grants Biggest Surprise

Washington, July 15.

Biggest surprise in the TV authorizations granted last week by the FCC was that three permits were issued in Denver, largest virgin TV area in the country. Until the day before the agency took up TV applications, three of the four VHF channels assigned to Denverwere contested and only one permit could be issued—to radio station KFEL. However, at the last minute, Empire Coil Co. amended its application for channel 9 to UHF channel 26. This left radio station KVOD as the only applicant for channel 9 and enabled the Commission to issue three permits instead of one. Empire Coil, which operates TV station WXEL in Cleveland, evidently believes that a UHF station now is better than a VHF later, perhaps much later, if it can beat out the competition for the channel.

the channel.

Issuance of a permit to Empire means that Denver will have at least five commercial TV stations, as there are still two VHF channels tied up. There's also a UHF channel going begging and an educational.

Photographed

Continued from page 55 =

that of motion pictures. Direction that of motion pictures. Direction requires a change of pace. More closeups, less extravaganza shots, are the order. Timed action so that the "breaks" for commercials can be appropriately placed and the picture properly edited for its particular length presents more problems.

Editing is much more difficult too. Motion pictures may run any length because it is relatively unionportant as long as the story is told. But the time limit becomes a great issue on television, and if a half-hour story, for example, must be finished with credits in 26 minutes and 25 seconds, and built in such a way as to allow an intermission in the middle for the sponsor's message, it must be edited on that basis with extreme particularity.

In the story writing, however.

sor's message, it must be edited on that basis with extreme particularity.

In the story writing, however, there is the greatest difference. In a regular motion picture one can concentrate on the plot undisturbed. During the program of a television story, however, the viewer may be distracted by the phone, conversation or other factors, thereby missing some essential portions of an already shortened plot and losing the nucleus of the basic idea. It is, therefore, necessary to plant the story more firmly so that even if any dialog be missed, the viewer may follow it for he will be using his selectivity prerogative. It thus becomes essential both to be repetitious within a very short period of time to instill a story idea, and at the same time to do whatever is required to hold the audience from turning of or away from the show.

WTIX in New Setup

New Orleans, July 15.

WTIX began operations Friday
(11) from new, enlarged studios and quarters on Canal St., the city's main stem. Station, formerly located in a temporary structure in the suburban area, is now centered in the civic, business and entertainment heart of the city.
Hugh Wilkinson, Jr., is president of the station, the city's lith, and Pat Shannon, general manager.

LAWRENCE and

ON THE AIR

... and getting RESULTS!

COMMERCIALS

64

NATIONAL SCREEN SERVICE

THE ADVERTISER

"ENNDS" Chlorophyll Tablets and EYE-GENE Eye Drops

THE AGENCY

Harry B. Cohen Advertising Company, Inc.

THE PRODUCER

National Screen Service

The Salesmanship of Showmanship is being proved every day...on your Television screen!

Look at the "ENNDS" Commercials on "LIGHTS OUT" via NBC.

Look at them again on "POLICE STORY", via CBS.

See for yourself why these successful advertisers use National Screen Service to tell the dramatic story of "ENNDS", the popular; chlorophyll tablets.

LOOK at the RECORD . . . and discover why National Screen's more than 30 years of producing the motion picture industry's TRAILERS . . . their foremost advertising medium . . . has everything YOU need to create the finest, salesproducing TV-FILM COMMERCIALS!

Join the advertisers and agencies who KNOW that the Specialists in producing ADVERTISING-ON-FILM... are at NATIONAL SCREEN SERVICE!

NATIONAL SCREEN SERVICE :

NEW YORK 1600 BROADWAY, CIRCLE 6-5700 HOLLYWOOD - 7026 SANTA MONICA BLVD., GLADSTONE 3136

Credentials Snag

before the convention, the first 225, men want a camera stand set deadradio tickets arrived. Then 225 television tickets were delivered, and also 450 badgets, so that men could get into the auditorium at the International Amphitheatre. This, of course, left the situation up in the air until some extra general seat tickets and convention employee tickets—not good for the auditorium—were delivered.

auditorium—were delivered.

Trouble with the employee tickets was that they would get-people only into the wings and not into the main auditorium where the convention was being held.

Networks and major stations which brought large crews and large quantities of equipment to Chicago are using this between-the-conventions week for house-keeping, getting out the bugs which developed during the Republican show and for planning to improve their coverage.

Webs have demanded, and expect center facing the convention pos-trum, and built up from the floor. Difficulty is that some seats, allo-cated to alternate delegates, would have to be eliminated.

have to be eliminated.

Nets, the Clear Channel Broadcasters and one or two other outfits have elaborate strings of temporary studios, control rooms, offices, etc., in one wing of the convention hall. They are wired and filled with equipment. Rooms are locked up except for mechanics trying to improve the setups. About half the net staffs have been shipped home until next weekend. But the webs are keeping their hotel working quarters in the Conrad Hilton because these, too, are wired and contain much equipment.

Skeleton news and feature staffs

Skeleton news and feature staffs are remaining in Chicago to handle the pre-convention story for the Democrats.

improve their coverage.

Webs have demanded, and expect to receive, another TV camerastand in the convention hall. Some distortion developed last week because all cameras were on an angle, set on platforms built out from the side balconies. Video spokes-

600G N. Y.-CANADA COIN FOR 52 VIDPIC SERIES

Hollywood, July 15.

N. Y. and Canadian angels are bankrolling Television Varieties, Inc., to the time of $400,000 for a series of 52 telepix, with attorney Max Fink secretary-treasurer of the company, and Herman Webber producer.

Webber is now in Europe shoot-background footage for telepix, which will have a circus theme. Fink leaves this week to join him on the Continent, and will return in 30 days.

Webber returns to the U. S. end of the year, to complete the series

Cleveland—Sidney Andorn has rounded out 17 years on the air with his "Man-About-Broadcasting" now heard on WERE... Bruce Charles back on WHK announcing staff after army stint... White Sewing Machine has signed the five-minute 6:30 p.m. "Tunes and Cartunes." featuring caricaturist Dick Dugan; pianist Cynthia Parkick Dugan; pianist Cynthia P tracts, voted to honor the RWG picket lines before the network homeoffices and studios. NBC-TV will have a number of labor delegates present, who undoubtedly newsmen are covered by a contract negotiated June. 30 by the Authors League of America. Pact, however, contains a clause that no TV newsman can be penalized for honoring a picket line set up by nomeonices and studies. NBC-TV newsmen are covered by a contract negotiated June. 30 by the Authors League of America. Pact, however, contains a clause that no TV newsman can be pensilized for honoring a picket line set up by any ALA union.

RWG Strike

An illustration of the contract of the contr

honoring a picket line set up by any. ALA union.

An illustration of what might lie in store for the Demos at Chicago occurred Sunday (13), when W. Averill Harriman, one of the leading Demo Presidential candidates, inadvertantly crossed one of the Guild picket lines thrown around the NBC-TV studios at Park Avenue and 106th Street, N. Y. Harriman, who guested on that web's "Hats in the Ring" show, called the Guild to obtain permission to cross the line. His request was turned down but one of his associates reportedly assured him that the Guild had granted permission. He subsequently wired apologies to the Guild and also fired the heads of the three networks explaining his position. position.

According to RWG spokesmen, their picketing of the Demo con-clave in Chi can be much more serious than their picketing of the up the convention proceedings.

Authors League, meanwhile, has decided to grant the RWG full cooperation in the strike, including participation in its strike fund. ALA is sending out letters this week to its 7,000 members, detailing how they can help the RWG achieve its aims. One of the points covered its a suggestion that the ALA writers withhold all material from both the radio and TV branches of the networks, so long as the move does not constitute a breach of contract or a secondary boycott.

Barry

Continued from page 33 =

vention, there was a test vote on changing the convention rules to-ward rejecting the National Committee's recommendations for chaiging the convention rules tomaid rejecting the National Committe's recommendations for Georgia, Texas and Louisiana. The Taft forces went down to defeat by 110 votes, a licking from which they never recovered.

The pressure on radio and television was kept up by the Eisenhower leaders. When the pro-Taft Credentials Committee conducted new hearlings and again brought in a report favoring the contested
Taft delegations, the convention was ready and waiting. Once again the delegates, who had heard from the folks back home, repudiated their committee and gave the victory to the Eisenhower delegations.
It was these victories which tipped the scales to General Ike on the first ballot here last Friday.
Every delegate and every party leader left town well aware of the new fact that television, backed up by sound radio, is a special kind of steamrolller which can meet headon and fatten the older, smokefilled room variety.

TV Newsreels

: Continued from page 33 =

low and simultaneously records the interview on the soundtrack as the film rolls through the camera.

In order to operate the device, Telenews needed special authorization from FCC. Authorization was granted by the Commission because "the public interest would be served." The system will also be used for the Democratic Convention.

be used for the Democratic Convention.

Telenews also has a new buttonhole mike manufactured by the Stevens Corp, which could be used as alternative to the Army equip-

Anguish Into Production With 52 Half-Hour Series

Hollywood, July 15.
Toby Anguish, veteran pix-tovideo distrib, is entering the telefilm production field beginning with a series of 55 half-hour telepix to be filmed around the world.
Each has a $15,000 budget with Anguish angeling the entire venture. He plans to shoot abroad for six months, then return to Hollywood for interiors.
Jim Bond appears in one unit
now shooting in Alaska, and Wally Taber in another which will locale in Africa. Taber, Anguish and a cameraman leave for Africa Sept.
1. They expect to have the first 26 ready for distribution by Oct. 1. Hollywood, July 15.

HARPO MARX

RCA-VICTOR Mgt.: GUMMO MARX

RADIO MUSIC QUIZ MURRAY ROSS

Does the music for "TOP GUY" ABC Wed, at 8:00 p.m.

in production

The March of Time

American Wit and Humor

A series of twenty-six half hour programs, with heart-u stories adapted from the best works of the 19th century.

the Sports Show

BALLETS DE FRANCE

Bringing to the television screen, in twenty-six fifteen minute

TV AWARDS

for the THREE March of Time TV Productions

CRUSADE IN THE PACIFIC

-RADIO AND TV DAILY-

The best television documentary of 1951.

MARCH OF TIME THROUGH THE YEARS

-OHIO STATE INSTITUTE FOR EDUCATION -"first award for public affairs programs".

CRUSADE IN EUROPE

THE GEORGE FOSTER PEABODY RADIO AWARD —for education over television.

THE BEST ADVERTISING BUY IN LOS ANGELES

KTLA Studios • 5451 Marathon St., Los Angeles 38 • HOllywood 9-6363 Eastern Offices • 1501 Broadway, New York 36 • BRyant 9-8700

PAUL H. RAYMER COMPANY . NATIONAL REPRESENTATIVE

Television Chatter

New York

Johany Guarnieri replacing Eddie Hatrack as regular planist on WCBS-TV's Ernie Kovacş show into non CBS-TV's "Crime Syndicated" next Tuesday night (22) ... taiday night (20). John McGovern and Pergy Allenby, and John Seymol's World Now, renewed for its third 13-week cycle on WCBS-TV ... Bill Penn set for a lead role on NBC's "Kraft Tv Theatre" tonight (Wed.) ... Mildred Miller, Metropolitan Opera mezzo-soprano, (18) in a story which he authored,

Hollywood

Nancy Cameron nàmed to newly-created post of. sales service co-ordinator at KNXT. Lea News grabbed heavy role in KECA-TV's "Gabed heavy role in KECA-TV's "Gabed heavy role in KECA-TV's "Goodyear Playhouse" grabbed heavy role in KECA-TV's "Goodyear Playhouse" in Kelley topline new live these teams set for NBC's "Goodyear Playhouse" in Kelley topline new live the set will appear as witnesses in the show's presentation of "The Trial of Steven as witnesses in the show's presentation of "The Trial of Steven as witnesses in the show's presentation of "The Trial of Steven as witnesses in the show's presentation of "The Trial of Steven as witnesses in the show's presentation of "The Trial of Steven as witnesses in the show's presentation of "The Trial of Steven as witnesses in the show's presentation of "The Trial of Steven as witnesses in the show's presentation of "The Trial of Steven as witnesses in the show's presentation of "The Trial of Steven as witnesses in the show's presentation of "The Trial of Steven as witnesses in the show's presentation of "The Trial of Steven as witnesses in the show's presentation of "The Trial of Steven as witnesses in the show's presentation of "The Trial of Steven as witnesses in the show's presentation of "The Trial of Steven as witnesses in the show's presentation of "The Trial of Steven as witnesses in the show's presentation of "The Trial of Steven as witnesses in the show's presentation of "The Trial of Steve

"Ahead of His Time."

Hollywood

His wife, A. Allen Buckley ankeld as director of "You Asked for R" to join Frank E. Mullen Amoctates... NBC-TV director Joe Ainley preping video version of "Little Theater."... Former KHJ-TV account exec Jack Tobin joined sales staff of Jack Douglas Productions... Republican and Democratic convenience of Jack TV sets in L.A. area, hike being 40 to 50% over comparable period in 1951, giving L.A. July 1 total of 1,275,000 sets... Ken Murray will recreate his "Blackouts" when he tees off his new CBS-TV show in September, and is angling for Marie Wilson, who was in original "Blackouts." and is angling for Marie Wilson, who was in original "Blackouts." and is angling for Marie Wilson, who was in original "Blackouts." and is angling for Marie Wilson, who was in original "Blackouts." and is angling for Marie Wilson, who was in original "Blackouts." and is angling for Marie Wilson, who was in original "Blackouts." and is angling for Marie Wilson, who was in original "Blackouts." and is angling for Marie Wilson, who was in original "Blackouts." and is angling for Marie Wilson, who was in original "Blackouts." and is angling for Marie Wilson, who was in original "Blackouts." and is angling for Marie Wilson, who was in original "Blackouts." and is angling for Marie Wilson, who was in original "Blackouts." and is angling for Marie Wilson, who was in original "Blackouts." and is angling for Marie Wilson, who was in original "Blackouts." and is angling for Marie Wilson, who was in original "Blackouts." and is angling for Marie Wilson, who was in origi

Chicago

NBC-TV producer Reinald Wetzenrath, currently on leave from the web for a Navy Reserve assignment, grabbed shore leave to help with the convention telecasts.

U. of Illinois test-running its programming facilities in anticipation of its own educational channel with a tele documentary beamed via WBKB.

Cactus Jim (Bill and Johnnie Coons) personal appearancing for the Jewel food store chain.

Harriet Van Horne, N. Y. World Telegram & Sun's radio-TV editor, pinch hit for, regular panelist Carmelite Pope on DuMont's "Down Nou Go"... Drewrys Ale back on WBKB with "The Unexpected" vidpix series. after dropping its variety stanza on WGN-TV... CBS tubthumper Jack Goldstein here Chicago Theatre... Hope Sum—mers, regular on NBC-TV's "Hawk-ins Falls," doubling in Salt Creek summer theatre production of mers, regular on NBC-TV's "Hawkins Falls," doubling in Salt Creek summer theatre production of "First Lady". Filmed blurbs used by Admiral on its ABC-TV convention coverage being lensed at Kling Studios. Sante Fe Railway came through with another year's renewal on Clint Toule's Wednesday and Sunday weather show on WNBQ. Florence Murdoch of the Earle Ludgin agency supervising the cutting of new spots for Stopette use on

"What's My Line" on CBS-TV wait Durbahn, conductor of WNBQ's "Wait's Workshop," ramed as a judge for Ford Motors annual Endustrial arts awards.

San Francisco

San Francisco

ABC granted KPIX 10-year lease to locate its transmitter atop Mt. Sutro, also used by KGO-TV, the ABC "o-and-o" station... First KPIX pies beamed from new site were sharper in most areas, but required adjustment of antennas in others. Made it tough on customers anxious to view the GOP show on KPIX... KGO-TV boss Vince Francis and wife skied to Gotham for a week... Howard Wines left KRON to join TV Preview Magazine... KRON lensed a micro weirdie when Ben Grauer's volce from Chicago overlapped pictures of Johnny Dugan mugging on a variety show from Hollywood... On first GOP convention day, CBS-TV neglected to provide sound with its 8:30 am. pictures. So KPIX's Jim Eakins covered with ad libs, news reports and music. For an hour... Local business practically at standstill during convention telecasts. TV rental firms ran out of sets the first day... KGO's Chef Cardini dropped 64 pounds' since January, is down to 190. He's been explaining his diet on TV.

London

DETROIT HAS

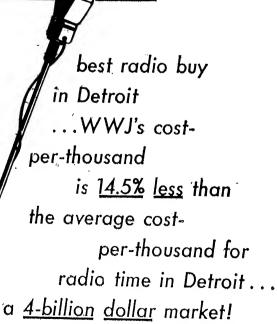

1½-million home radios...

½-million car radios...

1/4-million "Radio only" homes...

THE WORLD'S FIRST RADIO STATION Owned and Operated by THE DETROIT. NEWS

National Representatives: THE GEORGE P. HOLLINGBERY COMPANY

Associate Televisien Station WWJ-TY

AM-950 KILOCYCLES-5000 WATTS FM-CHANNEL 246-97.1 MEGACYCLES

RKO-PATHE, Inc. - Veteran Showmen!

From the dawn of the motion picture industry, the name PATHE has stood for top quality-in features, in newsreels, in short product, in commercial and educational Alert, and in tune with the times, RKO-PATHE has also, since 1946, adapted its superb resources of studios and equipment, creative talent, technicians and showmanship knowhow to the field of industrial and television film production.

With its proud tradition of success through the years as a foundation, it is obviously no accident that RKO-PATHE product is always outstanding in its field. For with RKO-PATHE ... "Quality Comes

RKO-PATHE, INC., 625 Madison Ave., New York 22, N. Y. Phone: PLaza 9-3600

happy, happy birthday Guiz Kids

_12 years old_and a national institution!

Summer

NBC-TV—MONDAY 8-8:30 P.M. DST AVCO Manufacturing Co., Inc. Fall

CBS-TV—SUNDAY 4-4:30 EST Cat's Paw Cat-Tex

Radio-COLUMBIA BROADCASTING SYSTEM

LOUIS G. COWAN, INC.

NEW YORK

575 Madison Ave. New York 22, N. Y. 8 S. Michigan Ave. Chicago 3, Ill. RAndolph 6-2023

Morris Plan

Continued from page 29

switchover from live to film can be effectively made."

As for dramatic shows, Jordan feels they're better done on film from the start—although they're a lot more expensive that way, he warns. Aside from the undisputed advantages in quality in putting off.'

The same thing will apply to be product is available, the product is available, the warns they're and advantages in quality in putting off.'

reels they're better done on film from the start—although they're a lot more expensive that way, he warns. Aside from the undisputed advantages in quality in putting TV shows on reels, Jordan questions whether the added cost is recompensable via residual rights. He feels that having a series in a can for possible resale to TV outlets two years or five years or 10 years hence will prove of value only for shows with star names. He opines that competition will be so tough and quality so improved as time goes on that nothing but top-name stuff will have any long-range replay value.

Limitless Horizons

have any long-range replay value.

Limitless Horlzons

"When there are 2,000 stations," Jordan says, "the potential income for a vidpix series will be so great that much more money will be put into them than is feasible at present. Likewise, the competition among stations for audience attention will be so intense that none will be able to afford to show anything but the best product he can lay his hands on. As a result, any off.

Jordan credits the lack of TV stations currently as the reason for the present telepix boom. Inability of sponsors to clear time on a national basis, he explains, is driving them into spot placements, which seems they must put their shows on film. When in several years many more outlets are on the air, new networks or groupings will make time available on a national basis, but by that time-telefilms will be too well-established a medium to be dislodged, Jordan feels.

Morris office exec sees vast un-

Morris office exec sees vast un Morris office exec sees vast un-tapped possibilities for making vid-pix abroad. He admits that Ameri-can unions may crack down on this activity, as they are starting to do in Hollywood on feature-making overseas. He believes, howthis activity, as they are starting purpose.

to do in Hollywood on featuremaking overseas. He believes, however, that even if it requires something like a standby fee to appease the unions, the added qualiies, particularly in atmosphere, and the lower production costs, make production abroad worth-while, Jordan points to the 'Foreign Intrigue' series as the best example.

Major banks are starting to show

Major banks are starting to show a nibbling interest in telefilm financing, Jordan notes. He thinks this is a welcome sign in that it will put the whole field on a more businesslike and stable basis. By providing regularized sources of coin for production, Jordan opines the banks will force out of biz the fly-by-nighters whose only demonstrable talent is finding angeling coin. Jordan mentioned Bankers Trust and the Chemical Bank & Trust, both in New York, as having evidenced interest in vidfilm financing.

Austria to Taste TV

Vienna, July 15.

Austria is one of the few countries where TV is unknown.

Chances are that only after the signing of the peace treaty will TV be introduced. Nevertheless, the recently-held Stockholm conference reserved eight wavelengths for this purpose.

Commercial Japan

the Broadcasting Corp. of Japan, operators for the last 27 years of a medium wave non-commercial radio broadcasting system. On surface NHK seems most likely to get nod from commission since it has facilities, techniques and personnel already engaged in TV. NHK argues that to equal their 1952 plans will cost any contender $6,500,000. NHK reminds the public that it has at its disposal the greater portion of Japan's TV engineers and that some of its top men have recently some of its top men have recently studied the science in U. S. Rivals for the rights admit they have beamed to the public before next spring at the earliest.

Four of the five applications, under consideration are for licenses for commercial television. Two requests are backed by country's biggest newspapers and the equipment could easily be procured.

Basically, both outfits have similar plans dor use of TV in Japan, Says his programming who envisions a 32-station network Co.

The Yomiuri newspaper is requesting a channel under the name of Japan Television Network Co.

The single request for a license for non-commercial video comes for mon-commercial video comes for mon-commercial television was necessary to the listeners through a board of governors. This board will choose the programs to without sponsors or advertising to worry about, Furukaki, feels more a medium wave non-commercial equipment could easily be procured.

Basically, both outfits have similar plans for use of TV in Japan.
NHK president Tetsuo Furukaki, who envisions a 32-station network within five years which will cover all Japan, says his programming will be controlled by the listeners through a board of governors. This board will choose the programs to be aired by NHK's television net.
Without sponsors or advertising to worry about, Furukaki feels more time can be devoted to getting truly cultural programs to the people.

Matsutaro Shirōki, head of the Nippon Television Network Corp., says he will have a system of 20 micro-wave connected stations within two years. He claims his sponsors would not have absolute right to choose their shows, that a board similar to the NHK one would decide jointly with sponsors what programs to air.

ACLU

Continued from page 31

Communist) is convicted of a criminal offense." But, the ACLU said, the "heart of the problem is not membership in the party but the question of alleged association with purported Communist-front organizations. Noting CBS' claim that the FCC should not block the networks' consideration of a performance of political sympathies before hiring because the Commission itself is bound by the Government's loyalty program, the ACLU stressed that the Federal program contains a hearing procedure, some-loyalty program, the ACLU stressed that the Federal program contains a hearing procedure, something which is not available to performers who are blacklisted.

Brief emphasized that, despite the nets' delegation of programming power to advertisers and agencies, "the final responsibility for programs rests solely with the licensed station." Brief added: "We submit that the licensees have concentrated the power of rejecting talent totally in the hands of an organization to which they have no responsibility and which has no responsibility towards them—that is the publishers of Red Channels. The power has been concentrated in this agency through the use of listings in Red Channels as a blacklist. It is an enormous power, and as shown. . it has not been used in the public nets as a blackist. It is an enormous power, and as shown . . . it has not been used in the public interest. If concentrating power in the hends of the networks was an evil that the FCC had to remark that the transfer of the property of the property of the state of edy, the concentration of power in agency under no control from the Commission, or any licensee, is completely irresponsible and total-ly against the interests of the pub-lic."

In addition to the four nets, the In addition to the four nets, the ACLU is also seeking that license renewals be held up for KOWL, Santa Monica, and for WPIX, N.X. According to the brief, WPIX "admits that the supposed political views of Charlle Chaplin were in part responsible for the cancellation of his films."

After You've "Packed 'em in"

Re

An appealing human-interest situation dramatizes Ipana's themet "Nice things happen to people who avoid Tell-Tale Mouth with Ipana"... and pleasantly sugar-coats a hard-selling reason-why message. Made for Bristol-Myers Co. through Doherty, Clifford and Shenfield, Inc. for "Break the Bank"; used also as a hitchhike on "Mr. District Attorney." untion dramatizes Ipana's themes

Sure

You

ite blonde are sure-fire attention getters for Stopette Deodorant and Poul Body Powder. This commercial for "What's My Line?" ends with a point-of-sale clincher offering a combination deal. Made for Jules Montenier, Inc. through Earle Ludgin & Co.

Product-in-use shots of an exquis-

Sell'em!

No matter how good your television show is, no matter how good the rating, the only true measure of its success is how much it does to sell your product. That puts the bee right on your TV commercial!

Selling is SARRA's business. To the making of complete, 8., 20., or 60-second complete "solo" spots, curtain raisers, hitch-hikes or commercials integrated into feature programs, SARRA brings a complete, permanent staff of sales strategists - creative and technical experts - which we believe to be unequalled in the field of visual selling.

The roster of SARRA clients reads like a "Who's Who" of outstanding TV advertisers. We would like to have the opportunity to add your name to our list.

Ingenious animation of the Lucky, Strike pack and march-ing: cigarette gives alrong product identification in a fast-paced opening for "Your Hit Parade." Created for The American Tobacco Company through Batten, Barton, Dur-stine & Osborn, Inc.

curtain raiser commercial for the Philco Television Playhouse smoothly integrates a strong selling message with a fine dramatic production. Produced for Phileo Corp. through Hutchins Advertis-

Vide-0-rigina/

FILM PRODUCTION FOR REFFORCE CA

EERLESS FILM PROCESSING CORPORATION

Have you a store of negatives unusable because of shrinkage? The new PEER-RENU Treatment will restore them to usefulness.

Write for details.

165 WEST 46TH STREET, NEW YORK 36, N. Y. 939 SEWARD STREET, HOLLYWOOD 38, CALIF.

them

films

MEMO

ALL TV FILM PRODUCERS FROM: SNADER TELESCRIPTIONS SALES, Inc.

Now ... you can take advantage of our complete sales and distribution facilities! For the first time, we are making our hard hitting sales force available to At last it will be possible for your product to be showcased and promoted ... by a limited number of independent producers!

an organization that has an unequalled record of success: TELESCRIPTIONS LIBRARY NOW in 58 markets

ALEXANDER KORDA FEATURES NOW in 32 markets NOW in 28 markets

WASHINGTON SPOTLIGHT NOW in 37 markets

We have established an effective pattern for successful selling, and if your film product fits that pattern we can place it in a large number of markets... in a remarkably short time!

Contact us immediately for complete details!

EXCLUSIVE SALES DISTRIBUTORS OF ...

LESCRIPTIONS LIBRARY

SNADER TELESCRIPTIONS SALES, Inc.

Alexander Bisno, President

NEW YORK 229 W. 42nd St.

BEVERLY HILLS 328 S. Beverly Dr.

CHICAGO 59 E. Van Buren St.

Tele Followup Comment

but it sounds fresh. He was given didn't get the atmosphere or the a speedboat setting with water setting to do work of this type, churning behind him. It detracted and it left a void in the proceedfrom Draper, but he still showed up well.

Joan Laste, a French import current at the French Casino, did a tasty bit of ballet. She's a lithe, lively lass and knows her way around the terps.

ings.
Sullivan also did an interview with Pitcher Bob Feller, of the Cleveland Indians. He surrounded this bit with some good film clips.

Jose.

lively lass and knows her way around the terps.

The only flaw in the show was Sir Cedric Hardwicke, who gave a reading of shortstory, "Crazlest Story Ever Written."

Hardwicke Presentation of "The Velvet Glove" last week (7-11) on "Broadway TV Theatre" via WOR-TV, N. Y., underscored as perhaps mother show has yet done in this Story Ever Written."

Hardwicke Hardwicke tempting to transfer a legit pro-

NOW IN PRODUCTION!

4 DRAMATIC ADVENTURE

FILMS SERIES --

PRODUCED FOR TELEVISION!

Sponsored by

KELLOGG

through

LEO BURNETT COMPANY

NEWEST ACTION .- ADVENTURE SERIES! DRAMA, DANGER ON THE HIGH SEAS!

The PHANTOM PIRATE!"

Starring ROBERT STACK (AUDITION PRINTS AVAILABLE SHORTLY)

MADISON

d Bill Hickok

duction directly into TV with no attendant script revisions. Story, localed in a Catholic convent, was wordy and lacked any semblance of action; Fact that it all took place in a single set also helped Iull viewers sufficiently to switch to a different channel. In addition, the lead role, that of the Mother Superior, was woefully miscast.

Since the show was aired the perior, was woefully miscast.

Since the show was aired the five nights during the Republican convention, when the N. Y. network outlets were carrying convention, proceedings almost exclusively, it's possible that producer Warren Wade might have thought he wouldn't stand much chance of an audience anyway. By the same token, viewers tired of watching the GOP in action might have switched over to WOB-TV for relief. On that score, Wade missed the chance of corralling some new-adherents for his cross-the-board theatre.

As written by Rosemary Casey, the story told of how the Mother Superior and her nuns succeeded in getting their bishop to change his mind about firing a young history professor from their school, when they were convinced that the Communist charges against him were false. Lola Montez, who's appeared in most of the "Theatre" productions, played the Mother, but that's about all that can be said of, her work. In an apparent attempt to imbue her characterization with the necessary everence, she both moved and spoke the role in a monotone. Bramwell Fletcher succeeded much better as a crotchety but kindly old monseigneur. Richard Derr, as the professor, and Susamn Shaw, as his flance and secretary to the Mother, were good. Dorothy Peterson was okay as one of the sisters.

Stal.

George Jessel, in the first of a scheduled string of TV guestings, injected plenty of sparkle and verve into CBS-TV's "Information Please" Sunday night (13) but could not overcome the show's basic weakness—its lack of visual dressing to make it palatable for TV. With moderator Clifton Fadiman in his usual top form and permanent panelists Franklin P. Adams and John Kieran pitching in, the show had its moments. It remains, though, a basically good, radio format which has not yet achieved successfully the transition to TV.

Jessel surprised with his amudi-

Jessel surprised with his erudition, quoting obscure lines from Shakespeare and from other classic poets as neatly as did Kieran. He bantered capably with Fadiman, tossed in some solid gags about his wives, alimony and pleture-making and generally indicated that his famed toastmastering ability-cap be projected excellently into video. (Jessel plans to go into TV heavily, as both a producer-director and performer, now that his producer's pact with 20th-Fox has lapsed).

Stal.

Foreign TV Review

DOON THE WATTER With Richard Dimbleby Producer: Stephen McCormack 45 Mins.

Mins. BC, London Novel topographical program in the "Round Britain" series proved of considerable interest, tracing a journey down the River Clyde, out into the beautiful Clyde estuary, Journey down the River Clyde, out into the beautiful Clyde estuary, and around such quaint islands as Arran and Bute. Stanza was prefilmed on locales of the waterway by BBC's television unit, with commentator Richard Dimbleby as guide and interviewer. Latter's descriptive narration was pleasing and informative. "Doon the Watter," program's title, is a Scots term signifying "Down the River Clyde," watter being the vernacular for water or sea.

Sturdy island Scots came over well, in the interviewing chores. These included Clyde steamer Captain Murdoch, Marquis of Bute and Lady Mary, daughter of the Duke of Montrose of the island of Arran. But, too often, conversations took too historical a turn, especially the interview with the knowledgable Lady Mary. A more topical slant would have been welcomed. Scottish country dancing scenes were authentic and atmospheric. Scenes showing 1952 conditions in the many Clyde holiday resorts would have added life to program.

The little-trick islands of Scot-resorts would have added life to program.

The little-trod islands of Scotland, with their quaint customs and simple-living islanders, house a store of potential TV material, as yet little tapped. Point is worthy of serious note by U.S. television program-builders.

Memphis—Due to the Chi political powwows, television set sales boomed to a total of 136,784 sets in use in this area, monthly report by WMCT, Memphis' only TV station, disclosed. Report showed an increase of 3,458 sets since June 1.

PIX DIRECTORS, ATEP AGREE ON VIDEO PACT

Hollywood, July 15. Agreement has been reached between the Screen Directors Guild and Alliance of Television Film Producers on a TV pact, upping directorial minimum from $400 a week to $550, and giving the meg-gers residual rights.

gers residual rights.

Directors originally sought $600 minimum. ATFP countered by offering directors on vidpix in their fourth run in any given area $275 residual coin, and Guild took the offer; agreeing to the $550 minimum.

imum,
Alliance is now negotiating with IATSE 659, which reps the cameramen, but talks are in too early a stage for any detailed demands.

Continued from page 30

in Cleveland, was issued the UHF permit.

of a UHF station in Portland was also issued to Empire Coil, manufacturer of colls and transformers

Denver and Portland are the largest cities in the U. S. without television service, and were first and second on the FCC's priority list for processing applications for non-TV areas.

Wis., area; and the Beaumone For Arthur, Tex., area.

Theatre interests are involved in some of these applications. The Wometo circuit is part owner of Orange TV Broadcasting Co., which is seeking a VHF permit in Tampa. The Sherriil Corwin chain of California has a piece of Mid-Continent Television, Inc., which is applying for VHF in Wichita. W. S. Butterfield Theatres is applicant for UHF in Filnt. John Wolfberg has a 34% interest in Denver Television Corp., seeking VHF in Denver, applicant for VHF, is half-owned by Frank Rickston, Ir., who is president of Fox. Intermountain Theatres. Luftin Amusement Co. is an applicant for Port Arthur.

Two Hollywood stars are in a seeking the services of t

Two Hollywood stars are involved in Denver applications. Bob Hope has a substantial interest in Metropolitan Television Co. and James Stewart is 20% owner of Denver Television Co.

FCC Moves

An authorization for construction in New Rochelle, N. Y.

non-TV areas.

Other permits, all for UHF stations, went to radio stations WHYN in Holyoke and WJKO in Springfield; Trans-American Television Corp. in Flint; radio station WNBH in New Bedford; radio station WKBN and Vindicator Printing Co. in Youngstown; radio stations WNOW and WSBA in York; Southern Connecticut and Long Island Television Co. in Bridgeport; radio station WKNB in New Britain; radio station KHQ and KXLY-TV in Spokane; and KTBC and Charles H. Coffield in Austin.

Cities in which applications were

H. Coffield in Austin.

Cities in which applications were thrown into hearing (to be scheduled later) are Denver, Portland, Tampa-St. Petersburg, Wichita, Flint, Canton, O.; Reading, Pa.; Waterbury, Conn.; Harrisburg, Pa.; Jackson, Mich.; Sacramento, Fort Wayne, the Duluth, Minn.-Superior, Wis., area; and the Beaumont-Port Arthur, Tex., area.

Philadelphia—David A. Carlisle added to sales staff of WFIL-TV. Carlisle worked in production, traffic sales service and sales for five years and served as a radar lieutenant in the Navy during World War II.

Austin, Tex.—Harry O'Connor has joined staff of KTXN here. He comes here from New Orleans. Prior to that he was with KMAC and KEYL, San Antonio. He specializes in hillbilly music as a disk lockey.

TOOMEY • HADEN

(Audition Prints NOW Available)

3 Taut Drama-and-Thrill

"CASE

Series!

HISTORY!"

ALAN HALE, JR. (Audition Prints NOW Available)

Young América — and

BLAZERS!"

the Great Outdoors!

"TRAIL

For Complete Details on These and Other TV Films, Write or Phone:-

WM. F. BROIDY PRODUCTIONS, Inc.

5545 Sunset Blvd. — Hollywood 28, Cal. — HEmpstead 6844

EARL SHELDON

FOR MUZAK AND ASSOCIATED TRANSCRIPTIONS

11 West 42nd Street, New York City

LA 4-4567

FRANK COOPER ASSOCIATES
SALESMEN

Of Television and Radio Shows

MAN AGAINST CRIME STRIKE IT RICH
HAIL THE CHAMP
THE LINE UP
THE CHASE
FIRST NIGHTER

FRANK COOPER ASSOCIATES

SY FISCHER, Eastern Manager

Hollywood 7225 Hollywood Bivd. Hollywood 9-3737

GUESS WHAT HAPPENED

New York 521 Fifth Ave. VAnderbilt 6-5661

RANDY AND BESS MERRIMAN MYERSON

OF TV'S

"THE BIG PAYOFF"

for

COLGATE-PALMOLIVE PEET

Monday Through Friday

NBC-TV 3:00 - 3:30 P.M. EDST

and also

Summer Replacement for

"COLGATE COMEDY HOUR"

Every Sunday 8:00 - 9:00 P.M. EDST

NBC-TV

TV Shows on Film, Industrial, TV Commercials

One of the Finest Studios in the East

Fletcher Smith Studios, Inc.

321 East 44th Street
New York 17, N. Y.
Phone: Murray Hill 5-6626

Call MR. CANNAVARO or MR. STILES

Television Reviews

one, turning in a' neatly whimsical job as the milquetoastish character who had supervised the agency's filing system for 30 years, and then became a "tiger" when it looked as though his beloved files were to be shunted into the assement by a new femme assistant to the prexy. Newland overplayed slightly the fraternity-minded boss of the agency, and Jean Casto was good as the femme assistant. Olive Blakeney made for an appealing vis-a-vis for Taylor as his longtime fiance. Miss Hayes, another member of the original group, played only a receptionist in the show. Supporting cast was good.

Show is supposed to be a moderate-budgeter for the summer by inself handled his usual intros via film, evidently lensed in advance to give him a chance for a vacation. Show will continue to be bankrolled alternate Monday nights during the summer by Johnson's Wax and Lucky Strike.

Stal.

Went into a televersion with a day-weekly evening package. It's virally a sight transcription of the radio show, and as such has a static tradio show, and as such has a static virally a sight transcription of the radio show, and as such has a static virally a sight transcription of the radio show, and as such has a static virally a sight transcription of the radio show, and as such has a state layout, and is now in a bi-weekly evening package. It's virally a sight transcription of the radio show, and as such has a static valuality asight transcription of the radio show, and as such has a state valuality asight transcription of the radio show, and as such has a state valuality asight transcription of the radio show, and as such has a state valuality asight transcription of the radio show, and as such has a state valuality asight transcription of the radio show, and as such has a state valuality asight transcription of the radio show, and as such has a sight transcription of the radio show, and as such has a sight transcription of the radio show, and as such has a sight transcription of the radio show, and as such has a sight transcription of the in the show. Supporting case good.

Show is supposed to be a moderate-budgeter for the summer, but sets and other production trappings looked good. Montgomery himself handled his usual intros via film, evidently lensed in advance to give him a chance for a vacation. Show will continue to be bankrolled alternate Monday nights during the summer by Johnson's Wax and Lucky Strike.

Stal.

AL PEARCE SHOW With Art Morton, Tizzie Lish, Ar-lene Harris, Jay Stewart, an-ouncer

ouncer
Producer: Stefan Hatos
Director: Judd Whiting
Writers: Jack Harvey, Bob Weiskopf, Jim Critchfield
30 Mins., Thurs. 8 p.m.
Sustaining
CBS-TV, from N.Y.

The Al Pearce show, a staple in radio for many years, recently

MUSIC HALL'

MUSIC HALL.
With Patit Page, Carl Hoff Orch;
Robert Clary, guest
Producer-director: Buzz Kulik
15 Mins, Tues. Thurs., 7:45 p.m.
LEVER BROS.
CBS-TV, from New York
(J. Walter Thompson)
In a quarter-hour twice-weekly showcase that attempts to do nothing more than display the warbling talents of Patit Page, CBS-TV has come up with a pleasant, unpretentious entry in "The Music Hall."

Since the show doesn't bother with production settings to back the numbers or try to intersperse many camera effects to heighten visual values, Miss Page has to carry the ball alone, and she manages it handily via top piping techniques, warm projection and a well selected songalog.

On show caught Thursday (10), for example, Miss Page belted out "Back in Your Own Backyard," "With My Eyes Wide Open I'm Dreaming" and "I'm Glad That You're Happy With Somebody Else" with enough charm and appeal to compensate for the dull "inane" backgrounding. Guest for the stanza was Robert Clary, currently featured in the Broadway revue, "New Faces of 1952." He had little chance to show his wares but impressed as a good tele guest bet with his Franco-English workover of "La Seine," Carl Hoff's orch did a capable backing job for both-Miss Page and Clary.

Lever Bros. plugs were overlong for this brief segment and tended to antagonize the viewer. Gros.

EDDY ARNOLD SHOW

with Russ Case Orch, guests; Bill Shipley, announcer 15 Mins.; Mon.-Wed.-Fri., 7:45 p.m. CHESTERFIELD CBS-TV, from N. Y. (Cunningham & Walsh)

(Cunningham & Walsh)

Pinchhitting for Perry Como during the latter's six-week summer vacation, Eddy Arnold, RCA Victor's top country artist, gives a warm folk flavor to this musical stanza. Although in the alfalfa groove, Arnold isn't a 100% rustic and is able to project any tune with sufficient pop flavor to cover both urban and hinterland viewers.
This session still retains the straight format used by Como so successfully. Backdrops for the vocals are simply done with the show banking on the song quality to put it over. Arnold registered excellently on the preem (14) with "Anytime," "Never Take The Ribbon From Your Hair' and "Take My Hand, Precious Lord," latter being backed by the Ray Charles Orch. First of the string of guests set for this show, Georgia Gibbs was showcased in a clever production of her current disclick, "Kissof Fire."

Announcer Bill Shipley handled two plugs for the tobacco company in effective style.

Herm.

SPEAKING CAN BE FUN

SPEAKING CAN BE FUN

SPEAKING CAN BE FUN

Horm.

Hormat, then entiched it with his own convincing personality.

Two cameras do all the work—nee on Primm's face, the other lensing pictures, maps and diagrams to fillustrate the stories. Primm has a natural knack for brevity, and achieves adequate, instruction of her current disclick, "Kissof Fire."

Announcer Bill Shipley handled two plugs for the tobacco company in effective style.

Herm.

With Marcene Riley, others Director: Robin Adair 30 Mins.; Mon., 4 p.m. Sustaining KGO-TV, San Francisco

30 Mins; Mon. 4 p.m.
Sustaining
KGO-TV, San Francisco
Speaking can be fun. It also can be a terrific ordeal for those who stammer, stutter, lisp, omit sounds, have brain injurles, articulatory defects, too much nasality, or who may be hard of hearing or deaf.
Program's public service objective is to explain the causes of speech defects and demonstrate how, in many cases, they can be corrected.

The preem was woefully lacking in TV production technique—just a series of closeups as the camera monotonized between moderator and panelists.

Nevertheless, it was an attention builder, capitalizing on its topic material—of particular interest to those who speak for a living, and doubly so for parents whose children have speech defects.

Moderator Marcene Riley, a speech correctionist herself, selected top experts in the field, Dr. Leon Lassers, Priscilla P. Pittenger, Dr. Walter E. Heek, Dr. Jane Connell, Dr. Val Jones, representatives of State College, Public Health Dept. and Morrison Rehabilitation Center.

Though program employed typical radio panel procedure, the fact that you could see experts mouth words and illustrate speech defects created an impact impossible on radio.

In future programs Miss Riley intends to employ visual, on-camera demonstration lessons and cover every phase of vocalizing from speech deficiency to speech perfection. Program is a useful, interesting and practical adjunct to local viewing.

NEWSPAPER OF THE AIR

NEWSPAPER OF THE AIR With Art Primm
Enrector: Pete Miller
5 Mins.; Mon.-thru-Fri., 10:30 p.m.
ALKA SELTZER
KRON-TV, San Francisco

ALKA SELTZER
KRON-TV, San Francisco

Art Primm's preem airer was a fast-paced, smoothly coordinated newsette, easy on the ears and a shock to the eyes. At least, to those who know Primm personally.

On the radic news beat, where he has batted out copy for years, he is usually coatless, tieless, rut-fled and harried. On TV he has repersonalized himself to a Bond St. suavity as correctly costumed as John Cameron Swayze.

Primm is a competent newsman with a free, unaffected delivery. He has always been his own double on the typewriter. He netted for Mutual before the war, served as a Marine combat correspondent, has berthed in KYA's news room in recent years.

"Newspaper of the Alr" is the first local attempt at a five-minute news strip. Before hitting the cameras, Primm planed to Hollywood to study the sponsor's comparable series there. He brought back the expectancy the show might run at least 25 hours, the station worked out a plan to salvage as much local revenue as possible. It proceeded to build some convention shows of its own, bankrolled by Nelson Bros. furniture stores and aired from its studios during lulis in the CBS coverage. Also the station took 60-second-plus cutins on the web's station breaks and ran in either four spots or a minute Electrolux demonstration.

WKBK-CBS

Continued from page 33 =

It so happened that most of the ran in ether four spots or a minute Electrolux demonstration.

It so happened that most of the iceped sets spotted around by CBS in the hotels and conventions lounges were tuned to WBKB. Under the DuMont pickup of the CBS coverage, WGN-TV also carried the CBS show but had notified the network it would leave for the All-Star baseball game and the regular Cubs' telecasts. The result was the CBS and Westinghouse hierachy watching the web telecast here on WBKB's Channel 4 were forced to dash to a close circuit set tied in with the network line or sit through the WBKB local cut-lins. After CBS prexy Frank Stanton huddled with Mitchell carly in the GOP convention, the WBKB studio shows were axed but, the quadruple spotting continued.

continued.

Despite its effort to save as much local biz as possible, WBKB estimates that the 65-hour convention marathon last week cost it over $10,000 in washed out hometown shows. The Westinghouse 15-hour commitment fetched in about $5,000, leaving a net loss to the affiliate of about the same figure.

"The CBS deal on the GOP convention is no precedent for the Democratic convention," a top WBKB spokesman told Variety. It's his argument that it's neither fair nor good business to let the network reap the laurels and the sponsor a "bonanza" of gratis commercial time on one of these freewhegling pub-service affairs at the expense of the affiliates.

He intimated the chains, realizing it would be incumbent upon them to carry the political nominating clambakes as pub-service sustainers had no bankrollers been found, had been overly generous in giving away the affiliates time of the three clients involved. With Westinghouse, thanks to its openend CBS arrangement getting a free ride on the station after 15 hours, the indie officials felt justified in trying to squeeze in as many local accounts as possible.

Corsicana, Tex.—Application has been filed with the FCC for transfer of control of KANC here from Wesley W. West and Phil M. Stebenson to J. C. West, Sale price is said to be $16,985. Outlet operates on 1,340 kilocycles with 250 watts.

BRAND NEW FOR TELEVISION Hal Roach Presents TWO NEW FULL-HOUR WEEKLY FEATURES

FAY BAINTER

THE ACTORS' HOUR

with

ONSLOW STEVENS as Her Guest Star

Produced by Gayle Gitterman

"YOU'RE JUST MY TYPE" Pat Waltz Barbara Bestar Harvey Dunn

Directed by Norman Lloyd

"OF MICE AND MEN" Burgess Meredith Lon Chaney

"SEPTEMBER AFFAIR"

Fay Bainter Phyllis Coates Michael Read Lee MacGregor Lottie Stein Charles Evans Directed by Roy Kellino

"VALLEY FORGE" Onslow Stevens Paul Javor Lester Matthews Fred Essler Leonidas Ossteynski Keith Richards Tommy Ivo

Directed by Roy Kellino

MAUREEN O'SULLIVAN

THE CHILDREN'S HOUR Produced by Sidney Van Keuren

"THE CHILDREN'S STORY" Maureen O'Sullivan Linda Gay Shalimar Gillespie Roger Broadus Virginia Whitmire Elena Romay Robert Meyers Lina Romay Stephen Wooton Erik Nielsen Nadene F. Ashdown Michael Jackson Tony Taylor George Wallace Benna Bard Bingo Directed by John Reynolds

"IMPIE AND ANGIE" Frankie Darro Karen Sharpe Barry McCormick Directed by Louis McManus

"CRUMMY THE CLOWN" Danny Beck

Charles Watts Directed by James Tinling

"THE BIBLE STORY" Moroni Olsen Ralph Morgan Herb Latimer Kristine Miller Nelson Leigh Directed by James Tinling

GOT A MUSICAL IDEA FOR TV?

Well known TV producer interested in getting an unusual and ingenious way of presenting a musical show on TV. Looking for ideas for formats that are different.

Write Box 285 VARIETY, 154 W. 46th St., New York City 36

VETS AGAIN CLICKING ON WAX

It Isn't the Biz, It's the Heat

Although publishers are moaning that sheet music business Attnough inhibitors are all the state of the songs have taken on hospital for that all the line wo weeks of July.

Jobber execs, moreover, point out that last year the business was riding with several strong summer clicks including. "Too young" and "Because of You." Currently, there is no standout national hit to draw the customers into the stores but business is nevertheless hitting par for the seasonal course:

Cleffers Yen Return to Solid Songs Since Click Quickies Earn Little Coin

flock of Tin Pan Alley tunesmiths. with squawks coming in from all corners that today's output "ain't what it used to be," the writers are rapidly realizing that their future hinges on long-lasting commercial appeal rather than carboning current wax tastes as they've been doing the past 10 years. While the writers know that a quick disclick will bring some revenue, they also are getting to understand that they've now got to have 10 songs in the running at one tune where one solid hit in the early 1930s would bring in the same coin. According to several writers, too many cleffers have been playing long shots by turning out material that's pegged for a particular artist's talents or that lends itself to "new sound gimmicks." The clisk companies aren't beefing because these platters usually clean up in the market, but the writer and publisher are left with little more than mechanical royalties since the songs have little impact in the sheet market or in licensing societies performance payoff.
"Come On—A My House," for example, one of last year's big disk hits made a relatively poor showing in sheet sales totals. A (Continued on page 113) With squawks coming in from all corners that today's output "ain't what it used to be," the writers are

Lanza's Split With Manager Weiler May Prelude New RCA Deal

Hollywood, July 15.

Mario Lanza has split with manager Sam Weiler, following a hassle over business affairs. Meantime, Lanza has taken a week off from filming "Student Prince" at Metro to look more personally into his own financial affairs until he gets a new manager. Weiler had been with the singer for years and gave Lanza his financial start when he was unknown. Weiler, in Nevada recuperating, was unavailable for comment.

comment.

RCA veepee Manie Sacks meantime is here resuming negotiations with Lanza on a recording pact for RCA Red Seal. RCA nixed the huge guarantee demands of the singer but would pact Lanza sans any guarantee.

Krupa Trio Draws 7,000 In 1st Sweden Concert

In 1st Sweden Concert

Stockholm, July 8.

Gene Krupa trio, comprising
Teddy Napoleon on piano and Flip Phillips on sax, drew 7,000 customers on its opening concert at the outdoor amusement field, Nojesfaltet, here last week (2). Its the first time Krupa played in Europe although Phillips has been in Sweden-before with Jazz at the Philharmonic troupe. "Attendance was a record for the park.

Krupa has been pacted for a one-month stay in Scandinavia and may play in Helsinski during the Olympic games there. Krupa is receiving about $8,000 weekly for his bookings in Sweden.

Bob Sadof Tracher Music conceiving about $8,000 weekly for his bookings in Sweden.

Bob Sadoff, Duchess Music contactman, resigned from the publishing firm last week. As Eddie Fisher's vocal coach, he set to work with the RCA Victor vocalist, currently in N. Y. via a U. S. Army assignment, on his next recording session.

Lors orch in the same place, Aug. 10. Both dates will be for dancing, with a half-hour pickup over WGY. Fred Waring and eight of his show.

He has also set Johnnie Ray for the R.P.I. Field House in Troy, Aug. 14. The Cry drew more than workshop on choral music for an expected 300 choral directors from session.

H&R's Vienna Waltz

Vienna, July 15.

Robert Stolz's waltz song about the Pummerin, "Es Klingen die Glocken," published by Astoria Verlag (Emil W. Maass) here, has been acquired by Hill & Range Songs, Inc., of Beverly Hills, Cal., for U. S. distrib.

It's one of Stolz's newest tunes and a hit here.

Decca Joins Other Diskers in 10% Reduction Offer

eries to spark summer sales via special deals, Decca Records has come up with a 10% reduction offer to retailers on its merchandise. Decca plan, which represents a departure from this company's no-deal selling policy, will extend to album merchandise in all speeds until July 31. Single records and Decca's new low-priced "4000" longhair series are not included in Columbia recently launched a discount plan, whereby dealers can get three disks for the price of two, in specially packaged selections of standards. Mercury and M-G-M distribs have also been offering special merchandise deals to the retail trade. Decca's policy also extends to the Coral and Brunswick catalogs.

KAYE CLAIMS FRAUD IN ORE LEASE DEAL

Wichita, July 15.

Sammy Kaye and his manager, David Krengle, filed a petition in Federal Court here last week charging six Kansans with fraud and misrepresentations in oil lease deals. The petition stated Kaye and Krengle were partners with the defendants and charged them with failure to disclose facts of their operations while acquiring oil leases.

The defendants named were L. C. mitherman and Simon Cohen, vichita: \J. D. McKay, Frank A. Smitherman and Simon Cohen, Wichita; J. D. McKay, Frank A. Rice and C. L. Seible, El Dorado; Ronald Rice, Abilene.

Snyder Books Flanagan, Pastor for Saratoga

Albany, July 15.

Albany, July 15.

Bob Snyder will present Ralph Flanagan's orchestra in the Convention Hall, Saratoga Springs, July 27, the eve of the opening of the racing season, and Tony Pastor's orch in the same place, Aug. 10. Both dates will be for dancing, with a half-hour pickup over WGY-NBC. Snyder will emeee the air show.

MAY REVERSE

blanketed by newcomers, the hit lists are once again showing up with vet disk names. The handful of vet wax stars who've been able to stand up against the newcomer surge over the past couple of years are now being joined by a flock, of seasoned diskers who had been counted out of the current shellac sweepstakes.

Resurgence of the vets as potent platter factors is causing speculation in music biz circles as to whether it'll reverse the "new sound" trend and spearhead a return to "straight" etchings. Comeback of the oldsters is the first concrete indication in the market that the wax tyros, who've spearheaded the echo-chamber and bigvoice sounds on records, don't have a stranglehold on the field. Tradesters aren't predicting a complete decline in the popularity of the vocalists who've cropped up in the past two or three years but they do believe that the return of the oldsters will balance the market and put the biz, especially on the publisher and record company level, on a more stable basis.

Top examples of vets who are level, on a more stable basis.

Top examples of vets who are currently repped with disclicks are Frank Sinatra and Perry Como, on the Columbia and RCA Victor labels, respectively. Sinatra is riding high with "Tennessee Newsboy" and Como, although teamed on the platter with a comparative newcomer, Eddie Fisher, again has become a standout disk entity via "Watermelon Weather." The disks are winning teenagers who weren't (Continued on page 108)

Mpls. Juke Bombing Now Linked to $20,000 Extortion Attempt

Minneapolis, July 15.

Minneapolis, July 15.

Following the bombing of his Lieberman Music Co., local jukeboxes and other coin-operated machines distributor, Harold N. Lieberman has received a series of telephone calls demanding $20,000 on threat that his family would be harmed if it isn't forthcoming. Police are now guarding the Lieberman home and announce they've started a checkup on about "half a dozen characters" in the effort to solve the extortion attempt. solve the extortion attempt.

solve the extortion attempt.

After the bomb was set off in the music company's doorway, blowing out the glass front and doing considerable other damage, the police told newspapers they thought that "conflicts in distributing the coin-operated machines in other cities, perhaps Chicago, might have been the cause." They said there is no friction among local distributors. Shortly before the bombing, there had been another attack on the establishment, "A5 revolver slugs being shot through all of the windows.

After receipt of the extortion

all of the windows.

After receipt of the extortion threat, Lieberman, acting on police department instructions, arranged a meeting, ostensibly to deliver the demanded $20,000, but with detectives secreted in the vicinity, nobody turned up to claim the money.

Police now are working on the theory that the bombing is linked to the straight extortion effort. They're making intensive efforts to learn the whereabouts and recent activities of all who have been linked to extortion rackets in the

Waring in on Campus

Rackmil Revamps Decca A&R Setup; Hilliard Moves Into Palitz Spot

Martino's New Mgt.

Al Martino, Capital Records vocalist who clicked on an indle label, BBS, with "Here In My Heart," has split with his manager, Bill Berelli, and is now being handled by Joseph Picolla. Latter is a builder associated with the Westchester County Building Assn.
Martino amicably settled with Berelli, latter getting 25% of all royalties on the "Heart" record.

Downbeat Biz Knocks Fringers Out of Action

Steady downbeat in the sheet music field is expected to augur a quick fold of many fringe publishing firms that've cropped up withing firms riding on one click song, are finding it difficult to come back with a repeat hit. And since none of them has standard catalogs to carry them through the doldrums, they're being forced to shut down. Although the royalties on the "freak" hits have brought in lots of fast coin, the new pubs have poured it back by expanding their staffs and in trying to develop new hits. A lot of the loot has been dumped into deals with small record labels in an attempt to get the song moving on the indie etching so that the major companies would hop on. Life of the click tune has been narrowed down to an average of 12 weeks, so the pubs must come back fast with a second clicko to continue operation. It's become a hit-and-miss business, and the majority of them are now missing.

and the majority of them are now missing.

Broadcast Music, Inc., which has subsidized a number of these new pubs, is becoming increasingly wary of shelling out more coin to keep them going until another hit is dug up. Some of the newcomers are attempting to buck the pop downbeat by concentrating on the development of an educational catalog. It's a long process, though, and many are expected to fall out of the running before their educational material can bring in a substantial income.

SPA SETS COAST MEET TO SIFT MPAA PACT

Songwriters Protective Assn. has scheduled a meeting for its Coast membership July 31 at the Beverly Hills Hotel, Hollywood, to explain the recent agreement between SPA and the Music Publishers Protective Assn. Agreement covers royalty payments/on lyric book publications. SPA prexy Charles Tobias, counsel John Shulman and Miriam Stern are making the trip westwards from N. Y. for the meeting. Other SPA board members, Stanley Adams, Dorothy Fields and Ira Gershwin, will also attend the sessions.

Conkling to Coast Home Prior to Regional Talks

Prior to Regional Talks
Columbia Records prexy Jim Conkling will hibernate at his Molywood home (which he maintains the year-round) until the sales meeting in Los Angeles July 19. He will then make the swing to the two other regional sales powwows,
July 23 in St. Louis, and July 26 in Atlantic City, plus additional side-trips to the northwest, Chicago and into Canada.

Conkling is due back in New York early in August, about the same time that Col exec veepee Goddard Lieberson returns from his European recording and general business trip.

ords prexy, shook up his company's artists`and repertoire setup last week along the lines anticipated by the trade for past several weeks. Morty Palitz, Decca a&r topper since last summer when Dave Kapp was ousted, was let out with Jimmy was obsted, was let out with dimmy hilliard, Coral Records a&r head, stepping into the Decca spot. Hilliard had been previously groomed by Rackmil for this promotion with his appointment last year as vice-prexy in the Coral company, a Decca subsid.

Decca subsid.

Milt Gabler, a Decca recording director under both Kapp and Palitz, was moved over to Coral as a&r topper. Paul Cohen, Decca's folk music chief, was upped to Hilliard's assistant. Si Rady, who has been charge of the classical and children's departments, was given added duties as producer of Decca's album product.

Decca reshuffle will also bulge.

album product.

Decca reshuffle will also bring Gordon Jenkins into a more active role in the diskery's a&r setup. Besides continuing as musical, director and recording performer, Jenkins is expected to assist Hilliard in the selection of tunes. Mike Coaner, national publicity chief and artists relations director, will continue in his present spot but will concentrate more on the artists relations assignments.

It's understood that Palitz was relations assignments.

It's understood that Palitz was originally named to fill the Kapp spot on a probationary basis. Although Decca came up with a fair number of hits during the Palitz regime, reports of his exiting began circulating almost from the date of his promotion last July.

Ex-Kaye Tooters Charter 'Swing & Sway' Band Name But Wait for AFM Okay

Although the 10 sidemen who walked out of Sammy Kaye orch last week to form their own band have filed with the Secretary of have filed with the Secretary of State in Albany, N. Y., to call themselves the Swing and Sway Band, crew is going to hold off on that tag until they get an okay from the American Federation of Musicians. AFM now feels that the new band will be cashing in on Kaye's long established trademark if they use the Swing and Sway label and have asked them to hold off for a while.

The name, however, has been asked them to hold off for a while. The name, however, has been chartered in Albany by the new outfit since Kaye never had his Swing and Sway tag registered. The new band, meantime, will travel as the Ernie Rudy orch. Rudy is former Kaye orch drummer, Ernie Rudisill. All the sidemen will be billed with the band. Orch heads out to Pittsburgh Sunday (20) for its debut the following night in Bill Green's.

It's understood that Kaye will

It's understood that Kaye will confer with AFM execs on the new orch's use of the Swing and Sway label when he gets back to New York tomorrow (Thurs.). It's also reported that Kaye will recognize a band for the upcoming fall season.

Teddi King Added As Shearing Chirp

George Shearing Quintet, which has been operating as a strictly instrumental combo for the past several weeks, added warbler Teddi King to the group last week. Miss King, former Nat Pierce orch thrush, will tour with the Shearing outfit as well as chirp on his M-G-M Record dates.

M-G-M Record dates.
Although Miss King will be the combo's first regular vocalist, Shearing cut a vocal-instrumental platter with Billy Eckstine last year for M-G-M. It was, however, just a promotional platter used to hypo the Shearing-Eckstine concert tour. Miss King and Shearing etched their initial platter last week with release set for early next month.

Jocks, Jukes and Disks

By HERM SCHOENFELD

Tony Martin: "Some Day"."Luna Rossa" (Victor). Tony Martin comes up with a couple of powerful entries with this disk. "Some Day," from Rudolf Frim!'s "Vagabond King," is projected in Martin's most effective Big-volced style and could launch this beautiful ballad on the revival trail. "Luna Rossa," a current ballad adapted from an Italian melody, gets equally effective handling from strong impact. Henri Rene orch and chorus lends richly textured background.

Jo Stafford: "Pretty Boy"-"You Belong To Me" (Columbia). "Pretty Boy" is a bright Calypso-styled number which gets a fast rhythm treatment by Jo Stafford and choral group. It has good mid-hit possibilities and shapes up as a solid jukebox item. "Belong" is slow-tempoed change-of-pace ballad with a good lyric and litting melody. Miss Stafford delivers it in lucid style with an especially good instrumental by Paul Weston. This side could take off.

Ray Anthony: "Slaughter On 10th Avenue" (Capitol). This is an orchestral showpiece for the Ray Anthony orch and should go over with this band's following. Anthony's crew plays the elaborate arrangement with precision and color in a variety of tempoes on this instrumental standard.

Ella Fitzgerald: "Ding-Dong Boogie"-"Preview" (Decca). "Boogie" is a standard-cut eight-to-the-baritem which Ella Fitzgerald socks across despite the limitations of the lyric. She gives it the necessary lift to become good juke fare. Sy Oliver orch backing up in usual solid style. "Preview" is another seat number on which Ella excels with her tongue-twisting vocal.

Bob Hope - Jimmy Wakely: on a couple of alfalfa tunes produces fair results. "Sunshine" is strictly routine cider-jug balladeering delivered straight. The reverse has a good lyric with Hope and Wakely bending into a more effective Lizz Morrow. "Ecolich Dake" side, Buddy Cole orch backing up in suitable style.

Liza Morrow: "Foolish Pride"'I Ain't Got Nobody" (King). Liza Morrow, the vet band songstress, needs only the right material to break through on wax. "Pride" is an okay number with some possibilities via Miss Morrow's neat rhythm rendition. On the flip, Miss Morrow registers again on the standard, Sid Feller backing up with an effective instrumental.

The Mariners: "The Girls Are Marching: "Mighty Navy Wings" (Columbia). The Mariners give a stirring workover to the recently adopted official song for the women's auxillary corps of the U. S. Air Force, It's a conventional military item in march tempo with a fair lyric. Reverse is in a similar groove pegged onto another service branch.

Barbara Ruick: "Serenade To A Lemonade"-"Delishious" (M-G-M). Barbara Ruick is a promising styl-

Lemonade"."Delishious" (M.-G-M.)
Barbara Ruick is a promising stylist with a neat set of pipes and a distinctive delivery. She works over "Lemonade" with a trickily slow beat for good results although this side may lack big commercial impact. On the Gershwin oldie on the flip, she bounces the cute lyric for good jock and juke fare.

Barry Douglas: "When Am I Gonna See You Again"—"Tm Thrilled With Love" (Coral). Barry Douglas, recent, Coral pactee, follows the big-volced pattern of the current male waxing contingent, looks like a good bet to win a following among the teenage platter buyers. His voice is powerful and appealing and he knows how to get a tear into his piping for emotional impact. Tunes, from the pic. "It Happened in Miami," are not outstanding but serve as an excellent showcase for the Douglas delivery. Best yet for spins is "When Am I Gonna See You Again."

Lionel Hampton Orch; "Jelly Pall" "You Ever Learn to Love

showcase for the Douglas delivery. Best yet for spins is "When Am I Gonna See You Again."

Lionel Hampton Orch; "Jelly Roll"."If You Ever Learn to Love Me" (Decca). Lionel Hampton, who's currently waxing on the M-G-M label, has a so-so etching on this Decca release. Sides were cut several years ago but were never before released. For all the good it'll do Hampton or the disk-ery, platter could have stayed in the vaults. Of the two sides "Jelly Roll" has the best chance to make some noise. It's in the driving. bluesy genre and Sonny Parker's excellent vocal should get some jockey's behind it. Hamp's orch workover of "Love Me" is uninspiring. Irmy Curry handles the vocal assignment on this side.

Morris Lane: "Moon Ray". "Pale Moon" (Coral). This Coral coupling of Morris Lane's tenor sax solos will be a good commercial bet in areas where rhythm and blues tastes predominate. Lane is an expert craftsman and each side showcases him in best form. "Pale Moon" will probably outride its mate on the disk jockey tables but "Moon Ray" is also a standout example of the Lane technique and rates soild spins.

Xavier Cugat Orch: "African Lament". "The River Seine" (Mercury). Although these Cugat sides aren't top commercial items, they should do okay in the coinboxes. "Lament" is an interesting number with an effectivel beat. Cugat's styling jis imprinted effectively here. On the Mercury reverse Cugat gets a pleasant litt into the French fave. "La Seine." Abbelane does an easy warbling job in French and English.

Album Review

"Wood Herman At Carnegle Hall" (M-G-M) Arches and Carnegle

"Woody Herman At Carnegle Hall" (M-G-M). Another solid jazz set has been fashioned by M-G-M out of the Woody Herman 1948

Best British Sheet Sellers

(Week ending July 5) London, July 8. Auf Wiedersch'n....Maurice NeverF.D.&H. Blacksmith Blues Chappell Blue Tango.,.....Mills Kiss of Fire Duchess There's Pawnshop . Cinephonic Ay-round The Corner... Dash
Tell Me Why...... Morris
Won't Live in Castle Connelly Be Anything.....Cinephonic Homing Waltz......Reine Wheel of Fortune...Victoria

Second 12

I'm 3	Yours	Mellin
Cres		F.D.&H.
A+ T.	ast	PICKWICK
Canf	ly Dancers'	Ball', Disney
Anut	ime	Victoria
Time	Say Goodby	ePickwick
ז ממ	He's Compa	anion Morris
IInfo	reettable	Bourne
A CI	ıv Isa Guv.	Leeus
High	Noon	Robbins
Clow	Coach	Sterling
Star	of Hope	Ascherberg
Cut	02 2 P 0

Carnegie Hall, N. Y., concert. This was in the era of bop's peak acceptance and Herman's music reflects the immediate postwar musical mood in its best possible showcase. Herman has always been a tasteful and imaginative jazzman and this concert contains plenty of kicks. Sidemen for this concert included such standout instrumentalists as Pete Candoll, Red Norvo, Flip Phillips, Bill Harris, Sonny Berman and Chubby Jackson. Concert has been packaged in two albums.

Platter Pointers

., Neisner Bros.

olis, Schmitt nio, Alamo

d, Grossman

			-71 July 10, 1952
ĭ	,[disk Companies' Be	st Sellers
$	CA	PITOL	ARTIST I
1		IN THE GOOD OLD SUMMER TIME. SMOKE RINGS	+
1		TAKE MY HEART I NEVER CARED	*
1	3.	WALKIN' MY BABY BACK HOME	T
4	4.	SOMEWHERE ALONG THE WAY WHAT DOES IT TAKE	Nat (King) Cole
1	5.	I'M CONFESSIN'	Les Paul-Mary Ford
3		A MATERIAL A
3	1.	BOTCH-A-ME	Rosemary Clooney
4 4	2.	HALF AS MUCH	Rosemary Clooney
4 4	3.	ALL OF ME	Johnnie Ray
	4.		Percy Faith
	5.	WALKIN' MY BABY BACK HOME	Johnnie Ray ŧ	GIVE ME TIME	‡
ŀ	 + C(ORAL
	1.	THIS IS THE BEGINNING OF THE E I CAN'T CRY ANYMORE	NDDon Cornell
	2.	AUF WIEDERSEHN SWEETHEART. BREAK THE BANDS THAT BIND M	Ames Bros T
	3.	EN-THUZ-E-UZ-E-AS-M	Eileen Barton I
	Į 4.	TM YOURS	.,Don Cornell
١	‡ s.	MY MOTHER'S PEARLS WHO DRANK MY BEER WHILE I V	VAS IN THE REAR?
	‡ "	OCEANA ROLL	Chuck Murphy
	t t n	ECCA
	Į 1.	WY TITE MANCO	Leroy Anderson
	‡ ₂ .	BELLE OF THE BALL	.Peggy Lee-G. Jenkins
١	3.	TILL THE END OF THE WORLD	Bing Crosby-G. Martin
١	# 4.	JUST A LITTLE LOVIN'
	5.	HALF AS MUCH	Red Foley
	‡ "	ARE YOU TRYING TO TELL ME GO	OODBYE
	‡ N	IERCURY	D-Hi Dogo
	Į 1.	THE CLAD VOURE HAPPY WITH S	OMEONE ELSE
	÷ 2.	THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN TWO IS NOT THE PERSON NAMED IN COLUMN TWO IS NAM	Eddy Howard
	3	THE PART OF MAY A CATEGORIAN	Georgia Gibbs
ŀ	‡ 4		Vic Damone
ı	1 5	I WOULD RATHER LOOK AT YOU
i.	1	NICKELS, QUARTERS AND DIMES	•
- 5	17	M-G-M	WE From Warren
e	1	I. WHAT IS THIS THING CALLED LO WISH YOU WERE HERE
,	2	LUNA ROSSA
;, :t	1 1	B. HOLD ME CLOSE TO YOU IF THEY ASK ME
	11 4	4. KISS OF FIRE	Billy Eckstine

	WHAT IS THIS THING CALLED LOVEFran Warren WISH YOU WERE HERE
-	LUNA ROSSA
	HOLD ME CLOSE TO YOUBilly Eckstine IF THEY ASK ME
	IF THEY ASK ME KISS OF FIRE NEVER LIKE THIS Billy Eckstine
5.	HIGH NOONBill Hayes

RCA VICTOR

T 	M /Idlon
1	MAYBE Perry Como-Eddie Fisher WATERMELON WEATHER
2.	WISH YOU WERE HERE
3.	SOMEDAY Tony Marlin LUNA ROSSA
	TM YOURS Eddie Fisher JUST A LITTLE LOVIN'
5.	A FULL TIME JOB Eddy Arnold SHEPHERD OF MY HEART
1+++	*************

RETAIL SHEET BEST SELLERS

VARIETY

Survey of retail sheet music sales, based on reports obtained from leading stores in 12 cities and showing comparative sales rating for this and last week.

National

Week Ending

R	iting	July 12	Yor	0,0	nge	H 'u	11, 0	e, C	ste	Anto	a y	a, A	Louis	eland	I
This	Last wk.	Title and Publisher	New	Chica	Los A	Boston,	Detroit,	Seattle,	Rochester	San /	Minneapo	Omaha,	St. L	Cleve	n T S
1	1	"Kiss of Fire" (Duchess)	2	2	2	2	2	4	8	3	5	2	1	2	97
2	5	"Auf Wiedersehn" (Hill-R)	1	1	5	$^{-1}$			1	2	1	4		1	82
3	3	"I'm Yours" (Algonquin)	6	_3_	_3	• •	1	8	9	4		5	2	5	64
4	2	"Blue Tango" (Mills)	-9	9-	1	4		5	6	5	7	7	3	3	62
5	4	"Here in My Heart" (Mellin)	5	4		9	9	9		- ₁	3	6	8	6	50
6	9	"Walkin' My Baby Home" (D.B.H.)	4	7	4	٠.		6	2	10	4	9	5	10	49
7	5	"Delicado" (Remick		-6	10	6	7	10	5	7	٠.	1	6	4	48
8	7	"Half As Much" (Acuff-R)	3	5		·	6	1	7	6	9	10	• • •	7	45
9	8	"Be Anything" (Shapiro-B)		-8	9	3	4			9		3	7	8	37
10	6	"I'll Walk Alone" (Mayfair)			,	••	• •	-3	10	-8-	6	-8	4	9 .	3(
11		"Botch-A-Me" (Hollis)	8		• • •		_3		3					• • •	19
12	٠.	"Somewhere Along Way" (United)			• •	• •			٠.		2		• •		13
13	10	"Blacksmith Blues" (Hill-R)		• •	٠.	5	••	• •		•••	-8		9	• •	1
14	٠	God's Little Candles (Hill-R)		٠.				2_						• • •	- (
15	• • •	"Maybe" (Robbins)	٠.	• • •	• • •	• • •	• •	• •	4	••	• • •	• •	••	• • •	,

es, Morse M.

Vet Names Again Clicking Continued from page 107

Along the same lines, Georgia Gibbs, who has shuttled from one diskery to another, finally hit it big with "Kiss of Fire" for Mercury. And Peggy Lee, who went through a long, slow period at Capitol, has come back strong via her Decca release of "Lover." After six years in retirement, Ella Mae Morse jumped back into the hit lists with "Blacksmith Blues" on the Capitol label, Jane Froman also has become sock disk entry via her Cap etching of "Til Walk Alone" and the, soundtrack album of "With a Song In My Heart." Helen O'Connell is on a comeback sprint on the same label with her workover of "Be Anything" currently making noise.

brought up on the Como-Sinatra Martin have been potent factors throughout the newcomer reign, with occasional clicks. They also are repped by current sock commercial bets. Cole is clicking with "Walkin' My Baby Back Home" for Capitol. Miss Day is hitting hard with "Botch-A Me" for Columbia and Martin has a surefire entry in "Someday" for Victor.

entry in "Someday" for Victor.
On the instrumental level Percy Faith' is winning new fans via his Col etching of "Delicado." Louis Armstrong, who broke out anew last year with a couple of instrumental-vocal platters, is still riding high-at Decca.

making noise.

Such vet wax names as Nat (King) Cole, Doris Day and Tony Patricla Music chartered to conduct a publishing business in New York. Capital stock is 200 shares, no par value.

VARIETY Scoreboard

TOP TALENT AND TUNES

Compiled from Statistical Reports of Distribution Encompassing the Three Major Outlets

Coin Machines

POSITIONS

Retail Disks

Retail Sheet Music

as Published in the Current Issue

WEEK ENDING JULY 12

NOTE: The current comparative sales strength of the Artists and Tunes listed hereunder is arrived at under a statistical system comprising each of the three major sales outlets enumerated above. These findings are correlated with data from wider sources, which are exclusive with Variery. The positions resulting from these findings denote the OVERALL IMPACT developed from the ratio of points scored: two ways in the case of talent (disks, coin machines), ind three ways in the case of tunes (disks, coin machines, sheet music).

TALENT

	This	Last	ARTIST AND LABEL	TUNE
	week.	week.
	1	1	ROSEMARY CLOONEY (Columbia)	Hair as Much
	1	-
	2	3	AL MARTINO (BBS)
	3	2	PERCY FAITH (Columbia)	Delicado
	4	4	VERA LYNN (London)	Sweetheart
	_		PROPER COREO PROPER EXCITED (IV1)	(Maybe
	5	10	PERRY COMO-EDDIE FISHER (Victor)	Watermelon Weather
	4.	_		(Walking My Baby Home
ĺ	6	5	JOHNNIE RAY (Columbia)	All of Me
ı	7	8 .	PEGGY LEE-G. JENKINS (Decca)
l	'	ο.
	8	7	DON CORNELL (Coral)	The Voice
l
ı	9.	9	LEROY ANDERSON (Decca)	Blue Tango
l	10		EDDIE FISHER (Victor)	. I'm Yours
l			- · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·
1			DOX TALESCO

TUNES

	TIONS
This	Last	DITO	LISHER
week.	week.	TUNE
1	5	AUF WIEDERSEHN SWEETHEART	Hill-R
2	1	HERE IN MY HEART	Mellin
3	2	DELICADO	Remick
4	. 4	HALF AS MUCH	Acum-R
5	3	KISS OF FIRE	.Duchess
6	7	YM VOURS	agonquin
7	8	THE AT THE PART TO A TOTAL TO A CITY TO MAKE	viva-b-n
8	6	RITIF TANCO	IVIIIIS
9		TO CHICATE A MATER	HOILIS
10		MAYBE	Koppins

10 Pact Collars on Coin-Machines Week of July 12 Pan American Asks 50G

VARIETY IV DEST DEHETS OH COMI-MA	acimics
\\\\
1. HERE IN MY HEART (8) (Mellin)
2. AUF WIEDERSEHN SWEETHEART (4) (HIII-R)	Vera Lynn London Eddy HowardMercury
3. HALF AS MUCH (5) (Acuff-R)	Rosemary Clooney Columbia
4. DELICADO (7) (Witmark)	Percy FaithColumbia Stan KentonCapitol
5. LOVER (4) (Famous)	Peggy Lee-G. Jenkins Decca
6. MAYBE (3) (Robbins)	P. Como-E. FisherVictor
7. WALKIN' MY BABY BACK HOME (8) (DeSylva-B-H)	Johnnie RayColumbia
8. BOTCH-A-ME (2) (Hollis)	Rosemary Clooney Columbia
9. KISS OF FIRE (11) (Duchess)	Georgia GibbsMercury Billy EckstineMGM Tony MartinVictor
10. I'M YOURS (10) (Algonquin)	(Dam Compil) Coral
Second Group
PLL WALK ALONE (10) (Mayfair)	Don Cornell Coral Jane Froman Capitol
ONCE IN A WHILE (Miller)	Patti PageMercury
WHAT IS THIS THING CALLED LOVE (Harms)	Fran WarrenMGM
BLUE TANGO (18) (Mills)	Leroy Anderson Decca
WATER ATTER OF THE PROPERTY OF THE	P. Como-E. FisherVictor
WHEEL OF FORTUNE (17) (Laurel)	Doris DayColumbia
A GUY IS A CITY (9) (Tandlow)	Doris Day

Eddy Howard Mercury BE ANYTHING (6) (Shapiro-B) Georgia Gibbs Mercury SO MADLY IN LOVE (Shapiro-B)..... Frankie Laine D. Day . . Columbia SUGARBUSH (Schirmer) Kay StarrCapitol ME TOO (Shapiro-B) CARIOCA (T. B. Harms) Les Paul Capitol BLACKSMITH BLUES (11) (Hill-R) Ella Mae Morse Capitol SMOUTH BLUES (12) (Hill-R) Capitol

SMORE RINGS (Amer-Acad) Les Paul-Mary Ford ... Capitol
YOU (Paul-Mary Ford ... Capitol Figures in parentheses indicate number of weeks song has been in the Top 101

[†]

Major Diskeries Exclusive-Happy; Shun Tunes Cut by Rival Firms

Wallichs Due East For Cap Sales Meet

Capitol Records semi-annual sales meet, has been skedded for July 28 at the Hotel Warwick, N.Y. Cap's east coast distribs will attend the conclave.

Glenn Wallichs, Cap prez, is due in from the Coast headquarters to head up the meet.

Plugger Pension Plan Snagged by Objections From BMI Publishers

From BMI Publishers

Music Publishers Contact Employes' pension plan activities are running into a snag with several Broadcasting Music, Inc., firms to whom pension plan pledges have been sent. The BMI pubs are waiting for a few more wrinkles to be ironed out before they commit themselves to the plan.

Main squawk was brought about by MPCE's distribution of two separate pledges—one to cover the contactmen, and the other to cover such staffers' as secretaries, book-keepers, etc. At a conclave between the union's pension committee and the BMI pubs last month, it was argued by the publishers that the plan should not be limited to the union's plugger-members but should confer with the non-union members before attempting to rep them via the pledges. MPCE's plan calls for a 3% assessment of a $100 weekly wage from both contactman and employer.

The MPCE pension committee, weekly wage from both contactman and employer.

The MPCE pension committee, which includes union's prez Bob Miller, and MPCE members Leo Diston, Harry Santly and Bob Baumgart, are expected to huddle with the pubbery toppers in a couple of weeks to straighten out the baefs

LANZA'S GUARANTEE ON BRITAIN CONCERTS

Mario Lanza is being offered a guarantee of $45,000 per week for a four-week concert tour of Great Britain by Maurice Kinn, British concert promoter. Kinn is currently in the U. S. negotiating with Music Corp. of America, which handles Lanza's bookings.

Kinn has already wrapped up a four-week concert tour for Dick Haymes. Billie Holiday and Mickey Katz are also being dickered for an English junket.

In Suit Vs. London Disks

A former London Records distributor, Pan American Distributor Corp., filed suit in N. Y. Federal Court last week for $50,000 damages against the diskery. Complaint charges that London breached a written contract last April by cancelling its distrib deal with Pan American, leaving the latter with a substantial stock of London Records.

Under the pact, London was al-Under the pact, London was as-legedly required to accept returns, but London is now charged with refusing to accept them or to fill orders. Pan American also charged that London has made a distribu-tion deal with a competitor, un-named in the complaint.

Granz Sets 2 Dates In Omaha H. S. Aud

Omana, H. S. Auu
Omaha, July 15.
Norman Granz in town last Saturday set two of his shows at Technical high school auditorium as one-nighters. They are the Billy Eckstine-Count-Basie-George Shearing package on Oct. 3 and Jazz at the Philharmonic Oct. 24.
Milton Berle at Ak-Sar-Ben Field arena Aug. 15 will get $4.80 top. "Call Me Madam" confirmed for Paramunt Sent. 15. 16. 17.

Getting a tune on wax in several versions is getting increasingly tough for publishers who are currently running up against a firm anti-coverage policy by most of the major disk companies. The diskers are now bypassing any tune which has been cut by a rival label in favor of developing their own hits by getting "exclusives" from the pubs.

Under Mitch Miller's artists and repettoire aegis, Columbia Records has been following this policy with considerable success for the past couple of years. RCA Victor has also adopted the same tack in the last couple of fronths under a&r chief Dave Kapp's swing to exclusives as the way for Victor to get the jump on the rest of the field. Other majors, such as Decca, Capitol, M-G-M and Mercury, are getting exclusive-happy, with the result that only a handful of ton numbers are getting broad coverage.

The accent on exclusives has put

The accent on exclusives has put The accent on exclusives has put the publishers in a precarious posi-tion. Whereas before they had a chance of breaking through with a tune with a variety of artists they are now riding on a single version. If that flops, the tune is dead even though the solo version may have been at fault due to poor interpre-tation.

The diskers, however, have discovered that clicks are generated only by getting to the counters first with any particular number. The disk with the initial impact sells profitably while the cover disks generally move very slowly. In previous years a hit tune would sell with a number of artists, but currently the market stress is not on the tune but on the artist and interpretation.

AFM Nixes Louisville Maestro From Waxing Overseas in General Ban

Louisville, July, 15.

Robert Whitney, Louisville Orchestra director now in Vienna, was stymied in a project which had him set to record 16 contemporary American works with the Vienna Philharmonic. He got the assignment from the American Recording Society but was stopped by an American Federation of Musicians ban.

Musicians ban.

Whitney is a member of Local No. 11 in Louisville, and it is believed when Whitney arrived in Vienna that he was unaffected by the ban. AFM prez James C. Petrillo ordered four other musicians to cancel recording commitments in Europe. They are H. Arthur Brown, conductor of the Tulsa Philharmonic; Artle Shaw, Andre Kostelanetz, and planist Leonard Pennario.

AFM RENEWS INITIAL ROYALTY VIDPIX PACT

The American Federation of Musicians, which has been fighting for a royalty contract with producers of filmed music for television, has renewed the first pact containing this principle with Tele-Pictures in April, 1951. Robert L. Lippert, Tele-Pictures exec, asked for a renewal of the AFM contract which involves a 5% royalty payment to the Music Peformance Trust Fund. In addition to the royalty payments on the vidpix gross, Tele-Pictures also agreed to rescore films, originally made for theatre exhibition but now being sold to video outlets.

McCoy, Fotine Cancel Toledo Spot, Others Set

ing package on Oct. 3 and Jazz at the Philharmonic Oct. 24.

Milton Berle at Ak-Sar-Ben Field arena Aug. 15 will get $4.80 top. "Call Me Madam" confirmed for Paramount Sept. 15, 16, 17.

Osborne Trio to M-G-M

M-G-M Records further bolstered its pop artists roster last week with the pacting of the Mary Osborne Trio, vocal-instrumental combo.

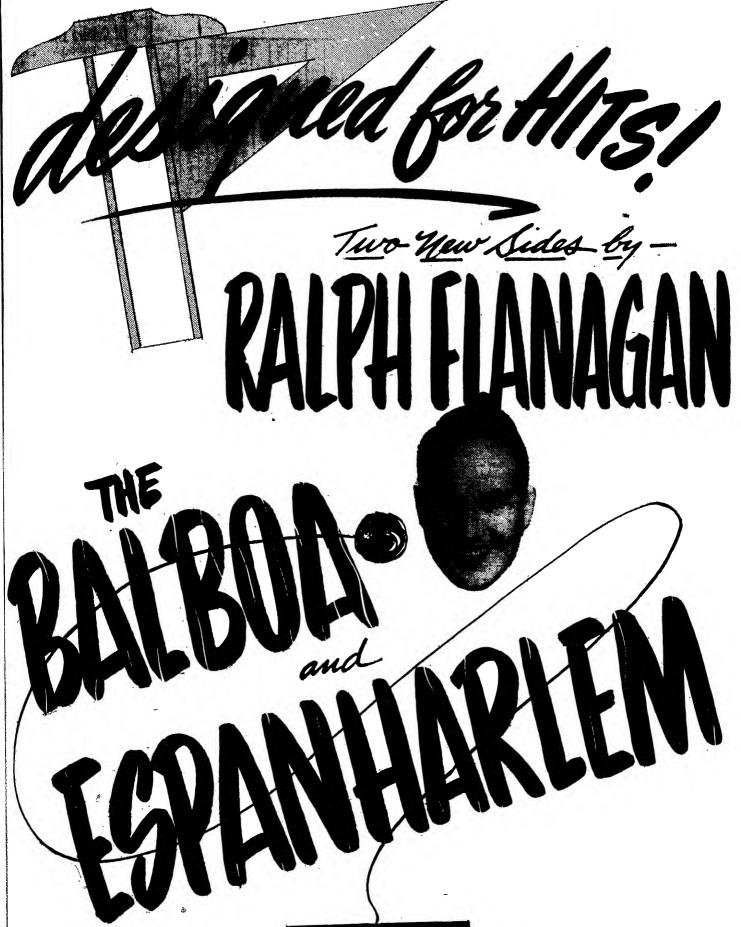

Initial waxing sessions are skedded for the latter part of the week.

Aug. 15-17, Johnny Bruce.

op Record

AS POLLED VIA LEADING U. S. DISK JOCKEYS

77		৪০৪4 년 ৮	OHXPO	ا ا ا	124	120	98	4 6	8,5	[Ed]	٠. اعا	35 4	£ 75	42	17	25	37	* 6	1 22	. 83	2	S S	3,4	€ ;£	18	19,	9;	٠ ٢ ٢	្រុះ	H	#	: ;;	0 7	:	, es	9	*	, eo	40	so , s	a ; 6	, 60	90	.00
	8. 8.	VA.A.	es Melloy	1 4	1		1	- -	· :			: ""	٠ : ا	:	:	:	:	٥	· :	:	:	:		: 0	:	$ \cdot $:		: :			:	:	:	: :	:	:	;	:	:		: :			9
WEST	P io i	rt—KTYL	olok Gilbe	I 2	:			-	: :		4	1	2	:	:		:	:	: :		:	:	:	:	:	:	~ ¦	۰	: :	:	9	:	:	:	;	:	:	:	:		:	: :			:
FAR	Albu-		crry Nesic	r C	:		-	- 10	4	$ \cdot $:	2	: :	:	က	:	:	:	: :	:	:	:	:	:	:	:	:	:	: :	:		7	:		:	:		:	:		;	: :	:	:	:
	, Y	·		X IO	တ	-	1	4 0	-	2		:	: 01	:	:	:	:		:			:	: :		:	:	:	: 6	:	$ \cdot $:	:		:	:	:	:		35	:	: :	:	$ \cdot $:
	K Kee		ansdZ mol	r. ∞	~	က	:	: :	:	E-	9	: :		:			:		:	2.	6	:	: :				:	: :	:		:	:		: :	:	:	$ \cdot $:	:	: :	:	:	:
15	Dec.		—llag noc	r co	:		62	:	4	:		: -		:	:		:	1	:			1	: :	10		1	:	: :	စ		:		: :	:	:		:	:			: :			:	:
D W.E	Det.	od-Wibk	Oon McLe	I :	2		1	: :		8	: 0	: °			20	7	:	: :	:		6	: :	: :			-		: :	:		1	1	: -	-:			:	:	:	: :	:	:	$ \cdot $:	:
Ę	Faul	NIMW—abyr						:	7	2		: :				.		: 2	:	H	8	: =	4	8	:		:	:		:	1		: :	:	:	:			:	: :	:			:	:
	Dear.				8			:				' :		=	ြ	7		: :	:	:		:	:			41 0	٠	20			:[1	: :	:	:	:				: :	:		: (2	:
	. E	WBKB-TV		•		0	7]:		- }		-			*			: :	:				;					:	:	:		: :	: :	:		:			:	: :	:		60		:
	i lanfa				4					8 2								' :	:			: :	:					:		1	1	: :	:	:				1		: :	:			1	:
	N.O. Air	67—War	 		П	. C.			7	- 1	١																	:	:		: °	,	:	:				: 5	٩	` :	:	က		:	:
			aili Wrigh			-	1	1.	3				4													9,0		:		위.				:						: :	:			1	:
OUTH	Jack'st.	ylor—wmbr			Н		. 6				2																							5						:
Š	를 X	Purs—Welv									9		-																								2
	Rich-	iner—WRNL				ه ا			1	7			П		٥															2											33
:	Anr'o m	па—КОИО				-	: 00			: c	4	9			:		7	6				25												8	;
	Dollas	we-wre	Jimmy Lo	9				10	-	6	: :		ω.	4			:				1	:										_								3
i	Utica	NUMWose	Danny Fu	2	~	-			:		: ~	10		c	:	: 6	6	:	4	:	: :	:
	2	laher—WTOP	Eddię Gal	9		0	- 2	4	2		: :	8	:			: :	:	œ			: :	:				: :	. :				: :													6
	Phil		Bud Brees			:	: :	:¦		7	: :	:		۰۱۰	•	: :	:		:	:	5 اد	:	:		:	: :	: :			:	: :	:			:	2	: 4	۱,
	Balti	тап—WСВМ	Dick Cole	:	ω,	مام	· :	2	2		: :	$ \cdot $: =	-	:	: :	:	က	:	:	: :	:	4	-	:	: :	:		8		: :	:		:	:		:	: :	: :
	Ware Mass.	-Myre	Pete Ward	2	- .	:	: ∞		:	3 4	:		: 0	ا ،	-	: :	:	:	:	2	: :		2		:	: :	:	:	:		: :	:	:	:	:			:†:	: :	:	:			: :	1
E A S	Han	-Matsl	Milt Kray	8	:	7 5	4	:	:	:	:	5	:	:	:	: :	မ	:			: :	8				: :	:			:	:	:		:	:		:	: :	:	:	:		: :	: :	:
	Rome	-MKVT	Lou Baril	9	-	:	: :	7	က	:	: 20	:	2	41		: -	:			:	: :			6		: :	:	8			:			:	:		:	: :	:	:	:	:	:	: :	:
	Zeko Taty	uel—MCL .	Earle Pud	2	4	7 9	· :	4	:	:	: :	$ \cdot $:	3	:	: :	:	:		: 0	2	:		: 0	٠.	: :	6		:	: :	:	:	:	:	:		: :	: :			:	:	: :		:
	AF	sgan—WTRY	Paul Flan	2	٦	7	: :	8	4 5	3 .	: ∞	:	1	۱		: :	:	:	•		: :		:	:	:	: :	:	:	-	: :				.:		:	: :	: :	:	:	:	:	: :	:	:
	New York	ZtW-smail	IlW soniV		2		:	:			:			:		:	:		اء	: 0	:		:	:	1	: :		:	:	: :		:	:		:	: :	: :	∞	:	:	:	: :	:	:	4
	ž	VT-GAAW—31	BIII Sithe	1 1	Ti.									: °	: :	1.	*				:	1:	:			: :	:	:	:	: :	:			:	7		2	:	:		:		: :		:
			٦ '		London Auf Wiedersehn Sweetheart.	Half As Much	Mercury. Kiss of Fire		Home.	Sanc.		Decca Blue Tango	rtime		erinning of End					Man d		Auf Wiederschn Sweetheart		Here in My Heart			Pyramid The Mask Is Off								Ya	Lonely Wine.					1	7100	Rock of Gibraltar
	5	ularity points Cities wre of			In Sw	eart			iby H				umme		ing of			a	ove.	nr th		n Swe		art.	ion			eather	Smoke Rings	y He	. Fill Walk Alone.		T'm Comm.		out			у	Decca Kiss of Fire		Universal Underneath Lays Von Tree	len:	5	A Guy Is a Guy	:
	*	LY n popul of 10 int. e pict			derse	My H	Fire	2	Walkin, My Baby		Me	o.gr	Old S		erlun	Kiss of Fire	ing.	Alon	Wolling Mr. Bot-	re Alo	Once in a While	erseh	essin	TY HE	ensat		Is Of	M I	ings	ri.	Alone	'n,	ared		With	ne	ne	des B	ire	Vhile.	T T	er W	bralta	Guy
		isting to boasis one potensive themsive	Song	Delicado	if Wie	re in	S of	You		ver.	Botch-A-Me	le Ta	Good		S Is	s of 1	Anyt	Walk	Madiy	lewhe.	e in a	Wied	Con	I DI	nge	Poinciana	Mask	ermel	Ke R	hache	Walk	n't M	ver	Dog	Alone	Jy W	Iy W	ime G	Of F	er a	Theat	шешр	of G	SI E	жеп
	٤	ords the		De	Y.	Ha	Ä	T.	¥ .₹	3 2	Bo	Blu	E S	. III		Kis	Be	Fu	S	Son		Auf	H	Plin	Stra	Poir	The	Wat	Smo	Toot	L'II	å	ž	1	Get	Lone	Lone	As Time Goes By	Kiss	Inst a Little Louise	Unde	I Re	Rock	A G	apitolFarewell
		te those records vising in pol computed on the basis of 11 is so on down to one point, present a comprehensive pio		ia		ia			Degra Tomora		ia		Ford Capitol In Goo	Victor								Mercury		Coral													DeccaLonely Wine			osbyDecca				Columbia	Capitol Farewell
		e thos omput so or presen	Label	Columbia	ndon	lumb	ercury	ctor	ne Deces	oral	lumb	ecca	pitol	; ; ;	ral	lumbi	rcury	ral	reury	pitol.	rcury	rcury	2101	le:	tor	8	amid	tor		tor	itol	cury	1	inhi:	al.::	itol	ca	Capitol	ca 	: : :	rersal	or	mbia	ımbia	1101
	-	ndicat are c 2 and k to 1		ŭ,	3 2	i o	M	i.	: .	10	ŭ :	Ď	ဒီ ဒ ီ	5	ပိ	ပိ	Me	ပို;		200	Me	, M	: C	3 S	Vic	Kir	. Pyı	Victor	Capitol	Vic	Car	Mer	Me	2	Cor	Capitol	. Dec	.Cap	De		Uni	Vict	. Colt	Coll	. Cap
	Ē	WEEN esigned to indic Ratings are for a No. 2 ar eek to week to regionally.				, A			nrine		, A		ora.						Σ	May			2													:
	1	Estgne Ro for of eek to region				loone	ibbs.	er.	٠		loone	rson.	ary r	erhal			 "L			Jole-B		E	£			nce			TY Fo	п	:				er				rong.					Harr	THEFT.
)	n is d n top. n. 9 ary w	Artist	Percy Faith	Martino BBC Transcription BBC	Rosemary ClooneyColumbia	Georgia Gibbs.	Eddie FisherVictor	Perev Lee-G. Jenking	Cornell Coral I'm Yours	lary (And	Fishe.	Wint	Cornell	Arden	Ножа	Cornell Coral I'll Walk Alone		ing) (Page.	Howa	Renna	Bradly	Valli. Victor. Strange Sensation	Lawre	Costa	Martinn	nl-Ma	MeltonVictorToothache in My Heel	гоша	rail Han	by Wayne Mercuing 1'm Some	inatra	Brew	nyder	rnell.	thony	Frmst	rosby	aine.	Pisher	Lain	O'Con
		pilation posse of mention will be the co	Ar	Percy	Al Martino	Rosen	Georg	Eddie	Perev	Don	Rosemary ClooneyColumbia.	Leroy Anderson	Como-Fisher Victor Victor	Hugo Winterhalter	Don C	Toni Arden Columbia	Eddy HowardMercuryBe Anything	Don Cornell	Nat (King) Cole-R May Conited Wellis, M. B. T. Trans	Nat (King) Cole-B. May Capitol Somewhere Alone the Way	Patti PageMercury	Eddy Howard.	Tony Rennett Collection Capitol Transfer Confession	Owen Bradly.	June V	Steve LawrenceKing.	Buddy Costa	Al Martinn Conit.	Les Paul-Mary Ford	James	Jane FromanCapitol	¤ ſ	1,0	Frank Sinafra Columbia Tama Posta	Teresa BrewerCoralGet Along Without	Bill SCnyder	Bill Darnell	Ray Anthony	Andreas Strustrong	Bing CrosbyDecca.	Lorry Raine	Eddle FisherVictor I Remember When	Frankie LaineColumbia	Helen O'Connell	TICICII
		s com as th o. 1 n keys 1			0 C	1		11 5					, O		4 I		1					1 E					4 Bi	1	4 Le	3 Ja	.	1		1			-		غا ا	Ä	្ន	표			ľ
	1	The first compilation is designed to indicate those records rising in popularity as well as those on top. Ratings are computed on the basis of 10 points for a No. 1 mention. 9 for a No. 2 and so on down to one point. Cities and jockeys will vary week to week to present a comprehensive picture of all sectors of the country regionally.	Pos. Pos. No. this last weeks wk. wk. in log	- -	١.	1		r 0				2 2	11 1	18	16 .			51 . 19										1.	·		• -	. :	-	-	2			١					1		ľ
Į		_ a522	Pos.	-	4 m	4	20	9 2	8A			11		14			166			1	21B 2	21C 41	1	26 3		m.	20 34	1	32.A 22		32C 24	35R	37A 34	37B	37C	37D	- 1	41B 30	115	4	41F	416	404 25	49B	1 2

20-4861

RCA VICTOR RECORDS

છું phia-(A.

P

Shop) Williams

Record

() ()

City-(Jenking Music)

Prom. Mpls. Ballroom, Launches Vocalist Policy: Cornell First

Tonicy, Corners I'lls.

Minneapolis, July 15.

The Prom, leading Twin Cities ballroom, has inaugurated a policy of bringing in occasional name singers as well as important bands for one, two or three nighters. Policy tees off with Don Cornell as the feature attraction for a one-nighter this week. He'll sing with the Jules Herman local orchestra.

mighter this week. Her sing with Jules Herman local orchestra.

During the course of a season, the Prom plays practically all of the top bands on tour, usually for one-night engagements. It has never before offered a singer as its main boxoffice lure. The Prom will present a full evening's program by Cornell and those singers who follow, at the same time, however, affording plenty of oportunity for customer hoofing.

Local show circle leaders say they'll watch the innovation with much interest. Some feel it puts the ballroom into a night club entertainment category, although it doesn't sell alcoholic beverages or permit their consumption on the premises.

PAUL WESTON SEEKS OUT ON 'SHRIMP' SUIT

OUT ON 'SHRIMP' SUIT

Hollywood, July 15.

Paul Weston filed motion in Federal District Court here seeking dismissal of his portion of the infringement action brought by Ben Pollack, who charged Weston and Paul Mason Howard had infringed on his time, "My Cajum Song," with "Shrimp Boats."

Weston sald if any infringing has been done, it was by Howard. Weston declared he has also written Walt Disney Music, another defendant, notifying them that he will hold the pub firm responsible if Weston suffers any loss since Disney "induced" Weston to collaborate with Howard. Disney, according to Weston, vouched for originality of Howard's effort.

Pyramid Inks Costa To Five-Year Deal

To Five-Year Deal
Buddy Costa, who broke in the wax market via "The Mask Is Off" on the indie Pyramid label, has been inked to a five-year pact by the diskery. Costa's upcoming etching will be "Fool, That I Was," backed with "To You, With Love."
Latter tune was penned by Barbara (Bobo) Rockefeller.
Costa, who's currently a nitery tour, is skedded for the Yankee Inn, Akron, O., July 21; Chubby's, Camden, N. J., July 28, and the Meadowbrook, Cedar Grove, N. J.,
Sept. 1.

TOPPING ALL LISTS LEROY ANDERSON MILLS MUSIC, Inc.

It's Music by JESSE GREER Program Today Yesterday's

KITTY FROM KANSAS CITY

FEIST

RETAIL DISK BEST SELLERS

Ross)

rk-(Davega

છ

olis-(Don Hospe

VARIETY Survey of retail disk best sellers, based on reports obtained from leading stores in 12 cities and showing comparative sales rating for this and last week.

National

Week Ending

	ting	July 12	Y You	hicago	Ang	Boston-	Jm#ha-	Minneap	Louis	Seattle	Ant	Kansas	Denyer	Philadel	N
	Last wk.	Artist, Label, Title	New	8	Los	Bos	ő	E E	兹	8	San	N.	å	H.	s
1	4	VERA LYNN (London) "Auf Wiederschn"—1227		1		1	1	3	5	. 3	/ 3	6	.,•	1	75
2	1	PERCY FAITH (Columbia) Delicado"—39708	_8_	9	7	7	3	••	3	1	1	4	2	3	73
3	2	AL MARTINO (BBS) "Here in My Heart"—101	5	8	3	8	2		1	8	2	2	5	10	67
4	3	"Half As Much"—39710			4	:-	7	2		_ 2_	. 4	. 7	3		58
5	8	ROSEMARY CLOONEY (Col) "Botch-a-Me"—39767	4	2		5	9	5		10	10		٠	2	41
6	10 ·	P. COMO-E, FISHER (Victor) "Maybe"—20-4744	6	3		2	8	9_	••	••	9	10		5.	36
7	7	"Blue Tango"—40220	10		6	6	··-		7	6	7	5	6		35
8	5	JOHNNIE RAY (Columbia) "Walking My Baby Home"—39750	9		8	,.	4	1	4	•	5	••	9		34
9	12	TONY MARTIN (Victor) "Kiss of Fire"—20-4671				•	5		2			1			25
10.	11	EDDIE FISHER (Victor) "I'm Yours"—20-4680		•••	5	••						3	1		24
11	в	GEORGIA GIBBS (Mercury) "Kiss of Fire"—5823				10		7			6		4	•••	17
12	9	DON CORNELL (Coral) "I'm Yours"—60659	7				6		٠	7	8.	٠			16
13	18	PEGGY LEE-G. JENKINS (Decca) "Lover"—28215	.	5						•		9	.8		11
14	16	TONI ARDEN (Columbia) "Kiss of Fire"—39737			1								•		10
. 15A		FRANKIE LAINE (Columbia) "High Noon"—39770	2								•••	٠			9
15B	14 -	DON CORNELL (Coral) "I'll Walk Alone"—60659		· .	2								• • •	:	9
16A	:.	JOHNNIE RAY (Columbia) "All of Me"—39788	3												8
16B		LES PAUL-MARY-FORD (Capitol "I'm Confessin" -2080)							4

FIVE TOP

17B

WITH A SONG IN Jane Froman Capitol BDN-309 KDF-309 L-309 ALBUMS

-2069

SINGIN' IN THE BIG BAND BASH Hollywood Cast
M-G-M
M-G-M-113
K-113
E-113

Billy May Capitol KCF-329 DCN-329 L-329

AMERICAN IN JOHNNIE RAY PARIS Hollywood Cast M-G-M E-93 K-93 M-93

Columbia CO-6199 C2-88 B-2-88

5

ALBUM

8 8

7

7

Camarata will cut his Decca sessions on the Coast until he returns to New York in April, 1953.

The Mask Is Off

TANGLEWOOD July 5-Aug. BERKSHIRE FESTIVAL BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCH. CHARLES MUNCH, Conductor Theatre Concerts—
July 19 at 8:15, July 20 at 3:00
SHED Concerts—
Thurs, Sat. Eves., Sun. Afts.
OPENING Thurs, Eve. July 24 Address: Tanglewood, Lenox, Mass-Reserved Seats Available

On the Upbeat

P. COMO-E, FISHER (Victor)
"Watermelon Weather"—20-4744
NAT (KING) COLE (Capitol)

Along Way

New York

Alan Dean begins a one-week engagement at the Three Rivers Inn. Syracuse, N. Y., Friday (18) ...

Ella Fitzgerald into the Blue Mirror, Washington, July 21 for two weeks ... Dan Fisher, of Fred Fisher Music, recuperating at Mt. Sinai Hospital, N. Y., after minor surgery ... Eddie Heywood Triabeginning its sixth month at the Embers, N. Y., this week ... Ivory Joe Hunter opens at the Ebony Club, Cleveland, July 21 ... Arthur Prysock into the Flame Bar, Detroit, Friday (18) for two weeks ... Bull Moose Jackson orch plays a one-week date at the Savoy Ballroom, N. Y., beginning July 24 ... Billy Eckstine was birthday partied by his Chi fan club last week (8) on stage of the Chicago Theatre ... Lenny Herman band at the Hotel Roosevelt, N. Y., until September.

New York

Chicago

Kitty Kallen will be featured in the Martin & Lewis show at the Chez Paree Aug. 3. Joan Barton had to drop out of the Joe. E. Lewis' revue at the same club July 17 due to husband's illness. . . Henry Durst, for the past two years with the band department of MCA has resigned. Joe Kayser takes over his booking duties at the agency. . Vie Damone etches his

Golschmann to Baton 20 Israeli Concerts

St. Louis, July 15.

St. Louis, July 15.

Vladimir Golschmann, maestro of the St. Louis symph orch for 21 consecutive years, is conducting a series of 20 concerts by the Israel Philharmonic in three principal cities, Tel Aviv, Haifa and Jerusalem. Following the conclusion of the 1951-52 season here last March, Golschmann returned to his native Paris and then departed for Israel, starting his series last week. The Israel Philharmonic, found.

The Israel Philharmonic, founded in 1936 by the late Bronislaw Hubermann, appeared in St. Louis during its 1951 American tour.

Fiedler Slated For

Summer Guest Shots

Boston, July 15. Arthur Fiedler, Boston "Pops" orch maestro, concluded his annual stint at the Esplanade last week to embark on a series of guest conducting shots for the balance of the summer. Maestro presents his first concert away from the local scene at Milwaukee tonight (15) where he batons that city's symphony in a concert with Oscar Levant slated as guest artist. Next Saturday and Sunday (19-20) he Saturday and Sunday (19-20) he conducts two concerts with the Grant Park orchestra at Chicago with Eugene List as soloist. Following the weekend stint, Fiedler returns to Hub before flying to San Francisco to take over the batoning of that city's symphony for the summer season, which runs from July 28 to Sept. 7.

There is also a strong possibility that Fiedler may journey to Alaska with the Seattle symphony later on for a series of concerts for army personnel. Hub's Esplanade concerts continue through July 19 with guest conductors subbing for Fiedler.

Nick Lucas to Dallas

Dallas, July 15.

Nick Lucas will open an engagement here at the Mural Room of the Baker Hotel on July 21. Lucas comes here from the Shamrock Hotel, Houston.

Current at the spot closing on July 19, is Jan August. Don Grimes orch also opens in the same room July 21.

Betty Reilly has been booked into the Mural Room, opening on Aug. 5 for two weeks.

Robin Hood Dell Concert To Refute Red Charges Of Culture Lack in U.S. Philadelphia, July 15.

Philadelphia, July 15.

The State Department's "Voice of America" tonight (Tuesday) taped the entire program at the Robin Hood Dell for broadcast overseas to Iron Curtain countries as a means of refuting Commie propaganda that Americans lack culture. The broadcast was okayed by Local 77, American Federation of Musicians, in line with its policy of co-operation with the State Department's pro-democracy campaign.

paign.
Commentator on "Voice of America" show pointed out that the concert which featured the finest American musicians (Robin Hood Dell symphony is composed almost entirely of the personnel of the Philadelphia Orchestra) and Erich Leinsdorf, conductor, was offered to public at admish tab of only 50 cents. Also that the series was partially made possible by grant from city which sponsors cultural activities for mass citizenry.

Goodman N. H. Concert Accomped by Showers New Haven, July 15.

New Haven, July 15.

For the second time in as many appearances with the Pop Concert Series held in the Yale Bowl, Benny Goodman manipulated his clarinet to the accompaniment of raindrops when showers cut short the program of last week (8). When showers hit the Bowl, it was necessary to telescope second half of program into a jam session featuring Goodman and his trio, with selections by the New Haven Symphony under baton of Harry Berman being completely eliminated.

The major part of the assembled

The major part of the assembled 11,000 patrons sat through his entire contribution, apparently unmindful of the dunking they were taking from the elements. Next concert is Sarah Vaughan, July 22.

Levant to Rest

Hollywood, July 15.
Oscar Levant cancelled scheduled concert tour following a sudden collapse over last weekend.

His condition is reported improved but he'll rest for a considerable period.

Camarata to Score RKO Pix

Tutti Camarata, Decca Records' musical director, heads Coastwards in September to score several films

DECCA America's Fastest - Selling - Records!

Blues Numbers Set For Pop Market Ride

Further pointing up the thin line separating pop and rhythm and blues output on the record company and publishing firm level, is the E. H. Morris Music purchase the E. H. Morris music purchase last week of an r. and b. number, "Have Mercy Baby." Tune, which was waxed by The Dominoes, Negro vocal combo, on the Federal label, will be promoted by the firm for pop release. "Baby" was penned by Billy Ward and will be placed with Meridian Music, Morris Broadcast Music, Inc. subsid.

Along the same pop r. and b. lines, is the simultaneous release lines, is the simultaneous release by Columbia Records and its subsid, Okeh, of Erroll Garner etchings. Okeh, which is pegged for the r. and b. field, is currently releasing Garner's workoyers of "Laura," "Penthouse Serenade," "I Cover the Waterfront," "Back Home in Indiana," and a flock of other sides which were packaged in an 'Erroll Garner Gens" album. The "Gems" album, incidentally, was issued by Col packaged the color of the Mpls. Symph Attendance Up 8.7% Over 1950-51 Minneapolis, July 15.

Minneapolis, July 15.

Attendance at Minneapolis Symphony orchestra Friday night concerts during the past season was 8.7% ahead of that of 1950-51, rising to an average of 3,308, it was reported by manager A. J. Gaines at the orchestra association's annual meeting. He credited the increase to the work of the Women's Symphony Associates and Junior Symphony Associates which sold $6,600 in tickets, Also announced was receipt of a $10,000 check from the women's organizations, representing returns from a series of luncheons held the past two months.

The orch has scheduled for next season 18 subscription and 10 young people's concerts.

America's Biggest Band Leader

and his orchestra

Now on tour --

First Time on the West Coast.

Current Big Hit

Mercury Record

No. 5876 and 5876x45

Songs With Largest Radio Audience

The top 30 songs of week (more in case of ties), based on copyrighted Audience Coverage Index & Audience Trend Index. Published by Office of Research, Inc., Dr. John Gray Peatman, Director. Alphabetically listed.

Survey Week of July 4-10

A Girl A Fella and A Beach Umbrella
Am I In Love_†"Son of Paleface"Famous
Anytime
Auf Wiedersehn SweetheartHill & R Be Anything (But Be Mine)Hill & R
Be Anything (But Be Mine)
Blue Tango
Chicago Mills Delicado Fisher
Delicado Fisher Remick
For the Very First Time
Forgive Me
Forgive Me
Goody Goody
Here In My Heart Mellin High Noon Feist
How Close
If Someone Had Told Mo
If Someone Had Told Me
Im Confessin' Bourne
I'm Yours. Algonquin Isn't This a Night For Love. Fox
Just For You
Just For YouBurvan
Kiss Of Fire
Maybe
Singin' In the Rain—†"Singin' In the Rain"Robbins
So Madly In Love
Sweetest Words I Know
To Be Loved By You
Walkin' My Baby Back Home, DeSylva-B-H
Watermelon Weather
What Good Is a Gal. Miller
Wish You Were Here—*"Wish You Were Here" Chappell
Second Group

Second Group
A Guy Is a Guy	wolfur
Be Life's Companion	Morrie
From Time You Say Goodbye	Pickwick
Glow-Worm.	Monles
Half As Much.	A cure To
I'll Walk Alone—†"With a Song In My Heart"	Acum-R
In Good Old Summer Time	Mayiair
In Good Old Summer Time	Marks
Just a Little Lovin'	Hill & R
Once In a While	Miller
Perfiidia	.Peer
Poinciana	Marks
Rosanne	.ABC
Rutza Rutza	Sheldon.
Saturday Rag	Robbins
Smoke Rings	Am Academy
Somewhere Along Way	Tinited
South	Door
Vanessa	Mounta
West Of the Mountains	MULLIS O-J
Whistle My Love—†"Robin Hood"	Goday
What Did War I would nood	Disney
Why Did You Leave Me	.Koncom
Zing a Little Zong—†"Just For You"	, Burvan
•

Top 10 Songs On TV

Dide rango
Cry	Mellow
Here In My Heart	Mellin
I'm Yours	Algonquin
Lover
Riddle De Diddle De Day	Disney
Take My Heart	Santly-J
Walkin My Baby Back Home
Where Did the Night Go	Chappell
Wish You Were Here	Chappell

· IIVE IOI SIANDANDS
Charleston	.Harms
Cocktail For Two	. Famous
Just One Of Those Things	Harms
Merry-Go-Round Broke Down
On Sunny Side Of the Street	Shapiro-B

† Filmusical. * Legit musical.

Cleffers Yen

current example is "Kiss of Fire," a high-riding etching on several labels, is still a slow moving sheet seller. And from the writer-publisher viewpoint, that's where the big payoff is.

big payoff is.

Some recent tunes, referred to in the trade as "fat songs," have proved to be big items on wax as well as in sheet sales. Among these have been such clicks as "My Heart Cries For You" and "Cold, Cold Heart." These tunes, a writer pointed out, have a universal appeal and weren't dependent on a special wax rendition to break through. They also have a top sheet potential with steady sales going on for years to come.

The "fat songs" are those which going on for years to come.

The "fat songs" are those which blend pop and country tastes. Such past hits as "Tennessee Waltz," "Old Spinning Wheel," "Red Sails In the Sunset," "Isle of Capri" and "Good Night Irene" are cited as examples of that genre. For the most part these tunes "relay a romantic and/or homey philosophy—and that's what the public wants to sing and play. to sing and play.

to sing and piay.

Writers and pubs agree that there's a big market for these songs and a concentrated swing toward that goal by the disk companies would help pull the music biz out of its present slump. As one pubber put it—"we'll start selling sheet conies again as soon as we give copies again as soon as we give the public what it wants."

Schneiders Buy One Third Of Meadows, Hub Spot

Boston, July 15.

Max and Joe Schneider, owners of Hub's downtown spot, Steuben's, have bought a third interest in the Monroe-Marshard owned Meadows, have bought a third interest in the Monroe-Marshard owned Meadows, in nearby Framingham, from Joe Novick, longtime manager. Built in 1946 by the late maestro Jack Marshard in collaboration with Vaughn Monroe and Novick, the Meadows is one of largest dine and dance spots in the suburban area, with a seating capacity of 1,200. Under the new setup, the Schneiders will actively participate in overall supervision of the spot, with Monroe expected to devote more time to the project than previously. Harry Marshard will continue in capacity of musical director and will bring his augmented band into the spot following Monroe's stint, which is slated for an indefinite period starting about Oct. 1. There are no indications that a floorshow policy will be inaugurated, with the classy eatery grossing upwards of $1,000,000 yearly, sans comics, dance teams, etc.

Damone With Army Band

San Antonio, July 15.

Pfc. Vic Damone has reported for duty at Fort Sam Houston with the Fourth Army Band.

Damone has recently returned from Germany, and is scheduled to assist with camp shows, hospital appearances and WAC-WAF recruiting program.

Inside Orchestras—Music

Nomination of Dwight D. Eisenhower as Republican candidate for President in Chicago Friday (11) sparked a new sales drive on the long play album, "Ike From Abilene." Album, which was produced by Abbey Records, indie label, got off to a slow start when it hit the market a couple of months ago. GOP convention last week, however, started the sales spurt which moved into high gear after Ike's nomination. Album relays Ike's history from his boyhood in Abilene, Kansas, to his post as Supreme Allied Commander in Europe. Legitfilm thesp Henry Fonda handles the narration.

Feist Music, one of the Big Three combine, has come up with novel exploitation idea for its new song, "High Noon," from the 20th-Fox picture of the same title. Via arrangement with a jukebox company, Runyon Sales, a coin machine has been set up in the lobby of the Mayfair Theatre, N. Y., where all five wax versions of the song can be selected for free plays by passers-by. Pic will open at the theatre July 24. Jerry Wexler, Big Three promotion chief, arranged the deal.

Although the late Maria Grever penned the music for "What a Diff'rence a Day Made" and "Tl-Pi-Tin," tunes were not part of the Portilla Music catalog which Frank Hennigs Music bought out last week. Former tune is an E. B. Marks Music copyright while latter is in the Leo Felet actalog Feist catalog

St. Loo Symph Seeks More Coin for Tooter Wage Hike

Coin for Tooter Wage Hike

St. Louis, July 15.

An additional $8,600 in public subscriptions is being sought by execs of the St. Louis symph society in order to give the tooters a 10% wage hike during the 1952-53 season. Representative of the tooters have asked-for such a like and inability of the society to accede to the demand has prevented reengagement of tooter personnel for the forthcoming season.

A spokesman for the society said, "The wage increase is indeed to prevent deterloration of the orch, which ranks with the nation's best." Tooters paid at the minimum scale during the last 23 week reason received $2,000 before taxes, and if the additional coin is obtained it will be possible to increase minimum barnings to $2,213. The recent maintenance drive for next season for $175,000 eached only $142,000 but through funds obtained from other activities execs of the organization were able to offer the tooters a slight hike.

B.G. Concert Tour
Associated Booking Corp. prexy
Joe Glaser has set Benny Goodman on a concert tour through Nova Scotia starting Aug. 1. He'll travel with vibesist Terry Gibbs and a small band.
Edlawing the Nove Sectia dates.

Following the Nova Scotia dates, Goodman will continue with a stand at the Blue Note, Chicago.

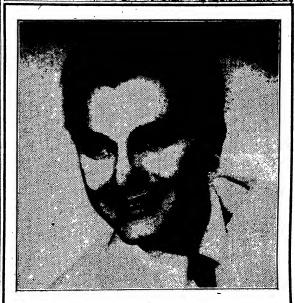

Bob Marks to Head E. B. Marks on Coast

Robert Marks, of E. B. Marks exploitation department, leaves for Hollywood today (Wed.) to take over the firm's Coast branch. His New York post will be filled by Fred Woodruff, of the firms' professional department.

Marks is a nephew of the firm's

Marks is a nephew of the firm's founder, E. B. Marks, and a cousin of the prez, Herbert Marks.

Al Bernie will play his first date at the Copacabana, N. Y., in sev-eral years, starting a stand there July 31.

Victor Marchese

FAITH

MY HEART'S DESIRE

MGM 30596 K 30596

M/G/M RECORDS

Carny Boss Sez 'AFL' Union Forced Him Into Pact at Hoosier Unloading

Fort Wayne, Ind., July 15. Charging that threats and in-timidation caused the management of the Cetlin & Wilson Shows to of the Cettin & Wilson Shows to sign a contract with the recently organized Local 450, Carnival, Amusement and Novelty Device. Workers Union (AFL), J. W. Wilson, co-owner, last week (8) told his 700 employees it was the only way to get the show unloaded the previous Sunday (6).

Wilson, said a picket line met the show train at the New York Central siding in Fort Wayne, and the outfit stayed on the rails for seven hours until the contract was signed. Local teamsters refused to cross the picket line to unload equipment until owners signed the contract.

equipment until owners signed the contract.

Wilson declared he had been warned by Harry Karsh, president of the union, that the show "would not move from Fort Wayne unless employees approved the union contract." None of the employees were members of the union, but it was reported they planned to accept the agreement "under protest" to keep the show on the road. The contract, which runs from July 6 to Feb. 2, 1953, calls for a union shop, under which employees must join the union within 30 days, and a checkoff system for paying $1 monthly dues per employee.

The carnival owners said they

FOSTER AGENCY, LONDON,

CASINO TRAVEMUNDE Germany

American Rop. WM. MORRIS AGENCY
TAVEL-MAROUANI AGENCY, PARIS director of public relations for the AFL at Washington, which stated that the Jewelry Workers Internathat the Jewerry workers interna-tional Union has no jurisdiction in the carnival field, has been given none by the AFL, and that Karsh's activities are now under investigation by an official AFL

Buffalo's Town Casino Puts Accents on Prod. With Kamarova Pacting

With Kamarova Pacting
The Town Casino, Buffalo, will go in for heavier production during the forthcoming season. Spot has retained Natasha Kamarova, who routines the shows at the Latin Quarter, N.Y., and the Bellevue Casino, Montřeal, to lay out the shows in that spot. Boniface Harry Altman will continue to book names.
It's planned to alternate the production with the Bellevue Casino, so that each show will stay in each room for four weeks. Acts will stay for two weeks. Miles Ingalls, who set Miss Kamarova in both spots, is now attempting to line up the Four Dukes, Detroit, in order to set up a longer route for der to set up a longer route for the production numbers.

Miami Beach Saxony Maps Pagoda Fixup

Miami Beach, July 15.
Saxony Hotel, plushiest oceanfronter on the beach, will enter the cafe sweepstakes next winter with a 350-400-seater that will operate under a one star, two-orch policy.

Hostel's ops are rebuilding the Pagoda Room, under supervision of Franklin Hughes, Plans call for star's doubling into across-the-lobby Shell-I-Mar room for a two-show policy. Third cafe in the hotel is the Bamboo-La Lounge, which features instrumental talent.

15-Year-Old Wins

Award at IBM Meet
St. Louis, July 15.
Richard Cavett, 15, Lincoln, Neb., youngest member of the International Brotherhood of Magicians, last week copped an awardfor originality at the windup of the annual conclave here. Richard amazed his older colleagues with his new trick, cutting a rope into seven pieces and then displaying one uncut rope.
Another originality award went to Ray M. Houdek, Kansas City, Mo., for making vases and other objects disappear via the use of black light, and Dr. Richard O.
Mossey, Milwaukee, won an award for a "mental telepathy" &ard trick.

trick.
A "Headliners Show," with many A "Headliners Show," with many of the members displaying their tricks, was held at the Henry W. Kiel municipal auditorium for the windup. Arthur D. Reichenbach windup. Arthur D. Reichenbach, Allentown, Pa., was installed as the new prexy. Other officers for the ensuing year are Forest P. Hendricks, St. Louis, first vice president, and Dr. A. L. Baldwin, Pittsburgh, secretary.

Gleason $43,250, Pitt Penn Mark

Pittsburgh, July 15.
Playing the first stand on his quickle tour here last week, Jackle Gleason broke the all-time house record at Loew's Penn, doing $43,250 to top previous mark of $41,600 established by Frankie Laine in January, 1950. Gleason figure is even more remarkable since he pulled a total of 14,700 kids, and scale for them during entire engagement was only 28c, as against adult admissions of 65-85-$1.10.

Biz for Gleason never let up, starting off on high and staying

Biz for Gleason never let up, starting off on high and staying that way right down the stretch. For the final show of his last day, Penn turned away at least 2,000. TV comedian's troupe includes Art Carney, Pert Kelton, Zamah Cunningham and Stan Ross, all of his video cast; DeMarco Sisters, Joe Bushkin Four and dancer Elaine Dunn.

PACT TONY MARTIN FOR TORONTO FAIR

TOK I UKUNIU FAIK

Toronto, July 15.

Tony Martin has been signed as American guest-star in the otherwise all-Canadian 24,000 - seat grandstand show at the Canadian National Exhibition. Decision climaxed last-minute frantic search for a name when Betty Hutton was forced to relinquish the two-week nightly engagement at $50,000 plus 50% over a $350,000 gross when Paramount stepped in to cancel her CNE contract for immediate start of a picture commitment. Martin's deal is reportedly considerably less than Miss Hutton's. Jack Arthur, CNE grandstand show producer, was strictly mum on details.

Saranac Lake

Saranac Lake

By Happy Benway
Saranac Lake, N.Y.; July 15.

Never in the history of this institution has there been a lawn party given for "We the Patients" that can excel the one sponsored and financed by Al Brandt (Brandt Theatres) during the recent holiday. Brandt was also emcee and music was by Joe Boland orch, courtesy of Peter Loehrer, the Swiss Chalet boniface.

Robert Nesbitt off to Steubenville, O., for his first 10 day furlough out of the sanatorium.

Frank (RKO) Scheedel and his wife, the former Ann Rowe, both ex-Rogerites who graduated here, in class of 1947 (and were married here after their first real good clinic), in from Astoria, L.I., for that annual checkup, and were given the green light O.K.

Audrey Lumpkin now rates full privileges, a certainty that she'll be N.Y.C. bound in the fall.

The Bartletts, burlesquers and vaudevillians of yesteryear, in for a bedside chat with Joe Fennessy, Essie Hall in from the Bronx for to visit her husband, Bob Hall, whose observation period is a pronounced success.

Paul Hein, N.Y. musician, visited by Rudolph and Charlott Hein accompanied by Pfc. Artie Hein, just returned from Korea.

Write to those who are ill.

Award at IBM Meet Steel Strike, Heat Wave Slug Cleve. Cafes; Pitt Carousel in Early Foldo

Tony Martin Guarantee Upped by L. A. Grove

Hollywood, July 15.
Tony Martin draws an increased guarantee when he returns to the Cocoanut Grove of the Ambassador Hotel here, late in October, after the current 16-week stand of Freddy Martin's orch.
Singer played the room las sumpor at a guarantee of $5,000 plus

Singer played the room last summer at a guarantee of $5,000 plus a split of the covers. This time the guarantee will be increased by at least $500. William Morris Agency booked the date:

Hildegarde Would Operate N.Y. Ambassador's Trianon For Eastertime Showcase

Hildegarde is currently dickering with the Hotel Ambassador, N.Y., to take over its Trianon Room as a showcase. Deal is under negotiation by Music Corp. of America, repping the chantoosey, but nothing has been finalized as but nothing has been finalized as yet.

Meanwhile, Hildegarde, now in Europe, has been signed for the Statler, Detroit, Sept. 15: Deshler-Wallick, Columbus, Oct. 2, to be followed by the Lake Club, Springfield, date of which is still to be set. Other engagements lined up are the Adolphus, Dallas, Jan. 19: East Frontier, Las Vegas, Feb. 6, and the Statler, Los Angeles, Feb. 22.

The Ambassador deal would be

Feb. 22.

The Ambassador deal would be for around the Easter season. Hildegarde would participate in the room's earnings and would be in charge of the entire operation. It would be her first stand at this room and it would mark a major nitery effort for the hotel, which hasn't been too active in the entertainment groove. tainment groove.

tainment groove.

This past season, Hildegarde worked the Pierré Hotel, N.Y., for the first time on a 12-week deal. She had been a fixture at the Persian Room of the Plaza Hotel, and prior to that worked the Cafe Lounge of the Savoy Plaza, where she came to bigtime attention.

HILDEGARDE'S GI DATES IN GERMANY, AUSTRIA

Wiesbaden, July 8.
Hildegarde, playing a series of shows for GI's in Germany, is on a tour which will take her to Cobelentz, Mainz, Hanau, Frankfurt and after that will play Austrian dates in Innsbruck, Linz, Salzburg, Wells and Vienna.

in innspruce, Linz, Saizdurg, wells and Vienna.

Chantoosey is playing cuffo for the soldier audiences, hence as a reciprocal courtesy, she and Anna Sosenko, her manager, are being billeted at the Berchesgardner Hotel, one of the swankiest in the area.

area.

Tour is being supervised by Capt.
W. A. Allsbrook, a former theatre man. Hildegarde will conclude her tour around July 20, and will do a record date in London before returning to the U. S. on the S.S.
United States Aug. 14.

Scot Dancer Picked For

Glasgow, July 15.

Maureen Swanson, 19-year-old Glasgow actress and dancer, has gone to Paris to play the role of Denise (first love of the artist Toulouse-Lautrec) in the film "Moulin Rouge." John Huston, who directs, picked her out of nearly 50 aspirants for the part. Jose Ferrer plays the artist.

Dancer was principal half in the touring was principal half.

Dancer was principal ballerina in the touring version of "Carousel." She trained at the Sadler's Wells School.

Delfont Leases London Cafe

London, July 8.
J. A. Littman, owner of the Cafe Anglais, has leased the spot to Bernard Delfont and a big syndicate, with Delfont expected to take over Sept. 1. He intends to run the Anglais on the lines of the Lido in Parls. It will be known as the Lido Leicester Square.

Policy of Lido will comprise two shows daily, with food at inclusive charge.

Cleveland, July 15.
Steel strike hitting more industries here and Lack of convention blz are giving Cleveland's niteries the slowest—and reddest—midsummer grosses they have had in over a dozen years. Fried even more by the thermometer-busting heat, many cafes are slashing entertainment budgets to the bone and some are shuttering until the fall.

fall.

For the first time in its 15-year history the 'Alpine Village, usually a top grosser here, is going dark six weeks for what it announced as a "remodeling and re-glamoring program." Operated by Herman Pirchner, who booked three of Frank Sennes' package revues this spring, it will reopen Labor Day with new staircases to enlarged stage and a more sophisticated decor.

Pirchner makes no secret the Pirchner. makes no secret that he lost, "over $25,000" on his last three shows, a couple of which belonged to Sennes, Cleveland booker. Latter's "Minksy's Follies" pulled an all-time high record gross during four weeks at the theatre-restaurant. It also drew an official rap from Ohio likker board agents for alleged "indecency." State board, headed by Anthony Rutkowski, recently had several hearings on the case here but has not yet come to any decision.

Alhambra Tavern-Club dropped (Continued on page 116)

(Continued on page 116)

'Always on Her Toes'

In Her Original Toe Acrobatic Dance Designs

Currently

CLOVER CLUB Portland, Oregon

COMEDY MATERIAL LASON'S FUN-MASTER

PLASON'S FUN-MAJER
THE ORIGINAL SHOW BIX GAG FILE
(The Service of the Stars)
33 ISSUES 325.
First 13 Files 57.00. All 35 ISSUES 255.04
Singly: $1.05 Each IN SEQUES 255.04
(Sepinning with No. 1—No Skipping)
0 3 BKs. FARODIES per book $10 or
0 MINSTER BUDGE:
0 4 BLACKOUT BKS. Ca. bk. 25 or
0 MONTO MOUT BKS. CA. bk. 25

NO C.O.D.'S PAULA SMITH 200 W. 54 St., New York 19 Dept. V Circle 7-1130

5th Return Engagement SHOREHAM HOTEL

Grant's Riviera

RESTAURANT AND BAR 158 W. 44 St., New York LU 2-4488

WHERE SHOWBUSINESS MEETS * TALENT CONTEST

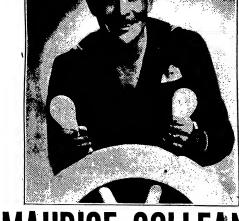

MONDAY NIGHTS

Prize: Professional Engagemen Dunilente Prizes Awarded in the Case of Tie

WHEN IN BOSTON It's the

HOTEL AVERY

Avery & Washington Sts The Home of Show Folk

MAURICE COLLEANO

GEORGE and JOYCE COLLEANO

JAMES CARDWELL

SENSATIONAL RETURN TO BROADWAY

after appearing

Leading Theatres in England Including the Palladium — Coliseum — Prince of Wales and a COMMAND PERFORMANCE

also

TWO RECORD BREAKING YEARS IN AUSTRALIA Now Appearing

PALACE, New York After having played here many times in its glorious past Hello to All Our Pals

Direction: JACK KALCHEIM 160 W. 46th St., N. Y.

JUdson 6-5574

AGVA Distributes Official Notices Cancelling Agreements With Assns.

The American Guild of Variety Arfits has sent letters informing all agency organizations that agreements between the group and the union are being cancelled. Letter constitutes a 60-day notice as required by the agreement.

Actually, AGVA has only one written agreement with any organization. It's with Artists Representatives Assn., which reps agencies in New York and Chicago. Other agreements are oral such as those in effect with Agents Assn. of America, Theatrical Agents of New England, Philadelphia Theatrical Agents Protective Assn., Ohio Theatrical Agents Assn.

Under the new arrangements, ordered at the union's national convention held last month in Hollywood, AGVA will issue franchises gratis to all agents who meet requirements. Under the old setup, union charged $50 per, but members of agency groups got their licenses through the organization upon payment of $50 dues to the group.

Prima Dropping Baton For Two-Act Cafe Try

For Two-Act Cafe Try Bandleader Louis Prima will disband his orch and do an experimental series as a double with Keeley Smith, vocalist. He's been signed for Moe's Main Street, Cleveland, for one month. If it's a successful stand, bandleader may do more in the same vein in other spots which book record names exclusively.

Prima is following the path of other maestri who have found that they can do as well or better as a single or with a few musicians and not have the headaches of holding a band together. Carmen Cavallaro has been a click as a piano single. Gene Krupa is now working with a small group. Buddy Rich is now a single and 'Woody Herman has a small combo behind him.

Management MCA

Wirtz Icer Replacing 'Follies' in Omaha

Omaha, July 15, After making Omaha a number of years, the Shipstads-Johnson "Ice Follles" has cancelled to take on a substitute date, probably in Washington. "Follies" has always done SRO at Ak-Sar-Ben Collseum, averaging $120,000 for the seven performances here.

"Follies" will be replaced by the Arthur, Wirtz "Hollywood Ice Revue," starring Barbara Ann Scott, with same dates, Nov. 6-12.

Shift will not affect the spring visit of "Ice Capades" in the Coliseum, April 9-16.

CLOSURE OF MEX IRIS BRINGS UNION HASSLE

Mexico City, July 15.

Mexico City, July 15.
Sudden closure of the Teatro
Iris, de luxe vaude-revue theatre here, has the National Actors
Union and Paco Sierra, the impresario, in a hassle about cash compensation for the performers who were, union says, given no notice.

Theatre, named after Esparanza Iris, vet operatic comedienne and Sierra's wife, lost $11,560 on the season, which earlier had featured Lola Flores, Spanish folk singer-dancer, Sierra announced. He told the union he decided to close forthwith to avoid going further into the red. Show had cut its top to 92c from $1.72, but that didn't bring in enough customers. Theatre, named after Esparanza bring in enough customers.

Iris, in an effort to hypo biz, had booked "Dynamite" Jefferson, Negro thrush, billed as being from the Lido, Paris, and Bala Kremo, juggler, billed as being from the Winter Garden, Berlin. Both hadn't bowed at time of closure. Kremo, however, opened big at El Patio nitery Friday (11), in for three weeks with option.

publicity or public relations representative as long as they follow the sustaint publicity through the working press.

Fred Schwarz, a former president of the club and an independent of the club and an independent correspondent, pointed out that tention of Pageant execs but had received "little satisfaction."

'Peep Show' $19,000 In Gotham Heat

Frank Sennes' "Peep Show," which opened at the Hollday Theatre, N. Y., Thursday (10), is expected to hit $19,000 for its initial week. Show opened up exceedingly strong but was bopped by the weekend heat.

"Peep" was augmented by Alan Carrier, for the first four device.

"Peep" was augmented by Alan Carney for the first few days of the run. However, Carney is being withdrawn at the end of the week when it's expected that several sketches will be ready. Pic is "Kentucky Jubilee" (Lip).

A.C. Press Club Burns At 'Miss America' Plan For Hometown Handouts

Atlantic City, July 15. A plan of the Miss America Pageant committee to provide news papers with cuffo stories prepared by its own publicity staff was hit last week by the Press Club of Atlantic City. Many of its members have for years been filing stories to newspapers during pageant week for cash. Pageant committee's plan would cost local newsmen this revenue.

revenue.

Press club objected that the Pageant committee has set up an organization to give direct news coverage to hometown papers of the more than 50 contestants for the "Miss America" crown. It regards the idea as a "dangerous invasion" of the newspaper field, and if not checked, could spread to the serious detriment of all working newspapermen, it charged.

It was no inted out that there newspapermen, it charged.

It was pointed out that there was no objection to hiring of a publicity or public relations representative as long as they follow the usual procedure of preparing and disseminating publicity through the working press.

Russkys Seize 'Vanities' Equipment In E. Berlin, Ask 21G for 'Smuggling'

Shift Hilton's Elmiger From Caribe to Madrid

From Caribe to Madrid
Hitton Hotel chain has shifted Arthur E. Elmiger from general manager of Caribe Hilton, San Juan, Puerto Rico, to the same post at the Castellana Hilton, Madrid, It's the first of the Hilton inns to be opened in Europe. Preem is slated for November.
Robert J. Caverly, veepee of the Hilton Hotels International, will succeed Elmiger as the Caribe Hilton topper.

A. C.'S $11,910,700 HOLIDAY SCORE

Atlantic City, July 15.
A total of $11,910,700 was deposited in resort banks following the three-day Fourth of July holiday last week.

day last week.

The last time the calendar provided a similar three-day holiday over the Fourth was in 1949 when the deposits were $6,730,875.

The latest figure represents deposits made the half banking day of Saturday, July 5, and July 7-8.

Mpls. Cafe's Licenses Nixed on Murder Rap Minneapolis, July 15.

Minneapolis, July 15.
The city council has revoked the liquor and all other licenses of Smitty's theatre cafe, refusing the owners their requested permission to sell the establishment for an estimated $25,000.

Action followed a murder involving a young man who told the court that he and a minor girl, the victim, had been served liquor although he was intoxicated.

Police told the council license committee that during the past several years it had received numerous complaints against the spot and charged that it was a hangout for prosties.

N. Y. homeoffice reps of "Skating Vanities" are attempting to enlist the aid of President Truman and the State Dept. in an effort to release the show's equipment from the Soviet government in East Bernin by July 18, when roller skating troupe is slated to sall for the U. S., in order to open at Convention Hall in Asbury Park, N. J., Aug. 1.

"Vanities" equipment was seized last week by Soviet border guards on the claim that various members of the company had attempted to smuggle through such items as Melssen china and watches from the Soviet zone of Berlin. Seven trucks of equipment are being held as Russian authorities assessed the value of the goods for custom purposes at 90,000 marks ($21,420).

First news of the seizure arrived poses at 90,000 marks ($21,420).

First news of the seizure arrived when Harold Steinman, co-owner of the show with Harry Miller, phoned the homeoffice from Berlin and asked for $25,000 immediately. Subsequently, Sam Shayon, show's attorney, spoke to the State Dept. and attempted to enlist its aid with the promise that "Vanities" would refund the money if it were advanced by the State Dept. Latter stated there is no budget for such transactions. Shayon declared that there was no indication of what happened to the receipts from their European engagement.

Shayon stated that it was imper-

Shayon stated that it was imperative that the show return in time for the new 1952-53 season, inasmuch as "Vanities" had posted various sums in bonds for stands in the U. S.

The cast of the show, along with Steinman, are not being held in custody. Most of the performers already had departed for Kiel, while Steinman is remaining in Berlin.

Thus far, there have been no results from Washington intervention, except that the State Dept. reported that a fine equivalent to more than $13,000 has been set, and Soviet and American authorities were conferring.

ROCHESTER Now Playing Re-signed ROX' For the 16th NEW YORK consecutive year with -Assisted by RUSSELL (BOB) EVANS RADIO and TELEVISION

The Elks' national convention, which started Saturday (12) in New York, is proving a bonanza to hotels, restaurants and niteries. Around 34,000 are in town for the confab. Midtown hotels were virtually sold out, restaurants were comfortably filled and niteries gold lift from the visitors. They haven't benefited side street bars, however.

haven't beliefed side safety and, however.

At the Latin Quarter, manager Eddie Risman said that many Elke parties were booked several weeks in advance, Monday night, when a letdown is usually expected, there was a big first show and a solid second session. The Copacabana's manager, Jack Entratter, observed many of the lodge in the audience. Leon & Eddie's and the Havana-Madrid also drew members.

There was little fraternal activity on the east side, outside of the Copa. Most of the conventioneers are staying fairly close to the Times Square sector.

Horne's Brit. Indie Pic

Glasgow, July 8.
Lena Horne will start her British pic Sept. 15. It will be her first independent film venture.
Author of the story, which has a London setting, is sculptor Peter Lambda, who does heads of theater and film personalities and has authored documentary pix. Film will be completed by November.

NIGHT CLUB AVAILABLE

In heart of Broadway, seating capacity 800, completely air conditioned, newly decorated; would cost $500,000 to duplicate; very reasonable pro-position for competent Box V-71452 Variety, 154 W. 46th St. New York 36, N. Y.

HELENE and HOWARD Currently
LAST FRONTIER HOTEL

Las Vegas, Nev. Dir.: M.C.A. Per. Mgt. TOM SHEILS

CARROLL GORMAN

KING RECORDING ARTISTS FROLICS, OMAHA, NES. July 12 to July 25

Address 313 Seventy-Eighth Street Miami Beach, Florida

Mex Boys Choir Europe Tour Starts OK in Lisbon

Lishon, July 8.

Mexican Boys Cholr, who toured the States last year under management of Clarence Crammer, started an eight-month tour of Europe with a date here. They're under management of Concertos Daniel of Madrid and of M. Levytoff of Paris.

Presentation at the 2,000-seat Cinema Impero here has been a

DUNN VS. AUERBACH ON BOOKING HASSLE

Hollywood, July 15.

Hollywood, July 15.

Henry Dunn, Coast representative of the Lew & Lesile Grade Agency, will seek arbitration on what he terms an "unethical action by Artie Auerbach" which involves Music Corp. of America. Dunn said his agency had a letter of authorization from Auerbach's pic agent, Bob Schwartz, okaying nitery bookings. Grade office was subsequently under the impression it had the right to represent Auerbach for cafe work. Dunn stated that Auerbach already had agreed on Grade representation.

Auerbach, according to Dunn, thus was booked into Top's, San Diego. MCA, which formerly repped Auerbach, then set him into the same nitery at a lower price, Dunn charged Auerbach repacted with MCA and was inked for the Flamingo, Las Vegas, as part of a unit with the Harry James band.

Steel Strike

Continued from page 114

all its sepia entertainment, closed all its sepia entertainment, closed its dining room and owners plan to shift to white name headliners this autumn. Phil Basch and Earon Rein, whose Skybar was a hot jazz rendezvous in these parts for years, were so badly pinched by slump that they sold out.

After Playing such attractions as

After playing such attractions as Stan Kenton and Count Basie: the Stan Kenton and Count Basie, the Towne Casino suddenly pulled in its financial horns until the hot weather blows over. The Jackie Davis Trio is now ratifling around this major black-and-whitery, which expects to kick off its September season with either Cab Calloway or Duke Ellington.

Calloway or Duke Ellington.

Only supper clubs still featuring shows and talent of any importance are Hotel Hollenden's Vogue Room, with Dorothy Collins topping current bill, and Eddie Sindelar's Sky-Way Lounge Club, which inked in Connie Boswell for current stanza. Pirchner is keeping inked in Connie Bosweii for current stanza. Pirchner is keeping open his intimate Eldorado Club, above his temporarily darkened Alpine Village, with Joe Baldi's orch and pianist Hans Reiss on tap.

Carousel Cancels Names

Pittsburgh, July 15.
Jackie Heller's Carousel, one of Golden Triangle's leading niteries, has dropped out of contention for the remainder of the summer, a the remainder of the summer, a victim of the steel stylke and the rampaging heat. Although spot at first contemplated going through the warm months, dropping business the last few weeks brought about a sudden decision to close until Labor Day. Bookings of Jimmy Nelson, Dorothy Collins, Snooky Lanson and Joe E. Lewis, who had been penciled in for late July and early August, were cancelled.

Carousel had proving to the contemplate of the strength of the streng celled.

Carousel had previously shuttered during summer for maximum of three weeks to give the staff a breather, but this is the first time the blackout will be of such a long duration. Heller himself will have to stick around, however, since he has a quarter-hour sponsored TV show on WDTV Wednesday evenings.

For no people but show people! SPECIAL RATES! Right in the heart of Philadelphia's theatrical and night club district . . . excellent facilities, spacious, homey rooms. 766 John Bartram Hotel BROAD AND LOCUST STREETS

Robert Pearce, Resident Meneger

Schenectady Sponsor Gets $252 Profit From Circus

VARIETY

Schenectady, July 15.

The Schenectady Junior Chamber of Commerce made a profit of only $252.66 from sponsorship of two performances by Ringling Bros, and Barnum & Bailey Circus last week (8) and this amount came solely from proceeds of the parking area at the showgrounds. William Hubbard, president, explained that his organization was to have shared in any ticket sale gross over $21,000. However, the total sale for both performances amounted to only $13,487.

This meant that the Chamber received nothing from ticket sales and that the circus itself took a loss, Hubbard said. The Big Show management gave the sponsors $1,150 to pay the bills incurred in bringing the circus to Schenectady.

ectady.

It was reported that for the Albany date, the previous day, the Junior Chamber of Commerce there had a similar "break" figure. The auspices angle for the Ringling-Barnum show was new hereabouts.

Rodeo a Big Factor As B. O. Medium For Pix. Sez Bill Elliott

Television may be a modern elec-tronic marvel, but the time-honored tronic marvel, but the time-honored rodeo is still to be reckoned with as a boxoffice medium, according to "Wild Bill" Elliott. The Monogram western star, who arrived in New York last week, came in from Kerrville, Tex., where the Elliott-T. C. Steiner, Jr., rodeo drew capacity business over the Fourth of July weekend.

July weekend.

Now in its third year, the ElliottSteiner rodeo works the LouisianaTexas-New Mexico-Oklahoma territory from February to October.
Capacity in Kerrville, Elliott explained, was no novelty, since it's that way in every town. United has a company of 80 people plus a large stock of roping calves, Brahma bulls, bucking horses,
steers, palominos, etc.
Rodeo has an audience-participa-

steers, palominos, etc.
Rodeo has an audience-participation gimmick, Elliott revealed, in which a couple hundred kids form a "junior posse" in the arena to rack down the "outlaws," who are portrayed by clowns. "Youngsters eat it up," he added, "and naturally the parents take a personal interest in the proceedings because their offsprings are taking part."

Filiott-Steiner show frayels via their offsprings are taking part."

Elliott-Steiner show travels via 10 tractor-trailers. Small hops are generally made, since transportation costs are high. Organization isn't considering appearances in the east, Elliott said, since the long mileage jump from the west would make seaboard bookings impractical from a financial aspect. Moreover, he pointed out, with business good in the southwest there's little reason to head east.

Elliott inked a two-year contract reason to head east.

Elliott inked a two-year contract with Monogram last year in which he is to deliver six action pictures annually to the studio. Five have been completed in the initial year and the star will start the sixth in October. Deal extends over another five years on an option basis. Produced by Vincent Fennelly, the films stress story content to get away from the "series" and "formula" type of outdoor yicture.

Over the weekend Elliott left New York for a p.a. tour of northern New England in behalf of the "Jimmy Fund" drive for the Children's Cancer Research Foundation. Tour of about a dozen cities dren's Cancer Research Founda-tion. Tour of about a dozen cities in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont began in Waterville, Me., Monday 149 and ends at the Par-amount Theatre, Rutland. Vt., to-morrow (Thurs.). Harry Goldstein, Monogram publicist, is accompany-ing him on the junket.

Vaude, Cafe Dates

Kansas City

Jimmy Nelson and his dummies return to New York for a spot on the Ed Sullivan show following fortnight in Eddys Restaurant here. Betty Norman also back to New York for TV work . . . Catroll & Gorman moved over to the Frollics, Omaha, for two weeks beginning July 12 . . . Larry Nixon due in at Eddys' for a fortnight opening July 18 . . . Sherman Hayes orch taking over in the Terrace Grill of Hotel Muehlebach for three weeks.

Circus Review

Chipperfield's Circus (QUEEN'S FARK, GLASGOW) Glasgow, July 8. Chipperfield's Circus, Lid., pre-sents Harder Jonsson, Thomas Purchase, Dick Chipperfield, The Dresslers, Peerless Poodles, John Chipperfield, The Ostiannis, The Ortonis, Les French, Ivor Rosaire, Les Raluys, Doreen Duggan, Al-berti.

Accustomed to the classy and leisurely Bertram Mills Circus approach, the Scottish public exhibits near-panic reaction to blitzkrieg technique of Dick, James, John and Marjory Chipperfield, who have raised a corny midway menagerie up to Britain's biggest travelling show in six years.

Turnaway biz has been the rule ever since the 1952 four-master (Britain's only one) took the road in April. Highspots are big animal numbers and specialists' sensations, enormous stables of mild and stall animals, and cheeky publicity technique of walking 16 the phants from rallroad along an advertised route, though parades are frowned on by police. This brought total of newspaper column inches and public interest to a level unheard of since Barnum invaded Britain. vaded Britain.

The bill, heavy in house animal acts, nevertheless sends the outfronters home with impression of a balanced program. The "Chips" a balanced program. The "Chips" concentrate on program rather than plush, and so far they've hit public taste on the target. Measure of success is that ritzier shows catch a running cold in most towns which have seen Chips within one year past.

which have seen Chips within one year past.

Eighteen-stone Harder Jonsson, a cartoonist's dream of a beast subjugator, gets screams and shivers for lion group worked strictly a la Clyde Beatty.

Tiger riding an elephant looks tame, but is more talked about than anything else. Slight tangle when the bull knocked out a cage section, injuring a ringsider, brought questions in Parliament, animal protection squawks—and more turnaway hiz.

animal protection squawks—and more turnaway hiz.

The Dresslers are a sound German troupe getting heavy palming for drunk act on the wire. Ostiannis show neat teeterboard technique, lacking a little of the polish generally seen when Hungarians essay this.

Two Orfonnis' bar act is a short comedy offering, with strength and poise of male performer raising spontaneous audience applause. The elephant herd, trained four years ago by veteran breaker Wenzel Kossmayer, and now shown gracefully by Englishman Ivor Rosaire, is probably the bestroutined bull line in Europe. Speed of working is exceptional, with timing like a crack infantry regiment.

Girl carried in elephant's mouth and young male elephant doing handstand three pedestals high after trainer has left the ring are stunts that rouse the kind of applause performers dream about. Nine Palominos get audience gasps for coloring, harness and lighting. Routine is pleasing, but gets no rave notices. One hind-leg walk of nearly 50 metres closes the act to sound credits.

Les French follow typical French clown routine and net good palming for musical finale, Sea ligns of automary and the summer and the good palming for musical finale, act to sound credits.

Les French follow typical French clown routine and net good palming for musical finale, Sea ilons do customary routine with no feature trick. John Chipperfield sets good reaction to his Spanishgarbed haute ecole offering, though technically the movements are soso.

The kids go for the rodeo act, in which four mustangs do a liberty act without harness while John Chipperfield, as a cowpuncher, directs from horseback.

Les Raluys, with a Zacchinitype cannon act, close the show and keep would-be early homers sitting tight till the last spine-chilling second. Man and woman are shot together from a 12-foot cannon over the ring to a net. The deafening bang of the cannon is matched, seconds later, by the applause.

K.C. NITERY OWNER TAKEN FOR 5G RIDE

, Kansas City, July 15, Two bandits abducted Charles Maggio, partner in the Southers Mansion, downtown night spotlast week (7) and released him a few minutes later after robbing him of about $5,000. Maggio was forced into the bandits' car just a couple of blocks from the Mansion during morning business hours.

The money represented about three days' receipts at the club about $1.00 in personal funds and a payroll check for $1,100, according to Maggio, who said he was on his way to the bank to deposit the receipts. About half the loss was covered by insurance. The money represented about

Louisiana Senate Nixes 'Deadhead' Alky Board

Baton Rouge, July 15.

Louisiana's Senate voted last week, (9) to abolish the Alcoholic Control Board and sent the bill to the governor. The three-member board has charge of policing the liquor industry and nightclubs, Each member receives $7,500 a

Its enforcement functions will be turned over to the Dept. of Revenue. House members previously criticized the board as a "deadhead" agency.

Lubin's New Label
Joe Lubin, English tunesmith, has formed a new diskery, Merit Records. Initial release will be Denny Vaughan's slice of "Forevermore" and "Take It Off."
Lubin, incidentally, co-penned "Forevermore" with Al Vann, and its publishing the tune via his own

"Forevermore is publishing the tune via his own newly formed firm, Lubin Music. Lubin also manages Vaughan.

WANTED

BOY AND GIRL DANCERS

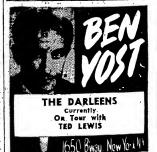

BEAUTIFUL SHOWGIRLS (Steady Work)

apply — NOLA STUDIOS 1657 Broadway New York

2-4 PM-July 16th 2-4 PM-July 17th

(Bring Practice Clothes)

See-HARRY DELMAR

RANGROFT HOTEL

JACK DENTON WORLE'S GREATEST COMEDIAN

(Except in Asia, Africa, Australia, Europe and the Americas)

STAN KRAMER & CO.

"Puppets Almost Human"

Just Concluded

Successful Engagement at the CHICAGO THEATRE

Going on tour with Barnes and Caruthers

Per. Mgr. Hans Lederer of Lew and Leslie Grade, Ltd. 250 West 57th St., New York City, N. Y.

Ambassador Hotel, L. A.

(COCOANUT GROVE)

(COCOANUT GROVE)

Los Angeles, July 8.

Freddy Martin Orch (18) with Stuart Wade, Murray! Aronld, The Martin Men (5); Rita & Alan Fargell; $2 cover.

Martin Men (5); Rita & Alan Farrell; $2 cover.

Back for the first time in three years in the room where he was once as much of a fixture as the swaying cocoanut palms, Freddy Martin is a cinch to provide a summer of good business for the Schlee circuit's western hostelry.
The kids who want to dance, the tourists in search of an evening's entertainment and the lifted plinky set from Pasadena will all get their money's worth with this layout. It's probably the best nitery package displayed here in a considerable period.

The impeccable Martin arrangements are delivered by a top group of ensemble sidemen and the layout is punctuated by novelties that pay off, particularly the device of introducing the bandsmen with a "Three Blind Mice" routine. Bulk of the vocalizing is handled by Stuart Wade, a fine singer who has definite film possibilities, and potent pianist Murray Arnold does an occasional novelty vocal, including a takeoff on Johnnie Ray.
Three sidemen join Wade and Arnold to comprise the band's quintet. Arnold's frenetic keyboarding, tent pianist Murray Arnoid quesan occasional novelty vocal, including a takeoff on Johnnie Ray. Three sidemen join Wade and Arnoid to comprise the band's quintet. Arnoid's frenetic keyboarding, incidentally, gets tremendous backing from bass and drum.

Martin has whipped up a cavalcade of dance covering the last 40 years that gives Rita & Alan Farrill several opportunities to demonstrate their fancy footwork on the steps that swept the country at various times. Sidemen take part in imitations of Whiteman, Lombardo, Busse, McCoy, Goedman, T. Dorsey, James and Miller, and Martin reprises such hits as "Jealous," "Dardanella" and "When Day Is Done," displaying his technique on tenor and alto saxes and on the seldom-seen B-fat soprano sax.

Seventy minute layout speeds saxes and on the settlom-seen b-flat soprano sax.

Seventy minute layout speeds swiftly and the Martin Men do an equally good job on the dance chores during the evening. Kap.

Desert Imm, Las Vegas
Las Vegas, July 8.
Frank Sinatra, Louise Hoff, Sinclair & Alda, Bill Johnson, ArdenFletcher Dancers (8), Bill Miller,
Carlton Hayes Orch (11); no cover or minimum.

Sudden switch in booking left Jimmy Durante back in Chi and brought Frank Sinatra to the Desert Inn. Warbler will be here for three frames, with Diosa-Cos-tello in for one before the Durante for three frames, with Diosa Costello in for one before the Durante stand.

Having clanged cash registers at this spot last year to an all-time high, Sinatra will possibly duplicate this record and more so because of his added week. He's in fine fettle this journey, given more to singing than cacking as a comedian. Already word-of-mouth has given him extra kudosing for sticking to his forte. His passage in the narration of the Judy Garland tribute. But this passage is brief and contains enough chuckles to go over. Best quips are his sharp ad libs.

Gets in solid with "World on a String," and typical solar plexus wallop of ballad, "Be Mine." But he really creams 'em with "Black Magic." with just a brace of Daniels as a sort of jest. Switcher of "Dear Mr. Gable" to "Dear Judy Garland" contains "You Made Me Love You," and narrative bow both to Miss Garland and himself. Comes back with coupling of faves, "I'll Never Smile Magain" and "Night and Day." Parody on "Cry" advances his opinions of contemporary "big poice" singers, whereupon he proceeds to boom with full pipes a terrif "Birth of the Blues." Begoff is requested "All of Me." Bill Miller provides knowing assists at the piano.

off is requested "All of Me." Bill Miller provides knowing assists at the piano.

Louise Hoff makes a surprising and delightful deuce. Comedienne, laced within "Shooting High" tab musical which played here some months back, has this one-frame opportunity to display her full potential. She was booked for a week, to be supplanted by Paul Gilbert vis previous contractual arrangements.) Material is sparkling, conceived by Lucille Kallen of the Sid Caesar vidshows. Delivery is unusual employing monolog style to accentuate tunes. "Shine on Little Spot" paves way for "Instructress for Arthur Murray," to be sequeled by funny income tax sketch and "Southern Belle" as topper. Walks off to big salvos. Sinclair & Alda ballroom gracefully without added ticklers of boffo tricks. Pair only use variation of overhead spin, but manage to get across for better than average reception.

Arden-Fletcher line drops in one acew routine, "Riding on the Moon," and retains a zippy Latin caper with Fluff Chalton's hiptossing. Bill Johnson is often negative as emcee, but warbles an okay production background. Carlton Hayes orch weaves through all scores with unfettered enthusiasm. Will.

Village Vanguard, N. Y.
Robert Clary, Anita Ellis, Clarence Williams Trio; $2.50-$3 minimum.

ence Williams Trio; $2.50.$3 minimum.

This Greenwich Village cellar club may not be a cafe goldmine but it has managed to hit a lode often enough to maintain its position as one of the more prosperous operations in that belt. Vanguard has struck it rich again with a pair of solid turns.

Big winner here is Robert Clary, doubling from the Broadway revue, "New Faces of 1952." Clary is a French import who has been around the U. S. cafe circles a little more than two years, in which time he's developed into a sock entry. He's a pint-sized, crewcut youngster offering much more than the run-of-mill Gallic refugees. His top piping technique is heightened by smooth delivery and beaucoup animation.

Clary mixes up his songalog with French faves and American pop items. Top yock-getting item in the repertoire, however, is his carbon of Johnnie Ray pounding out "Cry" in French Ray's styling has become a popular target for comic and crooners but Clary's acid copy is fresh and imaginative. He also scores with a snappy teeoff number, "Get Happy," as well as "C'est Si Bon," Alouette, "Pigale" and La Vie En Rose," latter a la Piaf. He's held for several encores.

Other performer here is Anita Ellis, a jooker with a warm war alle" and La Vie En Rose," latter a la Piaf. He's held for several encores.

Other performer here is Anita Ellis, a looker with a warm warbling style. Voice and repertoire fit neatly into this spot's intimate atmosphere and she captures tablers with a well selected show-tune barrage. She gets a bit too whispery at times but overall it's an ear-arresting set. Wins with 'Look to The Rainbow," "I Love You, Porgy," "I Had Myself a True Love" and "Riding on The Moon." Overdoes the whispery warbling on opener, "Someone to Watch Over Me," which gets her off to a slow start, but succeeding numbers put her back in stride.

The accomp is by the Clarence Williams Trio. Combo also supplies some slick sets for intermish terping.

Moulin Rouge, Paris

Mounin Rouge, Faris, Ju. 8.
Can-Can Dancers (12), Betty & Can-Can Wardel; Henri Wilson, The Ramses (4), Bob & Astes Lusienne, Serge, Dario Moreno, Charles Carlier Orch (21); 300 francs
(85c) cover, same minimum.

The new, glossy, air-conditioned Moulin Rouge came minimum.

The new, glossy, air-conditioned Moulin Rouge came into being last year on the site of the famous turn-of-the-century dance cabaret immortalized by Toulouse-Lautrec, Aristide Bruant and Seinlen. Its vastness takes some of the curse off the flashy decors. Subdued lighting plus a clutter of lush balustrades, fixtures and everchanging slides of the old Toulouse-Lautrec figures give spot the baroque atmosphere of the old dance haunt. Show starts with the zippy Can-Can girls, a young, robust dance group that charms with exuberance, precision and flash. They do a takeoff on evolution of the dance from the ebullient can-can to the frantic litterbug. Next up are Betty & John Wardel with fair ballroom-ology. When they go into a fervidibelly dance routine they rate heavy mitting.

A finely coordinated Egyptian acro act, the Ramses, are a standout in pacing, performance and off-beat tumbling. Composed of three brothers and a sister, the stocky, muscular femme is the pillar of the group and gives it its fine polish and appeal. She unders for pyramids, flips her smaller brothers around and in general gives a solid account of the weaker sex gone Amazon. Tumbling and pacing als in floating lace and churning legs full of eye appeal. Their number is an umbrella dance full of twirling parasols emblazoned with the word love in all languages. Hen't Wilson is the comedy relief in his miming and clowning to disks. Her starts with Al Jolson but is much too Gallic in movement and

Henri Wilson is the comedy relief in his miming and clowning to disks. He starts with Al Jolson but is much too Gallic in movement and much too Galle in movement and interpretation to give this justice. He emerges better with Carmen Miranda and Gino Spaghetti, a wild tenor who works himself into exhaustion with the Figaro song.

Bob & Astes Lusienne come out in a svelte ballroom dance that turns into a bombastic Apache. They take hair-raising pratfalls and beit each other with everything from trays to chairs. A good number.

Mosk.

Beachcomber, M.B.

Miami Beach, July 12.

Lecuona Cuban Boys Orch with Alvarado, Ramona, Andres Merengue; Los Romanos, Norma Parker, Steve Gillis, Princess Tulane, Little Egypt, Selma Marlowe Dangers, Milton Fields and Frank Stanley orchs; $2.75 and $4 minimum.

There's an odd mixture in this Dade Blvd. landmark for the current summer session. First portion is a modified strip show, the middle section is devoted to songsters Steve Gillis and Norma Parker and last stanza is an exciting, fast moving dance-song-music segment by the Lecuona group.

The Lecuona Boys appeared

by the Lecuona Boys appeared here several seasons ago at Ciro's without making too much of a dent on cafegoers. This time out they've come back with a much more talented array of artists, staged in flashy fashion to make for solid impact. In Alvarado they have themselves a full-voiced song salesman who projects his handsome appearance in well-versed manner. So on the vocal side he belts them with his Latino ideas, plussed by the topper, a choral-orchestral-solo version of "Old Man River" that gets them pounding.

Andres Merengue they've acquired a trumpet-showman who gets them with a Louis Armstrong .In gets them with a Louis Armstrong approach and appearance, as well as delivering fully on the high triple-fingering for the pitches that bring palms. Group overall is well set up with, of course, "Malaguena" their top effort. Ramona provides a flash of hip swinging and singing to add the femme touch. Troupe winds into an imaginatively staged "Mexican Hat Dance" for a wrapup.

Preceding the Lecuona halt standout is Norma Parker. She played this room last winter, but was lost in the shuffle of too many acts and strips. Now she sets her-acts and strips. Now she sets her-self well with a carefully blended medley array of pops and stand-ards for a steady build. Thrush is handsomely gowned and han-dles herself in assured fashion for dles herself in assured fashion for the returns she earns.

First section is held down by Princess Tulane and Little Egypt, a pair of flesh-flashers who get by okay. Production-wise, Steve Gill's handles the songs capably and the Selma Marlowe dancers do their assignments adeptly. Line is costumed colorfully. Accent is on Latino and a voodoo idea. Wind into finale with Lecuona Boys and fest of cast for a fast workout on "Sun Sun Dambae," and Conga line around tables for bowoff. Los Romanos add their Cuban terps for a sock interim. Lary.

Last Frontier, Las Vegas

Bell Sisters (2), Helene & Howard, McCarthy & Farrell, Lorraine Cugat Orch (10) with Van Alexander conducting, The Leonards (2). Dolores Frazzini, Jean Devlyn Girls (10); no cover or minimum.

Appeal of the young Bell Sisters as headliners may be limited insofar as heavy-laden gamblers are concerned, but summer travel draws multitudes of average bettors who may be lured into the Ramona Room. No top names known to nitery habitues are included on the bill, but entire casement is agreeable fare.

Bell Sisters have no trouble again after period of nitery bookings when McCarthy had Dale for partner. New melange is in the throes of being torn between continuance of record panto as keystone and inserts of comedy dialog.

tinuance of record panto as keystone and inserts of comedy dialog, terps and warbling as a new direction. At show caught, stint was far from smooth. (See New Acts). Lorraine Cugat enters into her second fortnight with ease and assurance as femcee. She has also been given a spot in which to chirp a diverting ditty, "I Took a Trip," which gives males longer glimpses of her vaunted full profile. Devlyn Girls are being given more lavish production terps. Collegiate capers tee off with the Leonards energetic "Varsity Drag." Half-time segment is colorful "Gypsy Rhapsody," having soprano Dolores Frazzini etching lyries to duo's spirited Magyar stomping in "Jealousy."

Van Alexander calls the music signals from the keyboard to achieve solid effects from the Lorance Traine Cugat sidemen. Will.

Chase Hotel, St. Loo
(CHASE CLUB)
St. Louis, July 9.
Billie Hayes: Doris Schmitt.
Elise Rhodes, Hal Hackett, Richard Goltra, Jack Marlin, Charle
Fisk Orch; $1-$1.50 cover, no minimum

Fisk-Orch; $1-$1.50 cover, no minimum.

Switching from its first-floor spot to the air-conditioned room atop to the air-conditioned room atop the building, the management of the Chase Club hit a 10-strike when, unable to round up mccoy Hawalian entertainers to tee off summer season, launched a six-week frame of a sprightly revue featuring half a dozen personable youngsters. The revue, tagged "What's New" and penned by this area's Wilson, Stone, is bristling with skits, songs and dances and is providing a swell nitery draw. Highlight of the proceedings is the sock eccentric tap routine by Billle Hayes, an extremely agile gal, and Richard Goltra, next to closing, who cops a well merited mitt from crowded room. Another who scores solidly is baritone Jack Marlin, who takes off on Rudy Yallee, Frankie Laine and Billy Eckstine.

The gals are eye-fillers and the whole troupe possess nice pipes and click individually or en masse. A warbling telephone skit, "When I See Her," featuring Elise Rhodes and Hal Hackett, wins solid palm pounding. Another, "Giddy Over-Video," with four of the cast (Billle Hayes, Elise Rhodes, Goltra and Marlin) also sells the mob. It includes numbers from "Oklahoma," pop and grand opera stuff and a swell interp of "Old Man River." Sans sets, changes are made behind dressing screens on each side of the platforms during brief blackouts. Session is neatly backed by Charlie Fisk's musicrew.

Chez Parce, Montreal

Montreal, July 12.
The Maxellos (4), Skeets Min ton & Doll, Shirley Van, Ralph Young, Boots McKenna Line (7)
Palm de Luca Orch (8), Peter
Barry Quartet; $2-$2.50 minimum

(2). Dolores Frazini, Jean Devlyn Girls (10); no cover or minimum. Appeal of the young Bell Sisters as headliners may be limited insofar as heavy-laden gamblers are concerned, but summer travel are was multitudes of average better tors who may be lured into the Ramona Room. No top names known to nitery habitues are included on the bill, but entire casement is agreeable fare.

Bell Sisters have no trouble pleasing tablers from walkon to be pleasing tablers from walkon to the first time in this bootte. With the key 12 to the first time in this bootte. With the walked fooling all or most of the first time in this bootte. With the walked fooling all or most of the first time in this bootte. With the walked fooling all one work the walked fooling all or work the walked fooling all the present unit at the Chez fare walk the present unit at the Chez fare walked for the first time in this bootte. With the walked fooling all of the first time in this bootte. With the walk first time in this bootte. Wi

Edgewater Beach, Chi (BEACHWALK)

Chicago, July 9.

Tommy Dorsey Oroh, Charles Shaver, Frances Irvin & Marv Hudson, Beachcombers (4), Lewis & Van, Dorothy Hild Dancers (10); $2.85 admission.

Although the outdoor season started here with Xavier Cugat a month ago, his revue wasn't in the old traditional style of lots of flash and girls. Present show lives up to all the requirements plus Tommy Dorsey, still as potent as ever, while perhaps a young organization, it sticks strongly to the book, that made T. D, one of the top orchs. There are the usual pops, but it's "Sunny Side of the Street," "Chasing Shadows" "Marie" and others that send seatholders onto the dance floor in droves.

Crisp scoring hits its stride more the dance floor in droves.

Crisp scoring hits its stride more in the oldies than in the present crop of top 10. Unit work is strong with only Dorsey really featured beside Charles Shaver, one of the top jazzmen in the country: Probably as hangover from the Cugat reign, maestro has stocked up on mambos and rhumbas, which, while well done, seem far afield for him. Individually Shaver shines with mambos and rhumbas, which, while well done, seem far afield for him. Individually, Shaver shines with some fine trumpet work and stops the dancers who congregate around the bandstand as he vocally rasps out "Come On Home Baby" for sharp returns. Frances Irving is a svelte redhead who chirps strongly and sells "Everybody Wants to Go" and "A Guy Is a Guy" in fine fashion. However, it's a newcomer, Marv Hudson, who registers best. Young crooner, while not up to the singing standards of the famous male alumni of the band, shows a great deal of promise, Bartione has excellent diction and does a good job on such pash ballads as "Old Black Magic," However, both he and Miss Irvin have a lackadaisical manner, especially in walking away from the mike.

lave a lackadasheal manlet, especially in walking away from the mike.

Beachcombers is one of the best quartets that ever have appeared here. Three men and pint-size miss are at their best with the Hawaiian upheat tunes that are used also to back one of the production numbers, but the intro of "Million Dollar Baby" takeoff is effective as the girl, Natalie Shepard, hulas on. There are some punchy groupings as the four beat up some island dialects. Quartet also shows sock change of pace with "I'll Never Walk Alone" as the femme displays a warm contraito which belts across for heavy applause.

Lewis & Van also appear well in Lewis & Van also appear well in this outdoor spot with tapsters working smartly on the stone floor and the woode; miniature stairs, Unison taps and challenge stints both earn the team a good sendoff. Dorothy Hild has assembled eight of the prettiest girls she has had in a long time, along with two men. The 10 hit with two offerings, a boogle woogle piece and a flashy island dance, done in radiant paint, perfect for this ozoner. Dorsey also cuts the show splendidly. Zabe.

Roosevelt Hotel, N. O.

New Orleans, July 11.

Jerry Wald Orch (15), Bobby
Sargent, Lois Lee, Frank Paris,
Rosario Imperio; $2 minimum.

This new stanza in the city's leading nocturnal rendezvous is a belliringer in every department. Wald and his crew, repeating favorable impresh made in previous visit, dispense an excellent brand of rhythm. Dancers find crew toetingling and pleasant. Diminutive Wald keeps the tunes well mixed to satisfy all tastes. His clarinet tooting generates plenty of audience enthusiasm.

Topping acts is Bobby Sargent, who found a willing preem audience for his facial contortions, mimicry and gags. He does a little of everything and it all comes out a mu sin gly. He talks fast through some rib-tickling stories, expertly told, works in a hilarious takeoff on a Ukranianian immigrant and a bit of melodrama to net plenty of palms.

Lois Lee, a looker, clicks easily in her engalog She handles a net plenty of palms.

Lois Lee, a looker, clicks easily in her songalog. She handles a tune with plenty of know-how. Chestnut-haired soprano has fine voice, charm and beauty. She scores heavily with a medley from "Oklahoma," "Be Anything," "Loveliest Night Of Year" and "Hello Young Lovers."

"Hello Young Lovers."

Frank Parls and his crew of marionettes are enthusiastically received. He manipulates them deftly for plenty of diversion.

Rosario Imperio, who danced with Danny Kaye in "On the Riviera," interprets various terps in the Latin idiom with a touch of boogle thrown in to net her share of mitting.

Red Thornton Schaw Puppers Freddie Daw Ore Galety Club Len E. Ross Tommy Raft Olga Barrett Lori Iris Georgia Peech Che-Che

Lori Iris Georgia Peech Che-Che Lynn Clayton Galety Girls Green Hair Girl

Johnina Hotel Phil Brito Yvonne DeLane Tony Matas Randum

VARIETY BILLS

WEEK OF JULY 16

Numerals in connection with bills below indicate opening day of show whether full or split week

wnemer rull or spiir week
Lefter in parentheses indicates circuit; (FM) Fanckon Marco; (I) Independent;
(L) Loaw; (M: Moss; (P) Paramount; (R) RKO; (S) Stell; (T) T(voll; (W) Warner);
(WR) Walter Reade

New York City
Music Hall (I) 17
Music Hall (I) 17
Sieg Broos'
Constant Carry'
Carry Morton
Metropolitan (P) 12
Johnnie Ray
Carry Morton
Metropolitan (P) 13
Johnnie Ray
Carry Morton
Metropolitan (P) 13
Johnnie Ray
Carry Morton
Metropolitan (P) 13
Johnnie Ray
Carry Morton
Metropolitan (P) 14
Johnnie Ray
Carry Morton
Metropolitan (P) 15
Johnnie Ray
Carry Morton
Metropolitan (P) 15
Johnnie Ray
Carry Morton
Carry
Carry Morton
Collidase (P) 15
Tu-Tones
Chicago (P) 15
Tu-Tones
Collidase (P) 15
Tu-Ton Corps de Dear Rockettes Sym Orc Robert Shackleton Choral Ensemble Falace (R) 18 Ben Wrigley Day Dreamers P Thorn & Co Nio Niatto Johnny Bernes Johnny Bernes Claud Valois Ray Benson Farameeund (P) 16 Neal Hetti Orc Frances Wayne Jan Malre R & E Rayes Roxy (I) 12

Roxy (I) 18
Rochester Co
H Barnes
Joy Conley
Roxyettes
Richard Haves

AUSTRALIA Peter French June Lansell Valerie Keast

Tivoli (T) 14 Mara & Maurice 3 Daresco Lowe & Ladd Guy Nelson Renita Kramer . Bouna

MELBOURNE Tivoli (T) 14-Tomh...
4 Boton...
4 Boton...
4 Boton...
4 Boton...
4 Boton...
4 Boton...
6 Gir...
18 imy Tringei otonds ama & Konarski eter Singing Girls Show Girls Dancing Boys

Show Girls
Dancing Boys
Adorables
SYDNEY
Royal (T) 14
mmy Hanley abs Mackimon tosemary Miller

Bouna
Overbury & Suzette
Norman Vaughan
Sonya Corbeau
12 Show Girls
10 Nudes
6 Boy Dancers & Singers
12 Ballet BRITAIN

ASTON
Hippadrome (I) 14
Danny O'Day
4 Maxellor
Sorr Brost
Conrad Vince
Consta Vince

De Yong & Delysla
Vincent Cayglil
Terry Moore
Dunn & Grant
Gaye
Grant
Gaye

Grant
Gaye

Sandler

Empire (5) 14

Max Bacer

Karen Greer

Hilly Banks
2 Kellys
Don Phillippe & M

Roger Carnol B

Georg Carnol B

Georgic Williams

Bob Gray open Sugar Chile Robinson

I & S Davis
Godify Cung Kerby
Godify Cymer
Grand Stranks
Jo Jac & Joni
Cynthia & Gladys
Dave & Maureen
BLACKPOOL
J
Lester Ferguson
Terry-Though
Semprini
Dandy Bros
Harry Balley
Fantela Kuy
Hippodrome ($) 14 Georgie Williams Bob Gray Mayis & Robey Day & Toni Jacoby

Dandy Bros
Harry Balley
Famela Kay
Corps de Ballet
Regency 8
And Corps de Ballet
Regency 8
And Corps de Ballet
Regency 8
And Corps de Ballet
Regency 8
And Corps de Ballet
Facility 14
Facility 15
Fac Day & Tonl
Jacoby
Rita Kotchinsky
Barry Brian
Holen Gay
Gorgan
Holen Gay
Holen
Hol

ackie Lupescu liveras nie's Animal Carouse Knie's Animal Carouse!
Duncan's Collies
Crocker's Bears
Knie's Baby Elephants
Little
Little
Scott
Annette's Circusette
Tower Roof
Gerdens (1) 14
Stanley Watson
Jose Del Rio
Winter Gordens
(1) 14
Frasers Harmonica
Collin

Frasers Harmonica
Co
Freddie Sales
Salici Puppets
Fåye & Tamara
Billy McCormack
Kathleen Gray
12 Beall Belles
Hippodrome (1)
Whittaker & Law
BRIGHTON
Hippodrome (1)
Francisch Comment
Gray Harmonica
Complete Comment
Gray Harmonica
Complete Comment
Gray Harmonica
Comment
Gray Harmonica
Billy Danvers
Nat Hope
Gordon & Nancy
BRISTOL
Hippodrome (5)
Hippodrome (5)
Cordon & Nancy
Cordon & Mancy
Cordon & Cordon
Cordon
Cordon & Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cordon
Cord

Paula Coutts
Morecambe & Wise
2 Ancelos
1 Ancelos
1 FINSBURY PARK
Empire (M)
Mitchell Club
Interce
arina
Arthur White
Vadio & Hertz
Jonny Burke
lexanos
Joyce LaksGoW
Empire (M) 14
5; ck Benny
Teedy Johnson
McAndrews & Mills
Reggie Redeliffe
Clufford Guest
1 Harverde
CRIMSRY
Palace (D) 14

Krista & M.
GRIMSRY
—Palace (I) 14
Varry Shiels
Prince Nareda Co
/an Luin
Vera Demonie
William Greer
Rex Decrine
HACKNEY
Empire (S) 14

HACKNEY
Empire (S) 14
Iris Sadler
A & B Black
Charles Hague
Delly Kin
Delly Kin
Delly Kin
Falace (S) 14
Davy Kaye
Haxel Wilson
Ken Dorvilles
Baldwin & Castle
Reg Darnley Claude Chandier
Los Grecos
Chevalier Bros
Helga Barry
Archle Glen
Mills & Bellta
BRIXTON
Empress (1) 14
David & Lee

Caruna & Dodo
Noreen Barker
Barker
Dynomo Duprez
Herry Mullins
Kaye Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelies
Lovelie

Bene Norma
LONDON
Palladium (M) 14
Hayes & Healy
Rolly Rolls
Tommy Cpoper
Hassan Ben Ali
Ganjou Bros &
Juanita

Juanita
Juanita
Jimmy Wheeler
Elizabeth & Collins
Rosinas
Palladium Girls
Skyrockets Orc
Patterson & Jackson

Skyrockets Orc
Patterson & Jackson
MANCHESTER
Hippedreme (S) 14
Jane Morgan
Net Gonella Co
Woods & Jarrett
Les Spanglers
4 Jays & June
Rich & Eva
Jack Eva
J

NEWCASTLE Empire (M) 14 Adeaude Hall Lesire Sarony Signedia Gordon & Nancy Hengles Bros Ken Wilson

Hengies Bros Ken Wilson Richard Sis Zlo Angels 4 Aces NOTTINGHAM Empire (M) 14 Merle & Marie Dorothy Squires Dlok Calkin Leon Cortez

Will Carr & Co
George Donan

2 Alfreros
Dolaire
TONAN

2 Alfreros
Dolaire
TONAN

Royal (M) 14
Frankle Howerd

Young & Annette
Robert

SculwHorpe

SculwHorpe

Savoy (I) 14

Dennis Lawes

Yaughan & Patricla

Biblis Dolay

George Esco

SouthAmpton

Grand (I) 14

Hetty Kington

Grand (I) 14

Arthur Lawe

John Mann

Deryck Barnes

Don's Yorke

Swanke

Swanke

Swanke

Swanke

Swanke

Robert

Ro

Roboto Idris Reggie Dennis Dam Bros

Regie Los Dam Bros Rondart Sensational Jeretz YORK Empirer (f) 14 Alyce Doy Jackie Todd Hayhes & Gardener Meltone & Gardener Meltone & James Dave Starr Vocalaires Funfair Adorables

NEW ZEALAND

CHRISTCHURCH
Royal (T) 14
Armand Perren
3 Fayes
Pat Gregory
Gerd Bjornstad
Chribi
Marika Saary

Phillip Tappin
Wim De Jong
Jacques Cartaux
Jinimy Elder
Joe Whitehouse
Cissy Trenholm
Terry Scanlon
Brox & Myrna

idarry Belafonte
Clarence Williams >
Walderf-Aster is Chavales de Espana
Trini Reyes
Emil Coleman Ore
Mischa Borr Ore
Heels Statises of Heels Taff
Uncent Lopez Ore
Latin Quarter
Darvas & Julia
Royal Ashtoms
Borre
Willie Shore
Marilyn Ross
Collette Fleuriot
Marilyn Hightower
Art Wanger
Art Wanger
La Vie & R Rese
Mel Torme
Joyce Bryant
Van Smith Trio
Zero Mostel
Georgia Gibbs
Will Mastin 3
Amin Bros
W Nye Ore
Campo Ore
Campo Ore
Caddle's
Eddle Davis

Cabaret Bills

NEW YORK CITY

Birdland
George Shearing O
Borth Washington O
George Shearing O
Earths Mite
Portia Nelson
Orson Bean
Man Bon Solv
Hamish Mensels
Goodman
Jimmy Danlels
3 Flames
Norene Tasle
Garlion Goodman
Jimmy Donovan
Galit Galil
Chir Birdland
Joch Gray
Nancy Donovan
Galit Galil
Chir Birdland
Joch Cray
Nancy Donovan
Galit Galil
Chir Birdland
Madills
M Durso Ore
Ramat Ore
Called Color
Called

Laura Tunisi
Dominique
Dassie Bros
Bros
Buddy Clayton
Tordon Hamilton
Tordon Hamilton
Tordon Hamilton
Tordon Hamilton
Tordon Hamilton
Tordon Hamilton
Tordon

Hotel Edison Henry Jerome Orc Hotel New Yorker Bernie Cummins O Roymayne & Brent Hernie C. Roymayne & L. Roymay

MIAMI-MIAMI BEACH Bur of Music Bill Jordan Dayl Elliott Lee Sherwin

Al Robinson & Ike Van ..irk Beachcomber Lecuona Boys will missin 3

or Son York

No Son York

Eddie Davis

Eddie Davis

Eddie Davis

Serry Britton

Elaine Sutherland

Rena Foley

No. 1 Fifth Ave

Bob Downcy

No. 1 Fifth Ave

Bob Downcy

Harold Fonville

Hazel Webster

Old Koumantan

Sadie Banks

Jackie Phillips

Larry Marvin

Park Sheratol

Larry Marvin

Park Sheratol

Two Gultars

Arcna Rane

Elena York

Gerband

Mischa Udanoff

Mischal Michon

Kostya Pollansky

Versailles

Stuart Harris

Emite Pei: Ore

Panchito Ore

Sal Noble

Bob Lee

AMI BEACH

Steve Gillis
Los Romanos
Alyazide
Ramava
Rayazide
Ramava
Rayazide
Ramava
Rayazide
Ramava
Rayazide
Ramava
Rayazide
Ramava
Rayazide

Kay Coulter
Kenny Bowers
Grant Eastbam
Pat Carroll
Dave LeGrant
Barbara Cook
Mariann D'Or
Carl Sands Ore
Chex Pares

Randum
Leon & Eddia's
Babe Baker Rovue
Murray Swanson
Eddie Guerlin
Andrew Baker Rovue
Murray Swanson
Eddie Guerlin
Andrew Baker
Chuckle Fonfaine
Larry Seldin Ders
Sans Souci Hofel
The Riyeros (5)
Eddard Books
Sacsas Orc
Ann Herman Ders
Loff Davis
Russel & Joy
The Sacsas Orc
Tano & Dee
Fulles DeSalvo Fulles Desalv CHICAGO Charles & Lucille Cavanaugh
Dennis & Darlene
Marle McClenaghan
Yoonne Broder
Philip Fraser
Donald Tobin
George Zak
Boulevar-dears (6)
Frankle Masters O
Edgewaber Beach
Tommy Dorsey Ore
With Schwerz Gare
With Carbonners (3)
Lewis and Van
Falmer Heuse
Fellx Knight
Mata & Hari
Rudy Cardenas
Helen Wogel Ore

Chex Pares Chez Pares Joe E. Lewis with Austin Mack Joan Barton Consolo & Melba Johnny Martin Chez Adorables (8) B Farnon ore (3) Conrad Hilton Hot'l Adele Ingo Ente Write Diana Grafton LOS ANGELES.

Bourbon & Baine
Zeb Carver Orc
Pete Rubino
Village Vanguard
Robert Clary
Anita Ellis
Harry Belafonte
Ciarence Williams

Ambassador Hoèsi
Freddy Martin Orc
Stuart Wade
Murra Andro
Murra Andro
Murra Andro
Murra Andro
Bar of Music
Doodles & Spider
Beverly Laine
Felix Decola
Benno Rubinyi
Eddie Bradford Orc
B Gray's Bandbox
Butil Gray
Petit Sen Lessy
Pepper Sis (3)
Bob Durwood
Bill Howe

Elitmors fistel Irene Ryan Tippy & Cobina Los Gatos (3) Hal Derwin Ore Cafe Sala Ann Anderson Jimmie Ames Vivian Lloyd Don Sheffey Circ's Sy Melano
Peiro Bros
Dick Stabile Oro
Bobby Ramos Ore

Mecambo Mary Kaya Trio Eddie Oliver

LAS VEGAS, NEVADA

Desert inn
Frank Sinatra
Louise Hoff
Sandra & Alda
Bill Johnson
Arden-Fletcher
Dancers
Carlton Hayes Ore

El Cortez Donald Novis Martha Davis Instrumentalists Alice Hall Quartet

Olsen & Johnson Revue Moro-Landis Flamingo Starlets Matty Malneck Orc

Matty Malneck Orc
Last Frontier
Lorraine Cugat Orc
Bell Sisters
McCarthy & Farell
Van Alexander
J. Devlyn Girl
Revue
Leonards

El Ranche' Vegas
Beatrice Kay
Jocy Bishop
Sylvian Green
Joy. Walker
El Rancho Girls
Ted Fio Rito Ore
Silver Silpper
Woo Woo Stevens
Kalantan
Hank Henry
Isabelle Dawn
Jimmy Cavanaugh
Dolly Lee Line
George Redman
Fud Brown
Dixtelanders
Thunderbird
Les Thunderbird
Les Thunderbird
Les Brooks
Notables
Jaywalkers
Johnny O'Frien
Kathryn Duffy
Dansations
Al Jahns Ore

Gregory-Pascal

Continued from page 3 ciate producer, the announcement added.

Gregory issued an immediate denial and claimed he had no intention of making a film version at this time and no plans for any tieup with Pascal.

Spokesman for Pascal shrugged off the controversy, contending Gregory had originally broached the deal and reiterating that Pascal controls the rights.

"Don Juan," a seldom-played ex-cerpt from Shaw's "Man and Superman," has achieved hefty financial success in two seasons of legit touring.

New Acts

SY MELANO Songs 18 Mins. Ciro's; Hollywood

Ciro's; Hollywood

Quite a lot of trade and professional interest was focused on the opening of this act at Ciro's last Friday (11), for this was ballyhooed as the first public appearance of a young singer who already had created talk and stir although he never had been heard. About a month ago, Warners signed him for a termer. This engagement looks like the start of a buildup. For the record, the only activity of Sy Melano hereabouts has been warbling dubs for music publishers for submission by them of new tunes to waxeries.

Equipped with pipes which basidubs for music publishers for submission by them of new tunes to waxeries.

Equipped with pipes which hasically are tenor, Melano has that "big-sounding" voice and delivery which are the rage currently. Quite personable and relaxed, he also has been smartly coached on poise, patter and mike mannerisms. If his repertoire was a bit too hravura at show caught, it was understandable; he obviously was reaching for the broadest impression, and scored it.

From "Here In My 'Heart," he goes on to "September Song," "Kiss of Fire." "Sorrento," and the efvesti la Giubba" aria from "Pagliacci." He couldn't make a Metopera road company nor cause Mario Lanza to lose sleep with his handling of the latter, but it is a flashy closer for any supper club. He, should dispense with the extraneous explanation of the aria which he used to intro it.

It is certain some record company is going to grab Melano and put him on the same tune diet being fed Al Martino, Tony Bennett, Don Cornell, Vic Damone, etc. It should be fast while the big-woice" fad is on, He should make a mark as a utility man in Warner filmusical sequences, too—also while the fad is on, He can then parlay those two show biz facets into vaude and TV.

BELL SISTERS (2)

BELL SISTERS (2) Songs 20 Mins.

Songs
20 Mins.

Last Frontier, Las Veras

Taking advantage of skyrocketing record sales of the two Bell Sisters, arrangements were made to follow up with personal appearance tour, with mecca of Vegas as first stop. Youngsters were taught rudiments of stage deportment by Ray Gilbert, who also cleffed some specials for the act. Results of the intensive five weeks' training show up very well, as Kay, aged 12, and Cynthia, 16, handle their stint capably.

Although the lassies tend at times to look and warble like automatons, ease is bound to come with more appearances. Kay skips on attired in pink pedal pushers, and big sis Cynthia looks the part of a perfect sweet 16 in her deb gown. Waste no time chirping a
"Hello" ditty, which contains lyries about who they are and why they are here. Double harmony on "Boo Hoo" and "Wheel of Fortune" displays kids' trademark, mouthing and extra emphasis on rhythmic pronunciation. Kay works up some yocks in a special sketch as big sis acts out part of long suffering elder in the family. Youngest Bell has quite aflair for comedy.

Followup' is "Poor Whippoorwill," and "Rutza, Rutza," before intro of song explaining "how we began." This fires up more expert albeit somewhat precocious comedy by Kay, before reprise of their dislick, "Bermuda." Another carbon of a platter, this their most recent for RCA Victor. "Hang Out the Stars," has "Blue Danube Waltz" as melody base. Special
"Goodbye" whirls pair off to resounding ovation.

Looks like the Bells will ring in any medium.

sounding ovation.

Looks like the Bells will ring in any medium.

Will.

KOSMAR Tight Wire 6 Mins. Bellevue Casino, Montreal

BENTYBER & CO. (10) Comedy, Songs, Dange 25 Mins: Continental Cafe, Montreal

Continental Cafe, Montreal

To further the Continental's rep as the leading showcase in Montreal for Parisian talent, club owner Jack Horn imported Bentyber and his company as headliners in current layout.

This outfit, a French version of the Diamond Horseshoe and Gay '90s era, is a heavy fave with a certain element of Parisian night-lifers and should be good for the boites on this side of the Atlantic, Cued by an emcee in the usual tight-fitting set of evening clothes, centre-parted hair and a small mustache, the chorus line goes through their paces brightly and even manage some fair piping at odd intervals, A pert chorine appears briefly for a ballet stint which pleases and is followed by a willowy-type showgal who does a rather surprising and awkward strip routine that was only saved on night caught by a few uninhibited cries of "Vive la France" from ringsiders.

Company maintains a gay if somewhat frantic spirit throughout and builds casually to a rousing mazurka by Bentyber and his beautiful partner, Arambol. As originators of this company, Bentyber and Arambol, overshadow any previous offering and overall impact of outfit would be strengthened if they made more than one appearance.

The chorines, specialty dancer and leads are easy on the even.

they made more than one appearance.

The chorines, specialty dancers and leads are easy on the eyes; the befeathered and seculinned costumes are in character, with just enough decolletage to keep attention of male payees. With introductions cut to the minimum and Americanized, group should be good for the broader cafes, TV, shots, etc. Even if everything at the moment is in the Gallic tongue, this is primarily a sight act.

Newt.

McCARTHY & FARRELL Comedy 21 Mins.

21 Mins.
Last Frontier, Las Vegas
In trying to switch from a record panto act to comedy sketches, team almost eapsizes on copious amounts of material, most of it leading nowhere. Bit of doctoring—taking out here, grafting there and paring down should do the trick. As the act runs, even the expert comedy of McCarthy can't sustain lulls in scripting.

act runs, even the expert contents of McCarthy can't sustain lulls in scripting.

Pair should retain the record panto hilarity of Pinza and Martin in "Sôme Enchanted Evening," and McCarthy's mad capers in "Valkyrie." Also, further thought and work should go into developing their screen panto and terps while seated on chairs. Best dialog is set up in stupid baseball player being interviewed, with sketch being peppered by yockworthy material. The "commercials" should be kissed off. Device isn't worth all the effort expended.

Tepping by Farrell as Donald O'Connor is energetic, but the flops and floor stuff are lost, and McCarthy's interps of Gene Kelly emerges as only fair.

and nour still are loss, and medically interps of Gene Kelly emerges as only fair.

McCarthy & Farrell have the opportunity to make necessary changes here before sailing forth with a compact little act good for niteries and theatres.

Will.

LESLIE UGGAMS

LESLIE UGGAMS
Songs.
10 Mins.
Apollo, N. X.
Leslie Uggams, a nine-year old songstress, has been around on several television spots and has played one Philadelphia theatre before hitting the Apollo. This is a standard juve turn with all the usual cute precocity that goes along with this sort of act.
Miss Uggams has stage savvy, her greatest recommendation. Vocally, she has a set of gratingly harsh pipes which she consistently strains in the high registers. She could use an easier repertory. She also does vocal impressions of Frank Sinatra (which comes out like Frankie Laine), Al Jolson and Johnnie Ray. These are fair.

Herm.

Relievue Casino, Montreal

Kosmar, a lithe, nimble-footed Cuban, may be a cincheroo under canvas but the limitation of a nightclub floor leaves something to be desired. Due to precision of setup, there is too long a break between the preceding act and the Kosmar presentation, but once Kosmar gets on the wire his innate showmanship soon quiets payees and garners socko mitting from all corners.

On night caught, Kosmar was favoring a sore foot from an earlier performance, but his flashy Latin personality overcame any obvious flushs; even his big weapon, a back somersault on the swinging wire which didn't quite come off, drew resounding reception.

Should do well in vaude, oversized intimeries and on tele shots.

Newt.

Holiday's New Policy The Nearest Thing To Burlesque on Broadway

Burlesque on broadway
The burlesque fan of the late 30s is the displaced person in the theatrical business in these parts.
They haven't had a home in many years, except for the occasions when Mike Todd puts on his epidermis parades, but these are just out of the reach of the former Minsky patronage.

It's been the contention of many in show business that there's an untapped market in the former burley patron along with those of the new generation who have taken expensive peeks in the 52d
St. cribs.

the new generation who have taken expensive peeks in the 52d st. cribs.

Cleveland booker Frank Sennes, who leased the rights of the Todd production of several seasons ago. "Peep Show," is making the first major attempt to recapture this market. It's true that this attempt was made in a hurry and it might have been desirable if he had more preparation for a stand in this house, but it's an important try and probably one that indicates that he's in.

Sennes originally, prepared this show for display in a Wildwood, N. J., tent, but this was nixed by city authorities. Sennes then lurriedly pared down the unit and arranged for a hurried showing at the Holiday Theatre, of recent years on a film policy.

"Peep Show," is good entertainment. The major elements of Todd's original production remain. Most of the music, production numbers and the essential spirit of that show are evident. Sennes has done an excellent job of getting the meat of that production in an 80-minute condensation. The show, once the rough spots are roned out, will have pace and ample reason to entice the pop-price trade.

ple reason to entice the pop-price trade.

The number of admissions at a scale from 90c to $2.40 clocked during the early part of the first week's run indicates that Sennes is tapping a fresh theatrical market. The break-even point is about $1.9,000. At the conclusion of this show, Sennes will present a tab version of the wartime legit hit, "Follow the Girls," and probably the Diosa Costello unit following. Latter opened last week for Sennes at the Cal-Neva Lodge, Lake Tahoe, Nev. Lake Tahoe, Nev.

Frank Sennes' production of "Peep Show," with Shaller Bros. (2), Ving Merlin (6), The Albins (2), June Allen, Linda Bishop, Red Marshall, Ben Hamilton, Harvey Bell, Tito Valdez & Louisa, Alan Carney, Line (14), Frank Stewart Orch; "Kentucky Jubilee" (Lip), reviewed in Vlwery, Jubil. 51, reviewed in Vlwery, Jubil. Orch; "Kentucky Jubilee" (Lip), reviewed in Variety July 11, '51.

The costumes are good and the show is nicely routined. The 14-girl line comprises a well-drilled contingent that keeps the predominantly male patronage interested. There are two major items that will cause word of mouth. Tito Valdez & Louisa, a terp twain specializing in sexy routines, and shimmy artist June Allen, provide the major pashy notes.

Valdez was formerly the male half of Corinne & Tito Valdez, but lately has aligned himself with a new partner. She's an extremely sexy item, and in her chores as a single indicates she's expert at hitting applause jackpots. In tandem, they contribute good routines in the sex groove and hit it okay.

Miss Allen's wiggle routine is brief but memorable. The girl's syrations indicate a highly developed skill backed up with a sense of humor. There's nothing vulgar in this routine.

The other production accourtements include a sketch with Red in this routine.

The other production accourtements include a sketch with Red Marshall in the comedy role with a straight by Ben Hamilton. This dentist's hit is okay, but it points up the difficulty in getting great sketch material.

throughout their turn. The orch backing is by Frank Stewart.

There are two class notes in this show, the first being the Ving Merlin musical turn. Merlin heads an outfit comprising four femme fiddlers and a planist, who run through a neat violin session. There's fine movement, good musical content and easy visual accoutrements here. The ballet sequence also indicates that this show can cater to several mental levels.

House is doing four shows daily with "Kentucky Jubilee" as screen accompaniment.

Jose.

Palladium, London

London, July 8.

Peter Lind Hayes & Mary Healy with Norman Leyden; Rolly Rolls Ganjou Bros. & Juanita (4), Tom my Cooper, The Rosinas (2), Jim my Wheeler, Hassan Ben Al Troupe (9), Patterson & Jackson Elizabeth & Collins, Tiller Girls (16), Skyrockets Orch.

Headlining the current Palladium program is an American couple whose charm and talents alone should have insured them complete and unreserved success. That they didn't make the 100% click on their opening performance was due to a faulty construction of their routine, with impersonations of artists who are almost unknown here and with some of the material more suited for the greater intimacy of the nitery.

Readjustment of the act should Readjustment of the act should be only a minor lob, but it will make a major difference to the show and the response they'll get from the eager and hep Palladium audience, as they both possess that amiable, want-to-please personality which will bring them success.

Hayes opens the act with his amiable, want-to-please personality which will bring them success. Hayes opens the act with his guickie tour of Manhattan offering Calypso, Hawaiian and Russian numbers on the way; before being joined by Miss Healy to open the double act with their noted "Disk Jockey Blues." This cues some more impressions including a standout takeoff on Lena Horne. Hayes' version of a nostalgic drunk is a little protracted but has a warm inventive quality for wide appeal. The customers warm to the first chord of "Life Gets Teejus" and this number is one of the clicks of the show. Takeoffs on Mario Lanza and Judy Holliday, Nelson Eddy and Jeanette MacDonald, and Ethel Merman and Russell Nype are also in solid pop style and receive a warm mitt.

Rolly Rolls, who had been play-solid pop style and receive a warm mitt.

Rolly Rolls, who had been playing in Chicago the previous day, returned to the Palladium to receive yet another socko ovation for his renowned comedy pianistics which are enhanced with considerable new material. The act tees off with a quick music tour of the world via fine renditions of "Dream of Olwen," a Brazilian samba and "The Blue Danube" before switching to his pop standard impressions of a concert planist and various other types who hit the ivories. Artists's sure-fire comedy style gives the turn a polished finish.

The third American act in the the ivories. Artists's sure-fire comedy style gives the turn a pollshed finish.

The third American act in the layout is Patterson & Jackson, the heavyweight colored duo who are doubling from "Paris to Piccadilly," the new edition of the Folies Bergere. Their easy flow of patter surprisingly energetic steppinand bolsterous vocalizing, including an impression of the Ink Spots. combine to make the act a winner. The Tiller Girls, who open the bill, are also elevated to a more important spot in the program, with a charming jack-in-the-box number which is colorfully costumed and effectively routined. Elizabeth & Collins play around with lariats, knives and slack wire. High spot comes when the girl is hemmed in by knives thrown from a slack wire position while she's spinning on a revolving disk. The Hassan Ben Ali Troupe are a company of nine agile Arab tumblers whose specialty has one member supporting the remaining eight. It is a fast moving turn which registers stronely. Jimmy Wheeler is a popular British comedian, but too many of his gags are daubed with heavy indigo. He's a funny vent when he's clean. The Caniou Bros. & Juanita, a quartet of adagio dancers, are an elegant team who go in for refinements in costumes and decor. The solitary femme member is tossed around by three males within the framework of a conventional routine.

The Rosinas, a pair of impressive aeriallsts, open the second up the difficulty in getting great sketch material.

The vaude acts do well. Alan Carney provides a major comedy note with his familiar labor leader routine in various dialects. The big laugh is by the Albins, who follow a ballet number. Their burlesque dancing is extremely effective in this house. In the original "Peep Show," the Albins hit at op comedy note in these proceedings.

The No. 1 song spot is by Harvey Bell who puts across a series of oldies with unusual effectiveness. His is the first singing attempt in front of a mike. The added volume plus a naturally good delivery put him over neatly. Other singer is Linda Bishop, a looker, who provides the atmospheric vocals. She's adept in this department.

The Shaller Bross give the act sector a fast start with expert trampolining. They do some skillful stunts, lacing some comedy in comes and decor, as a comedy conjurer whose tracks fall to come off. He start fampolining. They do some skillful stunts, lacing some comedy take the difference decorpt on unit the curtain of the comes and continuent of the comes and the continual rounds of the comes and decorpt response to the complete of the comes and decorpt response to the complete of the comple

Paramount, N. Y.

Jan Murray, Raul & Eva Reyes Modernaires (5), Neal Hefti Ord with Frances Wayne; "She's Worle ing Her Way Through College' (WB), reviewed in Varier' June 11, '52.

Paramount presents a standardized layout this sesh, topped by comic Jan Murray, who's added to his marquee value recently by acquiring his own NBC-TV show, "Meet Your Match." On the bill with him are the Modernaires, stywith nim are the Modernaires, stylized warbling quintet, in closing; Raul & Eva Reyes, vet Spanish novelty dance duo, first of the acts to follow the ice-breaking by Neal Hefti & Orch; and songstress Frances Wayne, who follows the Reyes and precedes Murray.

Murray's in the mold of the Frances Wayne, who follows the Reyes and precedes Murray.

Murray's in the mold of the normal m.c. type comic, with a routine that's part standard with him and part apparently special material for the Par date. Patter and gags are modestly amusing and Murray gets the best possible mileage out of them with his off-hand, throwaway style. While he failed to get belly-laughs at show caught, the chuckles added up sufficiently to earn him a begoff.

The four men and a femme (an uncominonly comely one) who comprise the Modernaires have lost some of the spark on which their vocalizing routine was built. Tunes are over-arranged for modern-day yaudfilmery work. But what's the real liability is the selling, which has become mechanical. Apparently, the business that the fivesome has built for each member has been gone through so frequently that it no longer has spontaneity. While cute, particularly the opener, in which the group juggles, does magle and other novelties, it is all too gilbly performed. Tunes include "Dipsy Doodle," a barber shop quartet number by the boys, "Juke Box Saturday Night" and variations on "Bugle Call Rag."

The Reyes are sock with their terping, particularly in view of the

Saturday Night" and variations on "Bugle Call Rag."

The Reyes are sock with their terping, particularly in view of the hardship of working their actionful turn on the tiny stage apronallotted by the Par. Team is plenty s.a. in its "Shoeing the Wild Mare" number, with Eva Reyes getting maximum results from a fast-shaking beaded bra and a self-winding torso. They do another good novelty in which the femme slings plenty of hips and shoulders while balancing a glass of water on her head without spilling a thimbleful. They're a pleasant-looking duo and, best of all, seem to be enjoying the routine as much as the customers do.

Frances Wayne, who's billed with the band, provides throaty versions of "Hallelujah," "Lonesome and Blue" and "Old Black Magic," all highly stylized. She's a falrish saleswoman and results are okay.

are okay.

Hefti's aggregation, formed only a couple months ago, is making its Broadway debut. Instrumentation is regulation—five reed, three rhythm and six brass. Music is modified modern and listenable. A lot of visual tricks haven't been developed as yet, but the makings seem to be here for a top-rated outfit.

Herb.

Chicago, Chi

Chicago, July 11.

Jackie Gleason with Art Carney,
Pert Kelton, Stan Ross, Zamah
Cunningham; DeMarco Sisters
(5), Joe Bushkin Quartet, Elaine
Dunn, Irving Kaplan Orch; "Diplomatic Courier" (20th).

Despite all the Republican convention hubbub Friday (11), opening was the biggest this fiagship spot has had in many months. There's a lot of show in this hourlong bill; in fact, cutting is indicated. Most of that should be in the act stanzas as there isn't enough of the work of Gleason and his cohorts, Their skits are the strongest part of the show, notwithstanding such crowd-pleasers as the DeMarco Sisters, the Joe Bushkin combo and others, and they should do more.

horts. Their skits are the strongest part of the show, notwithstands in gruch crowd-pleasers as the De-Marco Sisters, the Joe Bushkin do more.

There has been a lot of effort here with the revue bringing its own sets and other special effects. Heralded as a run-through for the video star's switch to CB5-TV this diall, it's not. What it amounts to in addition to the individual acts. It is two of the most potent parts of in shows on DuMont during the last two years.

Gleason doesn't spare himself, but it still isn't enough for the acts as emcee and gets his laughs early with his "away we go" tag which, of course, always ends in a setablished scene and gets his laughs early with his "away we go" tag which, of course, always ends in a sestablished scene at the condian has established scene at the condian has established scene at the condian has established scene at the strong legit voices and their material can stand a rewrite. They do well, though.

Gleason doesn't spare himself, the impact of the three boys was produce so life the strong legit voices and the facts as emcee and gets his laughs established scene at the condian has established scene at the condition of the true at the same at the condition of the true always good "fighting for the talways good "fighting for the talways good "fighting for the some personable dancing. Their to combe at the always good "fighting for the should be always good "fighting for the salways good "fighting for the shows acroad the forth in suddent in stocking feet and theatres too. He only does two—the spolled playboy and the highly sentimental, yet comic, bus driver and husband in "The Honeymooners." Both are full of physical comedy with seltzer squirting, falls, dropped electric irons and such, but the seatholders love the old burley touches.

Also outstanding one Art Corners.

burley touches.

Also outstanding are Art Carney, who has little to do in these numbers but socks across every little bit, and Pert Kelton, who does a magnificent job as the harassed wife. (Actress worked under externe illness in Pittsburgh and here opening day with a medico standing by, but at show caught gave a fine performance.

In the supporting roles, Stan Ross as a zombie-like character and Zamah Cunningham as the stuffy matron are excellent.

Five DeMarco Sisters while add-stuffy matron are excellent.

Five DeMarco Sisters, while adding no new tunes to their program since last seen here a few months ago, have some new pieces of birsiness, mainly in the choreography, which makes the act even stronger than before. Quintet have a good opener in "Take Me Out to the Ball Game" and then calm down a little with "Pretty Baby," "Little Girl From Little Rock" is a funny tune well done and the spirited "Hoop De Do" gets th gals off blg.

Joe Bushkin has brought a solid Joe Bushkin has brought a solid lazz combination along with him, and the work of Buck Clayton, Milt Hinton and Jo Jones is a pleasure to the ears of payees. It's been a long time since a lazz group held forth on this stage. The warm trumpeting of Clayton, the hand work of Jones on drums, and the bass thumping of Hinton are tops. Unfortunately, they were on too long, possibly stretching for Miss Kelton.

Elaine Dunn is a hright young dancer who earns a hefty mitt for her almost constant turning. She might dispense with her singing intro, as it is meaningless. House band descends to the pit for the show, necessary for the set shifting, and under direction of Irving Kaplan moves the show along in brisk fashion.

Zabe. Elaine Dunn is a bright

Palace, N. Y.

Bobby Lane & Claire, Phil Bennett, Herman Hyde with Jean Marker; Orlando de la Rosa Quintet, Fontaines (3), Maurice Colleano (4), Impressionaires (2), Eve Walker; "Ma and Pa Kettle at the Fair" (UI), reviewed in Variety March 19, '52.

The Palace lineup is a good blend of booking and routining. It's a well-playing affair that builds to the point where latter half gets some of the most solid applause to register in this house during the eight-act policy.

Highpoint of this opera is reached by Maurice Colleano, the Austra-lian comedy dancer who's assisted by several members of his family. Colleano, in gob garb, is a clever dancer with an acute sense of comedy and act is so designed that there's maximum effectiveness in Colleano, in gob garb, is a clever dancer with an acute sense of comedy and act is so designed that there's maximum effectiveness in projecting for pop audiences.

The group has stunts and comedy material which are genuine howlers. Colleano's acro zanyisms are a top mixture of skill and comedy conception. There's little question of his reception here.

Also in the comedy department is Herman Hyde, a vet musical novelty act. Hyde's trick gultar, flute, bass viol and various other gadgets form a base of a turn that has provided laughs for many years. His routine is still funny after many viewings. This time, his act has been more carefully edited to produce a better effect. However, the sexy harp is missed. He's assisted by Jean Marker.

Phil Bennett puts his crow, Jackie, throught the paces. Bennett has a clever bird that's able to convey a lot of comedy through whistling. birdcalls of other species, and some guttural noises. It's liked here.

Rochester with Russell Evans; ichard Hayes, Harold Barnes, riold Shoda, Billie English, apps & Del Toyo, Skating Belles Blades (8), Gae Foster Roxyet-Richard Arnold & Blades (8), Gae Foster Rouyettes, Spitalny Singers, Joy Conley; "We're Not Married" (20th), reviewed in Variety June 25, '52.

The Roxy Theatre's shows, in recent weeks, have been distinguished by the fact that production is becoming an increasingly vital element. During this period, the house is apparently making picturesque stage maneuvers an adequate substitute for the more expensive names, even though talent buyer Sammy Rauch is still on the prowl for five-figure entities. Thus Gae Foster's stage designs have become increasingly important. She's been endowing this house with tasty production and Arthur Knorr's sets frame the shows elegantly.

The talent contingent is headed by Rochester with an assist by Russell Evans, the Negro actor who had an important role in the screen version of "Detective Story." Rochester, a fixture on the Jack Benny airshow, has been plying the vaude circuits for years, most frequently with femme partners. The act has more class with Evans playing straight, but Rochester is still to come up with an effective theatre turn. The terp bits, though, with Evans assisting, have charm and go over extremely well.

Other major component is Richard Hayes, whose Mercury disking of "Junco Partner" is his current-big item, Hayes is a pleasing personality but fails to project sufficiently in this house. "Junco" lyries do not come over too well, However, the production accoutrements aid him to a big exit hand. Harold Barnes is a skilled tightwire dancer. He shows a genuine terp aptitude on the strand and in addition displays a good line of acrobatics. He gets the measure of this house.

On the ice stage, Arnold Shoda continues to hit excellent mittings with his intricate and graceful skating ballet. His efforts mark the highpoint of the blades show. Billie English similarly shows championship form on this tank, but there's a lightweight quality to her work which should disappear with further appearances on the Roxy ice. Bruce Mapes and Manuel Del Toro combine for a good sallor routine and the Skating Belles & Blades provide good atmospheric touches. Spitzlany Singers with Joy Conley offer nice vocal background.

Caird Hall, Dundee

Dundee, Scottand, July 8.

Harold, Fielding presents Danny Kanny, Prag. r at piano), Jack Simpson, The Tanner Sisters (2), The Dunhills (3), Ray
Martin Orch; twice nightly.

Martin Orch; twice nightly.

Although Danny Kaye is the undoubted attraction here, he's well backed up by a modern-style show. Bill is fast, bright and entertaining, with stubholders settling back after interval to 80 minutes, at show caught, of surrealistic nonsense from Danny Kaye.

Show tees off with a selection from Ray Martin orch, a good ensemble that's well batoned by the Vienna - born musician-composer. Jack Simpson comes on with xylophone in capable and assertive style and keeps the crowd well entrained. Young British gals, the Tanner Sisters, give out in peppy song. This is a pleasing act, w.k. for their British recordings and via radio.

Standout act are the Dunnilis.

This is a pleasing act, w.k. for their British recordings and via radio.

Standout act are the Dunhills, irlo of gay young tap dancers from the States who've been around with Kaye a lot, being included wherever possible on his tours. Their terping is tops and they introduce a nice line of comedy via their ages. Later in show they join in with Kaye, engaging him in a dance contest. Polished terping trio use two Earle Hagen arrangements well played by the orch.

After the interval

ing trio use two Earle Hagen arangements well played by the orch.

After the interval, the band again takes the stage. Then Kaye runs on from the bare, curtainless wings to solid mitting from the 3,000. As always with Kaye, it's not what he does so much as the way that he does and says it. He is the master of the unexpected, every now and again foxing his audience by leading them to expect one kind of number, then giving 'em the opposite.

His material is the well-tried Kaye routine, already familiar to a limited number of the Scottish public through his famous 1949 week in Glasgow, and it goes over equally big with his new 1952 clientele here.

Stubholders, old and young, warm to his fresh, friendly approach. He's very much the informal enter/ainer, getting his vast audience to hear his 'party piece,' (Continued on page 126)

La Jolla, Cal., July 15.
Groucho Marx returns to the stage tonight (15) for the first time in years, starring in "Time for Elizabeth" at La Jolla Playhouse. Marx wrote the play with Norman Krasna. The play, since revised extensively, was presented on Broadway several seasons ago with Otto Kruger in the role taken by Marx. James Nelison staged the production at Marx's insistence. Appearing with Marx are Mary Phillips, Sig Ruman, Russell Hicks, Peggie Castle, Johnny Sands, Will Wright, Marie Lund, Ellen Hartford, Lela Bliss, Madge Blake, Dick Elliott, Dayton Lummis and Leonard Mudie.

The play, a family comedy in which Marx spurns his usual leed in the previously scheduled "Petrified Forest." Featured in the previously schedule formance was virtuan; week ago.

Playhouse next presents "Season in the Sun," opening Tuesday (22), and starring Nancy Kelly and Howard Duff. Terry Moore has been signed for a supporting role.

Hub Area Biz Bopped

Hub Area Biz Bopped
Boston, July 15
GOP convention telecasts bopped biz at local strawhatters last week but fafled to cause any serious inroads into b.o. activity at Cohasset'sSouth Shore Music Circus, where "Roberta" pulled virtual capacity
biz. While tuneful musical was nicely done by resident cast, appearance of Sybil Bowan in role of Mme. Nunez undoubtedly hypoed interest, for the comedienne inserted her zany carbons of noted figures into the second act. Result was a showstopper at every performance. Tent's capacity is 1,134, with scale at $3.50 Monday through Thursday and $4.20 Friday and Saturday. "Bloomer Girl" is current.

rent.
"Tovarich," with Uta Hagen and Broadway cast, pried the lid off
the John Hancock Hall season: It opened slowly but built during the week, nabbing near $8,000. Vincent Price in "Goodbye Again" is cent Price in "Goodbye Again" is current.

"Nina," starring Edward Everett Horton, felt TV's impact, grossing a near $6,500 at the Lee Falk-Al Capp 1,400-seat County Playhouse, in Framingham. "Kiss Me, Kate" opens tonight (15).
"Season With Ginger" moved into Falk & Capp's Boston Summer Theatre, winding with a fair $7,200. "Nina" is current.

Twofers at Canton
Hartford, July 15.
Nearby Canton Showshop yesterday (Mon.) inaugurated a weekly three-day policy of two-for-one to bolster lagging business first half of the week. House has taken newspaper ads and advised subscribers via mailing lists notices.
House nut this semester is higher than in prior 13-year history of the barn because of a first-time Equity company. Barn also has to buck competition of two neighboring strawhatters, both amateur setups. These are the Oval In The Grove, and Group 20 Players, both with large local followings.

Chi Hits Stockbridge
Stockbridge, Mass., July 15.
The big show at Chicago proved strong competition to the Berkshire Playhouse and only fair gross resulted at the boxofice for "Black Chiffon" Take, however, was approximately $900 more than the same week last season, when
"Legend of Sarah" was the attraction.

"Legend of Saran was the attraction.

This week has George Kelly's "The Show-Off," with Margaret Hamilton in the original Helen Lowell role and Thomas Coley in the Aubrey Piper part.

Worcester Barn Burns
Worcester, July 15.
The atre-in-the-Round, on the Speedway, was destroyed by fire of undetermined origin, with $10,000 loss. George Raad was owner.
A former dancehall on Coes
Pond, it was converted to a playhouse in 1950 by Alan Gray Holmes, who also operated it last year. It was dark this season.

'Remains' 6G, Andover Andover, N. J., July 15.

"Remains to Be Seen," LindsayCrouse comedy-meller co-starring Jackie Cooper and Fran Warren, grossed a moderate $6,000 last week at the 786-seat Grist Mill Playhouse here. After a slow start, business perked the latter part of the week. It was the best stanza the spot has had so far this seaago. Grouse comedy-meller co-starring Jackle Cooper and Fran Warren, grossed a moderate $6,000 last week at the 786-seat Grist Mill Playhouse here. After a slow start, business perked the latter part of the week. It was the best stanza the spot has had so far this seaton. "Tree Grows in Brooklyn," with Lanny Ross and Betty Bart-

'Man' $3,400; Saratega Saratoga, N. Y., July 15. Republican convention and the abnormal-mind-study nature of "The Man," starring Dorothy Gish, chilled the gross last week to approximately $3,400 here in the 578-seat Spa Theatre, at $1 to $3 tariff Mice Gish Telegan No. 100 per seat to $3 tariff Mice Gish Telegan No. 200 per seat to $3 tariff Mice Gish Telegan No. 200 per seat to $3 tariff Mice Gish Telegan No. 200 per seat to $3 tariff Mice Gish Telegan No. 200 per seat to $3 tariff Mice Gish Telegan No. 200 per seat to $3 tariff Mice Gish Telegan No. 200 per seat to $3 tariff Mice Gish Telegan No. 200 per seat to $3 tariff Mice Gish Telegan No. 200 per seat to $3 tariff No. 200 per seat tariff

Miss Gish, making her first stage appearance here, and Oliver
Thorndike, recently active in New York TV, gave strong performance in the Mel Dinelli shocker.

"Threshold" Weak At Olney
Olney, Md., July 15.
Dorothy Gish opens here tonight
(15) in "The Man," with Oliver Thorndyke. Turnout at Olney last week for Sidney Blackmer in "Second Threshold" was disappointing.

Lanny Ross Barn Ad Lib Curtain Talks Helping To Spark Legit Interest

York, Pa., July 15.

York, Pa., July 15.

Lanny Ross, starring in a touring edition of "Tree Grows in Brooklyn," became a local ravorite recently at John Kenley's new strawhat here, the former York film theatre. Singer-actor not only gave a click performance in the Betty Smith-Dorothy Fields-Arthur Schwartz musical, but made a series of curtain speeches that apparently succeeded in thawing the ice of public indifference to legither.

here.

Curtain spiels were not arranged in advance, but were started by Ross opening night in response to an ovation. The informal talks obviously created a feeling of personal contact new to the legit-starved local public, and sparked the advance sale for last week's appearance of Mae West in "Come On Up—Ring Twice" and for subsequent bills. The management thinks that the incident has been a turning point in a tough struggle to establish summer stock here.

The York, with a seating capacity

The York, with a seating capacity of 935, has a $2 top evenings and $1 matinees. Patronage is from an area of about 75 miles, although an area of about 75 miles, although some playgoers have been coming from Baltimore and one reservation was from Pittsburgh, 232 miles away. Besides extending here this season, Kenley is continuing his operation of the Kenley Players, Barnesville, Pa. Steve Kenley, a brother, is manager of the operation here with Level Clerk period. tion here, with Lamar Clark assistoronter, is manager of the operation here, with Lamar Clark assisting.

The Ross company of "Tree" opened the season June 16 at the Pocono Playhouse, Mountainhome, Pa., played the following week at Kenley's headquarters strawhat at Barnesville, Pa., came here the week of June 30 and last week played the Corning (N. Y.) Summer Theatre. It's currently at the Grist Mill Playhouse, Andover N. J., goes next week to the Norwich (Conn.) Summer Theatre, then moves to the Niagara Falls (Ont.) Summer Theatre and winds up its tour week of Aug. 11 at the Spa Summer Theatre, Saratoga.

'Ladies' to Re-Light D.C.; 'Porgy' Sets to Follow Washington, July 15.

Handelsman in as Biz Mgr. For Deceased Haring

Philadelphia, July 15. Samuel Handelsman has been named business manager of the municipally-operated Playhouse-inwhich was being presented at the tent theatre when Haring was stricken.

BALLET RUSSE SET FOR 9-DAY AL FRESCO IN D.C.

Washington, July 15. Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo will have a nine-day run at the Carter Barron Memorial Amwill have a nine-us, the Carter Barron Memorial Amphitheafre next month. This will be the first theatre performance at the Rock Creek Park outdoor setting since the "Faith of Our Fathers" pageant play by Paul Green held forth last summer as the Washington Sesquicentennial attraction.

Scott Kirkpatrick will press

San Diego Preps Fourth Annual Shakespeare Fest

San Diego, July 15.

San Diego, July 15.

City's fourth annual Shakespearean Festival will open tomorrow (Wed.) at the "Old Globe Theatre in Balboa Park. Joint presentation of San Diego Community Theatre and San Diego State College, festival will comprise "All's Well That Ends Well" July 16-Aug. 2, and "As You Like It" Aug 8-30. B. Iden Payne, for eight years director of the Memorial Theatre at Stratfordon-Avon, again will direct.
Play performances will be preceded by an Olde English County Fair, presided over by Queen Bess and Court. English country dances will be presented under direction of Joe Swedelius.

Legit Bits

Legit Bits

Maurice Evans will team with the Shuberts in a Broadway production, with batter and the state of the Shuberts in a Broadway production, with batter and the state of the state

Inside Stuff—Legit

Anthony Parella, who plans to present plays, produce radio and television programs and conduct a dramatic school at the 300-seat President Theatre, just off the Times Square theatrical district, N. Y. has capitalized the venture at $20,000. Sole backer, who will split the potential profits 50-50 with Parella, is listed in the partnership agreement as Kate F. Merle-Smith, of Cove Neck Rd., Oyster Bay, L. I. The project is called the American Contemporary Theatre.

With the resignation of Joseph Wood Krutch as drama critic of The Nation, literary critic Margaret Marshall is now doubling as legit reviewer for the liberal weekly. Mag didn't cover the current reviewer of "Male Animal," one of whose basic themes is academic freedom and civil rights in general. Krutch, who has gone to live in Arizona for reasons of health, is contributing book reviews to the magazine. The New Republic, another liberal commentary publication, has dropped legit coverage entirely since it moved its editorial offices to Washington. Previously, Harold Clurman had been reviewing Broadway shows for the mag, having followed Irwin Shaw in the assignment.

Luba Malina, who's eyeing a top role in the eventual musicalization of Robert E. Sherwood's play, "Idiot's Delight," starred in the straight version of the comedy-drama at Westport, Conn., summer theatre the week of July 1. Miss Malina and Scott McKay played the original Lynn Fontanne, Alfred Lunt roles with Gordon Miller also in a featured part. Mary Hunter staged the piece. It's reported that Broadway producer John C. Wilson is interested in putting on the musical version.

Barn Notes

Arthur Conescu, formerly Bob Sanford's assistant in the TV-radio department of Music Corp. of America, has resigned to return to the Rochester (N.Y.) Arena Theatre as actor-manager of the year-round stock outfit... Thomas Bateliffe, producer of the Sea Cliff (L.I.) Summer Theatre, has been elected a member of the Equity Library Theatre executive committee... Helen Craig, Larry Gates and Douglas Waisson the Larry Gates and Douglas Waisson the Weifson's "A Murder in the Family," week of July 28.at Berkshire Playhouse, Stockbridge, Mass.

Former film actress Lynne Carsnire klayhouse, Stockbridge, Mass.

Former film actress Lynne Carver, returning for her fourth summer as leading woman at the Lakeside Theatre, Putnam, Conn., revealed her marriage last fall to William Mulaney, director of the spot Louise Williamson, a member of the New London (N.H.) Players, has won a two-year scholarship at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art, London, starting in the fall... Author-director Reginald Denham visiting Denver, where his actress-wife and collaborator, Mary Orr, is a member of the Eliteh's resident company... Theron Bamberger has optioned "Blue Danube," by the late Ferenc Molnar, for tryout at his Bucks County Playhouse, New Hope, Pa., and perhaps fall production on Broadway.

Daniel Boone Drama Adds Colorful Link to Series Of N. Car. Al Frescoes

Greensboro, N. C., July 15.

"Thunderland," newest addition to North Carolina's great white way of outdoor drama, opened at Asheville July 4, for what appears to be a prosperous summerlong run. run.

run.

The colorful story of Daniel Boone's life, written by Hubert Hayes, is being presented in Forest Amphitheatre just south of Asheville. The drama was produced under supervision of Robert Porterfield and directed by Montgomery Hare. Settings are by Herschel Harrington, lighting by Abe Feder, and music by Lamar Stringfield.

"Thunderland," with professional

Herschel Harrington, lighting by Abe Feder, and music by Lamar Stringfield.

"Thunderland," with professional cast and crew of over 100, tells the compelling story of a man with vision, who dreamed he was destined to lead his people to the promised land. It tells how his vision led him to carve the Wilderness Road into "Kaintucky," failing first, then realizing permanence of his dream in the crashing siege of Boonesborough. Author Hayes has selected one of the most powerful figures in history to translate the cost of America's heritage in terms of the individual. It is also the story of the pioneer spirit that has made and kept America great.

Cast is headed by John Morley as Daniel Boone. Demanding role of Boone's wife, Rebecca, is handled by Rosemary Murphy.

Featured members in clud e Frederic Warriner, as Embler and Aconostotia; Leo Chalzel, as Squire Boone and Nat Hart; David Clark, as John Finley and Andrew Johnson; Nora Dunfee, as Effie Carson; Charles Thompson, as Joseph Bryan; David Lober, as a special Indian dancer; and David Ajootian, as Tsiyu-Gunsini.

Jeanette Atkinson, as Matoka; Michael Chase, as Todd, Ken Brauer, as Preacher Vardiman; Don Morrow, as narrator; Eston Perkins, as John Stuart; Al Hedison, as Big Jim and Afacullaculla; Done Knell, as James; and Ann Lee Style, as Granny Sparks, also carry important roles.

Harvey' Angel Group Wins Court Order for Distrib of $200,183 in Profits

Group of backers of "Harvey" and heirs of the late producer brock Pemberton have won a court-action to obtain distribution of $200,183 profits from the Mary Chase comedy. Decision of N. Y. Surrogate William T. Collins, dated July 3, ordered payment of the coin within five days after service of the court order.

Suit, brought by 16 of the 28 backers of the 1944-45 production, was filed in February, 1951, and sought to compel the Chemical Bank & Trust, as executor of the Pemberton estate, to distribute the available profits from the show. It was explained at the time that lemberton, just prior to his death almost a year before, had been preparing such a distribution. However, settlement of his estate was snarled by a large tax claim, and the investors feared that the "Harvey" funds might be taken by the Government in payment. The tax case was subsequently settled, but the bank still declined to hand out the profits until the entire matter was clarified legally.

Total Net $1,281,322 profits previously distributed on the production, the new divvy brings the total net return to $1,481,505. There's figured to be little prospect of much further revenue from the comedy, since the full price has been paid for the screen edition, the property has played out its foreign potential and the stock rights are no longer in active demand. The venture, originally financed for $30,000, played 1,775 performances on Broadway and (Continued on Page 122)

Touring Players, Now In Sixth Year, Offer Three One-Acters at Conn. Barn

Westport, Conn., July 15.
After covering 18,000 miles from Maine to Texas this past season,
Touring Players, Inc., presented three one-acters from its repertory at Lucille Lortel's White Barn Thetare here (13), showcase for new plays. Good ensemble acting at Lucille Lortel's White Barn Thetare here (13), showcase for new plays. Good ensemble acting marks this pro group's thoughtful, entertaining trio, consisting of Rachel Field's "Condonderry Air," and "Brewsie and Willie" and "The Lottery," both adapted by Ellen Utolett from short stories, the first by Gertrude Stein and second by Shirley Jackson.

A brief trifle, "Londonderry. Air," deals with the wooing of a servant girl by a silver-voiced tramp. The charm and ease of two Dublin players, Milo O'Shea and Maureen Toal, overcome the handicap of heavy-handed direction by Wynn Handman.

"Brewsie and Willie" is made up of the musings of a group of GI's in Paris at the end of World War II. Though there is little action, the writing (Ellen Violett and Lisabeth Blake collabbed on adapting Gertrude Stein) and direction by Robert Laning focus interest by individualizing the GI's in the group—the reflective Brewsie played by Jerry Ansbacher; the would-be promoter (Richard Merrell), and the metooer (Douglas Taylor). Standout performance is Harry Bergman's as the belligerent Willie.

A contrast to the Stein mood piece, "The Lottery" is intensely (Continued on Page 123)

COAST OUTFIT TO DO 'DANGER, MEN WORKING'

Hollywood, July 15.

"Danger, Men Working," John Stewart's Irish drama which was premiered in London last year as a part of the Festival of Britain, will have its U. S. debut late this month as a presentation of the Circle Theatre, local legit group. Mordecai Gorelik, who persuaded Stewart to let the Circle organization have the script, will direct. Identically-titled comedy-melodrama, written by Ellery Queen and Lowell Brentano, was tried out in the spring of 1936, but folded out of town.

Circle also is planning the world. role Theatre, local legit group.

Mordecai Gorelik, who persuaded Stewart to let the Circle organization have the script, will direct. Identically-titled comedy-melodrama, written by Ellery Queen and Lowell Brentano, was tried out in the spring of 1936, but folded out of town.

Circle also is planning the world premiere next month of "Once Upon a Tailor," a Yiddish folk tale upon a Tailor," a Yiddish folk tale upon a Tailor, and the complex the complex that the cast headed by Ludwig Donath.

Asking For It

Askring For it

An actor, trying to make the best of the current boxoffice slump on Broadway, arrived backstage at a theatre Monday night (14) and greeted the doorman with a cheery "Well, what's up?"

The doorman shrugged and answered, "The notice."

Recast 'Camera' Prepped for Fall

"I Am a Camera," which shuttered Saturday (12) at the Empire, N. Y., will be considerably recast before reopening late in August for a short return run prior to going on the road. Julie Harris, of a short return run prior to going on the road. Julie Harris, who left the cast some weeks ago for a film commitment, will be back in the femme lead, in which her performance drew critical raves and earned her star billing, Barbara Baxley has been playing
the part since Miss Harris left.

the part since Miss Harris left.
William Prince, top-featured male lead, will not return to the cast, nor will Martin Brooks and Catherine Willard, both also featured. With replacements for them, but with Marian Winters,
Olga Fabian, Edward Andrews and Miss Harris of the original cast, the John van Druten comedydrama will be re-rehearsed by the author, probably reopening Aug.
18 or 25 and playing six or eight weeks at the Empire before going on the road. The entire troupe will be signed until May of next year.

As of its closing last week, "Camera" had played 33 weeks, earning about $68,000 on its $65,000 investment. The Gertrude 000 investment. The Gertrude Macy-Walter Starcke production has thus far distributed $48,337 profit and has about $19,000 additional assets, including $7,000 bonds and $10,000 sinking fund.

ROLLO PETERS MAPPING ONE-MAN READINGS

ONE-MAN READINGS

Rollo Peters, who recently gave a series of readings of classics at the Monterey drama and music festival on the Coast, arrived in the east last week to discuss a possible tour of such a program. Tentative idea would be to have the readings include the classics and some contemporary writings, such as Robinson Jeffers. It would be a one-man show, somewhat like the solo readings by Charles Laughton. Appearances would be booked before college groups and civic organizations. With exception of an overseas tour in "Bilthe Spirit" during the last war, Peters has been in retirement on the Coast for some years. He was frequently a star in various Broadway shows and was at one time a scenic designer.

Eva Gabor, Egan in Coast 'Strike a Match' Tryout

La Jolla, Cal., July 15.
Eva Gabor and Richard Egan will co-star in "Strike a Match," new Robert Smith play which opens here Aug. 19 for a one-week tryout. Mel Ferrer is staging the production.
"Match" is being tested here with a view toward a possible Broadway bow in the fall. Film rights to the play are owned by Jerry Wald.

Upped Theatre Guild List For Columbus Patrons

Atlantic City, N. J., July 15.
Three theatres offering summer plays got off to a good start here, with better results expected from now on. Past experience has shown that the season's last six weeks are the heat

that the season's last SIX weeks are the best.

John F. Dwight, who is producing plays at the Gateway Musical Playhouse, located in suburban Somers Point, said that approximately 4,000 saw "Brigadoon."
"Born Yesterday," which opened last Wednesday (9) isn't doing as well. "Lady in the Dark," his second musical show, opens Wednesday (16) and runs through Sunday (20).

weil. Bauy in the Data, incomed musical show, opens Wednesday (16) and runs through Sunday (20).

The Mill Players returned to the Quarterdeck Theatre at Hotel Morton last night (14), with "Here Today" as their second offering. It has been playing at their Pleasant Mills Playhouse near Hammonton, opening there Thursday (10). They will offer "Seventh Heaven" next week (21-22-23), continuing their split-week policy.

"Borscht Capades," which is playing the season at the Million Dollar Pier, is moving right along. Harry Simon, president of the Boardwalk Assn., which includes top businessmen here, is to be honored tonight (15) at the Pier, when 600 seats have been assigned to the group.

Exclusivity Snarl With 'Kate' Strawhat Booking Cued Stiefel SMA Vamp

Ivoryton, Conn., July 15. Milton Stiefel, operator of Ivory-ton's pasture playhouse for 23 sea-sons, and a co-founder and for 12 years prez of the Stock Managers Assn., has clarified his attitude in regard to his resignation from that organization.

organization.

Long a champion of free enterprise on the summer circuit, Stiefel felt that if an operator was willing to pay extra for territory protection on an attraction, that was something he was entitled to do. An action to the contrary, which, incidentally, caused Richard Aldrich's resignation from SMA, was put through by the association a year ago, in regard to "Brigadoon" playing Boston and Cohasset, and Stiefel fell in line with that ruling. However, when he attempted to

However, when he attempted to book "Kiss Me, Kate" for his opener this season, he was advised that it was not available to him, as it was necessary to protect nearby Norwich and Clinton, which already had the musical.

ready had the musical.

Inconsistency of the setup as a whole was a prime factor in determining Stiefel's resignation.

Biz on first two weeks at Ivoryton has been below par. "Gramercy Ghost" (Veronica Lake) was booked in as an emergency opener when "Kate" was not available. It meant an even break at the ho when "Kate" was not available. It meant an even break at the b.o. Last week "Ramshackle Inn" (ZaSu Pitts) failed to pull substantially, a possible victim of convention week. Current outlook on "Affairs of State" (Reginald Owen, Italia Caldard): Haila Stoddard) is more optimistic

Kneeter Blasts SMA

Norwich, July 15.

In his fifth season at the Norwich Summer Theatre, operator Herbert Kneeter reports a 30% biz improvement on the first three at improvement on the first three attractions over the corresponding trio of 1951. House opened with an even break on Bert Lahr in "Burlesque," followed with a fair profit on "Kiss Me, Kate" and topped that with an even heftier black figure for week ending July 12, with Robert Q. Lewis in "Charley's Aunt." Current is Mae West, with outcome in doubt at this writing.

writing.
Scale is same as '51, with $2.95 top. Upped biz is attributed to more intensive advertising cam-more intensive advertising campaign.

Kneeter cut loose with a blast at the Stock Managers Assn., asserting that the impresarios "are killing off their own golden goose through lack of cooperation, personal avarice and failure to hold the line against demands of agents."

He recommends that the association hire a paid secretary "who knows what strawhat operation is all about, rather than submit to the dictates of quarters unfamili with summer theatre problems."

Terry Moore will co-star with Howard Duft and Nancy Kelly in "Season in the Sun" which gets its Coast premiere next Tuesday (22) at the La Jolla (Cal.) Playhouse.

Brigadoon, 'Here Today' | Theatre Mgrs. Riled at 'Excessive' New Stagehands, Equity Demands

The Feminine Angle

Discussing the new stage-hands' demands that St. Pat-rick's Day and Yom Kippur be classified as holidays, with double pay rates, a Broadway producer revealed that he's heard that the musicians' union is going to want over-time for Father's Day.
"I know," his companion added, "and one lady harpist is already protesting that she wants Mother's Day off." producer re heard that

Morley Tax Angle Snags B'way 'Hut'

Broadway production this season of "The Little Hut," current London hit, apparently depends on whether an attractive tax setup can be worked out for British star Robert Morley. Latter has indicated a reluctance to return to Broadway, principally for financial reasons, and it's considered unlikely that the Nancy Mitford adaptation of Andre Roussin's original Parisian farce would be suitable for American audiences without him.

original Parisian farce would be suitable for American audiences without him.

John C. Wilson, who is in line to present the play on Broadway, flew to London last week to confer with Morley as well as to be present for the opening last night (Tues.) of the tryout tour of Alfred Lunt anl Lynn Fontanne in the new Noel Coward comedy, "Quadrille," at the Opera House, Manchester. The producer figures he has an attractive flancial setup to offer Morley, and hopes he can persuade the actor to appear in his original role in the show on Broadway.

On Morley's last U. S. appearance, as star of "Edward, My Son," he reportedly ended up with little money on the venture, due principally to international tax complications and the cost of maintaining residences both here and in the case of "Little Hut," an arrangement might be made for the actor to have a capital gains setup on his 20% share in the show's profits.

Although Morley is regarded as essential to the success of "Hut" in New York, others of the original

Although Morley is regarded as essential to the success of "Hut" in New York, others of the original London cast, including American actress Joan Tetzel, sole femme member of the company, probably wouldn't be imported. Peter Brook, who staged the West End production, would be brought over to repeat the assignment and the original scenery by Oliver Messel would also be used, if union regulations permitted. The comedy has been running almost two years in London.

Guild, Bloomgarden Tie Seen on 'Apple' Musical

The Theatre Guild may join Ker-The Theatre Guild may join kermit Bloomgarden in the co-production of "The Golden Apple," the John Latouche-Jerome Moross musical more or less based on the legend in Homer's "Odyssey." The work was auditioned over the weekend for Theresa Helburn, co-director, and other Guild production reps.

Bloomgarden is planning to produce the show, but prefers to team with a management with experience on musicals.

New Group Takes Over Hub's Brattle Theatre

Hub's Brattle Theatre

Boston, July 15.

A new group, headed by Bryant
Haliday, has taken over operation of the Brattle Theatre, Cambridge, and will reopen next Tuesday (22)
with Christopher Fry's "A Sleep of Prisoners," skedded for twoweek stint. In addition to Haliday, new setup includes Albert Marre as director and Myron Markel as treasurer, business manager and press agent, with plans to continue throughout balance of the summer season.

Legit management, currently plagued by the usual summer boxoffice slump and, as always, facing ever-rising production and operating costs and ever-dwindling production, has been handed a new set of union demands. The stagehands have come up with a 12-point proposal that would presumably boost overhead and have repertises. posal that would presumably boost overhead and hamper operation. Equity has presented a list of re-strictive demands designed to po-lice actor working conditions and restrict alien employment.

restrict alien employment.

The stagehand demands have members of the League of N. Y. Theatres frothing. Only one or two of the points are considered acceptable or, according to producers, even realistic. It's proposed that the agreement, whenever reached, be retroactive to Aug. I, when the present contract expires. This is regarded as reasonable. All stagehands are to get a week's stagehands are to get a week's vacation with pay after every 26 weeks' employment. This is called excessive.

All notices to department heads All notices to department heads (master carpenter, master electrician, property man) terminating employment as of July 31 are to be withdrawn. This is regarded as a technical matter advanced for tactical purposes. A flat 15% raise is demanded for all stagehands. This is called unreasonable and unacceptable. Stagehand scales are already excessive, producers believe.

Minimum call is to be four hours (that is, all men must be paid for at least four hours, regardless of how brief the assignment actually is) instead of the present three hours. One producer calls this a "holdup." Double time is to be (Continued on Page 124)

(Continued on Page 124)

Four Outdoor Historical Dramas Keep N. Carolina Humming With Theatre

Greensboro, N. C., July 15.

With opening of the outdoor historical drama season, in which North Carolina has pioneered, the state is humming with theatre.

During a season which runs about 10 weeks, an estimated 500,-000 persons, including history and drama lovers from all 48 states, will attend the four outdoor attractions operating this summer.

tions operating this summer.

Premiere of a new outdoor drama, "Horn in the West," got the season under way at Boone in the new Daniel Boone Theathe. New drama depicts life in the Appalachians during the Revolutionary period and will run for nine weeks in the new 2,500-seat theatre.

Nation's pioneer symphonic drama, Paul Green's "The Lost Colony," opened its 12th season in the Waterside Theatre at Fort Raleigh near Manteo, on Roanoke Island.

Island.
Giving first performance in its third season the same night was Kermit Hunter's "Unto These Hills," in the Mountainside Theatre at Cherokee.

"Thunderland," new story about hearenings divining the life of Dan-happenings during the life of Dan-iel Boone, opened July 4 in a new 2,300-seat amphitheatre located on (Continued on Page 123)

LEAGUE, EQUITY SNARL ON BLACKLIST POLICY

Proposed joint statement by the eague of N. Y. Theatres and Acors Equity condemning employ. League of N. Y. Theatres and Actors Equity condemning employment blacklisting on political grounds has apparently struck a snag over the union's demand for "enforcement." League members, who first suggested such a declaration, are reportedly insisting that it be an expression of policy, but Equity reps are arguing that there should be penalties for violations. According to one League governor, the Equity proposal would amount to setting up a blacklist to combat a blacklist. Moreover, he asserts, the Equity idea is impractical, since it would mean trying to "inquire into a man's mind."

asserts, the Equity interest iteal, since it would mean trying to "inquire into a man's mind." In most cases, he believes, black-listing is practically impossible to prove. Therefore, he claims, Equity's idea would have little prospect of success and its attitude is now merely holding up a statement that might be valuable.

Strawhat Reviews

The Other Foot

th Yardley Yardley shaw.... Katherine Anderso
Jack Hartle
Patricia Remic
Catherine Procto Mrs. Smith Patricia Remick Mrs. Yardley, Sr. Catherine Proctor Committee Members, Judith Ralston, Ted Ralston Mr. Duncan Winston Ross

After George Abbott produced and directed "What a Life" on Broadway in April, 1938, its author. Clifford Goldsmith, made a profitable career out of the farce's principal characters, Henry Alcrich, and the teenager's long-suffering parents. They became national symbols of family life through radio and films. Erra Stone, who created the role of Henry on stage and radio, had to delay his departure from adolescence a number of years.

Goldsmith could use Abbott and another Stone in his first 'play' since "What a Life" to reach production, "The Other Foot." Show, co-starring Thomas Mitchell and former film star, Esther Ralston, began an eight-week summer theatre tour here.

began an eight-week summer theatre tour here.

Especially could he use an Abbott. Mitchell has done the staging and after three weeks, more than the usual amount of time given to new plays in summer stock, the new farce on adolescence looks like it only reached rehearsal stage the day before opening. The actor is one of the most likeable, sympathetic players in the theatre and on screen but that doesn't qualify him to direct.

Until somebody can get in there with surefire comedy staging technique and clear away the debris, it will be inmossible to tell whether or not "The Other Foot" should be almed for Broadway.

tell whether or not "The Other Foot" should be aimed for Broadway.

In this study of the volce-changing set, Goldsmith starts out with an original and spossibly humorous idea. Two sets of parents and an attractive widow decide to change children for a period of 30 days, so that the youngsters can be taught the value of their own homes and will come to appreciate the nagged-at footers-of-the-bills. There is also a suggestion, lost in the shambles, that Mitchell would like to keep the widowed Miss Ralston, who is threatening to move to Arlzona to escape the domination of her 15-year-old son by his grandmother, at home. He is without wife and Ralston is No. I candidate as replacement.

The switch is that the kids begin to like the new arrangement as the parents start wrangling among themselves to get them to go back where they came from.

Whether this just happened or was pre-planned by the jukeboxers is lost in the blown lines and aimless wanderings of the actors on stage.

Mitchell isn't even kind to stage.

Mitchell isn't even kind to Mitchell in his direction. Given to underplaying, the star has carried the technique to too fine a point ried the technique to too line a point.

Miss Raiston, when she's in a jam (and she was in plenty of them opening night), resorts to making faces. Featured player Jack Hartley and the others gave it the I-wish-I-were-dead treatment.

Only the youngsters, Marlene Cameron, Buzzy Martin, Warren Berlinger and Eddy Benjamin, seem to survive, with young Berlinger a standout.

John Blankenchip designed an Ingenious set with interchangeable side flats to make two homes up dialogue that it easy on the ears; and she knows play construction.

This adaptation of Gwen Davenport's novel, "Return Engagement," formerly known as "Reprise," has been brought to T. C. Upham's seaside playhouse by Miss Bainter and director John Holden to see if the comedy has the makings of a Broadway vehicle for the star, away from the kilbhizing of the Westport-Cape Cod commuters.

What Miss Bainter is likely to discover after additional engagements under more favorable conditions is that she is a star in a role which has the secondary interest. At best, "The Swallows Nest" is primarily for matinee carriage trade.

Actresses always enjoy playing other actresses. Bainter is playing an actress grandmother, Sophie Van Eyck, a glamorous, great international star, who has come home to Gooseneck, Me., to retire with her 17-year-old orphaned, illegitimate granddaughter and a retinue of four ex but devoted lovers. Miss Akins handles this situation with humorous observation and extreme good taste, never naming the men for what they are, but letting the audience come to its own conclusions.

Granddaughter falls in love with the heir of the town's most prominent and ancestor-conscious family before the first act is over, and the emphasis is on the young pair for the rest of the play. Miss Bainter, looking stunning in her own gowns, is capable of creating the illusion of being what her adorers say she is. Had she not brought along such trustworthy troupers as Isabel Price, Neil Fitzgerald and Janet De Gore, she would have been in a hard way for adequate support. Most of the Cape Theatre's resident company behave as though it couldn't do more than love the theatre.

If the room dreamed up by the company's designer was supposed to suggest Sophie's old home, it is easily understandable why she ran away from it at an early age. The furniture, often referred to as "characters, night have come from a rummage shop. Vern.

Sweet Lorraine

Landing, N.J., July ac.

Hal Productions (Harold K. Lawrence) presentation of drama in three acts (four scenes) by Abby Mann and Bernard Drew.
scenes) by Abby Mann and Bernard Drew.
thews, Directed by Lawrence, Settings,
Larry Lyons, David Sawn, At Lakeside
Theatre, Landing, N. J., July 8, 52.

Monroe, Brand Dan Matthews
Joan Archer
Joan Archer neatre, Landing, N. J., July 8, 252.
onroe Larry Lyons
mund Brand Dan Matthews
yills Joan Archer
Larry Lyons
yills Joan Archer
Larry Lyons
Larry Lyons
Joan Archer
Larry Lyons
Larry Lawrence
Larry Lawrence
Larry Lawrence
Larry Lawrence
Larry Lawrence
Larry Lawrence
Larry Larry
Larry
Larry Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry
Larry Monroe
Edmund Brand
Phyllis
Mrs Courtright
Lou Morton
Corrigan
Lorraine Chandler
Joe Kennedy
Kenneth Winston
Marie
Doorman
Jessie Winston
A Reporter
Mr. Morton
Sallor
Sallor

VARIETY

gal wise to the writer's ways. James Vickery is good as the husband. Okay support is provided by Anita Lawrence, Lidie Murfi and Harold E. Lawrence, among others. Lawrence's direction is rather leisurely. But what really disrupts the play's continuity are the waits between scene changes, which vary between one and four minutes in length. With a total of 11 scenes, that's a lot of time. Limited stage facilities of the theatre undoubtedly account for this.

Gilb.

The Anonymous Lover Worcester. July 8.

Guy Palmerton presentation of comedy in three acts by Vernon Sylvaine. Stars Larry Parks, Betty Carrett, Staged by Frank Maxwell. Setting by John Darley, At Worcester (Mass.) Playhouse, July 8, 32; 83 top.

Kay Morland. Maxine Stuart John Morland. Larry Parks Marion Maxwell Betty Carrett Garrett Garre

Larry Parks and his wife, Betty Garrett, looking for a play they could take to Broadway together, came upon Vernon Sylvaine's "The Anonymous Lover" while they were filling a vaudeville date in London last yeer.

Anonymous Lover" while they were filling a vaudeville date in London last year.

Show had been a hit there in 1946 with Hugh Sinclair and Valerie Taylor starred. Premiere audience here greeted it enthusiastically.

Comedy is based almost entirely on what it can evoke from sex stituations and lines.

Locale has been changed from London and Surrey to John Mortand's (Parks) home in Connecticut. He is a playwright, his new drama has just premiered in New York and the opening curtain finds him reading the good words of the critics.

But it soon turns out his understanding of the human female in the play is nothing more than an X-ray of the intimate home life of the Morlands' closest friends, Marion and Charlie Maxwells.

The Maxwells soon arrive individually to protest, and it develops the play has broken up their marriage. The drama's supposedly cheating turns out to have been true.

Parks walks out on his wife cheating turns out to have been true.

Parks walks out on his wife (Maxine Stuart) and Betty Garrett (Mrs. Morland) makes a play for him. This provokes most of the laughter in the second act.

Parks wisely enacts the role with a certain nalve innocence and comes across fine. Miss Garrett's work was still a little uneven at the premiere. She inclines to overact and shades some scenes to burlesque.

act and shades some scenes to burlesque.

The play is a natural for the more sophisticated summer audiences but in its present state seems rather lightweight for Broadway. Parks' premiering the play here was a sentimental journey, as he broke into the theatre in 1936 with Guy Palmerton's stock company at nearby Lake Whalom. Lee.

The Hallowe'en Bride

Prilip Pruneau, who caused the critics to bring out their most vindictive adjectives in the season of 1950-51, when his "The Cellar and the Well" was presented at the ANTA Playhouse, would probably get more gentle treatment with his latest play, "The Hallowe'en Bride," should it ever be brought to Broadway.

It's highly doubtful, however, if there would be complete acceptance by any of the aisle-seaters, were it brought in in its current state.

not anxious to share it with a third not anxious to share it with a third person.

Other portions of the play are concerned with an Italian girl's attempts to marry an embtyo gangster, the lonely problems of his liquor-loving mether, who shares her bottle with a parrot, and the incestuous attachment of a brother to the bride. All of this has interest, but none of it seems to have any bearing on this, or any, particular play.

As it now stands, "The Hallowe'en Bride" has no one character to hold interest of the audience. All of them are about equally important.

Pruneau shows that he has plenty of imagination and an individual style. If he gets discipline into his writing, he may some day turn out a play.

Hurrlessance

Burlesque

Buffalo, July 8.

Boxoffice performances of the half-dozen strawhats in the Buffalo

Boxoffice performances of the half-dozen strawhats in the Buffalo area so far this season represent something for the record. With picture theatre turnstiles registering near Zero, Niagara frontier barns, operating mostly with non-Equity casts and in only one instance (Niagara Falls Players) featuring legit stars, are doing capacity and better. Explanation seems to be smart exploitation and current public yen for novelty and difference.

Chief interest in the Grand Island Players' production of "Burlesque" at Grand Island (N. Y.) Playhouse is the new show-within-show version of the third act, with original score by Anthony Scibetta and lyrics by Alice Tierney Scanlan. Production of this bit is surprisingly good for a silo circuit operation. Scibetta's melodies, with the composer at the piano, are lively and well scored and the Scanlan lyrics are well up to professional standards. "Somebody for Me" and "A Very Lovely Day" show some sparkling wordage and the torchy "Where's My Guy" could be used to good advantage by almost any Broadway chantoosey. The entire interlude makes a refreshing finale for the otherwise dated script.

Cast contains most of the Grand Island favorites—Dorothy D'Anna, dated script.

Cast contains most of the Grand Island favorites—Dorothy D'Anna, Lawrence Hanratty, Mary Jane Abeles, Dorothy Moree, Jeanne White and Seymour Abeles, Hanratty, although too intellectual a type to make a convincing burlesque trouper, unveils some surprising talents in the singing honors go to Seymour Abeles, probably Buffalo's finest semi-pro, for his sharp characterization of for his sharp characterization of the hardboiled, softhearted stage manager. Dorothy D'Anna makes a believable Bonny.

Production is in for two full weeks with all performances close to overflow at $1.50 top. Burton.

'Harvey'

Continued from Page 121-

toured for several seasons. The film rights were originally sold to Universal for $1,000,000, but the deal was subsequently revised on the basis of a $750,000 down payment plus a one-third share of the profits (which failed to materialize). profits ize).

Among the backers who joined in the suit were actor John Alexander (1-2/3% share); Margaret and Elaine Perry, daughters of the play's director, the late Antoinette Perry (5/12% and 5/16%, respectively); Armina Marshall, wife and production associate of Theatre Guild director Lawrence Langner (1-2/3%); John Opdycke, husband of Theatre Guild director Theresa Helburn (2%); producer-backer Barbara Payne (1-2/3%); ticket broker Louis Schonceit (1-1/3%); Harold Stehle, treasurer of the Royale, N. Y. (5%); theatrical tailor Bronson Williams (5/6%); New Yorker mag writer Daniel Lang (1-2/3%), and the L. A. B. Amusement Corp., representing Marcus Heiman (5%).

Other backers include actress Jessie Royce Langlis (1-2/3%), for Jessie Royce Langlis (1-2/3%).

Ingenious set with interchange able side flats to make two homes up as a streetwalker.

It's difficult to see how the play could be improved enough to quaffing the seems of t

Legit Followun

The King and I

(ST. JAMES, N. Y.)

Celeste Holm, subbing as star of "The King and I" during Gertrude Lawrence's six-week vacation, brings a different quality to the role and to some extent alters the values of the show as a whole. She is generally a satisfactory replacement and the Rodgers-Hammerstein musical continues to provide impressive entertainment.

Miss Holm emphasizes the improvement and the Rodgers-Hammerstein musical continues to provide impressive entertainment.

impressive entertainment.

Miss Holm emphasizes the implicit romance between Anna and the King, not only because she is and seems about his age, but even more because she plays it that way. Thus, there now seems no fundamental reason why their instinctive attraction shouldn't be fulfilled, and the arrangement of story incidents almost suggests that the Wing's death is all that prevents and the arrangement of story incidents almost suggests that the King's death is all that prevents such a development. Whether oor not this treatment is consistent with the story line or faithful to the original book is perhaps incidental. More important, it gives the show greater dramatic force and interest.

and interest.

On the other hand, Miss Holm seems almost offhand in her attitude toward the royal Siamese children. Where Miss Lawrence made Anna's affection for and devotion to them seem important to her and quite touching to the audience, Miss Holm gives the impression of merely going through the motions of loving the moppets, while actually being aware at all times of her relationship with the King.

Miss Holm gets more and bigger laughs than Miss Lawrence got. Her singing is truer-keyed, if perhaps not quite as gay or, alternately, poignant. Like Miss Lawrence, her voice is often so faint as to be inaudible. She lacks Miss Lawrence's authority and star quality, so the part of the King takes on greater dimension and impact. But she improves as the performance goes on, so her final scene, especially the selzure and near-lashing of the slave girl, Tuptim, are the best, except that the death of the King is now almost pure pantomime.

Terry Saunders, who has succeeded Dorothy, Sarnoff, is an acceptable Lady Thiang. If she is less effective vocally, she seems more pliable dramatically and only slightly less authoritative Stephanie Augustine is good enough as Tuptim, though neither vocally nor visually up to her predecessor, Doretta Morrow. As her lover, Larry Douglas holds his original edge fairly well, but their love scenes have a somewhat perfunctory quality, hardly the urgency of two people with an irresistible, fatal attraction.

As the King, Yul Brynner is still physically almost perfect, catching wonderfully the conscientious but self-indulgent boylshness of the role. But his faulty enunciation is still a drawback, and the unrelieved violence and harshness of the potential of the part and, as a consequence, of the show, At times, too, he and the other leads, including Miss Holm, fail to keep the performance in hand and, just before the entrance of the British diplomat, for instance, the confusion onstage lapses into bedlam. This is one of the times when the players seem to be merely reciting, rather than co

French Postwar Drama Mapped for B'way Try

Mapped for B Way II; Elizabeth Miele is soliciting backing for a proposed production of "World of the Future," drama of postwar adjustment in France, by Joseph Schull. According to a letter to prospective investors, the play won a prize in the recent Canadian drama festival.

Production is hudgeted at $75.

Canadian drama festival.

Production is budgeted at $75,000, of which $40,000 is claimed to have already been subscribed. Miss Miele's only recent Broadway production credit was as director of Ferenc Molnar's "Miracle in the Mountains," a 1946-47 failure, from which she withdrew during rehearsals, with the author taking over.

'Dolls' 30G, Chi, Porgy' $36,300

Chicago, July 15.

Republican convention here last week hurt the three legit attractions. Surprise, however, was the excellent Wednesday matinee business for "Guys and Dolls" and "Bell, Book and Candle," mainly from the delegates' wives, who tired from the long drawn-out proceedings.

Rest of the week though was brutal. Ending of the convention on Friday helped some with Saturday business.

Estimates for Last Week "Bell, Book and Candle," Harris (20th week) ($4.50; 1,000). Not very good $8,200.

"Guys and Dolls," Shubert (20th week) ($6, 2,100). While mail orders seem okey for future, this week only racked up $30,000.

"Porsy and Bess." Opera House (3rd week) ($5, 2,300). Jumped about $14,000 to 2 fine $36,300; virtual sellout for the last of this week, the finale.

Robbins Back to U.S. 'Flanders' Stint Likely

Flanders Stint Likely
Jerome Robbins returned to the U. S. last week after an extended stay in Europe, much of it in Italy.
His next assignment will probably be the choreography for the musical version of "Carnival in Flanders," to be produced by Paula Stone and Mike Sloane, with book by George Oppenheimer, songs by Johnny Burke and Jimmy van
Heusen, with scenery by Jo Mielziner.

Four Outdoor

Continued from Page 121; the Biltmore estate, II miles from

asneville.

This season's edition of "Unto These Hills," which drew 151,774 persons last year, includes several new script revisions by Hunter. Cherokee composer Jack Frederick has revised the musical score. Practically the artists and the composer Jack Frederick has revised the musical score. has revised the musical score. Practically the entire east which did the play the first year is back. Acting company numbers: 130, with more than 70 of them Cherokee Indians.

Many veteran players from the "Lost Colony" pageant have moved to Boone to take parts in the "Horn in the West" production, which also was written by Hunter.

"Horn in the West" Js being sponsored by the town of Boone, which voted a $60,000 bond issue, and the Southern Appalachian Historical Assn. Any profits are to be used for building a Revolutionary village at Boone.

used for building a Revolutionary village at Boone.

The "Lost Colony" is presented this year with little revision in its script. Same cast from last year, together with the musical group from the Westminster Choir School, is back.

Touring Players

Continued from Page 121 dramatic and packs a punch. Well staged by Joel Friedman, it is an allegory of small-town prejudice and superstition, told in terms of allegory of small-lown prejudice and superstition, told in terms of a yearly lottery in which one townsman is victimized so that the fortunes of the others will prosper. Ferformances are uniformly good, with John Mcliam as the domineering public official and organizer of the lottery; Douglas Taylor as his troubled assistant; Philip Abbott as a harried farmer whose wife and daughter become victims, and Robert Laning as the stranger whose reflectively handled by Touring Players founders. Lisabeth Blake as an apprehensive young wife; and peg Murray as a tortured mother who draws the losing ballot.

Now in its sixth year, Touring Players founders, Lisabeth Blake as an apprehensive young wife; and peg Murray as a tortured mother who draws the losing ballot.

Now in its sixth year, Touring Players has, visited cities and small towns in 30 states with its repertory, which includes Shaw, Shake speare, Arthur Miller and Tennessee Williams as well as new plays. Group operates on a small budget; cost of all stage equipment, costumes and props is $4,000. Travel is by station wagon and auto, and one truck which carrries the scenery and equipment for five different productions. Group has managed to break even after the first year. but lack of operating capital prevents the more extensive booking which would bring in the profits.

Yene.

Johnnie Ray

Continued from page 1

tinued their squabble as they moved to another floor where Ray and his recent bride had their suite. Ray took Morton's part and a loud exchange in the hall followed. Williamson, who is a member of the local police department and an off-hours employee at the hotel, then called the police and had the pair arrested. had the pair arrested.

At police headquarters Wil-liamson said Ray had been roller skafing around the hotel lob-by, using a water spray gun on guesty and balancing glasses and dishes on his head in the dining Williamson finally heeded the Williamson finally heeded the Ray and Morton pleas that they had to be in Milwaukee to open an engagement there and agreed to withdraw the charges. The pair then were released. Local newspapers played up the story of the affair, but the publicity didn't appear in the sheets, of course, until the day after the performers closed here, so it didn't help or hurt them.

Todd's 'Venice'

Continued from mare 1

stage, but they call tentatively for a total of 81 theatres to be interconnected, which would provide some 161,000 seats. It's understood that the theatres would guarantee 60c or 65c per seat, against 50%

60c or 65c per seat, against 50% of their gross. Total boxoffice take could be as high as $132,000, if all houses charged a straight $2.40.

Number of top New York exhibitors and circuit leaders, including S. H. Fabian, trekked out to Jones Beach last night (Tues.) to onceover the show to determine more accurately its theatre TV potentialities. Another group is slated to attend the presentation tomorrow night (Thurs.). As with other shows handled by TNT, Halpern's group would serve as the distribution agent for the project, setting up the theatre network to service the interconnected houses.

up the theatre network to service the interconnected houses. If the theatres can all clear line facilities with American Telephone & Telegraph, the Todd show would be the first big-screen event to be carried on a coast-to-coast basis. It has not yet been determined whether theatres in the metropolitan N. Y. area will tie in, since it's possible that Todd may feel their participation would hurt the in-person attendance at Jones Beach.

TY Viewing

figures, with Gen. Douglas MacAr thur's keynote speech July 7 grabbing off a 41.0.

Fact that viewers tuned in in large numbers for the GOP conclave, even though its ratings were below expectations, has led industry observers to believe that an audience is available for TV, but audience is available for TV, but that viewers will not tune in during the summer months unless a show is sufficiently strong to woo them away from the beaches, from driving or even sitting in their backyards. Thus, the situation resembles the old "chicken-and-the-egg" routline—sponsors and networks won't invest in expensive shows because the summer audience is too small, and viewers won't turn on their sets unless sponsors and the webs invest in stronger program fare.

'Student Prince' $32,600 In First Week at Dallas

Dallas, July 15.

State Fair Musicals' third summer staging, "Student Prince," showed a good b. o. tally of $32,600 from 20,200 payees for its first week through Sunday (13). cast stars June Roselle and Wesley Dalton, with George Irving, Betty-Ann Busch, Billy House, Jordan Bentley and Anna Cheselka in support. "Prince" was last seen here in '47.

Rehearsals, started vestralsy

"Prince" was last seen here in '47.
Rehearsals started yesterday (Mon.) for "Carousel," fourth of the '52 season. Rodgers & Hammerstein revival here, July 21-Aug.
3, will star Iva Withers, Stephen Douglass and Brenda Lewis, and feature Jet MacDonald, Eric Mattson, George Irving and Annabelle Lyon.

'Madam' $53,100, 'Stalag' 17G, L.A.

Los Angeles, July 15.
Two houses went dark over the weekend, leaving "Call Me Madam" as the town's only legit offering. Irving Berlin musical, second presentation of the regular Civic Light Opera season, stays through July 26 and will be followed by "South Pacific."

Last week's finalists were "Stalag 17," which wound a two-and-one-half week stand at the Biltmore, and "Chris Columbus Brown," which folded after a dour fortnight of Las Polymers.

which folded after a dour fortnight at Las Palmas.

The Greek Theatre opened with a smash $33,000 for four performances by the Ballet Russe.

Troupe repeats four nights this week at the 4,400-seat ozoner.

week at the 4,400-seat ozoner.

Estimates for Last Week

"Call Me Madam," Philharmonic Aud (3d wk) ($4.80; 2,670). Almost even with last week's virtually SRO biz, $53,100.

"Chris Columbus Brown," Las
Palmas (2d wk) ($3; 400). Died Saturday (12) after two pale weeks, reaching around $2,100 for the fortnight, about $1,900 under operating expenses. Total loss around $7,000.

"Stalag 17," Biltmore (3d wk)
($3.60; 1,636). Another okay
$17,000.

Current Road Shows

Current Koad Shows

(July 14-26)

"Bell, Book and Candle" (Joan Bennett, Zachary Scott)—Harris, Chi (14-26).

"Call Me Madam"—Philharmonic Aud., L.A. (14-26).

"Fourposter"—Jessica Tandy. Hume Cronyn) Civic Aud., Pasadena, Calif. (25-26).

"Good Night Ladies"—Cass, Detroit (14-19); National Wash. (21-26).

"Guys and Dolls"—Shubert, Chicago (14-26).

"Meon is Blue," (David Niven, Diana Lynn, Scott Brady)—Alcazr, San Francisco (14-26).

"Perry and Bess"—Civic Opera House, Chi (14-19); Nixon, Pittsburgh (21-26).

"Song of Norway"—Curran, S.F. (14-19); Aud., Portland, Ore. (22-

"Song of Norway"—Curran, S.F. (14-19); Aud., Portland, Ore. (22-26).

"South Pacifie" (Janet Blair, Webb Tilton)—Opera House, S.F.

(14-26). "Stalag 17"—Geary, S.F. (14-26).

London Legit Bits

London, July 8.

Bernard Delfont is negotiating to get English rights of Broadway hit "New Faces," which he intends to stage at the Saville Theatre in October. Show will have to be renamed, as similar title has been used by Eric Maschwitz for one of his revues.

used by Eric Maschwitz for one of his revues.

Terence Rattigan looking for a West End house to stage the new Rodney Ackland play, "The Pink Room," currently being tried out at the Lyric Theatre, Hammersmith . . . Philip King's new play, "As Black As She's Painted," is being tried out at the Grand Opera House, Harrogate, Aug. 18, prior to its London showing . . . Rohald Squire is dickering for West End rights of Noel Scott's new comedy, "Not Quite Herself," to star himself in it.

Riggs' Southwest Script
Lynn Riggs, author of "Green Grow the Lilacs" and other plays, is about half-way finished with a new script, again dealing with the southwest.

After spending several months in Chapel Hill, N. C., the playwright has returned to his home at Shelter Island, L. I.

Summer Doldrums Wilt B'way Again; Wish' Fair $29,700, 'New Faces' $23,400, 'Animal' $11,500, 'Fourposter' $10,500

Firefly' Bright $35,500 In Pitt Despite Weather

In Pitt Despite Weather

Pittsburgh, July 15.

"Firefly" closed big at Pitt Stadium last week, after being hif hard by GOP convention telecasts and threatening weather in the early part, and wound up with a net of around $35,500. It was the fourth show of the Civic Light Opera Assn.'s outdoor season and featured Billy Gilbert, Rosemarie Brancato, Robert Shafer, Nina Ollvette, Ruth Gillette and Patricia Bowman.

With all the factors against it, figure was considered plenty okay for "Firefly," although behind the first two productions, "Carouseff and "Desert Song," and well above the third, "High Button Shoes," which got rained out one night, however. "Rio Rita," done here several summers ago, is current, and "One Touch of Venus," with Kyle MacDonnell and Russell Nype follows.

'Norway' $37,000, 'SP' $62,800, S.F.

San Francisco, July 15. After months of inactivity recently, legit is booming here and is due to continue lively for some time. Three shows were on the boards last week, with "Stalag 17" joining the lineup last night (Mon.) at the Geary as a Theatre Guild subscription offering. Following the Civic Light Operaseason, Bill Zwissig has booked Danny Kaye as a special attraction for a 20-performance run starting Sept. 7. Theatre Guild reportedly has a $150,000 advance for its subscription season.

Sept. 7. Ineatre Gilld reportedly has a $150,000 advance for its subscription season.

Estimates for Last Week

"Moon is Blue," Alcazar (1st wk) (1,299). Comedy co-starring David Niven, Diana Lynn and Scott Brady opened Tuesday night (8) and had a fair $13,000 for the first seven performances.

"Song of Norway," (3d wk) (1,771). Speedy $37,000; has one more stanza to go.

"South Pacific," Memorial Opera House (3,252). Touring edition of the Rodgers-Hammerstein musical, starring Janet Blair and Webb Tilton, piled up a smashing $62,800 for the second frame of four.

WALTZ' RECORD $24,000 AT TENT IN TORONTO

Toronto, July 15.

Topping last week's house record on "Kiss Me, Kate," by $1,300,
"Great Waltz," with Irra Petina, Lawrence Brooks and Lois Hunt, grossed a smash $24,000 at the Melody Fair tent setup here. Apart from the 1,640-seater capacity sale, at $3.40 top, phenomenal, biz on third week of second season saw some 150 standees round the rim nightly for last four performances (these in at $1.50), plus ances (these in at $1.50), plus turnaways.

With Buster West and Pat Rooney, Jr., heading "Red Mill" this week, advance sale was over $12,000. Twelve-week schedule of Melody Fair musicals is skippered by Leighton K. Brill, executive producer, and Ben Kamsler, general manager.

Prince' $41.500 in Fifth St. Louis Al Fresco Stay

St. Louis, July 15.
Rain washed away the last performnce of "Student Prince" Sunday (13) at the Municipal Theatre
Assn.'s al fresco playhouse in Forest Park here, but a crowd of 12.008, second largest in the organization's 34-year history, Saturday (12), resulted in total of 59,000 (12), resulted in total of 59,000 payees and an estimated gross of $41,500 for the week. This was its fifth summer presentation here since 1928. Brian Sullivan, Elaine Malbin, Sally Jessup, Elien Mschauler, Viola Roache and Mary Ellen Moylan had the leads.

A one-week frame of "Bartered Bride" opened last night (Mon.), with Edwin MacArthur conducting, and Jarmila Novotna, Mary Kreste, Earl Williams, Ralph Herbert and William Hess in the leads.

a further boxoffice dive last week. With rare exceptions, attendance was down from the start of the week and, with the normal summer pattern of light weekend business now in effect, there was no late pickup. Curiously, however, a couple of shows played to standee trade at the midweek matinee. For the second straight week, "King and I" was the only entry to have a clean statement, with brokers reportedly doing plenty of ticket "eating" for several hits.

The total gross for all 13 shows last week was $335,680, or 635% of capacity. Week before last the iotal for all 14 shows was $334,280, or 65% of capacity, a drop of 3% from the previous week. A year ago last week the total for all 18 shows was $388,580, or 58% of capacity, a lide of 2% from the week before.

With co-author-director-producer Joshua Logan still doing rewriting and restaging "Wish You Were Here" had a fair second full week, grossing nearly $29,700, of which around $10,000 was advance sale. With no other brand new musical available, there is reportedly a moderately strong broker call for the show.

Estimates for Last Week Keys: C (Comedy), D (Drama), CD (Comedy-Drama), R (Revue), MC (Musical Comedy), MD (Musical Drama), O (Operetia).

Other parenthetic designations refer, respectively, to top prices; number of seats, capacity aross and stars. Price includes 20% amusement tax, but grosses are net: i.e., exclusive of tax.

"Fourposter," Barrymore (38th wk) (C$4.80; 1,012; $24.996) (Betty Field, Burgess Meredith). Nearly $10,500 (previous week, $43,300).

"Gwys and Dolls," 46th Street (86th wk) (MC$-6.61; 1,319; $43.90).

"Glys and Dolls," 46th Street (86th wk) (MC$-6.61; 1,319; $43.90).

"Glys and Dolls," 46th Street (86th wk) (MC$-6.61; 1,319; $43.90).

"And A Camera," Empire (33rd wk) (CD-$4.80.56; 1,082; $24.996). Almost $7.200 (previous week, $1.900; recessed Saturday (12) and will reopen late in August will rule Harris back as star, going on four after a brief return engagement.

will reopen late in August with Julie Harris back as star, going on lour after a brief return engagement.

"King and I," St. James (68th wk) (MC-47.20; 1.571; $51,717) (Celeste Holm). Again the only show not stuck with unsold tickets; over $51,700 as usual.

"Male Animal," Music Box (11th wk) (C-$4.80; 1.012; $22,903) (Elliott Nugent, Martha Scott, Robert Preston). Nearly $11,500 (previous week, $13,400).

"Moon Is Blue," Miller (71st wk) (C-$4.80; $20; $21,586) (Donald Cook, Barry Nelson, Maggie Mc-Namara). Approached $5,900 (previous week, $71,001).

"Mix. McThing," Morosco (21st wk) (CD-$4.80; 912; $26,800) (Heley Hayes). Nearly $13,100 (previous week, $71,001).

"Mix. McThing," Morosco (21st wk) (CD-$4.80; 912; $26,800) (Heley Hayes). Nearly $13,100 (previous week, $14,300); recesses Saturda," (19), but will reopen Sept, 8.

"New Faces," Royale (9th wk) (R-$6; 1,035; $30,600). Almost $23,400 (previous week, $14,700); shutters sext Saturday night (19), to reopen in three weeks.

"Pal Joecy," Broadhurst (28th wk) (MC-$6.60; 1,160; $39,602) (Vivienne Segal, Harold Lang). Under capacity again at about $38,000 (previous week, $38,600).

"South Pacific," Majestic (169th wk) (MC-$6.60; 1,659; $50,186) (Martha Wright, George Britton). Nearly $37,300 (previous week, $22,300).

"South Pacific," Majestic (169th wk) (MC-$6.60; 1,659; $50,186) (Martha Wright, George Britton). Nearly $37,300 (previous week, $22,300).

"South Pacific," Majestic (169th wk) (CD-$6.60-$7.20; 1,519; $51,881) (Phil Silvers). Over $22,-200 (previous week, $22,300). Jack Carter goes in next week as lead, while Silvers takes a four-week vacation.

"Wish You Were Here," Imperial (2d wk) (MC-$7,1400; $51,847).

while Silvers takes a four-week vacation.

"Wish You Were Here," Imperial (3d wk) (MC-$7.20; 1,400; $51,847). Almost $29,700 (previous week, $32,900).

Yiddish 'Detective Story' To Be Done in B'klyn

Jacob Jacobs, Yiddish actor-manager, has bought the Yiddish stage rights to "Detective Story," which he will produce at the Parkway Theatre, Brooklyn, this fall.

Previous Broadway plays which Jacobs has brought to the Yiddish theatre include "Death of a Saleman," "Anna Lucasta," "Johnny Belinda," "Tomorrow the World" and "The Student Prince."

Theatre Mgrs. Riled

Sunday shows.

It's demanded that all "lighting directors" are to be "eliminated." This would not apply to scenic designers who plan and supervise the lighting of shows, but is apparently aimed to bar lighting specialists who are frequently called in. Apparent intention of this proposal is to bolster the status of electricians.

tricians.

'Featherbedding'
Department heads, already required to be used when rehearsals are held in dark theatres, are to have as many helpers as "necessary." League representatives say this is a new degree of "feather-bedding." Another—demand figured in the same category is that department heads are to be paid at least a half-week salary for taking out shows, although the work required is frequently only a matter of a few hours.

The union demands "proper san-paid for all work Sundays and holidays, and St. Patrick's Day and lign-made electrical and recording Yom Kippur are to be added to equipment may be used only if the list of legal holidays. This is termed another instance of okayed in advance by the union is termed another instance of This is seen as a cooperative move "featherbedding." The double-pay with the United Scenic Artists, which is currently engaged in a Sunday shows.

OFFICE

It's demanded that all "lighting directors" are to be "eliminated".

portation of foreign scenery.

In the case of Equity, it has been agreed by both sides that the union demands are not to be revealed—just why, isn't explained. However, it has already developed that the actor group is seeking to impose drastic restrictions on the employment of allen players, including a 40% quota for any single production, with the exception of permanent companies. This quota rule is already causing complications in the plans for importation of several London shows:

It's indicated that the manage-have as many helpers as "necessary." League representatives say this is a new degree of "feather-bedding." Another demand figured in the same category is that department heads are to be paid at least a half-week salary for taking out shows, although the work required is frequently only a matter of a few hours.

The union demands "proper santary conditions." This has drawn plenty of managerial wisecracks, but is regarded as reasonable if business is such that if a hit show is closed it might be impossible to reopen it again later, at least with the same boxoffice pace.

WE MEAN BUSINESS!

the same boxomice pace.

In recent years the League has always backed down finally in its disputes with the stagehands. And two years ago, when negotiations for the present Equity pact broke down, the League was forced into line by the union's proposal to deal individually with the various producers.

Danny Kaye

Continued from page 2; get it in this type of vast basket-ball hall."

Sans Scenery, Etc.

Curtains, tabs, scenery and orch pit are mostly non-existent. At Caird Hall here, comedian had sev-Caird Hall here, comedian had several hundred stubholders behind him as well as nearly 3,000 out front, those at his rear squatting on tiered seats above the platform behind the onstage Ray Martin

... good business for your play at THE PLAYHOUSE.

Our sleeves are rolled up . . . we're going all-out for BIG box-office in Wilmington. Watch our grosses grow!

Wilmington wants—and will support legitimate theatre. Proof? Even with no plays announced, our subscription campaign already has attracted more than 2,200 subscribers for next season—an increase of 200%!

And that's just the beginning. We're putting a powerful advertising campaign behind each play that comes to Wilmington. We're using TELEVISION, RADIO, NEWSPAPERS to keep enthusiasm in the theatre high, and to promote YOUR play. We have a DIRECT MAIL campaign to men's clubs, women's clubs, drama clubs and other influential groups. All this—

That's not all! Publicity media are with us all the way. The door's wide open for TV, radio star interviews, disc jockey plugs, newspaper stories and pictures, local tie-ins. Wilmington is determined to give you capacity houses in return for good theatre. We really mean business—good business! The curtain is going up in Wilmingne curtain is going up in Wilmington on greater theatre profits—for open dates this fall, write Theatre, Room 2502 Nemours Building, Wilmington, Delaware, or call collect W. H. Doerslinger, manager, Wilmington 4-6030. Ask for our free detailed booklet about THE at no cost to you.

PLAYHOUSE.

PLAYHOUSE

tin outfit. He's accompanied by his manager, Ed Dukoff, his pian-ist, Sammy Prager, and a longtime friend, Phil Goldfarb.

Tour is under the aegis of Brit-ish concert promoter Harold Fledd-ing. In Bristol and Wolverhamp-ton, the stint was presented in as-sociation with the local corpora-tions, these bodies notching up a real profit on a show in their city halls.

halls.

The trek, which teed off in Cardiff June 30, is skedded to end at two one-night stands (four performances) in the Winter Gardens Empress Ballroom at Blackpool, North of England "Coney Island," He may visit Denmark thereafter, tying in a business jaunt with boost for his new film, "Hans Christian Andersen," which of course has strong Danish attraction. Then he'll return to the States. States.

Tees Off Elsewhere

Tees Off Elsewhere

At St. Andrews, world famous golfing mecca on the East Scottish coast near here, Kaye hit the national headlines when the Royal and Ancient Golf Clubhouse refused him entrance because he isn't a member. Although the Old Course belongs to the town of St. Andrews, the club is a private one. John Kinnear, captain of the adjoining New Golf Club of St. Andrews, heard of the performer's predicament and invited him and his party to accept the freedom of his clubhouse for the day. Kaye played the famous Old Course, doing the round in $2.

There was big indignation here

ing the round in $2.

There was big indignation here among Scots at refusal of the Clubhouse to give the American comedian hospitality, but Kaye gallantly blew the whole tricky thing over by taking the blame, saying he should have boned up on his knowledge of the procedure beforehand. His phone message from London saying he'd be coming to golf was taken by a waiter. Situation was a natural for gagging later at his Scot concert here. If the victim of the misunderstanding had been Crosby instead of Kaye, it would have given Bob Hope a surefire gag for years.

Today (Tues.) Danny Kaye part-

Today (Tues.) Danny Kaye partnered the former Scottish golf internationalist, J. R. Hosie, against Walker Cup player J. C. Wilson and Sammy Prager at the Carnoustle Championship Course, near Dundee.

near Dundee.

Comedian is well flacked on tour by Dukoff, unit manager Jack Green and, at the London end, by H. C. G. ("Inky") Stevens, chief press agent for promoter Fielding. At many cities on his route cinema exhibs are cashing in on his presence by screening the revived oddie, "Wonder Man," in their halls, and thus vying in friendly spirit with their live-show colleagues.

Entire tour embraces some 30 performances, with an estimated total of 80,000 stubholders.

French Film Leads U. S. In Kansai Area Jap B.O.

In Kansal Area Jap B.O.

Osaka, July 8.

Foreign film boxoffice receipts in the Kansai area of Japan (Osaka, Nagoya, Kobe, Kyoto) for the fourth week of June show the French film, "Sous le Ciel de Parls," leading the field, with six American films following.

"Sous" did $13,500 in five houses.
"When Daltons Rode" was second with $12,900 in nine houses. "Fabulous Texas" took $10,000 in nine houses. "Lorna Doone" equalled "Texan" in only four houses. "Sands of Iwo Jima," playing at only one house, reaped a cool $10,000. "Streetcar Named Desire," in second runs, did $3,000 at five houses. "Roseanna McCoy." roadshowing at three houses, did only $2,200.

'McCoy' Pallid in Tokyo

"RocCoy' Pallid in Tokyo
Tokyo, July 8.
"Roseanna McCoy" (RKO), released here by Dalei, got a cold reception from usual westernminded Japanese audiences, and first week of roadshow at Togeki Theatre saw a loss for the exhibitor. Total b.o. for week was only $3,000.

Igloo Inflation

Continued from page 2

places as Anchorage's Bell and Whistle, popular out-of-city-limits spot, figures that four peelers doing separate acts, plus male comic specializing in off-color humor and suggestive songs, is just about right. The gals don't bother with gimmicks like bubbles, fans or birds. They hew to the standard stripper routine of taking 'em off-quick—four or five times a night. night.

night.

Average salary for strippers is $250 a week. Many are reported getting $300 to $350, however, and a few are in the $500 bracket.

All Alaskan boom towns are strictly union, for musicians, bantenders and waitresses. Scale for the latter two groups is high. Bartenders now get $20 a day, are bucking for a raise to $22.50, and all waitresses—nitery and cafeget $1.30 an hour with guaranteed overtime at time and a half.

Cash on the Line.

Cash on the Line

Cash on the Line

All nightclubs function on the paid admission basis. Ducat to get in is an indelible ink stamp on the wrist, given in exchange for the standard price, a buck. Once you get in, the tab is bound to be high. While drinks are approximately what they are in the States (75c to $1.25 for highballs), libations are in half-size glasses. Waiters, who serve on a c.o.d. policy, are constantly on hand to bring refills or else.

Most bars feature a gal at an are constantly on hand to bring refills, or else.

Most bars feature a gal at an organ pumping out sentiment, or an old-fashioned honky-tonk male planist playing Gay '90s stuff,

Farther North, in Fairbanks and Nome, the pubs have strolling duos and trios who make the rounds, offering the Yukon-type hillbilly stuff. Their take is strictly tips.

Reporters in Alaska for the UI preem of "World in His Arms" saw no evidence of culture or longhair stuff. Nearest approach to Stateside-type standard entertainment was a home talent production of "South Pacific," gotten up by a citizen of Anchorage who recruited the cast from permanent residents with a yen to thesp and travel. Troupe traveled beyond the Arctic Circle with the show since their spring opening, and plan a fall tour.

It's Curfey Kids

It's Curfew, Kids

It's Curfew, Kids
All niteries stick strictly to the military's I a.m. curfew for everyone from general and admiral to private and seaman. It's "Time, Gentlemen," for the uniformed at that hour. In city limits, curfew for civilians is 2 a.m. seven nights a week. The out-of-city-limits spots function as long as the customers buy.

Likewise, in fear of losing their costty licenses, all spots, in or out of town, obey the "No Minors" rule.

rule. Much of the military is under 21. Unless they're obviously in the grownup category, they must show ID (Identification) cards immediately upon entry. All over Alaska's boom area, the play sectors are blazing alleys of neon signs. This probably makes for a spectacular sight in the land of the midnight sun, from September through March, when it's dark nearly all the way around the clock.

clock.
It's strictly a symbol these days, however. Because except for a brief time around midnight, the sun is usually brighter than the brightest "Malamute Saloon" sign could ever be.

FUR AGENT

Wholesale furrier seeks represen-tative with contacts for retail fur sales at wholesale prices. Oppor-tunity for BIG side income. Box 79, Yariety, 154 W. 46th St.,

FURN. APT. FOR RENT-

21/2 reems-off 5th Ave. Leaving for Europe; will turn over my CHILDREN'S DRAMATIC GROUP without charge. Rent only $135.

Call Lihigh 4-2280 or write Apt. 2A 7 E. 93rd St., New York 28.

SIBYL BOWAN

CAPE COD MUSIC CIRCUS Hyanis, Mass.

Two Hours from New York . . . Theatre-Conscious Population . . . Excellent House Facilities

WILMINGTON, DELAWARE

Literati

Wilkerson Paying Off

Wilkerson Paying Off
Thomas R. Seward's suit against William Wilkerson, publisher of the Hollywood Reporter, was continued a second time in L. A. Superior Court, this time until Oct.
28. Plaintiff agreed to the second continuance after Wilkerson paid him $20,000 "without prejudice."
The first continuance was accompanied by a payment of $15,000 by Wilkerson to Seward. Court must first rule on a dissolution of partnership, demanded by Seward.
If the partnership ix dissolved the court will rule on the amount sought by the plaintiff, who claims he owns 38% of the company.

Inside Stuff on Macfadden

Inside Stuff on Macfadden
A sort of "Inside Macfadden" Gernarr, that is) is the biog by Mary Macfadden, his first wife, and Emile Gauvreau, who at one time edited the late New York Graphic, evening tabloid founded by the physical culture exponent.
Book is titled "Dumbbells and Carrot Strips," derived from the physical and edible regimen that Macfadden had laid out for himself. Holt publishing in November.

Inside Publishing

Inside Publishing.

Donald Sheehan, history prof at Columbia U., went into the files of such old line book houses as Henry Holt, Charles Scribner's Sons, Harper & Bros., Dodd, Mead and other houses and tells it all in "This Was Publishing" which the Indiana University Press is bringing out this fall, Charles Scribner, Frank Dodd, George Brett, Joseph Harper, William Appleton, Holt, George Putnam, pioneered the publishing business into its present position of competitiveness with good ethics. position of good ethics.

Griffis' Autobior

Griffis' Autobiog
Stanton Griffis' autobiog, "Lying In State," due via Doubleday in late November. Another show biz book due the same month is "Two Reels and a Crank," by film pioneer Albert E. Smith in collaboration with ex-film flack Phil Koury.

Frazier on Time

Frazier on Time
George Frazier's "It's About Time," book about Time magazine, will be on the Duell, Sloan &
Pearce-Little Brown list for spring, 1953.

Meantime, Frazier is being repped this summer by articles on Rosemary Clooney (American Weekly), Frank Sinatra (Cosmopolitan), Freddy McEvoy (Esquire), N. Y. entertainers (Cue), show tunes (Vogue), and Murray Bay unes (Vogue), and Flace, N. Y. (Holiday).

Bert Bloch, Wife Write 1st Novels

Bert Bloch, Wife Write 1st Novels
Bert Bloch, 20th-Fox's eastern story editor, and his wife, Edythe Latham, both have first-novels being published next winter. Bloch's is titled "Mrs. Hulett," being published by Doubleday. Although he has never before written a novel, the 20th exec is author or co-author of a number of plays, best known of which is "Dark Victory."

tory."

Mrs. Bloch's book is titled "The Sounding Brass" and will be issued under the Little, Brown imprint. The Blochs leave for Europe next Tuesday (22) for a five-week vacation.

Menotti In

Menotti In

Gian-Carlo Menotti's "Amahl and the Night Visitors." originally produced on WNBT, staged by the N. Y. City Light Opera Co. and winner of several awards (includling the Peabody), is being published in book form by Whittlesey House (McGraw-Hill). "Amahl" is scheduled for NBC-TV reproduction next Xmas. RCA Victor is also disking it as an album.\

Satchmo's 2-Vol. Autobiog

Satchmo's 2-Vol. Autobiog
Prentice-Hall exce editor Howard E. Goodkind is huddling in Chithis week with Louis Armstrong on "The Satchmo Story" which may be brought out in two volumes. That idea stems from demands from British, French and Belgian publishers who have been keeping parallel pace with P-H on those segments of the mss. which Armstrong has been turning in regularly.

jive talk translates into French but were assured by the foreign rights purchasers that that has been no problem since so much "le jazz hot" patois is a sort of interna-tional language all its own.

tional language all its own.

Ted Friend's Friendly Guldes'
Just returned from a European holiday with his wife, the former Broadway p.a. Dorothy Kay, Ted friend and his family are metoring back to their San Francisco home base to expand a series of key city "Ted Friend Friend's Guides'." Already a bestseller in Frisco, he has Hollywood, New York, Boston, Chicago, Nevada
(Las Vegas, Reno, etc.), London, Paris, Rome and other editions in work. Earl Wilson will do the New York guide book; Bob (United Press) Musel the London book; Gene Moskowitz, Paris, etc.
All are 25c. annual editions, updating the local show biz, nitery and general entertainment scene for the read-and-run guickle visitor to one or another key city.

Kelley's Kathleen'

Kelley's 'Kathleen'
F. Beverly Kelley, former Ringling Bros.-Barnum & Bailey p.a. and presently advance man on "Call Me Madam" tour, is author of a new book with pictures,
"Kathleen Visits the Fair," published by Little, Brown. Book details events in day of Kelley's daughter at the Delaware (O.)
County Fair, of which he is president.

County ran, or dent.

Kelley's previous publications, all on the circus, have been "Fun by the Ton," "Circus Holiday" and "Pink Lemonade."

Curly Harris' Book
Robin (Curly) Harris' current series on "Pillars of the Press," running weekly in the N. Y. Sunday Enquirer, may be published in book form. He is expanding his profiles of the metropolitan columnists.

Newspaperman Stuff
Harnett T. Kane, longtime friend of the w.k. lonely hearts exponent, has collaborated with Ella Bentley Arthur, her secretary, on "Dear Dorothy Dix: the Story of a Compassionate Woman" for Doubleday in October. Another newspaper story due in September is "A Life im Reuters," by Sir Broderick Pones, vet top exec of the famed London news agenicy.

Cedric Adams, vet Minneapolis Tribune columnist and Twin Cities broadcaster, has authored "Poor Cedric's Almanae," also for Doubleday in October, with foreword by Bob Hope, afterthought by Arthur Godfrey, and 40 cartoon illustrations by Robert Day. And still another newspapergal story is Hedda Hopper's autobiog, "From Under My Hat," currently serialized in Woman's Home Companion.

Holt's Cartoon Books

Holt's Cartoon Books
Hank Ketcham's Post-Hall syndicated "Dennis the Menace" being published in book form by Henry Holt & Co. Another cartoon collection via Holt will be "Collier's Kids," edited by Gurney Williams, cartoon editor of the weekly, who reprises some of the heat kid cartoons. best kid cartoons.

Carson's Hollywood Novel
Robert Carson, who did the screenplay of "A Star Is Born"
(and won an Oscar for it) has written a Hollywood novel, "The Magic Lantern," for November publication by Holt. Same house is republishing "The Plot to Overthrow Christmas," by Norman Corwin, first produced Xmas Day, 1938, and published originally in "13 by Corwin" in 1942.

FS&YFall Items
Farrar, Strauss & Young has skedded several tomes covering music, humor and literary fields for fall publication.
Heading the list are "The Life and Times of Li!l Abner" by Althur Cohn, director of the Settlement Music School, Philadelphia, and "The Shores of Life" by Edmund Wilson.

The Satchmo Story" which may be brought out in two volumes. That idea stems from demands from Belgian publishers who have been keeping parallel pace with P-H on the segments of the mss. which Armstrong has been turning in regularly.

Lippincott's Strong Sked Lippincott's Fall catalog will inde "Play Production: Theory & Practice," by Barnard Hewitt, J. F. Practice," by Barnard Hewitt, J. F. Practice, by Barnard Hewitt, J. F. Practice, by Barnard Hewitt, J. F. Practice, but the history of jazz that the French and Lowlands subsidiary publishers (who already have it raislated into French, awaiting the go sign) are urging Prentice—Hall split it up into two volumes. Armstrong is writing his memors in his unique at fresco, lower-case, non-punctuation style, replete with the argot of his profession. Prentice-Hall at first wondered how that brand of New Orleans of the Settlement Music School, Philadelphia, Henry W. Man, Indianapolis, treasment, Music School, Philadelphia, and "The Shores of Life" by Edmund Wilson.

Lippincott's Strong Sked
Lippincott's Strong Sked
Lippincott's Fair Catalog will indee ("Play Production: Theory & Fractice," by Barnard Hewitt, J. F. Practice," by Barnard Hewitt, J. F. Practice, "Warnard Hewitt, J. F. Practice," by Barnard Hewitt, J. F. Practice, "Naria Strong Sked
Lippincott's Strong Sked
Lippincott's Strong Sked
Lippincott's Strong Sked
Lippincott's Muric Play Production: Theory & Fractice," by Barnard Hewitt, J. F. Practice," by Barnard Hewitt, J. F. Practice,

Should Live So Long," an account of special service entertaining of front-line troops by Budd Bankson, continuity director of KNEW, Spokane.

Also set for fall publication are "Worlds of Music," by Cecil Smith, an analysis of the music business by the editor of Musical America mag, and "Story of the Olympic Games," by John Kieran and Arthur Daley.

Jensen-Thorndike Books

Jensen-Thorndike Books
Olive Jensen, former entertainment and later text editor of Life, and Joe Thorndike, ex-me. of the same weekly, have been operating as the Picture Press in the past year and have finished picture book for Ford Motors to commemorate the automotive company's 50th anniversary.

Their book, "Revolt of American Women," dealing with the emancipation of women through the ages, is due via Harcourt Brace in October.

CHATTER

Gilbert Seldes' "Writing for Television" to be published shortly by Doubleday.

Lajos Egril's "Your Key to Successful Writing" due in November under same imprint.

Novelized version of Metro's "The Naked Spur" will be published by Random House.

lished by Random House.

Jesse L. Lasky, Jr.'s novel, "Spindrift," will be reissued this moth in a pocket-size edition.

Chicagoan Albert Halper has edited a "This Is Chicago" anthology for Holt publication next fall.

George Troy, reporter on the Providence Journal, will have his novel, "Headland," published by Bobbs-Merrill next month.

Bob Gilleran, Macfadden Publications promotion director, back in Roosevelt Hospital, N. Y., for fifth trip since breaking a leg last January.

Ezio Pinza's autobiography, "Across Crowded World," due from trip since breaking a leg last January.

Ezio Pinza's autobiography,
"Across Crowded World," due from Doubleday in September, as is H.
Allen Smith's "Smith's London Journal."
Good Housekeeping managing editor Margaret Cousins has put together eight short stories into a "Christmas Garland" for Doubleday this fall.
Christopher Isherwood, whose Berlin stories were basis for the play, "I Am A Camera," has article in July Vogue titled "My Berlin Friends-Revisited."
Bill Ornstein's piece in Variety' last anni on Hollywood's need for writers has been elaborated and appears as a special feature in the July issue of Author & Journalist.
Biography of Richard Strauss has been written by Herbert F. Peyser, critic and musicologist, especially for the 1952-53 radio members of the N.Y. Philharmonic-Symphony Society.
Fil Giuliano has joined Ziffcritic and musicologist, especially for the 1952-53 radio members of the N.Y. Philharmonic-Symphony Society.

Fil Giuliano has joined Ziff-Davis as art director of Flying magazine. She was formerly art director of Advertising Agency magazine. The American Printer and Toby Press.

Third "Best Humor Annual," edited by Louis Untermeyer and Ralph E. Shikes, due in October (Holt), including pleees by Ludwig Bemelmans, James Thurber, P. G. Wodehouse, Arthur Kober, S. J. Perelman, Frank Sullivan, et al. Doubleday bringing out all of W. Somerset Maugham's 91 short stories in two de luxe boxed volumes at $10 ($12.50 post-publication), and also a new $6 illustrated edition of Herman Work's best seller, "The Caine Mutiny" (almost 300,000 copies).

In a reshuffling at Look mag last week, Jack Star, formerly assistanticity editor of the Chicago Sun-Times, replaced Ben Wickersham as chief of Look's Chi editorial bureau. Wickersham was shifted to the mag's editorial staff in New York as a department editor.

Hoosier State Press Assn. elected J. H. Nixon, head of the Peru, Ind., Tribune and Wabash Plain Dealer, as president. Other officers are Roy R. Williams, Garrett, vice-president; Ward K. Bartlett, Kentland, secretary, and Henry W. Man, Indianapolis, treasurer.

Leonard Jan Mitchell, head of the famed 14th St. (N. Y.) eatery.

SCULLY'S SCRAPBOOK

Hollywood.

With half of Hollywood's writers pleading for the release of more "originals," I've decided to open more of the files marked, "Withheld for reasons of insecurity," and toss their contents to the lowest bidder. What patriot hides in his safe-deposit vault material that might well save an industry which has thrived on crises for 50 years? Not the one and only Scullywag!

So feast to your fill, kids. It's all yours:

Old Title

New Title

Old Title
"NANNY GETS MY GOAT"

Donald O'Donald goes to work for his old C.O., Col. Hi Filer, now a breeder of Army mules. Instead of paying attention to his work Donald falls in love with the colonel's daughter Lorry, so-called because she was quite big for her age (26).

Donald brought in another complication

Donald brought in another complication. That was Billy, a singing goat. Twice the colonel tried to get rid of Billy by slipping him into a carload of mules which the Army was calling back into service to pull tanks out of the Korean mud.

But the Army inspectors said, "This one smells," and yanked Billy out of the boxcar. "Nobody gets my goat!" cried Donald in high glee. Nobody else laughed, however. Because of this flaw the Army cancelled the whole shipment. This left Col. Flier desperate.

Al Cahoun, a racketeer, received a flock of short-term loans that needed collecting. Among them were several from Col. Flier. He seized the mules, Billy got swooped up in the seizure.

Billy tried to sing his way out, but the racketers have a different version of what singing leads to, so they let him have it. Billy lets them have it, too, and butts some sense into them.

them have it, too, and butts some sense into them.

O'Donald comes to them and pleads for the return of his A-flat Angora. But by now the racketeers figure there is more money in the goat than in the mules. The colonel's daughter Lorry lends O'Donald $10,000 from her private dowry to buy back his goat, when O'Donald unfolds his plan for foiling the racketeers.

With Billy back in their possession, Donald and Lorry hurry to Hollywood and sell themselves as a package deal. They call themselves "The Singing Capras," and are a great hit in TV on a loanout. This takes all concerned, including the picture studio, out of the red. Lorry's father forgives them. The racketeers go to jail for no discernible reason, Billy mates with a Nublan nanny named Aby (from Abyssinia). The O'Donald babies are raised on goatmilk, while Billy croons them Iullables that sound more like Crosby, strangely, than Capra.

This gets the picture's only laugh, and that comes from a cat that got into the theatre while the doorman was looking up to Gary Cooper. Yogurt-lovers will like this one.

Old Title * "WHY STAY FOR IT"

Old Title

"NEVER ASK THE END"

Seymour Celless, aged 10, a French hypnotist, told Hitler: "When you wake up and I stamp my foot three times, cry, "Treaties verdamt! Attack Russia at dawn!" By the time Hitler realized he had been hypnotized by an infant prodigy, the kid had gone underground and Hitler was fighting from the cellars of Berlin himself.

The war over, Seymour then hypnotized an OSS officer to take him to America. He had seen so many pictures of hoofers emerging from to America. He had seen so many pictures of hoofers emerging from to America. He had seen so many pictures of hoofers emerging from to America. He had seen so many pictures of hoofers emerging from to America. He had seen so many pictures of hoofers emerging from vaudeville, getting all wrapped up in a series of beautiful dames and becoming millionaires that he requested booking over the Gus Sun circuit so that his career might follow formula.

The OSS officer didn't know Gus Sun and vaude had been dead for years. So he opened the act in Little Rock, but it was Little Rosk, Cal., no Little Rock, Ark. The first night 12 people came. Seymour needed 10 for his act, which was an audience-participation routine. The next night only eight came. Seymour had an act but no audience. The third night nobody came. Seymour had an act but no audience. The third night nobody came. Seymour had an act but no audience. To he hypnotized the OSS officer and left him for dead. Then he blew for the Sunset Strip, figuring his manager would not wake up for days on his own momentum, and when he found out where he was, would grab a plane from Palmdale for Washington and plead for reinstatement in OSS, where mistakes like this are most conveniently filed under "Classified. For reasons of security."

Seymour, meanwhile, convinced Herman Hover that he was a little man from Mars and a real novelty for the niteries because he could make customers do very funny things, like imagining a bee was in their clothes so they would strip at much lower prices than demanded by L

Old Title

"KEEP YOUR POWDER DRY"

Alan Lead was saddle-sore and sad. His last steer was heading for the last groundup. He asked Sheriff Low if a desk job was open. "Ah kin read and right," he said.

"Can you spell?"

"No, Ah cain't spell."

"Can't you even spell horse-thief, cattle-rustler, or noose?"

"Ah spell those with a bust in the nose and a six-shooter," said Alan.

"You'll do," said the sheriff, "but don't go spelling no sweet words around my daughter Mona."

"She's Sterling Silver's gal?"

"She's nobody's gal."

"She he Alan caught Sterling and Mona necking, he up and slugged

So when Alan caught Sterling and Mona necking, he up and slugged liver. It was a rough and tumble fight, and then Silver went that-

Alan realized he should have pursued him, but he was saddle-sore and didn't do it. Mona Low put him down as a coward. So did Silver. Silver came back and taunted Alan to pursue him. Lead shot the old Sterling bloc dead. Then he walked over and pulled out a wallet from Silver's carcass. "I knew it," he said to Mona and her Pappy. "He swindled you all out of your land. He was working for the railroad."

'No!" cried Sheriff Low.

Mona wept on Alan's shoulder.
"Let's ride over to the county seat and expose this corruption,"

Mona wept on man's substitute.

"Let's ride over to the county seat and expose this corruption," said the sheriff.

Alan said he's rather walk. "I'm saddle-sore, ah told you."

Mona furtively gave him her compact and smiled shyly.

"You'll get wind-burned without makeup," Alan protested.

"You need it more," she said. "Take it or you'll get impetago."

"What's that?" demanded Sheriff Law.

Mona looked away from it all. She blushed, but didn't answer.

Alan took the powder and disappeared for a while. When he came back he was smiling. "Okay," he said, "let's ride to the county seat. Maybe some talcum powder would help the county seat, too."

They all laughed at his play on words. As he mounted his paint horse, Alan found sand in the saddle.

"Sabotage," he said.

He brushed it off and the three rode off toward the setting sun. But Lead, was riding side-saddle: He was still not taking chances.

This would make a nice picture for people who like sunsets.

Broadway

Jules Levey planed to the Coast over the weekend on pic and TV deals.

deals.
Shirley Rich, Metro talent scout, will be married in the fall to Lewis Krohn, a stockbroker.
Milton Berle, after vacationing in Europe several weeks, returned yesterday. (Tues.) on the United States.

yesterday. (Tues.) on the United States.

Darvas & Julia out of the Latin Quarter show for three nights because of the latter's illness, but back this week.

Hy Faine, national exec secretary of American Guild of Musical Artists (AGMA), leaving Saturday (19) for several weeks' visit to Israel, Mary Livingstone (Mrs. Jack Benny) in from Europe Sunday (13) on the Queen Elizabeth, accompanied by her daughter, Joan.

Butt Robbins, of National Screen Service, named chairman of Young Men's Division of pic industry's Joint Defense Appeal: campaign.

While Cleo and Carl Brisson are vacationing in Copenhagen, the Danish prime minister is occupying their Central Park South penthouse in N. Y.

Hugo Stramer, RKO manager for Colombia, currently vacationing here and leaves shortly for a visit to Canada along with his wife and children.

Bernardo Glucksmann, RKO distrib in Uruguay, here for huddles with foreign chief Phil Reisman, Latin-American division manager Ned Clarke and other RKO execs.

Lou (Latin Quarter) Walters to Lake Tahoe to o.o. his operation there. Back in 10 days to ready for the advent of Martha Raye's preem at his Broadway spot, to be followed by Sophie Tucker.

Joan Crawford, Gloria Grahame, Jack Palance and producer Joseph Kaufman due in town early in August to help bally Kaufman's RKO release, "Sudden Fear," which opens at Loew's State, Aug. 7.

Annual Lambs Club "Wash," which takes place Aug. 10 at the Percy Williams Home, East Islip, L. I., will have Mickey Alpert, Bot Christenberry, Hy Gardner, Julian Noa and Elliott Nugent as Collies.

David A. Lipton, Universal adpub veepe, in from the Coast Monday (14) for two weeks of confabs with homeoffice execs on promotion plans for U-1 pix to be released through August, September. and October.

Bill Danziger, film industry ver tertained by National Foundation Foundation For Infantile Paralysis for fourth year, started national tour July 15 to hypo March of Dimes theatre cooperation for coming Januard Ver. First half of 1952 shows polio incidence topping recor

San Diego

By Donald Freeman

"Suds in Your" playing at the Coronado Playhouse.

Lawrence Welk booked for onenighter at Mission Beach Ballroom.
Jerry Wald, RKO producer, in town to see Groucho Marx in "Time for Elizabeth" at La Jolla Playhouse.

La Contessa's "Black Angel" fantasy latest lure at the Hollywood Theatre, this town's peeler house.

wood Theatre, this town's peeler house.

Eva Gabor has been signed to star in a new play, Robert Smith's "Strike a Match," at La Jolla Playhouse beginning Aug. 19.

San Diego summer symphony series opens Tuesday (22) with Grant Johannesen, planist, as soloist. Fabien Sevitsky directs.

"Student Prince" opens this week as the Star-Light Opens this week as the Star-Light Opens second offering of the season in Balboa Park Bowl. "Show Boat" closed Sunday (13).

after more than 25 years with the Johnny Harrises (Donna Atwood) home for a few days en route to Atlantic City after three months in California.

Andy Chakeras expects to open his new Horizon Supper Club at Greater Pittsburgh Airport by first of August.

of August.
Nancy Chaffee (Mrs. Ralph Kiner) doing some TV shots this sumer on Florence Sando's "Ask the Girls" program.

Girls" program.

Ted Goldsmith in town beating the drums for "Porgy and Bess," which opens two-week stand at Nixon Tuesday (22).

Dallas Bill Barker

Dale Evans skied from Coast for a four-day hometown visit.

KGKO, new radio outlet, due in days for 24-hour daily airings. Civic Playhouse doing a 10-light with Noel Coward's "Hay ever." night

Variety Club's annual Turtle Derby due Sept. 6 in State Fair Ice Arena. Marge & Gower Champion vis-ited Dallas-Fort Worth area during ited Dallas-Fort Worth area during Texas tour.

State Fair Musicals offering "Student Prince," with "Carousel" due Monday (21).
Paul Short, Texas COMPO exe director, bedded temporarily at Baylor Hospital.
Dallas Theatre, uptown luxury filmer, closed for conversion to retail store space.
Don Grimes orch opening six frames Monday (21) in Baker Hotel's Mural Room.
First live TV net shows glued an estimated half-million viewers to 17,000 TV sets in Dallas-Fort Worth sector last week.

Paris

Myriam Brit to Rome for a pic chore.

Jean Renoir back in town after finishing "The Golden Coach" in finishing "The Golden Coach" in Italy.

Muriel Gaines moving from the Mars Club to Spivy's East Side for her chirp stint.

Maurice Bessy, editor of Cinemonde, off to Rome for a looksee at the film situation.

Erwin Piscator will stage an adaption of Tolstoi's "War and Peace" for the Theatre National Populaire here next March.

Pete Kameron o.o.ing the Gallic clef circuit for Stateside material.

Elsa Schiaparelli doing the costumes for the John Huston pic, "Moulin Rouge."

Three-dimension pic program running at the Broadway Theatre here. Pix are the shorts that created attention at the recent Great Britain fest. Glasses are used for the illusion.

Fernandel signing with Jacques Bar to do two films. First will be a Franco-Italian coproduction and second will be a French-English version pic, with part of it to be shot in NY.

Portland, Ore.

By Ray Feves Bill Tipton's Trio in at the Tropics.

Hoosier Hot Shots will headline a 10-act show at the Armory July 18-19.

Tropics.

Hoosier Hot Shots will headline a 10-act show at the Armory July 18-19.

Frankle Carle orch inked into Jantzen Beach Ballroom for one-niter late this month.

Guy Cherney, Sheppard Bros. and Loretta Miller opened at Clover Club Monday (14).

"Song of Norway" set to kick off '52-53 legit season here July 22 at the Auditorium for one week.

Jat Herrod's "Manhattan Cocktall Revue" held for a second week at Amato's Supper Club. Arthur Lee Simpkins follows.

Portland Symphonic Choir's "Naughty Marietta" drawing big. This is their first outdoor adventure, with four musicals set.

London

Moe Rotman, foreign chief of Edward Small Productions, joined Small in Paris.

Small in Paris.
Phil Maurice, general manager of Consolidated Theatres of Montreal, eyeing the London legit scene.
Frank J. Comerford appointed secretary of Variety Artists Federation, with R. W. Swinson as assistant.

sistant.

sistant.

Edward Kingsley planed back to New York after concluding a deal for distribution of three British pix in the U.S.

Julie Wilson has been held over for a third week at the Bagatelle, and returns to the States immediately after the engagement.

and returns to the States Indicated attely after the engagement.

Guy Mitchell, who opens at the Palladium next Monday (21), will star in BBC's "Saturday Night at the Palladium" program the following Saturday.

After a serious, protracted illness, Basil Radford returns to the air next week with his partner, Naunton Wayne, in new series, "Rogues Gallery."

Danny Kaye planing to Denmark next Monday (21) and will visit Odensa, birthplace of Hans Christian Andersen, from where he'll make a recording and broadcast.

He'll leave for Paris July 24.

Hans Nieter flew to Zurich last week to resume preparatory work.

Hans Nieter flew to Zurich last week to resume preparatory work on "River of Destiny," factual tale of international cooperation along the 1,000 miles of the Rhine, which he is to lens in Technicolor.

Vienna

By Emil W. Maass

Schoenbrunn Film bought Mar-tin Costa's musical comedy, "Flacre Milli."

Milli."

Austrian planist Paul Badura-Skoda inked for a 30-week concert tour of U. S. starting in October.

Bregenz music festival will offer Moliere's comedy, "Misanthrope," directed by Kurt Horwitz of Zwick.

tour of U. S. starting in October.
Bregenz music festival will offer Moliere's comedy, "Misanthrope," directed by Kurt Horwitz of Zurich.

Austrian composers' association filled protests against overwhelming foreign music programs on local radio stations.

Hubert Marischka founded own film company. Will produce musical, "Rose of Woerther Lake," which he and Rudolf Oesterreicher scripted.

Stuart Green, chief of American-sponsored Red-White-Red network, vacationing in Syracuse, N. Y. Robert M. S. Macdonald now in charge of offices here.

Berlin

By Hans Hohn

Best pic choice in July by Protestant Film Guild of Germany is Par's "Mating Season."

American duo, Robert Brink (violin) and Daniel Pinkham (cembell) violin) and Daniel Pinkham (cem-galo), giving concert at Amerika aus. Rodolfo Loewenthal established a film production company here. First pic will be directed by Steve Sekely Sekely.

"Berliner Morgenpost," city's most popular paper before 1933, reported to be published soon by Ulistein.

Ullstein.
U.S. plx running at preem houses include "Two Flags West." "House on 92nd Street," "Here Comes the Groom," "To Please a Lady" and "Lady and the Bandit."

Bohme and Pedro's rhumba into Breezy Point, Minn.

Softic dancer June March into Curly's for second local engagement within six months, previous one having been at Red-Feather.

Minnesota Federal cabaret tax collections from niteries for June were $60,000 compared to $57,000 for the corresponding 1951 month.

Annual contest to select state's representative in Miss America competition at Atlantic City scheduled for Excelsior Amusement Park Aug. 10.

Roy King and his Komi-Kings, fixtures at the Magle Bar, vacationing for fortnight with Jim & Ardis Wells and their Dakota Roundup Gang pinchhitting.

Miami Beach

Highli Deach

By Larry Solloway

Helen Forrest into Nautilus

Hotel's Driftwood Room.

Harry Richman goes into Five

O'Clook Gub beginning tomorrow

(Thurs.) for first shows while Martha Raye doubles at Cameo Playhouse in "Annie Get. Your Gun."

Casablanca and Sherry Frontenac Hotels settled differences with

AFM local here, which means Monica Boyar returns to Club Morocco and Sammy Walsh plays. Frontenac's Pompadour.

House Reviews

= Continued from page 119 =

Caird Hall, Dundee

Caird Hall, Dundee
establishing a link with each—and all through bold informality—and making the most self-conscious among 'em forget their dourest inhibitions' with his crazlest pieces of gibberish.

Highlight is when Kaye moves easily to the front of the stage, relaxes, sits down, dangles his legs over the apron, announces he's tired, asks for a cigaret, borrows a lighter from a femme member of the audience, and then talks about anything and everything. After five minutes of this philosophical conversation from the front of the stage, he stands up and proceeds to exuberant business again, and there and then he resumes his socko clowning.

He offers his old favorites, of course — "Little White Duck," 'Minnie the Moocher," 'Ballin' the Jack' and others. Then he strikes a Scottish note, pays sterling tribute to Sir Harry Lauder, talks eulogistically about the beauties of Scotland. He hits a local patriotic note by singing Lauder's "Juist a Wee Deoch and Doruis," Will Fyffe's "I Belong to Glasgow" and, sotto voce, "Well Ye No' Come Back Again," He snaps audience out of this saddened mood by suddenly bursting into tears himself, causing laffs from every aisle.

Comedian, for whom Sammy Prager handles the livories in accomplished, friendly fashion, taking on at times the role of feed, finishes with "Candy Kisses." He bows off with great artistry to solid, prolonged mitting, standing on-stage for orch to strike up "God Save the Queen."

Apollo, N. Y.

Ella Fitzgerald, Gene Ammons
Orch (12), Leonard & Leonard,
Four Diamonds, Leslie Uggans,
Freddie & Flo; "Thief of Damascus" (Col).

Strike ankoh," at La Jolan Play, Robert Smith", Strike ankoh," at La Jolan Play, Indian Service, Grant Smith, and La Johannesen, planist, as solicit. Sahen Sevitex, Greece, the Shot-Robert Smith Sevitex, Greece, the Shot-Robert Smith Smith Beason in Babbos Park Bowl. "Show-Boat" Closed Smith Sare Sevitex, Greece, and Freign of the season in Babbos Park Bowl. "Show-Boat" Closed Smith Sare Single Smith Sare Smith Sare Single Smith Sare Smit

Bruce W. Odlums divorced.
Marie Wilson to Fort Lee, Va.
Hal Wallis bedded with a sore throat.

Lou Levene to Honolulu on va-Jesse L. Lasky home from the cation,

Jesse L. Lasky home from the hospital.
Peggy Converse to La Jolla on vacation.
Danny Kaye leaves for Denmark next Monday.
Vic. Damone left for Ft. Sam Houston, Tex.
Rod Cameron to Calgary for the amual Stampede.
Crane Wilbur to Oregon for a month of fishing.
Dorothy Lamour recovering from ptomaine poisoning.
Harold Wirthwein to Denver on Monogram business,
Champ Butler, singer, suffered head cuts in an auto-crash.
Gordon MacRae returned from his father's suneral in N. Y.
Nina Foch to Mexico City to join Metro's "Sombrero" troupe.
William Selwyn slipped in his bathroom and broke an ankle.
Kirk Douglas cited as the best dramatic actor seen in Israel in 1951.
Benny Fields and Blossom

1951.

Benny Fields and Blossom
Seeley in town for recording ses-

Gene Autry planed to Nampa, Idaho, for the Snake River Stam-

ede. Hal Elias returned to his Metro esk after honeymooning in desk after Hawaii.

Hai Elias returned to his Metro desk after honeymooning in Hawaii.

Anna Maria Alberghetti goes to Italy for a vacation early next month.

Gary Cooper on his way to Samoa to appear in "Return to Paradise."

Marks Levine and Marvin McDonald in town to look over the concert field.

Charlton Heston injured in a powder explosion on location at Kanab, Utah.

F. Hugh Herbert passed the crisis but must remain hospitalized another month.

Fred Matsuo in town to round up talent for the McKinley Auditorium, Honolulu.

Nina Foch and Walter Hampden to Mexico City to join Metro's "Sombrero" troupe.

Roy Rogers and Dale Evans will be grand marshals for the Shriners' charity football game in the Collseum.

Mrs. Lester Cole won a divorce.

Mayor Bowron handed Charles P. Skouras a certificate of merit for his contribution to civil defense.

Atlantic City

Atlantic City

By Joe W. Walker

"Ice Capades" into Convention Hall Friday (18).

Myron Cohen into Paul D'Amato's 500 Club (12).

Tony Canzoneri and Lou Nelson featured at Club 15.
Blackburn Twins and Pam Cavan into Ritz Tavern.
Dagmar into Steel Pier vaude
(13) with Billy May orch in Marine Ballroom.

Al Owen, WMID disk jockey, to emcee "Miss New Jersey" contest Saturday (19) in Senior High School aud.

Johnny Matthews, Philly hotelman, has taken over Rugby Hall, suburban Northfield night spot, and plans refurbishing job.

Curley Lazar, Jack Kauffman and Bernie Efros new owners of Jules and Sonny Friedberg's Musical Bar, with planist Hal De Cicco retained.

Hollywood

OBITUARIES

FORREST C. HARING
Forrest C. Haring, 49, business manager of the new Philadelphia Playhouse, Philly, died July 10 in that city. He was stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage while attending a meeting of the Executive Assn. of Philadelphia.
Haring, who had taken over the Playhouse post in June, had run the John Drew Theatre, East Hampton, L.I., for 25 years and had been general manager; for the late Dwight Deere Wiman. Before joining the Wiman producing org, Haring had been associated with Tony Sarg's marionette troupe. He was a lecturer in dramatic arts at Columbia U., where he specialized on the business end of theatrical production work.

Among the shows he managed were "The Little Show," "The Vinegar Tree," "Gay Divorcee," "She Loves Me Not," "On Your Toes," "Babes In Arms," "On Borrowed Time," "I Married An Angel," "Old Acquaintance," "By Jupiter" and "Street Scene."

Surviving are his wife, his parents and a son.

ents and a son.

NOEL G. BARROW

Noel Gaskin Barrow, 59, secretary of Famous Players (Canadian) and one of the original directors of the company, died July 9 in Toronto. He was a pioneer in Canada's film industry.

Born in the British West Indies, Barrow entered the film business in 1916 when he came to New York as auditor for Pathe Freres. Two years later, he went to Toronto as secretary of Canadian Paramount Corp., forerunnef of Famous Players (Canadian). He remained with Famous when the prexy, N. L. Nathanson, and the entire directorate resigned over the issue as to whether the company was to be controlled by Canadian or American interests. He subsequently be-

KENNETH G. FARNSWORTH

KENNETH G. FARNSWORTH

Kenneth G. Farnsworth, 51, TV producer, died July 11 in Pittsburgh. He did radio production work for old Blue Network and in 1941 had charge of retail accounts and aired a daily shopping news program. Subsequently, he became:
sales manager of WJZ-TV, N.Y., and then switched to WABD, DuMont's New York flagship, as sales manager. After operating his own TV consulting service for a time, he went to Pittsburgh last year to produce "Happy's Party" at the DuMont station there.
Farnsworth began his show biz career as a sideman in radio orchs.
He later became an announcer and script writer.

His wife survives.

GLENN SCHMIDT

Glenn Schmidt, 35, nitery operator in Newport, Ky., died July 14 in Jewish Hospital, Cincinnati, ator in Newport, Ky., died July 14 in Jewish Hospital, Cincinnati, where he had been a cancer patient since June 14. He became fil after a holdup May 29 at Glenn Schmidt. Playtorium in which his brother, Robert, killed one of six bandits. In 1937, he became the country's youngest bigtime nightclub manager at Beverly Hills Country Club, opened by his father, Pete. Later he managed Glenn Rendezvous. In addition to his father and brother, he is survived by his wife, mother, a son and two daughters.

DOLLY SPENCER

DOLLY SPENCER

Dolly Spencer (Mrs. Edith Spencer Hetterick), 72, retired legit and radio actress, July 10 in New York. Miss Spencer originated the character of Aunt Jenny in the radio series, "Real Life Stories."

She played the role for 14 years. She also appeared in several stock and legit productions.

She was the widow of Frank J.

In loving memory of my husband

JACK (Ibee) PULASKI

1883-1948

Lii

chains.

Survived by wife and two

HANS BARTSCH.

Hans Bartsch, 68, play agent and legit producer, died July 10 m Bullsville, N.Y. He repped Euro-pean authors and composers for production of their works in U.S. pix and legit.

pix and legit.

Bartsch came to New York from Germany in 1907 to handle the first U.S. production of Franz Lehar's "The Merry Widow." He also was associated with the production of "Madame X." Other works which he handled were "The Guardsman," "The Waitz Dream." "The Chocolate Soldier" and "Maytime." Among his clients were Oscar Straus, Sam H. Harris, Henry W. Savage, Al H. Woods, Ferenc Molnar and Crosby Gaige. For the past five years Bartsch had been associated with John W. Rumsey, prez of the American Play Co.

Surwiving are his wife, former

Surviving are his wife, former actress Irene Palatsy, and a sister.

GORDON HOLLINGSHEAD

GORDON HOLLINGSHEAD
Gordon Hollingshead, 60, head of Warner Bros.' short subjects department, died July 8 in Balboa, Cal. Hollingshead joined WB in 1925, becoming short subjects production chief in 1938. He had won 12 Academy Awards for his short subjects and had been nominated for the citation 36 times.

Hollingshead started his pic carcer as an actor in 1914 at the old Thanhouser Studio, New Rochelle, N. Y., and went to Hollywood after the first World War. He worked for WB as an assistant director on such films as "Don Juan," Moby Dick" and "When a Man Loves." He also worked on "The Jazz Singer" and several other early WB sound pix.
Surviving are his wife, two daughters and a stepson.

DUNCAN McM. BALDWIN

came director of around a dozen Hetterick, actor-director, who died FPC subsidiaries and affiliate three years ago.

M. N. ZATKOVICH (PAULSON)

M. N. ZATKOVICH (PAULSON)
Myron Nicholas Zatkovich (Paulson), 62, former legit actor, died of a heart attack July 1 in Washington. He had played in stock and on the road and had appeared on Broadway in "Women Go On Forever." He also played in the London production of. "The Show Off." Surviving are his wife, former legit actress Florence Joyce, a brother and a sister.

legit actress Floren brother and a sister.

WARNER C. WILLIAMS

Warner C. Williams, 71, musician, died July 1 in Indianapolis. Before World War I he operated a music publishing business and was a noted music arranger. He had been associated with Will B. Morrison and J. Russell Robinson in music arrangements

Two daughters survive.

AL WAGER

Al Wager, 50, theatrical booking gent, died July 6 in Hollywood fter an attack of coronary throm-

In addition to booking vaude, he produced the annual Los Angeles police show.

Laura S. Moses, 86, who for many years was organist in Phil Spitalny's orch, died July 9 in Massillon, O.

Cissie Langley, legit actress, died in Mansfield, England, June 29. She appeared in stock, later doing drama sketches in music-halls.

Earl Herndon, 44, v.p. and general manager of Affiliated Theatres, Indianapolis, died there July 11. Wife and son survive.

Mother; 69, of Bernie Golden, of the Gale Agency's one-nite de-partment, died July 6 in New York.

Clara Lang, lyric soprano, died July 14 in Philadelphia. She had appeared with the San Carlo Opera Co.

Abe Glatt, 59, musicians' agent, died in Chicago July 13, Survived by a son.

Father, 82, of Mark Barron, sociated Press drama critic, died July 14 in Waco, Tex.

Father, 56, of VARIETY staffer Hy Hollinger (Holl), died July 12 in New York.

MARRIAGES

Dee Woodward to Al Goering, Chicago, July 3. She's a WBBM staffer there; he's orch arranger at same station.

Rhonda Fleming to Dr. Lewis V. Morrill, Kanab, Utah, July 12. Bride is film star.

Hope McKenzie to Terry Hunt, Las Vegas, July 6. She's an actress; he's physical instructor to film stars. Hope Mcheniae C. Las Vegas, July 6. She's an actress; he's physical instructor to film stars.

Toni Carroll to David L. Wolper, Hollywood, July 11. She's an actrosc

Allen Carol Boynton to Nelson C. Pike, June 28, Waukesha, Wis, Bride is staffer of WISN, Milwaukee.

Nina Bara to Bob Sheldon, Los Angeles, July 10. She's a TV actress; he's a TV director.

'TV Format'

Continued from page 1 =

pathy toward Eisenhower in the face of what obviously came across the cameras as "machine tactics" and a "rigged" convention roster. Supplementing these telegrams

Supplementing these telegrams were an avalanche of protests over the pre-convention banning of TV cameras from the vital credentials committee hearings.

That TV, once having won its flat in gaining access to the Georgia-Louisiana-Texas hearings which started the Eisenhower steamstarted the Eisenhower steam-roller, came up with an endless succession of repetitious gab, is something which now finds the TV succession of repetitious gab, is something which now finds the TV webs scratching their collective heads in puzzlement and wondering if, at best, theirs was not a dubious. "programming" victory.

In their desire to outwit, outmeneuver, out-TV, outsmart the competition, the video networks settled for everything in sightgood, bad or indifferent. Far from being a case of the GOP convention gearing itself to a TV format, TV instead trained its multiple cameras on a long-existing convention formula, taking the dull with the considerably fewer moments of excitement and showmanship.

That it wasn't exactly what the sponsor doctors prescribed in translating some $7,000,000 worth of Westinghouse -Philco -Admiral sponsorship coin into a fabulous audience payoff, is reflected in the disappointment of network brass over rating returns. CBS, taking a "something's gotta be done" stance, points to the fact that the TV sets in use for the "I Love Lucy" Monday night series (now off the summer) far exceeded the interest manifest in the Chi hoopla.

Fault Lies Within And far from blaming it on an apathetic American audience, the GORDON HOLLINGSHEAD
Gordom Hollingshead, 60, head of Warner Bros.' short subjects and field July 8 in Balbon, Interest training short subjects produced the annual Los Angeles of Warner Bros.' short subjects and field July 8 in Pollingshead Joined WB Interest and a sile of a blood clot
of the citation 36 times.

Dolly Jordan 65, former vaude direction chiefs and ab been nominated for the citation 36 times.

Hollingshead Joined
WB Interest and a sile of a blood clot
of the citation 36 times.

Hollingshead Joined
WB Interest and a sile of a blood clot
of the citation 36 times.

Hollingshead Joined
WB Interest and a sile of a blood clot
of the citation 36 times.

Hollingshead Joined
WB Interest and a sile of a blood clot
of the citation 36 times.

Hollingshead Joined
WB Interest and a sile of a blood clot
of the citation 36 times.

Hollingshead Joined
WB Interest and a sile of a blood clot
of the citation 36 times.

Hollingshead Joined
WB Interest and the produced the moutal Los Angeles
of the citation 36 times.

Hollingshead Joined
WB Interest and a sile of a blood clot
of the citation 36 times.

Hollingshead Joined
WB Interest and a sile of a blood clot
of the citation 36 times.

Hollingshead Joined
WB Interest and a sile of a blood clot
of the citation 36 times.

Hollingshead Joined
WB Interest and a sile of a blood clot
of the citation 36 times.

Hollingshead Joined
WB Interest and a sile of a blood clot
of the citation 36 times.

J. T. "Butch" Woodruft, 50, asseciated with Flood Lewis Produce
of the citation 36 times.

J. T. "Butch" Woodruft, 50, asseciated with Flood Lewis Produce
of the worked for WB Interest and a sile of a blood clot
of the worked for WB Interest and a sile of a blood clot
of the worked for WB Interest and a sile of a blood clot
of the worked for WB Interest and a sile of a blood clot
of the worked for WB Interest and a sile of a blood clot
of the worked for WB Interest and a sile of a blood clot
of the worked for WB Interest and a sile of a blood clot of the worked for WB Interest and violinist and former director of the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

Dr. Adrustin Frigon, 64, director of planning and research for the Canadian Broadcasting Corp., died July 9 at a mountain resort near Montreal.

Of the Democrats, they're now questioning the wisdom of blanket-ing the nation with a chapter-and-verse recital of tiresome, time-consuming gab, such as an endless procession of tedious seconding speeches, at the expense of non-convention entertainment process.

grams.

It's conceded by many that the total outlay to the webs could be whittled down considerably, and at the same time rendering a service to the viewing audience, by retain-ing much of the regular program-ming (or having standby entertain-ment fare, such as NBC's Bob Hope), to supplement the conven-

Hope), to supplement the convention proceedings, thereby eliminating tiresome TV hours.

What contributions the Dems will make toward gearing their convention to TV remains to be seen. Ken Fry, radio-TV director of the National Democratic Committee, and Leonard Reinsch, consultant to the Dems (and one of the more astute among American broadcasters in appreciation of showmanship values) closeted themselves throughout the GOP meet in a Conrad Hilton Hotel suite as they monitored all the TV webs. That they'll gain from the GOP mistakes is a foregone conclusion. clusion.
But it's more than merely ironing out bugs. End result of last week's initial TV venture into grandiose politicking may well call week's initial TV venture into grandiose politicking may well call for a complete change in convention procedure—to achieve a TV format at once dramatic, enlightening and with a minimum of becadem boredom.

Cleffers War

Continued from page 1 the sustained performance cate-

the sustained performance category.

Charges have also been made that the plan will operate in favor of some top-bracketd writers who received high ratings under the pre-1950 distribution system via "politics" rather than performances. While some of the lower classifications will also profit, it's alleged that the top brackets stand to gain more by the cushioning machinery.

Some writers are bitter towards the so-called retreat engineered by

Some writers are bitter towards the so-called retreat engineered by the classifications committee in coming up with the new plan. They contend that any amendments should have been made in the di-should have been made in the direction of greater accent on performances. Instead, they see a return back to the concept of availability which has been discarded for the past two years.

It's expected that today's (Wed.) meeting of writers in New York, when the plan will be outlined by Stanley Adams, chairman of the classifications committee, will be met with a warning of legal action against the plan. With the payoff system set for October launching, some dissident eleffers have threatened to take their claims into court' ened to take their claims into court where they will ask for an injunc-

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Todd, son, London, June 30. He's film actor; she's the former Kitty Grant-Bogle, Scot actress.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Peyton, laughter, Hollywood, July 4. Father is an actor.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Alan Shapiro, daughter, July 7, New York, Mother is musicomedy actress Bev-

New Acts

z Continued from page 11$ z

from the basic somersaults to a rousing two-man-passing somersault for a climax.

somersault for a climax.

Gals in outfit are attractive and spark all setups with their vivacious activity. A comedy note is added by a male member who is quick with a flip despite short stature and hefty girth.

Act has double value. From the group of seven, one male and two femmes team up as Los Adriannes and score in early part of show with some nifty acro-juggling that draws plaudits.

Company is a cinch for any large

Company is a cinch for any large room where the accent is on the visual and for the flashier, va-riety-type TV productions. Newt.

FOUR DIAMONDS Songs 10 Mins Apollo, N. Y.

Four Diamonds, winners of a re-cent "Amateur Night" contest in this theatre, are a young Negro vocal combo with lots of promise. Crew consists of three singers with one on guitar and generate an excellent sound. All of them, inci-dentally, look under 20 years old.

dentally, look under 20 years old.

Standout of the team is the tenor who has a plaintively evocative voice and qualifies as a new sound entry. The bass is also excellent and the entire crew blends with strong ear impact. Lads hit on such tunes as "Happy Am I," "Two Loves Have I" and "Bee I Bumble," latter being standout. Their encore number, a slow ballad, should be scrapped in favor of an upbeat item.

ORLANDO DE LA ROSA (5)
Song-Dance
12 Mins.
Palace, N. Y.

The Orlando de la Rosa Quintet, a Latin import, are a well-drilled song-and-dance combination. They are nicely garbed, have a good song catalog and punctuate their numbers with Latin terp movements.

ments.

Most of the act is devoted to production. The routines are precise and studied. Some of the spontaneity is lost in that process, but they maintain interest. Two couples do the song and dance work while the fifth member is at the piano. Catalog is comprised mainly of Latin pops. These are well arranged and come over neatly. They're okay for the Latin cafe theatre trade.

Jose.

CHRISTINA PALMER Songs 12 Mins.

Bellevue Casino, Montreal This is Christina Palmer's initial try at the Bellevue and gal evidences plenty of song savvy as she takes the major vocal chores in the big "Madame Butterfly" production with ease.

duction with ease.

Of medium height, brunet and neatly assembled, Miss Palmer has a voice that easily fills this large room and gets attention in all songs. Piping is on the operatic line and shows best when she teams up with baritone Charles Danford in the "Butterfiy" sequence. Added experience and a chance to work solo spots should enhance show value of this talented newcomer. Newt.

EVE WALKER

Miss PATTI PAGE

Tuesdays and Thursdays, 7:45-8:00 P.M., EDST

CBS-TV

for

CHLORODENT TOOTHPASTE and SHADOW WAVE HOME PERMANENT

Exclusively

MERCURY Records

JACK RAEL, Associate

Direction: GENERAL ARTISTS CORP.

New York Publicity
FRANCES KAYE CO.

Record Promotion
KAPPI JORDAN

LANG-WORTH Transcriptions

Hollywood Publicity
BOB WEISS

Published Weekly at 182 West 48th Street, New York 35, N. Y., by Variety, Inc. Annual subscription, $10. Single copies, 25 cents. Entered as second class matter December 22, 1905, at the Fost Office at New York, N. Y., under the act of March S, 1879 COPYRIGHT, 1952, BY VARIETY, INC. ALL RIGHTS RESERVED

VOL. 187 No. 7

NEW YORK, WEDNESDAY, JULY 23, 1952

PRICE 25 CENTS

STAGE

FIRST NETWORK FOR TELEFILMS

More Assurance, Polish, Flavor Mark TV Webs' Coverage of Déms

By FLORENCE S. LOWE.

By FLORENCE S. LOWE.

Chicago, July 22.

If television came of age during the GOP convention, it shows signs of reaching full maturity during the current Demmy political show. With the networks and the Democratic National Committee profiting by errors of the initial political gabtest of '52, video covered the opening session with added assurance and polish.

Effect of the newly-installed center floor camera was immediately apparent in the sharper, cleaner closewps of plafform speakers. This, undoubtedly, is a major contribution to better television, permitting not only better closeups, but less background diversions. The busy, bustling effect of figures constantly moving in and out of the screen is now gone. There's still activity behind the central speaker, but instead of diverting, it has been toned down to a point where it adds an authentic touch to an otherwise static image.

The background is put out of focus by head-on shots with Zoomar lens, rather than often copping major attention, as was inevitable with side view cameras. Proof of the video pudding is the fact that during the initial quarter-hour of the opening session, the pair of head-on cameras accounted for over 12 minutes of screen time.

Astute Demmies showed results of lessons they had learned from Astute Demmies showed results of lessons they had learned from casing the competition by developing a better physical layout.

The main platform in the Amphibatte, meripously, aluttered with theatre, previously cluttered with over abundance of chairs and (Continued on page 55)

Vera Lynn's British-Made 'Wiederseh'n' Sets U. S. Bestseller Precedent

Bestseller Precedent

London, July 22.

Setting something of a precedent, a British vocalist, recording on a British-made disk, has reached a top position on the American hit lists. The artist, Vera Lynn, was presented with a gold platter of "Auf Wiederseh'n, Sweetheart" by E. R. Lewis, managing director of the British Decca company.

The disk, which is released in the U.S. on the London label, is reported to have sold more than 500,000 copies in America and upward of 200,000 in Britain, resulting in a dollar income for the company of some $200,000. Approximately 80% of the records sold in the U.S. were pressed at Decca's London works and were shipped on a speculative basis to the U.S.

The only other British disk to reach a No. I spot in America was Anton Karas' recording of "The Third Man Theme."

In sheet music "Auf Wiedersseh'n, Sweetheart" is currently Britain's top bestseller. It is published here by Peter Maurice.

Third of a Nation

Third of a Nation
Almost one-third of the nation's total population, or 50,930,000 people, saw at least part of the Republican National Convention on television, according to preliminary reports of the American Research Bureau. Part or all of the convention was also tuned in by 14,980,000 homes.
ARB figure is below advance estimates that 70,000,000 people would witness the GOP conclave on TV. Research outfit reported that General Douglas MacArthur's keynote speech was seen by 21,370,000 viewers.

Reissues or TV? Bank Snarled On Takeover Policy

Lack of a policy decision by Bank of America headquarters in Los Angeles on whether to take the reissue or TV route to salvage its loans in some 30 indie pix has stymied action in either direction. Except for some legal maneuvers, bank hasn't progressed from the point where it repossessed the pix two years ago.

Only about 13 of the films are point where it repossessed the plx two years ago.

Only about 13 of the films are free for deals with either reissue or TV distribs. Most important of them, the nine made by Enterprise Productions, are tied up in a lawstate productions, are tied up in a lawstate production, are tied up in a lawstate production, are tied up in a lawstate production, are tied up in a lawstate production are hamstrung via an action instituted by Universal against the bank.

B. of A. has an office in New York, headed by Tom Walker, charged with responsibility for trying to get whatever coin it can out of the films. Lack of decision on the TV vs. reissue point has held up Walker in the domestic field, but he is understood moving ahead on plans to try to peddle them abroad. Reportedly, Al Lowe, former forzigo chief for United Artists, has been offered the overseas (Continued on page 63)

GERTIE'S NEW ROLE AS

FINANCE PROD.

Television's first actual celluloid network was officially launched this week with the incorporation network was officially launched this week with the incorporation by Tom O'Neil, Mutual's "boss man" and head of the Yankee Network and WOR, N. Y., of General Telecasting System, Inc. New GTS network will comprise WOR and a number of other indie TV stations-around the country, which will jointly finance production of a series of half-hour vidfilm shows and share in their profits.

The celluloid network idea has long been talked of in the trade and several big-spending advertisers have already moved in that direction by spotting TV film shows on whatever stations they themselves desire and in time slots of their own choosing. O'Neil's setup, however, will be the first to involve stations in the plan. While creation of GTS was only started this week with official incorporation in Delaware, industry exees are predicting that it could form the basis of the fifth major TV network.

While it has not been disclosed their own choosing. O'Neil's sethowever, will be the first to love stations in the plan. While ation of GTS was only started is week with official incorporation in Delaware, industry exects predicting that it could form basis of the fifth major TV work.

While it has not been disclosed ich stations will participate in new web, it's reported that a mber of top indies across the intry are welcoming the plan being potentially much more rative than their affiliations he he major existing webs. Bees giving them a chance to parpate in profits from the vidpix, well as to sell their time, the that they will share in protton also gives them a basis of itrol in their network programmy which has been difficult to tain under standard network lilation pacts. Other nets concet for a certain number of hourseldy on a fill attended to Quake

Alerted to Quake

Hollywood, July 22.

Hypo Berle Stanza

The Militon Berle show may have one of the most expensive staffs of one of the most expensive staffs of the medium. Plan has been proposed to the Kudner Agency, which buys the Berle show on behalf of Texaco, to put George Jessel in as producer; and Goodman Ace as head writer.

This is only one of the suggestions to have been lined up by the William Morris Agency, which packages the show. There are some alternative plans, which are still being proposed, in an effort to revamp the format of the program. At this point, there's little chance of getting Jessel in this post, Deals for Engelbach and Ace haven't been worked out either, but there's some chance that they may be more of the most part, must (Continued on page 16)

Alerted to Quake

Hollywood, July 22.

Hollywood, July 22. while it has not been disclosed which stations will participate in the new web, it's reported that a number of top indies across the country are welcoming the plan as being potentially much more lucrative than their affilliations with the major existing webs. Besides giving them a chance to participate in profits from the vidpix, as well as to sell their time, the fact that they will share in production also gives them a basis of control in their network programming which has been difficult to obtain under standard network affiliation pacts. Other nets contract for a certain number of hours weekly on affiliate stations, and the stations, for the most part, must stations, for the most part, must

Coast Stations

Hollywood, July 22. KNBH scored another newsbeat locally in telensing first films of the Tehachapi earthquake damage just under seven hours after the temblor, which killed 11 persons. The NBC-TV outlet had a beat on the Warners fire a fortnight ago.

DRAMATIC ART PROF

Gertrude Lawrence has been appointed guest professor of dramatic art by the board of trustees of Columbia U., N.Y. Miss Lawrence conducted a course in dramatic art at Columbia last season

Actress is currently vacationing from her starring role in the legit musical, "King and I." She's definitely skedded to return Aug. 11. The warners fire a fortnight ago.

Station was on the air a half-hour after the quake with reports, finest outdoor musical courts in the hour after the quake with reports, finest outdoor musical courts in the country. Theatre could seat 14,585, with standing room for an additional 12,000. In case of rain, at moveable canopy would cover 10, which would provide Chicago with one of the country. Theatre could seat 14,585, with standing room for an additional 12,000. In case of rain, at moveable canopy would cover 10, and will standing room for an additional 12,000. In case of rain, at movember 12,000, in case of rain, at move able canopy would cover 10, and will standing room for an additional 12,000. In case of rain, at movember 2,000 people.

There's some discussion of a munital 10 a.m. due to disruption in St. Louis, Kansas City and Dalintely skedded to return Aug. 11. affected.

INDIE STATIONS Chesler-DuMont's $14,000,000 Bid For 800 Pre-'49 RKO Pix Very Hot

New WB 2-Way Deal

Hew WB Z-Way Deal
Hollywood, July 22.
The two recent big fires at the Warner Bros. studio at Burbank (one blaze is suspected to be of an incendiary nature), inspired scripter Hal Kanter to crack that he's "been offered a new two-way contract at WB—as writer and fireman."

Jessel, Engelbach, Ace Proposed To Hypo Berle Stanza

CHI MAPS $3,000,000 AMPHI FOR LAKEFRONT

Chicago, July 22.
Chicago Park Board is making plans to erect a modern amphitheatre on the lakefront, which would provide Chicago with one of the finest outdoor musical courts in the Ingenious $14,000,000 deal; which will give the Canadian financial group, headed by Lou Chesler, RKO's entire backlog of feature films, antedating 1949, is reportedly close to consummation. The DuMont television network, which will have first call on the pix, is advancing $2,500,000 of the purchase price, with nave lires can on the pixchase price.

Chesler, a Montreal stockbroker and investment counselor, reportedly will trade RKO 2,000,000 shares of its own stock for the 800 or more pix in the vault. Deal embraces all rights—theatre and TV.
It will cost Chesler a total of $14,000,000 over a period of four years to acquire the stock.

Canadian group will obtain the shares by asking present holders who so desire to tender their shares. Chesler reportedly is prepared to offer them $5 down and

(Continued on page 21)

B'way May Get First Tri-Dimensional Peek At Cinerama In Rivoli

Rivolia Theatre, George Skouras' first-run in New York, which is now dark for the summer, may be the kickoff spot for the first pic turned out by Cinerama, Inc., third-dimension outfit in which legit producer Mike Todd and commentator Lowell Thomas are key figures. figures.

figures.
Shooting of the film is near completion on the Coast, and a couple of weeks of processing is next on the sked. Todd and Skouras made a quickle hop to the Coast last week, apparently in pursuit of the idea of preeming the film at the Rivoli in the fall. It would take about two weeks to prepare the house for the presentation, including installation of the third-dimensional sound apparatus and the required three coordinated projectors.

sional soulm apparatus and the required three coordinated projectors.

Film is somewhat documentary in nature and runs about two hours. Merian C. Cooper, indie producer, who has been active in a large part of the production, is now putting the finishing touches on the pic. According to present plans, it likely will be ready for showing in September.

Lensing was done at various global points. Footage contains several scenes from "Aida" as presented by the La Scala Opera, a bull fight in Spain and shots of Scotland and Niagara Falls. Production is tentatively titled "This Is Cinerama."

duction is tentatively titled "This Is Cinerama."
With completion of the film now near, Grant Leenhouts has resigned as exec v.p. of Cinerama. He supervised the engineering and fabrication of new projection and stereophonic sound reproducing equipment, and the construction of a new camera used in the system, Leenhouts will stay on as a consultant for Cinerama on a non-exclusive basis.

Locarno Pix Fest Like Country Fair, But 'Courier, 'Queen' Stir Protests

Locarno, July 15.

The Sixth International Locarno Film Festival wound up its 12-day run last night (14). Originally scheduled to end on the 13th, fete was extended a day to allow for the world preem of "A City on Trial" (20th-Filmcostellazione). Twenty-five pix were officially presented by the 10 participating nations, which included, besides the U.S. Germany, Austria, France, Great Britain, Israel, India, Italy, Sweden and Russia.

Soviet participation, however, was indirect as its entry, "In a Circus Arena," was presented through a Swiss distrib. Russia originally hinted it would participate officially but imposed certain conditions Festival authorities were unable to accept. Besides the official presentations, several features were screened privately for distribs and for the 90-odd crix present at the fete. Locarno is officially recognized by the International Film Producers Assn., and in accordance with that organization's stipulations, no prizes were awarded. Pix are selected and presented by Swiss distributors, unlike Cannes and Venice where entries are on wider national basis and need festival's approval.

The local get-together, jointly stoneored and financed by Swiss approval.

The local get-together, jointly sponsored and financed by Swiss (Continued on page 63)

Danny Kaye's Special Show in Copenhagen As 'Andersen' Bally

Copenhagen, July 22.
Tremendous welcome accorded Danny Kaye here will be climaxed tomorrow (Wed!) when the American comedian will put on a special half-hour show over the State Radio for the benefit of the Danish Children; Charities About 75 000 dio for the benefit of the Danish Children's Charities. About 75,000 Danes have already mailed in a shilling each for the privilege of being selected for the studio audience of 250 to watch Kaye sing the Frank Loesser score from Samuel Goldwyn's production of "Hans Christian Andersen."

The British Broadcasting Co., in an unprecedented move, will carry a direct pickup of the broadcast (Continued on page 63)

(Continued on page 63)

Carol Channing, Adair For 'Blondes' in London

For 'Blondes' in London

London legit producer Jack'Hylton, who flew over to finalize details with Herman Levin on the London production of "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," has just set a deal for Carol Channing to recreate sher Broadway original in the West End. Yvohne Adair will also play her original stage role, but a London substitution will be gotten for Jack McCauley.

Miss Channing's deal is said to be quite an improvement over Broadway. She will draw $1,500 against 10% of the gross, and the Adelphi, for which "Blondes" is scheduled in September, can gross $33,000.

$33,000.

Hylton files back to London tomorrow (Thurs.), accompanied by his aide, Gino Arbib, who has been handling Beniamino Gigli's recent concert tour in Canada.

Allen Stricken By Sun

Harwich, Mass., July 22.
Fred Allen, vacationing here, is recovering from an overdose of sun suffered Sunday (20) on the heach

Allen's new vidfilm quizzer for Old Gold, "Two for the Money." Old Gold, "Two for the Mone preems on NBC-TV in the fall.

Tarleton 7 Arts Fest, New Kind of Mt. Resort Show Biz, to Get Encore By RICHARD JOSEPH

By RICHARD JOSEPH

Pike, N. H., July 22.
Windup of the White, Mountains Festival of the Seven Arts, at the Lake Tarleton Club here this week has again underlined fact that summer vacationists welcome culture as a big plus in their holiday plans —when it's properly packaged by smart showmanship.
Guests at this New Hampshir resort have spent the past two weeks interspersing their swimming, sunburning, tennis, golf, dining, dancing and romancing with lectures, listening to longhair and looking at Toulouse-Lautrec and Currier & Ives originals.
Festival is centred around al fresco talks on hotel front lawn by w.k. show people, critics, writers and educators, speaking in front of a century-old stagecoach, with the White Mountains as a backdrop.
Lectures begin right after lunch, while guests are digesting, and last about an hour. Then subject is usually kicked around informally at lakeside discussions and out on the floats. the floats.
Show biz headlined program

Show biz headlined program, with ANTA's Clarence Derwent and Chris Westphalen, N.Y. News drama critic John Chapman, Show of the Month Club's Sylvia Sedgler and film player Susan Douglas talking

(Continued on page 15)

Lightning Hits Twice In Same (NCAC) V.P. Spot

Same (NCAC) V.P. Spot

For the second time now, National Concert & Artists Corp, has had to cancel a lecture four of one of its figures because of, a vice-presidential nomination. Selma Warlick, who heads, NCAC's lectures and pop, attractions division, had Sen. Richard N. Nixon (R., Cal.) booked for three weeks of lectures this fall in the east and midwest,
as well as further dates next spring.
Nixon had lectured for NCAC for the first time this season. Now that he's received the Republican veepee nomination; Nixon has asked.
Miss Warlick to cancel his fall tour.
Same thing happened four years ago, when Vice-President (formery Senator) Alben W. Barkley, who was on the NCAC gab list, asked to be released from his bookings when he received the Democratic veepee nomination.
NCAC also lost another political figure this year in Sen. Estes Kefauver (D., Tenn.), leading aspirant for the Democratic predential nomination this week. Kefauver has been on the NCAC list for three years, but dropped off the list at beginning of this year, when he actively started campaigning for the nomination.

JACK SHAINDLIN Musical Director of Louis de Rochement's "Walk East on Beacon'

5.5% Less Spent On Film-Going During Last Yr.

Washington, July 22.

American theatregoers spent $1 166,000,000 on motion picture admissions last year, or approximately 5.5% less than in 1950, Department of Commerce reported today (Tues.) in its annual survey of national income.

tional income.
Report reveals a steady decline in consumer expenditures for film admissions since 1949, although decline was less last year than the year before,
Expenditures for legit theatres and opera last year, totaling $90,000,000, showed no change from 1950

Purchases of radio and TV sets, phonographs, records, planos and other musical instruments totaled $2,421,000,000 last year, or about 12% less than in 1950.

Evidence that TV sets have reached a point where they requiremore and more serving was indicated in expenditures of $420,000,000 last year for radio and TV repairs. This was twice the amount spent for such service in 1949 and 31% more than in 1950.

Possibly reflecting restrictions on televising of sports, admissions

31% more than in 1950.

Possibly reflecting restrictions on televising of sports, admissions for professional baseball, totaling $51,000,000, showed a decline of $4,000,000 from 1950, when expenditures had fallen $11,000,000 from previous year. Expenditures for college football games, totaling $103,000,000, were same as 1950, which had registered a $3,000,000 decline from 1949.

National income of the picture (Continued on pag 444)

(Continued on pag 44)

Big Broadcast of '52'

By Boadcast of '52'

By BOB HOPE

Chicago, July 22.

This strawhat filibuster, previewing at Loew's Rumpstake Arena, will go on the road and play the sticks as soon as Playdoctor Truman okays the script. They probably don't expect a nomination before the 20th ballot, which makes it safe to say this show may run longer than "The Drunkard."

This is a sort of "Ben Hur," with dark horses.

So many candidates are camera-conscious that they have a powder room for men.

The Vegetarian Party making its stand here has campaign buttons reading "I Like Cauliflower."

The Democratic jam session has taken over the Cher Stock

paign buttons reading "I Like Cauliflower."

The Democratic jam session has taken over the Chez Stock Yards for its. "Big Broadcast of 1952". This town looks like a bus stop on Mars, or an Orson Welles broadcast that really happened.

There is plenty of help here—some of the Tart, delegates are acting as bellhops.

Hotels are jammed, again, George Jessel missed four diriners. He spent, three days in the Courad Hilton Jobby tryling to push his way through to the banquet room.

It's so hot here Jane Russell has been in town three days and additionally suchias dense. She's also wearing a campaigness.

She's, also wearing a campaign, button. 'It says, "Queh!"

Texans Go Thataway Way Down South on the French Riviera

Cannes, July 8.

There is a Frenchman on the Cote d'Azur who is due to be guillotined at the end of July. This will undoubtedly come as something of a shock to him. What he expects to have happen around then is a modest celebration like New York gave MacArthur. What he will get is the same nort of welcome New York used to give the Cherry Sisters. He's probably out somewhere right now, this Frenchman, picking out a likely site for a statue of himself. What he ought to be doing is finding out what time the next rocket leaves for Mars.

Because this Frenchman is the one who thought it would be a great idea to have Texas Week on the Riviera.

Decause this Frenchman is the one who thought it would be a great idea to have Texas Week on the Riviera.

Texas Week has been planned to take place in the period July 14, the national French holiday celebrating the fall of the Bastille. So, from Cannes all the way to Menton, on the Italian border, the Riviera is going to be turned over to Texans. Everything on the Riviera is going to be turned over, too, but they don't know that yet.

They're making special preparations to greet the Lone Star boys. All the regular waiters, porters, bellhops and gendarmes will be replaced by shock troops composed of former members of the French Underground. They figure anyone who stood up, under four years of German Occupation ought to be able to, withstand the rigors of one week of Texas. But just to make sure, the replacements are undergoing rigorous training. Oak Ridge has sent over a supply of A-bombs to be let off 100 yards from the shock troops. Those that survive will have their eyes nicely conditioned to all but the gaudiest hand-painted neckties. Shopkeepers are being threatened with Devil's Island if they forget and charge Texans only twice the normal price for everything, instead of the Texas Week special price of four times as much. The city's fountains will run with the French conception of bourbon: vin blanc with iodine in it.

Any Frenchman faces loss of citizenship for not replying to any

Any Frenchman faces loss of citizenship for not replying to any question with "Okay!" This will be especially neat when he is being asked the way to the powder-robm. There was also a move on to have rest room doors labeled "Steers" and "Heifers," but community feeling is such in France that most joints only have one single place for "Messieurs" and "Mesdames." So they compromised by labeling that door "The Corral."

There will be other treats for musical Texans, as well. All the orchestras are working up special arrangements of such famous Texas folk songs as "La Marseillaise," and the song Eleanor Holm sang when she eart her lawyer to see her husband with a "Levy On Rose." Other songs being specially written for Texas Week are "Dallas To Doughnuts," "Fort Better Or Fort Worth," and "Amon Carter My House,

Respectable residents of the Cote d'Azur are leaving. Both of them, And girls are coming here from all over France. The filles de joie have all agreed not to speak to a Texan who doesn't have at least two oll wells

They don't realize, of course, that Texans without at least six oil wells are considered part of the "Tobacco Road" set. When Anita Loos wrote that line about diamonds, she didn't know how friendly a gusher can be. One Texas father we know gave his four-month-old son a tiny gusher to play with. He figured a kid and an oil well ought to grow up together. The only thing is, the gusher isn't house-broken.

son a tiny gusher to play with. He figured a kid and an oil well ought to grow up together. The only thing is, the gusher isn't house-broken. The Mayor of. Cannes consulted us about the history of Texas. He said he thought he ought to, because, after all, he knew that we came from New York, which is just a suburb of Dallas. He asked us if Texas was really as big as people said. We told him about our friend, Four-Gun O'Toole. O'Toole has to take a five-day train trip, a 12-hour stage-coach ride, break trail through 80 miles of woods, and walk 40 miles of open prairie just to go next door and borrow a cup of sugar.

But probably the biggest thrill of Texas Week is that all film theatres here will be playing American westerns. Dubbed in French.

French pronunciation of American pix titles and stars is bad enough. Humphrey Bogart is "Amfrey Bogartrrr," which comes out sounding like Leo the Lion with hiccoughs. "Show Boat," becomes "Shove Bowatt." They love pix with our famous dramatic star, Buttie Dahveez. Those films are put out by the firm that advertises as Varnair Broze. And the swimming star, Asstaire Veelyams, they love her, too. Especially when she plays opposite Ohvand Kill. (For those of you who don't remember that picture, it was "Pahgahn Luv Sung".)

But if there is anything in the world to compare to French voices crackling out of a Gene Autry (pronounced Gin Uvtree) epic, we don't want to hear it. In case you ever happen to be tied to your theatre seats during a French western, here's what they are liable to be saying. We give you, at no extra cost, the original American dialog, the French translation of same, and how the French translation would sound retranslated into:

American French English

American

French

English

Howdy, Sheriff, how's Bonjour, Monsieur le tricks? Bonjour, Monsieur le Shair-eef. Comment ca va? Ca marche bien?

The Indians are com- Tiens! Si je ne me suis pas trompe, ceux-ci sont des Indiens, n'estce pas?

Good-day, Mister the Sheriff. How it goes? It marches well?

Hold! If I myself do not deceive myself, those there are some Indians, is it not?

They went that-a-way. Ils ont files par la.

have fled by there.

I ne Ma'am, hold never kissing women.

did There is absolutely no way this can be trans-ssing lated into French.

We'll head 'em off at Nous pouvons les rat-Eagle Pass. trapes a cote de la Vallee des aigles.

Me Indian chief. Me Moi je suis le grand Sitting Bull hate chef Taureau qui white man. s'assieds. Je n'aime pas du tout les peaux blanches.

We are able to retrap them at the side of the Valley of Eagles.

Me, I am the big Chief Bull, who sits himself. I do not like at all the skin

Sorry, we can't trans-late that word; af-iter all, this is a family newspaper.

Why you ornery son of Zut!

a pobtailed polecat,
you fatheaded son of a ringtailed horsethlef, you hangey, scrawny, ple-faced,
milk-fed, slope-eared skunkt

Sec. offerousall areast doing anything that week, come ton down to Commess and seet the Tlavains. Our deves, we're going to Texas where we we have going to Texas where

Please send VARIETY for Two Years Street City..... Zone.... State.....

Subscription Order Form

Enclosed find check for $

Regular Subscription Rates One Year $10.00 Two Years $18:00 Canada and Foreign $1 Additional per Year

154 West 40th Street as party (New York 34, N. Y.

OZONERS THE BEST ANSWER TO TV

Govt 16m Suit Seen Backdoor Move To Force Majors Into Pic Sales to TV

Washington, July 22.

Washington, July 22.

A backdoor move to force major film companies, to release their product to video is seen by trade observers as possibly behind the Government's civil action yesterday (Tues.) charging 12 producers and distributors with conspiracy to restrain the use of their 16m films. Suit was filed by the antitrust division of the Department of Justice in Federal Court, Los Angeles.

Angeles.

Although the complaint charged conspiracy also in limiting the use of narrow-guage product by the armed forces, private clubs, schools, churches and USO centres, tradesters pointed to statement in the suit by Attorney General: James P: McGranery, which declared that the action was part of the Department's continuing program "to prevent businessmen and others from combining to place restrictions upon what members of the general public may see on their television sets."

Another significant indication may see on their television sets."

Another significant indication was the disclosure of a Justice Dept. official who noted that it was the use of 16m in video, and its capacity to reach a mass audience, which spurred the Department's action.

action.

However, the D. of J. exec pointed out that the evidence in the suit antedates television and that the suit "would have been brought anyway." If a conspiracy did not exist, he noted, United World Films, U's subsid, and others would be free to sell to video. Paramount and Metro, the spokesman said, were not named in the suit since there was no conspiracy evidence against them.

Named as defendants were 20th-Fox, Warner Bros., Warner Bros. Distributing Corp., RKO, Republic, Republic Productions, Columbia, Screen Gems, Universal, United World Films, Films, Inc., and Pic-torial Films, In addition, the The-atre Owners of America was named as co-conspirator, but not as a de-fendant.

It was the first time in which 16m films have been involved in a (Continued on page 16)

Ed Small Bows To Europe's Setup For Playdates, Subsidies

Edward Small's reaction following a six-week European o.o. is that the Continental film-makers have yet to absorb the Hollywood know-how, business-wise, but that they have "the sweetest setup in the world right now with assured screen-time and subsidies." He refers to the Italians and French fers to the Italians and French particularly.

particularly.

The vet producer doesn't hold with the idea that a director-producer can also be the astute businessman that the Hollywood counterpart calls for. He feels, however, that "they will learn," and on the other hand feels that if there were a true European invasion by the more astute American filmmakers, it would be bound to cut in on the progress that the European seem to be making.

Small headed for the Coast over

Small headed for the Coast over the weekend. He took it easy pri-marily while in Europe but the in-evitable "one big deal" is cooking.

Jack Warner Due In . From Europe July 29

Jack L. Warner, Warner Bros.

Sexec v.p. and production chief, is due in New York next Tuesday (29) from Europe following a month's visit abroad. Before returning to the Coast, he will confer with Ben Kalmenson, distribution head, and other homeoffice brass.

He is expected to discuss the outcome of talks on the setting up in England of a laboratory for the processing of WarnerColor, plans for WB filming activities in Britain, and en future product's sales policy.

Rolling Ozoner

Minneapolis, July 22.
Newest thing hereabouts is a rolling drive-in theatre. It's operated by John Rohr, who has a circuit of small Minnesota towns that have no regular ozoners or conventional theatres.

theatres.

In the municipal parks or yacant lots, Rohr sets up his drive-in and furnishes the residents with their sole pic entertainment. Circuit now includes Longyillen Backus-Hackensack, Cross Lake and Emily, Minn.

Like a carnival or circus, Rohr moves from spot to spot, devoting one night a week to each of the circuit's towns.

Yank Film Firms Split $5,000,000 In De-Iced Jap Coin

Tokyo, July 15.

A windfall amounting to more than $5,000,000 has been received by American film companies from Japan within the past few weeks, the Ministry of Finance disclosed here today (15). Coin represents 64% of earnings which had piled up in frozen accounts here between the beginning of the occupation in late 1945 and March 31 of this year.

tween the beginning of the occupation in late 1945 and March 31 of this year.

Still to be thawed as of July 1, the Ministry stated, was $2,473,411. The total in the deep freezer as of that date was $4,377,777, but $1,905,116 is to be reserved for taxes. (Coin was received by the Motion Picture Assn. of America from Tokyo some weeks ago, but wasn't actually distributed to member companies until last week. 'They were in a mighty hassle, meantime, over divvy of the frozen funds among them.

(Normal formula used for splitting melons earned by MPAA's affiliate, the Motion Picture Export Assn., didn't completely apply, since some of the companies had used part of their blocked money for buying real estate and other expenditures within Japan. It took a number of sessions by companies prexies and foreign chiefs (Continued on page 54)

Howard to Film 'Luigi' In Italy Next Summer With CBS As Partner

Hollywood, July 22.

Cy Howard is starting up indie film production of his "Life With Luigi" in Italy next summer. He recently returned from several months abroad, where he made arrangements for studio space outside Rome and financing with frazen coin.

side Rome and financing with frozen coin.

CBS, where he is under exclusive radio-video contract, will be partnered in the pic. Mac Benoff, associated with Howard in both AM-TV versions of "Luigi" and "My Friend Irma," will be in on the writing, directing and producing of the pic, and the "Luigi" cast, topped by J. Carrol Naish, will be used in film.

BUT HURTING

Drive-ins, continuing to do sock biz this summer, are as close as the pic industry has come to an answer to TV, opine film men. The pzoners are standing up to tele and giving a good account of themselves.

Their success, however, is making them just about as dangerous to conventional theatres as is viing them just about as dangerous to conventional theatres as is video. While the open-airers during the first three or four years of their growth after the war were drawing new audiences, their constant demand now for earlier runs means they are drawing away considerable of the patronage that might be buying stubs to four-wall houses.

houses.

Pressure on distributors by drive-ins all over the country to move up their picture availability dates is developing into a serious headache for the releasing companies. Earlier, the distribs resisted somewhat but were not worried by the requests for move-up of runs. Some even saw such availability advances as a source of more revenue. more revenue.

availability advances as a source or more revenue.

Now, however, with the demands becoming more frequent and more insistent, they've started to seriously bother the distribs. They feel now that every time they give one of the under-the-stars emporiums an earlier run, they are damaging a conventional house. And they've no desire whatsoever to further weaken the principal source of their bread-and-margarine.

"This movement can do us serious damage and is in many cases unnecessary," one harassed distrib exec explained this week. "The primary attraction of a drive-in is not the early availability of the pictures it plays, but its convenience and novelty. It's unfair for (Continued on page 23)

(Continued on page 23)

Hard-Pressed Exhibs May Win Aid From New Quarter—the IATSE

Winneapolis, July 22.

When the 41st blennial convention of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees and Moving Picture Operators is held here Aug. 4-8, one of the orders of business will be the matter of trying to improve the lot of hard-pressed exhibitors, according to William Donnelly, chairman of the local arrangements committee.

Members of the union are con-cerned because of the number of job losses due to theatre shutte-rings and the fact that more such

(Continued on page 20)

UA's $350,000 6-Mo. Average Billings OTHER HOUSES Points Up Co.'s Upped Financial Status

How It Works

The Loew-Metro cuts are in two broad brackets. From $1,001-$2,000 the cut is 25% above the first thou-

Salaries of $2,001 and over are cut 50% over the first thousand.

Schary Stresses Metro Apathy To Adopting TV Now

Hollywood, July 22.
Televison is the No. 1 problem facing the film industry. Dore Schary told the Hollywood Ad Club Monday (21), but it, like others, can be solved by "intelligence, application of principles, willingness and hard endeavor."
Video is the chief problem "because of its popularity rather than what it is," the Metro production chief said. Film-makers have a definite place in video's future, he added, but reiterated that Metro has no present plans to enter production, release old pix to TV or permit its stars to make video appearances. Latter degision is based partly on legal problems, partly on fact the studio believes television adversely affects boxoffice reception.
"I can tell you about one big fact the studio delieves television adversely affects boxoffice reception.

"I can tell you about one big television star who made a picture for another studio," Schary added, "It was a disynal failure, well, a disappointing success. It will be a long time before video can match the 'giant entertainment' offered by pix, and when eventually it is able to do so, it will be done for television by motion picture makers." Pix-TV alliance "will come in the future but when, how, or in what form nobody knows."

Schary repeated Metro's recent theory of film economics, declaring that theater entails are up despite (Continued on page 15)

(Continued on page 15)

Lesser Back From Europe

Sol Lesser arrives in New York on the Ile de France today (Wed.) from a two-month tour of Europe. He leaves by train for the Coast on Saturday (28).

Hollywood attorney Mendel Silberberg, who accompanied Lesser, returned three weeks ago, in time to attend the Republican convention, to which he was a California delegate.

National Boxoffice Survey

More Pix Reeling in Good Coin, Biz Seen Better Generally; 'Jacks' 1st, 'College,' Next

the country.
The impr

week in a number of areas across the country.

The improvement, though, is generally short of the b. o. advances registered about this time last year. Failure to keep pace with the 1951 upbeat is attributed to the protracted heat spell, which is hurting weekend trade particularly. Break in the blast-furnace weather clearly would mean a good boost in income.

Fact that the Democrats are in session in Chicago apparently doesn't matter at all. Radio-TV coverage is neither adding to, nor detracting from, film bix for the most part. However, exhibs in a few areas feel that the politico oratory is bumpling competitive programs from the TV channels and this is serving as a b. o. assist.

"Jumpling Jacks" leaped inte

There are more click pix in circulation this week than in the past several months, according to returns in key cities covered by Variety. Business is on the upswing for the second consecutive week in a number of areas across the country.

The improvement though is the No. One position this week from the fifth spot last frame, Pic is going great in many keys and clearly rates the crown. "She's Working Way Through College" moved into the place spot, up from third last stanza. "Robin Hood" rounds out the money-making Big Three.

Three.

Fourth this session is "Lovely to Look At," which copped the win spot last week. "Diplomatic Courier" rates as No. Five, tailed in the six position by "King Kong" and "Leopard Man," RKO combo of reissues which is doing surprisingly sock biz in scattered situations.

ations.

"Scaramouche" is still on the top 10 list despite the length of time it has been in key area first-runs. It's in seventh place this week. Completing the roster for this frame are "Pat and Mike," "Walk East on Beacon" and "Trancia to West Point," in that order.

issist. (Complete boxoffice returns on into Pages 8-9.)

With its domestic billings hav ing averaged $350,000 a week for the first six months of 1952, United Artists has been consistently in the black during that period. Even more important, however, in the estimation of its execs, is that the company is no longer suffering from the severe "between picture" chasms that used to mark its curve of weekly income.

curve of weekly income.

By virtue of the plethora of product that prexy Arthur B, Krim and his associates have corralled, the UA distribution pipeline has been consistently full during the first 26 weeks of the year. The company, as a result, has "legs"—a consistent basic income each week.

week.

Whereas it was plagued until the Krim group took over 16 months ago by deep depressions in income, take hasn't fallen below $320,000 any week this year and has generally been between $325,000 and $400,000. Krim and his partners welcome that fact as indicative that the company is at last on a stable base.

Of the gross billings, UA's share as a distribution fee is 30%.

(Continued on page 23)

Jules Stein Envisions Bullish Biz Despite Upheavals In Films

Show biz looks more bullish despite the economic upheavals in the film business, Jules C. Stein, board chairman of Music Corp. of America, observed last week before flying back to Europe for the summer. "The American public is seeking some new form of entertainment. Hereofore, it was dominantly pictures," he says, and while the Hollywood production line will always be potent, the vet showman foresees sports, perhaps new forms foresees sports, perhaps new forms of outdoor divertissements, and live shows as being on the upbeat

More stage shows-legit and (Continued on page 20)

4 West 46th St. New York 26, N. Hellywood 2 Bill Yucoa Street Washington 4 1292 National Press Building Chicage 11 612 No. Michigan Avs. Lenden WC. 2 8 St. Martin's Pl., Trafalgat Sq.

SUBSCRIPTION
. $10 Foreign . . $11
. 25 Cents

ABEL GREEN, Editor

120

INDEX

Chatter . Film Reviews House Reviews 55 Inside Legit Inside Pictures 15 International 10 Legitimate Literati Music 40 New Acts Night Club Reviews ... Obituaries 63 Pictures Radio-','elevision Radio-Reviews 34

Published in Hallywood by Published in Hallywood by Daily Variety, [Ad.] 915 a Near, 450 Version

Record Reviews Frank Scully Television Reviews

French Decree Slashing U.S. Imports Seen Bid for Subsidy of Gallic Prod.

French government decree, which with unexpected suddenness and in the midst of negotiations slashed American pic imports into France by 26% over the weekend, is seen as a direct bid for subsidization by Yank distribs of Gallic producers. As a result, it has opened a wide seam again between the Motion Picture Assn. of America, which is understood thinking in terms of granting the subsidy, and the Society of Independent Motion Picture Producers, which is adamant against it.

Pleture Producers, which is adam-ant against it.

Both the MPAA and SIMPP held emergency sessions in New York Monday (21) to consider implica-tions of the new decree that will limit all American distribs to 90 French import permits a year, re-troactive to July 1. Only loophole left for increasing that number is Article 3 of the decree, which states:

Article 3 of the decree, which states:
"Additional authority for the issuance of a number of permits to be determined may be granted to films of any country assisting distributing of French films within its territory." That is seen as an invitation for a setup similar to Italian Film Export, which via a Yank subsidy plugs Italo product in America.

Yank subsidy plugs Italo product in America.

Eric A. Johnston, MPAA prexy, who chairmanned the associatings buddle, is understood to have recommended that the French be sounded out on what they are thinking of in terms of the subsidy. MPAA member companies are not sympathetic to the idea, but they want to get out the money (Continued on page 21).

'Slow Mail' Behind Delay In Cannes Notification Of Award to Lee Grant

"Slow mall" reportedly is behind the long delay experienced by Lee Grant in receiving official recognition from Cannes Film Festival authorities for her work as "best actress" in Paramount's "Detective Story." Although the festival washeld early in May, the Par homeoffice did not receive documentary acknowledgement of the award until last week.

Accordingly, Miss Grant is scheduled to receive a diploma and book in a brief ceremony to be held this afternoon (Wed.) in 'Par board chairman Adolph Zukor's office. Zukor will make the presentation in behalf of Cannes Festival officials.

In behalf of Cannes Festival officials.

Previously, Miss Grant vented her displeasure to Leo Sauvage, a correspondent for Figaro, a Paris newspaper. His story said she never received an official letter notifying her of the award. An investigation turned up a number of hazy disclosures. Among them was a report that Eugene Van Dee, acting continental manager for the Motion Picture Assn. of America, received the letter a month after the festival wound up.

Van Dee, in turn, was said to have turned the letter over to Paramount's office in Paris. Subsequently, the material was forwarded to the N. Y. homeoffice. A Par exec last week expressed the belief that Miss Grant was unduly alarmed about the situation and attributed the delay to merely a case of "slow mail."

Oboler's Tri-Dimension Pic Eyed by Korda

Deal is reportedly cooking for release of Arch Oboler's "Bwana Devil" in England by Sir Alexander Korda's British Lion distributing setup. Morris Helprin, BL's American rep, is slated to go to the Coast shortly for a gander at the pic and possible consummation of a deal.

Coast shortly for a gander at the pic and possible consummation of a deal.

Film, in Anscolor, is a three-dimensional novelty job. It must be viewed through special glasses. No American distribution has been set for it yet. Reportedly, a sizable advance guarantee is involved in the Korda deal.

Sir Alex is also involved in another novelty film project. He has distribution rights in England for Cinerama, wide-screen system being prompted in the U. S. by Michael Todd and Lowell Thomas and is also planning to produce a and is also planning to produce a film in Britain for Cinerama.

Can't Miss

Charles Simonelli, as dele-Brooklyn gate from Brooklyn to the Democratic convention in Chicago this week, obviously is also not losing sight of his role as Universal's eastern pub-ad chief. Photo syndicates on Monday (21) serviced pix of Francis, U's "talking mule," attending the conclave.

Photos, widely-used in the nation's press, showed Francis bearing signs plugging for nomination of nine different candidates—every one who's been mentioned as a possibility. U is apparently sure to be covered no matter how Simonelli casts his own vote.

Clooney Makes Hutton Parting Easier for Par

Paramount's agreement to release Betty Hutton from her contract now, rather than awaiting its expiration next January, resulted in part from its enthusiasm for Rosemary Clooney. Studio's plan is to build the singer, who skyrocketed with the success of her "Come On-a My House" disks, to the Hutton spot on its star

Miss Clooney has appeared in ally one pic, "The Stars Are Sing-Miss Clooney has appeared in only one pic, "The Stars Are Singing," which is now nearing completion by Par. Company execs were so enthusiastic over her scenes that they started talking about building a big musical around her and Donald O'Connor even before Miss fautton's agent, Abe Lastfogel, William Morris office prexy, suggested she'd like her release.

There is also a possibility that gested sne'd like her release.

There is also a possibility that Miss Clooney will be cast in "Topsy and Eva," in the role that Miss Hutton nixed and that was one of the contributing factors to the quick agreement between studio chief Y.
Frank Freeman and Lastfogel on the Hutton release.

12-Years At Paramount
Hollywood, July 22.
Betty Hutton, who obtained a release from her Paramount contract, which would have expired next January, will go into partnership with her husband, Charles O'Curran, in film production and television. O'Curran likewise ends his Par pact.

Actress had spent 12 years and the production of the partnership with the production and television. O'Curran likewise ends his Par pact.

Actress had spent 12 years on the Paramount lot, where all her pictures were made with the ex-ception of "Annie Get Your Gun" at Metro. Her last Paramount film, "Somebody Loves Me," is still unreleased.

Goldenson Huddles Pic Execs in Rome

Pic Execs in Rome
Rome, July 22.
Vitality of the Italian film industry and its technical facilities available for production were viewed with satisfaction by Leonard Goldenson, prez of United Paramount Theatres, in a visit here last week. He expressed interest in the local industry's expanding film-making program and in various activities of Italian Films Export (IFE) which are aimed at increasing the exportation of Italian pix to the U. S.

In making his first trip to Rome Goldense.

ian pix to the U.S.

In making his first trip to Rome, Goldenson huddled with Italian film execs and was guest of honor at a dinner hosted by the IFE. Among those present were Eitel Monaco, prez of ANICA and IFE; Dr. Renato Gualino, IFE managing director and prez of the International Federation of Producers' Assns., and Italo Gemini, head of AGIS (Associazone Generale Italiana dello Spettacolo).

Following his local stay Goldens

Following his local stay, Golden son left for Florence and Siena. UPT topper, who is accompanied by his wife, goes to France before returning to New York.

Ups Tony Curtis to 1G As U-I Lifts Suspension

Hollywood, July 22.
Completely new deal for Tony Curtis has been inked by U-I in taking him off suspension.
Basically, it's a salary jump from $650 to $1,000 weekly. His next pic,
"Houdin!," is on loanout to Paramount.

Souvaine, Levin InTieup; Thomas New Sales Chief

Souvaine Selective Pictures is about to enter into an experimental tieup with Jack H. Levin Associates as an accompaniment to the appointment of Harry H. Thomas, as salesmanager for Souvaine last week. Thomas, vet distrib, has taken over the post vacated by Charles Amory. Charles Amory.
Levin organization, set up re-

Charles Amory.

Levin organization, set up recently for theatre checking and research, will handle sales in several territories for Souvaine. If this proves feasible in a 90-day test—the Levin outfit has never done sales work before—Souvaine may take advantage of Levin's national organization to handle sales throughout the country.

Aim of prexy Henry Souvaine in the Levin experiment is to try a plan for broadening the market for foreign and art product, in which SSP specializes. Souvaine feels that an effort must be made to widen the thin potential offered by art houses through reaching out for non-theatrical bookings.

Levin reps will thus be called upon not only to deal with exhibs, but, more importantly, to sell and organize showings in churches, schools and auditoriums for charity and civic organizations in their areas.

Souvaine feels that considerable areas.

Souvaine feels that considerable coin can be obtained from such dates. In towns where there are no houses regularly showing arr product, it will be all new money. Where there is an art theatre, it (Continued on page 21)

British Festival Film Set For American Distrib

For American Distrib

"The Magic Box," made in England with an all-star cast as the film industry's contribution to last year's Festival of Britain, has been acquired for U. S. distribution by Arthur L. Mayer and Edward Kingsley. Technicolored feature is the story of Friese-Greene, credited in England with invention of the motion picture projector.

Mayer and Kingsley, who recently returned from London, have also acquired three other pix for release in the U. S. Two of them were made by "Group Three," a government-financed unit for making low-budget offbeat product. John Grierson, former head of the Canadian Film Board, is exec producers the six "The Brave Dank"

One of the pix, "The Brave Don't

One of the pix, "The Brave Don't Cry," will probably be Britain's entry at the Venice Film Festival this year. The other "Group Three" pic is "Brandy for the Parson." Fourth film acquired by M-K is "Life Of Eileen Joyce," a biog of the planist in which she is heard playing. It was produced by Ealing in Australia.

"Magic Box" was made by John Boulting and Ronald Neame. It originally ran two hours and has been cut by 15 minutes. British Lion handled it in England and J. Arthur Rank had overseas rights. Robert Donat stars, and appearing in smaller parts are Leo Genn, Laurence Olivier, Dame Edith Evans and other top British names. Laurence Olivier, Dame Edith Evans and other top British names Eric Ambler did the screenplay.

Europe to N. Y.

Barney Balaban Vivian Blaine Dorothy Salisbury Davis Harry Davis Sir Sergei Denham A. Davidson Dunton Jeff Jones Sol Lesser Max Liebman Max Liebman Anita Loos Joseph A. McConville Lew Schreiber Nicole Stephane Hyman Zahl

Consolation: TV's Got Troubles, Too

For whatever consolation it may provide to filmites. TV this summer is, suffering badly from ills with which theatremen for years have been wrestling during the dog days. The attraction of beaches, picnics, the open road and outdoor entertainment in general is proving just as great a deterrent to televiewing as it is to theatregoing.

Rating of average sets in use, as reported by Trendex, which regularly surveys 10 multiple station TV markets, shows July viewing down to 27.5, as compared with 34.5 for June. Number of sets in use from 6 to 11 o'clock nightly has dropped off sharply each month since April, in exactly the same pattern as film grosses. April rating was 46.3, May 39.5, June 34.5 and the July 1-7 period 27.5.

While exhibs have been squawking that distribs have contributed to the b.o. decline by holding back strong product during the hot weather, TV station ogs have been hollering that sponsors and networks are missing a bet by taking their top shows off the air. Crux of the situation is that the advertisers and webs won't invest in big shows because the summer audience is too small and viewers won't turn on their sets because programs aren't attractive enough.

An added consolation to exhibs may be that the upturn in film in big shows because the summer audience is too small and viewers won't turn on their sets because programs aren't attractive enough.

An added consolation to exhibs may be that the upturn in film big during the past few weeks has perhaps been partially brought about by absence of top TV shows. One of the explanations for healthy b.o. experienced during the political conventions is that televiewers might rather see the regular shows than the political coverage, and have been alleviating their boredom by going to pix.

Anglo Embargo on H'wood Product Would Wreck Industry, British Told

WB Fire Reward

Hollywood, July 22.
Union workmen at Warners studio are functioning as private eyes, hoping to solve the mystery of the recent fire on the backlot.

the backlot.

A wire from Richard Walsh,
LATSE prexy, offered a "liberal reward" to any member diaging up evidence of sabotage.

200 Pix From 27 Nations to Vie At Venice Festival

Italians have announced four pix and the British three entries for the Venice Film Festival next month. There will be a total of about 200 pix from 27 participating nations. Fifty of the entries will be shown at the Festival of Films for Children, which will directly precede the regular showings.

The Italian entries are Roberto Rossellini's "Europe '51," Alessan-dro Blasetti's "Times Gone By;" Federico Fellini's "The White Shiek" and Pietro Germi's "The Bandit of Tacca Di Lupo."

Bandit of Tacca Di Lupo.

The British entries are "The Brave Don't Cry," made by John Grierson for the government-supported Group Three experimental unit; J. Arthur Rank's "The Importance of Being Earnest," an Anthony Asquith production, and thony Asquith production, a "Mandy," an Ealing production.

N. Y. to L. A.

Lola Albright
Jack Carson
Hume Cronyn
Vittorio DeSica
Marcello Girosi Marcello Girosi
Jean Hersholt
William Holden
Leonard L. Levinson
Brenda Marshall
Paul S. Nathan
Abe Olman Frank Stempel-Jessica Tandy

N. Y. to Europe

N. 1. to Lurc Bert Block Mildred Demby Hy Faine Leopold Friedman Charles Goldsmith Dolores Gray Jack Hylton Jeanmaire Maureen McManus Herman Millakowsky Irwin Pizor Irwin Pizor
William M. Pizor
Edward R. Sammis
Joseph Shaftel Theodore R. Smith J. C. Stein

London, July 22.

Government was warned by Lord Lucas in a House of Lords debate last night (Mon.) that imposition of an embargo on Hollywood product during the forthcoming Anglo-American film negotiations would, be the best way of bringing down the British film industry. To cut down the number of American films, he asserted, would finish the Eady Fund and kill small theatres. In summing up his stand, Lord Lucas urged the government not to alter the principle of the existing Anglo-American agreement. Debate was opened by former J. Arthur Rank, producer Lord Archibald, who appealed to the government to put the Eady Fund on a permanent and statutory basis, as without its continuance production planning would hait its march, and the British industry would be in a state of collapse by end of the year.

Government spokesman Lord Selkirk refused to comment on the monetary talks, but said the government would welcome continuance of the Eady scheme, although it was primarily a matter for the industry to decide. Lord Selkirk refused to comment or Selkirk also resisted an opposition suggestion for a reconsideration and definition of a "British film" which included pictures made with American companies with American capital.

Apart from the brief life of Dalton's ad valorem duty, Britain has given unrestricted entry to all foreign product, but to safeguard dollar spending has imposed restrictions on convertibility. The basic figure of $17,000,000 remittable annually has been maintained since the first' pact was signed after the Dalton duty was abandoned; but since then various inducements (Continued on page 20)

L. A. to N. Y.

L. A. to Irving Allen
Fred Astaire
Mort Briskin
William Broidy
Ned E. Depinet
Sol Dolgin
Pat Duggan
Jack Elliott
Gloria, Crahame Jack Ellott
Gloria Grahame
Edith Head
William J. 'Heineman
Donald A. Henderson
Henry Herbel
Forrest Judd
Joseph Kaufman
Frank Liberman
Al Lichtman
David A. Lipton
Gisele Mac Kenzle
Tony Martin
Robert Mochrie
Arnold Moss
Alan Mowbray
Ray Noble
Walter O'Keefe
Roland Petit
Robert Pirosh
ZaSu Pitts
Will Rogers, Jr.
Jane Russell
Manie-Sacks
Denny Shane Gloria: Grahame Maurie Sacks
Denny Shane
Stirling Silliphant
George Skouras
Spyros P. Skouras
Harold Spina
Maurie Suess Kenneth Thomson Max Youngstein

COMM'L FILMS $42,000,000 BIZ

3 Rank Reps Would Continue on Bd. Of Universal at Request of Rackmil IN PAST 2 YEARS

Present indications are that the three J. Arthur Rank reps on Universal's board will continue to serve indefinitely though the British On Vacation A serve indefinitely though the Brit-ish film mogul no longer holds U stock. It is understood that Mil-ton R. Rackmil, new U prexy, has indicated a desire that they con-tinue on the board. The Rank men are Rank himself, tinue on the board.

The Rank men are Rank himself,
G. I. Woodham-Smith, his general counsel, and Robert S. Benja min, president of the J. Arthur Rank Organization in the U.S. Actually, the board membership is meaningful now only so far as Benjamin is concerned, since Rank and Woodham-Smith headquarter
in London and virtually never attend directorate sessions or vote.

Trio were holdover nominees for the board on the management proxy slate prior to Decca Records' purchase of Rank's stock in U. Although the Decca huy preceded the annual U stockholder session, on change was made in the slate and Rank, Woodham-Smith and Benjamin were automatically elected.

It had been assumed that Rack-

Benjamin were automatically elected.

It had been assumed that Rackmil, who heads Decca as well as U, might expect the trio to offer their resignations. They're understood to have definitely been informed, however, that that is not so.

Despite the stock sale, Rank and U retain considerable in the way of mutual interest. Rank's General Film Distributors handles U product in Britain and U releases Rank's top pix in the U.S. Benjamin, however, is no longer technically on the board as a Rank rep—since, there's nothing to rep—but as an individual.

Dept. of Justice has been attempting to unseal Benjamin, (Continued on page 23)

Surprise Defender For Upped Admish Found in Ind. Exhib

Upped-admission demands of distribs for big pix—a practice habitually cursed, condemned and castigated by exhibitors—found surprise defense last week. It is contained in Theatre Facts, bulletin of Allied Theatre Owners of Indiana.

Indiana.

After lengthily recounting arguments against upped-admish pix, the Allied publication frankly states: "On the other side of the argument, one of our members who states: "On the other side of the argument, one of our members who had always steadfastly opposed any advance price pictures became a convert to the hiked scale."

This occurred, the bulletin explained, as a result of a questionnaire the exhib had filled out regarding non-theatrical competition. It caused him to analyze the competing attractions playing his town, the tariff they got and the attitude of the local citizenry—which was that the promoters were "doing them a favor."

"If his patrons were happy to pay three or four times the regular price of a movie to see some third-rate wrestlers or some untalented live acts," this exhib concluded, "why shouldn't he get a (Continued on page 16)

REPUBLIC DOUBLING PROD. BUDGET—YATES

Herbert J. Yates, Republic Pictures prexy, announced yesterday (Tues.) that the company would double its production budget for 1952-53, with the coin outlay expected to surpass that spent in the past two years combined. Yates did not reveal any figures, merely stating that the company would spend "more millions."

Republic chief revealed that Repwould expand its advertising appropriation considerably.

Yates pointed up that eight of nine recently-completed pix are in color and seven in Republic's own three-color Trucolor. Future production plans include 15 stories, many of which will be adapted from magazine stories and serials. Herbert J. Yates, Republic Pic-

On Vacation Aug. 6

Samuel Goldwyn has set his trip to Europe for Aug. 6. Accompanied by his wife, Frances, he'll sail on the Queen Elizabeth. Their itinerary is still indefinite, but it is contemplated they'll be away about contemplated they'll be away about six weeks on the pleasure jaunt. Goldwyns will be in New York only a couple of days on their way to Europe, but will remain several months, at least, on their return. Producer will be east for the campaign prior to the anticipated Christmas preem of his "Hans Christian Andersen."

RKO Sets More Indie Deals To Satisfy Exhibs

Plagued for some time by lack of product, RKO is actively endeavoring to line up a collection of films to satisfy its sales force as well as exhibs. Although the studio is back in operation, the flow of pix from the Coast hasn't been enough to meet the current and future demands.

With fast changeovers a common practice today, company is continuing its romance with indie producers to assure itself of a solid lineup. Slate is also being bolstered by the addition of reissues from its own vaults.

Latest deal with an indie is that between RKO and Aubrey Schenck Productions, which calls for the distribution by RKO of six Schenck films within the next two years. First of the sexte will be "Beachhead" based on the Richard Hubler novel, "I Got Mine." Filming will start in September. Second pic will be "The Swamp Fox," from an original story, "The Lion and The Fox." In Technicolor, it will tell the story of Francis Marion, American (Continued on page 21)

Nabbing Girl's Sniper Slayer Snipes Sniping At 'Sniper' As Cause

Sensational solution to the murder of 18-year-old Eileen Fahey at New York's Columbia University last week had the effect of exonerating the Stanley Kramer film, "The Sniper," from any possible link with the crime.

When the claying was fine dis-

When the slaying was first discovered, numerous theories were advanced, including one which held that the murderer might have held that the murderer might have been influenced by the film. "Sniper," playing in nabe theatres in the Columbia U area, focuses on a crackpot who indiscriminately shoots attractive young women.

In the absence of any local motive for the killing of Miss Fahey, the thought arose that the killer was a real-life counterpart to the central character in the film, and somehow goaded into the crime by the dramatic presentation.

somenow goaded into the crime by the dramatic presentation.

As it turned out, the confessed murderer was a psychopath who became enraged when his thesis on expanding man's life span was rejected by the American Physical Society. Miss Fahey worked for the outfit.

panies recently toward diversifying their activities finds some of them taking an increasing interest in the production of commercial and industrial films. Making sponsored pix is a $42,000,000 annual biz in

Although several of the majors, through subsidiary companies, have turned out this type of film for a long time, there has been a steady upbeat during the past two years. Success of Columbia, Universal, Warner Bross, and RKO in snaring strongors as a matter of fact has sponsors, as a matter of fact, has caused some concern among estab-lished producers of commercial lished producers of commercian pix.

Columbia's subsid, Screen Gems, which also makes vidpix, has been the most active entry in the commercial race. It has not only been making short commercials for tele, but has been turning out sales, training and public relations product for such outfits as DuPont, the American Petroleum Institute and Studebaker. Ralph Cohn heads the operation. operation.

'Flirtatious' Move

'Flirtatious' Move
Hollywood's current desire to snare some of the commercial pix dollars is generally regarded by the longtime biz film producers as flirtatious. Feeling is that the Coast will drop or curtail this operation when it eventually takes over making the bulk of the programming films for TV, a move the commercial producers regard as inevitable.

(Continued on page 16)

M-G Fiscal Switch Points Up Foreign Take's Importance

ro's accounting system was seen week as generally reflecting the continually growing importance of the foreign market plus new trends in the playoff of pix. Previously, M-G wrote off the cost of its product on the basis of 75% of the cost to domestic in-come and 25% to foreign, Charles C. Moskowitz, v.p.-treasurer, revealed at the weekend that the amortization table has been revised so that 66 2/3% is allocated to domestic and 331/3% to foreign.

This, of course, means that the This, of course, means that the foreign department is now being relied upon to provide fully one-third of the total pic revenue. Moskowitz said the switch was adopted by the board of directors upon the recommendation of the company's accountants. Other outfits in a position similar to Loew's also will do some revising of their breakdowns on foreign and domestic income. As of its last annual report, RKO had its amortization (Continued on page 21)

(Continued on page 21)

One Prez to Another

One Prez to Another

Meeting of the company presidents at the Motion Picture Assn. of America on Monday (21) in New York, on the Franco-U. S. film treaty, became the occasion for an informal salute to Loew's, Inc., prexy Nicholas M. Schenck for his job in initiating top executs within the Loew and Metro organizations.

Pic company chiefs took time out to signalize the event as an industry plus and a possible trailblazer for other companies to cut some of those astronomic salaries as one means of getting film costs down "to the degree where it insures the economic stability of the industry."

MAJORS' UPBEAT Distribs Agree to Yield to Exhibs On Some Points in Arbitration Talks

Marvin Schenck Sets 12 'Movietime' Tours

Hollywood, July 22.
Total of 12 "Movictime U.S.A." tours before the end of the year have been lined up by Marvin Schenck, Hollywood Movietime" chairman, in cooperation with the Screen Actors Guild. About 60 players will take part.
First three tours will be: Aug 17, Denver; Sept. 7, Indianapolis, and Sept. 21, Boston.

Arbitration Plan Key to Preventing More Exhib Suits

Key exhibs who have participated

Key exhibs who have participated in the exhib-distrib efforts to formulate an industry arbitration system again this week warned that failure to develop a plan pronto will result in a greater wave of antitrust suits against the film companies than ever before.

The belief is that many theatremen who now have grievances against the distribs are holding off on legal action in the hope that they might obtain relief via arbitration. Obviously, it's /said, if the trade fails to make arbitration available the exhibs with beefs will have no alternative other than a trek to the local courthouse.

Meanwhile, the exhib and distrib negotiating teams now are awaiting word from film company presidents on their, willingness to sit in with the theatremen in last-ditch talks in establishing a system. Reps of Theatre Owners of America and Allied States Assn. are demanding that the negotiations in future be brought up to the chief-exec level since little progress was made in past discussions with sales managers and company lawyers. At the last session the two sides were deadlocked over the various facets of competitive bidding as arbitrable subjects. Decision on the meeting with film prexies likely will be made when Barney Balaban, Paramount's prez, returns to the states. He has been in Europe the past month and is expected back in N. Y. this coming weekend.

Small Exhibs Get Sluffoff, D. C. Prober Finds in Cal. Inquiry

Hous in Cat. Inquiry

Hollywood, July 22.
Complaints that producers and exhibitors show "an utter disregard for the existence of the smaller exhibitor" were disclosed by William D. Amis, investigator for the Senate Small Business Committee, currently probing trade practices in the film business at the request of the Southern California Theatre Owners Assn.

Assn.
SCTOA wants the Government to establish uniform zoning and clearance rules in order to ease exhibitors' difficulties brought on by the consent decrees. It depends on Amis' report and recommendations whether the Senate Committee will give the investigation a public hearing.

deGraw Quits Schine To Enter Ozoner Biz

Harold deGraw, district manager of Schine Theatres in Maryland and Delaware, has resigned from the chain to enter the drive-in business on his own.

DeGraw, operating as Peninsula Amus., is currently building an ozoner between Cambridge and Easton, Md., to be known as the Super 50. It will open early in August.

Film companies this week appeared ready to give in at least partially to some exhib demands on which subjects may be covered in the projected industry arbitration system. Distribs have agreed to yield on a few points as a last-resort gesture aiming to avoid the threatened entire collapse of, the arbitration idea.

Following a meeting in New York Monday (21) with distrib execs and company lawyers, Motion Picture Assn. of America prez Eric A. Johnston said that he was confident a mutually agreeable arbitration plan can be formulated. Johnston did not say whether or not company presidents will sit in on future discussions with the exhibs, as the latter have also demanded.

In any event, it was decided at the Monday conclave to undertake to arrange further huddles with the TOA and Allied reps at the exhibs are persisting in their demand for the arbitration of the various facets of competitive biddingly in the cast of the cast of the subject of the arbitration of the carliest possible time. Since the exhibs are persisting in their demand for the arbitration of the carlies expectedly will make some concessions.

Earlier, the two sides reached general agreement only on the non-cistribs expectedly will make some concessions.

Earlier, the two sides reached general agreement only on the noncontroversial subjects of runs, clearances and availabilities as arbitrable items. The subject of bidding, however, led to a stalemate which, in turn, led to the breakdown of negotiations. Exitibs at this point made it clear that the overall projected system likely would be scuttled unless the distribs showed willingness to bend from their position on bids. Exhibs additionally asked that film company chief exces enter the negotiations since there was an absence of progress in huddles with the sales managers and counsel.

Beyhills Exhib Agrees To Play Controversial Hecht Picture, Suit Off

Hecht Picture, Suit Off

Hollywood, July 22.

Agreement to play Ben Hecht's
"Actors and Sin" as originally contracted for, beginning Friday (25), ended legal action brought by United Artists, distributor of the film, and producer Sid Kuller against the Beverly Canon Theatre. Legal details of the settlement are still being worked out, but the pic will open although the theatre management says it is abiding by the pact "reluctantly."

In a letter to UA and Kuller, who had asked either that the theatre be forced to book the film or pay $250,000 in damages, Horace Boos, Jr., of ABC Theatres, which operates the Beverly Canon, said his outfit had been advised by counsel that it had no legal ground on which to base a defense.

Therefore, he noted, it would live up to the contract "but with reluctance, inasmuch as we believe the picture is detrimental to the best interests of the motion picture industry." House had booked the film sight unseen for a guarantee of $2,500 weekly on the basis (Continued on page 16)

RKO THEATRES NAMES GRAINGER BUYING HEAD

E. C. Grainger, former president of Shea Theatres, has been named head of RKO Theatres' film buying and booking department, it was announced in New York yesterday (Tues.) by William Howard, RKO vp. Over the past weekend Howard, who had been the chain's assistant general manager, was upped to head theatre operations, reporting directly to prexy Sol A. Schwartz.

In another change, Harry Man-

Schwartz.
In another change, Harry Mandel, RKO's ad director, has taken on the additional post of assistant to Howard. His and Grainger's assignments become effective Aug. 4. Status of Matty Polon and Robert Sherman, circuit execs, remains unchanged.

Dreamboat

Clifton Webb, Ginger Rogers in lightweight, fairly amusing spoof on video's use of old movies.

Hollywood, July 21.

20th-Fox release of Sol C. Slegol production. Stars Clifton Webb, Glinger Gegers, Anne Francis, Jeffrey Hunter; eatures Elsa Lanchester. Free Clinty Hunter; Ray Delibert Garage, Ray Clinerity and screen-land Garage, Ray Clinty and screen-land garage of the Soliton of March 1988. Clark; music, Cyriditor, James B. Clark, March 1988. Clark Start Garage Star reviewed July 11.

Ciliton Webb.
Ginger Rogers
Ginger Rogers
Andrey Hunter
Esta Lunchester
Fred Clark
Paul Harvey
Ray Collins
Helone Stanley
Helone Stanley
Med Stanley
Marketta Canty
Laura Brocks
Emory Parnell
Hatche
Hatche
Hatche
Leverett Glass
Frui Maxey
Sandor Scabo
Lee Clary Thornton
Gloria
Carel Sayre
Bill Ainslee
Dr. Coffey
Sam Levitt
Harrington
Timothy Stor imi udge Bowles ommandant esk Clerk... ommanunesk Clerk avinia
frs. Gunther
Jsed Car Salesman
frs. Faust
MacIntosi
George Bornay
Giant Ara
Gunt Clerk Drunk Helen Brown
Hotel Clerk Al Herman
Hotel Clerk Howard Banks
Hotel Detective Jack Mather
Men in Commercial,
Girl in Commercial Gwen Verdon
TV Commercial,

Television takes a lampooning in "Dreamboat," a fairly amusing spoof on the competitive medium and its use of old pix and uninhibited commercials. Star names offer something for both the old and the young, Clifton Webb and Ginger Rogers teaming for the former and Anne Francis and Jeffrey Hunter for the latter. Fair results should be obtained in the regular market.

ommerciai nercial, Bob Easton, Marjorie Halliday

Hunter for the latter. Fair results should be obtained in the regular market.

Claude Binyon scripted and directed for Sol C. Slegel's production, basing the feature on a story by John D. Weaver. Plot's amusing theme deals with Webb, a staid English literature prof, whose past as a dashing silent-day screen hero is exposed by a series of old films on TV, and his efforts to halt their use. He and his daughter, Miss Francis, go to New York to fight the case, thus setting loose a train of events that, in the main, are good for light chuckles with several laughs thrown in.

Despite the resistance and tricks pulled by Miss Rogers, as Webb's old film costar now having a comeback plugging perfume on the silent movie telecasts, and Fred Clark, the agents who grabbed up the old films, the prof gets his case into court, takes over his own prosecution and scores his point when he proves the pictures are being distorted to exploit the perfumes without his consent. This is a funny sequence that draws amusement from the assorted types of flamboyant commercicals used to highlight Webb's charge of privacy who fould be scellent as the prof who fould in the provest the provision.

of flamboyant commericals used to highlight Webb's charge of privacy linvasion.

Webb is excellent as the prof who finally is bitten again by the acting bug before the picture is over. His silent-day sequences with Miss Rogers are good satire on the oldie techniques, and the actress proves a most able partner in them, as well as getting over in the modern portions. Miss Francis and Hunter, the latter an agency employee, are up to the light demands. Elsa Lanchester brightens some footage as the university president who makes amorous passes at Webb when his past becomes known. Clark, Paul Harvey, Richard Garrick, the judge; Ray Collins and Jay Adler are among the others helping.

The comedy gets first-rate assists from the technical credits to go with the generally okay directorial pacing and production.

Brog.

Sudden Fear

name should aid the pic some-what, but it'll take sock selling and exploitation to bring in better than name should aid the pic somewhat, but it'll take sock selling and exploitation to bring in better than average grosses.

Slow in getting un'derway,
"Fear" picks up momentum as soon as the suspense essentials are introduced. It succeeds then in being frequently tense and exciting.
The tenseness, however, is somewhat diluted by overlong solo scenes as Miss Crawford undergoes various emotional crises.
Careful cutting of the 110-minute footage and speeding up the action toward the eventual denouement might help in relieving the uneasiness that replaces the tenseness.
This time Miss Crawford is presented as a playwright-heiress.
Eminently successful at her craft, she falls in love and marries an actor whom she had considered unsuited for the lead in her play.
The union is idyllic until she discovers accidentally, via a dictating machine, that her husband had only married her for her money and with the aid of an old flame was planning her murder. Her efforts to forestall this plan and her plot for revenge, conceived with the skill of a playwright maneuvering actors on a stage, provide the suspense elements.

Miss Crawford scores in the type of role with which she has long been identified. Jack Palance
suspense elements.

Biss Crawford scores in the type of role with which she has long been identified. Jack Palance as Palance's old flame, turns in a bard-hitting performance. Bruce Bennett, Virginia Huston and Touch Conners are okay in secondarv roles.

The Lenore Coffee-Robert Smith
screenplay, based on Edna Sher-

Touch Conners are only in secondary roles.

The Lenore Coffee-Robert Smith screenplay, based on Edna Sherry's story, is somewhat overwritten. David Miller's direction, although occasionally lagging, is, on the whole, sharp. The lensing of Charles Lang, Jr., is on the plus side, especially the location footage of San Francisco streets.

Holl.

Untamed Frontier (COLOR)

Pretentious and stereotyped western feature with good names, color, to help in action market.

Hollywood, July 18.
Universal release of Leonard Goldstein broduction: Stars Joseph Cotten, Shelley Winters. Scott Brady; features Suzan Bail, Minor Watson, Katherine Emery. Directed by Hugo Fregoness. Screenplay. Bagni; added dalog, Polly James; story, Itouston Branch. Eugenia Night; camera (Fechnicolor), Charles P. Boyle: editor, Virgil Vogel: music, Hans J. Salter. Previewed July 15, '52. Running time, '75 wiewed July 15, '52. Running time, '75 wiewed July 15, '52. Running time, '75

	MINS.
	Kirk Denbow	Josen	oh Cot	ten
	Jane Stevens
	Glenn Denbow
	Lottie		1173n F	2211
	Matt Denbow
	Camilla Denbow	Katheri	ne Em	ery
	Bandera	Jo:	se Tor	vау
	Clayton Vance
	Max Wickersham	John	Alevan	dèr
	Dave Chittun
	Sare Content		1 0	···
	Charlie Fentress
	Ezra McCloud	Robert	Ander	son
	Clem McCloud Sheriff Brogan	Fe	ss Par	ker
ļ	Charlet Broggs	Pas	Pany
	. Suerin Drogan		Deni	reff

Clem McCloud Fess Parker Sheriff Brogan May Bennett Ray Bennett I A well-worn western plot path is trod by "Untamed Frontier" and, despite its pretentions, it never achieves anything out of the ordinary in the way of action entertainment. The plot is hackneyed, the playing unconvincing and the direction stereotyped. However, the generous use of Technicolor and outdoor scenery, plus some names that will look good on the marquees, will mean much to its chances.

Joseph Cotten, Shelley Winters and Scott Brady make up the startrio involved in a western plot that has a cattle baron refusing to let settlers cross his land to get to free government acreage, which he is using to graze his vast herds. Minor Watson is the crippled baron, Cotten his sober-sides nephew and Brady his nogood son. Miss Winters figures as a waitress who witnesses a killing by Brady and then is tricked into marrying him so she cannot testify against him.

You For Me Entertaining screwball comedy to brighten dual bills.

Hollywood, July 18.

Metro release of Honry Berman production, Stars Peter Lawford, Jane Green Green and Conday, How the Wendell, Otto Bulett, Barbara Brown Barbara Ruick, Kathryn Card, Directe by Don Weis, Story and screenjay, William Roberts; camera, Paul C. Vogel; editor, Newell P. Kimlin, Previewed July 18 '52, Running time, 70 MINS.

'52. Running time, 76 MiNS.
Tony Brown Peter Lawford
Katie McDermad Jane Greer
Dr. Jeff Chadwick Gig Young
Lucille Brown Howard
Oliver Wherry Howard
Hugo McDermad Barbara Brown
Ann Elcott Barbara Ruck
Nurse Voxel Kathryn Card
Rollie Cobb Tommy Farreil
Frank Elcott Paul Smith
Flora Adams Helen Winston
Olivi Inchia

An engaging 70 minutes of screw-ball comedy, "You For Me" is designed to brighten many a dual bill in its release role as a companion feature. A slick script, smart direction and nifty trouping make it easily acceptable as light entertainment, with the names of Peter Lawford, Jane Greer and Gig Young for the marquees.

A playbur gets a load of hird-

Lawford, Jane Greer and Gig Young for the marquees.

A playboy gets a load of birdshot in the seat of his hunting pants to set off the plot's posterior motive that winds its way through a chain of laughable incidents. Don Weis's direction misses no bets in putting the William Roberts script on film.

Lawford is the butt of the jokes as the playboy who gets it in the end, is taken to the hospital he supports with a yearly donation, is angried over the lack of sympathy for his wounds, withdrawn his support and has Miss Greer, an outspoken nurse, fired. Young, a doctor, attempts to patch things up by having her make a play for Lawford so she can get her job back and the hospital can get its dough.

Romantic complications keep things moving when it turns out your size of the province of the play for the Romantic complications keep things moving when it turns out Miss Greer likes Lawford but loves the doc, despite the latter's single-minded attention to career. Amusingly abetting Lawford's courtship is her wacky family but, in the end, he decides she's not for him, turns her over to Young and is off on another romantic chase which, with the aid of some knitting needles strategically placed, punctures Lawford, the risblitties and winds up the farce.

A lot of Roberts' dialog is lost ford, the risibilities and winds up the farce.

A lot of Roberts' dialog is lost in laughs, but what can be heard is smart with an uncommon amount of ribald, but unoffensive wit, mixed throughout. In fact, despite the elemental comedy springboard, the yarn is handled to give offense to no one. As the nurse, Miss Greer proves she has been devoting too much time to heavy drama and can show to advantage in comedy. Lawford and Young both hold up their ends of the fun.

Supporting players are delight-rully represented by Paula Corday as a sort of Zsa Zsa-type of foreign charmer with a nose for money; Otto Hulett, Barbara Brown, Barbara Ruick and Paul Smith, as Miss Greer's family; Howard Wendell, Kathryn Card, Tommy Farrell and others.

others.

Henry Berman's production supervision is budgetwise without neglecting any necessary entertainment backing. Paul C. Vogel's lensing is good and the editing by Newell P. Kimlin crisp. Brog.

Captain Pirate (COLOR)

Costumed swashbuckler repris-ing further adventures of Cap-tain Blood on the Spanish Main; for general action situa-

Hollywood, July 22.

Columbia release of Harry Joe Brown production. Stars as the Harry Joe Brown Production. Stars as the Harry Joe Brown Patricia Medina, John Stars and Harry Remains and the Harry measures up as acceptable feature material for the general action sit-measures up as acceptable feature material for the general action situation.

Script was based on Rafael Sabatini's "Captain Blood Returns and uses more words than it should have in telling how Blood, in peaceful retirement in the West Indies, is falsely accused of piracy and has to take to the high seas to clear his name again. He's freed by his old pirate gang and fiancee, Patricia Medina, steals a ship from John Sutton, the real highbinder, and sets out to find the pirate who has been using his name for bloody raids on coastal towns.

After various ruses and disguises, he spots the culprit, learns of a raid to be made on Puerto Bello, convinces the Spanish he is a military attache, sinks his ship in the harbor and waits for the heavies to arrive. Their ship founders on the sunken hulk and Blood's cannon dooms them. Sutton seeks to escape but Blood has it out with him in a duel. He then frees Miss Medina, imprisoned for her part in his escape, they matry and settle down to a peaceful life again.

Action highlight is the cannonade between the pirate ship and fort—a first-rate job of miniatures and special effects. Elsewhere the action comes in spots, with too much dialog thrown in to fill out the footage. Hayward wears his familiar role easily and Miss Medina is mighty attractive to the eyes. Sutton, Ted de Corsia, Jay. Novello and Maurice Marsac figure excellently in the skullduggery. Charles Irwin, George Givot as a colorful pirate friend of Hayward's. search. She slings "Longing" for a bright tune spot. Genevieve Aumont is another looker seen briefly. Among other casters filling short footage are Rex Evans, Robert McNeely, Nina Koshetz, Lester Matthews and Sandro Giglio.

Ralph Murphy's direction of the Harry Joe Brown production gives it a treatment standard to such Giglio.

Ralph Murphy's direction of the Harry Joe Brown production gives it a freatment standard to such costumers. Satisfactory lensing was contributed by Charles Lawton, Jr., and the other technical credits are

Les Miserables

Excellent remake of Victor Hugo's somber classic; b.o. opportunities if sold on that basis, not as pop entertainment.

20th-Fox release of Fred Kohlmar production. Stars Michael Rennie, Debra Paget, Robert Sidney, Cameron Mitchell, Elsa Lanchester, James Robertson Justice, Joseph Wiseman, Rhys Williams, Florence Bates, Directed by Lewis Milestone. Screenplay, Richard Murphy; based on novel by Victor Hugo; camera, Joseph La Shelle; editor, Rugh Fowler; music hallow the star of the

ı	Jean Valjean	el Rennie
i	Cosette Deb	ra Paget
ı	JavertRobert	Newton
ı	Bishop Edmun
ı	Fantine Sylvi	e Sidney
ı	Marius
ı	Madame Magloire Elsa L
ł	RobertJames Robertson	Tretion
ı	GenflouJoseph	Wicoman
	Brevet	Wischian
	Madame BonnetFlorer	Williams
	Ciacles Bonnet	nce bates
,	CicelyMerr	y Anders
	Bonnet Joh	n Rogers
	CorporalChar	ies Keane
	BosunJoh	n Dierkes
	Cochepaille John	r Cottento
	Madame Courbet Norm	a Varden
	Dupuy Willian	n_Cottrell
	Valjean's MaidQueenie	Leonard
	Gavroche Bol	bby Hyatt
	Lieutenant Sand	ers Clark
	Cosette, Age 7 Pa	itsy Well
	Nun Jea	n Vachon
	BamataboisSear	ı McClory
	Mother SuperiorJun	e Hillman
	Vero Jame	es Craven
	Mentou, SrLester	Matthews
	Mentou's GrandsonJim	mie Moss
	Presiding Judge	Ian Wolfe
	GenetAlfr	ed Linder

20th-Fox has done an excellent job of remaking Victor Hugo's somber classic. It was first lensed by the Fox Film Co. in 1919, again by Universal in 1927, United Artists had a release out in 1935 and there was a French production in 1936. All of this suggests the durability—of the novel as a film subject and indicates there are boxoffice opportunities still around for a remake when done as well as this version.

Joan Crawford in a neatly mounted suspense melodrama; fair b.o.

KNO release of Joseph Kaufman production. Stars Joan Crawford: features Each Plance Bennett, Virginia Huston, Touch Connors. Directed by David Miller. Streenists, Directed by David Miller. Streenists and leaves some composing of the star revision. Streenists and leaves some confusing plot holes as it marches along a 75-minute course that has been along a 75-minute confusion in Streen Active Direct Mills Lucasion and all cause some confusion at the confusion and inclusion for the melodram is the direct of the Leon and along a 75-minute course that has been along a 75-minute confusion in Streen Melos. Direct day Nation of the melodram and there was a French production in Streen Melos. Directed by Raiph Murphy, Screen Melos Directed by Raiph Murphy, Screen Active Spatial Murphy, Screen along a 75-minute confusion in Streen Melos Directed by Raiph Murphy, Screen Active Babathic cannot the Connors of the Leon and the Conno

cise in mirroring the mood and temper of the story. In the first episode, when Valjean is sentenced to 10 years as a galley slave for stealing a loaf of bread, Milestone, permits the players and scenes to cry out flamboyantly against such injustice and the stark miseries of a prison ship existence. He handles the performances in a quieter, more effective, veln in the subsequent episodes.

The film actually gets going when Valjean, released under parole, drops the role of convicted thief and becomes a successful pottery owner after getting his first lesson in humanity from a kindly bishop beautifully played by Edmond Gwenn. It is during this time that he aids Sylvia Sidney, a poor, dying woman, and takes in her daughter, Debra Paget, even rises to become mayor of the village. This success and position are tossed away when he refuses to allow a gibbering halfwit to be falsely acused of being Valjean.

An interlude in a convent outside of Paris, where Valjean acts as gardner while Miss Paget grows into young womanhood, follows. Again events catch up with them and they move onto Paris and Valjean is exposed to Javert when he goes to revolutionary headquarters to right an injustice he has done Cameron Mitchell, beloved of Miss Paget. Film moves on to a fast conclusion when Mitchell is wounded and Valjean carriers him through the Paris sewers to escape the still-pursuing Javert. The later, who cannot compromise with his duty as he sees it, still unbends enough to let Valjean go free, and then commits suicide in the Seine because he has violated his own principles of right and wrong. Scripter Richard Murphy tackled a man-sized job in adapting the drab Hugo novel to the screen and has come up with plenty of mealy melodramatics. Rennie does exceptionally well with his role, particularly after the convict ship episode. The same can be said for Newton. Miss Paget supplies the single touch of romance and beauty to the plot excellently, and Mitchell shows well opposite her. Miss Sidney, Elsa Lanchester, as the bishop's hous others in the lengthy cast who contribute capably. Unfortunately, Joseph Wiseman, as a convict, is still playing the hophead hood of "Detective Story."

Joseph La Shelle has given the picture outstanding photography. The lowkey lensing is particularly apt to the mood of the melodrama and with definite artistic values. Alex North did the fine music score, and the settings and art direction mirror the period of the Hugo tale.

Brog.

Gift Horse (BRITISH)

Dramatic sea-story about ships and raids; good b.o.

and raids; good b.o.

London, July 16.

Independent Film Distributors (in assn. with British Lion) release of Molton Films production. Stars Trevor Howards and the star of th Appleby John Forres Surg. Lt. MacDonald Harold Siddon

Despite its wartime setting, this

Despite its wartime setting, this isn't primarily a war picture. Predominantly, it's the story of a ship and the men who served in her and the men who served in her story and the ship itself. It's strong, dramatic entertainment with a firstrate Anglo-American cast, and a worthy boxoffice contender on both sides the Allanic. Hero of the story is undoubtedly the old tub itself, one of 50 loaned by America to Britain in her darkest hour. The ships had all been but back into service from the retired list, to help in the perilous battle of the Atlantic. The skipper and crew quickly renamed their vessel "The Gift Horse" (which is not to be looked in the mouth). It is old, slow and worn out, but the men get attached to it and retain the wartime hazards.

The captain (Trevor Howard is a stern disciplinarian who was court-martialled some eight years previously after being involved in a collision and is now making his comeback. At first, his officers, and men resent him, but all raily to

FILMS STEAMROLL VS. 20% TAX

Simmons-Granger Win Exoneration [XHIBITORS' AID] On Tax Raps in Victory Over Hughes GROWS STRONGER

Hollywood, July 22.

Howard Hughes lost cash and a star last week in an out-ac-court settlement of the lengthy legal action launched by Jean Simmons to win her complete freedom from RKO. Settlement was signed at 6:30 a.m. to climax a three-ring-circus atmosphere and was followed by a Hughes publicity barrage "interpreting" terms of the settlement.

lowed by a fughes publicity barrage "interpreting" terms of the settlement.

Initial point reported by Hughes was that Miss Simmons would make "Taxi" for 20th-Fox in return for which 20th would loan Victor Mature to RKO without charge and would, in addition, pay RKO a cash remuneration. Actually, Mis
Simmons will not make "Taxi," Furthermore, 20th-Fox declared it never had any intention of lending
Mature without charge, and the Furthermore, 20th-Fox declared it never had any intention of lending Mature without charge, and the additional remuneration mentioned had been discussed only as an eventuality to be determined by any financial loss RKO might suffer in halting the currently shooting "Break-Up" to permit Miss Simmons to start the 20th film. Hughes also contended that Miss Simmons agreed to finish "Break-Up" as the final picture under her J. Arthur Rank contract, which Hughes had purchased. Miss Simmons will finish "Break-Up" but she retains the right to sue RKO for added compensation on the film. When she started production (Continued on page 20)

Atlas Disposes Of 25,000 Shares Of UPT Common

Atlas Corp. has disposed of its holdings of 25,000 shares of common stock interest certificates in United Paramount Theatres, the investment trust outfit disclosed this week in its regular half-year investment trust outfit disclosed this week in its regular half-year report. In its previous report last December, the UPT stock had a market value of $490,625.

Also owning 25,000 shares of Paramount Pictures common, Atlas had its choice of dropping either the Par or UPT shares. Alternative was having 50% of the UPT divvies held in trust under terms of the Par consent decree in the Industry antitrust suit.

Atlas in the past six months also sold 20,000 shares of Madison Square Garden Corp. common stock which, at the end of last year, was worth $160,000 on the basis of market quotations. Investment company's portfolio now lolds the 25,000 shares of Par common, 76,500, shares of Par common of Motion Picture Capital Corp. Last named is the indie production financing outfit headed by N. Peter Rathyon.

KEN THOMSON IN N. Y. TO TALK N. Y. PACT

Kenneth Thompson, exec. sec. of the Screen Actors Guild's Hollywood branch, arrived in New York Monday (21) and will take part in negotiations between SAG's eastern division and the Assn. of New York Film Producers.

Talks, which have been going on for about a month, involve inking a new pact covering theatrical and television films. SAG is alming for an agreement based on the formula established with the Coast's Alliance of Television Producers.

Pizor's Europe O.O.

William Pizor, v.p. of Lippert Productions, leaves on the S.S. United States for a tour of Europe. He expects to visit 14 countries to survey foreign production.

Columbus, July 22.

So much confusion surrounded the expected test of newsreel censorship at the Little Theatre here last Wednesday (16) night that instead of an uncensored newsreel, the house ran off Paramount's "Detective Story" without the state seal. Dr. Clyde Hissong, Ohio's director of censorship, and a field inspector were in the theatre at the time, but they paid no attention to the slip.

Last minute uncertainty as to whether the newsreel was to run or not had the projectionist so. unnerved he forgot to attach the censorship leader to "Detective Story," although the pic had the state okay.

Unprecedented Rap Vs. Ohio Tax On 'Native Son'

not only unconstitutional because of the prior license requirement but also because it imposes a tax on the right of publication, according to the argument, heretofore unadvanced in pic censorship cases, which will be set forth by attorney Ephraim London when he battles the nixing of the film, "Native Son," before the state's Supreme Court. London is the attorney whose victory in "The Miracle" case before the U. S. Supreme Court set a precedent for the ellmination of censorship bodies,

London's contention will be that the fee charged by the Ohio censorship division constitutes an unlawful tax. He is expected to tell the court that if the fee charged merely covered the cost of administration, it might not be considered a tax. However, he will argue that the fee in Ohio is more than twice the amount necessary to cover the cost of administration.

Ohio charges $3 a reel for censoring, the highest in the nation, and it's estimated that the cost to the film industry for submitting films for censorship ranges from $250,000 to $300,000 annually.

Meanwhile, London, representing Classic Pictures, distrib of "Native Son," has been joined in the case by Ohio attorney Lyman Brownfield. Latter as local counsel will have the papers served on the (Continued on page 20)

Freed to Succeed Broidy but also because it imposes a tax on the right of publication, accord-

Freed to Succeed Broidy As President of MPIC

As President of MPIC

Hollywood, July 22.
Election of Arthur Freed as v.p. of the Motion Picture Industry Council means that he will eventually become president of that group. Steve Broidy, current veepee, automatically succeeds Gunther Lessing as prexy next month, and Freed succeeds Broidy six months later.

Official report that the Screen Writers Guild had turned down the proposed "Loyalty Board" automatically quashed that proposition. which had been advocated by several MPIC groups. MPIC also voted to support COMPO in its campaign to kill the 20% boxoffice tax.

Dick Powell As Director

Dick Powell As Director
Hollywood, July 22.
Dick Powell will become a director through the purchase of RKO of "Breakaway," a story property owned by Powell and Olympic Productions.
Deal calls for Powell's services as a director to be utilized within one year. In case "Breakaway" is not produced in that time, he will be assigned to direct another for RKO.

the film industry's campaign to re-peal the 20% Federal admissions tax is a cinch to succeed. Council tax is a cinch to succeed. Council of Motion Picture Organizations officers related this week that exhibs in almost every instance have unhesitatingly pledged their personal services in state committee work when asked to do so by the New York headquarters.

In the few cases where theatremen begged off, the reasons were clearly valid, say the key COMPOITES. This is in contrast to other previous all-industry endeavors where filmites, asked to lend a hand, ducked out because of "pressure of other business" or other familiar excuses.

So far about 150 exhibs across

So far about 150 exhibs across So far about 150 exhibs across the country have jumped aboard the anti-tax bandwagon. This was seen as especially impressive since COMPO got underway with the organizational work only this month. Numerous others will join the roster shortly, it's expected, making for one of the greatest joint undertakings in recent film industry history.

making for one of the greatest joint undertakings in recent film industry history.

A committee is being formed in every state across the nation, and each will name its own chairman. Then begins the job of winning lawmakers' sympathy for total elimination of the Federal levy.

Meanwhile, Col. H. A. Cole, co-chairman with Pat McGee of the national COMPO tax committee, and others immediately concerned with the tax battle want to sock across the message that the trade stands a strong chance of achieving the objective if full effort toward that end is exerted. "The facts are on our side," said Cole, meaning that any objective appraisal of the overall tax situation will show that the Federal bite on the b.o. is discriminatory and over-burdensome. One obstacle which the trade must hurdle, say some observers, is the line of thinking taken by tax experts in governmental posts.

(Continued on page 20)

Aim at Equalizing Ad Rate Structure

Film industry is making slow but steady progress in its campaign for the elimination of the rate differential in newspaper advertising and for an improvement in editorial coverage. Although theatre pub-ad execs observe that the millenium is still far off, general feeling is that publishers are becoming aware of the inequities that exist in the rate structure. Campaign is being waged on an individual basis, with exhibs attempting to make with exhibs attempting to make agreements with newspapers on a local level.

with exhibs attempting to make agreements with newspapers on a local level.

Since no clearing house exists for the detailing of rate improvements, it is difficult to note they exact progress the industry has made. In addition, there is a treluctance on the part of publishers to publicize rate cuts. Theatremen do not regard the rate slices as reductions, but as making available the retail rate.

Despite the granting of the local retail rate in finany cities, there is a growing alarm on the general increase in newspaper ad rates. For example, in St. Louis the Globe Democrat will raise its line rate from 42c. to 46c. per line in August while the Post Dispatch will up its rate from 47c. to 52c. early in September. Even with the increase, these rates are considerably less than theatres were shelling out in 1950 for local newspaper advertising in St. Loo. In Nov., 1950, the Globe Democrat made available to Downtown theatre the retail rate, which meant a reduction from 62c. to 40c. Last year it was raised to 42c. The Post Dispatch similarly instituted the local rate, involving a decrease to r 42c. from 86c. Last year it was upped to 47c.

Toledo Hearing Aug. 8 to Provide Test Of Ohio's Right to Censor Newsreels

Wrong Show

Wrong Show
Columbus, O., July 22.
When plans to obtain a test of Ohio film censorship went askew at the Little Theatre here causing withdrawal of an announced uncensored newsreel, at least two patrons were disappointed. Apparently they had come to watch the arrest of L. J. Hofheimer, owner of the theatre.
Following a disagreement between Dr. Clyde Hissong, director of the state's censorship body, and industry reps on who was to receive the warrant charging a violation, it was announced that the film would not be shown. Two members of the audience asked for and immediately received a refund.

Continue to Hit At 'Miracle'

Despite the U.S. Supreme Court decision against the banning of The Miracle," film continues to be harassed by local censors in different areas, with the state of ferent areas, with the state of Ohio and Chicago being the latest to nix the pic on varled grounds. Ohio Division of Film Censorship has rejected "The Ways of Love" trilogy, which contains the contraversial "The Miracle," for showing in the state. Dr. Clyde Hissong, censor chief, said Monday (21) that he had sent a letter to Joseph Burstyn, owner of the Robert Rossellini-directed film, explaining the ban.

to Joseph Burstyn, owner of the Robert Rossellin-directed film, explaining the ban.

Hissong noted that on the basis of a unanimous decision of the members of the three-man advisory board, arrived at Independently, the film is not suitable for public exhibition. "A Day In the Country" and "The Miracle" were both listed as "harmful," but there was no objection to "Jofrol," the third pic in the trilogy. The two objectional parts of the trilogy, Hissong said "exploit moral conduct, if not directly, certainly indirectly and by inference. He also said "The Miracle" is "based initially upon revolting incidents." Apparently no objection was made to the film on sacrilegious grounds, (Continued on page 15)

(Continued on page 15)

Payoff Precedent In Bordonaros Buff Suit

Bordonaros Buff Suit

Buffalo, July 22.

In an unprecedented move,
Paramount Pictures, RKO Radio and Warner Bros. Circuit Management have paid into the Federal Court here the sum of $22,619.58 to prevent the accumulation of additional interest pending appeal by Bordonaro Bros. Theatre, of Olean, of its recent antitrust verdict against the distributors. The sum represents the amount of $7,500 awarded the plaintiff by a jury in Federal Court here, trebled and plus interest from June 2.
Bordonaros have appealed to the U. S. Court of Appeals at New York on the ground that the verdict is insufficient.

Toledo, July 22.
After considerable confusion involving procedure, the groundwork was set here for the film industry's test of the right of the state of Ohio to censor newsreels, and possibly all films, with a Toledo exhibset to appear in Municipal Court on Aug. 3 for a hearing on the charge of showing an uncensored newsreel. Exhib, Martin G. Smith, co-owner of Smith & Beidler Thenewsreel. Exhib, Martin G. Smith, co-owner of Smith & Beidler Theatres, was arrested last Friday (18) when an uncensored reel, distribbed in Toledo by 20th Fox, was exhibited at the Westwood Theatre.

exhibited at the Westwood Theatre.

Attorneys for Smith asked for a 30-day continuance at the arraignment in order to have time to prepare briefs, but Judge Frank W. Wiley, expressing interest in the case, set the hearing date at a time when he would be up on the bench. The jurist has already requested and received the U. S. Supreme Court decisions on "The Miracle" and "Pinky" cases, actions on which the Motion Picture Assn. of America is basing its fight to strike down film censorship in Ohio.

Test in Ohio, originally arranged as a "friendly" deal between the MPAA and Dr. Clyde Hissong, chief of the state's film censorship body, turned into somewhat of a hassle on who was to be named in the affidavit charging censorship violation. The suit was originally planned to be filed in Columbus against Lee J. Hofheimer, operator of the Little Theatre, and Warner Bros., which was to provide an uncensored newsreel. Manning (Tim) Clagett, of MPAA, and Robert Wile, exec secretary of the Independent Theatre Owners of Ohio, (Continued on page 16)

Title Exclusivity Declared Illegal In 'Treason' Suit

New York Supreme Court Justice Thomas L. J. Corcoran, in a decision involving the title of "High Treason," J. Arthur Rank pic, has thrown doubt on the legality of any claimed exclusive usage of a title for a literary work. Judge Corcorar's ruling denied a petition by Albert E. Kahn, author of the political book, "High Treason: The Plot Against the People," for a temporary injunction restraining distribution of the Rank film under the "High Treason" title. Jurist held that the title of Kahn's book and of the film are not the same and their content is entirely different. He added: "The plaintiff's book is non-fictional. It is in essay form and expounds the author's political ylews. It purports to develop his thesis that there exists in this country a political plot against the people to deprive them of their rights. The defendants' moving picture, on the other hand, is fictional. It portrays, in dramatic form, a series of highly imaginative occurrences in England which would constitute high trea-(Continued on page 16)

SDG OKAYS NEW PACT WITH INDIE PRODUCERS

Bordonaros have appealed to the U. S. Court of Appeals at New York on the ground that the verdict is insufficient.

Akst Settles Jolson Suit Los Angeles, Jufy 22.
Harry Akst, former accompanist of Al Jolson, settled his $51,800 back salary claim against the comedian's estate for $5,000. Claim represented sums due under an alleged $500-a-week contract for services in film, radio and stage appearances.

Probate Judge Newman Condee approved the settlement at the request of executors of the estate.

WITH INDIE PKODUCEKS

Hollywood, July 22.
New pact between the Screen birectors Guild and the Independent Motion Picture Producers Assn. has been okayed by Guilde and the Independent Motion Picture Producers Assn. has been okayed by Guilde and the Independent Motion Picture Producers Assn. has been okayed by Guilde and the Independent Motion Picture Producers Assn. has been okayed by Guilde and the Independent Motion Picture Producers Assn. has been okayed by Guilde and the Independent Motion Picture Producers Assn. has been okayed by Guilde and the Independent Motion Picture Producers Assn. has been okayed by Guilde and the Independent Motion Picture Producers Assn. has been okayed by Guilde and the Independent Motion Picture Producers Assn. has been okayed by Guilde and the Independent Motion Picture Producers Assn. has been okayed by Guilde and the Independent Motion Picture Producers Assn. has been okayed by Guilde and the Independent Motion Picture Producers Assn. has been okayed by Guilde and the Independent Motion Picture Producers Assn. has been okayed by Guilde and the Independent Motion Picture Producers Assn. has been okayed by Guilde and the Independent Motion Picture Producers Assn. has been okayed by Guilde and the Independent Motion Picture Producers Assn. has been okayed by Guilde and the Independent Motion Picture Assn. has been okayed by Guilde and the Independent Motion Picture Producers Assn. has been okayed by Guilde and the Independent Motion Picture Producers Assn. has been okayed by Guilde Assn.

L.A. 1st-Runs Sturdy; 'Kong' Reissue Smash 48G, Cugat Ups 'Face' to 34G, 'Heart' 11G, 'Sally' NSG 16G, H.O.'s Off

Los Angeles, July 22.

First-run business is upbeating his week toward its best overall valook in months, thanks to several standout bills, headed by the lock "King Kong" $48,000 at two locations. Xavier Cugat stage show the L. A. Paramount is shoving Stolen Face" to a solid $34,000, r thereabouts.

"Wild Heart" is a fancy $11,000 the small Four Star. Otherwise, rade is not outstanding. A mild 16,000 is seen for "Sally & St. nne" at three sites, and a slim 10,000 is in line for "Captain lackjack" at four houses. Reissue f "Tokyo Joe," dualed with Knock On Any Door" reissue, is eaded for a light $8,000 at two pots. Holdovers are softening up. Estimates for This Week.

Los Angeles, Chinese, Ritz (FWC) Logor; 2,048; 1,370; 70-$1.10) — Sally and St. Anne" (U) and Breakdown" (Indie). Mild $16,000. ast week, "Ivory Hunter" (U) and Lavender Hill Mob" (U), $16,700. El Rey, Iris, Globe, Loyola FWC) (861; 814; 782; 1,248; 70-$1.10)—"Captain Blackjack" (Inie), and "Love Island" (Indie). Mim $10,000. Last week, "Iris, Globe, Loyola FWC) (861; 814; 782; 1,248; 70-$1.10)—"Captain Blackjack" (Inie), and "Love Island" (Indie). Mim $10,000. Last week, "Iris, Globe, Loyola FWC) (861; 814; 782; 1,248; 70-$1.10)—"Captain Blackjack" (Inie), and "Love Island" (Indie). Mim $10,000. Wh), $5,300.

Mellyweod, Wiltern, Orpheum WB-Metropolitan) (2,756; 2,344; 7213; 70-$1.10) — "Working Way hrough College" (WB) and "Pirate submarine" (Lip) (Orpheum only) 2d wk), Okay $19,000. Last week, Even beave to nifty $31,200.

h Okay $1,200.

rly Hills, Downtown (WB)

1,757; 80-$1.25)—"Story of ogers" (WB) (2d wk). Okay

1, Last week, under hopes

1. Last week, under hopes 21,600.
1,503; 70-$1.10) — "Scara-"
(MG) (3d wk) Medium Last week, $22,000. irrect, Pantages (RKO) (2,-112; 70-$1.10)—"King Kong" and "Leopard Man" (RKO) (3,-112) (1,0) (1,

"t Beat Fish" (Indie) (8 days), 10.

ne Arts (FWC) (679; 80-$1.20) (an White Suit" (U) (8th wk). dy $2,600. Last week, $2,800. nen (ABC) (520; $1.20) — a)o" (Lip) (4th wk). Small U. Star (UATC) (900; 70-$1.10) (Wild Heart" (RKO). Fancy 100. Last week, "Anybody Seen Gal" (U) and "No Room for m" (U) (3d wk), $2,000. gue (FWC) (885; 70-$1) — atest Show" (Far) (2d wk). $6,000. Last week, fine $7.100.

first week.

Wilshire (FWC) (2,296; (70-$1,10)

"Story Robin Hood" (RKO) and
"Water Birds" (RKO) (m.o.s.).
Medium $5,000. Last week, "Lydia Balley" (20th) (3d wk), $2,200.

'College' Big $16,500, 'Robin' 16G in Denver

Broadway (Wolfberg) (1,200; 40-"Scaramouche" (M-G). Big (Continued on page 22)

Broadway Grosses

Estimated Total Gross
This Week$423,500
(Based on 19 theatres)
Last Year ...$442,300
(Based on 18 theatres)

J. Ray-'Pirate' NG 40G, Hub; 'Kong' Big $25,000

r (B&Q) (1,500; 50-95)— and St. Anne" (U) (4th wk). langing on at $2,200. Last $3,100.

Just hanging on at $2,200. Last week, $3,100.

Beacon Hill (Beacon Hill) (682; 50-90)—"Run for Your Money" (U) and "Happiest Days of Life" (Regal). Opened today (Tues.) Lact week, "Notorious Gentleman" (SG) and "Green for Danger" (SG), about $2,600.

Boston (RKO) (3,000; 40-55-400; King Kong" (RKO) and "Leopard Man" (RKO). Best in many a moon, $25,000. Last week, "Strange World" (UA) and "Red Planet Mars" (UA), satisfactory $13,500.

Exeter (Indie) (1,300; 60-80)—"Laughter in Paradise" (Undie).

'Pat' Blistering 16G,
'Courier' 11G, Port., Ore.
Portland, Ore., July 22.
Town is loaded with new strong product, transient name attractions, and extreme hot weather. Orpheum had a formal opening after a complete facelifting. "Pat and Mike" and "Diplomatic Courier" look best.

lays). Good $7,000. Last week, 95,500.

Mayfair (Parker) (1,500; 65-90)—
She's Working Her Way Through College" (WB) and "Stolen Face" 1die) (2d wk) (m.o.). Dandy 14,400. Last week, $4,500.

Oriental (Evergreen) (2,000; 65-60)—"Diplomatic Courier" (20th) 1dy-date with Orpheum. Fine $3,-100. Last week, "Walk East On-Beacon Street" (Col) and "Montana Territory" (Col), day date with Paramount, $3,500.

Orpheum (Evergreen) (1,750; 65-10)—"Diplomatic Courier" (20th) and "Valley of the Eagles" (Lip), the courant of the courier (20th) and "Valley of the Eagles" (Lip), the courant of the courier (20th) and "Valley of the Eagles" (Lip), the courant of the courier (20th) and "Valley of the Eagles" (Lip), the courant of the courier (20th) and "Valley of the Eagles" (Lip), the courant of the courier (20th) and "Valley of the Eagles" (Lip), the courier (20th) and "Valley of the Eagles" (Lip), the courier (20th) and "Valley of the Eagles" (Lip), the courant of the courier (20th) and the Oriental. $6,000. (Col.), also United Artists (Parker) (890; 65-90)—"Scaramouche" (M-G7 (4th wlc): Holding at $4,300. Last week, $4,600.

'Lovely' Wham $15,000, 'Gal' Nice 14G, K. C.; 'Jacks' 2d Great 11G

'Jacks' Jumping 29G With 'King Kong' Ditto in Frisco, 'Courier' Fair at $13,500

Key City Grosses

Estimated Total Gross
This Week ... $1,958,750
(Based on 23 cities, 191 theatres, chiefly first runs, including N. Y.)
Total Gross Same Week
Last Year ... $2,174,500
(Based on 22 cities, and 189 theatres.)

Martin-Lewis Wow 23G, Pitt; 'Courier' NSG &G

Harris is picking up with "D lomatic Courier," although not to expectations, while "Sca mouche" has something left, its holdover at the Penn. "Frar Goes to West Point" at the Ful is not up to provider "Garage". is not up to previous grosses for the talking mule.

the talking mule.

Estimates for This Week

Fulten (Shea) (1,700; 50-85)—
"Francis Goes to West Point" (U)
Bloom's apparently off the talking mule series, This one won't better $5,000, which is the poorest any of the Francis sagas have done around here. Last week "Lady in Iron
here. Last week "Lady in Iron
here. Last week "Lady in Iron unuer $0,000.

Penn (Loew's) (3,300; 50-85)—
"Scaramouche" (M-G) (2d wk).
Holding up pretty well and should close out near $10,000. Will likely move to small-seat Ritz for continuation of downtown run. Last week "Scaramouche" hit just over $16,000.

d over $2,500, fine for this sleep-Next up is a reissue of "Hunch-ick of Notre Dame" (RKO). Stanley (WB) (3,800; 50-85)— umping Jacks" (Par). Martin d Lewis hotter than the weather, d 10 times as agreeable, doing siness the like of which WB de-xer hasn't seen in a blue moon, eading for $23,000. Last week,

'College' Cum Laude

At 81/2G, L'ville

At 072ty, L ville Louisville, July 22. Downtown houses, with excep-tion of the Mary Anderson, are not making much splash in the bo, line this week. "She's Work-ing Her Way Through College" is big at the WB main stem showcase. Wicket lines were the rule over the weekend, and final tab should be around $9,000, plenty big. Ho, at the State and weak product at the Rialto and Strand don't hold much managed just a fair $22,500 at tilted prices.

Warfield (Loew's) (2,656; 65-85)—"Pat & Mike" (M-G) (2d wk), Fair $12,000. Last week, husky $22,000.

Paramount (Par) (2,646; 65-95)—"Jumping Jacks" (Par). Jumping $29,000. Last week, "Working Way Through College" (WB) and "Corporal Dolan Goes AWOL (Rep) 12d wk), good $11,000.

St. Francis (Par) (1,400; 65-85)—"Paula" (Col). Quiet $10,000. Last week, "Under Paris Sky" (Indie) (2d wk), weak $8,000 for six days, "Orpheum (No. Coast) (2,485; 65-95)—"Brigand" (Col) and "Last Train From Bombay" (Col). Weak $9,000. Last week, "World In His Arms" (U) (2d wk), weak $9,000. Last week, "World In His Arms" (U) (2d wk), weak $9,000. United Artists (No. Coast) (1,201;

Point" (Ü) (2d wk). Fair $6,500. Last week, good $11,000. Stagedeer (Ackerman-Rosener) (370; 85-$1)—"Lavender Hill Mob" (Ü) and "Magnet" (Ü) (2d wk). Slight $2,800. Last week, $3,-

Clay (Rosener) (400; 65-85)—
"Kind Hearts And Coronets" (UA)
(3d wk), $2,700. Last week, okay
$3,000.

Larkin (Rosener) (400; 65-85)— "Pool of London" (U) (m.o.-11th wk), $2,200. Last week, slipped to

'Jacks' Terrif 25G, Toronto; 'College' Big 15G

Estimates for This Week
Crest, Downtown, Glendale, Marfair, Scarboro, State (Taylor) (863; 1,059; 955; 470; 698; 694; 35-60) —
"Just This Once" (Mr-G) and
"Three Musketeers" (U). Light
$11,000. Last week, "Bronco Buster" (U) and "Finders Keepers"
(U), $10,000. Eglinton (FP) (1,080; 40-80) —
"Marrow Margin" (RKO) (2d wk).
Nice $7,000. Last week, $8,000.
"Jumping Jacks" (Parl. Terrific $25,000. Last week, "Outcast of Poker Flat" (20th), $8,500.
Loew's (Loew) (2,748; 50-80) —
"Scaramouche" (Mr-G) (2d wk).
Holding at fine $12,500. Last week, $15,000.
Odeon (Rank) (2,390; 50-90) —
"Loan Shark" (Lip). Light $8,000.
"Last week" (Lay Hor the Heaven"

(Continued on page 22)

Mpls. Rough; 'Courier' Tops at 9G, 'Francis' Good 8G, 'Wash. Story' 3G

Showhouses here have been experiencing mighty tough going during recent months, but currently the road's even rougher, if nardi gras attractions, including uge free street parades, and what ith the Democratic convention elecasts for added competition, entertainment emporiums can't et halfway to first base. Probably realizing what they ere up against, only a few showouses put their best foot forward, he lone outstanding newcomers ere "Diplomatic Courier" and Francis Goes to West Point" and, a the face of the aforementioned RKO-Orpheum (RKO) (2,800; 40-i)—"Francis Goes to West Point" I). Helped by prestige first talk-g mule picture attained. How-

Chi Unsteady, 'Clash' Sturdy 131/2G, 'College'-Deejay Vaude Lean $45,000, Francis' Frisky 12G, 'Show' 19G in 11th

ng strong with Couleast of slands" in fourth frame test Show on Earth" at the is the bright hope in 11th

INDPLS SPOTTY BUT 'COLLEGE' FINE $12,000

Indianapolis, July. 22. At," at Loew's, after good first week.

Cockrill-Dolle) (1,300-ne River" (UA) and Heart" (Indie). Nifty

Film gross estimates as re-ported herewith from the vari-ous key cities, are net; I. e., without the 20% tax. Distrib-utors share on net take, when

The parenthetic admission prices, however, as indicated, include the U.S. amusement

Gleason Soars 'Glove,' 45G, Det., 'Jacks' Big 27G

Francis' Hefty $10,500, 'College' 9G in Seattle Seattle, July 22

Estimates for This Week

Coliscum (Evergreen) (1,829

)—"Montana Territory" nd "Red Snow" Col). Fair
00. Last week, "Cripple Cr
Col) and "King of Bullwhip" ie), good $7,200.

K. C.'s Electric Sues Majors in Trust Rap

'College' Hefty In Cleve. at $15,000, 'Atomic' $11,500

New Pix Up B'way; 'Carrie' Neat $50,000, Monroe-'Knock' Nifty 26G, 'Rogers' 20G, 'Paula' Slow $10,000

'Robin Hood' Lifts Cincy With Sock 16G

'Married' Fair $16,000 in Philly, 'Kong' 171/2G, 'Rogers' OK $17,000

Raw Stock Dearth Still Snarls Arg. Producers But Studio Plans Big

Ever-current scarcity of raw stock continues to snafu Argentine film producers, who are constantly forced to postpone lensing productions for which large casts have been signed, and to stall options on studio leases because stock isn't available.

Currently there are a superior of Lopert F. Distributing Co., New York, in the content of the content o

Currently there are some hopes of obtaining raw stock shipments from France, if a deal comes off whereby French distributors deliver raw stock in exchange for permits to import their productions Argentina.

into Argentina.

Spanish actor Jorge Mistral, who arrived from Spain some weeks ago ready to start work for Argentina Sono Film, has already trekked home, rather than waste time hanging around waiting for studios to solve this snarl.

time hanging around waiting for studios to solve this snarl.

Another film hanging fre because of raw stock dearth is the Hispano-Argentine co-production planned by Cinematografica Espanola and EFA Studios, featuring Spanish bullfighter Mario Cabre. Spanish director Ricardo Gazcon and Cabre have already come here, ready to lens the considerable footage, which is to have a Buenos Aires background and cast. But the idea may have to be shelved for the time being, unless some stock is made available by the entertainment board in view of the picture's probable earning powers abroad. Opus is to be titled "Mission in Buenos Aires," from a script by Spanish writer Carmen Montero, adapted by local authors Cesar Tiempo, Alberto Socol and Oscar Magdalena.

EFA's Plans

As next chore, EFA has ahother foreling currency honeful in the

As next chore, EFA has another foreign currency hopeful in the offing, with plans to make a picture titled "This is the Tango," featuring name tango bands like Juan D'Arlenzo and Anibal Troilo. It's believed here that the theme would go over big with Squthern Hemisphere audiences, apart from boosting sales of tango ryhthms abroad.

Argentina Sono Film is mapping

ing sales of tango ryhthms abroad.
Argentina Sono Film is mapping
big ballyhoo around "Naked Passion" ("La Pasion Desnuda"), which Luis Cesar Amadori has just about finished lensing. As soon as he has completed "Naked Passion," Amadori will start readying "Amepot-statesman, for which Narciso Ibanez Menta has been cast.
Artistas Argentinos Asociados
(AAA) is mapping a grandiose his-

Artistas Argentinos Asociados (AAA) is mapping a grandiose historical production, to be shot next year, starring Fanny Navarro, who was feature of "Deshonra" (Interamericana), biggest grosser of this year. She'll be cast as Lucia Miranda, wife of Sebastian de Huraddo, one of the first colonial settlers of the 15th century and a national heroine. As head of the Eva Peron Film Talent Guild, actress is assured the fattest roles. Portena Films, which was responsible for making the very unsuccessful boxing film, "A Champion is Born" (in which ex-boxer Luis Angel Firpo was interested), is now planning a film version of a popular novel by Cesar Carrizo, called "The Tamer" ("El Domador"), which has the Province of La Rioja as background.

Interamericana-Mapol is starting work on "Urneuticale "Desiration of the property of the Interamericana-Mapol is starting work on "l'Inevitable Monsier Dubols," which Raimond Horvilleur is to produce, with Curt Land directing. Juan Carlos Thorry will be starred with Malvina Pastorino.

IVES SETS RADIO, BOOK DEALS ON AUSSIE TOUR

Melbourne, July 15.
Burl Ives, now in Australia on a concert, tour, is guesting on the Lever Bros. commercial radio show here. He's also closing a deal show here. He's also closing a deal for sale here of his transcribed radio show, "Burl Ives Sings," before leaving for engagements in New Zealand, Saturday (19). Ives is also joining with Father Percy Jones, Australian folk song collector, to author a music-book of Australian folksongs to be published by Southern Music Co.'s Australian branch.

Balladeer concludes a five-months' tour of Great Britain, Australia, New Zealand and Hawaii next month, returning to the U. S. Aug. 20 for a concert at Aspen, Col.

Co-Production Pic Deal

Rome, July 15.

Ilya Lopert, prez of Lopert Films
Distributing Co., Néw York, is in Rome for discussion on possible coproductions here. During Lopert's seven weeks in Europe, he'll also try to make similar setups in France and England, with Julien Duvivier and Sidney Box, respectively.

Lopert and City Investing Co-

and Sidney Box, respectively.
Lopert and City Investing Co.
of New York are teamed for the American half of the pictures.
Italian deal hasn't been set, but there's possibility that the Haggiag Bros. may be the Italo co-producers. Lopert is expected back to Rome in a week, from Montecatini, where he's been vacationing.

FRANCO-BRIT. TV WEEK IN OK BASTILLE FINALE

Paris, July 15.
Franco-British Television Week wound yesterday (14) in a telecast of the military parade down the Champs Elysees commenforating French Bastille Day. The week of London-Paris hookups began July 8 with a telecast from the British Ambassador to England and then gave a panorama of Paris from top of the Elifel Tower. The hookup is done by a series of relays from Paris to London. Distance covers over 900 miles, with first relay going to Lille and then to London over the English Channel.

nel.

Aim of the hookup was to acquaint British video oglers with the French capital and set up a good working cooperation between the BBC and Radio Diffusion Francaise. British and French technicians worked together for generally good results.

cians worked together for generally good results.

Telecasts (mostly exterior) for the week were a trip along the Grand Boulevards, visit to an artist's studio (Gromaire), looksee at the cave spots in St. Germain Depres, visit to the Louvre, trip on the Bateau Mouche along the Seine, a bit of the Grand Tour De France, bleycle race around France, visits to various churches, telecast of the Nouvelle Eve nitery show, with the girls covered to meet British standards, parade on July 14, and a farewell to Paris from Notre Dame cathedral.

Commentary was done in both English and French by Sylvia Peters and Jacqueline Jobert, respectively. Heading the reins for the English contingent was H. Caldwell, with Gilles Margaritis dittoing for the French.

VARIETY

Accent on the Lam
Paris, July 15.
Robert Lamouret, just back from U. S., with his puppet act, ran into Robert Lamoureux,
radio and film comedian, here. radio and him comedian, hete.
Lamoureux expressed concern over the similarity of their names and stated it might lead to confusion. Then he asked Lamouret if that was his real name. Lamouret shook his Lamoureux lit up and brightly asked his real name. An swer was: Robert Lamoureux.

Italo Govt.'s 600G Aid to Legit Units

Rome, July 15.

Just-released figures disclose amount of financial support given by the Italian government to local theatre groups, most of which finished in the red during the past eight-month 1951-52 season. During this period, government aid to the 17 major touring companies, four resident and little theatre groups, two university theatres, and 150 minor outfits, totaled almost $600,000. Approximately one-half of the 3,000-odd performances by the major companies were of Italian plays, while the resident theatres staged 307 Italian and 311 foreign, the minor companies 11,000 Italian and 015,000 foreign performances. The 17 major companies grossed a total of about $1,182,000.

Breakdown of the $600,000 aid

panies grossed a total of about $1,182,000.

Breakdown of the $600,000 aid shows $187,500 to major companies; $37,000 to minor or secondary outfits; $53,000 to the Italian Drama Institute for support of Italian repertories; $42,000 for foreign tours; $30,000 for transportation expenses in the form of rail deductions; $97,000 to resident theatre groups; $73,500 for summer theatre festivals, including the one at Venice; $18,750 for university groups; $24,000 for drama schools; another $30,000 to the Italian Drama Institute, and $1,500 each in prizes to three top actors. Lastnamed this year were Alda Borelli, Tatlana Pavolova, and Alfredo de Sanctis.

Besides those at Venice and Sira-

Besides those at Venice and Sira Besides those at venice and Sira-cusa, six other open-air theatre fes-tivals were organized during the past season, and foreign tours brought Italian companies and rep-ertories to South America, France, Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Malta and Africa.

Five Mex. City Legits Now
Mexico City, July 22.
Teatro del Caballito, intimate legit theatre, bowed Friday (18) with "The Idol," satire of the Mexican pic industry, by Rafael Bernal.
New house makes five legit theatres currently functioning here.

Video No Threat to Dutch Pix Yet: Hollywood Musicals Lead Boxoffice

By CPL. JESSE GROSS
(On Leave from VARIETY)
Amsterdam, July 8.
Except for the advent of television, not yet a year old, show bit in Holland has been maintaining a fairly consistent level of operation during the past few years. As for television, the unreserved reaction here, in all cases, is that it will take a tremendous increase in capital ticlevision, the unreserved reaction here, in all cases, is that it will take a tremendous increase in capital and a lot more time before TV can hold forth as an acceptable medium of relaxation, and as such a threat to other entertainment outlets. Indicative of this attitude is the little concern, if any, being shown by film distribs here over the 10 months of televising that has already transpired.

Major problem confronting video, being a non-commercial enterprise, is the lack of adequate coin. Along with radio, television is to be subsidized by the government via a tax on each set owned. As yet this tax has not been put into effect, but is slated to begin in September of this year, at which time the medium will have been in operation for one year. Tax will be 35 guilders (almost $10) per year for each set owned. At present there are an estimated 4,000 TV sets in use throughout Holland, most of which are located in bars and other public haunts.

Lone television transmitter available, which carries shows primarily

And other public haudis.

Lone television transmitter available, which carries shows primarily to western Holland, is pooled by all four large radio-TV outfits, currently broadcasting in Holland. These brys, though subsidized by the government, are all privately operated and have some religious or political affiliation except AVRO, a neutral outlet. Other three are RKO (Catholic), NCRV (Protestant) and VARA (Socialist). Also broadcasting, but on a small scale, mostly for religious services, is VPRO (Protestant).

TV is confined to bi-weekly showings on Tuesday and Friday evenings. Video operation on those nights runs about two-and-one-half hours. Each station takes over the television reins for one night; hus allowing the individual outfits to put on an average of two phoys near month. TV production. Lone television transmitter avail-over the television reins for one night, thus allowing the individual outfits to put on an average of two shows per month. TV production facilities, for use of all the stations, include a small studio in a converted church and a recently acquired mobile tele unit. Programs offered generally consist of a play, a musical presentation with an orch and vocalist or a lecture with illustrated slides. Actors used are recruited from the legit ranks. No theatrical pix are shown as use of the celluloid product is too costly. However, Multi-Film Co., Dutch non-theatrical pic producing unit, provides newsreels for TV. Polygoon, only Dutch outfit producing newsreels for theatrical distribution has a deal with the film com-

Best received tele shows to date have been those picked up by the mobile unit. Sports events, such as football, swimming and ice skatling draw top response. The mobile unit camera has also brought a live ice revue and circus to television audiences with good results.

According to Siere V. D. Zee, AVRO's video manager, plans are in the making for Belgium to start TVing into Holland. There's also a possibility Zee noted that television may be picked up in Holland from England and it's hoped that this will begin with the crowning of Queen Elizabeth next June. Idea is for coronation program to be relayed from England to France, then to Belgium and from there to Holland. However, due to differences in television setup in some of these countries it's figured a straight relay by picking up the shows off a TV-screen and continuing it on its way via a new circuit.

Also cited by Zee as an additional detriment to the success of television is the poor press reaction being given shows offered. It's claimed by Zee that these bad notices have had a negative effect on the buying public. In addition, fact that TV sets sell at an average price of 900 guilders (around $250) is also keeping available product in the store windows. Incidentally, all the television sets and parts sold in Holland are made by Philips, international concern, headquartered in Holland.

Broadcasting operation, noncommercial and subsidized by the state by means of a one guilder (approximately 95c) per month tax on each radio set owned, functions via the use of two transmitters, located in the town of Hilversum, a short distance from Amsterdam. Airing time for each of the four major stations is limited to three and-one-half days per week as the use of each of the wort transmitters is divided on an equal basis between two stations. Air time needed by the smaller Protestant station is drawn from time allotted the larger operations.

Radio time runs from 7 a. m. through midnite. Each station employs its own orch, while a complete staff of contracted actors i

Last category takes in newscasting and dramatic offerings.

2,00,000 Sets

Included among the approximately 2,000,000 radio receivers in operation in Holland is a system whereby programs are brought into the home via special wires. These wires are conhected to a speaker and pick up shows from England, Germany, Belgium and Holland. Wire setup, besides being operated so as not to be dependent on a transmitter for reception, also serves as a barometer of what the public is listening to in the way of radio entertainent. If amount of power being used by the wire system during a certain period is heavier than usual, then it's obvious that programs being offered at that time are getting strong listenership. However, since the wire setup is able to pick up four difficult to determine exactly just which show is getting the most attention.

Pix Scene impresses as being

Pix Scene
impresses as being okay with Statewide product getting fairly heavy play in Holland.
Profit on pix hitting this county, however, doesn't generally reach high proportions. One advantage, though, is that coin due Statewide companies can be paid in dollars.
Operation of pix business here is
(Continued on page 13)

Legit Shows Abroad

LONDON

(Week ending July 19)

(Week ending July 19)

(Figures indicate opening date)

"Afface of the control of the co

MEXICO CITY

(Veck ending July 12)

'Jane is Giri," Colon.

'Life of Other," Ideal.

'Le Tortuffe," Mollere.

'Wet Backs," Boilvar.

'Edward's Sons," Caracol.

Theedera," Chopin.

. MADRID

(Week ending July 12)

"Devuelveme mi senera," Albeniz,
"Eva ne salle del Feraiso," Alexar.
"Eva ne salle del Feraiso," Alexar.
"Gran July 12)
"Day Night Medrid," Comedia,
"Samson and Lily," Comico,
"Two Milliens for Twe," Fuencaral,
"Imperial Violeties," Lope de Vega,
"Las maletas," Guerrero,
"Las maletas," Guerrero,
"Matrimonia" Reina,
"Fiernas de seda," Zarzucia,

PARIS

PARIS

(Week ending July 26)

"Amant Par Hase," Casine,
"Basu Dimanche," Michalter,
"Chantour de Mexico," Chatelet,
"Comedians Beis," Comedie,
"Comedians Beis," Comedie,
"Duchess D'Algues," Michel,
"Gulliarde ses Carmeilies," Hebertot.
"Gulliarde ses Carmeilies," Hebertot.
"Gulliarde Aventure," Potiniere,
"Gay Paris," Casino de Paris,
"Jesus La Callis," Antoine,
"Jesus La Callis," Antoine,
"Jesus La Callis," Antoine,
"Jesus La Callis," Antoine,
"Marcel," Benhardt,
"Marcel," Benhardt,
"Morcel," Benhardt,
"Oncle Varya," Theatre de Pouche,
"Paris Gaiant," Capucines,
"Paris Gaiant," Capucines,
"Paris Gaiant," Capucines,
"Paris Fault," Montp., Baty,
"Fisien Fau," Empire,
"Fisien Fau," Empire,
"Violettes imperiales," Mogador,
"Violettes imperiales," Mogador,
"Violettes imperiales," Mogador,
"Violettes imperiales," Mogador,
"Violettes COTI AND

SCOTLAND

(Week ending July 26)

ppy Marriage," King's, Giasgow, cup Giri," Alhambra, Glasgow.

Derethy A Son," Lyceum; Edinburgh.
'Half-Past Right," Royal, Glasgow, and King's, Edinburgh.
Glasgow. "Hair-rasi King's, Edinburgh. "The Legans," Metropole, Glasgow. "Mergan Shew," Pavillon, Glasgow.

AUSTRALIA

AUSTRALIA

(Week ending June 13)

"To Derethy!" Royal, Sydney,

"KWis!" Empire, Sydney,

"Arms & The Man," Mercury, Sydney,

"Sasyulis Over Serrents" Comedy, Mel.

"Tourist Trade," Royal, Adelaide,

"See Hew Run," Mai, Brishane.

"Temmy Trinder Show," Tivoli, Mel.

"Larger Than Life," Princess, Mel.

"Gasiles," Empire, Sydney,

"Annie Get Gun," Mai, Mcib.

IRELAND

"RELAND"

"Week ending July 19)

"Rrigadeon," Opera House, Belfast,
"Folias Francise," Empire, Belfast,
"My Wife's Family," Opera House, Cork,
"King Friday's Meni," Abbey, Dublin,
"King's Rhapsedy," Galety, Dublin,
"King's Rhapsedy," Galety, Dublin,
"Three Sisters," Gate, Dublin,

BUENOS AIRES

(Week ending June 12)
"Mi Suegra," Apolo. "Mi Suegra," Apolo. "Las lagrimas fambien," Ateneo. "De Espana Liega," Argentino. "Cuando los Duendos," Astral. 'La Verbena." Avenida. "Streetar Named Desire," Casino.
"Flarence est Felle," Cervantes.
"Mayor de Melina," Comedia.
"La Lampara Encendida," Comico.
"El Diable en di Telesteno," Corrientes.
"Los Chices Gracen," Licco.
"Los Chices Gracen," Licco.
"Los Chices Gracen," Licco.
"Sapa Nicola," Marconi.
"Sapa Nicola," Marconi.
"Sapa Nicola," Marconi.
"Sapa Nicola," Marconi.
"Tierra del Destino," Fueblo.
"Cios del Alrey," Empire.
"Calos del Alrey," Empire.
"Ladorocide," Spiendid.
"Medea," Nicvo.
"Wendaval," San Martin.
"Wendaval," San Martin.
"Wendaval," Antigone," Van Riel.
"Caprices," Antigone," Van Riel.
"Cles Lienes de Amer," Vers.
"Le Verdad Eres Tu," Pat. Streetcar Named Desire," Casino

TOURING BRITAIN

(Week ending July 19)

'Blue For Bey," Hipp, Golder's Green.
'Brigadeen," Opera House, Belfast,
'Careusel," Pavilion, Bournemouth.
'Cesh Bey," Hipp., Salford,
'Feurpester,' King's, Southsea.
'Gay's the Werd," New, Oxford. "Gay's the Werd," New, Oxford.
"Geodnight, Viennas" Royal, Newcastle.
"Mellew," Prince of Wales, Cardiff.
"King's Rhapsedy," Empire, Shoffield.
"Kiss Me, Kate," Court, Liverpool.
"Ladies Night," Regent, Rotherham.
"Lilac Time," Royal, Bath.
"Merry Widow," Hipp., Coventry.
"My Wife's Ledger," New, Northamph.

"My Wife's Leeger," New, Novementon, von Asserting Palace Pier, Brighton, "New Asserting Palace Pier, Brighton, "No, Namelle," Alhambra, Bradford, "Oklahema," New, Cardin, Manchester, "Stylish Marriage," Empire, Sunderland, "White Sheep of Family," Opera House, Cheltenham, "Werm's Eye View," Grand, Leeds,

Go-Slow Sign on Brit. Pix Production Cued By Worry on Eady Fund Status

London, July 22.

London, July 22.

The uncertainty prevalling over future of the Eady Fund which, as presently constituted, is scheduled to expire in August, 1954, Is likely to lead to a go-slow in British production by next spring, unless its continuance is agreed within the next few months. Indie film-makers who have succeeded in continuing in business as a result of this boxofice levy, can see no future in British production without the aid of this government subsidy.

A number of more prominent independent producers have warned the industry that they cannot plan beyond next March, unless the Eady scheme is extended on a plan beyond next March, thress the Eady scheme is extended on a more permanent, definite basis. Subjects which are available for lensing in British studios will be put in cold storage and will remain there until the position is less ob-put in cold storage and will reliable there until the position is less obscure.

This attitude of the indies follows the warning made earlier in the month by Reginald P. Baker in his presidential address at the British Film Producers Assn. annual meeting, in which he declared that production would wither if the fund was not prolonged. He opined that this would lead to a very substantial drop in British production after next March, which would not be in the interests of the industry as a whole.

Ending of the Eady levy will not only make it more difficult for producers to recoup the investment in production, but will once again tighten up finance to the studios. Banks and other investors have been freer with their money since the realization that the Eady levy added 50% to the distributors gross, thus enabling a red entry to be converted into the black column.

The possibility, remote though it

The possibility, remote though it may be, that the subsidy may come to an end in 1954, is already causto an end in 1954, is already causing some anxiety to producers whose current productions are solved in the latter part of next year. These films will, of course, qualify for the Eady subsidy until the following August, but they will not have exhausted their boxoffice potential and will suffer a substantial loss of additional revenue.

It's not only the indic British tional revenue.

It's not only the indie British film-makers who will be affected, but also the majors and the American companies operating in Britiain as the Eady Fund is distributed among all pictures qualifying for quota. Companies like Metro, with a big production schedule ahead, may face a substantial loss of extra revenue.

Withdrawal of the Eady levy would also make Britain, a less attractive location for Yank-sponsored films, and a number of pictures which might be diverted to local studios could readily be witched to other film-making cen tures which might be local studios could readily be switched to other film-making centres in Europe, where there would be other advantages to counter the loss of Eady revenue.

REGULAR GERMAN TELE POSTPONED TILL XMAS

Interconnecting facilities between cities of Hamburg and Cologne will not be ready in time, so start of regular TV programming for Germany has been postponed. It's now scheduled for Xmas, Dr. Werner Pleister, TV director of Northwest German Radio, said.

nadio, said.

Probably due to the delay of the official TV start, the German Radio and Television. Exhibition, scheduled for Aug. 22, has also been put off until further notice. Original plan was to start both exhibition and regular TV program together.

Petersons Prep Vaude Tour, BBC Radio Series

London, July 22.

London, July 22.

Wally Peterson, who last week quit the east of "South Pacific," in which he had been playing the Professor, starts a vaude tour on the Moss Empire Circuit next Monday (28), with Southport as his opening engagement, to be followed by dates at Glasgow and Birmingham. His wife, Joy Nichols, will be the headliner in these programs, but Peterson will be doing a solo act.

Next Tuesday (29), the BBC will try out the first of a new radio series featuring the Petersons under the title "Mr. & Mrs. Music." This has been scripted by Denis Norden and Frank Muir, and if the initial program clicks, it will become a regular feature of the BBC. Miss Nichols is negotiating a Palladium date for later in the season, and is likely to be featured latter part of August or early September.

Boff Biz For Lisbon Niteries

Lisbon, July 15.

Seasonal increase in number of provincial and foreign visitors has meant boff biz for the half-dozen Lisbon niteries still open. El Principe Negro and Tagide closed down until September and transferred their orchestras to open-air places in beach towns. But the Arcadia has a hit with Cuban songstress Carlisse Novo and a new line of Spanish dancers and singers. At the Cristal, the novelty of the mo-ment is Sandra Donati, a good-looking young Italian girl, well-dressed and with powerful pipes.

dressed and with powerful pipes.
Italian orch of Rino Castagna, featuring American warbler Johnny Miller, is at the Maxime, where a strong bill is headed by Pallares Pillar, and a Spanish song and dance team. There's also the house orch of Jose Mesquita, with singer Manuel Serrano.

Bestaurant of the Estoril Casino

Restaurant of the Estoril Casino and its niteries, Yacht Club and Wonder Bar, have a joint program; the five orchestras and artists alternating in the three spots from 8 p.m. to 4 a.m. Various Portuguese acts appear each night and are frequently changed, while the foreign contingent is headed by French songstress Savy Solidors, Mexican singer Ana Maria Gonzales, and Spanish orchestra of Mario Rossi, all under a month contract. Restaurant of the Estoril Casino Eduardo Magalhaes, director of Eduardo Magalhaes, director of A.P.A. agency, has booked the orchestra of George Johnson, featuring Canadian songstress Charley Gray, for three months, to appear in its sponsored radio shows, and at the Palm Beach nitery in Cascais and at the Casino of Espinho, Also booked for the summer are American singer Carry Land; Brazilian comedian Broni, Spanish, singer Vicente Lopes, to appear at the Nina nitery here, and Spanish song and dance act of Nati Mistral and Juanita Cuenca.

Ask Brit. Board of Trade To Nix Dubbed Foreign Pix

London, July 22.

London, July 22.

Board of Trade is being asked to refuse the import of continental pix which are dubbed in their country of origin, and are imported into Britain with English dialog. Protest has been made by the Assn. of Cine Technicians.

To Preem at Edinburgh Edinburgh Edinburgh, July 15.

Cathleen Nesbitt, Heather Stannard and Tony Britton are pacted for Christopher Hassall's historical play. "The Player King," set for world preem at the International Drama Festival here Aug. 25.

Paul Scofield and Pamela Brown head the cast of Charles Morgan's play. The River," also set for its world preem at the Lyceum, Edinburgh, Aug. 18.

Mex Teatro Iris Open After 2-Week Shutdown

Mexico City, July 22.

Teatro Iris, vauder-evue theatre, reopened Friday (18) after a two-week shutdown, with an extravaganza, "The Empire of Farce," and vaude featuring Bela Kremo, European juggler: Dynamite Jefferson, Negro comedienne; Molin-Rubi (2), eccentric dancers; Andre & Delphine, ballroom dancers, and Brani, Valenti & Pioldi, Italian comics.

Esperanza Iris, vet comedlenne after whom house is named, presented a comedy skit opening night, her first stage appearance arter whom house is named, presented a comedy skit opening night, her first stage appearance in years. Good biz at $1,15 top. Iris was dark for two weeks after $11,500 flop of show that Paco Sierra, Esperanza Iris' husband, impresented. impresarioed.

Japan's Show Biz Tax For Year Hits $97,500,000; Films' Share Biggest

Tokyo, July 15.

Japanese film fans kicked in the largest portion of the 35,000,000,000 yen ($97,500,000) entertain

Japanese film fans kicked in the largest portion of the 35,000,000,000 yen ($97,500,000) entertainment and amusement tax collected by the government during the 1951 half of the '51-52 fiscal year. Taxes on admissions to amusement places, including 167,370,000 tickets to motion picture houses, amounted to 20,000,000,000 yen ($55,000,000). Since these tax rates run from 40% to 100%, a local finance committee survey dug out its abacus and calculated that the Japanese spent more than 100,000,000,000 yen ($277,000,000) in search of pleasure, proportionately as much of their earnings as Americans and Britishers spend on the same things.

In addition to the millions of pasteboards sold at film houses, turnstiles clicked astronomically at other amusement centers: bleycle races, 6,780,000; horse races, 3,780,000; dance, halls, 2,790,000; amusement parks, 3,070,000; mahjong parlors 2,120,000. Admission tax to these entertainments is tops, 100%. Figures for pinball punchers, latest Nipponese craze, are difficult to obtain, buit it's said that there is one pin-ball machine for every 90 Japanese.

Remainder of 33,000,000,000 yen tax take came from the country's 100,000 eating and drinking establishments, which include 25,000 restaurants, 33,000 inns, 5,000 cafes, 20,000 tea rooms, 2,000 bars and some 15,000 miscellaneous drinking stands and the like.

and some 15,000 miscellaneous drinking stands and the like.

VALLI, COTTEN TO TEAM AGAIN IN ITALO FILM

Rome, July 15.

Italian star Alida Valli has been signed to play the leading femme role in a pic for Lux Films and Film Costellazione. Producers are Film Costellazione. Producers are also inking contract with Joseph Cotten for the film, which will be made in Paris in September.

Pic, entitled, "Angeli de Marciapiede" ("Sidewalk Angels"), will also have Erich Von Stroheim in a lead role.

Strong U. S. Flavor To North of England Stage

Manchester, Eng., July 15. There's a strong U. S. flavor about stage shows here this week Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne opened tonight (15) at the Opera House in the world preem of Noel Coward's comedy, "Quadrille," Coward's comedy, "Quadrille," with the author present. Piece is set in England and France of 1873, with decor by Cecil Beaton.

Laurel & Hardy are topping vaude at the Palace Theatre. Stan Laurel has a strong local interest, having been born at nearby Ulverston, Lancashire, and still retains his British nationality. At the Hippodrome, Jane Morgan is making her British debut in variety, American invasion is being completed Thursday night (17) when Danny Kaye entertains at the Winter Gardens Empress Ballroom in Blackpool. seaside resort for this area. Jack Benny has trained north to play a week's vaude in Glasgow.

Other Foreign News On Page 13

Weather Aiding London Film Biz; 'Carrie' Solid $7,800 First Week, 'Ivanhoe' Sock $16,000 in Fourth

Irish Show Biz Hypoed By U. S. Fleet Unit Visits

Dublin, July 22.

Dublin, July 22.

Visits of U. S. fleet units to Irish ports have hypoed entertainment biz above the midsummer norm, despite shortage of coin among English tourists who come here from rationed Britain to enjoy unrationed steaks.

Battle-cruiser U.S.S. Macon, with cruiser Des Moines and attendant destroyers, were in Bangor Bay recently. During week's stay local terperies reported record biz. Aircraft carrier U.S.S. Saipan with destroyer fotilla has just concluded a Dublin visit, Here again terpery biz was upped, but legit houses, particularly the Abbye, garnered coin from culture-conscious crewmen. Bistros, whose receipts have so far been down this season, following tax increases, also found the goodwill visits paying off.

Paris Legits Fold

Paris, July 22.

Greater part of Paris legit houses, except those with some appeal for the tourist, usually shutter from late July to September. Twenty-seven theatres have already closed down, among them being the Athenee, Charles- De-Rochefort, Daunou, Fontaine, Gramont, Gymnase, La Bruyere, Madeleine, Mathurins, Noctambules, Monceau, Oeuvre, Studio De Champs-Elysees, Verlaine, St. Georges, Varletes, Vieux-Colombier, Gaite-Lyrique, Bouffes-Parisiens and the Europeen.

Closing soon is the Ambassadeurs, to open in September with a new Henri Bernstein play. The Atelier will close its hit Marcel Ayme play, "The Head of Others," and reopen in September with the same play and cast. Comedie-Wagram will close this month untif-Aug. 20, when it reopens with the same occupant, the long-run "The Gift of Ardele." The Edouard-VII will reopen Sept. 25 with its same-moneymaker, "Dear Shadow," the Jacques Deval comedy hit, Nouveautes comes back Aug. 23 with the Andre Roussin hit, with Gaby Morlay, "When the Child Appears.' Renaissance will reopen Sept. 25 with a revival of Moliere's "The Doctor In Spite of Himself," with Jany Holt and Robert Muzeau.

Others reopening in September

zeau.

Others reopening in September with same plays as July are the Comedie Des Champs Elysees, with the Jean Anouilh play, "The Waltz of The Toreadors," Michodiere, with the Jean-Pierre Aumont play, "A lovely Sunday," sfarring Francois Perier and Marle Daems; the Potiniere, with "The Congress of Clermont Feyrand;" and the Theatre Des Champs Elysees, which will house the Marquis De Cuevas Ballet.

Ballet.

Four theatres will be open for the summer — the Grand Guignol, with its short plays of terror and mayhem; Theatre De La Porte Martin, with a repertoire group under Jean Herve presenting Racine and Mollere; Hebertot, with the successful Bernauos play, "The Diologs of Carmelites;" and the Theatre Michael, with the comedy of the professor who found a mermaid, "The Seaweed Duchess," with Gaby Sylvia as the mermaid.

'Vadis' British 'Vacation'

"Vadis' British 'Vacation' London, July 22.

"Quo Vadis," which has been running for more than six months at the Ritz, is being rested until end of September. It was pulled from the program last Sunday. (20) and was replaced by "tvanhoe," which has just completed five weeks at the adjacent Empire.

Metro-British spectacle will continue until Sept. 29, when "Quo Vadis" will return for an indefinite run.

nite run.

Break in the weather at the weekend gave first-run theatres a much-needed boxoffice boost, although several newcomers made much-needed boxoffice boost, although several newcomers made disappointing starts. Most important grosser of the last stanza was M-G's "Ivanhoe," which reached almost $16,000 in its fourth Empire week, while at the adjacent but much smaller Ritz, their "Que Vadis" clicked to a resounding $4,600 in its 24th round.

Among the new West End éntries, Paramount set the pace with a solid $7,800 for the opening week of "Carrie" at the Carlton, but two British offerings made a dismal beginning. "Castie in the Air" fell below $900 in its first three days at the Plaza, while "Something Money Can't Buy" did around $2,500 in four days at the Odeon, Marble Arch.

Estimates for Last Week

Cartion (Par) (1128; 70-$2.15)—
"Carrie" (Par) (1st wk). Opened to mixed critical appraisal and finished this round with steady $7,800. Stays on.

Legits Fold

Empire (M-G) (3099; 55-$1.70)—
"Ivanhoe" (5th wk). Finished fourth frame with resounding stopological frame with resounding its fifth weekend. Completes this round and is followed by "Gift Horse" (B-L) (17).

Paris, July 22.

"Stays on.

Empire (M-G) (3099; 55-$1.70)—
"Ivanhoe" (5th wk). Finished from the resounding stopological framework. Framework (5th No. 1) (500; 50-$1.70)

Gaumont (GMA) (1500; 50-$1.70) (94

"Untamed Frontier" (GFD) (2d wk). Netted steady $2,500 for second weekend after moderate $4,200 opening week. Completes current stanza, to be followed by "You're Only Young Twice" (ABFD) (17).

stanza, to be followed by "You're Only Young Twice" (ABFD) (17).

Leicester Square Theatre (CMA) (1733; 50-$1.70)..."Scarlet Angel" (GFD) (3rd wR). Grossed silightly over $2,000 third weekend after modest $3,000 in second round. "Penny Princess" (GFD) in on 17th.

London Pavillon (UA) (1217; 50-$1.70)..."Thief of Damascus" (Col) (1st wk). Opened to average biz, with around $3,300 first weekend; "Col) beginning Friday (18).

Odeon, Leicester Square (CMA) (2200; 50-$1.70)..."The Importance of Being Earnest" (GFD) (3d wk). Holding firmly with more than $3,000 for third weekend. "We're Not Married" (20th) in on 17th.

Odeon, Marbie Arch (CMA) (2200 50-$1.70)... "Something Money Can't Buy" (GFD) (1st wk). Proving only a mild attraction with around $2,500 in first four days ing only a mild attraction with around $2,500 in first four days.

around $2,500 in first four days. Continues.

Plaza (Par) (1902; 70-$1.70)—
"Castle in the Air" (AB-Pathe) (1st wk). Critics unainmously knocked this; very poor first weekend take of around $900-for three days. Finishes the week, to be followed by "The Sound Barrier" (B-L) (18).

Ritx (M-G) (432; 90-$2.15)—"Quo Vadis" (M-G-M) (24th wk). Con-tinues as a solid grosser with ex-cellent $4,600 this frame. Stays

Warner (WB) (1735; 50-$1.70)—
"I'll See You in My Dreams" (WB)
(2d wk). Steady $4.100 in second weekend (three days) after average $8,000 for first week. "Where's
Charley?" set as next attraction.

PISCATOR SETS TOLSTOY 'WAR & PEACE' IN PARIS

WAR & PEACE' IN PARIS

Parls, July 15.

Erwin Piscator, pre-Hitler German legit director, has arranged a deal with Jean Vilar, director of the government-angeled Theatre National Populaire, to stage a dramatization of Tolstoy's novel, "War and Peace," here early in '53.

Piscator has been operating in Hamburg for the past year, after returning from N. Y. Recently Piscator staged a new play by Austrian playwright Fritz Hochwalder, "Virginia," in Hamburg. Hochwalder's "On Earth as it is in Heaven' is a click at the Athenee here.

Adaptation of "War and Peace" made by Piscator and German novelist Alfred Neumann was presented on minor scale at Piscator's New School in N. Y. Vilar-Piscator production will call for a big cast and production. Vilar and Gerard Philippe, legit-pic favorite, will star.

BIGGEST OPENING DAY OF
THE
YEAR —
GLOBE, N.Y.!

RICHARD WIDMARK
MARILYN MONROE
DON'T BOTHER TO KNOCK

Produced by Directed by Greener Pay H.

JULIAN BLAUSTEIN . ROY BAKER . DANIEL TARADASH

PRESS-TIME FLASH: SENSATIONAL OPENING, HOLLYWOOD THEATRE, ATLANTIC CITY:

Only 20th Century-Fox delivers "THE GENUINE ARTICLE!"

TV Coverage of Dems

subject to the jurisdiction of the Nederlandse Bloscopebond, association of all Netherland filmites. Membership in this org consists and about 35 distribs, which gives the former group somewhat of an upper hand. However, in an effort to give the distribs a more equal balance, two seats of the nine-man Managing Board of the association have been allotted to the distributors. Another four are occupied Another four are occupied exhibitors and remaining tors. Another four are occupied by she exhibitors and remaining one is held by a prexy.

Each of the major U. S. film companies distributes on the average of 30 films yearly in Holland, which are shown during the 40 weeks of playing time allocated to American output. This 40 weeks is the maximum time given to the screening of Stateside product with the remaining 12 weeks set aside for the showing of other imported pix. Holland, without a theatrical film-producing company of its own, imports, it's understood, about 500 pictures yearly from all shores. Reason advanced for lack of native film production is belief that average of the shore of the source of film production is belief that aver gross taken in by pic, playing approximately 400 houses in country, could never make up the cost of a celluloid presen-

Pix shown in this country are usually subject to dual censorship, that of the Government and that of the Catholic Church. Top American product shown here recently has been "Streetcar Named Desire". has been "Streetcar Named Desire" and "Room For One More."
"American in Paris" did good biz,
but a rash of Hollywood musicals has cut into the b.o. take of that type film. However, Doris Day rates as a number one draw. Genrates as a number one draw. German films are grabbing payees, due largely to the fact that the language is understood by a sizable proportion of Hollanders. English, for that matter, is also widely understood, especially in the big cities, as it's believed to be among the compulsory subjects taught in school.

school.

There are a few art houses scattered throughout the larger cities. In Amsterdam a novel setup is the Kriterion Theatre, operated by Piet Meerburg and Paul Kyzer. House, except for managers and chief projectionist, employs only students studying at the two universities in this city. Flickery was opened a number of years ago so as to afford students a means of employment to help finance their way through school. In addition to the arteries there's also a Film League in Amsterdam which shows eague in Amsterdam which shows x on the order of New York City's Modern Museum.

Of the more than 30 theatres in Of the more than 30 theatres: in houses. Almost half of the total number of theatres in this city show American product with English dialog and Dutch titles. The Tuschinski, a 1,450-seater, is rated as city's classiest house, with the 1,600-seat City Theatre running a close second. City also has a newsreel hose, the Cineac.

American Tunes in 2d Place

American Tunes in 2d Place

Music-wise, Holland leans strongly toward American tunes, though Dutch pop rhythm rate the top-selling notch, according to disk jockey Pete Felleman, Jr. Broad-casting over VARA, Felleman is currasting over VARA, Felleman is currently country's only record spinner whose show is patterned along American lines. Felleman, who's oeen spinning disks for the past ive years places the Brill Building output in the second best selling upot, closely heeling the ace position attained by the native pops.

ion attained by the native pops.

Top selling American recording artists in this country are Doris Day and Guy Mitchell. Frankie Laine soared to a high level with his etching of "Jezebel," while rick disks in the Patti Page, folmnie Ray and Les Paul and Mary Ford groove also draw an nflux of buyers. Hillbilly sheet music is used to some extent. to some cts. Latin-American music still as a large following, but has been in the wane since 1950. Hawaiian in tas the some popularity. In the progressive vein Stan Keaton disks to high with the "cool" set, in the standard of the go over big with the "cool" set, while Sidney Bechet's waxings rate as top sellers in the jazz market.

Capitol and Columbia silcings. not. included in the latter category. A healthy proportion of the Stateside disks sold here are released with English lyrics. However, more popular numbers usually get a Dutch translation. A noticeable list of tunes put out by American indie companies are released here under the French label, Blue Star. Disks hitting the 1,000 sales mark are considered good sellers, while everything over 15,000 is rated as sock.

Band business in Holland is somewhat similar to the States. A minimum of spots capable of supporting a big band make apything over a sixman combo a poor investment. Only possible way for a large musical group to thrive is via a radio contract. Disks put out by Ralph Flanagan, Ray Anthony and other American dance crews don't have too large a following, due largely, Felleman feels, to the lack of the diskeries.

Of the bands currently playing in Holland a good number are con-fined to cabaret dates where a sexfined to cabaret dates where a sextet is sufficient to answer the terp demands of the customers. In Amsterdam there are a number of these cabarets which are excluded from the night club label due to their early, 1 a.m., closing hour. Foremost among these spots are the Extase and Hollywood, both of which tee off operations at 3 p.m. In addition to a dance orch, shows usually consisting of three acts, singer, dancer and comic, are generally offered at these situations.

generally offered at these situations.

Except for three or four locations, Amsterdam pulls in its sidewalks at 1 a.m. The few places permitted to operate past the 1 a.m. deadline rate the nitery tag. These clubs, which include the Femina (44 Club) and the Casino, usually open at 10 p.m., and shutter at 4 a.m. There are some other early morning operations but these fall into the category of private clubs. Town is loaded with bars, a few featuring live musicians while most rely on coin machines for their tunes. For the Bohemian element locally there's De Kreinj, while La Cupola serves as a hangout for the intellectual set. City also sports a Cotton Club and Quartier Latin. Latter advertises an international program.

Legit setup here, except for two companies, is subsidized by the government and in some cases by the municipality. There are four government and in some cases by the municipality. There are four companies currently being sup-ported by the taxpayers. Amster-dam has one group, while Rotter-dam and The Hague each have one. The fourth is solely a touring unit. The fourth is solely a touring unit. All companies, though, take to the road at various intervals. Usual procedure is for each company to split up its personnel so as to play two different dates simultaneously. However, the same show isn't necessarily performed at the different theatres being played. Actors needed for the various companies are contracted for a year and thus are guaranteed a pay check despite the possible presentation of a turkey.

pay check despite the possible presentation of a turkey.
Approximately 12 plays are offered during the year by each company. Recent American works produced here included "The Moon Is Blue," "Death of a Salesman" and "Streetcar Named Desjre." Practically all of Tennessee Williams' under; kings have been presented here except "The Rose Tatoo." Musicals, other than operas. aren't done in Holland due Tatoo." Musicals, other than operas, aren't done in Holland due to excessive coin needed and, in the opinion of one Amsterdam legit critic, the lack'of artists capable of performing in that vein. Plays most done here, it's understood, are of American and French origin

A so top sellers in the jazz market. to 35c.). Seating capacity at most Price on 10-inch standard platters houses ranges from 800 to 900 runs 4:30 Guilders (over $1). Long seats. During year's employment playing disks are still comparative-ly new and costly. A Decca 10-inch LP sells for 15 Guilders (al-variety of roles.

Cooler Than Popcorn

Cooler Than Popcorn

London, July 22.

British exhibs, who for a long time have been envious of the popcorn revenue earned by their American counterparts, have recently been making a big pitch to boost icecream sales in theatres. Among the majors as well as indies this is becoming a valuable sideline, and during the lean sumer season icecream sales have occasionally brought in more than net b.o. receipts.

The inroads on icecream sales made by exhibs are now causing concern among the National Union of Small Shopkeepers, who are accusing local theatre operators of artificially induced sales by turning up the heat and overlooking ing up the heat and overlooking cooling fans. In its official organ. the Shopkeepers' Union claims that huge profits are being made is cinema icecream sales.

Arg. Pix B.O. Off In Gen'l Slump

Buenos Aires, July 15. Local film industry's determina-tion to grab off the best of the sea-son's playing time means that this week no less than eight out of 28 first-run centrally located theatres in Buenos Aires are featuring Ar-gentine productions. "La Bestia Techo Wagtiv" ("The Beate Must in Buenos Aires are featuring Argentine productions. "La Bestia Debe Morir" ("The Beast Must Die") (Argentina Sono Film) has held for seven weeks at the Monumental, and "Deshonra" ("Dishonour") (Interamericana) held for nonour") (Interamericana) held for six weeks at the Gran Rex. Two other films, "Como Yo No Hay Dos" ("No Other Like Me") (Interamericana) and "La Parda Flora" ("Dusky Flora") (Libertador) were released this week. The latter teed off day-and-date at the Normandie, Propoler and Peace an executable.

off day-and-date at the Normandie, Premier and Roca, an unusual arrangement for a local production. Comparison between film grosses this time last year and those of the past few weeks shows that film business is also affected by the financial depression which has hit this country since last summer's drought accentuated effects of the government's economic policies. Even though admission scales were liked late in May, grosses are hiked late in May, grosses are Even though admission scales were hiked late in May, grosses are lower than they were, which means that the number of spectators has dropped. Last year's top grosses were $184,690 for a 12-week holdover of "Red Shoes," $151,000 for a like period of "Los Isleros" (San Miguel) and $125,690 for 17 weeks of "Domani e Troppo Tardi" (Italsud). No comparable figure has been recorded this year. "Cinderella" (RKO), with 22 weeks at the Radar, grossed $102,695, and the locally-made "Deshonra" (Interamericana) is reputed to have grossed, $50,720. "Joan of Arc" (RKO) has probably beaten the "Deshonra" figure, with around $64,700 for the same number of weeks.

weeks.

It's true that July last year.
Argentina was still without any film material less than three years old, and distributors were down to reand distributors were down to reviving oldies, some of which grossed better than they had years before. This year there is plenty of Hollywood material, but the pix released to date don't seem to carry the same punch as before. "Joan of Arc" and "Cyrano de Bergerac" are among the first really important releases, and there are many more bestsellers like "All About Eve," "Adam's Rib" and "Father's Little Dividend" which are awaiting playing time, and should be sock boxoffice.

ABFD to Distrib Pix Of Children's Film Fdn.

London, July 15.
Pictures made by the Children's Film Foundation, the company which is financed out of Eady fund which is financed out of Eady fund revenue, are to be released through Associated British Film Distributors. This is revealed in the first annual report of the Foundation. To insure widest possible showing, the Foundation is asking the CEA to waive the normal exhibitor bars, and the product is to be made available to all theatres, whether indie or circuit controlled.

First two features have been controlled.

First two features have been completed but release is being delayed until the fall. From then on, it is hoped to maintain a regular release every two or three months. Taste for juve programs is analyzed in the report.

13 Countries in Czech Pic Fete; 20th's 'Viva Zapata' Lone U. S. Entry

Show Biz Carries On In Newspaper-Less Dublin Dublin, July 15.

Dublin's week-old newspaper and printing strike has deprived Irish show biz of ballyhoo outlet, but biz continues at a good level.

Irish Odeon ran off a brochure, "for Your Entertainment," scheduling attractions at all its city and nabe houses, through one of the few non-striking printers. All printers handling posters, however. rew non-straing printers. All printers handling posters, however, were shuttered. Film distrib's posters were in considerable demand, but local offices here only carry small stocks, since normal demand is low.

If strike continues into next If strike continues into next month, theatres which normally ar-range advance booking will be in difficulties, as their stocks of tick-ets only run to early days of Au-gust. One show likely to be hit this way is. Variety Tent 41's splurge for opening of Par's "The Greatest Show on Earth."

Ouota Defaulters Due For Parliament Quiz: M-G First-Run Target

London, July 22.

Hassle between a group of oppoHassle between a group of oppopresident over refusal of the government to prosecute the Empire, Leicester Square (M-G's main first-run theatre) for quota default, Letter the service of the ser first-run theatre) for quota detaut, will be continued in a full-dress debate in the House of Commons Thursday night (24). Debate will take place on the motion for-adjournment, and will not begin until the normal day's business is concluded some time after 10 p.m.

be Stephen Swingler and Woodrow Wyatt, both of whom have been pressing for strong government action against quota defaulters during past months. It was as a result of what they regarded as unsatisfactory replies received to their last questions some three weeks ago, that they are staging this full-dress debate. Peter Thorneycroft, Board of agosthat they are staging this full-dress debate.

Peter Thorneycroft, Board of Trade prexy, has throughout the Parliamentary quizzings stood loyal to decisions of the Films Council, and has so far intimated that he has accepted all their main recommendations. Rumpus. in regard to the Empire resulted largely from the fact that Sam Eckman, Jr., MG chief in this country, was also a member of the Film Council which recommended that the Empire shouldn't be prosecuted for its failure to attain the quota.

It's expected that the Commons debate will deal with quota defaults on a broad front and will not concentrate solely on the Empire case. There will be particular criticism levelled against other members of the Films Council who are associated with defaulting theatres.

ATKIN, CASSON TEAM TO STAGE AUSSIE PACIFIC

Sydney, July 15.
Atkin, general stage or N. Y.'s "South Pacifmanager for N. Y.'s "South Pacific," planes in here early August to direct a production of "South Pacific" in association with J. C. Williamson producer John Casson. "S.P." is skedded to preem at His Majesty's, Melbourne, Sept. 13, under the Williamson banner. Cast Jeads include Leonard Stone, David Welsh, Richard Collette, Mary La Roche and Virginia Paris.

Anglo-Amalg., Nassour Deal for Six Pictures

London, July 22.
A deal for six co-production films between Anglo-Amalgamated Film Distributors and William Nassour Pictures is to tee off with the lensing of "Street of Shadows," star-

Prague, July 22.
Thirteen countries are participating in Czechoslovakia's Seventh International Film Festival which got underway at Karlovy Vary (Cawlsbad) July 12 and is scheduled to wind up Aug. 3. Of the 13 nations, eight are non-Communist. Festival is operated under the slogan, "For Peace, For a New Man, For a Better Mankind." But in contrast to this theme is a full-length North Korean documentary, titled "Bacteriological Barbarians." U. S. has a Jone entry, that of

U. S. has a Jone entry, that of 20th-Fox: "Viva Zapatai" Britain is represented by "Where No Vultures Fly" (GFD), while France submitted three pix. They're "Auberge Rouge," "Monsieur Fabre" and "La Nuit Est Mon Royaume," Italy contribbed "Achtung, Banditi" and "Roma, Il Ore." Iron Curtain entries include three Soviet features, six full-length documentaries and three cartoons:

length documentaries and three documentaries and three cartoons; three features and two documentaries from China, two Hungarian features and a documentary, one North Korean feature plus two documentaries, and three features from East Germany.

East German trio of pix, inclentally, are rated by observers as "typical anti-American" stories.

"Das Verurteilte Dorf" ("The Condemned Village") soins a tale of a demned Village" spins a tale of a German village doomed to destruction, to make room for an American air base, and the steadfast resistance of villagers to the project,

"Frauenschicksale" ("Women's "Frauenschicksale" ("Women's Lives") is a color film comparing the position of femmes in western and eastern Germany. Third picture, "Schatten Uber Den Inseln" ("Shadows Over the Isles") is a protest against the Danish government for allegedly preventing a doctor from fighting a dangerous epidemic.

epidemic.
Festival committee, in commenting upon the absence of a Venezuelan entry, charged that "the film artists of Venezuela were prevented from entering their contributions to this year's festival by action of the Venezuelan government,"

93 U.S. FILMS RELEASED 1ST HALF YEAR IN JAPAN

Tokyo, July 15.

During the first half of 1952, a total of 258 films were released in Japan, of which 112 were foreign, 146 Japanese.

American-made totaled 93, with Metro leading with 13.

Of the Japanese films, 128 were new, and 22 were produced by indies, such as Takarazuka, Shinei and Sogei, showing a marked advance among independent producers.

Schreiber Lining Up Next 20th Film in England

Louis Film in England
London, July 15.
Lew Schreiber, exec assistant to Darryl Zanuck at 20th-Fox, prior to returning to the U. S. This week set production of the company's next British feature. It will be filmed partly on location in the Mediterranean and completed in a local studio. It will be the first British film to be made by the company since it completed
"House on the Square," starring Tyrone Power and Ann Blyth, last year.

year.
Production, titled "Single Handed," will probable begin lensing in September. Michael Rennie and Jeffrey Hunter are mentioned for the leads. No director has yet been inked.
It's considered unlikely that this production will mark the reopening of Denham Studios, which have been used by 20th-Fox for previous British productions. Studios are expected to remain dark.

'TALES' TOPS EIRE '51 PIX

Dublin, July 15.
Irish Film Society popularity poll on films shown in Ireland last year found "Tales of Hoffmann" at top

ing of "Street of Shadows," star-ring Cesar Romero and Kay Ken-dall.

Films will be made at Merton Park Studios, with whom Anglo-Amalgamated concluded a deal earlier in the year.

I cound "Tales of Hoffmann" at top of the list.

"A Place in the Sun," "American in Paris," "Lavender Hill Mob,"
"Man in the White Suit" and residue of Chaplin's "City Lights"

BECAUSE:

For the 4th year in a row M-G-M wins the Laurel Award of Exhibitor Magazine, voted "The Company that gives you the fairest treatment."

BECAUSE:

In 92 Theatre-Trade-Shows-with-audiences, "IVANHOE" is rated by exhibitors as the greatest box-office property of our time, exceeding even "Quo Vadis."

BECAUSE:

"THE MERRY WIDOW" has been rated at Trade Shows as the new M-G-Musical delight, launching the Fall Season of Technicolor singing successes including "BECAUSE YOU'RE MINE," "EVERYTHING I HAVE IS YOURS" and "MILLION DOLLAR MERMAID."

BECAUSE:

Again in June's Box Office Champs of M. P. Herald and in Variety's box-office survey (reprinted in Time Magazine) M-G-M leads with two winners, "PAT AND MIKE" and "SKIRTS AHOY!"

BECAUSE:

"LOVELY TO LOOK AT," the spectacular Technicolor hit, maintains M-G-Musical leadership at the box-office, a happy entertainment for summertime crowds.

BECAUSE:

The exhibitors of the nation who vote M-G-M "Fairest Company" with "Best Product" are saying:

MAKE MINE METRO!

Inside Stuff—Pictures

While Paramount will pretty definitely ask for a tender of its stock for retirement if the price drops to $20 or close, Par execs are of the opinion that it won't decline to that point. Bellef is that the sharp pressure the shares have been feeling lately have largely resulted from false interpretation of prexy. Barney Balaban's action in registering some 38,000 shares he owns with the Securities & Exchange Commission. This has been taken to mean he planned to unload them.

Actually, according to Par' toppers, it was only a technicality required to meet SEC regulations and Balaban has no intention of selling. Opinion is that as this fact becomes self-evident with passage of time, renewed confidence in the stock will start pushing it up again. In addition, Par execs expect a lift from a demonstration now being shaped of the company's 50%-owned Laurence Chromatic Tube. It can receive video in either color or black-and-white and can go into manufacture at once because it requires little in the way of strategic materials. Par toppers likewise expect a boost when the test run of their Telemeter, a pay-as-you-see TV device in which the company also has a half-interest, begins in Palm Springs about next March. In addition, on the basis of product, an excellent second-half of the year is being anticipated, with an accompanying strengthening of the stock, unless general market conditions flop.

Complaints by exhibs in the Los Angeles territory that they were forced to "pig-in-a-poke" bidding were partially refuted by George Smith, western sales chief for Paramount. Theatre operators declared they were asked to bid on films not yet tradeshown or reviewed in the trade press. They cited Columbia's "The Happy Time" and Paramount's "Son of Paleface" as examples. Smith explained that he ran into a print shortage on "Paleface" but finally managed to get one and sent out notice of a special showing seven days ahead of the bidding deadline. Only two exhibs showed up for the screening. With Bob Hope, Jane Russell, Roy Rogers and Trigger in the cast, "Paramount had no trouble getting bids. had no trouble getting bids.

Roxy, N. Y., which is in a sort of limbo resulting from delays in 20th-Fox's scheduled June 23 divorcement, was offered a chance at Paramount's "Son of Paleface," but nixed the bait. House, when it passes from 20th ownership to that of the new, independent National Theatres setup, will undoubtedly get into a bidding situation for product, but is avoiding it as long as possible. It's continuing to play 20th fare exclusively pending divorcement, which may take another three months because of tax technicalities.

Had the Roxy reached for "Paleface," it may have gotten into competition for the pic with the Paramount, which now looks like it will get it.

New reference work on Italian films is a publication released this week by Italian Films Export (IFE). Published in English by Unitalia, Rome, "Italian Cinema, The Post War Years," is a comprehensive coverage of the Italian film. It contains an analysis of the economic foundation of the industry, an evaluation of the comic film, the historic film, the musical and documentary. Two articles discuss co-production while screenwriter Cesare Zavattini has authored the preface. Publication is being distributed by IFE to editors, exhibitors, distributors, etc.

Despite the needle administered to the industry by The New Yorker in the recent series by Lillian Ross, some flacks feel that the mag's attitude on pix, as evidenced by its reviews, has mellowed somewhat Critic John McCarten, they say, has been indicating a kindlier attitude lately. They date the change as following the recent death of editor Harold Ross. Ross was an outspoken hater of films.

McCarten is said to be showing a tendency to like more pix than formerly and to be less snide and bitter about those he doesn't like.

Universal-International is using eight contestants in the recent "Miss Universe" beauty pageant to beautify two pictures. In "Mississippi Gambler" seven of them will make their screen bow. They are: Jackie Loughery (Miss United States), Judy Hatula (Miss Michigan), Carolyn Carlew (Miss Missouri), Valorie Jackson (Miss Montana), Ruth Mampton (Miss New Jersey), Renate Hoy (Miss Germany) and Jeri Miller (Miss Welcome to Long Beach). Making her debut in "Desert Legion" is Elsa Edsman, who took second place in the contest as "Miss Hawaii."

Edmund Grainger's "Blackbeard the Pirate" is due for a lot of free plugging through the signing of Chester Hayes as one of the big, bad becaneers. Hayes, who has a voluble role in the picture, is a wrestler, widely known on TV for his gab as well as his grappling. He will be heralded in wrestling arenas and on television as one of Blackbeard's nigrater.

Award by the Lithographers National Assn. for the best display material manufactured in the past year has gone to Metro for the job done with "Quo Vadis." "Certificate of Merit" was presented last week to Si Seadler, M-G's ad chief.

Censors Hit 'Miracle' Again

acle" was not due to its sacrengious" aspects, action is being taken to upset the ruling of the local police censor board made last week.

Police topper said the ruling was made under section of city code that bans any film that "portrays depravity... or lack.of virtue of a class of citizens of any race, color, creed, or religion and exposes them to contempt, derision and objoquy."

Chicago censors voting for the which point has already been overruled by the Supreme Court.

In Chicago, although Police Commissioner Timothy O'Connor said that the banning of "The Miracle" was not due to its "sacreligious" aspects, action is being taken to upset the ruling of the local
to upset the ruling of the local blice center beauty made lett school students had requested the Board has had an abnormally high rate of rejection of pictures, especially of foreign origin, nota-bly Mexican. In most cases there's no excuse given.

Tarleton Fest

Continued from page 2 =

theatre, Charles Schlaifer, former 20th Century-Fox ad chief, spoke on mental health. Publisher Bennett Cerf headed literati contingent, which included poet Louis Untermeyer and novelists Budd Schulberg and Charles Jackson. Horace Sutton, Saturflay Review travel editor, and this byliner, as travel ed of Esquire, filled-in audience on world-wide travel picture.

Current problems in education were discussed by Dr. Abram L. Sachar, president of Brandeis Uni-versity; Dartmouth professors Wing versity; Dartmouth professors Wing Tsit Chan and Chauncey Allen, Dr. Dudley. Weinberg and Dr. Leon Kronish. Most serious part of pro-gram was illustrated talk on Hiro-shima by Dartmouth physicist Frank H. Connell.

Cultural Pitch

Cultural Pitch

Arthur Heintzelman, Boston

Museum Curator of Prints, brought with him the museum's ToulouseLauwee' collection; A. Hyatt Mayor, of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, put on display a collection of Currier & Ives etchings, and Willam Gropper spoke for the Associated American Artists. The Art Students League also displayed a collection of oll paintings of Dmitri Mitropoulis and the N. Y.
Philharmonic during the festival.

Musical highlights of the pro-

Musical highlights of the program were plano recitals of Adi Bernard and abbreviated versions of 'Rigoletto' and 'Porgy and y and of Rigoletto" and "Porgy and Bess," sung by members of the N. Y. City Opera Co., conducted by Lee Shaynen and featuring Lawrence Winters, baritone; Jan Rubes, bass; Camilla Williams, Rubes, bass; Camilla Williams, soprano; Eleanor Knapp, mezzosoprano, and Adelaide Bishop, soprano. Dance recitals were given by Marta Becket and Dean Crane of the Ballet Arts of New York. The Mark String Quartet played throughout the festival. Americana note was added by musical program performed on decks of a miniature Mississippi riverboat, the Dixle Belle, tied up at Tarleton pier. Tarleton pier.

Yankee Players, local stock company, did "Blithe Spirit" and "Accent on Youth."

New Hampshire Senator Charles ey wound up festival with of contemporary political Festival was inaugurated three years ago by Walter Jacobs, frontman of the Jacobs family who own the resort, against the advice of hotel men who said summer vacationists wanted only to get away from things, never would stand for having their brains agitated in the July sunshine. July sunshine.

Jacobs thought differently, bas-ing his opinion on the Tarleton's success over several seasons with its Rocking Chair Forums, at which its Rocking Chair Forums, at which Dartmouth College professors spoke to the hotel guests about whatever was on their minds.

Proof that Jacobs was right came in festival's steady buildup during past three years and fact that guests want reservations when festival is on. Jacobs, meanwhile, has emphasized entertainment aspect by billboarding festival in ads in amusement sections of metropolitan papers and is now considering a festival reprise later this season.

And Yankee neighbors of the Tarleton, listening to all the yakery

And Yankee neighbors of the Tarleton, listening to all the yakery which follows festival lectures, hitch up their convertibles and drive away reflecting on the old days, when all you needed to run a New England summer resort was a lake, a chef, a rhumba band and a social director.

Aldrich As Chairman Of 'Italian Films Week'

Circuit Execs Blame Distribs For Top Pix Delay, Causing Downbeat Biz

3,581 More Preferred Retired by Columbia

Pursuing the policy of reducing and simplifying its capitalization, Columbia Pictures has retired an additional 3,581 shares of its $4.25 cumulative preferred stock.

This reduces to 2,369 the number of shares of that issue now held by Col.

$7,500,000 Bk. Loan Won't Affect Divvy Payoff by 20th-Fox

Conditions of the $7.500,000 loan agreement entered by 20th-Fox and a quintet of banks appear easily within reach and will have no bearing on the film outfit's dividend payoff to stockholders on the basis of the present financial

Under the deal, 20th agrees to keep its current assets in excess of ourrent liabilities by $25,000,000. As concerning the ratio, the current assets must measure 250% of the liabilities.

the liabilities.

Last annual report Issued by 20th, covering 1951, showed total current assets of $83,145,301 against liabilities of $17,099,180, representing a difference of $66,046,121. Figures apply to film operations, as apart from domestic theatres which now are being divorced. The ratio of assets over liabilities was close to 500%.

Film corporation disclosed that $7,000,000 of the total borrowed will be used to pay off in full notes issued under a credit agreement which dates back to 1947. Balance of $500,000 will be added to the working capital. working capital.

Deal was set with the five participating banks in these amounts: Chase National, $2,400,000; Bankers Trust, $2,100,000; Bank of America National Trust and Saving Assn. $1,200,000; Manufacturers Trust $1,200,000, and Chemical Bank & Trust, $600,000.

Notes issued by 20th for the new capital bear interest at 31/4% and the principal amount is to be paid off in installments up to June 30, 1957.

Schary Stresses

Continued from page 3

"sad-eyed predictions." In the last three years there have ben more $5,000,000 grossing pictures than in the first 45 years of picture production

Television's inroads

Television's inroads are exag-gerated because "mobody's going to keep looking at TV all the time any more than they are going to stay in motion picture theatres all the time," the producer stated. Asked about the Lillian Ross-New Yorker series which took a swipe at Hollywood and Metro, Schary told that: Miss Ross prom-ised it would be an "upbeat" story, claiming she said the magazine was losing readers because of the typiclaiming she said the magazine was losing readers because of the typical New Yorker style of its other stuff. "But I was fooled 100%." Schary said. "I was naive, gullible I was a dope." He charged the articles contained misquotations, inverted quotations, inventions, and added that a lot of people wrote to the studio asking where they could see "Red Badge of Courage." The articles were a case history of the making of "Badge."

In a question and answer period, Schary also said that "experts tell me Phonevision can't succeed now, and it will be a long time before the bugs can be worked out. . . . Foreign business is very good, returns are up."

charge is that the film companies charge is that the film companies are guilty of having held back top product in the second calendar quarter and in the early part of July.

Leonard Goldenson, United Paramount Theatres prexy, summed it up this way: "Due to seasonal fac-tors the second quarter reflects the usual downturn in our business. this year, however, the decline was more pronounced than in previous years since the quality of film released in May and June of this year was poor compared to the product at the same time last year."

product at the same time last year."

As for July, exhibs are burned over the distribs' hesitancy on re-eleasing important pix in competition with radio-TV coverage of the Republican National convention in Chicago. As it turned out, the politico conclave proved no b.o. detriment at all.

ment at all.

Theatremen in high places point up the b.o behavior during the first half of this month as particularly significant. Grosses, it was said, in many cases were about even with last year's revenue. However, a marked improvement would have been experienced if the callibre of this year's releases matched the output of last year, the circuit men added.

Asked Emergency Meeting

Asked Emergency Meeting

Asked Emergency Meeting Walter Reade, Jr., head of the Theatre Owners of America exhibdistrib relations committee, and Wilbur Snaper, president of Allied States, recently asked A. W. Schwalberg, Paramount's top sales exec and chairman of the national distributors committee, to call an "emergency" meeting of his group anent product. The two theatre org officials, both of whom operate circuits, complained that only two important pix were on the July release skeds, whereas a flock of big films were listed for August.

Schwalberg's reply was that each films were listed for August.

Schwalberg's reply was that each sales chief would have to be approached individually, that no action could be taken by the distribs on a joint basis. It's understood that Reade thereupon pressed for the product "relief" via a direct call upon Schwallberg but no changes in Par's releasing sked were made.

were made.

The general decline in theatre biz was seen reflected in UPT's earnings for the second quarter, as estimated by Goldenson in a letter to stockholders this week. The consolidated net slipped to $1,459,000 for the 1952 period, including $921,000 in capital gains. This compared with consolidated profit of $1,983,000, including $854,000 in cap gains, for the secon quarter of 1951.

Earnings for the first six months

Earnings for the first six months of 1952 amounted to $3,508,000, including $1,165,000 in cap gains, $1.11 per common share. First half of 1951 brought a consolidated net of $4,594,000, including $1,-186,000 in cap gains, equivalent to $1.49 per share of common stock.

Ky. Exhibs Fete Crowe Upon Taking Judgeship

Upon Taking Judgeship
Louisville, July 22.
Kentucky Assn. of Theatre Owners on Thursday (24) is tossing a testimonial and birthday dinner to the organization's retiring prexy, Guthrie F. Crowe, who's been named U. S. District Judge for the Panama Canal Zone. Event will be held at the Stagg Distillery Clubhouse, Frankfort.
Crowe became KATO head following his discharge from the Navy in November, 1945. His successor is Ralph E. McClanahan, an contempt, derision and exposes them to contempt, derision and offoquy."

Chicago censors voting for the ban were Mrs. Jeanette Van Volkenburgh, J. F. O'Halloran, Mrs. Edith Joyce. The lone dissent was made by William A. Foust, Appointment to the board is political.

American Civil Liberties Union Chi representative Ed Myerding said that immediate steps would be taken to bring the ban to court action. Joseph Burstyn, distributor of the police censor board, and it is likely that he will take the same measures as he did in New York and Washington, which brought removal of the film's ban.

Police here have frankly admit
Tolice here have frankly admit
Iippert's Dallas Branch

Winthrop Aldrich, president of the Chase National Bank, N. Y., hardical Bank, N. Y., has accepted the honorary chairmanship of the sponsoring committee of "Salute to Italian Films week" is being organized by a number of cultural, educational and social leaders in the U. S., has been purchased by the Herman devised of the decision of the police censor board, and it is likely that he will take the same measures as he did in New York and Washington, which brought removal of the film's ban.

Police here have frankly admit
Tolice here have frankly admit
Tolice here have frankly admit
Tolice have frankly admit
Tolice have frankly admit
Tolice have frankly admit
Tolice here have frankly admit
Tolice have frankly admit
Tolice have frankly admit
Tolice have frankly admit
Tolice here have frankly admit
Tolice have frankly admit
Tolice here have frankly admit-

Changes to Meet Competish Listed By Canada Exhib

While film theatres have no equal as disseminators of mass entertainment at a reasonable price, they will be in a better position to face competition and the future if a number of adjustments are made, according to N. A. Taylor, prez and managing director of Twinex Century Theatres Corp. Ltd., which operates over 70 houses in Ontario. In New York last week on a brief business junket, Taylor outlined a four-point program which, he said, should keep the wickets humming in months to come. Firstly, he said, a more consistent flow of better pictures from producers is required and at the same time exhibitors must roll up their sleeves to promote their film fare with the public.

Other points include correction of overseating and a need for a revolutionary, new industry improvement such as third-dimension films. "There hasn't been anything really new in the business." Taylor observed, "since introduction of sound some 25 years ago, with the possible exception of a greater use of color pictures."

As far as "better pictures" are concerned, Taylor declared, "I don't say that there haven't been some good ones in the past but these must be delivered more often. The exhibitor, too, is at fault for he's grown complacent due to lush business in the postwar years when customers used to break down the doors.

"Now with television on the hori."

fault for he's grown complacent due to lush business in the postwaryears when customers used to break down the doors.

"Now with television on the horizon, stockcar racing, night baseball and lacrosse leagues already offering competition to the boxoffice the Ontario exhibitor will merely have to work that much harder. Drive-ins are another problem, for they definitely compete with conventional theatres."

Although the Canadian government hasn't launched its own television stations yet, Taylor emphasized that the effects of video on the b.o. have been evident in areas that can pick up stations in Detroit or Buffalo. "While TV is a very strong, competitive factor," he said, "I don't consider TV as the death-knell for the industry."

Taylor also indicated that perhaps Ontario theatremen won't have too much to fear from with have too much to fear from with have too much to fear from with the government reportedly plans to levy upon set-owners. Even though stations will be operating in Toronto and Montreal next year, he's inclined to think that the average man—whose yearly entertainment budget runs not much

Louis Lazar Group Buys Schine Theatre Affiliate

Schine Theatre Affiliate
Buffalo, July 22.
Daynell Theatres, Inc., a Schine
Theatres affiliate operating 19 theatres in New York, Ohio, Kentucky, Virginia and Maryland from headquarters in Buffalo, was sold this week to a group headed by Louis Lazar, formerly v.p. of Paramount Theatres in charge of international operations, of motivation of the company will be renamed Lazar Theatres; Inc., and will continue its headquarters here with Lazar at its head. Elmer F. Lux, ormer v.p. and general manager of Darnell, will continue in that position.

position.
Purchase price was not dis-

Toledo Hearing

Continued from page 7

made arrangements with Hissong, who, with Loel Lamb, field inspec-tor of the censorship division, were to view the film last Wednesday (16) night.

tor of the censorship division, were to view the film last Wednesday (16) night.

Both were in the theatre, but when the time came for the newsreel, Wile walked out on the stage and announced there would be no showing, because Hissong and James S. Abrose, Cincinnati branch manager for Warners, could not agree on who was to be named in the warrant. Hissong insisted that Abrose be named as defendant, and the latter wanted the corporation named, As a result, there was no violation in Columbus and warrants could not be sworn out against the other theatres in Ohio which that night were also showing uncensored reels, because no representative of the board saw the non-approved footage until Lamb showed up in Toledo Thursday (17) night.

In the squabble over the issuance of the warrant, Hissong declared that the censor body does not propose "to be dictated to by any film distributor or film company on enforcement of the censor bip law or any other activities of the division of film censorship."

Cleveland Showing

The Lower Mall, Cleveland, showed uncensored newsreels from Universal starting last Wednesday (16) night, and the Park, Cincinnati, did likewise with film from Metro. Showing of a seal-less Paramount reel at the Palace, Youngstown, was postponed.

Agreement on serving a warrant on the film company or the filmery's rep still has not been decided. 20th-Fox, distrib of the reels shown at the Westwood, Toledo, hasn't yet been served with any papers.

At the Westwood, the newsreel was headed with the bold caption, in light of a $15 annual licensing fee which the government reported by plans to levy upon set-owners. Even though stations will be operating in Troonto and Montreal next year, he's inclined to think that the average man—whose yearly entertainment budget runs not much over $50—will exercise caution in sofar as buying a set is concerned. Touching upon the "lost addence," Taylor reyealed that about 40 of the company's theatres would see "Curtain at 8:30" this fall, compared to 30 last season. Devised by his wife, Yvonne, "Curtain at 8:30" this fall, compared to 30 last season. Devised by his wife, Yvonne, "Curtain at 8:30" this fall, compared to 30 last season. Devised by his wife, Yvonne, "Curtain at 8:30" this fall, compared to 30 last season. Devised by his wife, Yvonne, "Curtain at 8:30" this fall, compared to 30 last season. Devised by his wife, Yvonne, "Curtain at 8:30" this fall, compared to 30 last season. Devised by his wife, Yvonne, "Curtain at 8:30" this fall, compared to 30 last season. Devised by his wife, Yvonne, "Curtain at 8:30" this fall, compared to 30 last season. Devised by his wife, Yvonne, "Curtain at 8:30" this fall, compared to 30 last season. Devised by his wife, Yvonne, "Curtain at 8:30" this fall, compared to 30 last season. Devised by his wife, Yvonne, "Curtain at 8:30" this fall, compared to 30 last season. Devised by his wife, Yvonne, "Curtain at 8:30" this fall, compared to 30 last season. Devised by his wife, Yvonne, "Curtain at 8:30" this fall, compared to 30 last season. Devised by his wife, Yvonne, "Curtain at 8:30" this fall, compared to 30 last season. Devised by his wife, Yvonne, "Curtain at 8:30" this fall, compared to 30 last season. Devised by his wife, Yvonne, "Curtain at 8:30" this fall, compared to 30 last season. Devised by his wife, Yvonne, "Curtain at 8:30" this fall, compared to 30 last season. Devised by his wife, Yvonne, "Curtain at 8:30" this fall, compared to 40 level with the Suprement at 8 level and the wife with the Suprement at 8 level and the wife your at 8

Telefilm Network

Continued from page 1 a

take whatever they are fed by the nets.

O'Neil, prez of General Tire & Rubber who is currently on the Coast, reportedly had the celluloid network idea in mind when he acquired WOR from the Macy's-Bamberger interests several months ago. Questioned at that time as to whether he was planning to start another video network, he said that he was not planning one "in the classical style." He reportedly believes that the fact that vidfilms ellminate costly networking facilities charges is another factor in favor of his idea, under which "everybody wins." Sponsors pay less for their TV advertising and the stations get a chapce to earn more money.

Far-Flung Affiliations O'Neil, prez of General Tire & ubber who is currently on the Far-Flung Affiliations

Far-Flung Affiliations

With the number of ties O'Neil already has in broadcasting, it's expected that the basic GTS network will fall rapidly into line. In addition to the Yankee well (WNAC-TV, Boston) and WOR-TV, he also recently acquired the Don Lee system on the Coast. Fact that WOR is one of the major shareholders in the mutual web, moreover, forms the basis of a close alliance with WGN and WGN-TV, Chicago Tribune stations, which also own a large share of Mutual. O'Neil has also been closely allied with George B. Storer's Fort Industry stations.

Tentative plans call for GTS outdustry stations.

Tentative plans call for GTS outlets to program live, as well as film shows, but the emphasis will be put on film. Outfit will bankroll production of a number of half-hour vidpix packages, with the expectation that most of the filming will be farmed out to indie producers on the Coast. Under the incorporation papers filed in Wilmington, Theodore C. Streibert is prexy of GTS. Outfit has 400,000 shares of capital stock, listed at no par value.

Bevhills Exhib

Continued from page 5

of the New York reviews and busiof the New York reviews and ous-ness elsewhere. It balked when the film was screened for the thea-tre's execs. The theatre, a Beverly Hills art house, has a large film colony clientele.

colony clientele.
Earlier, Hecht, ired by the theatre's refusal to show the film, blasted Hollywood for "trying very hard" to keep the indie picture out of theatres. Hecht was interviewed by telephone from New York by Larry Finley for the latter's KFWB program. Interview was pegged on the pending litigation over the cancelled booking. Film, which has been attacked fas lamponing Hollywood, got top notices and attracted big business in N. Y., Hecht contended, and the efforts to bar it here are "omiefforts to bar it here are mous."

"When you're trying to serve the public," he declared, "you write about the funniest things you know, and almost the funniest thing I've ever found in my wan-derings is Hollywood. Much fun-nier than political conventions or religious revivals."

Title Exclusivity Continued from page 7

son in that country in the technical son in that country in the technical legal sense."

That part of the decision which was seen as especially significant concerned the validity of using identical titles. Corcoran observed that "even if the title of the plain: tiff"s book were 'High Treason,' which it is not, he would have great difficulty in showing any exclusive right to the use of those two words."

It was also noted in the oninion.

right to the use of those two words."

It was also noted in the opinion that "High Treason" has been used as the title of five films, one play and at least five books in recent years. The word "treason" has been used alone as the title of six films, and has been used with other words as the title of 30 other films, short stories or books, it was pointed out.

Named in the complaint along with Rank were Pacemaker Pictures, the production unit, and Arthur Mayer-Edward Kingsley, Inc., the pic's U. S. distributors. They were represented in the case by Louis Nizer and Seymour Shainswit of the firm of Phillips, Nizer, Benjamin & Krim.

Amusement Stock Quotations

For the Week Ending Tuesday (22)

	Weekly Vol. in 100s	Weekly High	Weekly Low	Tues. Close	Net. Change for week
N. Y. Stock Exchange
ABC	. 67	101/8	95/8	10	- 1/g
CBS, "A"		351/8	34	34	- 1/2
CBS. "B"		347/8	34	34
Col. Pic.		117/B	1156	1156	- 1/4
Decca		83/4	81/2	85%
Eastman Kodak		443/4	441/8	44/4	— ½
Loew's		123/4.	121/2	1258	- 1/8
Paramount		223/4	211/4	221/4	— ½
	94	325/8	32	3238	i ₈
Phileo		271/2	265/ ₈	263/4	- 1/4
RCA	. 201	41/4	4	4	- 1/4
RKO Pictures	58	33/8	31/4	3%	. / *
RKO Theatres	25	37/8	33/4	334	— ½
Republic	6	97/8	93/4	97/8	+ 1/8
Rep., pfd	85	151/2	15	15	- i/2
20th-Fox	83	141/8	133/4	14	12
Un. Par. Th	45	131/8	123/4	127/8	1/8
Univ		64	63	64	$+\mathbf{2^{'}}$
Warner Bros		123%	12½	121/4	— 1/A
Zenith	22	781/2	763/4	775/8	+ 1/8
	• • •	.0,2		*	1 /6
N. Y. Curb Exchange
Du Mont	68	151/8	15	15%	- 1/4
Monogram	11	31/8	3	3
Technicolor		22	21%	213/8	— ¾s
Over-the-Counter Secur	ities		Bid	Ask
Cinecolor			. 11/8	15%
Chesapeake Industries (Pathe)		. 33/4	41/4
U. A. Theatres		,	. 41/2	51/4	- 1/4
Walt Disney				8	— ½ (Quotations
. 1

Com'l Films $42,000,000 Biz

Commercial outfits, majority of which headquarter in the east, maintain that although Hollywood popular price. He compares these is far ahead .in making programming-type films, it lacks the knowhow and training to produce the highly-technical commercial, industrial and educational pix. These will be the type of whose the to the type of radio shows that can be turned out at a popular price. He compares these the highly-technical commercial, industrial and educational pix. These will be the type of whose the total popular price. He compares these them are the product of the programming can be turned out at a popular price. He compares these them are the product of the programming can be turned out at a popular price. He compares these them are the product of the programming can be turned out at a popular price. He compares these them are the product of the programming can be turned out at a popular price. He compares these them are the product of the programming can be turned out at a popular price. He compares these them are the product of the programming can be producted by the product of the product of the programming can be producted by the product of the dustrial and educational pix. These pix, they point out, require writers with a penchant for research, knowledge in dealing with accounts, and ad agencies, and experts who fully understand the inner workings of industrial and commercial corporations.

Hollywood's invasion of their domain, planned or otherwise, ap-parently has led to the movement parently has led to the movement among eastern producers for the construction of a super vidfim and commercial film center in the New York area, preferably in Manhattan. Toppers of the eastern companies have been holding series of confabs with city officials, and progress to date has been described as beyond the talking stage. Interest in maintaining commercial and a good part of vidpix production in the east has also been expressed, by TV networks, ad agencies, transportation companies, costume outfits and eastern craft groups.

groups.

Even if Hollywood takes over the major portion of the vidfilm programming production, eastern producers feel there will be plenty of business to satisfy all concerned. They are looking forward to the day when 85% or more of tele programming will be on film. With approximately 400 hours of time to fill, they feel that there will be about $2,000,000,000 worth of film biz around, regarded as more than enough to spread between the major filmeries and the commercial outfits. Latter do not regard themselves as Johnnies-come-lately, pointing out that some of the eastern outfits have a history of 35 years of uninterrupted successful operation. Not only are the eastern outfits in the forefront of commercial pix operation, but there are such important midwest outfits as Jam Handy of Detroit and Wilding of Chicago. Top eastern firms include Audio, Transfilm, Caravel, Pathescope, William Gans, Leelie Roush Willard Affiliated Even if Hollywood takes over ern firms include Audio, Transfilm, Caravel, Pathescope, William Gans, Leslie Roush, Willard, Affiliated, Seaboard, Robert Lawrence and Marion Parsonnet. One of the leading Coast commercial outfits is the Roland Reed Company, now also big in telepix.

'Golden Era'

Golden Era'

According to Walter Lowendahl, exec v.p. of Transfilm and producer of the film version of "The Medium," the making of pix is entering a new "golden era." As Lowendahl sees it, the bulk of commercial production will remain in the east, with the New York area studios also turning out most of the TV spots and commercials. Hollywood, he believes, will be the center of the big programming films, employing top names and writers. There will be, he feels, an increase in eastern programming films, but these will be the type of shows that can be turned out at a popular price. He compares these to the type of radio shows that emanated from New York when the big airers moved to the Coast. The east, he opines, will become more and more important as vid-film programming center because of the presence of varied types of actors and writers in the eastern zone.

"The film business as we've known it in the past will be surpassed," Lowendahl says, "but it will require new concepts in adapting to the new medium."

16m Conspiracy Continued from page 3

Government action against the

In addition to the demand from the Armed Forces, theatre-less accounts, hotels, drive-ins, coin-operated machines, hospitals, ships, trains and planes, the complaint said "there is a large demand for 16m feature films by the telecasting industry for purposes of TV programs, since the large majority of telecasting stations in this country are equipped with apparatus for the telecasting of 16m films and not of 35m films."

The conspiracy, the complaint declares; "has consisted of a continuing concert of action among the defendants refuse to license the exhibition of 16m feature films in any place or manner that would compete with the exhibition of 35m films."

Among other things the complaint charges that the defendants.

Among other things the complaint charges that the defendants entered into agreements limiting locations and time periods, and conditions under which 16m films may be exhibited. Other restrictions listed in the complaint include the refusal to license the televising of 16m pix, imposing "arbitrary and excessive clearances between the first release of a feature in 35m and its exhibition on 16m."

The alleged conspiracy, the com-

The alleged conspiracy, the com-plaint says, has the effect of sup-pressing the telecasting of the "finer feature films" to U. S. tele-"finer feature films" to U. S. television audience, restraining competition in interstate distribution and exhibition of feature product, foreclosing from significant parts of the U. S. market actual and potential exhibitors of 16m films, and denying opportunity to people in theatre-less towns from seeing other than "outmoded" feature films

Working Her Way rah, rah, rocking the ticket machines! Mr. Showman, Mr. Film Buyer, Mr. Booker, give it plenty of time--give it big-time treatment! It's doing 'Moonlight Bay' business everywhere!

'Ray for Gay Garters Gertie-she's 'Ray for Gay Garters Rosy! making everything

Art, Exploitation Audiences Bait For TV; Only Sex Lures 'Em Back

Being hard hit currently are the foreign film exhibitors, who have run into a product shortage of terrific proportions, plus distributors and exhibitors of exploitation films, who are fighting to retain their regular audience which happens to be the one most susceptible to the enticements of TV.

Both these groups feel the an-

Both these groups feel the answer to survival lies in keeping costs at a minimum and in the most extreme exploitation angles they can find—and that boils, down altered to the survey to can find—and that ways to sex.

Costs are controlled mainly at the source—by buying oldies. That is gimmick No. 1. Selling them takes two major operations:

1. Changing the film's title; first, to conceal the original title, and second, to dream up the juiclest new one that ordinary censorship will tolerate.

will tolerate.

2. Sex up the outside displays and the newspaper advertising so that drooling glands will respond at first glance.

Strangely enough, the raw, unvarnished approach to sex is having the effect of attracting fairly discriminating filmgoers, too. The "primitive honesty" attracts them. Nor does it lose any of the exploitation film's regular standbys—the transients, the misfits who have to get their thrills vicariously and the loose-jawed brethren. loose-jawed brethren.

get their thrills vicariously and the loose-jawed brethren.

And no segment of the film industry can afford to point the finger of accusation at the exploitation-film boys, or to cover them with a fine scorn. The majors have not switched titles on their "retired" films, but it is hardly a secret that their "advertising is made as sexy as the law allows.

But the current trend, which has brought the techniques of lurid exploitation to a peak never before dared, actually got started a few years ago. It is just at a high point today.

The situation is simply proof that the industry, and those who are in it, are aware that they are engaged in a life-oi-death struggle, which means no holds barred.

It is no light whim that leads to the changing of film titles, to give

It is no light whim that leads to he changing of film titles, to give huddences the impression that here is a brand-new film—one, in fact, which they may have seen some years before. And to accomplish t takes more than just one layer of the entire distribution process. Thus we find that many exhibitors who know that they slow such that they were the constraint of the co

Thus we find that many exhibitors, who know that they alone will have to take the rap on complaints if the switch is discovered by their audiences, cooperate with the quick-thinking distributors who have come up with title changes. In fact, many of these exhibitors offer suggestions for new, eye-catching, boxofficewise titles. And, frankly, these new titles often bear no relation-whatever to the subject-matter of the film.

Justification Sometimes

Justification Sometimes

Justification Sometimes

It is true, though, that there is sometimes justification for a change in title. One that appeals greatly in Jersey City can cause a film to lay a very large egg in Kansas City—or the other way around. The process of exploitation, which the film industry has raised to an art never approached in any other field, really has been recontly outdoing all former top performances. The exploiters are bringing to bear their most critical faculties to pinpoint popular attention on the theme most likely to appeal, and that still is Topic A.

Thus, we now find that the central point of a film's entire exploitation program is a luscious still, which more often than not depicts a scene of infinitesimal importance to the plot. But it just happens to the "pitht" exploitation profitation in the plot. But it just happens tunnitesimal importance he plot. But it just happens e right, exploitationwise. So as the play in newspaper ads in the front of the house disand in the trouting-the-house dis-plays. The overall result is, by and large, kind of sad, but no different than can be expected in a crisis situation. Some exploiters go the imit, brusquely sacrificing the nost elementary rules of good aste for what, they declare is showmanship? a cloak that covers multitude of sins. While former-y they sought to stop just short of he line where police or church the line where police or church authorities intervened, they now eross that line brazenly, virtually thallenging such intervention. Incidentally, the entire setup sometimes shows a distinct profit to a faded film star who looks back on her days of former glory and consoles herself with the reflection that she really would have hit immortality if only they had invented falsies sooner. She has only to see the old pictures of torso now, as they sextly emblazon a theatre front, to reassure-herself that she never really needed 'em, after all. To this art of the retoucher can pressbook writers.

To this art of the retoucher can be added the newly-found skills of distributors and exhibitors who, when it comes to coining a flock of really catchy catchlines, actually outdo the most fanciful of the pressbook writers.

Regarding the new custom of "improving" film titles, it should be pointed out that in New York State, and in some other states where official censorship prevails, the distributor must first get the proper sanction to give it the old switcheroo. The law also provides that the disearded title must be conspicuously-displayed along with the new one, both in the advertising and on the film's main title.
Elsewhere, the practice is gov-

Elsewhere, the practice is governed solely by the free enterprise principle, and distributors engaged in it are as freely enterprising as anyone anywhere.

Thus the industry, at the "poor man's" level, fights back against TV, which appears to be the mortal enemy. The picture isn't a pretty one, the ethics involved are not the kind that can be commended to the kind that can be commended to the children in our schools as examples to be followed, and the U. S. Cham-ber of Commerce isn't likely to boast of it as a way of life for. American business. But it's a way

Noel Meadow.

Kaycee Transit Plan Designed to Spur Biz At Picture Theatres

Kansas City, July 22.

Motion picture theatres and the Public Service Co. (streetcars and busses) put into action last weekend a plan designed to spur both theatre attendance and streetcar company revenues.

Plan permits holders of the weekly PSC page and fear the Plan permits holders of weekly PSC pass and weekly PSC pass and four other persons to ride the streetcars and busses for 5c. per ride between 2 p.m. Saturdays and midnight Sun-

Dusses for the period of the p nomical way downtown, with no parking worries."

PSC in turn parking worries."

PSC in turn is advertising the special deal on all local radio and television stations, and with large space in the Kansas City Star. Theatres also are running screen trail-

Thomas Exits Hallmark To Start 16m Company

To Start 16m Company
Willington, O., July 22.
Jack Thomas, general manager of Hallmark Productions, has resigned to start his own firm, TripleE-Attractions. New outfit will operate in the 16m field.
Kroger Babb, Hallmark prexy, disclosed that he's handed Thomas'
new organization exclusive 16m, distribution rights in the U.S. to all Hallmark pix, Meantime, Babb will assume Thomas' former duties until a new general manager is named.

Wide Circ for Fox Pub

Total of 30,000 copies of the Dynamo, 20th-Fox house organ, were distributed over the past weekend, an unusually large number for any film company publication on. The 20th weekly, edited by Roger Ferri, ran 58 pages and covered the complete lineup of pix on the 1952 sked plus the outfit's out-standing films due next year.

N. Y.-Cleve. Tele Bally For RKO's 'Sudden Fear'. In Big Test Campaign

Whether TV can be successfully harnessed to merchandise a picture will be tested by RKO in a simultaneous video campaign in New York and Cleveland. Company used the formula successfully in promoting the reissue of "King Kong" and will try it again with the Joseph Kaufman production, "Sudden Fear," starring Joan Terry Turner, RKO exploitation topper, believes the campaign on "Fear" will be the real test. "In 'King Kong' we had a trick picture," he says, "and our success may have been accidental or we may have been accidental or we may have stumbled on a new approach." "Fear" opens Aug. 7 simultaneously at Loew's State, N. Y., and the Palace, Cleveland. Video campaign will be launched 10 days prior to the preem in bofuareas. Special TV material has been prepared for the picture. New York opening will see a saturation tele campaign on CBS-TV. With "Kong" opening in 150 situations in the Gotham metropolitan area beginning Aug. 8, withmost openings coming Aug. 12, RKO will have two video drives at the same time.

the same time.

Exploitation chief points out that the use of TV costs five times as much as radio, and if the format is a click, there might necessarily be a change in booking and sales methods. He notes that you can't buy time for an individual theatre, and that a video campaign would have to include eight to 10 points, calling for the simultaneous opening in many theatres. Turner also points out that a campaign of this sort would have to be conducted during the summer months, when most of the big video shows are off the air and time can be more easily purchased.

Briefs From the Lots

Hollywood, July 22.

Paramount handed Joanne Gilbert a player contract . Robert Parrish will direct "Rough Shoot,"
Joel McCrea starrer, to be filmed in England . Leon Askin drew a role in JUT's "Desert Legion" . Emmett Lynn plays a ranch foreman in Metro's "A Steak for Conman in Metro's "As Steak for Conman in Metro's "As Steak for Conman in Metro's "As Steak for Conman in "Stop, You're Killing Me" at Warners . Dunninger will function as technical advisor in "Houdini" at Paramount . Howard Keel drew one of the top spots in Metro's "Vaquero" .

Danny Mummert joined Stanley Hollywood, July 22.

will function as technical advisor in "Houdini" at Paramount.

Howard Keel drew one of the top spots in Metro's "Vaquero".

Danny Mummer! joined Stanley Kramer's "The Member of the Wedding" cast.

Cara Williams signed a term contract with Metro, starting in September. Martha Hyer slated for femme lead opposite Randolph Soott in "Come On, Texas" at Warners ... Robert E. Sherwood checked in at 20th-Fox to complete the screenplay for "Man On a Tightrope," Robert L. Jacks production ... Trevor Bardette draws the sheriff role in Columbia's "Ambush at Tomahawk Gap," with Fred F. Sears directing.

Charles Drake plays the menace to Joel McCrea in Ul's "Lone Hand" ... Jeffrey Hunter will star in "Able Seaman Brown," to be filmed in England by 20th-Fox under supervision of Frank McCarthy.

Jack Broder signed Roy Engel for a role in "The Battles of Chief Pontiac" ... Leev Graham plays a Naval officer in Lindsley Parsons, "Down Periscope" at Allied Artists ... Richard Reeves snagged a role in Warners "His Majesty O'Keefe". Larry Keating gets a key role in Warners "The Rabel" is "Violence at Thunder Run" ... Jerry Thomas will produce "Stranglehold for Monogram, with William Beaudinej directing. ... "James Arsess draw second male lead in "Lone Hand," bed Mocrea di millow Response in the Gold in Constar with Richard Widmark in "60 Saddes to Goloi" at 20th-Fox ... Robert Buckner Scripting "Easy to Love," Lara Turner starrer to be produced by John Houseman at Metro him for the big moment when they and their ship are called on to lead the St. Nazaire raid. This is a powerful end to the story, and although departing from the text-book version of the incident, provides a punchy finish to the film. Entire yarn is dominated by the male cast, and the few femme members provide only an incidental romantic touch. Howard gives a forceful performance as the skipper who refuses to allow personal tragedies (his son is killed in action on Christmas Day) to interfere with his over-riding task. Richard Attenborough has only a small part to play as a seaman but does it with his usual efficiency. Sonny Tufts as a Yank volunteer on board turns in a reliable performance, while James Donald and Robin Bailey are the most prominent members of the wardroom. Joan Rice and Dora Bryan adequately fill the principal femme roles.

Film Reviews

Film has been directed by Comprum has been directed by Comp ton Bennett with painstaking atten-tion to detail. The three scripter-have done a sound writing job an Harry Waxman's photography is ir the top grade. Myro.

Gold Fever

Okay western for lower half of action bills.

Monogram release of John Calvert fuction, Stars Calvert, Ralph Mor features Ann Cornell, Directed by L. Goodwins, Screenplay, Edgar G. An Hon, Jr., Cliff Lancaster; camera, M. Clark Ramsey, Glen Gano; editor, John Link; music, Johnny Richards, Ope Link; music, Johnny Richards, Ope Chonning Time, 43 MINS.

"Gold, Fever" will do its major prospecting from bookings on the lower section of the duallers. It's an okay formula western for the action trade with Ralph Morgan for some marquee dressing. In his dual role as producer and actor, John Calvert does a standard joh in each department.

Yarn concerns a partnership between Calvert and Morgan, latter playing an old prospector, in a gold-seeking yenture. There are some good fight and chase sequences to punch up what is essentially a sedentary story line. The duo outwit the bandit contingent headed by Gene Roth, who attempts to seize the mine. Ann Cornell, sole femme on the bill, provides the thin bit of sentimental interest. It's inferred she's a long lost daughter of Morgan's.

The sets and outdoor photoginterest. It's inferred she's a long lost daughter of Morgan's.

The sets and outdoor photography are good, and the direction by Leslie Goodwins punched up the action sequences.

Miss Cornell, who is Mrs. Calvert, looks good in buckskin, and other roles of importance are by Tom Kennedy, Judd Holdren and Bobby Graham.

Jose.

Love Island
(COLOR)

Poor South Seas drama for lower half of double bills.

Hollywood, July 17.

Goodman and Kaufman release of H Shelton Production. Features Evs. Gab Paul Valeinte, Malcolm Beggs. Direct by Budd Pollard; screenplay, Hal Kus-camera, George Hinners, At Iris theat Hollywood, July 16, '52, Running tir 44 MINS.

Hollywood, July 16, '52. Running time, 44 MINS.

Only possible hope for this slipshod filler is that exhibs may slip it in on the second half if they're badly in need of a low-budgeter. Incredibly poor pic has bad production, direction, acting and writing, and its ancient plot is replete with stereotyped characters and cliches.

Interlarded with stock footage shot in Java and Hawaii, the vintage yarn, localed in Ball, deals with a stranded Navy flyer's courtship of the belle of Ball, already pursued by four of the local boys. Following some silly cheek-rubbing and dialog, the licavy enters and is duly rebuffed by the girl. So he then threatens to send her father to jail for an old crime, and the old man tells him to go ahead, that he will, bot have his daughter wed someone she does not love. But the heroine hears all and sends her lover away, so she can wed the vills lain and save her father's life. Hero, of course, learns all, whips the heavy and winds up with the girl.

the neavy and value of this sad girl. Given a brunet rinse for this sad offering, Eva Gabor is still recog-nizable, chiefly due to low-cut Ba-linese gowns. A looker, her acting is on about the same par as the story, and same goes for Paul Valentine, the male lead.

Cinecolor also takes a beating here, with tinting in some of the scenes so dark in that that the backgrounds and characters all appear purplish. Budd Pollard's direction was inadequate, and the script by Hal Kusell is probably what made the people turn purple, Daku.

Penny-Princess (BRITISH-COLOR)

Lightweight escapist comedy has overseas appeal.

London, July 15.

GFD release of Conquest production tars Volande Donlan, Dirk Bogarde. July 200 Congress of the Congress of t

teriors have captured the charand splendor of these natural settings.

Plot is held together mainly by the individual performance of Miss Donlan, with a dumb blonde comedy portrayal which merits high praise. Male lead is played by Dirk Borgarde, who, as a travelling cheese salesman, gets caught up with the rival product, and overlooks his loyalty to his own employers. He doesn't fit too happily into the lighthearted atmosphere of the plot, although he's not too well served by the script. The three local statesmen are admirably played by Edwin Styles, Reginald Beckwith and Kynaston Reeves, and A. E. Matthews contributes a delightful characterization as Bogarde's irascible employer.

Myro.

More West Berlin Cinemas Than in Soviet Sector

Than in Soviet Sector

Berlin, July 15.

According to last statistics, 102 film theatres with 40,360 seats are registered in Berlin's Soviet sector, compared with 204 theatres and 94,000 seats in West Berlin.

Although eastern authorities never reveal their attendance figures, it is obvious that public interest in film going is poor. A complete lack of quality pix is the reason for this situation. Nearly all pix being shown in East Berlin are coming from Communistruled countries and are distributed by Progress Film, which is the only distribution outfit in East Germany.

Kramer's Itale Import

Kramer's Itale Import

Italian film star Milly; Vitale stars from Genoa next week for her first American film, "The Juggler," in which she will star opposite Kirk Douglas for Stanley
Kramer Co. at Columbia.
Miss Vitale arrives in New York Aug. 6 and will fly immediately to the Coast for wardrobe tests.

Theirs the great adventure...

The stirring tales of the pioneers who blazed America's trails were told in "The Covered Wagon"...

"Cimarron"... and "Red River."

And now...for the first time...

comes the towering story of the men who battered down the barriers to the untamed Northwest...and linked at with a great new Nation!

HOWAKE AWKS'

BIG, FOUR-COLOR
NAT'L. AD. BOOST!
NAT'L. AD. weekly magar full bages in top weekly magar full

Based upon the novel "The Big Sky" by Pulitzer Prize winner A. B. Guthrie, Jr.

(IRK DOUGLAS-DEWEY MARTIN-ELIZABETH THREATT-ARTHUR HUNNICUT

DIRECTED AND PRODUCED BY HOWARD HAWKS . SCREENPLAY BY DUDLEY NICHOLS . A WINCHESTER PRODUCTION

U Latest to Plan Newsreel Drive

" PICTURES XX. 1 20.

Despite recurrent talk of inroads of tele on newsreels, news outfits have been putting up a strong bid for survival and results so far have been extremely encouraging. Latest company planning a newsreel drive is Universal. Irving Sochin, re-cently-named shorts subjects and newsreel topper, feels that there's still plenty of biz to be had, and that exhibs have again realized the importance of news subjects on their programs.

Bearing out Sochin's contention are returns garnered by Paramount News and Warner-Pathe' in recent sales pitches. Both Par and Warner picked up between 1,500 to 1,800 new accounts each. Further indication of the reel outfit's desire to fight video competition is their frequent experimentation with different programming, seeking subjects that tele neglects and presenting the news in a more comprehensive manner. Reels are seen getting an added lift when they are presented in color, a move that appears not too distant. Warner has already indicated that it will release its newsreels in the future in its own-developed Warner-color, perhaps launching the tinted reels with its filming of the Coronation of England's Queen Elizabeth. Bearing out Sochin's contention Il's Sochin discounted talks of a U's Sochin discounted talks of a possible merger of several news butfits, feeling that current competition is good for all concerned. He believes that a theatregoen should have the opportunity to seenews reports of more than one company. Exec thinks it's a good dea for an exhib to book the reels of two companies for presentation an alternate programs.

'ANDERSEN' MAY MOVE INTO BROADWAY ASTOR

Samuel Goldwyn's "Hans Chris-ian Andersen" may go into the Astor, N. Y., for Christmas. Pic nas been seen by Russell Down-ng, managing director of the Mu-Hall, and is also a possibility or the giant showcase. However, rade reports are that since the ouse has been dependent on Metro broduct most of the year, Downing feels some obligation to give M-G he highly-valuable Christmas playing time.

olaying time.

Astor, owned by the City Investing Co., has Warner Bros.' "Lady of Fatima" booked to follow the urrent "Will Rogers," also WB. It has nothing beyond that, despite its preferential deal with Commbia. There's nothing definite hough yet on the Col release slate hat's suitable, with the result that operator Maurice Maurer is easting about for product and has been n telephonic confabs with Goldwyn on "HCA".

Ton Col output is being slotted wyn on "HCA".

Top Col output is being slotted nto Cl's sister house to the Astor, he Victoria. Col preferential deal ilso applies there. Following the fistrib's current "Walk East on Beacon," which winds up a 10-week itand next week, "Affair in Trinilad" (Rita Hayworth) comes in and then Stanley Kramer's "Four-Poster."

"Lady of Fatima" will preem lay-and-date at the Astor and Crismaller long-run house around the sorner from it, the Bijou. Plan, lepending on how strong biz proves, is to limit the Astor run when the b.o. starts to falter and dontinue indef at the Bijou.

Exhibition policy on "Hans Christian Andersen" won't be determined until the print arrives in New York about October, James A. Mulvey, prez of Samuel Goldwyn Porductions, said Monday (21). Mulvey explained that there would be several test engagements before it was decided whether ther'd be a pre-release, roadshowe or other special policy.

Goldwyn topper, accompanied by special policy.

Goldwyn topper, accompanied by ales chief Alfred W. Crown, resurned over the weekend from the Coast, where they attended a sneak of the pic and discussed plans with Goldwyn. Also in the huddles were Ned E. Depinet, RKO prexy, and Robert Mochrie, sales chief. Chey returned to New York yesterday (Tues.).

F & M RADIO QUIZZER HYPOES ST. L. BIZ

St. Louis, July 22.
Fanchon & Marco here has inaugurated a radio quizzer tieup with station KWK which has resulted in a b.o. hypo and has made natives more film-conscious. While attendance at its three deluxers, Fox and Missouri in midtown and Ambassador in the downtown sector, is not compulsory to cop cuffo ducats and cash prizes ranging from $25 to a jackpot of $500, exees of F&M have noted an increase in biz at the three houses since the tieup began.

The format of the gimmick is for Carl McIntyre, a local radio gabber using the tag of "Franchon & Marco's Movie Reporter," picking seven names, at random, from gapper using the tag of "Fanchon & Marco's Movie Reporter," plcking seven names, at random, from the phonebook and calling them to answer the question, "What pictures are being shown"—at one of the three houses. A time limit of 10 seconds is allowed for the reply and a correct answer cops $25 in cash, an incorrect one receiving cash, an incorrect one receiving two cuffo ducats to any of the incorrect one receiving houses.

If the first question is answered correctly a $500 cash award is offered for a more difficult quesonered for a more difficult ques-tion. This prize has yet to be copped. McIntyre's daily seven calls are woven into the four disk jock programs over KWK.

Mich. Allied Asks U. S. Act on Resorts' Free Pix

Act on Resorts' Free Pix
Detroit, July 22.
Allied Theatres of Michigan has protested to the Federal District Attorney in Grand Rapids and has asked the U. S. Senate Small Business Committee to investigate the practice of many resort operators in the Grand Rapids area of showing free 16m films supposedly distributed for educational use.
The free pix, Allied charges, are shown by the resort owners in competition with legitimate theatres. The 16m reels are screened in conjunction with paid-for-advertising cards on the screen from local merchants, and in many instances an additional collection of a voluntary nature is solicited.

5 at Work for M-G

Hollywood, July 22.
Start of "A Steak for Connie" makes a total of five pictures going into action at Metro during July.
Others are "Sombrero," "My Mother and Mr. McChesney," "The Girl Who Had Everything" and "Jeopardy."

pardy."
Van Johnson and Janet Leigh costar in "Steak," with Stephen Ames producing and Edward Buz-zell directing.

Anglo Embargo

Continued from page 4

have been added, including bonuses for production and for distribution of British product in the American market.

As a result of these additional devices; the amount of iced sterling has become almost negligable, and it's computed that in the current year Hollywood will withdraw between $25,000,000 and $26,000,000.

rent year Hollywood will withdraw between $25,000,000 and $26,000,000. With familiar British reticence the Board of Trade and Treasury have given no clue of their intentions. Only official warning was that given by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, early in the year, when he announced that the government would exercise its option and demand a revision of the two-year Anglo-U. S. pact on the expiration of the first year.

But the industry as a whole is allve to the seriousness of the situation. Exhibitors, producers and distributors will use all their influence to prevent any restriction in imports, emphasizing the necessity of Hollywood product to keep theatres open and earn the Eady money which is providing an invaluable subsidy for British filmmakers.

Opposition to this viewnoint will makers.

Opposition to this viewpoint will Opposition to this viewpoint will be confined to those few unions who are constituted in the Film Industry Employees Council. For months past they have been agitating for anti-Hollywood restrictions and are now prepping the final details of the campaign, which they hope to submit to the Chancellor of the Exchequer next month. A sub-committee of the unions concerned is meeting in London tomorrow (Wed.) to draft their memorandum to the Chancellor.

Lehman, Celler Aid Sought in Plea Vs. 20% Admish Taxes

Inclusion in the Democratic Party's platform of a measure looking to wipe out the 20% Federal admissions tax on theatres has been urged of New York's Sen. Herbert H. Lehman and Congressman Emanuel Celler. The two law-makers are members of the Dems' platform committee. platform committee.

platform committee.

Recommendation was made by Harry Brandt, N. Y. circuit op and president of the Independent Theatre Owners Assn. In a telegram to Lehman and Celler, he asked for a "plank in the party platform which will call for a review of the excise tax structure with a view to the complete elimination of excise taxes in industries which are threatened with disastrous consequences because of their existence."

Brandt argued that the excises are discriminatory and in many cases "act as a subsidy to Government at a time when the affected industries are fighting for survival." He added that the Government could actually increase its revenue via repeal of the excises, for this would bolster the industries involved and mean higher wages for more persons, consequently increasing corporate and personal income tax money.

Films Steamroll

These specialists it's said, favor taxing an industry such as films be-"non-essential service." This simply means the public is not forced to pay the tax, since there's no compulsion or necessity to attend theatres.

mecessity to attend theares.

Mpls. Tax Spearheads
Minneapolis, July 22.
LeRoy J. Miller, Universal branch manager, named local zone finance-committee chairman in the COMPO campaign to rub out the Federal 20% amusement tax, has appointed Harry B. French, Minnesota Amus. Co. president; Bennie Berger, North Central Allied head;
Eddie Ruben and Ted. Mann cochairmen.

The amount to be raised through contributions of exhibitors in the Minneapolis film zone is $7,170.

'Native Son'

Continued from page 7

state's Department of Education, parent body of the censorship divi-sion. London will argue the case before the court when it comes up before the court when it comes up in September.

Film was banned on the ground that it "is not of a moral, educational or amusing and harmless character." Censor board further stated that it was harmful because "contributes to racial misunder

it "contributes to racial misunder-standing, presenting situations un-desirable to the mutual interests of both races; against public inter-est in undermining confidence that justice can be carried out; presents racial friction at a time when all groups should be united against everything that is subversive." Film, English-language picture made in Argentina with author, Richard Wright, in the leading role, has played New York situa-tions after receiving the state's seal of approval.

Jules Stein

Continued from page 5
vaude*_will come ir to being,
Stein adds.

Maybe they will be telecast into theatres, but a new plus value for the picture houses is inevitable.
Stein thinks that certain fringe theatres must close, and that with more discriminating film clienteles, the grosses for top pictures will be greater than ever. He notes: "Howeved, I must say that film production can't improve much more; it's ever, I must say that film production can't improve much more; it's pretty darn good now."

The drive-ins are that "new form" of entertalment that Stein envisions, but he admits "it is limited because it's seasonal."

Doris (Mrs.) Stein is shuttling between London and Paris, and both are going to Salzburg and thence Cap d'Antibes for the month of August. She has been helping David Stein decorate the new MCA offices in Paris, situated in a private house near the Etoile. Latter Stein, head of MCA in France, is I.C.'s brother.

Simmons-Granger

tion, under protest, she notified thinking 'Well, this has been said RKO that if she won the court battle, her fee for the picture would be $250,000 and would hold RKO are made sensitive by it and it be $250,000 and would hold RKO weighs on them more than it does responsible to the tune of $1,000.

Oo if the film interfered with her plans to make "Young Bess" at Metro.

The Deadline
Hughes' dramatic statement that
Miss Simmons and her actor husband Stewart Granger signed the band Stewart Granger signed the settlement agreement one minute before an ultimatum, deadline—and after a night of vainly seeking modifications—does not square with the court record. Hughes contended that he had set a 9:30 deadline for signing and was en route to court to testify when notified that the Grangers had signed at 9:29 am.

However, plaintiffs' attorney Martin Gang announced in court that the papers had been signed at 6:30 a.m.—and the statement was not disputed by defense counsel W. I. Gilbert, Jr. The transcript shows the following colloquy:

The Court: "Did you get these motion picture people up at 6:30 this morning to sign those papers?" Gilbert: "I don't think they got to bed."

Gilbert: "I don't mink they got to bed."

Gang: "Some of them didn't get to bed. I was not one of those."

Hughes also stated that he had suggested the so-called "negotiable contract" under which Miss Simmons will make three pictures in the year beginning Feb. 1, 1953, under RKO auspices for $200,000 for the year. These pictures, however, cannot be made by RKO but will be made by any major or selected independent named by the studio.

Hughes suggested the compromise after Miss Simmons had flatly declared she would sign no settlement which involved further pictures for her at RKO.

Ne Tax Chizeling

No Tax Chizeling
In addition to winning the contract victory, Miss Simmons and Granger won a complete exoneration from Federal Judge Ernest A. Tolin of courtroom allegations that they had attempted tax-finagling in they had attempted tax-finagling in beginning contract negotiations with Hughes last year. The defense charged that manipulation of payment clauses to permit the Grangers to take advantage of the capital gains tax by padding the price of a house and book they were selling, and correspondingly reducing the amount of Miss Simmons' actual salary, put the plaintiffs in the position of coming into court with "unclean hands."

In a final statement, Judge Tolin declared that it was "unfortunate that fraud has been brought into the case by suggestion because it hasn't been brought into it by the evidence."

The court said it had "wondered" at the reason for the open court allegation of "unclean hands" since similar claims had been made in pre-trial memoranda and the opening statement "did not add anything except verbiage."

If he has hear hear at the same of the court
"It has been hinted at when the "It has been hinted at when the court had occasion to rule on a motion to limit the scope of the depositions." the judge commented. "I knew it before ever coming out to try the case. there people have been in a somewhat publicized case, subjected to an assertion that RKO and Mr. Hughes were going to prove that they were guilty of fraudulent intention and of overt acts looking toward fraud to an extent that a District Court of the U. S. could not grant them relief.

"I have been sitting here now.

"I have been sitting here now, and, as I say, it was 30 days yesterday since this case started, waiting for some evidence of that. I cannot say that the evidence bears out to any degree at all even a suggestion of fraudulent intent or of unclean hands on the part of these plaintiffs.

intent or of unclean hands on the part of these plaintiffs.

"There just is not any evidence of unclean hands or of any attempt to evade any tax. As I say, there isn't a suggestion in the evidence. There is a suggestion of it in the comments and in the arguments. There was an objective of proving it — but that has fallen short.

ments. There was an objective of proving it — but that has fallen short.

'Never Wipe Out the Harm . .'
"You never completely wipe out the harm that is done people by statements of that kind; although, on the other hand, the importance of the slur is sometimes over-emphasized too. People go about 11 Years Later Hollywood, July 22.

Mickey Rooney, Ray McDonald and Richard Quine, who teamed in Metro's "Babes on Broadway" 11 years ago, worked together again in Columbia's "All Ashore," just completed.

Rooney starred, McDonald was featured and Quine directed.

The court commented that it had had no "real confidence" in the possibility of a settlement and consequently had researched tax law sequently had researched tax law to determine what was applicable to the case. The findings, the judge said, convinced him that there was nothing wrong with the basic transaction in which Granger sought to sell the house and the book in a "package deal" for his wife's services.

"He bought the house before he "He bought the house before he realized the burden that a large house of that kind can be in Southern California, and he got more money in vested in it than he wanted to have invested in a house. He wanted a different type of establishment. He wanted to sell it. It was a drug on the market.

market.

"RKO wanted to employ his wife. What would be more natural to an astute man with managerial talents, which I think equal those of Mr. Allenberg (Bert Allenberg, William Morris Agency veepee), in so far as they were demonstrated in this case.

in this case.
"Certainly, were I an actor I would just as soon be represented by Mr. Granger as by the Morris Agency. He did a very good job."

would just as soon be represented by Mr. Granger as by the Morris Agency. He did a very good job."

Discussing the difference between tax evasion and tax avoidance, the court commented that a "package deal" of this kind might be wrong if badly inflated values were placed on the properties to be sold. However, he added "there isn't any evidence or suggestion that the Grangers felt their house to be worth less than 'they were asking for it. In fact, there is a lot of evidence that it was worth sustantially what they were asking in this contract.

"There isn't any evidence that the story was worth less. But suppose it were. If it were worth less, before you could call their transaction one in which they would be selling the services of Jean Simmons and calling it the price of the house, you would have to have an intent that they do that."

Under the terms of the settlement, Hughes pays all court costs and Gang's attorney fees of $35,000. Court costs include filing fees and the charge for the daily transcript, which hit a total of 1,961 pages. Transcript alone cost an estimated $3,000.

In winding up the courtroom battle, the judge echoed the sentiments of the handful of spectators and newsmen, commenting "It has been an interesting case in its broad aspects. At times it has be-and newsmen, commenting "It has been an interesting case in its broad aspects, At times it has be-come frightfully dull."

Exhibs-IATSE

Continued from page 3

jobs are in jeopardy in consequence of nosediving grosses, Don-jobs are in jeopardy in consequence of nosediving grosses, Donnelly says:

Among the proposals to be considered are a drive to get the families of all AFL unions to attend a film at least once a week and to get more actively into the fight for repeal of the Federal 20% amusement admission tax.

Eric Johnston, head of the Motion Pleture Assn. of America, will be present during the convention, which promises to be one of the largest in point of attendance ever held here. Donnelly predicts there'll be 5,000 convention delegates and guests on hand.

Approximately $20,000 will be spent by the local committee on arrangements. The International itself will dish out around $250,000 for auditorium space, banquets, botel rooms, mileage and other for auditorium space, banquets, hotel rooms, mileage and other delegate expenses, according to Donnelly. There'll be elaborate en-

The organization's board of directors will gather here a week ahead of the convention.

11 Years Later

French Decree

that's already frozen in France and they feel it imperative to get more than 90 licenses.

'No Subsidy' Stand
James A. Mulvey, prez of Samuel Goldwyn Productions and chairman of SIMPP's eastern distribution committee, found complete support among his members for a "no subsidy" stand. It is understood SIMPP would rather accept the 90-pic ceiling than go for the subsidy principle. Society objected to it in Italy and feels that any further acceptance would just lead to similar demands by other countries.

Mulvey feels that further nego-

Mulvey feels that further negotiations are imperative. Neither he nor Alfred W. Crown, Goldwyn sales chief, who repped SIMPP at earlier sessions in Paris, will go there, however.

there, however.

Meantime, MPAA speeded up by two days the departure for Paris of Ted Smith, former aide to John G. McCarthy, director of the international division of the association. Smith has been named the organization's Paris rep and planes out for the post today (Wed.). Already on the scene are Fayette W. Allport, London rep, and Eugene Van Dee, Rome rep, who also sat in on the original negotiations.

Actual negotiations will be in the

the original negotiations.

Actual negotiations will be in the hands of the U. S. State Dept., though it took a slap from the French with the issuance of the decree over the weekend. Ambassador James Dunn had requested the French only last Thursday (17) to postpone further talks for a month. They told him they would consider it, and he reported his opinion, which was transmitted by State Dept. to the MPAA, that he had won his point.

Two days later without any negotiations are supported.

nad won his point.

Two days later, without any notice whatsoever, the decree was issued. It obviously was in preparation at the very time that Dunn was huddling with the French Foreign Office, since it was signed by three ministers and by Premier Pinay.

Dunn was seeking the delay as a result of the stalemate resulting from two previous series of confabs with the French. These were handled by the State Dept. with industry reps sitting in as advisers. The subsidy plan and a cut to 90 imports annually were. suggested at that time, while the Yanks were plugging for free importation and free remittances.

The new degree sliges to 138 ply.

The new decree slices to 138 pix the 186 permitted from the entire world in previous years. There is no country-by-country breakdown, but MPAA reps were told orally that 90 permits would be allowed the U. S. Its previous quota was 121. Remittances Unmentioned

Remittances Unmentioned
There is likewise no mention of remittances, but word given out by the French is that American distribs would be permitted to withdraw $1,200,000 annually at the official exchange rate (350 francs to the dollar) and the rest at the capital rate (now about 372 to the dollar). Yanks have been getting about $4,500,000 out each year at the official rate, although everything has been blocked since last November.
The French have informed

New York Theatres

RABIO CITY MUSIC HALL RAY BOLGER : "WHERE'S CHARLEY?" A WARNER BROS, PICTURE IVE SPECTACULAR STARE PRESENTATION

teased U. S. pix in France to hold the distribs until late fall. It is imperative, however, that they get new ones in so that they can stant dubbing. They need the new pix, in addition, because pix dubbed in France are also used in Belgium, Switzerland and French-speaking Canada.

Canada.

The State Dept, is expected to put up a mighty holler at the treatment by the French, but actually it can't take more than remonstrative steps until the international session in October on the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade. France and the U. S. are both signatories and this country can make legal objection. Distribs can't wait that long, however.

There was brief talk in film cir-There was brief talk in film circles Monday of embargoing further imports to France and holding up release of pix already there. Thinking was that this would make French exhibs scream and bring pressure on the government. However, the idea was quickly dropped, since Yanks don't want to take chances with devaluation or other action against the $5,000,000 or so already blocked there.

State Dept is against a subsidy already blocked there.

State Dept. is against a subsidy in principle, just as SIMPP is. Whether MPAA could make a deal without either State or SIMPP is open to question. That leaves the situation far from resolution.

Repping the State Dept. in further talks with the French will be Gerald Mayer, of the Embassy staff. Henri Labouisse, who handled the earlier negotiations, is ill. Mayer who attended the previous sessions, is former topper of vious sessions, is former topper of the MPAA's international division and Continental rep of MPAA.

Chesler's Group

Continued from page 1

50c a year for four years or $6

down and 25c a year for four years.

The coin for financing this purchase reportedly will come from three sources. Chemical Bank & chase reportedly will come how three sources. Chemical Bank, & Trust Co., N. Y., and Mellon Bank, in Pittsburgh, would put up $7,500,000. DuMont and Chesler's associates would each put up an additional $2,500,000. That makes $12,500,000 available. If the $6 cash payoff plan is used, the $500,000 cash remaining will be held for working capital by the Chesler group.

Banking Setup

Howard Hughes, controlling stockholder in RKO, is reportedly personally guaranteeing $7,000,000 of the Chemical loan. A side facet of the deal is understood to be an arrangement by Mellon Bank to take Bankers Trust, N. Y., completely out of the RKO picture. Mellon and Bankers are partners now in a loan to RKO totalling more than $7,000,000, and Bankers is understood willing to get out. Chesler is understood to have is understood willing to get out.

Chesler is understood to have spent considerable time recently at the Mellon Bank in Pittsburgh with Noah Dietrich, Hughes' principal lieutenant, and Tom Slack, Hughes' lawyer. The Canadian was reported in New York yesterday
(Tues.) working out final details.
Move would still further strengthen Hughes' hold on RKO.
He now owns about 1,000,000 of the 3,900,000 shares outstanding. By reducing the outstanding shares by 2,000,000, which will be presented to RKO by Chesler for the negatives, Hughes will hold about 52% of the company. of the company.

of the company.

The reduction in shares will also greatly enhance the book value of the stock, which also makes the deal highly attractive to the RKO topper, Book value, as of last Dec. 31, was $9.10. By cutting the number of outstanding shares in half, book value is automatically doubled. Since the value of the negatives is carried on the books at the nominal figure of $1, selling off this asset does not depreciate the book value. the book value.

Also involved in the negotia-tions, it is understood, is Harry Gold, former sales chief for Hughes' indie product.

TV As Ad Medium . Urged on Exhibs By New England Assn.

Boston, July 22. Greater use of television as an advertising medium was urged upon producers and distributors this week by Independent Exhibitors, Inc., a New England theatremen's group affiliated with Allied States Assn. In raising the point in its current bulcan never quite figure out why the producers don't get to the public through their TV sets and show them trailers of the current movie hits at a time before they become a lost audience.

"With rare exceptions," the bulletin continues, "such as RKO's with 'Alice' and 'King Kong' (both very successful), producer-distributor interests are doing nothing to keep the public 'hep' as to what's going on in the theatres. The time to get to our audience is before show time, and TV is the best available medium to accomplish this, but for reasons unknown we, as an industry, are passing it up. Frankly, we don't understand. We're sending a copy of this to our producer-distributor associates and we will let you know what comes—if and when." "With rare exceptions," the bul-tin continues, "such as RKO's

Spingold's Coast Talks

Nate Spingold. Columbia veepee, left New York for the Coast last week for studio talks.

Exec, who is overall chief of company's publicity and advertis-ing, will confer with prexy Harry Cohn and other studio execs on up-coming product.

Souvaine-Levin

Continued from page 4

will probably be offered each film before the non-theatrical shows are attempted.

However, even where there is a theatre, Souvaine feels that one or two performances sponsored in their own auditorlums by church or civic groups might be valuable prior to a run in the theatre. It would be in the nature of a preview or a big-city charity preem and get word-of-mouth around that could help the exhib.

In addition to this aspect of the biz, Thomas will supervise regular regional sales reps handling product for theatres. Souvaine expects regional sales reps handing product for theatres. Souvaine expects to have 15 or 20 pix next season, almost all of them in English. Some are British-made, some have been shot in English in other countries and a few will have been shot with the sales are represented in the sale dubbed.

dubbed.

Souvaine, who set up his film outfit a couple years ago, is a TV and radio package producer. Thomas has been in distribution since 1913. He was one of the organizers of Monogram and later was president and general sales manager of PRC Picures. He resigned in 1947 and became prexy of Equity Pictures.

Levin until last year was ever

Levin until last year was exec v. p. of Confidential Reports, Inc., which he helped found in 1945. It was a co-op set up by the major distribs for theatre checking. He's also a vet distrib.

RKO Indie Deals

Continued from page 5

Revolutionary War hero. The other four productions will be announced later.

Deal is also in the works for RKO to acquire for release "Face to Face," two-part film produced by Huntington Hartford. Film consists of adaptations of two short stories, "The Secret Sharer," by Joseph Conrad, and "The Bride Comes to Yellow Sky," by Stephen Crane. James Mason stars in the former ahd Robert Preston has the lead in the latter.

On RKO's future reissue slate lead in the latter.

On RKO's future reissue slate are "Annie Oakley," starring Barbara's Stanwyck, and "Allegheny Uprising," starring John Wayne. Another package consists of "Look" Who's Laughing" and "Too Many Girls," both starring Lucille Ball. Latter includes Miss Ball's visavis, Desi Arnaz. Dual bills are set for re-release during August and September. Company is also weighing a package consisting of "Top Hat," Ginger Rogers-Fred Astaire starrer, and "Suspicion," starring Cary Grant.

Reagan Seeks Revival Of 'Loyalty Bd.' Plan

Hollywood, July 22.
Revival of the Motion Picture
Industry Council "loyalty board" proposal, recently defeated by a vote of the Screen Writers Guild, is being attempted by Ronald Reagan, president of the Screen Actors Guild and one of the plan's originators. He said the writers turned down the idea because of misun-derstanding and confusion, plus a "core of opposition from the little Red brothers."

Red brothers."

"The proposed committee," he added, "would not have been a loyalty board. I would be opposed to any loyalty board. I am against any private citizens acting as a court of judgment. This was not the purpose of the committee, which would have acted as a clearing house, permitting the freelancer unjustly accused of being subversive to make his position perfectly clear. My principal concern now is for those risking unjust discrimination because of unfair accusations."

M-G Fiscal Switch

Continued from page 5

table based on only 15% from the foreign market.

On the second front the Loew's adjustment in writeoffs showed the playoff of pix moving at close to the same rate in the early weeks after release date but subsenguently going slower. Consequently, the iy going slower. Consequently, the total cost of each film is now being written off on the basis of 44.1% at the end of 12 weeks instead of 44.8% as formerly, 67.7% at 24 weeks instead of 70.7%, 77.5% at 36 weeks instead of 85.1%, 87.7% at 52 weeks instead of 95% and 100% at 78 weeks, the same as formerly. 100% at formerly.

Changes were effectuated on March 13, 1952, Moskowitz said. He added that if the amortization table had continued unchanged, the corporation's profit for its recent 40-week fiscal period, which amounted to $4,478,133, wpuldhave been $117,082 less.

Another the Motion cil—this time Guille, the Motion of the Corporation of the Motion of the Corporation of the Motion
Loew's Expenses Up $4,355,000 For 40 Weeks

Loew's overall expenses increased by $4,355,000 in the 40 weeks ended last June 5, an adverse uptrend which clearly cued the corporation's current economy drive. Despite an improvement in gross income and tax benefits from prior years, the net earnings for the period were off due to the higher cost of operations.

Total revenue for the 40-week period reached $135,646,000 and costs amounted to $125,630,000. In the corresponding period of 1951, the gross income was listed at $132,883,000 and costs at $121,275,000.

the gross income was listed at $132,883,000 and costs at $121,275,000.

Loew's net profit for the new period was $4,478,133, equal to.87c per common share, it was reported at the weekend by Charles C. Moskowitz, v.p. and treasurer. This compares with a net of $5,507,619, or $1.08 per common share, in the corresponding 1951 period.

Earnings for the 12 weeks ended last June 5 were $740,817, or 14c per share, compared with $1,341,754, or 26c per share, for the 12 weeks ended June 7, 1951, Moskowitz reported.

Kon-Tiki Mdse Co.

Formation of Kon-Tiki Enterprises, Inc., by Sol Lesser productions, Rand-McNally Publishing Co. and Thor Heyerdahl, producer of the film, "Kon-Tiki," is disclosed with opening of headquarters in the film, "Kon-Tiki," is disclosed with opening of headquarters in Chicago.

New outfit was set up to merchandise articles bearing a "Kon-Tiki" motif, such as table lamps, beckende aloake of the control of the contro bookends, clocks, etc.

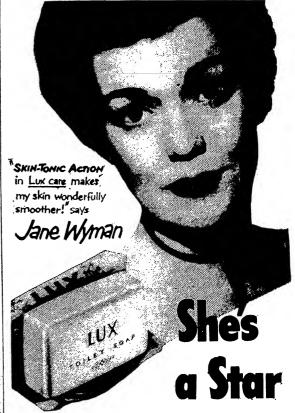

AMG Exits MPIC

Hollywood, July 22.

Another member group 'ankled the Motion Picture Industry Council—this time the Artists Management Guild—because of a hassle over assessments and policies.

Action followed that of the Screen Directors Guild a few months ago.

She's Lux Lovely

See Jane Wyman "THE STORY OF WILL ROGERS" co-starring in

A WARNER BROS. PRODUCTION TECHNICOLOR NOW SHOWING LOCALLY

Clips From Film Row

NEW YORK

Warner Bros, district managers to their respective territories over the weekend following a two-day sales confab at the homeoffice. Session, presided over by Ben Kalmenson, distribution v.p., wound up Friday (18). Plans for pix to be released from now through the first of the year were discussed at the palaver.

ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS

Tom Bloomer, prez of MPTOA of Eastern Missouri and Southern Illinois, set Sept. 29-30 as date for annual meeting to be held here.

A pass good for 30 days was awarded to every person in Dexter, Mo., who was born on July 7, 1907 as part of the 45th anni celebration of the lighting of the Weeks Theatre, town's first film house.

Mrs. Edith Major lighted her new drive-in near Paris, Mo., and A. Schwartz plans an early lighting of new ozoner near Sullivan, Mo.

Ansell Bros., reopened their Empress, St. Louis, for pictures until legit season starts in Sept.

Midwest Theatres, Boston, Mass., relighted its Overland, St. Louis County.

Recent shutterings in St. Louis area include. the Uptown, owned by A. L. Matrect; the Capitol, a St. Louis Amus. Co., unit., the Downing owned by J. R. and Earl Ruth, Downing, Mo.; the Ricky, Mattoon, Ill. owned by Tom Baker.

Turner-Farrar Assm., owner and operators of theatres in southern Illinois applied to FCC for a television station in Harrisburg, Ill.

PITTSBURGH

PITTSBURGH

Charles Dortic, Columbia's branch manager in Albany for several years, returned to Pittsburgh as company's salesman in the West Virginia territory. Transfer was at his own request. Dortic, who formerly worked here for WB, UA and U. replaces Jack Jackter, who joins sales staff of the Washington, D. C., exchange.

Wayne McPeak resigned as manager of the Manos Theatre in Tarentum.

Bernadine Loper resigned her post at the Columbia exchange, and a new employee there is Virginia Bayles, who was on the local 20th-Fox staff some time ago.

Percentage suits filed by RKO, 20th-Fox, Par and Loew's against the Ligonier, Pa., theatre settled out of court by defendants James A. Alexas, Alex Alexas and J. E. Williams. They no longer have the house. It's being operated under lease by Clyde S. Waugmaman.

Jim Vazzana resigned his sales berth at the Monogram exchange. Regis Burns named supervising manager of the three Blatt Bros. drive-ins in the Eric district the Sky-Way, Lawrence Park and the Star. Until his shift, Burns directed publicity and advertising for the Blatt circuit from its headquarters in Pittsburgh.

CHICAGO A

Harry Brown returns as manager of the Oriental when it reopens July 29 with "Son of Paleface." Larry Stein will do press.
Charles Walters elected to Voriety Club board, replacing Leo Miller resignad.

Larry Stein will go press.
Charles Walters elected to Variety Club board, replacing Leo Miller, resigned.
Capitol, Morrison, Ill., sold to LeRoy B. McMahon, who also operates the Gran, Granville, Ill.
RKO, Columbia, and 20th all filed denials to the $24,000,000 Essaness suit this week.
RKO Theatres moving its midwest headquarters from Chicago to Cincinnati. Jerome Schimbach, present division manager, switches to new center, but Frank Smith, labor relations contact, remains in Chicago. RKO new has only one theatre here, the Grand.
Metropolis Corp., group of bondholders in the Oriental Theatre Bldg., appealing to Illinois Supreme Court for an accounting of the Double B Co., last operators of the house before it shuttered June 4. Indie reopens July 29 under Walco Corp. management.

MINNEAPOLIS

MINNEAPOLIS

Federal amusement admissions fax collections for June, mainly from film theatzes, were $508,000. compared to $599,000 for the same 1951 month, reflecting declining boxoffice trend.

M.E.E., comprising leading Twin Cities conventional theatre owners, inaugurating "buck night" at one of their five Minneapolis-St. Paul area ozoners, the Starlite, with a carload admitted for the single $1 admission.

M. A. Levy, 20th-Fox district

S. W. 30,1.6.

manager, held sales meeting of Kansas City, St. Louis, Omaha and Des Moines staffers under his jurisdiction.

Art Anderson, promoted from Warner midwest to prairie district manager, moving to Chicago where he'll make his headquarters.

Gene Sichelman, Columbia homeoffice play representative, a visitor.

Republic lining up saturation bookings for "Women of Wilderness," formerly titled "Minnesota," which has its world premiere in Duluth and here July 23 and 24.

LeRoy J. Miller, Universal branch manegar, named distributor-chairman for the COMPO sponsored "The Real Miss America" short.

LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES

M. & A. Alexander Productions bought distribution rights to "Alaska Patrol," an Edward L. Alperson picture formerly released through Film Classies.

George A. Hickey, Metro's western sales manager, conducting meetings with branch managers in Salk Lake City and San Francisco to discuss fall release lineup.
Gilbert Souto resigned as foreign publicity director for Walt Disney Productions and left for Rio de Janeiro, his native city, to become ad-pub director for the Brazilian branch of United Artists.
Sid Plnk, sales manager for Arch
Oboler Productions, closed a deal with British-Lion for United Kingdom distribution of "The Twonkey" and "The Day After Tomorrow."

BALTIMORE

BALTIMORE

Loew's Parkway, deluxe nabe here, sold to Morris A. Mechanic, who operates the downtown New and the nearby Centre. Mechanic will shutter the house which at one time was one of the top profit makers in town. Plans for an office building or supermarket to replace, are being muled.

Elimination of the Parkway, now-leaves Loew's with only the deluxe Century operating here, where it previously operated along with the Parkway, the Stanley, turned back to Warner Bros., and the Valencia, atop the Century, darkened some months ago. Chain maintained a district office here which was subsequently switched to Washington. It also employed a city manager and publicity director in addition to individual house managers.

DENVER

Warren Butter resigned as manager of the Paramount, and went to Salida, Colo., as city manager for Atlas Theatres.

Helen Stone, 20th-Fox secretary, on film row many years, quits to enter other business.

E. J. Touey, 60, long-time theatre man, died after long illness at his Grant, Neb. home.
Don Lappin, who recently resigned as Broadway manager, now managing the Ritz.

Tom Bailey adds franchise of Mutual Productions to his Lippert Pictures agency.

REGINA, SASK.

Joe deVries, Winnipeg, new manager of Roxy and Princess theatres at Melville, Sask., owned by Jack Zalitzow. Succeeds Joe Harris who moved to Winnipeg.

Administrator of the theatres branch of the provincial labor department for the past year, R. E. Tiffin, Regina, resigned to enter private business at Indian Head, Sask.

DALLAS

DALLAS

Sunset Theatre, Houston, leased by Carlton Paulson, Helen Buckner, Charles Maisel, Jimmy Jeter, Clinton Howard and Carrol Graham and reopens later this month as Academy Theatre. Group will show only Oscar winning films opening with "The Song of Bernadette." Jeter will manage house. Harry Gould, 67, retired as manager of Palace Theatre, Fort Worth. In show business for 50 years, he managed the Palace the past 26 years.

Beulah Green named assistant manager of State Theatre, San Antonio. Her old post as cashier of the Aztec will be taken by Barbara Moorehead.

Bob Vaught purchased the Rio Theatre at Dayton from J. G. Long Theatre at Dayton from J. G. Long Theatre at Circuit with headquarters at Bay City, Vaught operates theatres at Cross Plains and Baird, Tex.

Jee Brown, city manager in Tex-

++++++++++ | Holdovers Sustain Omaha, 'Courier' Eyes Good 91/2G

Courier Eyes Good 9½G Omaha, July 22.
Business evidently okay from the holdoyers. "Lovely to Look At' went into its third week at the Omaha. Of the new pictures, "Diplomatic Courier" at the Orpheum with "Fort Defiance" had a good opening. "Skirts Ahoy" went into the State last Tuesday (22) following two weeks of "Carbine Williams" and "When in Rome." "Walk East on Beacon" and "Brave Warrior" at the Brandels not very impressive.

at the Brandels not very impressive.

Estimates for This Week
Brandels (RKO) (1,500; 16-70)—
"Walk East on Beacon" (Col) and
"Brave Warrior" (Col). Not so hot $6,000. Last week, "Rancho: Notorious" (RKO) and "Tembo" (RKO), light $5,000.

"Diplomatic Courier" (20th) and
"Fort Defiance" (UA). Opened
Friday and may get $9,500. Last week, "Scaramouche" (M-G) and
"Here Come the Marines" (Mono), above first estimate with $10,500.

Omaha (Tristates) (2,100; 16-70)
—"Lovely to Look At" (M-G) (3d wk). Still doing nicely at $7,500.
Last week, very good $9,000.
State (Goldberg) (865: 25-76)—
"Carbine Williams" (M-G) and
"When In Rome" (2d wk). Okay at $5,000. Last week, $5,500.

DENVER

DENVER

(Continued from page 8).
$14,000 and holding. Last week,
"Pat and Mike" (M-G) (4th wk).
Fair $6,000.
Denham (Cockrill) (1,750; 40-85).
—"Jumping Jacks" (Par). (2d wk).
Fair $9,500 but holds. Last week,
big $16,500.
Denyer (Fox) (2,525; 40-85).
—"Lydia Bailey" (20th) and "Return of Frank James" (20th), day-date with Esquire. Fair $13,000. Last week, "Winning Team" (WB) and "Outlaw Women" (Lip), good $16,000.

week, "Winning Team" (WB) and "Outlaw Women" (Lip), good $16,000.

Esquire (Fox) (742; 40-85) — "Lydia Balley" (20th) and "Return of Frank James" (20th) as Denver. Fair $2,500. Last week, "Winning Team" (WB) and "Outlaw Women" (Lip), good $3,000.

Orpheum (BKO) (2,600; 40-85)—"Robin Hood" (RKO) Fine $16,000 and holds. Last week, "Skirts Ahoy" (M-G) and "Breakdown" (Indie) (2d wk). Fair $10,000.

Paramount (Wolfberg) (2,200; 40-85)—"She's Working, Her Way Through College" (WB). Big $16,500 and holds. Last week, "Criple She's Working, Her Way Through College" (WB). Big $16,500 and holds. Last week, "Criple Creek" (C01) and "Red Show" (Col), fine $14,000.

Tabor (Fox) (1,967; 40-85)—"Ivory Hunter" (U) and "Just Across the Street" (U), as Aladdin, Webber. Good $8,000. Last week, "Valley of the Eagles" (Lip) and "Stolen Face" (Lip), good $7,500: Vogue (Fike) (600; 50-85)—"Adventuress." (Indie), dull $1,600.

Webber (Fox) (750; 40-85)—"Ivors the Street" (U), as Aladdin, Tabor. Good $3,750. Last week, "Valley of the Eagles" (Lip) and "Just Acro:s the Street" (U), as Aladdin, Tabor. Good $3,750. Last week, "Valley of the Eagles" (Lip) and "Stolen Face" (Lip), good $4,000.

KANSAS CITY

KANSAS CITY

KANSAS CITY

(Continued from page 8)
mouche" (M-G) (2d wk), good $8,500.
Missouri (RKO) (2,650; 50-57)—
"California Conquest" (Col) and
"Cripple Creek" (Col). Fairish $5,000. Last week, "Walk East on Beacon" (Col) and "Brave Warrior" (Col), same Paramount (Tri-States) (1,900; 50-69)—"Jumping Jacks" (Par) (2d wk). Holds to great $11,000, and will hold again. Last week, sock $18,000, best money here in many weeks.
Tower, Uptown, Fairway, Granada (Fox Midwest) (2,100, 2,043, 700, 1,217; 50-75)—"Has Anybody Seen My Gal?" (U) at all four houses, with "Wagons West" (Mono) added at Tower and Granada. Topping average for $14,000. Last week, "Woor Hunter" (U) and "Valley of Eagles" (Lippert), so-so $11,000.
Vogue (Golden) (500; 50-85)—"Odette" (Indie). Mild $1,400. Last week, "Wooden Horse" (Indie), satisfactory $1,500.

SEATTLE

SEATTLE

(Continued from page 9)
in His Arms" (U) (2d wk), oke
$7.400.
Palomar (Sterling) (1,350; 50-$1)
—"East on Beacon St." (Col) plus
Yvette Dare and burley stage show.
Great $12,000 on eight days. Last week (45-70) "6 Convicts" (Col) and "Half Breed" (RKO) (2d runs), slow six days, $2,600.
Paramount (Evergreen) (3,039;
65-90) — "Diplomatic C ou rier"
(20th) and "Maytime in Mayfair"
(Indie). Cood $8,000. Last week, "Wagons Wes." ("Iono) and "eudin' Fools" (Mono), slow $4,600.

Picture Grosses

BOSTON

(Continued from page 8)

(Continued from page 8)
wk). Dipped to about $14,000 following neat $23,500 for first.
Metropolitan (NET) (4,367; 85-$1.25)—"Captain Firate" (Col), Johnnie Ray and others onstage.
Opened fair Fri. (18); figures at disappointing $40,000. Last week.
"Wait Till Sun Snines, Nellie"
(20th) and "Navajo" (Lip). Sluggish $11,500 for eight days.
Orpheum (Loew) (3,000; 40-85)—"Pat & Mike" (MG) and "Montana Territory" (Col) (2d wk). Off to about $10,000 following oke $15,500 for first.
Paramount (NET) (1,700; 40-85)

Paramount (NET) (1,700; 40-85)

"Working Way Through College"
(WB) and "Wagons West" (Mono)
(2d wk). Oke $9,500 after $13,500 last.

State (Loew) (3,500; -40-85)—
"Pat & Mike" (M-G) and "Montana Territory" (Col) (2d wk. Near $6,000 after nice $10,800 in first.

St. Loo Okay; 'Gal' 11G, 'Courier' Fast $17,500

'Courier' Fast $17,500

St. Louis, July 22.

Hot interest via TV in Democratic national convention is cutting into grosses at mainstemmers after fine biz was racked up over the weekend. "She's Working Her Way Through College" is off to a nice start as is "Francis Goes to West Point."

Estimates for This Week.
Amhassador (F&M) (3,000; 60-75)—"Anybody Seen My Gal" (U) and "Red Ball Express" (U). Good $11,000. Last week, "San Francisco Story" (WB) and "Vailley of the Eagles" (Lip), nice $9,500. Fox (F&M) (5,000; 60-75)—"Frances Goes to West Point" (U) and "Ivory Hunter" (U). Opened today (Tues.). Last week, "Diplomatic Courier" (20th) and "Lady in Iron Mask" (20th), swell $17,500.

Loew's (Loew) (3,172; 50-75)—"Pat and Mike" (M-G) (2d wk). Neat $12,500 following solid $18,000 for first stanza.

Missouri (F&M) (3,500; 60-75)—"She's Working Her Way Through College" (WB) and "Pace That Thrills" (RKO). Good $14,000. Last week, "Just Across the Street" (U) (2d wk), trim $12,500. "Shady Oak (St. L. Amus.) (1,000; 75-90)—"My Son John" (Par). Modest $4,500. Last week, "Man in White" (U) (5th wk), fair $3,000.

LOUISVILLE

(Continued from page 8)

(Continued from page 8)
week, same bill managed sturdy $3,500.
Mary Anderson (People's) (1,200;
54-75)—"She's Working Her Way Through College" (WB). Pacing the town, and looks to return big $8,500, plenty good considering current hot spell. Last week,
"Winning Team" (WB) (2d wk), neat $5,500.

$8,500, plenty good considering current hot spell. Last week, "Winning Team" (WB) (2d wk), neat $5,500.

Riaito (Fourth Avenue) (3,000; 54-75) — "Diplomatic Courier" (20th) and "Corporal Dolan Goes AWOL" (Rep). Indicated $8,000. light. Last week, "Clash By Night" (RKO), okay $9,500.

State (Loew's) (3,000; 54-75)— "Lovely To Look At" (M-G) (2d wk). Well-liked film, but wicket response on ho. week is sluggish. Mild $8,000. Same pic chalked up nice $10,000 on opening stanza. Strand (FA) (1,200; 54-75)—"Tembo" (Indie) and "Narrow Margin" (RKO). Modest summer fare. likely fair $3,000 in sight. Last week, "Valley of Eagles" (Lip) and "Loan Shark" (Lip), okay $3,500.

CLEVELAND

(Continued from page 9)

(Continued from page 9)
wk). Smart $11,000 on h.o., following $16,000 for last bout.
Stillman (Loew's) (2,700; 55-80)
—"Fort Osage" (Mono) and "Waco" (Mono). Lively $7,000. Last week, "Anything Can Happen" (Par) and "Aaron Slick" (Par), poor $4,000.
Tower (Scheftel-Burger) (500; 55-80)—"Wild Heart" (RKO) (m.o.).
Well fiked at $2,500. Last week, "Konga, Wild Stallion" (Col) and "Yank in Indo-China" (Col) (reissues), okay $2,400.
Lower Mall (Community) (585; 55-80)—"Diamond City" and "Fighting Rats of Tobruk" (Indie). Hiked by controversial uncensored newsreel, shown on bill to test legality of Ohio's film censorship laws, but sighting mild $2,500. Last week, "Geisha Girl" (Indie) (2d wk) and "Schoth Collegation (196)

WASH. LAGS, BUT 'WALK' 14G, 'COURIER' 18G

Washington, July 22.
With a few exceptions, business on the main stem is only fair to middling as programs change from sock to so-so product. The bright spots are "Walk East on Beacon" and "Diplomatic Courier."

Estimates for This Week

spots are "Walk East on Beacon" and "Diplomatic Courier."

Estimates for This Week
Capitol (Loew's) (3,434; 55-95)—
'Lady in Iron Mask" (20th) plus vaude. Fair $15,000. Last week, "Pat and Mike" (M.-G) '12d wk) and vaude, sock $21,000.

Dupont (Lopert) (372; 50-85)—
'Under Paris Sky" (Indie) (3d wk), $4,000. Last week, "Never Take No for Answer" (Indie) (3d wk), satisfactory $3,000.

Keith's (RKO) (1,939; 50-85)—
'Robin Hood" (RKO-Disney) (3d wk), Very good $13,000 after fat $15,000 in second lap.

Metropolitan (Warner) (1,200:50-80)—"Denver and Rio Grande" (Par), Soso $4,500. Last week, "Atomic City" (Par), okay $5,100.

Palace (Loew's) (2,370; 50-80)—
'Diplomatic Courier" (20th). Going strong at $18,000 and probably holds. Last week, "Kangarov" (20th). fair $1,000.

Playbouse (Lopert) (485; 50-$1)—"Marrying Kind" (Col) (7th and last wk). Nice $4,000 after $3,500 in previous week.

Warner (WB) (2,174; 50-80)—
"California Conquest" (Col). Average $10,000. Last week, "Encore" (Par) (9th wk). Okay finish at $4,000.

Ontario (K-B) (1,424; 44-74)—
"Lydia Bailey" (20th) (3d wk).
Olway $6,000 after better than expected $8,100 in previous week.

'Courier' Healthy 12G,

'Courier' Healthy 12G,

'Kong' 18G in Prov.

Providence, July 22.

Opening to terrific biz, "King Kong" is leading RKO Albee to bigger gross than most first-runs. Strand with "Jumping Jacks" and Majestic with "Diplomatic Courier" are very steady. Loew's holding over with "Pat and Mike."

Estimates for This Week Albee (RKO) (2,200; 44-65)—"King Kong." Terrifically big opening day. Gross may be kept down because it's the small fry which is filling the house, but management is still claiming a cloud-busting $18,000. Last week "Wild Heart" (RKO) and "Narrow Margin" (RKO), nice $7,800.

Majestic (Fay) (2,200; 44-65)—"Diplomatic Courier" (20th) and "3 for Bedroom C" (WB). Healthy $12,000. Last week, "She's Working Way Through College" (WB) and "House of 1,000 Women" (20th), nice $8,000.

State (Loew) (3,200; 44-65)—"Pat and Mike" (M-G) and "Holiday for Sinners" (M-G) and "Red Snow" (Col), fair $5,500.

'Married' Perky $8,000 'Kong' Fat 8G in Buff

Buffalo, July 22.
"We're Not Married," and "King Kong" are best of the new entries, Martin & Lewis' "Jumping Jacks,"
in second week at the Paramount, is holding firm after a smash initialer.

in sholding firm after a smass intitaler.

Estimates for This Week
Buffalo (Loew's) (3,000; 40-70)—
"Diplomatic Courier" (20th) and
"You Can't Beat the Irish" 'Lip.
Slim $10,000. Last week 'Lovely to Look At' (M-G) (2d wk), $6.350.

Paramount (Par) (3,000; 40-70)—
"Jumping Jacks" (Par) and "Fort Osage" (Mono) (2d wk). Trim $12.000 after smash $22.000 last week.

$12,000 after smash $22,000 last week.

Center (Par) (2,100; 40-70)—
"We're Not Married" (20th, Perky $8,000. Last week, "The Winning Team" (WB) (2d wk), $5,000.

"Lafayette (Basil) (3,000, 40-70)—
"Paula" (Col) and "Red Snow" (Col). Fair $7,500. Last week, "Sally and Saint Anne" (U) and "Pirate Submarine" (Col), $6,500.

Century (20th Cent.) (3,000; 40-70)—"King Kong" (P.O) and "The Leopard Man" (RKO) (refissues). Good $8,000. Last week, "Lady in Iron Mask" (20th) and "Kansas Territory" (Col), same.

111 111 111 111 11 401

UA's Average Billings

That would be $105,000 on a $350,000 week. Cost of the domestic operation, including homeoffice, exchanges and other expenses is around $90,000 a week. That would give the company a profit
every week.

In addition, the families of the families of the constant of the company and the company a profit
every week.

In addition, the families of the company and the company a profit of the co

In addition, the foreign depart-In addition, the foreign department has been put on a substantial black-ink basis since Arnold Picker was named its chief last fall. It has taken him most of that time to reorganize and solve many problems, but momentum was finally achieved in May and a reasonably good income is expected to show up on the end-of-the-year tally

Revolving Fund Eaten Up

Company's current problem is that it has pretty well chewed up the $2,000,000 revolving fund set up when the Krim group took over by Walter E. Heller & Co., Chicago financial outfit, for backing indie pix. Money is virtually all committed now and the fund must await return from Heller-financed pix before further loans in any substantial number can be made.

Krim and his associate, Robert Krim and his associate, Robert S. Benjamin, were in Chicago reportedly to huddle with Heller on this subject last week. Since the Heller coin is being used only as first-money—a relatively safe position—and payoff looks certain on virtually all the pix he has financed, Krim and Benjamin are understood taiking with him on the possibility of extending the size of the revolving fund.

Availability of the Heller money possibility of extending the size of the revolving fund.

Availability of the Heller money to UA has given the distrib the possibility of appreciably strengthening its income. In the case of most pix for which UA has obtained angeling from Heller for the producer, UA has taken a piece of the pic. Since its piece is based on producers' profits, it doesn't mean much in many cases. Nevertheless, it gives the company a potential that can be realized but of eventual TV and other residual rights, and after UA has enough of such stakes they could mean a substantial income each year. It has always been agreed previously that no company can live satisfactorily on distribution fees alone.

Heaviest Income

factorlly on distribution fees alone. Heaviest Income Heaviest Part of 'UA's income this year has come from "African Queen," Sam Splegel-John Huston film which has proved tremendously successful. It alone, will bring the company about $1,000,000 in distribution fees. The high point in UA billings, well over $400,000 weekly, was achieved when "Queen" was at its peak.

An even bigger third quarter than the first or second stanza is expected by UA toppers. For the first time since they've taken over, they'll have more than one "big" picture—that's any film that promises more than $1,000,000 domestic in UA parliance—in release during a single quarter.

The "big" pix will be Stanley Kramer's "High Noon" and David Rose's "Island of Desire," both about to be released. In addition, they'll overlap "Queen," which has been in distribution less than six months and is still bringing in considerable coin.

The UA execs see in "Noon" and "Desire" a challenge. Last considerable coin.

The UA execs see in "Noon" and "Desire" a challenge. Last year, trade opinion was that the company by its prolonged period of sparse and poor product had lost its capacity to bring in substantial grosses. When that was belied by the returns on "Queen," the word was that UA could do it by concentrating everything on one pic at a time. Now the company hopes to show producers that it can take multiple films simultaneously and get good grosses on them. grosses on them.

workers are ramity men making grosses on them.

Healthy, Liquid Position

Substantial level of profit at which UA has operated this year has been stashed away by Krim and Benjamin to give the company a healthy, liquid cash position. Thus, when Pathe in a suit versus UA a couple weeks ago attached two New York bank accounts totalling $600,000, not one of the company's checks bounced. There was still plenty of cash in other accounts to cover them. It is understood that the distrib has more than $1,000,000 in cash on hand at the moment, although some of this is in a special fund sheing built up to guarantee the lieller loans. Money belonging to account.

Despite the considerable im provement in UA's affairs since Krim and associates took over in March, 1951, they are far from complacent about the future. They feel that there are still plenty of hurdles.

hurdles.

One problem is to assure itself a continued supply of product. More generally, UA faces the same hazards as the entire industry in a decline of grosses due to TV and other causes. It feels it has a certain advantage in this respect however, in that it has no financial investment in plx or no other major assets, such as a studio, that might turn into a liability via the heavy overhead changes it imposes. UA's TV distribution department heavy overhead changes it imposes.

UA's TV distribution department figures in its thinking of the future, but there are no immediate plans to enhance it. It's now breaking even, and the company exces hope to maintain it on that level or a little better until they're licked the problem of financing their theatrical product.

They figure that to make an their theatrical product.

They figure that to make an important moneymaker of the telepix division, they'll have ty finance packages. Making a series of 26 or 39 of such films at $25,000 each tles up tremendous amounts of coin—beyond what the market is now able to return. UA feels that it is not in position yet to gamble on residuals that might take years to realize and against which reserves must be set up that mar the company's fianancial pleture.

'Greatest Show' Smash $33,300 in Coast Ozoners

Los Angeles, July 22.

Growing importance of the rive-in theatre in the film industry was demonstrated by the first week's boxoffice returns on "The Greatest Show On Earth" in six theatres in this territory. Three ozoners, with only one show an evening, raked in a total of $33,300 for the week, while the three conventional houses drew $21,900, including evening and matinee Breakdown on the ozoners dis-Breakdown on the ozoners dis-closes that the Century collected $12,000, the El Monte $10,800 and the Olympic $10,500. Details of the hard-tops are: California, $8,-600; Vogue, $7,100, and Roxy, $6,-200. Combined capacity of the drive-ins is 2,200 cars or 4,950 per-sons. Conventional houses total 2,885 seats.

20th Execs Condemn Unfair Commie Raps

Unfair Commie Raps
Hollywood, July 22.
Unfair charges of Communism leveled at the motion picture industry were condemned by 20th-Fox executives at the annual meeting of the studio's American Legion Post. Declaring the Commy situation in Hollywood is 1,000% improved today as compared with 1945, Fred S. Meyer, studio director of industrial relations, said: "If outsiders are permitted to continue to level blank charges of 'Communism in Hollywood' without a voice being raised as to the actual facts, a great injustice will be done to a great injustice will be done to a great injustice will be done to a great industry that has done and is doing so much for so many."
Fred L. Metzler, studio treasurer, pointed out that 26,000 film employees contributed $1,200,000 to national and local charities last year, and added: "Our production workers are family men making their contribution to the future of the country. Two-thirds of them own their own homes, 79% are married and 50% have children."

Sept. 15 New Deadline For Rackmil Replies To Stockholder Suit

Sept. 15 has been set as the new deadline for answers to be made by Milton Rackmil, Universal-Decca president, and officers and directors of U in the action brought by U stockholder Florence Long. by U stockholder Florence Long The date for answering Miss Long' complaint has been postponed sev

Miss Long contends that the stock transactions by which Decca obtained control of U had the ef-fect of enriching the defendants at the expense of the film company. the expense of the film company. She demands an injunction and an

Drive-Ins

the drive-ins to take early runs that don't materially help their business, but can seriously hurt competing four-wall houses."

Moral Suasion

Moral Suasion

Regardless of their own preferences, the distribs can do no more than use moral suasion in holding back runs. It's like trying to hold back the sun, however, since the drive-in ops have every legal right on their side. If they want to compete with standard theatres for product, the law requires that distribs give them an equal chance.

Actually, the ozone men claim that earlier runs do give them more biz. They say they've done well with the late availabilities, but when they see houses in other parts of the country doing even better with diminished clearances, they want to get into the act.

While grosses can be pushed up

While grosses can be pushed up some cases with better runs. in some cases with better runs, that doesn't necessarily mean an improvement in net. The earlier the run, the higher the film rental. Instead of cheap, flat rentals on which many outdoor ops were making a handsome buck, they're paying percentages for early runs, and it is not always profitable.

it is not always profitable.

The 3,800 or so drive-ins in the U.S. are figured to be giving distribs almost 20% of all film rentals. Number of ozoners has continued to increase despite Federal building restrictions and those that are no longer going great biz are paradoxically that it is a result of their own success. It has developed such competition in some areas, such as Denver and Charlotte, that there are hardly enough cars to go around.

Reade Ozoners Use Circus Acts To Up B.O.

Drive-in theatres of the Walter Reade circuit are again stimulating business through use of circus-type acts during intermissions as well as for afternoon teaser shows. Chain, which has five ozoners in New Jersey and one in New York, booked such turns to advantage last year. The repeat was decided upon in light of favorable audience reaction in 1951.

Four different acts have been inked to date. They include Penney Millette, a sway-pole artist; The Stardusters, another sway-pole turn; The Great Wilno, billed as "the human cannonball," and Will Hills' Circus. Latter comprises an elephant, a pony and a dog.

Occasionally, free teaser shows are given in play areas during the afternoon. For example, at Reade's Eatontown, N. J., Drive-In last week Miss Millette climbed a 125foot pole before a group of mostly moppets. She waved to the kids and urged them to come back at night.

Flatbush Theatre, B'klyn, Converting to Stores

Plans have been set in motion for converting the Flatbush Theatre, Brooklyn, formely a link in the "Subway Circuit," into stores and offices. House has been sold by William Brandt to Samuel and Morton Smith, real estate operators and builders.

House has been owned and oper House has been owned and operated for many years by the Brandts, but the site of building became too valuable for a theatre property and has long been sought as site for a business development. It is assessed at $235.000.

Industry's Promotional Ad Campaign Going Almost Unnoticed by Filmites

Develop Press Setups For Variety Clubs

Las Vegas, July 22.

Chief Barker Ben Goffstein and crew of Variety Club Tent.No. 39 named Eugene Murphy of Wilbur Clark's Desert Inn as press rep to assist the local tent in securing local and national publicity for Variety Clubs International.

Under direction of International Press Guy Jack Chisholm of Associated Screen News, Ltd., Toronto, a new pub relations program is a new pub relations program is being organized. Each tent will have a press rep who'll collaborate with information media in his own with information media in his own community.

Action was decided upon at the Variety Clubs' annual convention held here last May in order to acquaint the public with humanitarian work being done by members of the amusement industry. About $3,000,000 annually is spent by the organization in helping handicapped and underprivileged children throughout the world.

Decca a Very Going Co., Filmites Find

Decca Records has been paying dividends to stockholders regularly since 1937, but in varying amounts, the platter outfit has in formed the Securities & Exchange

	Gross	Net Profit
1942	$10,135,000	$ 806,142
1943	11,351,000	1,036,000
1944	13,561,000	1,000,000
1945	15,836,000	839,692
1946	31,052,000	1,984,000
1947	32,978,000	1,662,000
1948	24,449,000	885,791
1949	22,550,000	907,000
1950	, 21,786,000	1,004,000
1951	, 19,767,000	703,670
Du	ring the first four	months of mat complete an

1952 net earnings amounted to $219,425 on gross revenues of $7,663,000.

663,000. Divvy record was given by Decca as follows: 1947, $1; 1948, 62½c; 1949, 50c; 1950, 50c; 1951, 70c; 1952 (six months through June 30), 35c.

U's Own Mystery

U's Own Mystery
Universal's homeoffice had a crime story last week that wasn't on reels. Publicity chief Phil Gerard's wallet was lifted from the pocket of his coat, hanging in his office closet, by a character representing himself as a telephone repairman.
Thief selected payday for the effort, but Gerard has his wad in his trousers pocket and the stolen wallet contained nothing but nonnegotiable paper.

negotiable paper.

3 Rank Reps

claiming a monopolistic mutiplicity

First three series of ads in what was originally to have been an industry-wide promotional campaign have virtually passed unnoticed in the trade, Designed initially as a followup to the nationwide "Movietime, USA" ad campaign of last fall, current series is being done by individual companies and disease the series of the disease of the series of the tied in to direct plug copy for a specific film.

Institutional motif in all three specific film.

Institutional motif in all three series of ads in the current campaign has been a more-or-less subtle reminder that the theatre screen can offer greater scope and entertainment than TV. Rival medium has not been mentioned in any of the copy, however.

Most recent institutional plugs appeared last week in Paramount's pre-opening campaign for "Carrie" at the Capitol, N. Y., and will be followed in other cities. Par is expending approximately $20,000 for extra space to carry the industry-promotional lines.

Previous pix tied up with the current campaign were Universal's "Sally and St. Anne" and 20th-Fox's "Wait Till the Sun Shines, Wait Till the Sun Shines, Nellie." Other companies are committed to follow suit when they have pix on which they desire to spend extra coin and which they feel worthy of inclusion in the campaign.

Par's copy read: "Only on the motion picture screen could drama of such scope, such intensity, such artistry, be portrayed as in William Wyler's long-awaited production of "Carrie", the first in a new season series of important attractions."

cion of 'Carrie' . . . the first in a new season series of important attractions."

tractions."
Universal's copy was headed:
"Look at these happy faces," under which was a drawing of smiling patrons in a theatre. It plugged further that enjoyment was greater by seeing entertainment in a group and went on, "Nowhere, but nowhere, is heartwarming laughter so richly enjoyed as at the movies."

remy enjoyed as at the movies."

The 20th-Fox copy likewise pitched that a theatre is the place to enjoy a film. Some of the ads are being placed in pressbooks by the three companies, so that in addition to the copy they place themselves, exhibs will have further opportunity to cooperate.

Campaign was originally plotted to be spearheaded by the Council of Motion Picture Organizations, as was last fall's. At that time, nine companies were represented in one full page ad that was used simultaneously throughout the country.

simultaneously throughout the country.

Some pub-ad managers balked at going into an ad with other companies, and there were other disagreements as to the timing and percentage of institutional copy in individual ads that were to be used as an alternative; As a result, every company has been left pretty much to do what it chooses, with only very generalized direction of the whole campaign by Charles Simonelli, of U, who is chairman of the Motion Picture Assn. of America's pub-ad committee.

More Drive-Ins Get Checked By Willmark

Checked By Willmark

Reports that Willmark Service System is checking more drive-ins this year than ever before were confirmed this week by a Willmark official and one of the major distributors the agency represents. Although reluctant to discuss the situation, the Willmark exec cautiously admitted that his men have been active in the field.

Paramount sales chief Alfred W.
Schwalberg agreed that the reports were correct but failed to see anything "unusual" about the stepup in checking. "There are more drive-ins this year," he pointed out,
"and it's a matter of simple mathernatics that more of them will be checked."

Another distributor spokesman claiming a monopolistic mutiplicity of interests because he is one of the owners and an exec of United Artists. Benjamin has denied the allegation of cross or collustve incrests and has maintained that he will not resign on that account.

Aside from utilizing Benjamin's experience, it is understood that Rackmil has no desire to make any radical personnel or operational changes in U. Exec setup throughout the organization will remain awave a growing market potential, it's only natural that the ozoners is, at least until Rackmil gets more thoroughly grounded in the workings of the company and the film industry in general.

U-Decca prexy is planning to go to the Coast early next month for further huddles on production and the studio situation.

CHEVRON THEATRE CHEVRON THEATRE
(Portfolio 12)
With Steve Brodie, Robert Hutton, others
Distributor: MCA Ltd.
Froducer: Revue Productions
Director: Richard Irving
Writer: Fenton W. Earnshaw
30 Mins.; Frl. 9 p.m.
CHEVRON STATIONS
KTLA, Hollywood
(BBD&C)

(BBD&O)

"Portfolio 12" is just another spy story which fails to generate any particular interest despite its obvious attempt to capitalize on topicality of current international strife between the east and west. Perhaps its greatest weakness is American intelligence agents trailing a Soviet spy with "those papers," inasmuch as both agents display everything but intelligence, and finally wind up with the secret documents and solution to the entire mystery only because someone comes to them and tells them in terms a child could understand just who did what, and what the score is. story which fails to generate any just who did what, and what the score is.

Steve Brodie and Robert Hutton are the agents who first flub up when they have the papers within their reach, but never dream of looking into the lining of the portfolio, as every well-instructed agent would. Then they go to the mayor of a little West German border town and ask his help to catch the Red spy enroute to East Germany. Fat little fellow assures them he'll help them, and they go to bed happily. However, maid working for the mayor disturbs their sleep to tell them the mayor actually is concealing the Russian spy; he was a Nazi collaborator, and now is playing footsie with the Reds, and she hates him like mad, because her father, a good anti-Hitler German, was betrayed by the mayor. Anyway, with this harrowing news the junior G-men race to apprehend the mayor, who has no trouble at all turning the tables on the Intelligence, and is about to knock them off, when the girl enters again, and kills the mayor, saving the Americans.

All this is followed by a strictly hokum chase to the border, where mayor, saving the Americans.

All this is followed by a strictly hokum chase to the border, where the agent nalls the Russlan spy on the East-West border, takes those papers, and then for some odd reason the Red spy is killed by the Red border patrolman. Supposedly it's because he failed on his mission, but how a simple patrolman would know all about that is never explained.

Brodie and Hutton are never is never explained.

Brodie and Hutton are never convincing as the agents, nor is Hanne Axmann as the girl, or Stephen Bekassy as the mayor. Fenton W. Barnshaw's script is one containing stock roles, and none of it is particularly believable. Richard Irving's direction is only fair. On the credit side, Ellsworth Fredericks' lensing was good. Daku.

THE UNEXPECTED (Lifeline)
With Robert Paige, Lurene Tuttle, others Producer-distributor: Ziv TV
Director: George M. Cahan
Writers: Jerry Lawrence, Robert
E. Lee
30 Mins.; Frl. 8:30 p.m.
ACME BEER
RECA,TV, Hollywood
Licing are old ginnwick, that of Using an old gimmick, that of the con man who is outsmarted by his sucker who turns out to be another con, "Lifeline" threads its way through a half-hour of fair entertainment. Characterizations by scripters Jerry Lawrence and Robert E. Lee are all pat, and there's rarely any doubt as to the final outcome.

final outcome.

Robert Paige is the con man who teams with a crystal ball gazer to lasso the suckers, splitting the take. The suckers are always women, school teachers, too, and they're always told they'll meet a dark, handsome young man. Tall, too. There's a real original line! So of course Paige just happens to meet the femmes after pens to meet the femmes after they've had their frustrated lives built up, and he takes the m through a gigolo routine. Then one of his teachers tells him about her or his teachers tens nim about incommander, dying from an incura to the disease, gives him a real solutory. And so the con man goe

SALES and DISTRIBUTION TELEVISION FILMS 18% Fee Charge

Contact McCONKEY ARTISTS
Hollywood Blyd. Hollywood 6 effices plus South America

roune, James Farhen, others Producer-distributor: Ziv TV Director: Paul Landres Writers: Robert E. Lee, Jerry Lawrence 30 Mins.; Frl., 8:30 p.m. ACME BEER KECA-TV, Hollywood "The Professional Touch" lacks just that, and as a result comes of as an ill-conceived, hadly-written, badly-acted telepic, no credit to writers Jerry Lawrence and Robert E. Lee, who also serve as production consultants on "The Unexpected" series, of which this is an entry.

Story of medicos who work on softy, and when he meets up with the disease victim, he spends all he has and can borrow, to show her a real fine time before her days come to an end. Payoff is the suckers are actually taking the con man, as at end the three teachers involved chortle gleefully, and one mays "next year it's my turn to be one with an incurable disease." This sort of thing has been done many times before.

Paige conforms with the role, and turns in a good performance as does Lurene Tuttle as the "sick" teacher. George M. Cahan's direction is about as routine as testing to complete implausibility, a scene does Lurene Tuttle as the "sick" teacher. George M. Cahan's direction is about as routine as the with the script by Lawrence & Lee, Daku.

THE PROFESSIONAL TOUCH With Interest Producer-distributor: Ziv TV Director: Paul Landres

Wither: Raheet E Lee Learns the medico has gone off his rocker.

Tenuous thread of a varu result of the spends and constant the play along with a script was content to play along with a script along with a script along with a script along with a script along with of holes, at no time seeking to floor, estrain thesps.

Daku.

SUNKIST PREMIERE PLAY-HOUSE

(Tiger Bait)

With Bill Bishop, Lisa Howard, whith the scannel beyond with the scannel beyond with the scannel beyond with the scannel beyond restrain thesps.

Daku.

SUNKIST PREMIERE PLAY-HOUSE

(Tiger Bait)

With Bill Bishop, Lisa Howard, whith the scannel beyond with the scannel beyond with the scannel beyond with the scannel soft the script s rocker.

Tenuous thread of a yarn revolves about jealousy of the doctor of his medico g.f.'s attentions toward her patient. When the doc gets his chance he poisons the nut, who has escaped, but he's trapped in a way which surprises no one. This "Unexpected" has about a much suspense as the G.O.P. convention after the first ballot.

Virginia Gray complete manages.

.......

better 30-minute vidfilms turned out on the Coast. Swiftly moving piece sustains interest throughout the crisp tale of the beautiful young medical assistant whose life is menaced by an unknown assailant.

Sheldon Leonard has fashioned an effective thriller in the tale of a writers Jerry Lawrence and Robert vention after the list band.

E. Lee, who also serve as production consultants on "The Unexpected" series, of which this is an entry.

Story of medicos who work on mental patients never has any rector Paul Landres did not give in German war criminal with

.

Deluxe Labs, N. Y., for the processing of a minimum of 100,000,000 feet of film, believed to be the largest pact ever signed by a TV network with a film processing lab . . Mildred Demby, of the production staff of Demby, Broun & Co., flew to Europe for a combined vacation and onceover of European film production facilities .,. Atlas Television releasing a new musical film library, which spotlights past and present name stars doing the bits which made them famous. Talent roster includes the Rite Bros., Milton Berle, Beb Hope, Willle Howard, Danny Kaye, Buster Keaton, etc., plus Bing Crosby, Josm Davis, Shirley Temple and others. Norman Fineus, co-producer with his brother, Irving, left for the Coast to line up plans for producing a series of vidpix in Hollywood. Maurice Tombragel pacted by William F. Broldy Productions to script a new vidpix series, "The Trail Blazers," starring Alan Hale, Jr. Frank Lepere, manager of NBC-TV's film and kinescope department, to the Coast for a week's huddles with him execs. musical film library, which new

Hollywood

Hollywood

Bing Crosby Enterprises finished editing and scoring "The Magic Story," pilot telepic of the Hank McCune show... Alf Kjellin and Karia Nordgren star in Revue Productions' 'Mightier Than the Sword," at Eagle Lion studios... Gordon Clark at Ziv Productions for roles in two "Cisco Kid" telepix... Arthur Lovejoy and John Frank landed roles in "It's the Bickersons" telepix shooting at General Service studios... Aram Katcher cast as heavy in Dan Duryea starrer, "Affairs of China Smith," being produced by Edward Lewis Productions... Anna McCrae set for role in "Death Valley Days," being shot by Flying A... Earl Lee set for role in "Our Miss Brooks" telepic shooting at General Service studios... David Hire got away from Treasury Dept. for use of tax fraud files for upcoming telepix package, "Crackdown"... Arthur Fellows has left on junket for Normandle Productions, he and camera crew to swing through midwest shooting series of 50-min. shows tagged, "Little Theatre, U.S. A."... Screen Televideo bought three original televideo bought three original televideo bought three original tions, he and camera rew to swing through midwest shooting series of 50-min. shows tagged, "Little Theatre, U. S. A." ... Screen Televideo bought three original teleplays prepping for series, "Your Jeweler's Showcase," for Hamilton Watch and International Silver, yarns purchased being "Sunday at Four," by Robert Patterson, "Furlough" by Milton Lazarus, and "Field of Honor," Donald Barr ... Edmund Gwenn inked by Screen Gems to star in "Snow Image," Nathaniel Hawthorne classic being scripted by Edward Hope for "Ford Theatre" telepix series. Columbia vidpix subsid is now shooting "Cavalcade of America" telepic, "In This Crisis," with Tom Tully, Richard Gaines, Ben Astar, John Hoyt, Ann Doran, Russell Simpson, Harry Harvey, with Jules Bricken as producer, and Robert Stevenson director ... Bob Wilson narrator for TV Spots teleblurbs for Helms Bread ... Frank Wisbar Productions this week guns 11 more "Fireside Theatre" telepix at Eagle Lion studios for Procter & Gamble.

William Kozlenko has resigned with the street in the street in the street william Kozlenko has resigned with the street in the street william Kozlenko has resigned william Kozlenko has resigned in the street in the street william Kozlenko has resigned will the street in the street in the street in the street william Kozlenko has resigned in the street in the stree

"DREAM IT UP" series of Exminute comedy telepix begin shooting August 15. Chick Chandler starred with Franklin Franklin Fanghorn, Gus Schilling, Benny Baker in support.

Production B. L. Petroff Associate producer: Bet Douglas Directors B. L. Petroff Production manager: H. A. Hirshfield

ZIV TV

See Children St. Hellywood with Secrit Douglas Children St. Hellywood vidpix outfit, to leave himself free to dick writer and director. Meantime, Kozlenko is adapting for TV that plays of French authors Jean Giradeux, Henri Duvernois and Jean Anihoulh, whose publication and video rights he recently secret."

TV Films in Production

ARROW PRODUCTIONS

KTTV Studies, Hollywood

"RAMAR OF THE JUNGLE" 28 In hour jungle adventure telepix ser resume in August. Froducers: Harry Rothnehld Leon Rombert
Entroducers that the service of the s

BREAKSTON-STAHL PRODS. General Service Studios: Hollywood "SAFARI BILL" series of 26 half hour telepix to begin shooting August 1. Loca-tion shots to be filmed in British East tion snous to be made cast, parts to fill.

Martha Hyer heads cast, parts to fill.
Producer-director: Breakston-Stahl
Associate producer: Irene Breakston
Technical executive: John R. Carter

WILLIAM F. BROIDY PRODS.
Sunset Studios. Hollywood
"WILD BILL HICKOK" series of half hour western adventure series now in preparation to resume shooting mid-August Guy Madison, Andy Devine set gust. Guy Madison, Andy Levine e-leads.

"STARDUST" series featuring Jimmy
Starr now being prepaped for fail.

"CASE HISTORY" featuring Regis Toomey, Sars Hayden, and "TRAil BLAXERS" with Alan Hale, Jr., as set lead, also in preparation for fail shooting.
Executive producer: William F. Broidy,
Producer: Wesley Barry
Associate producers: Bob Balley, Hugh Kling

King Director: Frank McDonald

JACK CHERTOK PRODS. JACK CHERTOR PRODS, General Service Studdes, Hollywood "LONE RANGER" half hour series of 52 videoaters now shooting, John Hart, Jay Silverheels set leads, Producer; Jack Chertok Associate Producer; Harry Poppe.

BING CROSBY ENTERPRISES

BING CROSBY ENTERPRISES

Shoothat Monather Colver City
Shoothat Colver City
Shoothat Colver City
Shoothat Colver City
Shoothat Colver City
Motor Car Corp.
Executive producer: Basil Grillo
Producer: Bernard Girard
Director: B. Girard
Director: B. Girard
Froducer: Shorthat Colmedy-drams for Froducer: John Nasht
Half hour series of adult drams films for "CROWN THEATRE" shooting.
Producers: Richard Dorso. Bernard Girard.
"THOSE WERE THE DAYS" half-hour
telepts series now shooting.
"CORN' JOHNSON" series of half-hour
comedy plx now shooting.
Producer-director: Bernard Girard-Richard Dorso.

DESILU PRODUCTIONS
eneral Service Studios, Hollywood
LOVE LUCY" half hour comedy sesponsored by Philip Morris shooting

FRANK FERRIN PRODUCTIONS

FIGANK FERKIN PRODUCTIONS
6528 Sunset Blvd, Hollywood
Casting: Virginia Mazzuca
"SMILIN" ED'S GANC' series now shooting. Ed McConnell, Nino Marcel head cast.
Producer-director: Frank Ferrin
Associate producer: Raiph Ferrin
Associate director: Don Olsen

FILMCRAFT PRODS.

RILIMOKAFT PRODS.

8451 Melrose, Hollywood
GROUCHO MARN starred in 39 haif-hour audience participation film productions to be made once a week for NBC. DeSotoPlymouth sponsoring, Producert John Guedel
Film producer: I. Lindenbaum
prectoral Bob Dwan, Bernie Smith

= as of Friday, July 18 = FLYING A PRODUCTIONS

6920 Sunset Blvd., Hollywood 'ANMIE OAKLEY" new series of 52 Ichour videoaters now in praparation. Il Davis, Billy Gray head cast. Parts to Second series of 52 half-hour Gene Autry Western telepix shoeting, Gene Autry Western telepix shoeting, Gene Autry Mentern telepix shoeting, Gene Autry Menter House to the Second series of 52 half-hour videoters, Jack Mahoney, Dick Jones head cast.

Producer: Louis Gray Directors: Wallace-Fox, Geo, Archalnbaud New series of half-hour western dramas entitled "DEATH VALLEY DAYS" now shoeting.

roducer: Darrell McGowan Director: Stuart McGowan

W. R. FRANK PRODS.
General Service Studios: Hollywood
Group of 4 30-minute "MEDAL OF HONOR" teleplx now shooting:
Producers; W. R. Frank, William Dean
Director; Reginald LeBorg
Production Managers: Bart Carre

GROSS-WRASNE, INC. CHONS-MEASNE, INC.
General Service Studies: Hollywood
Resume shooting "BIG TOWN" series of 26 half hour telepix July 25 sponsored by Lever Brothers. Patrick McVey and Jane Nigh set leads.
Producers: Jack J. Gross and Phillip N.
Krasne

tor: E. A. Dupont.

JOHN GUEDEL PRODS.
600 Taft Bldg., Hollywood
Art Linkletter starring in a series of 104 15-minute vidpix titled "Linkletter AND THE KIDS."
Producer-director: Maxwell Shane Associate producer: Irvin Atkins

INTERSTATE TELEVISION
Monogram Studios: Hollywood Ethel Barrymore stars in "ETHEL BAR-RYMORE TELEVISION THEATRE." Next

in preparation. lucer: Lee Savin ctors: Lewis Allan, Will Jason

JAN PRODUCTIONS, INC.
General Service Studios: Hollywood
"S" HE BIKERSONS" series of halfhour cond blekersons we series of halfhour cond blekersons wet leads.
Parker and Virginia.
Production supervisor: C. M. Florence
Director-writer: Phil Rapp

EDWARD LEWIS PRCDS. Motion Picture Center, Hollywood Scries of 13 half-hour telepk featuring Irene Dunne as femcee now shooting Producer: Edward Lewis Production manager: William Stevens

THE McCADDEN CORP.
General Service Studies: Hollywood
"THE BURNS AND ALLEN SHOW"
now shooting series of half hour comedy
telepix. The Carnation Co. sponsor.
Cast: George Burns and Gracie Allen,
Frd. Clark, Bea Benzdaret, Harry Von
Producar, Nath. Year.

Zell. Producer: Ralph Levy Director: Ralph Levy Writers: Paul Henning, Sid Dortman, Har-vey Helm, William Burns

MARCH OF TIME MARCH OF TIME

MARCH OF TIME

"AMBRICAN WIT AND HUMOR" geries of 26 haif-hour pix, Thomas Mitchell, narrator, with cast including Gene Lockhart, Jeffrey Lynn, Arnold Moss, Ann Burr and Olive Deering.
Producer: Marlon Parsonnet
Director: Fred Stephanl.

PATHESCOPE PRODUCTIONS

S00 Fitth Ave., New York City
Now shooting "THE HUNTER," series of 13 half-hour telepix, sponsored by Reynolds Tobacco Co. through
William Estyt Mary Nelson heads cast,
Production Supervisors: Walter Raft,
Robert Drucker
Director: Oscar Rudolph.

ROLAND REED PRODS.
Hal Roach Studior Culver City
Now shooting "TROUBLE WITH FATHER" series of 30-minute situation comedies.

Producer: Roland Reed Director: Neward Bretherton "MV LITTLE MARGET" series of half Charles Farrall and Gale Room shooting. Philip Morris sponsors. Producer: Hal Roach Director: Hal Yates

REVUE PRODUCTIONS

Eagle Lion Studios: Hollywood Half-hour series of adult drama tele-pix now shooting for Revue Prods. Producer: Revue Productions Directors: Richard Irving, Norman Lloyd.

Directors: Richard Irving, Norman Lloyd.

HAL ROACH PRODUCTIONS

Hal Roach Studios: Culver City
"AMOS "N' ANDY" series of character comedy telepix now shootins. Sponsored Cast: Tim Moore. Spencer Williams, Alvin
Childress, Ernestine Wade, Johnny Lee,
Horace Stewart.
Supervisors: Freeman Gosden, Charles
Correll, Sidney Van Keuren
Production executive; James Fonda
Assistant director: Emmett Emerson

ROY ROGERS PRODUCTIONS

ROY ROGERS PRODUCTIONS
Goldwys Studio, Hollywood
ROY ROGERS now shooting 15 ester telepix, Vidpix are half-hour each, Roy Rogers, Dale Evans topline, Pat Brady in support, General western parts to fill,
Sponsored by General Foods for NBC-TV.
Producers, Roy Rogers
Associate producer; Jack Lacey
Director: Bob Walker

SCREEN GEMS

1302 N. Gower, Hollywood

"IN THIS CRIBIE" half-hour drama shooting for DuPont's "CAVALCADE OF AMERICA" series,
Producer-director: Jules Bricken
Assistant director: Eddie Seata

SCREEN TELEVIDEO PRODS. Eagle Lion Studios, Hollywood Series of half-hour dramas resume in August. Gil Ralston, Jaques Braunstein

SHOWCASE PRODUCTIONS
Hal Roach Studios, Culver City
"RACKET SQUAD" series resume shooting in Sept, half hour telept, series Producer: Hal Roach, Jr.; Carroll Case
Director; Jim Tinling

UNITED WORLD FILMS, INC.
Universal International Studies,
Hollywood
"THE FIGHTING MAN," series of 18
half-hour telepix, will begin shooting July 21. Michael Thomas, Cliff Clark set leads.
Director: George Blair

ADRIAN WEISS PRODS.
655 N. Fairfax: Hollywood
(Shoothing-at KETY) Shidles)
Next series of 13 "CRAIG-KENNEDY—CRIMINOLOGIST" half hour adventure teleplx now being prepared for Septemher start. telepix now being prepared for ber start. Producer-director: Adrian Weiss

FRANK WISBAR PRODS, Eagle Lion Studier Hollywood "FIRESIDE THEATER" earlier of half-hour adult dramas now shooting, Froducer-drector: Frank Wisbar, Associate producer: Sidney Smith

WIZARD TELEPICTURES CO. TABLE RICHES OF THE STATE OF TH

'NON-NAMES' VIDPIX BONANZA

Too Many Shows, Scarcity of Time, So Webs Sparking Film Syndication

Major television networks, currently seeking ways to get air time for their new program ideas in the face of near-SRO schedules, may turn to film syndication as an answer to their problems.

CBS-TV, for example, is cutting kinescope auditions on four new package ideas and the web fears that, if the new shows prove successful, it may not be able to find a time slot for them attractive enough to satisfy interested sponsors. As a result, web program execs this week said they may put the shows on film and syndicate them on a local spot or regional basis around the country.

Such a move, of course, would be based on the lucrative potentialities the networks now envision in film syndication. Both NBC and CBS are jumping into the national ties the networks now envision in film syndication. Both NBC and CBS are jumping into the national spot film business more and more heavily, either with packages which they own outright or as distrib agents for the product of indie producers. As a result, putting more house package ideas on film would not only give the webs a chance at some added revenue but could also provide them an opportunity to take advantage of new show ideas which might not have tunity to take advantage of new show ideas which might not have a chance of airing on a live basis when the networks are completely a chance of all of the works are completely sold out.

On the list of new CBS shows is "It's a Wonderful Day," half-hour audience participationer packaged by indle producer. Walt Framer, which was auditioned via the kine route last Saturday night (19). The preceding night, CBS auditioned a new Red Buttons revue, also designed as a half-hour series. Next Wednesday (23), the web will lens a kine on a projected new romantic melodrama, titled "International Airport." Initialer co-stars Ella Raines and Paul Langton.

In addition, the web sometime in August will audition a new comedy-mystery series co-starring Bertha Belmore and Arnold Stang and titled "The Bigger They Come." While it's believed that their the Framer package nor Buttons show would lend themselves to film, the other two packages both fit directly into the groove of film syndication programs.

Reiner Exec Status With PSI Vidpix

Manny Reiner is resigning as sales manager of the Louis G. Cowan radio-TV package outfit at the end of this week to join PSI-

The end of this week to join PSI-TV, producers and distributors of television film programming, as veepee in charge of sales.

Reiner appointment is cued to PSI's expansion program with recent opening of its West Coast of fice. Reiner will appoint a divisional manager in Chicago and pame reps in key video market cent opening of its West Coast office. Reiner will appoint a divisional manager in Chicago and name reps in key video markets.

PSI, of which Paul White is prexy, is the TV film adjunct of Prockter Productions and is currently represented with "Schlitz
Playhouse of Stars," "China
Smith," with Dan Duryea, currently in production; "Foodini the Great" puppet show, and the
"Richard Arlen Sports Show" syndicated series.
Prior to joining Cowan, Reiner was with Warners, Metro and David O. Selznick as general manager in Latin America and Australasia.

OFFICIAL SHOOTING SARATOGA VIDPIX

Schenectary, July 21.
George R. Nelson, Inc., has set for Fitzgerald Bros. Brewing Co., of Troy, a 15-minute weeknight and 30-minute Saturday a 30-minute Saturday evening filmed telecast program of races at the Saratoga track, beginning Aug. 4. Official Films, which, from four towers, shoots films of each race—to aid the judge—will be operating at the Spa for the first time this season.

The company will also take, for the sponsor, a regular newsreel type of picture from the grand-stand roof, recording Official an-syne or picture from the grand-stand roof, recording Official an-nouncer Fred Caposella's voice on film at the same time. Developed and printed on the spot, the clips will be rushed from Saratoga to Schenectady.

Crosby-CBS Deal Excludes United's Distrib of Vidpix

Deal set last week for the CBS-TV Film Sales department to take representation of all Bing Crosby Enterprises product not previously committed to a syndication outfit has been in the works for some time, as part of CBS' basic contract with Crosby. As a result, the new arrangement does not alter the status of United TV Programs, indie syndication firm, not alter the status of United TV Programs, indie syndication firm, which will continue to handle distribution on the three Crosby packages it has held until now.

Under Crosby's arrangement with UTP, the latter firm repped BCE on syndication sales, while Charles B. Brown, Crosby's sales veepee, handled national and network deals. Under the new setup, Brown will be working in close alliance with the CBS-TV Film Sales department, but he and the CBS group will henceforth handle both network and syndication sales on the new product.

Among the packages now under production by Crosby are "Crown Theatre," "Hank McCune Show," "Chair on the Boulevard" and "Counter Point." UTP continues to handle "Royal Playhouse," (originally produced by BCE for Prochard & Gamble's "Fireside Theatre"), "The Chimps" and spot sales on "Rebound." Packard now bankrolls the latter series in a number of markets, with UTP repping Crosby in all other markets. General Artists Corp., meanwhile, will continue to rep BCE on the new series based on the works of Louis Bromfield.

Bring in 'Kerry Drake' Vidpic Pilot for 25G

in production; "Foodini the Great" puppet show, and the "Richard Arlen Sports Show" syndicated series.

Prior to joining Cowan, Reiner was with Warners, Metro and David O. Selznick as general manager in Latin America and Australasia.

Auitry's 123 Telepix

Hollywood, July 22.
Flying A Productions, owned by Gene Autry, has a record number of 123 telepix canned following windup of the first four in its new "Range Rider" series.

Company has 62 Autry starrers in the cans, with four more beginning this week; has 56 "Riders" and finished first of projected 52 in "Annie Oakley" series.

Ochris Reynes and Jackson Gillis.

First of a series of vidpix based on the syndleated comic strip, "Kerry Drake," has been completed by Hafner-Halperin Productions. Filmed on the Coast at the Hal Roach Studios, half-hour pilot film was brought in at a cost of $25,000. It stars Sterling Hayden with Marjorie Reynolds, Arline Judge and Frankie Darrow Stanley Halperin, in charge of sale and distribution, is currently in New York to line up a national sponsorship deal. Special screenings of the film will be held in New York, Chleago and Los Angeles for sponsors, ad agencies, and television stations.

Les Hafner is producing the series, with Jack Reynolds directing. Initial screenplay was written by Chris Reynes and Jackson Gillis.

Exployed A Productions, Gay, about $500 to the top coin being handed out is for topliners in series. While leads mabbing from $200 to $1,000, with very few getting the later figure.

Some of the top coin being handed out is for topliners in series. While leads will be down to railly be down for a figure of, say, about $500 for each telepic, some roll along at the rate of three a week, so that the star winds up with a weekly paycheck of $1,500, a figure of, say, about $500 for each telepic, some roll along at the rate of three a week yet weekly paycheck of $1,500, a figure of, say, about $500 for each telepic, and the steries. While leads mabbing from $100 to $1,000, with very few getting the special special spe

REAP HARVEST

Increased activity in vidpix production in Hollywood has been a godsend, a goldmine in the tele sky, for the actors, with the majority of coin going to the so-called "little people," the thesps who toil for the minimum of $70 daily or for $100 or $200 a day in leads and second leads. Moola doesn't begin to touch that being paid in the motion picture studios, but the spread of work involved is far the motion picture studios, but the spread of work involved is far greater. The majority of the top telepix producers here agree each employs from 300 to 500 actors during an average six-months period, and predicts that figure inevitably will grow as time goes on. As a result, there has been a good deal of work for the so-called "non-name," while names on the whole are still out of the telepix picture, only a few having crossed the fence, since the coin isn't there for a big name. Of course there's always the exception to the rule, always the exception to the rule, where the producer anxious to land a top showcase name, will cut the player in with a fancy slice of residual plus a big salary, slice of residual plus a big salary, but most producers are becoming leery of these deals, figuring they will never get off the hook if they cut the pie up into too many slices. Typical deal wherein a top name draws residual plus is that of Irene Dunne, who intros and femcees Schiltz' "Playhouse of Stars" for Edward Lewis Productions. For about two-and-a-half or three minutes of work on each of 26 telepix, Miss Dunne is reported to be nabbing about $84,000 plus residuals, a heity figure indeed, but this deal is the type on which producers are beginning to chill, allowing as to what's the point of their doing all the work if the star gets all the lucre.

Hedy's 50% of Residual

Hedy's 50% of Residual

Hedy's 50% of Residual Hedy Lamarr, who has been inked for a telepix series, is reported to be down for about 50% of the residual, and Ethel Barrymore is understood to be in the same residual neighborhood for same residual neighborhood for her work on Interstate Television's "Ethel Barrymore Theatre of the Air." There are other thesps drawing residuals, although not in the amount allotted Barrymore or Lamarr, but on the whole the vidpix producers have become far more cautious about doling out residuals. Ones of the principal reasons, which cannot be divorced from the overall picture, is the demand for residuals being voiced by various talent guilds, and already obtained by the Screen Actors Guild.

talent guilds, and already obtained by the Screen Actors Guild. Most name actors, particularly those under contract to the majors, have no particular desire to entervidpix at this point because they don't feel there's enough in it for them, and they'd prefer to wait until the situation is more stable, and more stations are up. As Tyrone Power, who has chilled video offers, said this week, "it's too much work for too little money."

video offers, said unis weera, attoo much work for too little money."

But the general overall result has been a prosperous period for most actors. A general pattern is being evolved beginning with the extra, who draws $55 a day; minimum, with $70 a day, and second leads, drawing from $100 to $150, with leads nabbing from $200 to $1,000, with very few getting the latter figure.

Some of the top coin being handed out is for topliners in seriess. While leads will be down for a figure of, say, about $500 for each telepic, some roll along at the rate of three a week, so that the star winds up with a weekly psycheck of $1,500, a figure he normally couldn't draw in pix.

Few Over $500

'LITTLE PEOPLE' Fred Allen, NBC in Huddles With N. Y. Fire Dept. for TV Film Okay

ABC-TV FILM EDITORS IN CHI VOTE IATSÈ

Chicago, July 22.

Inter-union jockeying set off by the drive for a one-card representation by the National Assn. of Broadcast Engineers and Technicians continues at NBC and ABC here. Latest skirmish involving the TV film editors at Chi ABC ended last week with the motion picture lab technicians local of the International Alliance of Theatrical and Stage Employees winning over NABET.

national Alliance of Theatrical and Stage Employees winning over NABET.

The four ABC film editors voted unanimously for the IATSE local at an election conducted by the National Labor Relations Board.

Gordon's Shift To Coast for Ziv Accents Trend

fronting the N. Y. City government in its campaign to keep a major share of television film production in the east, Herbert Gordon, Ziv production veepee, this week moved his headquarters from N. Y. to the Coast. With six vidfilm packages now in production or distribution, Ziv is one of the top outfits in the business and Gordon's move to the Coast may set a pattern for other major vidpix units.

Gordon's move to the Coast may set a pattern for other major vidpix units.

Gordon will continue to supervise production on both Ziv's TV and radio packages. Thus, working out of Hollywood, he'll be on hand for direct supervision of the new Tyrone Power-starred radio package, "Freedom, U. S. A.," and also plans Jaunching a new big-budg-eted TV film series, details of which are to be set soon. He said Ziv's production schedule and budget for the coming year will double that of last year. Company plans to ink other top Hollywood stars for both radio and TV and is now huddling with name writers and buying new properties.

Ziv revealed, incidentally, that orders for "Freedom" began to roll in even before the company salesmen had started to make their calls on stations and-clients. As a result, Ziv has upped the budget on the package 25%, or up to $15,000 per stanza, making it one of the cost-liest half-hour dramatic series in the works by either a network or indie producer for the upcoming season. By comparison, the Bing Crosby show this fall, being sponsored on CBS Radio by General Electric, will carry a $16,000 nut. In addition to the new TV show in the works, one of Gordon's earliest jobs on the Coast will be ready for stations in advance of the holiday season under Ziv's World Transcriptions banner.

TY POWER MIGHT GO VIDPIX—IN 2 YEARS

Hollywood, July 22.

Tyrone Power isn't interested in telepox—not for at least two years. The star, now working in "Mississippi Gambler" for UI, says he has nived offers from talenizations.

sippi Gambler" for UI, says he has nixed offers from telepix companies and networks, that his one-a-year pic deal with 20th-Fox bans vidpix (but not live), but that he wouldn't take any offers anyway.

This isn't the right time for a star to get into teleipx, opines Power, adding, "It's lots of work for less money." He indicated in two yeers, perhaps, depending on changed conditions and the number of stations then in operation, he of stations then in operation, he might take a different attitude.

ave been huddling with N. Y. fire department officials during the past week in an effort to modify existing municipal regulations forbidding TV cameras from shooting films in studios and theatres.

Unless NBC can persuade the fire department to ease its law, the web may hit a snag on its plans to give the new Allen TV film series, "Two for the Money," a New York origination. (Pilot film was shot on the Coast recently while Allen was making a pic for 20th-Fox.) Theatre origination is necessary for the series since, like the Groucho Marx show, it will be shot before a live audience.

Joining with NBC in the campaign are the Goodman-Todman outfit, which packages the show, and Lennen & Mitchell, agency for Old Gold, which is sponsoring the Allen program both on radio and television.

Outcome of the current hassle with the fire department will have a vital bearing on. New York's future sphere of importance in viduals in view of the trend toward filming situation comedies and other type programming before studio audiences. fire department to ease its law, the

Europe Theatres' 'Intrigue' Series

Paris, July 22.
Opening up a new market for television films, Sheldon Reynolds, producer - director - writer of the "Foreign, Intrigue" series, has set a deal for last season's TV product to be distributed theatrically in Europe. Three of the half-hour vidpix are to be grouped into a single feature for each showing, with plans to dub them into French and German for those countries and to use sub-titles for the Scandinavian use sub-titles for the Scandinavian German for those countries and to use sub-titles for the Scandinavian theatres.

Similar theatrical distribution of vidpix has been broached from time to time in the U.S., but no producer has been been able to bring off the idea successfully. Some of the top indie producers, such as Walter Wanger, had attempted to lens a film for theatrical release first which could sub-sequently be broken down for TV screening, but-later gave up the idea on the theory that requirements of the two media are too disparate.

Reynolds' "Intrigue" series have already played some Scandinavian theatres, with reports that they were received well by audiences. Producer is now in Paris setting up his second production unit for the 1952-53 season.

Len Levinson Exits AM-TV To Resume Pic Scripting

To Resume Pic Scripting

After writing "Eloise Salutes the Stars" for the past 20 months. Lconard L. Levinson has resigned from the Lester Lewis package to return to Hollywood, where he will start a film studio writing chore on Aug. 1. President of the dormant impossible Pictures, Inc., will motor west with wife and daughter Linda, stopping in Memphis for conferences with David Flexer, Tennessee theatre owner and other partner in the film company, regarding resumption of production activities early next year.

Prior to leaving N. Y., Levinson worked with Marion Parsonnet on "The Doctor" series and wrote audition scripts for "Visit," the Partsonnet-Henry Morgenthau III Tyfilm show starring Arlene Francis and a new live TV program, "The Spook & I." starring Roland Young, based on an idea by Joe Armel Cross and packaged by Maritin Goodman. He also completed two article assignments for The American Weekly and a "Top Guy" script for ABC radio.

'Stop Music' Fading Off ABC As OG Cancels; Ends An Era in Radio

"Stop the Music," the "grand-daddy" of giveaway shows, fades off the radio airlanes on Aug. 10, when Old Gold relinquishes sponsorship of its 15-minute segment of the Sunday night hour show on ABC. Except for sale of some spots, OG alone among bankrollers had remained faithful to the yet of the giveaway shows, with the past year witnessing a declining client interest.

nad remained faithful to the vet of the giveaway shows, with the past year witnessing a declining client interest.

Oddly enough, the radio version of "Stop the Music" outlived its TV counterpart, which faded off the ABC video lanes a few months back after a three-year TV whirl. In that instance, too, Old Gold, its predominate sponsor, lost interest and settled for a less pretentious substitute vehicle.

With the demise of "Music," the curtain comes down on an era in radio. The program's premiere in the Sunday night 3 to 9 slot back in May, 1948, witnessed the beginning of an almost revolutionary turnabout in audience taste. At that time Fred Allen and Edgar Bergen, as the competing back-to-back attractions on NBC, were riding wide and handsome on the Hooper rating charts. But within a year both were forced to give way to the upsurge in giveaway interest, both comedy shows being axed by their sponsor, Standard Brands, as the "Stop the Music" competition became too rough.

Subsequently the other networks pitched in with their own elaborate variations on a giveaway theme, but "Stop the Music" outlived prac-variations on a giveaway theme but "Stop the Music" outlived prac-tically all of them.

Gen. Tire, Mennen Fore-Aft Grid Deal

With NBC-TV confidently expecting to have a sponsor or sponsors wrapped up within the next week or so for its college football week or so for its college football schedule this fall, the web this week pacted with the Mennen shaving products outfit for a quarter-hour post-game sports stanza, and also optioned General Tire & Rubber for the 15 minutes preceding each game. Tire outfit had that spot last year and so has first refusal rights this season.

Mennen is expected to use its quarter-hour for a rundown on all football scores across the country, since under NBC's contract with the National Collegiate Athletic Assn., viewers in each city individually will be able to witness only a single game each week, even though the web may be handling scveral other games regionally. Commentator who will handle the Mennen show hasn't yet been selected.

Web has virtually completed

Mennen show hasn't yet been selected.

Web has virtually completed working out its schedule with colleges which will participate in the lineup, and NBC spokesmen declared this week that the total package price to a sponsor will come in at considerably less than the $3,000,000-$3,500,000 figure originally estimated. As a result, while NBC is not bypassing the possibility of selling the schedule to several participating bankrollers, there remains the chance that one single sponsor may be found to foot the bill.

Ventnor City Fathers In Move to Eliminate Rooftop Aerial Eyesore

Atlantic City, July 22.

A forest of television acrials which dot roof tops in suburban Ventnor may disappear as its ruling body plans to adopt legislation which will eliminate the eyesores.

The city would give the South Jersey Television Cable Co. a franchise to install television transmission lines along, and over the streets to serve residents with television reception. The company would erect a large receiving station in the outskirts and feed the television broadcasts over the wire.

The city would derive a 2% income on the company's gross local installation and service charges, but a minimum of $1,000 per anum revenue is guaranteed by the ordinance.

Part Buys Part of CHUM

Part Buys Part of Unum

Toronto, July 22.

Jack Part, who was in radio for 18 year's before cleaning up on the new chlorophyll products in Canada for the past two years, has bought the 39% interest in CHUM, Toronto, held by E. A. Byworth, station's original stockholder. Price was $100,000.

In the bad graces of the musicians' union, CHUM only operates from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. but Part, figuring on the advent of television in Toronto via the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. In August, believes his chlorophyll customers will be listening to radio in the daytime and TV at night, hence his CHUM buy.

NLRB Pattern For Bargaining Unit, Performers Only

down last week, set forth definite-down last week, set forth definitely for the first time what it considers to be the proper unit in radio-television unions for bargaining purposes. In all four cases, the Board ruled generally that only performers are to be included in the bargaining unit and not other staff members of a station or network programming department.

Several stations had previously demanded that: the appropriate unit comprise all program staffers. NLRB decided, however, that a unit should include only persons who appear before the microphones either frequently or even infrequently which, in effect, means performers only. Board also ruled that even though a sponsor or agency produces a show and thus is nominally the employer, the station still must handle its own bargaining since the performers work

Lamb Files for WTEL

Edward Lamb of Toledo, lawyer-publisher who operates WICU at Erle, Pa., and WTVN in Columbus, as well as radio stations and the Erle Dispatch, has filed for a television channel to be operated here on UHF. It would be called WTEL, cost about $258,000, ac-cording to the Midwest TV Co. ap-plication.

Ch'field May Cough Up Perry Como Radio Coin For Two-Way Songfest

Chesterfield, which dropped CBS Radio's Bing Crosby show after last season in a mass reshuffling of its radio-TV sponsorship activities, may be back on the same network in the fall with a new half-hour evening show starring Perry Como. Ciggie firm, through Cunningham & Walsh, is talking with the CBS sales and programming execs this week, and is expected to arrive at a decision soon. a decision soon.

week and is expected to arrive at a decision soon.

It's anticipated that the Como deal, if it goes through, will represent a much smaller talent and production outlay for Chesterfield than did the Crosby show. Latter program carried a $25,000 budget last season, which has been trimmed to $16,000 this year for its new bankroller, General Electric, Chesterfield, of course, had first refusal on Crosby again this season and the fact that it turned down the show, even with the lower budget, indicates that it's unwilling to lay out so much coin for radio at this time.

out so much coin for radio at this time.

Como currently does three quarter-hour shows per week for Chesterfield on CBS-TV, airing Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Since it's unlikely that the ciggie firm would want to have two Como shows on the same evening, it's expected that the new radio show would go either on Tuesdays or Thursdays.

WCBS Names Hartman Asst. Program Manager

Ernest Hartman has been named assistant program manager of WCBS, key outlet of the CBS Radio web in N. Y. Hartman takes over his new job Aug. 4 and his first assignment will be as supervisor of the new Bob Haymes show, which moves into the 8:15 to 9 a.m. slot Monday through Saturday, starting Aug. 11.
Hartman was formerly a production exec at WNBC, flagship station of NBC's radio net in N. Y. Prior to that, he was production manager at WNEW, N. Y. radio indie, where he supervised the Haymes show Ernest Hartman has been named

Logging the Loggers

Seattle, July 22.
Fourteen Western Washington are providing lumber companies and Washington State Forester Bernard Oreal with a providing lumber of the providing lumber of the lumber o and Washington State Forester Bernard Orell with a unique and vital service in notifying loggers on shutdown times occasioned by dryness and resultant danger of fire. Loggers and their employes keep tuned to these stations at given periods morning and evening to find out whether or not shut downs can be expected for the periods immediately following the broadcasts.

Mpls.' Joe Cook Refuses to Make Like '4 Hawaiians,' Chides 'Today' Manual

Minneapolis, July 22.

Such exploitation stunts to plug the NBC-TV news show, "Today," as having television station staff members "walk around town dressed in suitable costumes like military uniforms of different countries and convict garbs and with signs on their backs advertising the programs," have gotten a rise out of sales promotion manager Joe Cook of KSTP-TV, NBC's Twin Cities affiliate, which carries the show.

Cities affiliate, which carries the show.

After receiving a 30-page manual from Norman H. Pader, NBC press department exploitation manager, containing the stunts which Cook regards as "goofy" and of a type long since "even discarded by the movies," he waxed sarcastic in a letter to Pader.

Accompanying the manual sent to all NBC stations and affiliates, Pader, apparently taking an exploitation leaf from films, explains "this is your first exploitation manual" which "contains numerous suggestions for putting "Today" in the limelight in your city." The hope is expressed that at least several will be used.

Scoffing at the "suggestions," Cook in a spoofing and ironical mood pretended to have carried them out and detailed in his letter.

Pader the "results."

Cook:
"Well, sir, Mr. Pader, we have just finished with your NBC Exploitation Manual and tried some of the stunts recommended for the exploitation of 'Today.' As a matter of fact, Mr. Pader, as you sugested, we put 'at least several' of these exploitation slants to use, and I must say that solid publicity did not be seen to the seen of the seen and I must say that solid publicity did result.

"We dressed three of our newsroom fellows as Arabs and sent them downtown to Seventh and Nicollet in Minneapolis, carrying signs on their back which read 'News of the Near East and the World! See NBC's TV Wonder Show Today.' Things went real well until they passed Isaac Cohen's Snappy Haberdashery for for Discriminating Men. KSTP is now being picketed by the I.B.E.W. and the 'On to Israel Society of Lower Washington Avenue' (Skid Row).

Row).
'He's Now in the Country Farm' 'Me's Now in the Country Farm'
"To focus attention on the fact that "Today" broadcasts weather news, we had another man walking around in the busy St. Paul downtown district earrying a large umbrella above his head, as per your suggestion. You went on to say
(Continued on page 39)

RWG Gets Demo Assist

While both execs of the Radio Wrifers Guild and the networks declined comment, it's believed that the Democratic National Committee and various factions within the Demo party persuaded the nets to come to terms with the striking Guild prior to the kickoff of the Dem convention in Chicago Monday (21).

Labor delegates control an estimated 200 Democratic votes. Guild had threatened to picket both the International Amphitheatre at Chi and the Conrad Hilton Hotel, and it was taken for granted that none of the labor delegates would cross the picket lines. Since it's presumed that most of these delegates would have voted for Averell Harriman, Sen. Estes Kefauver and Vice President Alben W. Barkley, their backers feared that, without the labor vote, the nomination would have gone to Sen. Richard Russell or Sen. Robert S. Kerr.

RWG's Precedent-Setting Victory As ABC, NBC, CBS Agree to Terms

WHAS Marks 30th Anni

WHAS Marks JUth Anni
Louisville, July 22.
WHAS, Courier - Journal and Louisville Times, celebrated it's 30th birthday Friday (18), and the vet airer didn't make much fuss about the event. Station, one of the first in the country to air regular programs, went on the air at 7:30 p.m., July 13, 1922. Credo
Harris was manager, and J. Emmet Graft, engineer. Harris, long since retired, is credited with numerous "firsts" in the broadcasting field. Graft is still a member of the WHAS technical staff. Station has been a CBS affiliate for 20 years.

tion has been a CBS affiliate for 20 years.
Victor Sholis, industry leader, is in charge of the present WHAS and WHAS-TV, and instead of three eemployes with which the station started, he has upwards of 200 making up his program, technical and offices staff.

RWG Squawk On Agent 'Monopoly' Faces D. C. Probe

Hollywood, July 22.

Hollywood, July 22.

Radio Writers Guild, which is in process of polling members here and in N. Y. regarding scribblers' relations with agents, is contemplating taking beef alleging unfair practices on the part of agents to the State Labor Commissioner, or may ask the Dept. of Justice Anti-Trust division to investigate question of alleged monopoly in field of talent agencies. talent agencies.

RWG's anger is at the part agents have in AM and TV pack-aging, and questionnaire being sent members delves into pertinent aspects of this point.

Remembers derives into pertinent aspects of this point.

A RWG spokesman said feeling in the guild is that in many instances where agents are packaging they are either acting as employers also, or repping the employers, to the detriment of talent involved. Beef with State Labor Commission, in particular, he said, would be based on the charge the agent is no longer just giving service, but is also acting as or for employer. RWG spokesman said an attempt to clarify relationship with agents was made through negotiation with Artists Management Guild last year, but talks were suspended. Since that time, he said, RWG has sought several times to renew the negotiations but has been unable negotiations but has been to get AMG into such conversations. Questions being asked RWG members query writers "were you ever a salarled writer on one of your agent's packages?"; "were you ever asked to pay commissions on your writing contributions to your agent's packages?"; "have you ever been pressured to become an agency client as the means of selling material?," and others along same lines.

ing material, and others along same lines.

There are approximately 1,000 members being sent the questionnaire, of which about 450 are members of the L. A. branch.

Brestoff's Det. Post

Détroit, July 22.
Phil Brestoff, musical director of WXYZ-TV and WXYZ-M, has been appointed to succeed Jack McCarthy, who has resigned, as WXYZ-AM studio manager.
Brestoff will continue as musical director.

Longest labor strike in broadcast annals was settled Monday (21) with the final inking by ABC of a new contract with the Radio Writers Guild, after CBS and NBC had come to terms with the Guild over the weekend. New pact gives the Guild all the salary increases demanded, plus several other benefits which are believed precedent-setting among entertainment unions,

These include a maternity clause, under which a girl must be reemployed by a network following her leave to have a baby, plus an emforced arbitration provision for any "discharge for cause." Thus, if an employer fires a writer for alleged drunkenness on the job and the employee disputes the claim, the case automatically goes to an arbitration board for settlement. In addition, the new contract for the first time establishes commercial fees for newswriters and a provision that any radio or television material created by continuity writers on their own time belongs to them.

$15 Pay Hike $15 Pay Hike

longs to them.

$15 Pay Hike

Under terms of the pact, the writers get a $15 pay hike retroactive to last Oct. 1, which ups the minimum pay for a senior writer to $145 weekly. Pact also calls for another $5 increase next Oct. 1, which is to run for the duration of the contract, or until Sept. 30, 1953. Same dollar increase applies to local and promotion writers, as well as to overscale writers. In percentage terms, the retroactive pay hike is $11\frac{1}{2}\text{C}\text{W}\text{o}\text{with another }3\frac{1}{2}\text{S}\text{o}\text{boost starting next Oct. 1, which applies to all categories, including editors in newsrooms.

Scale was set up for the first time for the payment of commercial fees in newsrooms on network news shows, something which the nets had disputed on the theory that, if the writers obtained commercial fees, they would also have to start paying sound men commercial fees. In addition, the RWG pact established a commercial writing differential, covering all newsmen with 52 weeks of cumulative sponsored newswriting experience, during which at least half of the output was on sponsored news programs.

Under terms of the new pact,

Under terms of the new pact, (Continued on page 39)

WDTV Ultimatum To Pitt Breweries

Local brewery Big Three, Duquesne, Fort Pitt and Pittsburgh, struck for more than three months now by a workers' walkout, have been notified by WDTV that they have only until Sept. 1 to pick up their regular teevee slots in this single-channel market. Station has been helding that times for them their regular teevee slots in this single-channel market. Station has been holding their times for them ever since strike began in mid-April but will sell choice periods elsewhere unless breweries have some definite word for them in next five weeks.

In many cases, beer people continued their TV programs for a short time after strike began, figuring walkout would be of brief duration, but that didn't last long when the thing stretched out. Management of WDTV told breweries not to worry, that when plants opened up again, their old niches would be waiting for them, but now with strike going into its fourth month, Channel 3 has decided to put a limit on the grace period.

25% RATE SLASH DUE TODAY

TV Clients Pray for Rain

Colgate has just completed some surveys which, in effect, practically throw the NBC-sponsored Hofstra Study on summertime TV viewing out the window.

The Hofstra Study, fortified with facts and figures, maintained that summer TV viewing was on the ascendancy and that clients desiring a per-dollar point payoff couldn't go wrong in latching on for the summer ride, The Colgate analysis, however, taking cognizance of the recent nosedive in all TV ratings, contends that the Hofstra study doesn't mean a thing; that television is at the mercy of the elements—if it rains the ratings go up, if it's hot and muggy, the best video show on the market won't get a rating.

Colgate took a rating a couple weeks back on a night when it rained in 10 key markets. Ratings shot up seven points for the 10-market average. Last weekend, when it was hot and humid cross-country and only rained in Kansas City, Colgate found most of the shows died from lack of audience. In K.C. the ratings shot up.

on the other hand, the Colgate study revealed that, rain or shine, radio ratings are continuing an upward trend, supporting the now-accepted AM argument that, thanks to auto radios and beach portables, summertime listening can't miss, indoors or outdoors.

NBC-TV Thinks It's Got One of the Daytime Answers, 'But Who's Got 70G?

NBC-TV is currently in the process of bluepripting one of its major daytime video activities—a full hour round-robin of 15-minute back-to-back strips carrying the overall tifle of "Hometown, USA." As an indication of just how ambitious the project shapes up, it will cost an approximate $70,000 simply to underwrite a kine audition of the four-ply attraction, As yet the coin has not been forthcoming, with the network brass pitching hard to prospective clients to pick up the costly audition tab. "Hometown" is designed as four quarter-hour Monday-thru-Friday shows which would emanate from four adjacent studios (each with their own permanent sets) at NBC's Brooklyn studios. They would have a basic, common theme, with all four daily installments related, with interchange of characters, situations, etc. Ted Mills, NBC producer, has been put in charge of the overall project, and NBC staffers are currently at work designing the sets. "Hometown" is being geared for ers are currently at work designing the sets.

"Hometown" is being geared for morning programming, somewhere between 10 and 12 (noon).
For some time now NBC-TV has been on the daytime programming spot, with affiliates pressing the web to "do something and do something quick" about vesting the 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. strips with some qualitative programming as greater sponsor lure. Network execs feel that "Hometown" will provide one of the major answers.

ABC Loses Lone Sat. Nite TV Client

ABC-TV took it on the chin from another bankroller this week with the decision of Nash-Kelvinator to check off the Saturday night "TV check off the Saturday night "TV Teen Club" at the end of the current cycle. "Club" is the only sponsored program ABC has on Saturday nights.

Originated by Paul Whiteman via WFIL-TV, ABC's key Philly outlet, "Club" has been on the air for several years. It has not been decided whether ABC will retain it on a sustaining basis or fill the time with film programming.

KELLOGG PUTS SRO ON TV 'HOUSE PARTY

Ward Quaal to Crosley As Martin Successor

Cincinnati, July 22.

Ward L. Quaal, formerly director of the Clear Channel Broadcasting System, has resigned that post to join Crosley Broadcasting Corp. as assistant general manager. He succeeds Dwight Martin, who recently resigned from Crosley to join General Teleradio in an exec join General Teleradio in an exec capacity

Quaal, who takes over his new job Aug. 25, will work with the entire Crosley setup, including WLW, Cincy, and WINS, N.Y.; WLW-T, Cincy, WLW-D, Dayton, and WLW-C, Columbus, the outfit's three video stations, and the FM and shortwave outlets.

No TV Blackout On Garden Bouts, Ned Irish Insists

Minneapolis, July 22

Minneapolis, July 22.

Setting to rest rumors that TV fight fans have seen their last big fight on their home sets. Ned Irish, Madison Square Garden executive director, said here that important bouts still will be on the air for home viewers again next winter.

"We have no plans to shut them off or to go strictly theatre television," declared Irish, who is here for the National Basketball association meeting. "True, some fights will be withheld from TV completely because certain fight managers like Jack Hurley refuse to agree to any plan."

Irish said that the Garden hasn't closed its deals for next winter yet because "everything is being (Continued on page 39)

(Continued on page 39)

WCBS-TV'S 72-SPOT DISCOUNT PLAN SALE

Underscoring again the lucrative business being done by the network flagship stations, WCBS-TV, key outlet of the CBS video well in N. Y., this week wrapped up two more bankrollers for its 12 spots-per week discount plan, bringing the total to six. That makes a total of 72 spots per week falling into the plan's discount structure.

CBS-TV posted the SRO sign this week on, its upcoming daystime "House Party" show, starring Art Linkletter, when Kellogg's discount for having contracted for Jarded to take the only two quarter-hour segments still open. Deal was set through the Leo Burnett agency for the show, which goes a half-hour cross-the-board starting the first week in Septembers. Other bankrollers previously signing for various segments of the show include Pillsbury. Lever Bros. and Green Glant Peas.

Imdians' 3-Year Pact

Cleveland, July 22.

Standard Brewing Co., WERE, and the Cleveland Indians have signed for another three years of broadcast rights of all ball club games.

Standard began broadcast of the games back in 1947, and it is expected that Jack Graney and Jimmy Dudley will continue to do the mike work.

NBC'S WHITE TO RESCUE OF CBS

competing NBC network to back them up, the CBS affiliates rate committee and CBS brass are expected to conclude huddles today (Wed.) on that web's new rate (Wed.) on that web's new rate formula. Deal, scheduled for announcement at the close of the meet, calls for a cut of 25% in nightime rates and a hike of 20% in the daytime card.

NBC's part in the negotiations came about in an indirect manner, but revolved around the promise of Frank White, now veepee and general manager of the NBC radio and TV nets but formerly a CBS top executive, that NBC would stabilize its rates on the same formula if the CBS affiliates could gain approval of the plan from the stabilize its rates on the same formula if the CBS affiliates could gain approval of the plan from the CBS brass. New rate formula is, in effect, a compromise. Affiliates had demanded that CBS rescind the 10% cut instituted a year ago and up daytime rates at least 20%. Under the plan evolved, however, the stations will dose very little. Settlement of the dispute was virtually reached in a two-day session among the affiliates and CBS exces at the network's N. Y. homeoffice last Thursday (17) and Friday. Web and committee agreed to study the deal over the weekend and be set to wire all affiliates and advertisers tonight (Wed.). Deal had been at the breaking point several times during the huddles and it was White, through a curious set of circumstances, who saved the day.

Throughout the negotiations, CBS officials had argued that even though the ret and stations agreed the day.

Throughout the negotiations. CBS officials had argued that even though the net and stations agreed to "turn their backs on the facts of life," which prexy Frank Stanfiliates at their initial meeting at the Hotel Ambassador, N. Y., three weeks ago, CBS would still be forced to cut its rates drastically when NBC moved in that direction. CBS committee, however, claimed to have an understanding from the NBC affiliates group that they would continue their adamant stand against any rate cut, adopted at the NBC convention last year at Boca Raton, Fla.

When Stanton continued to drive for a rate adjustment and the committee continued to reletch its pro-

Boca Raton, Fla.

When Stanton continued to drive for a rate adjustment and the committee continued to reject his proposals, he adjourned the meeting Friday morning. During the noon recess the committee sent one of its members to attempt to see NBC prez Joseph H. McConnell to get the NBC attitude on the situation. But, because of White's previous association with CBS as a top exec the was also prexy of Columbia Records) and his new topside berth at NBC, the delegate called on him instead. White informed him that NBC planned the 25% cut in nightime rates and a 20% boost daytime and promised, in effect, that if the affiliates could get Stanton to agree to such a plan, NBC would stabilize on the same basis.

Following this huddle with White, the committee urged Stanton to reconvene the sessions Friday afternoon and consider the new proposal. Committee backed the plan because it would cost the affiliates little coin but instead would put the burden on the advertiser in CBS; sold-out daytime schedule. Network finally agreed but asked for time to work out mechanical details of the arrangement. That's the reason final announcement of the formula is not due until today.

Indians' 3-Year Pact

NBC Total Assets Put at $43,603,000, Balance Sheet Shows Healthy Status

Liebman Back in N. Y., Sets European Acts

Sets European Acts

Max Liebman, producer-director of NBC-TV's "Your Show of Shows," planed back to New York from London on Monday (21) after six weeks in Europe. Accompanied by his wife, Liebman visited Spain, Germany, Austria, France and England, scouting a number of specialty acts which he will introduce this season on "Shows."

While in Europe Liebman also looked at films for possible use on TV in America, as part of his own independent Max Liebman Enterprises. Any deals on these pix would be independent of any contracts Liebman has with NBC. He leaves for Hollywood next week to discuss with 20th-Fox a film deal cooking for Sid Caesar and Imogene Coca, stars of "Shows," which would be done on the Coast next summer.

NBC May Strip Miner of Major TV Time Period

Worthington L. (Tony) Miner, whom NBC-TV lured over from CBS last spring at a reported week-ly salary of $2,000, may be squeezed ly salary of $2,000, may be squeezed out of a Class A evening time period this fall. NBC has set a deadline on how long it is willing to hold the Wednesday night 8 to 9 slot open for a projected Minerproduced dramatic series. If the show is not sold within the next several weeks, the web plans to slot two half-hour programs into the period, which it is confident it can sell.

slot two half-hour programs into the period, which it is confident it can sell.

Miner is currently represented on NBC with his "Curtain Call" series, a half-hour dramatic, show alred Friday nights at 8 under RCA Victor sponsorship. RCA is already committed to bankroll a Dennis Day show this fall, meaning that Miner will be vacated from that period. If his Wednesday night plans also do not jell sponsorwise, NBC, with no other available Class A time, may be forced to put Miner in on Sunday afternoons.

Web already has its two half-hour shows selected for Wednesday night, but isn't springing their identitify at this time. One of them is said to be a show now aired on a competing network and on which the sponsor wants to move to NBC. The other is an outside-produced package.

JESSE*JONES IN BID FOR UHF CHANNEL

TUK UHF CHANNEL

Houston, July 22.

KTRH, owned and operated by the Jesse H. Jones interests are the fifth applicant here for the VHF Channel No. 13. It was understood that there will be possibly two other groups who will also enter their bids for the same facilities.

Applicants on file for Channel 13 include the Shamrock Broadcasting Co., Houston Area Television Co.

W. W. Lechner of Dallas, and the South Texas Television Co.

This is the only commercial channel available here.

WDGY Files for TV Minneapolis, July 22. Radio station WDGY here has Radio station WDGY here has filed an application with the FCC for a television station here. Request is for UHF channel 9.

At present the Twin Cities have but two TV stations, KSTP and WTCN, but applications for four more, in addition to WDGY's, are pending with the FCC.

Washington, July 22.

NBC's strong financial position was shown in its recent application filed with the FCC to sell its Denver owned-and-operated AM station, KOA, to Metropolitan Television Co. for $2,250,000. The network's balance sheet, as of May 31, 1952, shows total assets of $45,603,000, including current assets of over $25,000,000 and cash on hand of nearly $5,000,000.

The web also revealed it had approximately $2,400,000 invested in government securities and had notes and accounts receivable

The web also revealed it had approximately $2,400,000 invested in government securities and had notes and accounts receivable totaling $15,591,000. Assets also included $2,433,000 for prepaid insurance, taxes, rents, etc.

The network's plant and equipment, which includes its 0 and 0 AM, FM and TV stations, as well as studios, are listed at approximately $20,400,000.

As against its current assets, the web's balance sheet shows current liabilities of $18,463,000. Of this amount, accounts payable represent $9,904,000 and accrued Federal taxes the remainder.

Capital stock is represented at $6,500,000. and earned surplus at $19,851,000.

The network recorded the KOA property on its books at $225,000. Original cost, of the station (AM and FM) was listed as $412,000.

KOA's net sales last, year were listed at $1,112,000 as against $983,000 in 1950. Earnings in 1951 (before Federal income taxes) were given as $239,000 compared with $232,000 in the previous year.

Bob Hope, largest stockholder in Metropolitan, is listed as 56% owner of Hope Enterprises, sole owner of Hope Records, Inc., and president of Hope Productions, Inc., which has a 50% interest in Metropolitan.

Hope is also listed as an oil operator, in association with Bing Crosby, W. A. Moncrief and C. E. Hyde in drilling operations.

The comic's assets (together with his wife's) as of May 29, 1952, are listed at $3,769,000. Of this amount, $2,000,000 is invested (Continued on page 39)

(Continued on page 39)

Reynolds Tries Again Via NBC

Metals will make another big pro gramming splash on NBC this fall. despite the fact that all of the company's AM-TV ventures on the web came acropper last season. Reynolds took the count on all counts the past season, including "The Big Show" (radio), "Operation Tandem" radio) and the Wednesday night Kate Smith show (TV)

(TV).

The aluminum outfit has bought "Fjbber McGee and Molly," for radio next season, with "F & M" returning to their longume Tuesday night spot, where they were sponsored last season by Pet Milk. Previously Reynolds had pacted for the new Eddie Mayehoff TV show, which goes into the Sunday 7:30 p.m. (after Red Skelton) period.

BERT PARKS INTO TV DOUBLE OR NOTHING

Bert Parks has signed a contract for his takeover of the emcee role on the three-times-a-week daytime "Double or Nothing" TV show on CBS., sponsored by Campbell Soups. He replaces Walter O'Keefe, who is prepping a new TV daytimer. Parks moves into the show in October.

Parks also held down a daytime spot on CBS-TV last season, when General Foods sponsored his own show.

Parks deal was set by Ward Wheelock, agency on the Campbell account.

FCC Speeding ABC-UPT Merger; May Wind Up Hearing This Week

Washington, July 22.

The FCC is likely to act this week on the petition of ABC and United Paramount Theatres to drop the merger hearings and issue a quick decision on the case. It possible, however, that the agency's ruling will be deferred until next week to give time for writing of dissenting opinions. Comr. Robert Jones, who played a leading role in bringing about the Paramount inquiry, is expected to write a strong dissent to calling off the hearings which are now suspended pending action on the petition.

Agency is free to act on the petition, now that all briefs in the case have been filed. Last reply to the petition was filed Friday (18) by the Commission's Broadcast Bureau, through attorneys Frederick Ford and Max Paglin. Other parties to the proceeding, it was learned, will not avail themselves of the opportunity to reply to the opposition brief of Ford and Paglin.

A possibility that the Commission may grant immediate approval of the merger, rather than wait 20 days for the parties to file proposed findings as requested in the ABC-UPT petition, was indicated in the Ford-Paglin opposition. The attorneys suggested that if the Commission is "determined" that anti-trust violations have no bearing on qualifications of broadcast applicants it. "might well consider whether it can review all the applications (involved in the hearings) except those pertaining to the transfer of Du Mont and dispose of them administratively rather than to require that findings of fact be submitted by the parties."

Claim Anti-Trust Dangers

In their opposition brief, Paglin

Claim Anti-Trust Dangers

Claim Anti-Trust Dangers

In their opposition brief, Paglin and Ford made a strong appeal to the Commission to continue the Par anti-trust hearings under Examiner Leo Resnick through their final conclusion. ABC's need of capital to compete in the TV network field, they contended, cannot outweigh the "vital monopoly considerations" involved in the merger. The anti-trust issues, which ABC, UPT and Paramount want eliminated, they asserted, are the heart of the preceedings.

ABC, UPT and Paramount Pictures, they asserted, "apparently overlook the fact that probably the single most important factor to be considered, if a realistic appraisal of the consequencies of the merger is to be made, is the anti-trust history and the actual experience of Paramount in the past. The practices which may be expected to develop as the result of the practices which may be expected to develop as the result of the theatre-radio combination such as (Continued on page 37)

San Antonio's 200% Hike In Tele Set Sales Laid To Politics, Thru-Cable

San Antonio, July 22.

Local TV dealers have announced that the Republican convention increased the sale of TV sets in this area as much as 200%, Jump was attributed to relaxation of down payment restrictions and initiation of live network, plus the national political fever.

A similar jump was noticed in this period when dealers purchased $10,000 worth of TV equipment from wholesale houses whereas none was purchased for the two weeks prior to the convention.

Local dealers expect a much milder run on TV sets with the start of the Domocratic convention.

Reynolds Metals Pacts CBS Harness Racing

Reynolds Metals has pacted with CBS Radio to sponsor six quarter-hour pickups of harness racing events from various tracks across the country during August and September. Deal was set by the web with the Buchanna agency and the Grand Circuit Racing Assn.

Series tees off Aug. 6 with the Hambletonian, from Goshen, N. Y., with the radio coverage slated from 5:15 to 5:30 p.m. Other races are expected to be aired Thursdays from 6:15 to 6:30,

'OPERATION SUNBURST' A CINCY COIN CLICK

A CINCY COIN CLICK

Cincinnati, July 22,
WLW-Television's summer; audience and sales promotion, "Operation Sunburst," is credited with 102 new accounts and 116 sales by John T. Murphy, vice president. National advertisers include B. F. Goodrich, Old Dutch Beer, B.C. Remedy Co., Sinclair Oil, Blue Crown Spark Plugs and Sal Fayne. At the same time Norman Cash, general sales manager of Crosley's AM outlet, WLW, reported new hillings for national spot sales totaling in excess of $300,000 for July, August and September. The sales, he said, were made between June 25 and July 7 by Crosley offices here and in New York and Chicago, and excluded network accounts.

Groucho Leads Weak AM Ratings

In what is probably a new rating low for the top network radio shows, the Groucho Marx program via NBC leads the latest Nielsen revia NBC leads the latest Nielsen re-port (for the week-of June 8-14) with a mark of 7.6. Even with the inroads of television, the top-rated shows earlier in the season were scoring 15s and 16s. Bob Hope show, in eighth position for the week, dipped to a 5.3.

Following are the Nielsen top 10: Groucho Marx (NBC). 7.6
Groucho Marx (NBC). 7.6
Groucho Marx (NBC). 7.2
Romance (CBS). 6.7
Fibber & Molly (NBC). 6.6
Dr. Christian (ABC). 6.2
Big Story (NBC). 6.0
Walk a Mile (CBS). 5.9
Bob Hope (NBC). 5.3
The Lineup (NBC). 5.3
Great Gildersleeve (NBC). 5.3

McCann-Erickson Cleve. Staffers Given Promotion

Staffers Given Promotion

Cleveland, July 22.

Robert W. Dalley, radio-television director of McCann-Erickson, Inc., has been named a vice president and placed in charge of the Cleveland office.

With Dailey's promotion, the agency announced Thomas H. Batman, creative director, and Myron C. McDonald, account executive also have been named veepees.

Albert W. Sommer, v.p. and general manager, is being transferred to Chicago. He had been in charge of the Cleveland office since 1948.

Dailey had been director of news for NBC in Cleveland before, moving to McCann eight years ago.

In announcing the shift, Sommers said McCann's Cleveland business has tripled in the last nine years.

WHBS's Baseball SRO

Kansas City, July 22.
Radio Night for the Kansas City
Blues of the American Assn. was a virtual sellout with 17,100 persons on hand last Friday night (18). Event is an annual promotion which salutes Larry Ray, WHB sportscaster and his sponsor, Muehlebach Brewing Co., which has underwritten broadcasts of the games here this season.

Mear-record attendance was the result of intensive promotion by WHB, the club officials and others, and far overshadows last year's 11,700. Games, contests and prizes were atractions along with the ball game

Pittsburgh — Phil Zinkand has resigned from the WWSW announcing staff to go with a West Coast radio station. New producer of "Music Time," three afternoons weekly on WJAS sponsored by Army, is Sergeant Albert B. Metz, a local boy who graduated from Allegheny H.S. .. All Hallaman, just out of Duquesne U. is filling in as an announcer at KQV during the vacation season. While the college, he was program director of the campus FM station, WDUQ.

Halpin's DuMont Post

Daniel D. Halpin has been named general sales manager for the receiver division of Allen B. DuMont Labs. He succeeds Walter Stickle, who resigned recently to join Hoffman TV on the Coast as sales chief.

Halpin was formerly manager of TV receiver sales for RCA Victor and is a past prez of the American TV Society.

Mpls. Aquatennial Hit By Demo Blockbuster On Radio-TV Coverage

Minneapolis, July 19.

There's plenty of grief currently for the Minneapolis Aquatennial, local 13-year old annual summer mardi gras, because its dates, July 18-27, conflict with those of the Democratic National Convention which, of course, is drawing no little newspaper and other attention away from it.

Also, the Aquatennial is getting less television and radio coverage than otherwise or usual for the reason that the stations here can't reason that the stations here can't very well slight the present Chicago shindig by giving it a smaller amount of time than that devoted to the Republican donnybrook, even though they might like to do so, which is questionable.

When they belatedly learned their summer festival would be concurrent with the political convention, the directors wanted to change dates. Previous commitments, however, made that impractical, and they had to go ahead and buck the tough opposition.

Over the 13 years, the Aquatenand buck the tough opposition.

Over the 13 years, the Aquatennial has found its parades to be the most popular and profitable fe-ture and currently is again featuring two of them with costly and elaborate floats provided by local and outside business concerns. There are a daytime affair and an evening illuminated pageant, as usual, with a $1.80 reserved seats scale for those who wish to watch them from the city's 15,000-seat stadium.

scale for those who wash to watch them from the city's 15,000-seat stadium.

Other events on tap for the thousands of transients attracted here by the festival and homefolks include the "Aqua Follies," locally produced stage-water show, running from July 16 through the 27th and scaled at $3.50 top; radio station WCCO's show in the 10,000-seat Municipal Auditorium, headlined by Edgar Bergen and scaled at $6 top, but which also goes out over the air; a "Queen of the Lakes" coronation and ball in the Auditorium, likewise with a $6 top scale, and an "Aqua Star Night" having a $1.80 top.

All radio and TV stations are giving the Aquatennial the usual amount of gratuitous ether publicity and, in spite of the Democratic convention, they aren't neglecting it. As hitherto, radio station WCCO (CBS) and WTCN-TV have been dishing out the most coverage. In addition to the aforementioned Auditorium radio show which it has been staging the past five years, WCCO covered the daytime parade with a float by float, etc., ether wave description. This parade, which took place last Saturday, before the big Chicago doings' start, also was televised for a third successive year by WTCN. Most of KSTP's coverage consisted of newsreel pickups for its TV.

Crosley's Merchandising Deal With Drug Chain

Deal With Drug Chain

Cincinnati, July 22,

Moving the "chain lightning" operation into the realm of drugstore products, Crosley Broadcasting's WLW and WLW-T has signed a year-long merchandising deal with the Gallaher Drug chain.
Under the deal, 34 drug stores will plug products advertised on the two stations via counter and window displays, while Gallaher's will use a series of spots on WLW and WLW-T to advertise its own merchandise, as well as national brands.

brands,
Gallaher's pact follows closely one set by Crosley with Albers
Super Markets, under which the Crosley stations receive "shopper stopper" displays weekly in each of the chain's 65 stores and the chain uses a series of daily spots to plug its products.

KFEL-TV Preems in Teleblind Denver as 1st Post-Thaw Station

NELSON, KAMERER TO NBC'S HYPOED SPORTS

NBC'S HYPULD SPUKIS
In a major expansion of its sports department, NBC yesterday (Tues.) named Lindsay Nelson as assistant sports director under Tom Gallery, and David N. Kamerer as coordinator for its National Collegiate Athletic Ass'n TV football coverage. New appointments are designed to up the sports phase of the network to an equal status with the news and special events department.
Nelson was formerly football director of the Liberty Broadcasting System. Kamerer was director of sports program development for
McCann-Erickson.

Cleve. WTAM Nabs Browns Pro Grid

Augmenting its new policy of "community station," WTAM has signed to broadcast the entire 16-game schedule of the Cleveland Browns professional football games.

The announcement, made by Hamilton Shea, NBC general manager here, marked the first time in 20 years that WTAM returned to a play-by-play account of a professional athletic team, and it marked the first time in two years that WERE's monoply had been broken in the broadcasting of football, baseball and hockey. WERE had the Browns broadcast for the past two years.

The football games will be spon-

two years.

The football games will be sponsored by Brewing Corp. of America, makers of Carling's ale and beer, and will be carried by WTAM over a four-state network of radio stations in Ohlo, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Kentucky. As yet, no announcement has been made as to who will broadcast the games. Bob Neal, who did the mike work for the Browns in the past, has been ruled out since he does the baseball broadcasts for Pfeiffer Beer.

Along with the football games.

Pfeiffer Beer.

Along with the football games, WTAM announced Paul Brown, coach and general manager of the Browns, will appear in a weekly 15-minutes sports program on 6:30 p.m. Thursday evenings, and he will appear, too, on a Tuesday evening sport show featuring members of the Browns' team.

Agency is Lang-Fisher and Stashower.

Yale Divinity School's TV Religioso Training

New Haven, July 22. Yale Divinity School, which has Yale Divinity School, which has pioneered in religious communications training for several years, will offer an experimental course in religious television next fall for the first time. New course was described as a natural extension of the school's religious radio curriculum, which has been given for six years.

Proposed course will be conducted in cooperation with WNHC.

Proposed course will be conducted in cooperation with WNHC-TV here according to the Rev Liston Pope, dean of the school. It will be supervised by the Rev. Everett C. Parker, lecturer in religious radio and television. David Harris, WNHC-TV production chief, will assist the Rev. Parker. Course will be composed of lectures and seminar discussions, as well as actual laboratory-type work in WNHC-TV. Students will take no part in regular programs emanating from the station, Rev. Parker said, but will do practice work in the studios.

San Antonio—The San Antonio Chamber of Commerce has made its debut with a half-hour telecast to be presented each Friday night to KEYL. Titled the "San Antonio Story" show will feature lesser known musical talent in the city and give interesting pointers on the city by chamber officials. Jim Smith is producer.

Denver, July 22.

On Monday (21) Denver became the first teleblind city to get its television following the long freeze when KFEL-TV claimed the honor of being the first station to go on the air in the U. S. after the long thaw. KFEL-TV went on the air officially with the opening of the Democratic convention, using coverage of NBC; becoming their temporary affiliate here. The station will use NBC shows all week. Starting at the end of the convention KFEL-TV will originate dramatic and other shows in their Denver studios, now ready for operation. KFEL-TW will originate dramatic and other shows in their Denver studios, now ready for operation. KFEL-TW and for Saturday and Sunday went on an experimental basis. The present broadcasts are being sent from a temporary transmitter on Lookout Mountain, where most of the Denver stations will build. Such a move will simplify greatly the installation of antennas in homes.

KVOD, which has, been given channel 9 without opposition, will ask the FCC for a temporary permit, such as was given KFEL. KVOD officials said they would be on the air within two weeks after it is given, and they will broadcast from a temporary transmitter alongside KFEL-TV. Both transmitters will be improved rapidly, and both should be in maximum operation by January, 1953.

Empire Coll, given channel 26 (UHF) without opposition, have not indicated how soon they ex- (Continued on page 37)

(Continued on page 37)

Young Tokyo's TV Has Tailor-Made Talent---Nip Wrestlers, Natch

Nip Wrestlers, Natch

Chicago, Jury 22.

Like it was during television's infancy in this country, wrestling likely will be the strongest programming fare in Japan during the first stages of that nation's just-sprouting TV industry. That's the prediction of Tokuji Hayakawa, leading Japanese set manufacturer now enroute back to his homeland after negotiating a patent licensing pact with RCA.

Industrialist sees Jap video following the American pattern with the first seven and 12 inch sets being used in bars and other public places with sports, particularly wrestling, being the most popular shows. Although there are only some 200 sets in use now during this experimental stage, Hayakawa hopes that his firm and the other two set producers who have also tied up with RCA will be able to turn out 100,000 sets for the pub and high income market within the next year or two.

and high income market within the next year or two.

Hayakawa's plant will soon be tooled up to turn out 600 sets a month but eventually will be equipped to produce nearly that many units daily, once the market expands. The sets, which feature the U. S. 525-line tube, will cost about $450 American but the price, once any degree of mass production is attained, should drop to $300.

Hayakawa, prez of the Handicapped Employment Assn. of Japan, stopped off in Chicago in search of equipment that can be used by disabled war vets in his Osaka plant.

Shurick Upped in CBS TV Sales Department

Edward P. Shurick, formerly an account exec with the CBS-TV sales department, has been named to the newly-created post of manager of sales development, in which he reports directly to sales veepee Fred M. Thrower. In his new job. Shurick also takes over as head of TV research, succeeding Lorin P. Myers, who has resigned to join the Free & Peters station rep outfit as manager of TV sales promotion.

DEMS BLEED TV DOLLARS, TOO

Look Sharp—Be Sharp

Chicago, July 22.
"YOU WILL BE ON TELEVISION! Television will be watching

"YOU WILL BE ON TELEVISION! Television will be watching YOU!":
That's the way the Democratic National Committee has laid it on the line in print to its convention delegates and alternates, urging them to be in their seats so as to create a good impression for the millions watching video screens around the country.

The printed memorandum, which has been sent to the delegates and alternates, also appears on a full page of the big; slick paper official convention program. It says further:

"140,000,000 eyes will watch our convention; 70,000,000 people will watch us nominate the next President and Vice President of the United States.

"Eight television cameras will be covering every inch of Convention Hall, inside and outside. They can cover every person in the hall. They'll pick up everything of interest and everything out of the ordinary.

"Even if you're in a crowd, the eye of Television can project a closeup picture of YOU to those 70,000,000 people watching. You probably won't even know the camera is on YOU!

"Empty seats will give a very bad impression. Television starts covering Convention Hall 30 minutes before each session. BE ON TIME for each session."

Demo Convention's Global Impact, With World-Wide Radio Coverage

Chicago, July 22.
The radio stations of almost the entire world have been getting and servicing their listeners with substantial coverage of the two big American political conventions.
In addition, such special services as the State Department's "Volce of America," have also been feeding convention news to the world, with special attention to the Iron Curtain nations.
"Volce" has been working the conventions in Chicago with a staff of 17 under the direction of Hank Miller.

Miller.

They have been putting out the live English language commentary of Raymond Gram Swing to many nations where listeners might understand English. In addition, complete coverage is being wired to the New York headquarters of "Voice." Material is cut to size and then translated to the 46 languages in which the State Department broadcasts are given to the world's air waves.

air waves.

One special gimmick has been bringing to Chicago two or three foreign language commentators for "Voice" to do special spots from here. The service is taking the audio from the TV net coverage, making a number of interviews and also doing special chores suggested from time to time by the New York headcuarters.

from time to time by the New York headquarters.

CBC-BBC in Tie-In Canadian Broadcasting Corp. and BBC have been operating together in Chicago. CBC is covering for both Canada's French and English speaking populations. Under the direction of Norman De Poe, the Canadian web gets one French coast-to-coast commentary and re-

(Continued on page 36)

CBS Radio 'Digest' Capra Formula

Chicago, July 22.

Chicago, July 22.

CBS Radio, striving for imaginative programming in connection with the Democratic Convention, has introduced a stunt bearing similarity to the old-line Frank Capra flickers. Film oldsters remember the Capra trick of taking a young and typical lawmaker, a la "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," "Meet John Doe," etc., and demonstrating the swirl in and around him of national and state-level politics, clean and corrupt.

and corrupt.

The CBS "Convention Digest"
Wells The CBS "Convention Digest" operation, supervised by Wells Church, director of News Events, settled on a similar plot line this week, with accompanying kudos in and around Chicago and from top-level CBS execs.
"Digest" aproached the Kansas State Chairman and asked him to select the "most typical" of his delegation, an uncommitted, family-man delegate. Kansas was "Continued on page 36)

(Continued on page 36)

WOV's 20% Hike for '52 WOV, the New York bilingual indie, has set its sights on a 20% billings hike for 1952, with a practically SRO status prevailing for the first six months of the year. This would give the Italian-American language station its biggest gross to date.

Italian sponsor billings represent about 70% of the station's biz.

It's 'No Truce' In WBKB-CBS Snag On Politico Cutins

Chicago, July 22.

A week of conferences between CBS-TV and WBKB, the web's Chi affiliate, failed to produce a truce on the inter-mural bickering over the way the indie is handling the web's convention feed. Unable to work out a straight "pay as you go" deal with CBS for the Westinghouse-backed coverage of this week's Democratic convention, WBKB is cutting away from the network telecasts at its own discretion to insert local biz.

It was the indie's attempt to

It was the indie's attempt to squeeze in as much hometown revenue as possible during the 65-hour CBS Republican show, with the resultant embarrassment to the web toppers in town viewing the telecast on WBKB's Channel 4, that set off the "there'll be some changes" huddles during the between-convention interval.

John Mitchell WBKB general

John Mitchell, WBKB general manager, agreed to axe the local blurbs if CBS would guarantee the (Continued on page 36)

NBC Plans 1st Traveling Remote Pickup of Demo Winner's Acceptance Trip

Minner's Acceptance 1rip
Chicago, July 22.
Millions of television viewers across the country may get a chance for the first time to watch the Democratic Presidential nominee on the complete route from his hotel to Convention Hall, as he rides through the streets of Chi to make his acceptance speech. Stunt could be accomplished through use of NBC-TV's new superpowered mobile unit, which for the first time makes possible a traveling remote pickup.

TV web's news and special

TV web's news and special events chief Bill McAndrew has sent a map for the proposed route of the nominee's motorcade to Ken Fry, the Demos' radio TV chief. Stunt would probably mean less

(Continued on page 37)

AHEAD' SLOGAN

Chicago, July 22.

TV slogan for this Democratic Convention seems to be, "damn the expense and full coverage ahead."

expense and full coverage ahead."
The expense continues staggering and may get worse. Networks have been bleeding dollars through every pore during these conventions. They were nicked a little deeper when the Demmies decided to start night sessions at 8 p.m., instead of 8:30. This meant additional preemptions and loss of profitable revenue-producing programs during that choice half-hour.

hour.

Because of the unusually large number of candidates, webs are worried about a possible deadlock which could send the nominating hassle-into extra days, for extra preemptions and extra red ink.

Nevertheless the orders from the brass section in New York continues—provide full saturation coverage, no matter what the nick. Video industry is rolling mak-

Video industry is rolling, making an unprecedentedly deep impression on the American public and on the political scene. The industry toppers mean to sit pat and play their cards to the hilt.

The story is being told via the audience—or lack thereof—attending the convention sessions.

ing the convention sessions.

It was told on that last evening of the Republican Convention when, with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower—the presidential nominee—scheduled to speak, they couldn't even get the delegates to the convention hall to fill their seats nor enough ticket-holding guests out to make the galleries look reasonably full for the nominee and the TV cameras.

Gotta Dress the House

The reason was—the delegates and guests were in their hotel rooms watching the proceedings on video.

on video.

That was the evening Convention
Chairman Joe Martin paid TV the ultimate tribute when he ordered the guards to open the doors of the International Amphitheatre and "let the people in."
He couldn't think of any other way to dress the house for the millions who'd be watching over television.

vision.

Democrats have picked up the headache of a partially-filled audi-(Continued on page 36)

'FULL COVERAGE TV Provides 'Unit Booking' For Five-Star Demo Political Package

I Like KITE'

San Antonio, July 22.
Every Yellow Cab in the city carried a "I LIKE KITE" poster the morning after Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was nominated at the Republic Convention. Most motorists and pedestrians got a "double take" at first glance, due to the similarity of the copy with the General's campaign clogan.
KITE's news department had already polled the public opinion less than one hour after General Ike's nomination, and found that most San Antonians thought that he would be elected in November.

TV Makeup Men Unsung Heroes Of Chi's Conventions

Among the unsung beroes this year's conventions must this year's conventions must be numbered the makeup men for the three video webs. Alternately harassed by eager politicos who beat a well worn path to their studios to make certain they put their best faces forward on TV, and the reluctant-ones who resisted the improvements of art on nature, the makeup men were perhaps the busiest behind-the-scenes workers of the Chicago story.

busiest behind-the-scenes workers of the Chicago story.

Things are different than in 1948. Four years ago, experts were imported-from Hollywood to glam-orize the political actors, yet some of the results were on the bizarre side.

This time, the results have been a decided improvement. Majority of the speakers facing the convention video cameras have been touched up by experts with a lot more practical experience with the peculiarities of TV. And, as in other cases, those who have resisted the makeup have shown on the receiver screens with deep shadows and what appeared to be three-day beards.

Most speakers have learned to take their makeup seriously in both the Republican and Demo
(Continued on page 36)

(Continued on page 36)

Chi Convention Chatter

Chicago, July 22.

Chicago, July 22.

Network brass well represented here, though far from en masse, and in slightly smaller ratio than at GOP powwow . . . NBC biggie Niles Trammell, on hand to watch the Republicans slug it out, is sitting this one out in Florida . . . NBC prexy Joseph McConnell back on the scene, and v. p. William Brooks stayed on between conventions to guard web's public relations interests . . CBS boss Frank Stanton did a repeat of his GOP first day look-see, while Jack Van Volkenburg and Adrian Murphy, web's TV and radio prexies, both here . . . Earl Gammons, CBS veep from Washington, is again on hand to make friends and influence people until the final gavel . . . ABC topper Robert Kintner again came early and plans to 'stay late . . Mutual's executive v. p. Wil-

ABC topper Robert Kintner again came early and plans to stay late ... Mutual's executive v. p. William Fineshriber, Jr., another convention repeater ... Armed Forces Radio Service has passed the word that it is taking material for its overseas distribution from all the nets on an equal basis ... CBS prexy Frank Stanton has some sort of record as this year's number one armchair conventioneer, with two radio and two TV receivers in home and office plus remote control for operation, for around-the-clock looking and listening ... Mutual newscaster Everett Hollis, who was dragged 30 feet along the convention floor while covering the GOP doings with his walkie talkie, now has Eugene Philips, WGN-Mutual staffer, who has a way with the local gendarmerie, as body-guard . . ABC has developed a rotating system, working its stable of 40 commentators, in a series of three platoons, in order to give everyone a crack at the bigtime . . Show biz, this week, is concentrated in the Harriman camp, with playwright Sam Spewak in early to give his all for the New Yorker, and Robert Sherwood due at mid-week to beat the Harriman drums . . Tallulah Bankhead, another Harriman supporter, doing her rooting via long distance telephone . . Ethel Merman here to watch from the sidelines, and attorney Bartley Crum taking time out from the domestic problems of Rida Hayworth to work on the political ones of candidate Sen. Richard Russell . . Sen. Edwin Johnson (D. Col.) chairman of Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, very much on the scene as manager for the Russell campaign . . . FCC Commissioner Frieda Hennock, actress-turned-Treasurer of the U. S. Georgia Neese Clark, Mrs. Perle "Call Me Madam" Mesta and Mrs. FDR all attending in the flesh, as well as on cardwho was dragged 30 feet along the

(Continued on page 36)

Chicago, July 22.
Never before have so many watched so many supposedly competing politicians wrangle so peaceably as they did last weekend durable and the second s watched so many supposedly competing politicians wrangle so peaceably as they did last weekend during the Democrats' pre-convention' "crumpled shirtcollar derby" conducted on television.

From NBC-TV's "We the People" Friday night (18) to ABC-TV's "Politics on Trial" last night (Mon.) the five current headliners on the Demo's presidential nominee bill racked up as a unit a total of four hours of TV airtime. The bicycling' politicians making up the video "package" included Senators Russell, Kerr and Kefauver; Vice President Alben Barkley, and W. Averell Harriman.

Besides the aforementioned video shows, the "have delegates and will travel" hopefuls appeared on Edward R. Murrow's Sunday CBS-TV convention roundup; "Meet the Press" and "American Forum of the Air" same day on NBC-TV. Also on Sunday, WBKB, the CBS tele affiliate here, pulled something of a scoop on the network with its own "Convention Closeups" which corraled all the candidates except Russell with an hour show that ended just 30 minutes before Murrow's program. All the candidates except Russell with an hour show that ended just 30 minutes before Murrow's program. All the candidates except Kefauver got back to their Conrad Hilton headquarters for the CBS pickup, thus avoiding another hassle between the network and its Chi outlet. Mutual, incidentally, taped the WBKB show for later airing.

Surprisingly, the unit bookings of the five Dem frontrunners on the six shows—something unique in the history of U. S. politics—failed to produce the sparks the q.&a. programs generally do with their regular formats. The plattudinous replies from the polls with their "We're all in the same club" routines had almost a rehearsed ring by the time the troupe was disbanded last night for the business at hand out at the International Amphitheatre.

Illinois' Gov. Adlat Stevenson, the convention's big question mark (Continued on page 39)

(Continued on page 39)

Dems Jump Gun On Video Time

jumped the gun on its Republican Party opposition this week by being the first to sign for network television time in the period between the conventions and the Presidential election in November.

tween the conventions and the Presidential election in November. Demos signed for the Tuesday night at 10:30 period on CBS-TV, which has been programmed on a local basis this summer.

With both NBC and CBS nearly sold out for the fall season, the Demos reportedly were anxious to buy time fast, so as to get the choice periods. Simmons Mattress, for example, takes over that Tuesday night period in September on an alternate week basis, so that the Demos could buy it for a span of only five weeks. Even though the election comes off Nov. 4, prior to the time when a number of shows are slated to return after their hiatus, the webs nonetheless have done well commercially this summer so that available time even now is at a premium.

Demo business was placed through the Joseph Katz agency. GOP, whose radio-TV business has been handled until now by Young & Rubicam, is expected to spread its billings out among several agencies, including Y&R.

Mutual Ups Marts

Mutual Ups Marts
Carroll H. Marts, Mutual's midwest division sales chief, has been upped to the post of manager of midwest operations, Virgil Reiter, Mutual account exec for the midwest, was named to succeed Marts in the division sales chief's job.

ALL NIGHT SHOW

With Fred Rebbins, emoce; others
Exec preducer; Harvey Marlowe
Freducer; Harvey Marlowe
190 Mins; Mon.-thru-Fri., 12 midnight's 5 a.m.; Sst., 11:30 y.m. to 6 a.m.
Participating
WOR-TV, N. Y.

WOR-TV has taken a tremendous stride forward both for itself and Participating

WOR-TV, N. Y.
WOR-TV has taken a tremendous stride forward both for itself and the rest of the industry with the inception of the first live all-night video show last Saturday night (19). As was to be expected on the preemand with such a flexible format, the opener had its quota of miscues, camera fluffs, etc., all of which should be ironed out with-out too much difficulty. More important, though, is that if the show pays off (and WDTV, Pitts-burgh, has been operating in the black with an all-night film show for several months), other stations around the country can be expected to adopt the format.

It was evident from the preem that emoee Fred Robbins and the production crew had only a vague notion of exactly where they were going. Program ran the gamut from guest interviews through audience participation contests via telephone to the screening of Snader Telescriptions, the three-minute musical shorts used by other TV outlets for video discovery programs. Some of the show came off well, but there were also long pauses when nothing of interest was transpiring on the screen. Very fact that WOR-TV is first to open up in N. Y. with an all-night affair, however, should insure it whatever viewers stay up after midnight.

Robbins, who's been a radio dee-jay, made for an affable and intelligent emcee. He was naturally subject to the hectic aspects of the preem but handled his numerous guests smoothly and managed to keep the show perking through most of the night. Walter T. Shirley, N. Y. commerce commissioner, led off the guest parade with an explanation of what the city is doing to keep TV centered in N. Y., and he was followed by a long string of show biz personalities. Robbins made a big thing of playing up to Morgan, the beagle hound owned by Mr. and Mrs. Dick Gordon (Kyle MacDonnell), which was okay for the preem but nightly.

Show biz guests naturally plugged their latest films, recordings etc. which was a grood was

Show biz guests naturally plugged their latest films, recordings, etc., which was a good way to whet the public appetite. After talking up a new disk, though, it might be a good thing for Robbins to play the record, so that viewers could hear for themselves what all the fuss is about. Program resembled a telethon somewhat because of the many guests participating but, unlike the charity-pitched shows, the guests were not permitted on this one to do more than talk.

Show emanates from WOPP my mitted on this one to do more than talk.

Show emanates from WOR's TV Centre, with Robbins working against' an attractive setting of the Manhattan skyline after dark. On the initialer, he had difficulty with the mike pickups as he walked from one part of the room to another. switchers were apparently dozing on the job, since the show started off with a Telescription cued in by mistake over the opening credits and there were also several stagewaits as Robbins announced a film and then had to sit by until it came on the screen. These are things which can be corrected with no trouble.

Show is being sold on a participating basis, with Val Worth, a mail order house, the only one in so far. Outfit has bought two spots weekly.

Stal.

PAINEVILLE TROTTING RACES
With Tom Manning, Chuck Bang,
Jay Scott
Producer: George Cyr
30 Mins; Mon. & Wed., 10:30 p.m.
PHLSENER BREWING CO.
WNBK, Cleveland
(Stern & Warren)
The colorful trotting races 'always lend towards television appeal. Given proper description, good camera work and satisfactory color background, the stanza can make for top evening appeal. In the half-hour, twice-a-week pickup WNBK scores with a healthy general overtone of quality viewing. Tom Manning whose background in sports is as extensive as the field itself, does the emcee pitch, interviews guests, and provides the color background. Chuck Bang handles the race itself while Jay Scott is track man. The three voices complement each other for smooth listensing: Manning the on-the-minute voice to tie it all together; Bang for crisp race description; Scott for the story around the race.
Camera-work keeps the viewing on top the event although absence of a zoomar is felt on long shots.
Commercials are easy to take.

STORY FOR AMERICANS With Cameron Andrews, Gene ith Cameron Andrews, (Lee reducer: Robert Herridge

Producer: Robert Herrings
Director: Frank Harms
30 Mins., Sin., 3:30 p.m.
WCBS-TV, from New York
WCBS-TV, CBS' New York flagship, takes a slice of Americana each week and works it into a halfhour stanza that blends educa-tional as well as entertainment It's an unpretentious efvalues, its an inpresentious refort which could pick up plenty of young viewers if it eased up on its pedagogic manner. As it stands now "Story for Americans" is a visual history lesson which'll have trouble attracting youngsters have trouble attracting youngsters who've got that "no school 'til September" attitude.

It's a simply styled series using a storyteller (Cameron Andrews) as the peg for the Americana lecture. The storyteller relates his assorted tales to a wide-eyed younghter (Gene Lee) in a casual, off-handed manner that demands attention. His spile is interrupted eccasionally with an interspersion of film clips to point up the yarn. It's an okay format but it keeps the show in low gear throughout the 30 minutes.

On show caught Sunday (20) program was devoted to the frontiersman in Ohio River Valley Basin and the importance of the Mississippi River to their livelihood. Andrews began session reading portions of Make Twain's auto-

Basin and the importance of the Mississippi River to their livelihood. Andrews began session reading portions of Mark Twain's autobiography and continued with a narration of how the Ohio River people lived. Film clips which showed them building their flatboats and cruising down the Mississippi to New Orleans to sell their produce were introduced toward the end of the session and lent an eye-appealing note to the narration.

Andrews handled his long assignment in commendable style while Lee had nothing more to do than look attentive. The technical work was uniformly good. Series is alred regularly at 3 p.m. but a special Democratic convention pickup last Sunday caused the half-hour pushback.

Gros.

ALL AROUND THE TOWN
With Mike and Buff (Gobb) Wallace, there, others Producer-director: Wai Purdy
30 Mins.; Thurs., 9 p.m.
Sustaining
CBS-TV, from N, Y.
Mike and Buff (Cobb) Wallace, husband-and-wife team whose "All Around the Town" show has done yeoman duty for CBS-TV in filling program voids, returned for another short run Thursday night (17) to take over the period which Lucky-Strike gets this fall. Show, originating from backstage at the 46th Street Theatre, N. Y., where "Guys and Dolls" is now clicking past its "Jobth performance, was one of the best they've done and made for a highly pleasurable half-hour's viewing.

Format of the show usually has the team describing points of interest around N. Y. via remote pickups. This time, while scenes of the backstage of a legit house during an actual performance were interesting, it was the stress put on interviewing the "Guys" cast which paid off. All the principals with the exception of Vivian Blaine appeared on camera, and Wallace and his wife also had short spiels with te-producer Ernest Martin and his stage manager. Emces displayed socko interviewing techniques combined with pleasant personalities, which helped project both them and their guests for top impact.

Most of the interviewing was done in a room underneath the stage, with the cameras prcking up a poker game participated in during their offstage leisure by some of the cast and writer Abe Burrows. Leads Robert Alda, Isabel Bigley and Sam Levene also faced the lenses underneath the stage, with the cameras frecking up a poker game participated in during their offstage leisure by some of the cast and writer Abe Burrows. Leads Robert Alda, Isabel Bigley and Sam Levene also faced the lenses underneath the cameras precking up a poker game participated in during their offstage leisure by some of the cast and writer Abe Burrows. Leads Robert Alda, Isabel Bigley and Sam Levene also faced the lenses underneath the camera from the cast and writer Abe Burrows. Leads Robert Alda, Isabel Bigley and Sam Levene also

I into the backstage life of a major is Broadway hit.

No shots of the actual on-stage performance were furnished, presumably because of Equity rulings prohibiting it.

Stal.

ST. PAUL OPEN
With Wally Mundt, George
Svendsen
Producet-director: Reger Gardner
15 Mins; Sun, (13), 3 pm.
SCHMIDT BREWING CO.

15 Mina; Sun. (13), 3 p.m.
SCHMIDT BREWING CO.
WTCN, Minneapells

During the St. Paul, "Open," an annual Twin Cities event and always one of the year's most important golf tournaments, enlisting the nation's best players' participation and distributing $15,000 in cash prizes, WTCN-TV served up a total of six hours of play spread over the last two days in 15-minute or longer packages. In so doing, it must have won many friends among golf enthusiasts, of whom there are a legion hereabouts, because interest in the tournament, fanned by heavy newspaper coverage, ran high: It also undoubtedly did a lot of good for the show's sponsor, a St. Paul brewery, which ran in plenty of commercials.

The tournament's last 15 minters on the air Sunday revealed.

the snows sponsor, a St. Paul brewery, which ran in plenty of commercials.

The tournament's last 15 minutes, on the air Sunday, revealed some topdrawer camerawork and narration, the latter by Wally Mundt, a leading Twin Cities golf pro, and George Svendsen, one of WTCN's ace sportscasters. While the eventual winner, Dr. Cary Middlecoff, who started the last day three strokes in front of the field, had the victory cinched when WTCN went on the air for the finishing stage, thus faking off some of the concluding telecast's cream, there were still second and third places at stake. And with such sterling golfers as Sammy Sneed and Henry Ransom fighting to determine who would cop the runnerup place and land $1,800 instead of $1,400, and their contest not to be decided until the final hole and with $400 hanging on a single put, suspense wasn't lacking for the 10,186 fans, in attendance and the many thousands watching on TV.

Mundt and Svendsen's descriptions and explanations of the play and shots left nothing to be desired. Camera closeups of some excellent putting and of players and spectators particularly stood out. Analyzing "what might happen," the narrators whipped up additional excitement.

The fact that the winner, Dr. Middlecoff, a dentist whose vicditional excitement.

The fact that the winner, Dr. Middlecoff, a dentist whose victory earned him $2,400, was playing the course for the first time and finished five strokes in front of the field, shooting a record-ting 266 for the 72-hole route, made for greater word-of-mouth. Rees.

RACEWAY HOUR
With Jerry Coyle, Howard de
Freitas, Roy Shudt, Others
60 Mins.; Thurs., 8.30 p.m.
SARATOGA VICHY
WRGB, Schenectady
Leisurely paced Saratoga Raceway origination probably holds strong appeal for lovers of the troting sport, but less pull for the average scanner. Rough production, faulty timing and uneven camera work hobbled the smooth flow of the hour viewed, although it began moving surer in the second half. The almost complete dependence placed on track personnel—conceding they are experts—might come under the head of questionable policy and showmanship.
Jerry Coyle, WRGB staffer, who possibly was essaying unannounced pinch hitting, had little to say untit the final 15 minutes. Howard de Freitas, Raceway publicity director, did virtually all the commentary

till the final Is minutes. Howard de Freitas, Raceway publicity director, did virtually all the commentary and recapping, plus an interview with an area stable owner-doctor and wife. De Freitas likewise chatted-most of the time off cameras—with Bowman Brown, editor of The Harness Horse, before the feature $10,000 Arden Trot, won by the crack Del Pronto. Roy Shudt, who calls the races on the public the crack Del Pronto. Roy Shudt, who calls the races on the public address system, doubled as interviewer of the winner's owner and latter's wife. Shudt, handled a multiplicity of assignments, had started another exchange, interrupted by a studio return for a commercial. It was resumed later by de Freitas.

commercial. It was resumed later by de Freitas. Videocast did achieve the unusual in covering four races, two of them features. To make this possible, WRGB slightly spilled over into the following network show. Camera shots, of horses racing and scoring, were clearer than some noted last year, but the idea of continuing them during warmups, while an interviewee spoke—unseen—appeared odd. Greater alertness and imagination could be expected.

Kansas City—Buddy Black, KCKN disk jockey and m.c., is on leave of absence to take over the Bill Gordon show at WHK, Cleveland, while Gordon vacations this week (21-28). Black was in Cleveland a few weeks ago working the show, and current deal is a follow-up.

LITTLE LEAGUE BASEBALL.
With Jack Brickheuse, Ernie Simon
Producer: Dep Cook
Director: Diek Lienendahl
90 Mins.; Wed., 7 p.m.
SWIFT & CO.
WGN-TV, Ohicage
(Needham, Louis & Brorby, J. W.
Thompson)
Sportsogster Yock Brickhouse and

Thompson)

Sportscaster Jack Brickhouse and the WGN-TV camera crews have been prepping for this said lot baseball assignment by covering the antics of Chi's major league diamond entries for going onto four years. The indie had added to its sports lineup which includes the exclusive telecasts of the Cubs and White Sox, this Wednesday night pickup of Little League games, featuring players 12 years of age and younger.

And it makes for a fine video sports feature. Contest between the indiget teams unfurled on the preem (16) had all the factors for a good show. There were chuckles and even a touch of drama as the pint-sized baseball hopefuls went about their chores with a seriousness that might have put the major leaguer guests in the stands to shame. Besides, it was a well-yelayed game by Windy City base-ball standards.

Brickhouse, doing the play-pipley, and Ernie Simon, along for played game by what, one play-by-ball standards.

Brickhouse, doing the play-by-play, and Ernie Simon, along for the color gab and the post-game interviews with the kids, make a topgrade team for a task like this. Wisely, neither played the moppet game just for the laughs and stressed the benefits the juves de-rive from the organized activity.

Lensing was done by two cameras, which, though cutting down on the overall flexibility, was generally up to the station's high remote standards.

Swift's plugs were given a good, intimate live sell by Brickhouse between innings.

Dave.

JIMMY WAKELY SHOW
With Joan Lorry, Don Weston, Noel
Boggs, others
Director: Bob Quinlan
30 Mins: Tues. 8:30 p.m.
COLEMAN HEATING
KNXT, Hollywood
Jimmy Wakely is back on television with a half-hour western variety format, and it develops as a pleasing, unpretentious summer offering grooved for the westernmusic minded.

The cowboy crooner, a graduate of Monogram via Capitol Records, pleases with his personable manner and pleasant delivery, but he's slickest dishing out the tunes, is particularly good on "Slippin' Around," which he disclicked with Margaret Whiting for Capitol to a bonanza of 1,800,000 platters sold.

Ken Murray as guest gave a terrific hypo to the opener, with a brisk, fresh monolog, then gifted Wakely with Cap's gold record for "Slippin."
Some fair support is provided by femme thrush Joan Lorry, steel

Wakely with Cap a gold record for "Slippin'."

Some fair support is provided by femme thrush Joan Lorry, steel guitarist Noel Boggs and the back-stoppers. Show lacks production, only number with any being the finale, in which Wakely, Miss Lorry and Don Weston joined to sock over "Tumblin' Tumbleweed."

Direction by Don Quinlan is fair. Pitches by Gary Goodwin on behalf of Coleman's heating equipment are overlong and tiresome.

Daku.

ARE YOU POSITIVE?
With Frank Conniff, Jimmy Cannon, Frank Frisch, Lefty Gomez
Producers: Lester Lewis, Al Law-with Frank Conniff, Jimmy Cannon, Frank Frisch, Lefty Gomez Producers: Lester Lewis, Al Lawrence Director: Warren Jacober

30 Mins, Sun.; 6 p.m.
Sustaining
NBC-TV, from N. Y.

During this summer period, panel shows have become more frequent than any other type program. Virtually every network has a prize assortment, a few good enough fo rate continuation into the fall, most of them likely to be dropped when the tele season becomes more competitive.

"Are You Positive?" has a thin base. Idea is to have a panel of sport experts guess the identity of a personality from a negative or a baby picture flashed on a screen. Home viewer is informed. Those sending in a name are given $5 and if the panel doesn't guess it, sender is also given a book.

N. Y. Journal American's Frank Conniff emces the show. Jimmy Cannon, of the N. Y. Post, and ex-majorleaguers Frank Frisch and Lefty Gomez comprise the experts. Format gives the panelists some opportunity for expression and Cannon makes a good impact on the homeviewers. On show caught, he seemed to do most of the mental work as well as majority of the ad lib lines.

Canniff is a replacement [April 1] shindig. Stern is set to return 19 shindig. Stern is set to return 19 shindig. Stern is set to return 19 soon as he recovers from an ail-ment. Jose.

Tele Follow-Up Comment

pan becomes a truly artistic form of expression.

Rose Marie, the former moppet star, got over nicely with one of her vaude and cafe staples, "Butcher Boy," which gave her sufficient chance to show her comedy skill. Jimmy Dodd, accompanying himself on the guitar, is a personable hillbilly and registered strongly. Hoctor & Byrd dressed up the proceedings with well routined dancing.

Jose.

Ed Sullivan's "Toast of the Town" on CBS-TV Sunday (20) of fered an average 60-minute divertissement in which the highspots overshadowed the Iulls. Overall production was slick and emcee Sullivan knit the acts together in his usual manner.

Big winners this stanza were Metropolitan Opera star Rise Stevens and yockstar Jack Carter. Miss Stevens got the show off to a clicko start with a stirring rendition of an aria from "Carmen." Her rendition packed plenty of zest and s.a. adding up to exciting listening and viewing. Staging and camerawork here were out of the top drawer. Miss Stevens was brought back for an encore in midshow and she scored again with a romantic rendition of "One Night of Love."

of Love." Carter, who replaced the vacationing Phil Silvers in "Top Banana" Monday (21), again demonstrated his sock patter technique. He's a hardworking comedian and although his turn ran a bit too long, there was no let-up dian and although his turn ran a g bit too long, there was no let-up and each bit was driven home for top impact. Material, for the most part, was bright and breezy and the rundown of his recent Euro-

Walter O'Keefe on his bow on the "All Star Summer Revue" indicates that he can do an affable job on stanza. O'Keefe is an old hand at this emcee business. He's had considerable experience as money dispenser on "Double or Nothing" and prior to that he had a long string of radio credits.

O'Keefe works smoothly and creates an easy and unhurried air. This type affability was epitomized in a "Still Alarm" type sketch in which the dialog was virtually monosyllabic. It wasn't too funny, but it was pleasant enough to keep the viewers interested.

O'Keefe was aided by a string of good performers with Buster Keaton doing some excellent pantomime as a billposter. Under Keaton doing some excellent pantomime as a billposter. Under Keaton doing some excellent pantomime as a billposter. Under Keaton doing some excellent pantomime as a billposter. Under Keaton doing some excellent pantomime as a billposter. Under Keaton doing some excellent pantomime as a billposter. Under Keaton doing some excellent pantomime as a billposter. Under Keaton doing some excellent pantomime as a billposter. Under Keaton doing some excellent pantomime as a billposter. Under Keaton doing some excellent pantomime as a billposter. Under Keaton doing some excellent pantomime as a billposter. Under Keaton doing some excellent pantomime as a billposter. Under Keaton doing some excellent pantomime as a billposter. Under Keaton doing some excellent pantomime as a billposter. Under Keaton doing some excellent pantomime as a billposter. Under Keaton doing some excellent pantomime as a billposter. Under Keaton doing some excellent pantomime as a billposter. Under Keaton doing some excellent pantomime as a billposter. Under Keaton doing some samplings of his rope spinning ability. This segment slowed the bust and the bout his father and offer Keaton doing some samplings of his rope spinning ability. This segment slowed the bust alk about his father and offer Keaton doing some samplings of his rope spinning ability. This segment slowed the bust and the bust an

"Meet the Press," the Martha Rountree-Lawrence Spivak production bankrolled by Revere Brass via NBC-TV, bulged into a full hour Sunday night (20) to provide viewers more time to size up five candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination. Each was allotted 10 minutes to express views and answer questions of the fourman press panel.

Session proved well worth the voting public's time, for the personalities, temperaments and political views of the quintet were nicely magnified under the camera's probing lens. Veepee Alben Barkley impressed as a vigorous old gentleman whose quick reactions and friendly manner belied his 74 years.

and friendly manner belied his 74 years.

Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia appeared a bit stuffy although he was forthright and direct in replying to press questions. Asked by Spivak on how he felt about FEPC, he said he was opposed to "the jail sentence provision—for it would impinge upon the liberties of others." He also admitted favoring revision of the Taft-Hartley Act.

In contrast to Sen. Estes Kefauver's air of assurance on the famed Kefauver TV investigation heart (Continued on page 39)

(Continued on page 39)

NBC'S 'WHAT NEXT?' ANXIETIES

NBC's Five 0&0 Veepees

Out of the current executive realignment at NBC, which how finds Charles B. Denny no longer functioning as an executive veepee but as, vice-president in charge of all owned-and-operated station activities, has emerged a setup which, if anything, has created even-greater confusion within the organization in resolving the status of the oco-echelon.

NBC now has five (count 'em) veepees operating in the oco-division—three on an overall administrative level and two on a local station basis. The former include Denny, James M. Gaines, who still carries the title of vice-president in charge of owned-and-operated stations, and veepee Carleton D. Smith, who was moved over from station relations into the oco-operation when Harry Bannister joined the organization.

The oco veepees on a local level include Ted Cott, in charge of WNBC-WNBT in New York, and Harry Kopf, boss man of the Chicago operation.

AFRA National Board Approves '1 Big Talent Union' By 2-1 Vote

WGN-TV's Dance Remote

GE Mulls Return

To Grid Roundup

Insistence by General Electric's appliance division that it be the sole bankroller on CBS Radio's Bing Crosby show this fall may pave the way for the GE parent company to return as bankroller of the web's Saturday afternoon "Football Roundup" this season. CBS is currently pitching the three-hour Saturday package to GE and several other sponsors, but is prepared to air the show on a

Formation of the "one big talent union" moved a step nearer adoption this week with the approval by the American Federation of Radio Artists' national board of the merger blueprint set up by a combined group of professors from Cornell and UCLA. AFRA board, polled by mail, voted, 34-17, or 2-1, in favor of the plan.

Next step is for the blueprint to receive approval of the other four eastern talent branches of the Actors and Artistes of America, including American Guild of Musical Artists, Actors Equity and Television Authority. Once that is accomplished, each of the member guilds must then poll its entire membership via a national referendum before final approval of the plan can be obtained.

Blueprint calls for five branches to elect delegates to a convention proportion to the membership in Blueprint calls for five branches to elect delegates to a convention, in proportion to the membership in good standing. Convention would would then draft the constitution of the One Big Union. Move would require the full backing, however, of all five branches. If one of them backs out, it's expected that AFRA and TVA would go it alone via a two-way merger, a move which the memberships of those two previously endorsed unanimously.

Bridgeport Stations Involved in Rhubarb Over Golf Tourney

Bridgeport, July 22.
WNAB won a major victory last week when it broadcast the 16th annual Shore Line Open golf tournament exclusively from the Mill River Country Club under the sponsorship of the F. and M. Schaefar Province Co.

GE and several other sponsors, but is prepared to air the show on a sustaining basis if no bankroller is tied down by the time the football season starts.

GE has sponsored the show for the last two seasons. When it looked as though the company would pick up the tab for Crosby this year, however, CBS started to scout around for other bankrollers for its football package. Fact that the appliance division will now be the only GE department represented on Crosby, however, presumany's budget is still available for the roundup. sponsorship of the F. and M. Schaefer Brewing Co.

The tournament, biggest one-day event of its kind in New England, attracted such nationally known golfers as Julius Boros, national open champ; Jimmy Demarest, Vic Ghezzi, Al Brosch, Claude Harmon
and Tommy Armour.

and Tommy Armour.

WICC, Bridgeport's biggest exhaler, had attempted to broadcast the tournament on an exclusive basis and did get the exclusive nod from the Mill River radio committee, but WNAB wound up doing the show through the efforts of Jack Fleischer, sports columnist for The Bridgeport Herald, who had been airing the tourney for the last four years over WICC.

WICC tried to freeze out Fleischer and have its own sportscaster do the show, but all efforts were stymied.

Fleischer informed the radio

ECONOMY WAVE

By GEORGE ROSEN

By GEORGE ROSEN

Anxieties and tensions continue to mount at NBC, in the wake of last week's executive reshuffle and the certainty that a complete streamlining process is on tap for the imminent future. Just as a complete radio-TV integration was achieved on a top level basis extending from the "Pat" Weaver-Frank White high command through the programming-sales-production facets of the operation, it's known that a similar integration will affect the lower echelon as well, with new duties and assignments scheduled for announcement within the next couple of weeks.

ment within the next couple of weeks.
Virtually resigned to the fact that another and more drastic radio rate cut is pending, NBC prexy Joseph H. McConnell is determined to set the web's economic house in order. There will be some personnel lopoffs as the integration of radio and television becomes more pronounced, particularly in areas where duplication of functions exist, but just how drastic they'll be is still to be resolved.

About 18 months are McConnell. Chicago, July 22.

WGN-TV has scheduled Chicago's first remote pickups of a dance band with a new weekly series starting Aug. 13, in the 9-9:30 p.m. time slot. It's expected that WGN-TV will feed the program to the Dumont network. Shows will originate from the Melody Mill Ballroom. Jimmy Palmer's band kicks off the series, and will be followed by Jan Garber, Ralph Marterie, Billy May and Jimmy Dorsey.

Deal was set by Russell Q. Facchine of General Artists Corp.

be is still to be resolved.

About 18 months ago McConnell was forced to effect a $1,000,000 budgetary cutback in radio, and although in the process some heads rolled, the network wound up last year on a financially sound basis, A similar trimming appears in the cards for the immediate future.

Last week's succession of moves toward coordination of the radio and TV networks was the most drastic yet, virtually clinching the newly-promulgated "one big network" idea which stands in sharp contrast to the rival CBS' "two-separate-networks" operational pattern.

NBC's Three Groups

Burns & Allen Find Themselves In Middle of Two-Client Time Hassle

Red's Tread

Red's Tread

CBS-TV used another version of its new electronic matting amplifier with socko success during the final General Electric commercial on "Information Please" Sunday night (20). Red Barber, who handles the GE plugs on the show, was made to appear as though he were actually standing inside a giant-sized refrigerator, and floated from one shelf to another as he explained the box's various points.

Device was worked out by various points.

Device was worked out by the CBS special effects department, utilizing basically a super-imposition process. It had previously been used on GB's Fred Waring show during the regular season. 'As a gag finish, Barber "walked" inside the refrigerator with the comment that, "if anybody is still wondering whether that little light really goes out when you close the door, I can assure you that it does."

Flanagan Raps AM Yardsticks

Chicago, July 22.

Tom Flanagan, managing director of the National Assn. of Radio and TV Station Representatives in town to beat the drum for spot radio last week, took the various radio last week, took the various separate-networks" operational pattern.

NBC's Three Groups

NBC now breaks down into three principal groups: (1) The combined radio-TV networks, under the Weaver-White command; (2) the owned-and-operated station setup, now topped by Charles R. Denny, whose role as executive vice-president has been invalidated; and (3) the staff officers, headed by Joseph Heffernan, which includes the legal, financial and personnel facets of the operation. No changes have been effected in this division, at least thus far.

In the No. 1 area, John K. Herbert, former veepee in charge of radio network sales, becomes veepee and director of TV network sales, reporting to Herbert.

Charles C. Barry, veepee incharge of radio-TV programs. In as been appointed vp. in charge of radio-TV programs. Fred W. Wile, Jr., veepee in charge of television network production, takes over both radio and (Continued on page 39) radio last week, took the various audience rating services to task for falling to measure the complete AM audience. He suggested that to get the full AM audience picture, Nielsen and Hooper ratings should be multiplied by two.

Flanagan charged that no present nosecounting outfit, including Pulse and the recently launched Nielsen Coverage Service, realty yardsticks out-of-homb listening. Rep spokesman argued that researchers have only scratched the surface in measuring the amount of dialing to the 23,250,000 car radio and that the listening in barbons and the recently launched Nielsen Coverage Service, realty yardsticks out-of-homb listening. Rep spokesman argued that researchers have only scratched the wireface in measuring the amount of dialing to the 23,250,000 car radio and that the listening in barbons and the recently launched Nielsen Coverage Service, realty yardsticks out-of-homb listening. The problem of the visual part of the 23,250,000 car radio and the recently launched Nielsen Coverage Service, realty yardsticks out-of-homb listening. The problem of the visual part of the 23,250,00

Further difficulties confronting TV networks in trying to placate two sponsors who alternate on the same show have been giving CBS-TV some programming headaches during the last two weeks. Show in question is Burns & Allen, which is slated to be hapkrolled on a in question is Burns & Alen, which is slated to be bankrolled on a skip-a-week basis starting this fall by Carnation Milk and Goodrich. Each sponsor wanted a different time period and after several weeks of hassles, CBS finally brought them to terms Monday (21).

As finally settled, the show stays in its present Thursday night at 8 slot, where it has been bankrolled on an alternate week basis by Carnation. Goodrich moves into the show starting Oct. 9, at which time it will go weekly, with the two sponsors then rotating each week.

Hassle started when Carnation demanded that the show stay in its present time slot.

Goodrich, however, which bankrolls "Celebrity Time" Sunday nights at 10 on CBS, wanted to have the show move in there in the fall, when "Celebrity" is axed.
Under the new setup, CBS must now fill the Sunday night period.

now fill the Sunday night period. Among the compromises which CBS reportedly tried to work out in an effort to please both sponsors was a drastic reshuffling of its Sunday night lineup, which would have found B&A taking over the 8 to 3:30 slot. Ed Sullivan's "Toast of the Town," now in at 8 to 9, would have been moved back a half-hour. Bristol-Myers (now bankrolling "Break the Bank" but shopping for a new show) would have remained at 9:30, with General Electric and its Fred Waring show moving up from 9 o'clock to 10. Web could not get all the sponsors involved, however, to go sponsors involved, however, to go for the moves.

for the moves.

Carnation reportedly was averse to the Sunday night at 10 period on the assumption that the slot is too late to achieve maximum audience ratings. Goodrich, for its part, reportedly didn't relish the idea of going in Thursdays at 8, where the show would be bucking NBC-TV's Groucho Marx program. And neither sponsor was willing to move into the Tuesday 8 to 9 lineup, one of the few other slots which CBS still has available, through a disinclination to compete with NBC's Milton Berle show.

WLIB's 94% Sellout Of Block Programming Aimed at Negro Market

Underscoring how radio programming slanted to a particular segment of a metropolitan audience can pay off, WLIB, N.Y. indie, now has the largest Negro audience in the metropolitan N.Y. area daily from 7 a.m. to noon, according to a special Pulse survey taken for the station. In addition, that morning block is now 94% sold out, according to general manager Harry Novik.

WLIB now broadcasts 57 hours

Harry Novik.

WLIB now broadcasts 57 hours of Negro programming weekly, with the various shows putting the emphasis on Negro name personalities who have developed into radio personalities via their WLIB airings. Talent lineup ranges from Walter White, exce secretary for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, to Jde Bostic, sports editor of the Am-

Cleve. Breaks Ice on Out-of-Town TV Baseball Pickups in WPIX Deal

pany's budget is still available for the roundup.
Under the roundup plan, CBS sports counselor Red Barber and his staff cover five or six games directly each Saturday, with Barber cutting to various sportscasters around the country from time to time during the show. In addition, he keeps a running score going on practically every game via direct phone connections with other CBS staffers or stringers. bined efforts of the N. Y. Daily News and WXEL, Cleveland indie video outlet, last week inaugurated what may be the answer to televising bigleague baseball games next season, via WIPX feeding the five Yankee - Cleveland Indian tive Yankee - Cleveland Indian games played in N. Y. to WXEL for simultaneous airing in the Cleveland area. Feed was made possible through a new technical device created by WPIX engineers, which freezes the action on originating cameras to permit a cut-in of local commercials in the out-of-town area.

area.

Number of baseball biggies, including Commissioner Ford Frick, have already gone on record as favoring some system whereby only out-of-town games will be televised. Idea is based on their belief that telecasts of the home games, which is now being done,

N. Y. Yankees, through the com- | does hurt the in-person gate. does hurt the in-person gate. As a result, they hope to work out some schedule where fans in one city can see the gmes played by their local team only when it's on the road, so long as those pickup do not interfere with the at-home schedule of another team in the same city.

Dual pickup of the Yankee-Indian five-game series to both WPIX

Dual pickup of the Yankee-Indian five-game series to both WPIX and WERE, Cleveland indie radio sent the first time that games of out-of-town teams were fed back to the home fans on a regular basis. (WXEL previously carried the Indians' opening day game with the Chicago White Sox, from Chi.) (WXEL previously carried the Indians' opening day game with the Chicago White Sox, from Chi.) (WXEL previously carried the Indians' opening day game with the Chicago White Sox, from Chi.) (WXEL plans to pick up eight more games played by the Indians later this season with both the Yanks and the Boston Red Sox, and will feed the Yankee-Indian games from (Continued on page 37)

HENNOCK TO COAST ON EDUCATIONAL TY

Hollywood, July 22.
Reportedly "perturbed" at lack of interest evidenced in L.A. for educational channel allotted to the city, FCC commissioner Frieda Hennock is coming here the end of July to confab with reps of educational institutions and public agencies on pooling of their resources to begin work on such a channel. were stymied.

Fleischer informed the radio committee that he was definitely going to do four broadcasts of scores and interviews and that he would set up his booth just outside the golf course if WNAB was being barred from putting a direct wire to the scorers' tent.

WICC publicized in Bridgeport tailies the day of the tournament that it was doing a series of broadcasts direct from the club when the custs direct from the club when the tourney started, but only WNAB was on hand, and the Mill River committee permitted Fleischer to do all his shows from the scorers' tent.

Reportedly "perturbed" at lack of interest evidenced in L.A. for educational clannel allotted to the socrational clannel allotted to the scoring here the end of July to confab with reps of educational institutions and public agencies on pooling of their resources to begin work on such a channel.

Lewis Arnold Pike, AM and TV co-ordinator for the California Teachers Assn., Southern -Section, Teachers Assn., Southern -Section, Teachers Assn., Southern -Section, Southern -Section, Teachers Section with the commissioner, reports she is anxious to see progress in this area on an educational channel.

London Palladium

YES, BENNY IS THE NO. 1

"Jack Benny (who under pressure, modestly admits he is 'America's greatest comedian) introduces enough humor to justify the assertion. Other comedians may have broader methods, but in dry wit, in telling meditative silences, in impromptu gagging, and in timing, there are few to equal this bland artist . . . Benny's triumph is brilliantly shared by Dennis Day . . . and there is a deliciously funny finale to an act which is certainly one of the best ever brought to the Palladium."

–À. E. Wilson

"Jack Benny's American brand of humor continues to be as polished as an ice rink, as arid as the Sahara; and as leisurely as a slow boat to China. I am now, and always, content to spend an hour with Mr. Benny himself, while he muses and meanders in mock-Olympian detachment and disdain. For that sentiment debunking speech of thanks alone—I would listen to him patiently on the boat to China and back again."

-Harold Conway Evening Standard

JACK BENNY THE MARVEL

"His wit . . . is little short of genius. Singer Dennis Day made a real hit. Benny's finale was an inspiration."

P. L. Mannock Daily Herald

JACK'S MY BOY!

"Jack Benny enters with a beautiful air of languid disdain: he doesn't seem to care if we like him or not. And, of course, we love him."

-Sunday Mirror

"... scored his familiar success at the Palladium last night." -Telegraph and Morning Post

"Jack Benny is the least aggressive of the American comics, he doesn't rush at his audience: he sidles up to them. He doesn't woo them: he tolerates them, just as he tolerates with faint disgust the other happenings on the stage. He doesn't fire gags: he soliloquises.

"I thank Mr. Benny for being refreshingly different and consistently funny. I thank him also for his debunking all those other performers who have embarrassed us with mawkish sentiments at the end of their acts."

-Sunday Express

BENNY HAS THEM ROARING

"Jack Benny is an artist and the Palladium audience roared its approval last night."

-Evening News

"Jack Benny returned amid a roar of applause to the London Palladium . . . and soon had the audience rocking."

-News of the World

"Jack Benny brought down the house . . . one of the greatest of real clowns."

-Show World

JACK BENNY FUNNIER THAN EVER BEFORE

"Jack Benny is a virtuoso of comedy. With genius (or witchcraft) he makes his entire body of onlookers laugh at him with a flick of his muscle controlled face.

"Every sentence, even of two or three words, is funny when Benny says it. His 'mean' man is an International character; but this art of verbal and facial timing is of only one man in the world-Jack Benny.

"We have been asked if he is as funny this time, his third visit to the Palladium. Customers, he's funnier! Like wine, he gets better with age (58) . . . he's a delight in everything he does.

—Show Business

"Jack Benny was bigger, better and brighter than ever; he once again proved himself one of the world's greatest comedians. By a lift of the eyebrow or a scornful tilt of the nose, he gets the audience limp with laughter. High spot of his act was Dennis Day, and he certainly got a wonderful welcome.

"What an act! What a comic!"

-Milton Deane Hollywood Reporter

JACK BENNY BOFFEROO ON PALLADIUM OPENING

"Jack Benny scored an outstanding hit with a laughter-packed routine. Dennis Day collared a big share of applause."

—Daily Variety

"He displayed once more that unique talent for doing nothing brilliantly of which he is the supreme master."

–News-Chronicle

1952

"When the time came for him, go, you felt you had lost a iend. For Mr. Benny's art as a median is the art that conceals to

--Mirror

... AND BENNY STILL . SPELLS SUCCESS

"He still has the personality hich has kept him for years merica's No. 1 broadcasting median."

-The Daily Graphic

"Jack Benny, supported by the irile voice of Dennis Day and a uperb trio of singing sisters, is irsistible.

"His timing is impeccable, his trowaway gags a joy to the ear. Ir. Benny is a great comedian."

—Dick Richards Sunday Pictorial

MASTER OF LAUGHS

"In the art of saying much in the, compressing amusement and loical repungance in one sad ash of a smile and giving a joke nat extra droll bite, he stands trimphantly alone."

–Cecil Wilson Daily Mail "There is a rumor about to the effect that Jack Benny, who has returned to the Palladium for three weeks, is a great clown. This is a dreadful slur on his reputation, so let us dispose of it at once.

"Mr. Benny is not a clown at all; he is a straight man or stooge, and possibly the subtlest in the history of comedy.

"To relish him as I do may easily be an eccentric-taste: he is technically a buffer-state, a rarity in this country, whose comedians are generally aggressors.

"But no one with an eye for the craft of comedy should miss the chance of studying the ease and timing of his minutely rehearsed ad-libs."

—Kenneth Tynan Evening Standard

"With majestic calm, a glassy, disinterested eye, Jack Benny strolls on to the stage like a pained manderin who" has nobler things to do—if only he could think of them . . . he is a great clown . . . it is a devastating finale."

-John Barber Daily Express

"Mr. Jack Benny is one of those extraordinary slever comedians . . . Mr. Benny's appeal is a challenge offered by a wit to the intelligent appreciation of the audience; even its nonsense is rational."

.--Times

JACK BENNY AND DENNIS TRIUMPH

"On his third visit to the London Palladium, Jack Benny once gain proves that he is the world's master of suave comedy. It not too much to say that his act on this trip is the best of the tree he has done here, and no small part of this success must be credited to singer-stooge, Dennis Day.

"Aided and abetted not only by Dennis, but by a brilliant to of girl vocalists who stooge for him admirably in a hilarious quence. Jack Benny is greater than ever, and his finale is one the cleverest gimmicks the variety stage has seen for a long, and time.

"Magnificent, Mr. Benny!"

-New Musical Express

"For the third time in four years, Jack Benny is a smash at the Palladium... Dennis Day proves a nifty comedian in his own right as well as a first class vocalist."

---Variety

"London—They (Jack Benny and Noel Coward) are two of leshrewdest and expert performers in the history of show busiess, and they possess a gift for showmanship that is not miles way from aenius.

"It would be the height of the unnecessary to tell American aders what Jack Benny does in his act. It is the reaction of the adish audience to him that is important, and it can be repreted on briefly. They loved him . . . It is the keen admiration and enjoyment experienced by knowing people who appreciate masterly performer. They loved Dennis Day, too."

-Richard Watts, Jr. New York Post

BENNY, BETTER THAN EVER

"Jack Benny is one of the most accomplished clowns Palladium audiences have had. And on this, his third visit since the war, he was better than ever. For his entire 60-minute act he seemed to do nothing, but with infinite charm. That urbane smile; that flat, fin-like hand; the lazy drawling voice; those languorous gestures—they all add up to one word, technique. And what a joy to watch.

"For encore Benny kidded the usual firstnight Palladium speech with a brilliant skit on his own thoughts . . . this was a gimmick with genius."

—Leigh Yance ' Billboard AQUATENNIAL SALUTE
With Edgar Bergen, Cedric Adams,
Bob DeHaven, Marion Marlowe,
Frank, Parker, Julius Lañosa,
Polly Bergen, Frank Mantzke's
Choralaires (45), Schiek's Cafe
Singers (6), Aqua Singing Contestants (4), WCCO orch (24)
Producers-directors: Bob Sutton,
Bob McKinsey, Ed. Vichman
Writer: Vichman
120 Mins.; Sat. (19), 8 p.m.
PARTICIPATING
WCCO, Minneapolis
This fifth annual WCCO Aquatennial show, like its predecessors tennial show, like its predecessors tennial snow, like its predecessors a plug for the local summer mardi gras, a goodwill and business gainer for the station and an appetizing entertainment dish, was played before a live audience of 10,000 in the municipal Auditorium at $6 top and broadcast in its entirety. The same as the others, it reflected much credit on the CBS station's staffers, Again the latter came through with a melange of music and fun which registered well over the air and must have more than satisfied the paying guests, judging by the applause that percolated to set listeners.

The usual WCCO proficiency in evidence for these affairs resulted in smart and effective routlining. During the two hours running time the proceedings never dragged. Swiftly paced, firstrate entertainment, always in evidence, added to the station's prestige.

Edgar Bergen, with his Charlie a plug for the local summer mardi swithy laced, firstrate entertainment, always in evidence, added to the station's prestige.

Edgar Bergen, with his Charlie McCarthy, Mortimer Snerd, Effie Clinker and a new family member, Peter Torkelson, in tow, followed well in the footsteps of previous WCCO Aquatennial show headliners Bob. Hope, Arthur Godfrey, Eddle Cantor and Dennis Morgan, dishing out his usual good measure of mirth. Warbling of the first order was on tap from a trio of Godfrey show vocalist regulars, Miss Marlowe and the Messrs. Parker and LaRosa, as well as from Polly Bergen, the splendid Choralaires (a topdrawer local group of 45 young men and women chirpers just back after competing in the Wales international music contest), Schiek's Cafe excellent musical comedy sextet and four Aquatennial singing contest finalists. Numbers included boff arrangements of "Likan" "Wonderful," "Kiss of Fire." "Take Me in Your Arms," "Body and Soul," "Be Anything." "Tenderly." "Begin the Beguin' and "Brigadoon" selections.

Two of WCCO's own ace personalities, Cedric Adams, the No. I man of radio here, and Bob De-Haven, emerged with flying colors in their cincee roles, as was to be expected.

Performers were off and on and near cincee roles, as was to be expected.

Performers were off and on and in and out, taking turns and scattering their contributions through the entire show. There was considerable amusing persiflage bantered among Adams. DeHaven, Bergen and some of the others to spice the performance. The emcess also interviewed the various personalities briefly to bring out interesting facts about them. While much of Bergen's material had a familiar ring and he even revived his hospital bit, the ventriloquist unfailingly rang the laughter bell. Whether they soloed or dueted, Miss Marlowe, Parker and LaRosa clicked 100%.

Each of the four 30-minute seg-

Each of the four 30-minute seg-ments had a separate sponsor. Commercials were sufficiently brief and unobstrusive. Rees.

ACROSS THE BLUE PACIFIC Transcribed by Pacific Fleet, U. S. Navy at Pearl Harbor, Hawali Sustaining KIKI, Honolulu

Navy—and therefore taxpayers—is responsible for this series, produced at Pearl Harbor.

It's a partial takeoff on perennial "Hawaii Calls," which has Visitors Bureau backing and originates at Matson's Moana Hotel for Mutual airling."

But, more accurately, "Across the Blue Pacific" is a not-bad show created to (1) boost Navy and (2) presumably convince would-be recruits and their families that Navy life in Hawaii isn't a fate worse than death. It succeeds, in varying proportions, on both counts.

Hawaiian music a fam about the country of the country

Hawailan music, a few phrases spoken in Hawailan, and a short narrative drama of Navy derringdo adds up to a series that listens easy in its 15-minute format,

Series features Royal Hawaiian Serenaders, courtesy Musicians As-sociation of Honolulu, AFM affiliate.

Lt. Rex Wills and John Mason

both ex-Hula staffers, an

Lt. Rex Wills and John Mason, yeoman, both ex-Hula staffers, an nounce series, which originally was produced for now-folded Liberty Broadcasting System.

It's understood Navy is now trying to line up other Mainland outlets for the transcriptions. Honolulu's KIKI goes along for the free ride.

Chris.

Radio Followups

Radio Followups

With Carlion Kadell, Harry Elders, Marianne Bertrand, Jack Lester, Charles Flynn, Helen Behmiller, Alma Plaits, Don Gallagher Producer: Jack Simpson Director; John Keown Writer: Doug Johnson Writer: Doug Johnson Of Mins, Thurs, 7 p.m. (CDT) Sustaining We're Not Married," currently at the Roxy, N. Y. The Kollmars pointed up that the lampoon probably meant them the most because of the sundry bits of trademarked business that distinguishes their regular stint. Miss Kilgallen and The edition heard (17) revealed The edition heard (17) revealed Dorothy & Dick frankly treated with that devastating Fred Allen-Glinger Rogers satire on the Mr. & Mrs. radio breakfast teams in "We're Not Married," currently at the Roxy, N. Y. The Kollmars pointed up that the lampoon probably meant them the most because of the sundry bits of trademarked business that distinguishes their regular stint. Miss Kilgallen and her husband, Richard Kollmar, looked askance chiefly at the inaccuracy of a basic fact—that they, the Fitzgeralds and Tex & Jinx, all do their stuff from their homes, and repeatedly so mention it, finless there are exceptions when some 'special shows are taped or picked up from a remote. They thought that The Hartmans' satire in "Tickets Please," a 1950 Broadway legit revue, was more authentic, and they stated they liked the Paul Douglas and Eve Arden sequence the best in this Nunnally Johnson (20th) film. They also thought that a yesteryear Fred Allen radio satire (done with Taliulah Bankhead) was likewise a more hilarious, albeit captious lampoon of the Mr. & Mrs. a.m. stints. In the film, Allen and Miss Rogers are shown acrimoniously rising in the grim gray dawn to motor down to the radio studio, instead of originating from their homes as most Mr. & Mrs. radio teams do. Dorothy & Dick show is aired on WOR, N. Y.

An unusual, happy arrangement brought back two-thirds of the aired on WOR, N. Y.

Abel.

An unusual, happy arrangement brought back two-thirds of the original Broadway cast, plus a legit replacement in the third role, for Sunday's (20) radio version of John van Druten's "Voice of the Turtle" on NBC's "Best Plays."

Two originals were Audrey Christie and Elliott Nugent, with Martha Scott, who inherited the Margaret Sullavan role subsequently on Broadway, as third member of the triangle. The expert trio of farceurs brought a good deal of strength and skill to the breezy, condensed version of the van Druten comedy, so that even after so many hearings or viewings of the work, this presentation had sock appeal.

many hearings or viewings of the work, this presentation had sock appeal.

If "Voice" is now a little glib and thin in spots, the smooth, expert performances of the cast carried it off successfully. Miss Christie's spirit, exuberance and hite; Miss Scott's soft appeal, and Nugent's rugged warmth of character dovetailed perfectly. Miss Audrey's phone call to her lieutenant-commander was as hilarious as ever, and the neat verbal fencing between the various cast-members a constant delight. John Chapman, the N. Y. Daily News drama critic, acting as host and narrator, tied up the bridges and ends neatly, proving a colloquial, pleasant and salty emcee, The hour was good fun all around. Bron.

WORDS IN THE NIGHT
With David Ross, Sally Sweetland,
Tony Mottola
15 Mins.; Fri., 10:15 p.m.

Tony Mottola

15 Mins; Fri., 10:15 p.m.

Sustaining, NBC, from N. Y.

David Ross, vet announcer who has become synonomous with poetry recitations on the airlanes during the past decade or so, is back at the same stand on this new NBC series. It's an unusually good show for the genre, Ross dishing up the lambic pentameters with smooth expertness against a fine atmospheric background supplied by that standout guitarist; Tony Mottola, and an equally impressive vocalist, Sally Sweetland.

Ross' repertory is tastefully chosen with a smattering of descriptive, philosophical and inspirational poetical selections. On last week's stanza (18), he read H. D.'s "Sheltered Garden;" a paean to New England by John Holmes, some Irish verses and a prayer by St. Francis of Assisi. Miss Sweetland also contributed an excellent rendition of "Sweet Molly Machine".

- Eureka! FMer in Black

Washington, July 22.
One of first FM-only outlets to get in black, Washington's co-op station, WCFM, yesterday (Mon.) reported that it has been operating at a profit for the last four months. During the March-April-May quarter, said Leon Loeb, manager, the operation netted over $1,000.

Losses were stopped by drastic operation netted over $1,000.

Losses were stopped by drastic cuts in staff, general expenditures, and elimination of manager's salary under an arrangement by which Loeb, who took over in March, continues his activitles at Sound Studios. Inc., of which he is owner. In addition, Sound Studios contributes services of a special events director for WCFM.

decessors of the same genre.

The edition heard (17) revealed the latest series to be of the same stripe as that which has been rolling off the AM assembly line for the past decade or so. The cast, with Cartion Kadell in the lead role, is professionally competent. The script is as tight and as believable as the rigid standards of the formula permit. Pacing is smooth, with effective use of music and sounds. In short, it's the sort of thing network radio turns out effortlessly. And the sort of thing that's put those indies disk lockeys where they are today.

that's put those indee disk jockeys where they are today where they are today "A Life in Your Hands" does have one mark of individuality. That's the "it could happen to you" angle with the testimony of innocent bystanders playing a key part in unraveling the case. This time it was the contributions of two prying old maids who furnished legal eagle Jonathan Kegg (patly played by Kadell) with the solution to the murder of the bullying contractor.

FORE AND AFT
With Pete French, Paul Clark, Ed
Mills, Hoby Wolf, Richard Oberlin
Producer: Doreas Ruthenburg
Writers: Richard Van Duyne, Dorcas Ruthenburg
30Mins.; Frl., (18), 7:30 p.m.
Sustaining
WHAS, Louisville
Taking note of WHAS' 30th birthday, station production staff came up with a fantastic idea, all done in a tongue-in-cheek manner, depicting the highlights of history which occurred before the birth of radio. Point of the show was to remedy that omission, and it came off in a very entertaining fashion.
Pete French aired directly from Mt. Ararat, with plenty of animal noises, and a q. and a. sesh with skipper Noah, which was productive of some titters.
Next episode was laid in Alexandria, Egypt, in the year 350 B. C.
This was a sharply humorous sequence, pointed up by background music of "Alexander's Ragtime Band." Ed Mills followed with interviews with witnesses of Humpty Dumpty's fall. Here, agaln, judiclously selected sound effects helping much in making the scenes sound authentic.
Next sequence sound effects helping much in making the scenes sound authentic.
Next sequence switched to the year 1859, when Dan Emmet was in his heyday as a minstrel fave, and the popular tune of the day was "Dixie." Various prominent events in history were inserted.
ala present day newscasting, and these sequences led into a newscast projected into the future, July 18, 1982. Dick Oberlin voiced the news report by stating that a new phase of peace was launched as 104 countries, led by the United States, Russia, China and England, signed the articles of a new world at peace.

Barry Bingham, prez of the newspapers, radio and TV station, closed the show with a few well placed remarks anent responsibility to the listeners, and promised to continue the excellent service and entertainment into the future.

Excellent scripting job was turned in by Dorcas Ruthenburg and Richard Van Duyne, with Jim Walton getting the show on and off the air in a bright, breezy style.

STAN AND JIM SHOW 60 Mins.; Sat., 9:30 p.m. Sustaining KIKI, Honolulu

Sustaining
KIKI, Honolulu

Patter of the two gabster jocks emerges as one of Honolulis soundest productions. It's especially effective in view of fact that several of city's stations aren't devoting too much emphasis to production values.

Jim French and Stan Anderson kid nicely with some rehearsed situation comedy and ad libbing, with result that city's sophisticates are discovering their refreshing opus. Lads, however, have aroused few sponsor nibbles to date, a facet that they shouldn't joke about as much as they do. Fact is, even if Saturday night, they could do a job for the right sponsor or sponsors.

Both have pleasing parsonalities

From the Production C

IN NEW YORK CITY . . .

George Wallach back at WNBC as production manager after seven weeks on the Coast, where he served as assistant to producer Arch Oboler on the latter's new three-dimensional film, "Bwana Devil" Chock Full O' Nuts, counter service restaurants, pacted for a new weekly quarter-hour show on WNBC starring vocalist Jean Martin. Contract, starting July 27, was set through the Emil Mogul agency...

Jean Hersholt resumes live broadcasting of his "Dr. Christian" show via CBS today (Wed.) from Hollywood, following a six-week trip to

Jean Hersholt resumes live "broadcasting of his." Dr. Christian" show via CBS today (Wed.) from Hollywood, following a six-week trip to Europe... Ed Kobak back from a vacation at Orchard Beach, Conn.... Pequot Mills will bankroll WMGM's "Paul Stone Show" twice a week starting today (Wed.)... Radio-TY actor Arnold Moss, having completed his stint as chief heavy in Columbia's "Dance of Seven Veils," back to N.Y. prior to flying to the Tanglewood festival as soloist with the Boston Symphony orch in the American premier of "La Dance Des Morts"... Rupert Lucas, former director of TV program sales for ABC, joined the Barry-Enright package firm as a general exec... Mutual net carrying the Soap Box Derby from Akron Aug. 10 and the Los Angeles Rams-College All-Stärs football game from Chicago Aug. 15... Murry Harris, publicity chief for A. C. Nielsen, flies to Europe Friday (25) for a three-week vacation... Keene Crockett, on leave from ABC as a sound man, conducting his own disk jockey show over ZBM, Berrinda... Maurice Mitchell profiled in latest issue of Deltan, official publication of Phi Sigma Delta fraternity.

National Assn. of Educational Broadcasters planning a series of 13 taped shows based on the principles of Thomas Jefferson and titled "The Jefferson Heritage," which are to be aired by the NAEB tape network, as well as Voice of America and numerous foreign networks Joe Weeks, former CBS Radio staff announcer, joined the news department of WIBC, Mutual's Indianapolis affiliate, this week.... Sportscaster Red Barber vacationed from covering Brooklyn Dodgers Isst week to rest at Martha's Vineyard... WINS general manager Harry Folts donated the station's revenue, about $400, from coverage of the Yankee-Dodger game for the Mayor's Sandlot Fund to the fund ... Harry Novik, WLIB g.m., in Helsinki this week taping interviews with Negro members of the American Olympics squad. Interviews are to be air-expressed back to the U. S., for playback next week. Novik will stay in Europe for a three-week vacation.

IN HOLLYWOOD . . .

Art Linkletter cut short his Hawaiian vacation and flew back to the mainland for minor surgery but backed off when sawbones told him it might hurt. Link's biz partner, John Guedel, lugged his golf clubs all the way to Bermuda but not one stick came out of the bag. Rained the whole time he was there....Hal Rorke, late headman in Chicago for Thompson radio and TV, luxuriating in his beloved Hollywood hills and weighing offers of employment, which he is not rushing into....
Ed Cashman taking a month's respite, foot-loose, cone-happy and beliing the ponies at Hollywood Park... NBC's Joe McConnell will linger here only briefly enroute to the trout streams of Oregon... Joe Thompson, who gave up the direction of Dave Garroway's "Today" to return here only briefly enroute to the trout streams of Oregon...Joe Thompson, who gave up the direction of Dave Garroway's "Today" to return to Cal., now aiding and abetting Glenhall Taylor and Chet Brouwer at the Ayer operation...Procter & Gamble's Bill Craig in town...It can now be told that the Coke-Crosby deal was deep-freezed because someone didn't examine Edgar Bergen's contract close enough. The time was his until July 1 and not Coke's as supposed. Hudnut liked Sunday night well enough to strike a fast deal....Phil Harris will have his old writers back next fall, the same Dick Chevillat and Ray Singer, whom he credited with considerable of his success. They had been let go by the bandleader-comic but retrieved when NBC agreed to share the tab with him at the same coin, said to be $1,500 a week for eachNat Wolff, hardy and rugged, takes a dip in Lake Tahoe every ayem, temperatures notwithstanding....Tom Frandsen quit as sales chief of KMPC to join the Irwin agency. No successor, with Robert Reynolds, station manager, doubling up....Tidewater Associated Oil again takes up the tab on the Coast Conference football games on NBC.

IN SAN FRANCISCO...

A hay baler karumphed into a power pole in a Marin cow pasture (17) and knocked KCBS transmitter off the air for an hour and five minutes....Next morning, a bulldozer near Stockton cut "A" and "B" transcontinental carrier cables, disrupting radio broadcast lines and AP wirephoto network service for two hours.... George Thomas Fol-ster, NBC correspondent, made it from Japan to San Francisco in a 50foot ketch, sailing 5,000 miles in 47 days, nine hours. He had crew of foot ketch, sailing 5,000 miles in 47 days, nine hours. He had crew of five... KCBS won Ad Bureau award for "exceptional merit in general newspaper advertising"; Regal Beer copped top honors for radio spots; Golden States Dairies won nod for TY commercials... Walt Conway shifted from KVSM to KYA sales... Dave Dorris replaced Art Primm on KYA announcing staff. Primm moved to KRON-TV... Longhorn Joe celebrated 10 years of KROWing... Sheldon F. Sackett, owner of KROW, to Chicago as a Kefauyer alternate... Phil Berle in and up to Hoberg's Resort for a rest... Hal Book, Hollywood p.a., paused here enroute to a Honolulu holiday... Walter Hale gave the opening of Bimbo's 365 Dolphina Room a KYA airing... San Mateo Junior College won c.p. for educational FM radio station.

IN CHICAGO ...

C. W. (Dee) Doebler has been shifted by CBS from the KMOX, St. Louis, promotion manager berth, to the same slot at WBBM, replacing Dave Kimble who leaves Friday (25) to join BAB as ad-sales chief. Jack Curry moves from the No. 2 promotion spot here to take over the St. Loo post....WIND sportscaster Bert Wilson back at the mike for the Cub games after a week's layoff ordered by his doc. Bud Campbell pinchhitted....Siu Watson has resigned as assistant ad manager of Standard Oil of Indiana to become ad manager for Johnson Wax in Standard Oil of Indiana to become ad manager for Johnson Wax in Racine, Wis.... Stuart Siebert, former head of Chi J. Walter Thompson public relations department, and William Hutton, ex-chief of the British Information Service here, have joined forces with Kenneth Boehnert in a new publicity and advertising consulting firm... Russell Jolly resigns the Chi NBC staff Aug. 1 to become production director at KUSO, the U. of South Dakota station at Vermillion... Herbert Guenlin, ex-RCA assistant ad manager, added to Ruthrauff & Ryan's stable of account execs... Fran Irvin appearing this week on ABC's "Breakfast Club" as the final guest vocalist in the program's hunt for a permanent chirp to replace Patsy Lee who has departed for matrimony... George Weiss, ex-trade mag midwest manager, added to the O. L. Taylor station rep outfit... Johnny and Billie Sloan, lated hubby-frau team added to the eatery remote lineup, airing a nightly show on WAAF from the Morris restaurant. Central Auto bankrolls ... Edward Evans, recently a Ted Bates account exec, joined the expanding A. C. Nielsen executive roster... Tom Moore, encee of Mutual's "Ladies' Fair," week-ended in Manhattan.

Your Lucky Strike Hit Parade

presents to all our friends during our 8-week hiatus a special summer service!

ON RADIO - "Your Hit Parade" ... starring Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadians. Back on the air Friday, August 29.

Your Lucky 7 tunes that you would have heard last week

as determined by Your Hit Parade Survey, which checks the best sellers in sheet music and phonograph records, the songs most heard on the air and most played on the automatic

1. I'M YOURS

2. Here In My Heart

3. DELICADO

4. WALKIN' MY BABY

5. Blue Tango

6. KISS OF FIRE

7. Auf Wiederseh'n $S_{weetheart}$

Look for this listing every week. We'll be back ou Radio-AUGUST 29 TV-AUGUST 30

ON IV-"Your Hit Parade". . starring Eileen Wilson, Snooky Lanson, Dorothy Collins and Raymond Scott. Back on the air Saturday, August 30,

Saturdays at 10:30 P.M., NBC Television Network

Inside Chi Convention

Chicago, July 22.

For the first time in history, a complete film record of both political conventions may become part of this country's official archives. Library of Congress has sounded out NBC on possibility of procuring a print of its kinescope for each of the powwows. There's little doubt that, despite the staggering cost of duplicating about 140 hours of TV time, the network will respond nobly.

Each of the three webs, incidentally, has kinescoped complete TV coverage of the GOP convention, and is repeating procedure for currents are

Bill Henry, NBC commentator, apparently has the fatherly touch. A 12-year-old TV viewer singled out Bill for Dutch Uncle role, and wrote him a fan letter with a dollar enclosed for souvenirs and buttons of the political confabs.

Commentator responded by rounding up a collection of buttons and sending them, with the dollar, to his juve admirer.

Convention gimmick of Frank Zuzulo, Mutual p.a., is striking pay dirt. In an effort to sell the web and its newsmen via a public service gesture. Zuzulo canvassed 250 dailies throughout the country with an offier of a cuffo byline column by Mutual commentators. For the GOP gabfest, there were 160 takers. Number has been upped to 183 for current Demmy fracas, with Frank Singelser teeing off series past Saturday (19). Others lined up for week are Les Higby, Bill Cunningham, Bill Hillman, Cecil Brown, and Cedric Foster, with a two-convention wrapup for a finale. Each column, of course, carries the Mutual tag line.

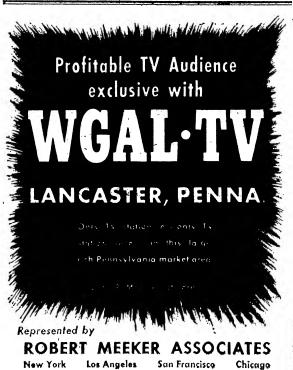

Two major studios cashed in on the publicity and name value of the Democratic convention via previews for visiting brass and press was Two major studios cashed in on the publicity and name value of the Democratic convention via previews for visiting brass and press. Warners preemed "The Will Rogers Story" at the mammoth Chicago Civic Opera House Sunday night, with Gov. Addai Stevenson and Illinois National Committeeman Jake Garvey tossed in as added attractions. Paramount unveiled its "Son of Paleface" after the convention session Monday night, with Bob Hope hosting. Hope tossed a post-screening party for newsmen.

ABC staffers, huddled on the floor of their Conrad Hilton press room to cover a pre-convention interview show with Vice President Barkley, suddenly realized an outsider was crowding into the doorway to get a look-see at the video screen. A rush of amenities followed when ABC'ers realized interloper was pretty Nancy Kefauver, who had dropped by the nearest TV receiver to get a glimpse at the competition.

One of the most promising personalities emerging from TV coverage of conventions is Washington news correspondent Esther Van Waggoner Tutty, who made her video debut during the GOP meet as an NBC staffer. Blonde, braided Mrs. Tufty brought a steady stream of celebs to the NBC cameras in her initial stint, and is coming up with some bell ringing ideas during this one. Among latter is a press conference in reverse, with political celeb quizzing newsmen, parade of governors every ayem, and a wrapup of aspirants to the First Lady title. The Tufty click may foreshadow a permanent role on the video scene.

New gadgets: the NBC new balloting machine, devised by National Cash Register, to register cumulative totals during voting to screenABC comes up with a "fourth dimension" TV unit, a version of the "wedge wiper" corner superimpositions debutted by CBS during GOP meet. ABC device, which was not used opening session, promises viewer three closeups simultaneously, with a single commentary synchronized to carry interpretation. New unit includes three specially modified picture tubes arranged in triangle form, connected to special circuits and synchronizing generators.

Most frustrated gal at both conventions has been Shirley Levine, of the CBS-TV Public Affairs Department. She's the kid who has been on camera beside Walter Cronkite all through both sessions. She assembles his notes, handles walkle-talkle remote cues for him, and monitors the convention coverage for the harassed Cronkite. Millions all over America have been watching her but her dad, an automobile dealer named Sam, is watching the Convention in Saratoga, the family home, and Saratoga is serviced only by WRGB, from Schenectady—an NBC outlet. So her dad can't see her on camera at all, and has been quietly going crazy.

Gapra Formula

chosen because of its central location, on a national basis. Delegate selected was Gene Brown, of Coffeeville, in that state. Gitlin and aide Dave Moore picked Brown up with tape equipment as he pulled into Dearborn Station at 7:15 Saturday morning (19).

"Digest" crew, plus tape, followed Brown's every movement. CBS caught him in Kanasa caucus at the Palmer House that afternoon, Brown emerged muttering into the CBS mike: "This thing cost me a $100 in contribution, and I didn't even get a glass of water."

I didn't even get a glass of water."
"Digest" then recorded, for netwere playback later on, his conversation with a Conrad Hilton, waiter at the Ice Show there.
Waiter tried to con him into going all out for Adlai Stevenson. Later on, network got taped conversation between its John Doe delegate and cabdriver, who urged him: "Get your vote up for Russell and you can ride this trip for free!"
Later, Brown was recorded in network conversation with Sen.
Kerr, who told him: "When Greek meets Greek, they open a restaurant. And when Oklahoma meets Kansas they form a coalition."

Kansas they form a coalition."
"Digest" followed Brown through

"Digest" followed Brown through a 'phone conversation with Gov. Murray of Oklahoma and through pressuring by other delegates. Also taped his by-play with ex-Gov. Woodring of Kansas, ex-Secretary of War under FDR, who told him: "Take it easy, son. I've been around a long time, and I know about these things. Don't fret, take it easy and don't commit yourself too early."

it easy and don't commit yourself too early."

The Gitlin "Digest" crew will tape Brown's movements through Friday, catching him in other caucuses, on the floor, in all off-beat situations. Brown will be taped, in fact, right until the split second he boards his train back to Coffeeville.

WBKB-CBS

Continued from page 29

regular 30% of rate card payment for the entire Demo convention rather than the 15-hour payment that prevailed during the GOP telecast. The web nixed the idea so the Windy City station is running a package of 50 one-minute spots sold to Nelson Bros., a series of spots for the Elgin Appliance Co. and as many regular station break accounts as can be wedged in during the convention telethon.

WBKB is making its own station breaks on the CBS feed and is reserving the right to cut away from the network at its own decision when the show lags. Mitchell did make one concession to CBS. regular 30% of rate card payment cision when the show lags. Mitchell did make one concession to CBS. He's eliminated the Electrolux vacuum cleaner pitches during the Westinghouse show which plug its own appliances.

A final WBKB tally shows that it lost $15,000 in washed out regular biz and additional expenses during the GOP production.

Dems' Global Spread

Continued from page 29

port and two in English. Other fea-port and two in English. Other features include interviews and commentary featuring correspondents for Canadian newspapers, early evening and other material sent to Canada for origination there.

Some highlight features of the conventions—such as General MacArthur's keynote speech at the Republican Convention — have gone into Canada on feeds from NBC, with which CBC has a tieup.

In order for Canadians to broadcast live from this country, special permission was required and obtained from the FCC.

Typical of most convention coverage by the foreign radio stations, however, has been that offered by the French here. French press, which feeds both newspapers and radio stations, has been doing the conventions with a staff of eight. Staff writes news stories which are wired out internationally to France and to other parts of the world. wired out internationally to France and to other parts of the world. This news is read over stations and networks in France and other parts of West Europe, the Far East, Africa, South America, French Canada, etc. Pierre Crenesse, of the French Broadcasting System, has been a conspicuous correspondent.

Newsreels may have been slightly hidden in the shadow cast by television in the 1952 conventions —but not in the book of Perle Mesta, U. S. Minister to Luxembourg, an inspiration for the play.

It was Mrs. Mesta who reminded the Democratic convention today. (Tuesday) that newsreels are carrying the convention picture stores to the rest of the world. In the course of a speech on women in the Democratic Party, she said:

"When newsreels of this convention are shown all over the world I think one of the facts that will impress many of the audiences most deeply is the numbers of women present.

TV Makeup Men

Continued from page 29

crațic conventions. Perhaps the most fussy of all was Wisconsin's Sen. Joseph McCarthy. McCarthy not only submitted to the art of NBC's Syd Simmons before his platform stint at the G.O.P. session; he actually added suggestions. For instance, he urged that his mose be improved and the heavy lines on his face be blotted out. Presidential aspirant Estes Keduver arrived at ABC's studio with his face bleeding from a razor blade cut, and with the assurance to make-up expert Jack Dumont that he "never appears on TV without make up." The Vice President, an old hand before the video cameras, quippēd, as Dumont was applying the greasepaint. "What are you going to do? Make a prima donna out of me?"

On the distaff side, the make up hoys report smooth salling. The lady politicos take their make up on or off the screen, as a matter of course. Democratic National Committee vice chalrman India Edwards even brought her own make up kit along, just in case.

CBS' Mort Lewis, perhaps, platform stint at the G.O.P. ses-wards even brought her own make up kit along, just in case.

CBS' Mort Lewis, perhaps, copped the make up plum of the season when he spruced up Speaker Sam Rayburn for his convention chairman chores, with particular attention to the dignified Texan's bald pate. Rayburn, it seemed, had learned his lesson well in the net's School for Candidates and had agreed in advance that something should be done about the glare of the kleigs on his shiny dome.

But, with it all, most frequent request made to at least one of the make up men was not for powder or make up men was not for powder or eye shadow, but for aspirin!

Chi Chatter

Continued from page 29

board in a special exhibit of Demmie greats, distaff version.

Hans V. Kaltenborn, NBC's 74-year-old youngster, prepped for his Demmy convention chores by dancing at the Pump Room until wee hours Sunday night. Hope Ridings Miller, staffer for Martha Rountree and Lawrence Spivak, advised Mrs. Dorothy Vredenburg, eye filling young secretary of National Demmy committee, on make-up and dress for her convention speaking chore. Milton Burgh, NBC news director in charge of convention coverage, added six more legmen, armed with walkietalkies, to cover numerous off-floor caucuses of current powwow... NBC commentator Ben Grauer, stalled by traffic in an 11th hour rush to make "Dateline Chicago" deadline at International Amphitheatre, applied makeup in cab and went on as scheduled. Hazel Markel, MBS femme commentator, getting expert advice from husband Dan Markel, an International New Service vet.

Intermountain's Biz

Salt Lake City, July 22.

Los Angeles Soap Co. and J. A.
Folger Coffee Co. have renewed for the fifth straight year with Intermountain Network to carry Frank Hemingway's news twice daily cross the board.

Three new stations have been added to bring the regional's total to '45. New additions are: KCET, Trinidad, Colo., KELK, Elko, Nev., and KNEB, Scotts Bluff, Neb.

DESIRABLE OFFICE SPACE West 51st St., Radio City, N. Y. 972 Square Feet. Reasonable. Immediate Occupancy Call EL 5-9252

Dems Bleed TV

z Continued from page 29 🕿

torium where the Republicans off. Opening sessions on Mon were far less filled than for Republican convention. Tick for press and public were m more plentiful but there were many takers. The folks were sing in their homes and hotels Chicago, watching on television. And it threatens to keep up i this all week.

this all week

TV, cause of it all, continues deliver saturation coverage | with a minimum of embarn ment for the political parties was noticeable on opening d Monday, that the video came chastely kept their searching e away from the galleries. T didn't want to show the world h many seats were empty.

They are already wondering didn't want to show the world he many seats were empty.

They are already wondering these parts whether 1956 minot see an entirely new form to. replace the crowded convitions which have been tradition for 'kenerations. This is the impact of the term of the t

Frank Stanton, CBS preside did come up with one smart s gestion, urging elimination of t red light which showed which. camera was actually producing picture going out to the pool,

During the Republican convetion, galleries, delegates and alternates discovered what the red ligmeant. Lens muggers played to the camera, with considerable articiality resulting.

Since the Democrats can't fi the red light, they don't kn which is the right camera and don't ham up the show.

which is the right camera and don't ham up the show.

Like a Politician's Promise Television folks have been my unhappy by the failure of the Deocratic managers to deliver all things they promised. For instarthe Demmys said their speak would make shorter, punch speeches, streamlined for the best of the television audiences the TV time schedules.

But the promise has been emp Demmy gabbers have been just verbose and hollow sounding their Republican opposite number So far, television hasn't been also to curb the freedom of political control of the promise has been also curb the freedom of political control of the promise has been also curb the freedom of political control of the promise has been also curb the freedom of political control of the promise have the promise have been also curb the freedom of political control of the promise have been also curb the freedom of political control of the promise have been also curb the freedom of political control of the promise have been also curb the freedom of political curb the promise have been also curb the freedom of political curb the promise have been promised the promised the promised the promise have been promised the promised the promised the promise have been promised the pro

Eileen BARTON

Coral Recording Artist DIRECTION: MCA

Mgt.: William Morris Agency

CONTEST FOR D.C.'S LONE UHF CHANNEL

Washington, July 22. The contest for Washington's one commercial UHF channel allocated under the new TV assignment table gives promise of becoming a hot fight as more and more applicants ight as more and more applicants enter the race. Already, three radio stations have put in their ap-plications and others are planning plications and others are planning to come in.

The scramble for channel 20 indicates that the problem of converting all or a large part of the existing 380,000 VHF sets in the capital's metropolitan area to receive UHF programs holds no fear for TV applicants.

Newest applicants for the UHF channel is station WWDC, which is making its bid on service to the Montgomery - Prince Georges County area of Maryland, which includes Silver Spring, now the second largest city in Maryland.

Cleve, Breaks Ice

Continued from page 31

Cleveland back to N. Y. for airing via WPIX.

Cleveland back to N. Y. for airing via WPIX.

Complete cost of the local sponsor for the out-of-town games is reportedly about $2,200, which includes station time, line charges and pickup fees. Sponsor in Cleveland is Pfeiffer Brewing, while in N. Y. the Yankee games are bankrolled by Chesterfield. For last week's five-game schedule, Bob Neal, sportsmaster for WXEL and WERE, Cleveland indie radio outlet, sat in the WPIX box at Yankee stadium, feeding a separate commentary to Cleveland from that done by Mel Allen and his crew for WPIX. Each time a Chesterfield commercial was aired on the N. Y. end, the cameras were "frozen" on the field while WXEL, cut in its Pfeiffer's plug from Cleveland for the local Cleveland audience.

WPIX is keeping details of its

ABC-UPT

: Continued from page 28 =

the merger would provide, and the possible consequencies in terms of public policy, should not be considered merely in the abstract.

"Whatever the ultimate decision may be, the actual theatre operating experience and policies reflected in the record, involving a number of the important officials of the proposed ABC-UPT setup, should be fully taken into account And the argument of ABC with respect to its need for prompt financial succor, cannot outweigh the vital public considerations in-dicated . . . nor can it warrant a complete reversal of basic Com-mission policy with respect to eval-uation of the qualifications of (bboadcast). Licensees. The petition should be denied."

UPT's contention

"an unprecedented procedural de vice to effectively eliminate tha evidence no matter what its pur port may be,"

audience.

WPIX is keeping details of its new technique under wraps, N. Y. viewers, however, will get a chance to see it in action during the Yankee-Indian games from Cleveland this week.

Akron—FCC has approved the purchase of 50% of WCUE, Akron, by the Herberich, Hall, Harter Co. The $30,000 transaction involved sale of stock by George K. Stroupe, who has joined the Factory Tool & Supply Co.

'Mr. & Mrs. North' Has Mystery of Its Own

The scramble for acquisition of the TV version of "Mr. and Mrs. North" is still on, with Colgate, sponsors of the forthcoming video series, still shopping around for a series, still shopping around for a favorable nighttime segment. As yet none has appealed to the client. As of last week it appeared a tossup between CBS and ABC with NBC unable to deliver a suitable time period. Radio version, also sponsored by Colgate, is on CBS.

NBC Mobile

Continued from page 29 :

in-person witnesses for the parade, since the streets would necessarily have to be partially cleared. By the same token, however, it would mean that millions of TV setown mean that millions of TV setown-ers could watch the event. Prior to the unveiling of the unit, for example, when the Republicans nominated Dwight D. Eisenhower, the webs picked up Ike on camera as he left his hotel but then lost sight of him completely for a half-hour as he made his way to Convention Hall.

wention Hall.

Unit comprises a remote pickup truck with two cameras mounted on top. Engineer also sits on top the truck to maneuver a special horn antenna. Web has set up four receiving antennas at various points around Chi, so that all the engineer must do is point his transmitting equipment to whichever receiver offers the best line-of-sight pickup. NBC wants to do the event on an exclusive basis, so will not make it available to the TV pool.

Paul S. Dixon's Post

Salt Lake City, July 22.
Paul S. Dixon has been named national sales manager for KSL Radio, local CBS outlet, it was announced last week by C. Richard Evans, v.p. and g.m. of Radio Service Corp. of Utah, owners of KSL and KSL-TV.

and KSL-TV.
Dixon replaces Frank McLatchy.

Denver's KFEL-TV Bows pect to be on the air, or whether i ments they will apply for a temporary permit.

Hope's Bid In

The other two channels will see bitter fights for the right. Asking for channel 4 are KMYR Broadcasting Co., now operating KMYR, and Metropolitan Television, organized recently by Bob Hope to buy KOA from NBC, which deal is now being scrutinized by FCC for approval or denial. It is expected the recipient of this channel will finally be picked as the NBC outlet in Denver, although there is nothing official on this.

nothing official on this.

Asking for channel 7 are Aladelin-Radio-and-Television (KLZ), and Denver Television Co., the latter recently organized. The fight on this is expected to be especially hard fought, with competing theatre men being interested in both companies. Not too long ago KLZ was sold to Aladdin, with two of the partners being Frank H. Ricketson, Jr., president of Fox Intermountain Theatres, and Harry Huffman, retired district manager for the same company.

Organizers of Denver Television

ager for the same company.

Organizers of Denver Television include Harris and John Wolfberg, include Harris and John Wolfberg, father and son, who entered the Denver theatre business when they leased the Broadway from under Fox Intermountain in 1945. Picture deals the Wolfbergs were unable to make for the Broadway were the basis for an anti-trust suit against Loews, 20th-Fox and RKCO, the Wolfbergs winning $300,000 out of $3,000,000 asked. Officials of Fox Intermountain testified in the suit. Then this spring the Wolfbergs took over the Paramount, which had been operated by Fox Intermountain for about 15 years.

ments of WXEL-TV, Cleveland, operated by them. The estimated first-year operation costs at $400,000 against a revenue of $450,000. They place construction costs at $346,000.

Expect Losses

Aladdin, owner of KLZ, says their first-year operating cost will be about $700,000, with a con-struction figure of $440,095, but places no estimate on earnings or

Denver Television, which is ask-Denver Television, which is ask-ing for channel 7 against Aladdin, says they will spend $600,000 in first-year operation, with an esti-nated revenue of $500,000, and a construction estimate of $545,422.

KFEL-TV, given channel 2, looks for a $20,000 loss against a one-year operating cost of $520,000. Construction is estimated at $364.500.

Colorado Television granted channel 9, places construc-tion at $394,011, operation at $444,-632, and revenue at $400,000.

tion at $394,011, operation at $444,632, and revenue at $400,000.

KMYR Broadcasting Co., opposing Metropolitan for channel 4, says it expects a loss of $118,000 on an operating cost of $526,000 and with a construction layout of $440,963. This is the only station that would not build on Lookout Mountain, but would build on Ruby Hill, at the edge of Denver. Metropolitan estimates they would lose $50,000 against an operating cost of $525,000, with a construction cost of $521,028. Manufacturers are going all out in an effort to get television sets into Denver in an effort to get their share of the estimated immediate demand for 90,000 sets, and a two-year demand of 150,000. Sets are coming into Denver in shipments of 1,000 each, some of them being flown in.

by Fox Intermountain for about 15 years.

None of those applying for TV channels excepting one, expects to make a profit the first year. The optimist is Empire Coll, which says that a profit of about $50,000 is expected. They probably base their figure on the balance state-

DOROTHY KILGALLEN and DICK KOLLMAR

"WHAT'S MY LINE?" "BREAKFAST WITH DOROTHY AND DICK" "GUESS WHAT?"

Producers Contribute Addenda To Recurring Vidpix Problems

the multiple vidpix problems con-tribute an addenda to the searching analysis of the industry's vid-pic facets highlighted in last week's Seventh Annual Review and Pre-view issue of Variety.

By HERBERT SCHEFTEL (Telenews Productions)

"Recent surveys indicate that television news programs are in-creasing in numbers and in popu-larity. The news of the world's ac-larity. The news of the world's activities offers more dramatic punch than any feature film. This inherent days a of the news makes it one of the most favored commodities in TV programming. It is not inconceivable that TV news may eventually develop into an "everyhour-on-the-hour" proposition, as it is in radio.

"However, the growth of news

"However, the growth of news programming means additional problems for TV newsreel producers; problems which are enormous but not unsolvable.

"The immediacy of telecasting poses a problem of itself. Every day's news program must include the very latest news from all over the world. News footage of the day's happenings must flow in a constant stream to the production plants of the news-reel producers and thence to the TV stations.

"This constant flow of news foot-and mence to the TV stations.

"This constant flow of news footage, moreover, must occur at top speed, Competition among newsreel services is just as keen as it is among newspapers; get your news, to the public first, or else you're, beat."

"To attain speed and constant flow, then, newsreel producers must maintain huge staffs of camera correspondents throughout the world, huge forces of editors, etitters, writers, production men, traffic men—and the expensive mechanical facilities and plants with and in which they work. All are involved in maintaining the flow of newsreel and in reducing the time gap between news event and its relecasting.

24-Hour-A-Day Schedule. "To attain speed and constant

21-Hour-A-Day Schedule

"And the entire operation must be on a 24-hour-a-day, around the calendar schedule Expensive? Very, very much so.

"Another prime problem is that of quality. All news is 'rush,' but filmed news must also be good for telecasting. The story content must be the best — this means experienced news cameramen and editors. The accompanying scripts must be accurate and interview. telecasting. The story content must be the best — this means experienced news cameramen and editors. The accompanying scripts must be accurate and interesting—this means imaginative and meticulous news writers. The film itself must be as close to perfection (in terms of creative presentation and of sound-and-picture clarity) as sharp-eyed, constantly-examining production men can make it. "These are but a few of the con-

"These are but a few of the constantly recurring problems with which newsreel producers are faced. Happily, the producers have beaten or are in the process of beating every one of them. But it is a costly, long-term battle with the present returns not in proportion to the expense and effort extended. TV stations are receiving upwards of 15-minutes of newsreel footage five days a week, which they use anywhere from two to five times a day in various news programs. The average rate to all TV stations is presently a very nominal $300 per week. At this price, in the face of today's production costs and in comparison to other kinds of programming — on film or otherwise — newsreel footage is a steal!"

By ALBERT D. HECHT (Bill Sturm Studios)

"There has been a lot of talk about New York vs. Hollywood as a production center for TV commercial (advertising) films. As one who has been handling this type of film since December, 1945, I cannot understand any debate. There is no question that New York is and should remain the production center for filmed commercials. We have everything— plus.
"There are completely equipped have everything— plus.

"There are completely equipped studios for live action, stop motion, and animation. Perhaps there is a potential shortage of live action studio space when it becomes necessary to photograph large extravaganzas. But let us not forget that television commercials are 99% intimate and demonstrative shots—very rarely more than closeups or, at the very best, medium closeups. closeups.

closeups.

"As for art work and animation, we exceed the requirements for any present or expected needs. We in New York can deliver as fine an animated film, if not better than Hollywood. Of course, we respect Disney and the like (the 'like' here being MGM and Warner Bros, cartoon divisions)! But theirs' is not a monopoly. Remember, a good portion of theatrical animation is toon divisions!! But theirs' is not a monopoly. Remember, a good portion of theatrical animation is done in New York. If there is any tendency toward monopoly in the field, New York certainly has the edge. Our artists have, in addition to the theatrical abilities, the basic know-how of commercial adverticing.

film commercial still comes under the classification of advertising.

"Since our clients' representatives are situated in the metropolitan area, the advantages of working with New York producers are tremendous. An agency cannot just send a film or television man to open up a branch in Hollywood and assume that they are servicing their client to the best of their ability. We deal with more than just the film or television department in an agency. There are account representatives and the client's themselves who do continuous checking while their films are in production. This is all part of the plus service that we only in New York can giv

"Basic labor rates in both cities are about the same and we in New York City have learned to approach overhead realistically. All our films (and remember, we do a lot of other kinds of films beside television commercials) carry as little 'water' as possible. Let me just repeat a recent headline: "MGM Cuts Nut 50% for All Over $1,000 Per.'"

By FRED NILES (Kling. Studios)

"The two most difficult problems facing the television film producer are the problem of time and the problem of cost. As to time, the average television buyer, be he an agency mán representing client or the client direct, does not want television films until after he has surveyed the television spot market and, in many cases, bought time. Then, because he was able to buy some time starting in a couple of weeks, he wants his film made in just a few days.

"The result is that the film pro-made in just a few days.

"The result is that the film producer is thrown into the job, in many cases, of devising the spot, building the sets, hiring the talent and all the myriad of details necessary for the commercial, within a matter of hours. Once the commercial is shot and rushed through because of the time limit, the client invariably can't understand the time necessary to process film, develop it, make optical effects, cut and edit it and deliver prints: Many hours of overtime by everyone frequently have to be put in to make quently have to be put in to make the air date.

"This is particularly difficult

the air date.

"This is particularly difficult when the film producer is faced with the problem of having to stay within a very slim budget. For years in industrial film business, the "rule of thumb" as to costs was between $1,000 and $1,500 per minute—this for a 30 or 40 minute picture, many time with 10 or 15 minutes of the picture all handled in one area or location—and still industrial film producers did not become wealthy at their business. In dustrial film producers did not become wealthy at their business. In television, all the effects of a 15minute picture frequently are condensed into a one-minute television commercial with a host of scenes and sets demanded for the minute production, and the producer limited in the funds available to do the job.

"The result is that the let of the able to do the job.

"The result is that the lot of the television film producer is not a particularly profitable one, and there are few film studios in the country who can truthfully say that television spot production has been a profitable operation for them. Then too, most of the advertising agencies used to buying artwork and photography, are accustomed to a super-type of service, and the changes along the line are taken for granted as part of the job. They fall many times to realize that changes in motion pictures after they have been shot or cut and edited are extremely costly and difficult. All of these factors affect the ingenuity and quality of the television film commercial currently being seen on television."

Cleveland—WEWS is promoting a "two-TV-set-in-every-home" to spur more programming and preclude possible family disputes as to what show will be seen Duddy Black, vacationing KCKN disker, will pinch hit for Bill Gordon, WHK vacationing disker. WHK's fack, Lou Oswald, vacationing in Bermuda. Keith Baldwin leaves his sales managership at WERE to become assistant to the president at WAKR

Television Chatter

New York

New York

Durward Kirby and Billy Gilbert filling in for Garry Moore while the latter vacations from his CBS-TV afternoon strip. NBC-TV production veepee Fredrie W. Wile, Jr., married Bee Canterbury last week. Marguerite Piazza, soprano on "Show of Shows," returning from Europe this week and will solo at the final Lewisohn Stadium concert prior to returning to the NBC-TV show. Her husband and business mauager, J. Graves McDonald, accompanied her to Europe. Natalie Priest, TV-radio actress, returning to N. Y. after completing a role in "Liliom" at the Brattle strawhatter, Cambridge, Mass.

Westinghouse reduced prices on Brattle strawhatter, Campringer, Mass.

Westinghouse reduced prices on 14 of its new receiver models, with the price cuts ranging from $20-to-$50 ... WOR-TV's "Broadway TV Theatre" holding over "For Love or Money" a second week because Brooklyn Dodger night games carried by the station force the show off all but two nights this week.

Hollywood

Hollywood

Frank DeVol's KTTV show is first casualty here on the steel strike as Gledhill Dodge-Plymouth cancelled its sponsorship of hourlong show as result of inability to get cars due to the steel tieup. DeVol stay on as a sustainer... Mal Klein named night program operations manager of KLAC-TV, replacing Charles Bulotti, Jr., who ankled for KTTV, and Mattie Tippit takes over Klein's vacated spot as film programming director... Maler Brewing joins Chesterfield in sharing tab on telecasts of L. A. Angels and Hollywood Stars games on KHI-TV, companies paying $6,400 weekly for participation... KNBH telecasting 15th annual L. A. Soap Box Derby July 26... "Campus Farmers" returns to KECA-TV. following seven-week hiatus of the public service program ... George Burke has been named as manager of KNBH film operations, replacing Robert Guggemheim ... "Bamboozle," juve show produced, written and emceed by Wally Sherwin, began on KTTV. Tite Guizar, Jean Bartel, Babe Allan and Barry Ashton and the Gallion Bross are in new variety show teeling off on KTTV July 29.

San Francisco

San Francisco

Hal Burdick, local creator of the "Night Editor" radio series, signed, with Weintraub Agency, New York, for a "Night Editor" teevee series, Ward Byron producing... Philippe De Lacy in to film three "Without Fear" TV. shows based on San Quentin, the blood bank and civil defense... Rusty. Draper N'Yorkward to guest on Ed Sullivan and Patti Page shows... Equalization Board Chairman George Reilly to jest on "Toast of the Town," Aug. 10... Bob Migrins, ex-MCA agent, joined KPIX sales. Jane Burns dropped from KPIX promotion staff... Golden Cate Theatre plugged "King Kong" revival with $5,000 TV campaign, heaviest local movie investment. in the eyeful medium... Wesley I. Dumm, KPIX co-owner, joined Orecom group filing for Portland TV outlet... Hoffman TV picked up check for "San Francisco At Night," starring Lee Giroux. Show on KPIX features live pickups from hotel. nite spots, beginning (18) with Hawaiian Club.

Chicago.

Chicago

Burr Tillistrom, masterminder of NBC-TV's "Kukla, Fran and Ollie," summering at Nantucket again this year . Ernie Simon, new WGN-TV pactee, doing the color and post-game interviews with Jack Brickhouse on station's teeveeing of the Little League baseball games Wednesday nights . Ivan Hill's Personality Features putting finishing touches to a new moppet show to debut next

REHEARSAL HALL

8,000 Sq. Ft. Heart of B'way used by the Philco Playhouse for the past three years, now available 5 or 6 days weekly from 10 A.M. to 5 P.M. Call udson 2-1937 bet. 10 A,M. te 4 P,M.

Available for

TV

Director-producer with motion picture and thankre experience. Capable of creating and standizing commercials. Executive and pre-metional ability. Box V-72152, Television. Variety, 134 W. 46th St.. Now York 36 month on WBKB with Frazier Thomas emceeing Perry (Skee) Wolff now a CBS-TV producer in New York spent the interval between the two conventions renewing Chi acquaintances. Don Moier has drawn the directorial assignment on NBC-TV's "Super Ghost" quiz game which bows from here Sunday (27) WNBQ's femme gabber Dorsey Connors and weatherman Clint Youle vacationing this week. U.S. weather bureau forecasters Lyn Means and Charles Johnson are filling in for Youle Arthur Peterson written out of "Hawkins Falls," NBC-TV serial, to join cast of "Come Back, Little Sheba." at the Peninsula Playhouse at Fish Creek, Wis. . . . Bob Banner, ex-Chi NBC tele director now handling the Fred Waring show on CBS, Lectured at the NBC-Nocthwestern summer radio-TV institute last week

'No Names' Continued from page 25

tain player in a script. So the player, figure vacillates in classes.

player figure vaciliates in all classes.

Ziv TV usually guarantees leads in its telepix $500 for a three-day picture. Minimums paid leads vary from around $100 upwards, entirely contingent on each producer's budget or production problems. Another factor involved is different stress of the producer, with some shying away from anyone resembling a name in order to get talent at the lowest possible cost, while oliers are willing to pay better coin to give their product a more attractive appearance. Eve Miller has drawn $500 for a telepic? Marshall Thompson, $450, and Jim Davis, $400. This kind of sugar is higher than that received by the bit player or "middle-bit," but the latter are assured of more continuity of work; there's a greater demand for their services. Paradoxically, the extra, who draws the lowest figure, has not found telepix any particular windfall, inasmuch as most vidpix producers shy away from use of any great number of extras for fear will hypo production costs without necessarily adding anything to the telepic. Consequently the average telepix has only about three ex-will hypo production costs without necessarily adding anything to the telepic. Consequently the average telepix has only about three extens, so that this class of thesp finds rather lean pickings in the telefilm field.

While the entire pattern now evolving is of necessify in a transitory stage and could conceivably change, most of those in the telepix field feel that Screen Actors Guild members are going to prosper more than ever in the long run as a result of teevee, but that the prosperity will be of an even quality, with more and more members of SAG benefitting, rather than a comparatively few top names drawing the top bracket coin.

Producers; Agencies: Available Soon

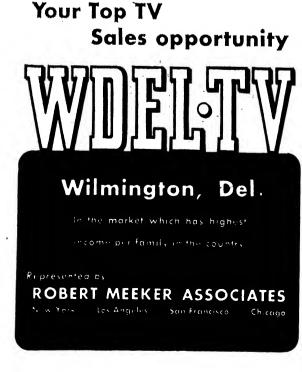

WRITER-EDITOR TY FILMS

Pix seen on ever 100 stations, locally on CRS-TV, WJX-TV, Previously: years in educational, documentary business films.

Box V-7767, Variety 154 W. 46th St., New York 36

HARPO MARX

NBC-TV RCA-VICTOR Mgt.: GUMMO MARX

Tele Followup Comment

occasion was somewnat of a letdown to viewers. Possibly his preconvention campalgning may have tired him, but it was plainly evident that the "nackets buster" didn't have his best TV foot forward. Juggling his spectacles, he asserted: "We have furnished vigorous leadership... and will run on the record of the Democratic administration."
Sen. Robert S. Kerr, Oklahoma's favorite son, made a good video showing in parrying verbal thrusts with the press panel. However, he quality and his general demeanor was that of a politician attempting to disguise his true character, To Chicago Sun-Times man Tom Reynolds' question: "What is your appeal to the voter?" he failed to give a direct answer and moved into a different topic.

"Rwerelt-Harriman, who reports have it is the "fair-haired boy of the White House," was embarassingly colorless. Whether he, too, give a different topic.

"Reversh' Harriman, who reports have it is the "fair-haired boy of the White House," was embarassingly colorless. Whether he, too, was suffering from pre-convention campaign fatigue could not be determined. But his general air was unimpressive as were his statements such as the following bromide: "If you do what's right it's good politics."

Miss Rountree was her usual self as moderator. Aside from Splvak and Reynolds, press guests also included Frank McNaughton of Time mag and Richard Wilson of the Cowles publications. Their questions were practical, to the point and helped disclose the stand of the individual candidates with a minimum of palaver.

Prior to the program kickoff, the cameras supplied a family touch with closeups of the wives of the respective candidates. To the sponsor's credit the plugs were infrequent. But midway in the stanza after a lengthy puff for "dent-resistant" Revere mixing bowls, NBC shoved in two chainbreak spot announcements. That was overdoing it.

Goodyear Television Playhouse,

Goodyear Television Playhouse, in a "best of the year" reprise, came up with a mildly interesting courtroom drama Sunday (20) in The Trial of Steven Kent." Adapted by Nelson Olmsted from an original by Josephine Bentham, the yarn was woven around a jury foreman who nursed a grudge against an accused murderer. Rather than spin the tale in a conventional approach, the script resorted to numerous flashbacks. This technique is an effective one when used with discretion, but it was overdone in this instance, hesult was an uneven continuity that proved disturbing.

Cast did fairly well under the circumstances, Gordon Mills, as the man on trial, impressed with his forthright manner. Harry Towners was amply sinister as the foreman who murfied his chance to send the accused to the chair by

For Sale

Terrific Colonial Home!

located in Greenwick and Rye, 35 Lecated in Groenwich and Rye, BE minutes from New York, this strategives are to the color of the old so meny admire; yet is absorted in the color of the old so meny admire; yet is absorted in the color reams, 4 beths, 2 other leven residence. Wide plank floors, den, enormous marker bedgeom talte, aviuming pool or lake alterner residence. Specious entrance hall converts to small movie theatre. People from all over the world have admired and have been entertained in this home, yet it is a arranged their yes san have complete seclusion for yourself and year family, or give hig parties with ease. Can be run with one servant and part-time gardener. Owner reinchantity moving for hysimus results of the color of the col intes from New York, this state-

BOX Y-23052 Yarlety, 154 W. 46th St. New York 36, N. Y.

ings, his appearance upon this occasion was somewhat of a let-down to viewers. Possibly his preconvention campaigning may have tired him, but it was plainly evident that the "rackets buster" didn't have his best TV foot forward. Juggling his spectacles, he asserted: "We have furnished vigorous leader-ship... and will run on the record of the Democratic administration."

Sen. Robert S. Kerr, Oklahoma's favorite son, made a good video showing in parrying verbal thrusts with the press panel. However, he with the press panel he with the press panel he with the press panel he were the pressure of the defense counsel. However, he will be pressed to the defense counsel, the oftense was believable as "the oftense was be

NBC 'What Next?'

Continued from page 31

TV production, with all radio-TV technical services and Program Services Department under his supervision. Herbert, Barry and Wile will report to White, the v.p., and general manager of the radio-TV networks.

of significance in the new operational pattern is the divorcing of the press dept. from the public relations setup, with v.p. Syd Eiges now reporting to White, instead of public relations veepee William H. Brooks, and giving the radio-TV press dept. a greater sense of autonomy.

Benefiting in the administrative reshuffle is Ruddick C. Lawrence, manager of the TV Sales Department, who moves into the newly-created post of director of Promotion, Planning and Development; and Charles J. Cresswell, who becomes controller for the radio-TV comes controller for the radio-TV and Charles J. Cresswell, who becomes controller for the radio-TV networks.

With Denny moving into the oxo area, he also takes public relations (Brooks) and staff engineering activities (O. B. Hanson) under his wing. As top boss in the oxo setup, reporting to Denny, will be James Gaines, who also carries the title of vice-president in charge of oxo stations.

Madden, who was veepee in charge of TV sales and operations, carries the new title of vice president and assistant to the president. Madden tossed a farewell cock-tailery Monday (21) for the NBC-TV sales group which he has supervised in his job as sales and operations veepee, including staffers in production, operations sales, research, etc. Because of his long experience in supervising all such phases of the NBC operation, it's expected that, in his new post as exec assistant to McConnell, the NBC prez will rely on him heavily to lift some of the burden from his own shoulders.

It's known that some drastic changes are slated for the radio-TV news divisions, with Frank McCall, now in TV, tapped for the AM job.

"Unit Booking" .

continued from page 29;

and the man Murrow, Larry Spivak, Ted Granik, et al., were most and the man Murrow, Larry Spivak, Ted Granik, et al., were most anxious to book for their respective shows stood pat with his "reluctant dragon" role and turned down all TV bids.

The eagerness of the Democratic aspirants to showcase their wares on the video forums was in sharp contrast with their GOP counterparts—Sen. Robert Taft and Gen. Dwight Eisenhower—who, despite numerous invites were unable to make a joint TV appearance until after the big show was over. Hosts of the various panels figure it's either "feast or famine," with either too many or too few top names available, depending upon the circumstances of the particular convention maneuvering.

RWG's Victory

Continued from page 26 ;

continuity writers are to receive as commercial fees 60% of the freelance minimum basic agreement of Nov. 16, 1951, which is retroactive to that date. A differential of 10% was also established in newsrooms for hours worked from 12 midnight to 7 a.m. For the first time, writers are henceforth also to get three weeks' paid vacation after the first year. Scripters at ABC and CBS get four weeks after the first five years, while NBC, because it operates under an overall RCA policy, has agreed to four weeks after the first

Other Rights

Other Rights

Clause reserving for continuity writers all rights to their own work done on their own time is believed to be the first incorporated in any contract with entertainment writing guilds. Pact provides that the writer can sell such material under the minimum basic freelance agreement to his employer but that he cannot sell it to any other network so long as he remains in the employ of the original net.

Guild and three networks broke of the original net.

Gulld and three networks broke off negotiations July 1. They finally went back into huddles July 15, and worked past midnight through last Thursday (17). Guild then took what was represented as the nets' final offer to a membership meeting Friday afternoon (18) but the offer was nixed. Then, a further offer via telephone from the nets solved the dilemma. Through a misunderstanding, ABC held out, but it came to terms with the Guild; accepting the same provisos, by 4 p.m. Monday (21).

No TV Blackout

Continued from page 27 :

held up until we know what our talent costs will be." He pointed out that the Garden has two managers' guilds to deal with and doesn't know what their demands agers' guilds to deal with and doesn't know what their demands will be.

"We can't deal with the TV people and the advertisers until we reach an agreement with the fight managers," Irish explained. "But our plans right now call for important indoor fights to be televised over the networks again."

Regarding the manner in which the public eventually will be brought in to pay for TV fights on their home sets, Irish stated it's his personal belief that the telemeter device, rather than the telephone tieup, will be the answer.

"With the telemeter device, the setowner will deposit the quarter or 50c piece and the picture will be unscrambled for him," said Irish. "The objection to the phone plan, in which you'd have the telephone company unscramble the picture and be charged for it, is that the public would get its bill at the end of the month. The size of the bill through accumulation might scare many people into not using the device again.

"Pay as you go is the most workable plan, I think. The telemeter device also overcomes the probale overtaxing of wire facilities.

Mpls' Joe Cook

"The telephone call stunt was pretty good up until the third call. Frankly, Mr. Pader, the Twin Cities is just not a 'show town,' and we are forced to agree with Mr. Hooper that only 4.8% of those who own television sets are 'looking at 'Today.' For same reason unbeknown to us the other 95.2% of the people we called at 7 a. m. seemed quite impatient.

"At least one drug store in the seemed quite impatient.

"At least one drug store in the Twin Cities area is following through on your soda shop and restaurant tieup. We approached Mr. Allen Berschied of the Berschied Drug Store and asked him for an out-of-the-ordinary concoction to be labeled "Today." Berschied's Special consists of one scoop tuttifirutti in a pool of frozen custard, decorated with Maraschino cherries, chopped pistachios, roasted almonds and garnished with an old truss. We borrowed verbatim a plece of your copy from with an old truss. We porrowed verbatim a piece of your copy from page five and have all of Her-schied's soda jerkettes wearing a little badge—'Pick-Me-Up for To-day.'

"We have an announcer on our staff who resembles Garroway (see attached photo) who we had walk-ing around town at certain times. ing around town at certain times. As yet no one has come up to him and said, 'You are telling Minneapolis about the wonderful NBC show Today, starring Dave Garroway,' Mostly they just say 'Hi, Charlle.' This Charlle is pretty popular around town, especially on the University campus.

Rise and Shine

"Re 'Early Risers' publicity story: We have memoed our entire staff to the effect that those who upon to the effect that those who upon coming home of an evening run into someone who is on the job at 5 a. m. report such nonsense to our executive vice-president who will use both our radio and television facilities to publicize such a person. This also goes for any television store manager who wants to open up his premises before the decent hour of 9 a. m.

that if the sun was shining when been seen on Today.' The station we staged this stunt, so much the better, for it would attract much more attention. We hope to have our man off the County Farm by Labor Day.

"The telephone call stunt was pretty good up until the third call. ish?

"The airline terminal stunt would "The airline terminal stunt would have worked except that the weather has been so humid in the Twin Cities lately. As a matter of fact, a KSTP pigeon stopped fiapping his wings, lost altitude and drowned before he hit the ground. Weather conditions have not helped this stunt at all, and when some joker from our competitor, WTCN-TY, came along and put that slogan on top of the TV set well! For eternal rest, fly Northwest." "Seriously all of your exploits-

"For eternal rest, fly Northwest."
"Seriously, all of your exploitation ideas have merit, and we at KSTP think that NBC's Exploitation 'Division will fill a real need," Cook avers he wouldn't have believed such "suggestions" possible unless he actually had seen them in print in the manual.

NBG's Assets

Continued from page 27

in oil leases, $612,000 in securities, $659,000 in Government bonds, a $500,000 is in cash.

S00,000 is in cash.

Hope's income is listed as "in excess of $100,000" per year.

In a recital of Hope's public service record, the application describes his activities as so extensive that "they cannot be fully detailed in one exhibit." Brief mention is made of his "second 10 years" of entertaining troops throughout the world, of over 350 appearances in various war theatres, and before philanthropic organizations.

Application reveals that Hope turned over entire proceeds of $166,000 from his book, "I Never Left Home," to the National War Fund.

facilities to publicke such a person. This also goes for any television store manager who wants to open up his premises before the decent hour of 9 a. m.

"Your suggestion on page 12 was followed, and here we had surprising results. We had ballots made up containing the names of people in the news whose pictures had."

St. Louis—Execs of KMOX, St. Louis—Execs of kMOX,

"Television showmanship is no longer confined to ac-

Abel. -VARIETY, July 16.

Praise for the great coverage and Television Zoomar shots of the Republican and Democratic National Conventions should go to the following network engineers and their helpers.

TELEVISION ZOOMAR SALUTES

CBS'

R. G. Thompson O. J. Sather A. E. Merciea Robert Wilson

NBC's F. A. Wankel Alfred Jackson Max Jacobsen

ABC's Ed Horstman F. A. Timberlake William Trevarthen

Television Zoomar always gives the top performance for large or small studio production. Same lens for baseball, football, horse races, etc.

Used by all important television stations from Buenos Aires, Argentina, to CBC, Montreal, Canada, and from New York to San Francisco.

JACK PEGLER

TELEVISION ZOOMAR CORPORATION

500 Fifth Avenue - Room 2223 New York 36, N. Y.

By MIKE GROSS

Four Aces: "Should I"-"There's only Tonight" (Decca), "Should I" is a standout slice that should give the Four Aces a solid berth on the hit lists. Tune, a Nacio Herb Brown-Arthur Freed collaboration, was given a recent revival spurt in the Metro musical, "Singin' In The Rain," but this zestful rendition is the clincher that'il move it back into the top brackets. The Aces give it the kind of big and speedy rendition that's going over in the wax market. Bottom deck offers another top example of the Aces' technique.

Billy May Orch: "Love Is Just Around the Corner"."Gin and Tonic" (Capitol). More of Billy May's danceable orch styling is showcased in this coupling of the Iddie, "Love Is Just Around the Corner" and a sprightly new instrumental, "Gin and Tonic." Former is given a lilting, unpretentious rendition that should make it a jukebox fave. Willie Smith does an excellent job on the vocal. Filp follows a gay, melodic line that's sparked by Smith's top-fight sax licks. It rates spins.

Ames Bros.: "String Along" is a bouncy country-styled item with a mid-hit potential. It's got a catchy beat and a cute lyric, a blending that'll get it repeat spins. Ames Bros. capture the cornbelt quality with a spirited workover, "Fonder" (Continued on page 45)

VARIETY Scoreboard

TOP TALENT AND TUNES

Compiled from Statistical Reports of Distribution Encompassing the Three Major Outlets

Retail Disks Coin Machines Retail Sheet Music

as Published in the Current Issue

for

WEEK ENDING JULY 19 :

NOTE: The current comparative sales strength of the Artists and Tunes listed hereunder is arrived at under a statistical system comprising each of the three major sales outlets enumerated above. These findings are correlated with data from wider sources, which are exclusive with Variety. The positions resulting from these findings denote the OVERALL IMPACT developed from the ratio of points scored, two ways in the case of talent (disks, coin machines), and three ways in the case of tunes (disks, coin machines, sheet music).

TALENT

This	TIONS Last week.	ARTIST AND LABEL	TUNE
1	1	ROSEMARY CLOONEY (Columbia)	(Half as Much Botch-A-Me
2	. 4	VERA LYNN (London)
3	3	PERCY FAITH (Columbia)	Delicado
4	2	AL MARTINO (BBS)	Here in My Heart
5	6	JOHNNIE RAY (Columbia)	Walking My Baby Home
6	10	EDDIE FISHER (Victor)	(I'm Yours Wish You Were Here
7	5	PERRY COMO-EDDIE FISHER (Victor)
8		GEORGIA GIBBS (Mercury)
9		TONY MARTIN (Victor)
10	9 .	LEROY ANDERSON (Decca)
	_	TIMES

	TIONS
	Last week.	THNE	PUBLISHER
WCCA.	WCCA.		• • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • •
I	1	AUF WIEDERSEHN SWEETHEART	Hill-R
2	5	KISS OF FIRE	Duchess
3	4	HALF AS MUCH	Acuff-R
4	2	HERE IN MY HEART	Mellin
5	7	WALKIN' MY BABY BACK HOME	DeSylva-B-H
6	3	DELICADO
7	6	I'M YOURS	Algonquin
8	8	BLUE TANGO	Mills
9	9	BOTCH-A-ME	Hollis
10	10	MAYBE

VARIETY - 10 Best Sellers on Coin-Machines Week of July 19

Rosemary Clooney Columbia § Vera Lynn London

1. HALF AS MUCH (6) (Acuff-R)

2. AUF	WIEDERSEHN (5) (Hill-R)	🕯 Eddie HowardMercury 🛉
		Cuy Lombardo Decca
3. HERE	IN MY HEART (9) (Mellin)	Al Martino
4. WALE	IN' MY BABY BACK HOME (9) (DeSylva-B-H)	Internal Bernett Columbia
5. BOTC	H-A-ME (3)(Hollis)	Baranami Classes Columbia
		Rosemary ClooneyColumbia
6. KISS	OF FIRE (12) (Duchess)	G. Gibbs
7. DELIC	CADO (8) (Witmark)	P. Faith Columbia
8. LOVE	R (5) (Famous)	Daire Land Landing Dacca
9. MAYE	(m. 14)	P. Como-E. FisherVictor
9. MAYE	E (4) (Robbins)	Ink Spots Decca
10. I'M Y	OURS (11) (Algonouin)	Don Cornell Coral
	OURS (11) (Algonquin)	Eddie Fisher :Victor
	Second Group
	•	7
D7 4141	ICO (10) (ATELLA)	i arou Andarson Deced †
BLUE TAI	(16) (MIIIS)) Hugo Winterhalter Victor
DIGH NO		Frankia Laina Columbia T
TILL THE	END OF THE WORLD (Southern)	Frankie Laine Columbia
TILL THE	END OF THE WORLD (Southern)	Frankie Laine Columbia
TILL THE WHISTLE	END OF THE WORLD (Southern) MY LOVE (Disney)	Frankie Laine Columbia Bing Crosby-G. Martin Decca Beaver Valley Sweethearts Vic.
TILL THE WHISTLE	END OF THE WORLD (Southern) MY LOVE (Disney) K ALONE (10) (Mayfair)	Frankie Laine Columbia Bing Crosby G. Martin Decca Beaver Valley Sweethearts Vic. Con Cornell Coral Richard Hayes Mercury
TILL THE WHISTLE	END OF THE WORLD (Southern) MY LOVE (Disney) K ALONE (10) (Mayfair).	Frankie Laine Columbia Bing Crosby-G. Martin Decca Beaver Valley Sweethearts Vic. Don Cornell Coral Richard Hayes Mercury
TILL THE WHISTLE I'LL WALE VANESSA	END OF THE WORLD (Southern) MY LOVE (Disney) K ALONE (10) (Mayfair).	Frankie Laine Columbia Bing Crosby-G. Martin Decca Beaver Valley Sweethearts Vic. Don Cornell Coral Richard Hayes Mercuri Patti Andrews Decca Hugo Winterhalter Victor
TILL THE WHISTLE I'LL WALL VANESSA WALKIN'	MY LOVE (Disney) K ALONE (10) (Mayfair). (Morris) TO MISSOURI (Hawthorne)	Frankie Laine Columbia Bing Crosby-G. Martin Decca Beaver Valley Sweethearts Vic. \{\rightarrow{Don Cornell}\} Coral \{\rightarrow{Richard Hayes}\} Mercury \{\rightarrow{Patti Andrews}\} Decca \text{Hugo Winterhalter} Victor \text{Sammy Kaye}\} Columbia
TILL THE WHISTLE I'LL WALL VANESSA WALKIN' SUGARBU	END OF THE WORLD (Southern) MY LOVE (Disney) K ALONE (10) (Mayfair) (Morris) FO MISSOURI (Hawthorne) SH (Schirmer)	Frankie Laine Columbia Bing Crosby-G. Martin Decca Beaver Valley Sweethearts Vic. Don Cornell Coral Richard Hayes Mercury Patti Andrews Decca Hugo Winterhalter Victor Sammy Kaye Columbia Frankie Laine-D. Day Columbia
TILL THE WHISTLE I'LL WALL VANESSA WALKIN' SUGARBU ROCK OF	MY LOVE (Disney) K ALONE (10) (Mayfair) (Morris) TO MISSOURI (Hawthorne) SH (Schirmer) GIBRALTAR (Montclare)	Frankie Laine Columbia Bing Crosby-G. Martin Decca Beaver Valley Sweethearts Vic. Jon Cornell Coral Richard Hayes Mercury Patti Andrews Decca Hugo Winterhalter Victor Sammy Kaye Columbia Frankie Laine-D. Day Columbia Frankie Laine Columbia
TILL THE WHISTLE I'LL WALL VANESSA WALKIN' SUGARBU ROCK OF ANYTIME	MY LOVE (Disney) MY LOVE (Disney) (X ALONE (10) (Mayfair). (Morris) FO MISSOURI (Hawthorne) SH (Schirmer) (14) (Hill-R)	Frankie Laine Columbia Bing Crosby-G. Martin Decca Beaver Valley Sweethearts Vic. Don Cornell Coral Richard Hayes Mercury Patti Andrews Decca Hugo Winterhalter Victor Sammy Kaye Columbia Frankie Laine-D. Day Columbia Frankie Laine Columbia Eddie Fisher Victor
TILL THE WHISTLE I'LL WALE VANESSA WALKIN' SUGARBU ROCK OF ANYTIME NIGHT AN	MY LOVE (Disney) K ALONE (10) (Mayfair). (Morris) FO MISSOURI (Hawthorne) SH (Schirmer) GIBRALTAR (Montelare) (14) (Hill-R) ID DAY (Harms)	Frankie Laine Columbia Bing Crosby-G. Martin Decca Beaver Valley Sweethearts Vic. On Cornell Coral Richard Hayes Mercury Patti Andrews Decca Hugo Winterhalter Victor Sammy Kaye Columbia Frankie Laine Columbia Eddie Fisher Victor Grady Mrttin Decca
TILL THE WHISTLE I'LL WALL VANESSA WALKIN' SUGARBU ROCK OF ANYTIME NIGHT AN IF YOU W	END OF THE WORLD (Southern) MY LOVE (Disney) K ALONE (10) (Mayfair). (Morris) FO MISSOURI (Hawthorne) SH (Schirmer) GIBRALTAR (Montclare) (14) (Hill-R) ID DAY (Harms) OULD ONLY BE MINE (Wakely)	Frankie Laine Columbia Bing Crosby-G. Martin Decca Beaver Valley Sweethearts Vic. \{\text{Don Cornell}\} \text{Coral} \\ \{\text{Richard Hayes}\} \text{Mercury} \\ \text{Patti Andrews}\} \text{Decca} \\ \text{Hugo Winterhalter} \text{Victor} \\ \text{Sammy Kaye} \text{Columbia} \\ \text{Frankie Laine-D. Day Columbia} \\ \text{Frankie Laine} \text{Columbia} \\ \text{Eddie Fisher} \text{Victor} \\ \text{Grady Mrtin} \text{Decca} \\ \text{Jimmy Wakely} \text{Conpital} \\ \text{Conpital} \\ \text{Compital} \\ \text{Control} \\ \text{Compital}
TILL THE WHISTLE I'LL WALL VANESSA WALKIN' SUGARBU ROCK OF ANYTIME IF YOU W BIRDS AN	MY LOVE (Disney) (A ALONE (10) (Mayfair) (Morris) (Gibraltar (Montelare) (14) (Hill-R) (D DAY (Harms) OULD ONLY BE MINE (Wakely) D BEES (Duchess)	Frankie Laine Columbia Bing Crosby-G. Martin Decca Beaver Valley Sweethearts Vic. \{ Don Cornell Coral \} Richard Hayes Mercury \} Patri Andrews Decca Hugo Winterhalter Victor Sammy Kaye Columbia Frankie Laine-D. Day Columbia Frankie Laine Columbia Eddie Fisher Victor Grady Mrtin Decca Jimmy Wakely Capitol Three Suns Victor
TILL THE WHISTLE P'LL WALL VANESSA WALKIN' SUGARBU ROCK OF ANYTIME NIGHT AN IF YOU W BIRDS AN WHEEL O	MY LOVE (Disney) (X ALONE (10) (Mayfair) (Morris) (Morris) (Morris) (Morris) (Morris) (Morris) (Morris) (Morris) (Morris) (Gehirmer) (Gibraltar (Montelare) (14) (Hill-R) (D DAY (Harms) OULD ONLY BE MINE (Wakely) D BEES (Duchess) F FORTUNE (17) (Lauret)	Frankie Laine Columbia Bing Crosby-G. Martin Decca Beaver Valley Sweethearts Vic. On Cornell Coral Richard Hayes Mercury Patti Andrews Decca Hupo Winterhalter Victor Sammy Kaye Columbia Frankie Laine Columbia Frankie Laine Columbia Eddie Fisher Victor Grady Mrttin Decca Jimmy Wakely Capitol Three Suns Victor
TILL THE WHISTLE P'LL WALL VANESSA WALKIN' SUGARBU ROCK OF ANYTIME NIGHT AN IF YOU W BIRDS AN WHEEL O A GUY IS	MY LOVE (Disney) (A ALONE (10) (Mayfair) (Morris) (Gibraltar (Montelare) (14) (Hill-R) (D DAY (Harms) OULD ONLY BE MINE (Wakely) D BEES (Duchess)	Frankie Laine Columbia Bing Crosby-G. Martin Decca Beaver Valley Sweethearts Vic. On Cornell Coral Richard Hayes Mercury Patti Andrews Decca Hupo Winterhalter Victor Sammy Kaye Columbia Frankie Laine Columbia Frankie Laine Columbia Eddie Fisher Victor Grady Mrrtin Decca Jimmy Wakely Capitol Three Suns Victor Kay Starr Capitol Dovic Day Columbia

Songs With Largest Radio Audience

The top 30 songs of week (more in case of ties), based on copyrighted Audience Coverage Index & Audience Trend Index. Published by Office of Research, Inc., Dr. John Gray Peatman, Director, Alphabetically listed.

Survey Week of July 11-17

Am I In Love—†"Son of Paleface"	Famous
Anytime	Hill & R
Auf Wiedersehn Sweetheart
Blue Tango	Mills
Delicado
For the Very First Time
Forgive Me
From Time You Say Goodbye
Here Comes That Mood
Here In My Heart
How Close	Life
If Someone Had Told Me	Witmark
Im Confessin'
I'm Yours
Just For You
Kiss Of Fire
Lover	Famous .
Luna Rossa
Maybe
Padam Padam
So Madly In Love
Somewhere Along Way	United
South	Peer
Sweetest Words I Know	Life
There's Doubt In My Mind	Broadcast
To Be Loved By You	Remick
Walkin' My Baby Back Home	DeSviva-R-H
Watermelon Weather	Morrie
Wish You Were Here-*"Wish You Were Here'	' Channell
Zing a Little Zong-t"Just For You"	Burvan
Second Group

Zing a Little Zong—t"Just For You" Burvan
Second Group
A Girl A Fella and A Beach Umbrella Valando
A Guy Is a GuyLudlow
Be Anything (But Be Mine) Shapiro-B
Botch-A-MeCromwell
Busybody
Easy StreetJohnstone-M
High Noon Feist
In Good Old Summer Time Marks
Just a Little Lovin'
Mask Is Off Miller
Once In a While
Poinciana Marks
RosanneABC
Rutza Rutza Sheldon
Sleepy Little CowboyBeacon
Smoke Rings Am Academy
Strange Sensation Santly-J
Vanessa
West Of the Mountains
Where Did the Night Go
Total Maik Filone Williamson

Top 10 Songs On TV

Bigger the Fig	gure		Dartmouth
Gonna Get Al	ong Without You Now.		Kellem
I Hear the BI	uebells Ring		Leeds
I'm Yours			Algonquin
in the Good (Jid Summer Time		Marks
Lovely To Loc	ok At		Harms
Lover			Famous
Somewhere Al	long the Way		Tinited
Walkin' My Ba	aby Back Home		DeSviva_R_H
Would You			Bobbles
			740001113
-	FIVE TOP STAN	DAROS

Dearie	Laurel
On a Sunday By the Sea	Morrie
On the Sunny Side Of the Street	Shanira-I
Pretty Baby	Remick
Pretty Baby Take Me In Your Arms	Mills

† Filmusical. * Legit musical.

PETRILLO'S 'NO FOREIGN' UKASE

Diskeries Look to New 'Fair Trade' Act to Cement Price Structure SHOWDOWN DUE

companies want to reestablish a firm price structure in the disk industry is expected to be forthcoming in the next couple of months ing in the next couple of months as a result of new Federal "fair trading" legislation. Law, which went into effect last week, permits manufacturers to fix list prices for licensed retailers and prevents by-passing of the price agreements by transshipping of merchandise from one state to another.

Previous attempts of major disk companies to halt the discount practice among retailers have been stymied by the courts. In New York it was ruled that the "fair trade" Feld-Crawford act could not enivoked due to legal technicalities.

trade" Feld-Crawford act could not be invoked due to legal technicalities.

More importantly, the Federal law may now make it possible to halt the operation of cut-rate mail order houses who operate across state boundaries. These operations have mushroomed in the last couple of years and efforts to wipe them out have failed due to conflicting laws in various states.

Although the disk industry, through the Record Industry Assn. of America, supported the Federal "fair trade" law, retailers are watching to see whether any imediate move will be made against the discounters. A widespread belief among neighborhood retailers, who want to establish a firm list price, is that some discount stores, such as Sam Goody's, have grown so powerful that the majors are straid to stop them.

such as Sam Goody's, nave grown so powerful that the majors are straid to stop them.

It's believed that the longstanding price war in the disk retail field has resulted in the turnover of more merchandise than the disk-ers could have sold with firm list prices. The whole retail picture, however, has been steadily deteriorating under the impact of the discount war. Several large pricecutters have taken over the major share of the business, with nabe retailers being forced into a tight corner since they can barely meet overhead expenses if they attempt to sell at competitive prices.

Victor Will Push Toscy's 100G Beethoven 9th Set Via 'Underselling' Bally

When RCA Victor markets Arturo Toscanini's double LP (box set) recording Beethoven's Ninth Symphony, it will merchandise it by underselling, quoting the maestro's exact phrase, "This time I am almost satisfied." This time refers tro's exact phrase, "This time refers to his fifth try at disking a Toscanini interpretation of the symphony. Four previous attempts were scrapped, despite the $20,000 recording date cost each time. In actuality, the fifth time out_spells a $100,000 artistic production investment in a symphonic recording. casily an alltime world's high for virtuosity exactitude.

George Marek, a.&r. chiefain, is giving the Toscy platters the full treatment, including a special Louis Untermeyer English version of the Friedrich Schiller poem, "Ode to Joy," which is embodied in the Beethoven symph. There will be an unique series of candid camera shots of the maestro in action. The symph, in actuality, runs three sides of the four-sided 12-inch LP platters, and the last side is devoted to Toscanini's version of Beethoven's First Symphony.

Marek's campaign to merchan-

Tune Disked by Decca

12-inch LP platters, and the last side is devoted to Toscanini's version of Beethoven's First Symphony.

Marek's campaign to merchandise the Red Seal platters (now on LP) is to do the best classics the best way possible, rather than cut new repertory or dig up some of the oldies which have been forgotten and, invariably, are deservedly forgotten. Even the greats can't always be great; nobody bats 1.0006. Marek likens it to Shakespear's "Pericles," which is almost never performed, whereas "Hambert performed, whereas "Hambert proformed, whereas "Hambert popular."

Tune Disked by Decca

Fifteen years ago Mickey Alpert, Mike Cleary and Maurice Siegler wrote a song called "Deep in the Blue," which Keit-Engel published. It just got its first recording, by Decca, with Tommy Dorsey's orch, have recorded "Macbeth" on disk for RCA Victor, with Alec Guin-have recorded "Macbeth" on disk for RCA Victor, with Alec Guin-have recorded "Macbeth" on disk for RCA Victor, with Alec Guin-have recorded "Macbeth" on disk for RCA Victor, with Alec Guin-have recorded "Macbeth" on disk for RCA Victor, with Alec Guin-have recorded "Macbeth" on disk for RCA Victor, with Alec Guin-have recorded "Macbeth" on disk for RCA Victor, with Alec Guin-have recorded "Macbeth" on disk for RCA Victor, with Alec Guin-have recorded "Macbeth" on disk for RCA Victor, with Alec Guin-have recorded "Macbeth" on disk for RCA Victor, with Alec Guin-have recorded "Macbeth" on disk for RCA Victor, with Alec Guin-have recorded "Macbeth" on disk for RCA Victor, with Alec Guin-have recorded "Macbeth" on disk for RCA Victor, with Alec Guin-have recorded "Macbeth" on disk for RCA Victor, with Alec Guin-have recorded "Macbeth" on disk for RCA Victor, with Alec Guin-have recorded "Macbeth" on disk for RCA Victor, with Alec Guin-have recorded "Macbeth" on disk for RCA Victor, with Alec Guin-have recorded "Macbeth" on disk for RCA Victor,

Edict a Puzzler

Disk company execs are still puzzled by the meaning of James C. Petrillo's latest ban on foreign recordings. They are awaiting clarification from are awaiting clarification from their lawyers on whether the ukase covers all foreign etch-ings or whether it applies only to foreign-made disks on which some U. S. musicians are fea-tured.

Involved in these answers is the whole future of U. S. com-pany tieups with foreign la-bels, such as RCA Victor with His Master's Voice in Britain and Columbia Records with the Phillips Co. of Holland.

Woody Herman Forms Own Label For Band Disks

Grch leader Woody Herman entered the recording biz last week with the formation of a new indie label, Mars Records. Herman, whose pact with M-G-M Records expired last month, turned down bids from several major diskeries to form his own company. At present Mars will issue nothing but Herman orch waxings.

Herman's decision to organize the Mars label stems from the resentment among some name leaders of the treatment they've been getting from the majors. The orch leaders say they have been treated like step-children in the diskery stable and generally have to put their own coin behind the promotion of a disk. Herman figured that he could get more action on his etchings if they were released by his own firm.

Herman's already cut eight sides and he's planning to release one disk a month. The preem platter, "Jump In The Line" backed by "Stompin' At The Savoy," was released late last week and has racked up 11,000 sales in four days on the market. Key distributors around the country have been lined up to peddle the Mars platters.

Herman has also tied up with pubbery, topper Howie Richmond, to handle the promotion and exploitation of the releases. Richmond will also be repped on the disks as a publisher since he has lined up one of his tunes for each of the four skeded Mars platters.

LOU LEVY'S 2-WEEK SHUTDOWN POLICY

Initiating a new summer opera-tion policy, Lou Levy has closed down his music publishing offices for two weeks for vacations for his complete staff. Move is patterned after the practice of some major diskeries which shutter their plants for several weeks during the summer period.

Levy's move affects his Leeds, Duchess and Pickwick firms.

Alpert-Cleary-Siegler Tune Disked by Decca

erations of Musicians prexy, issued a sweeping ban against the use of foreign musicians by U. S. diskers in a communique mailed to all companies and bookers over last weekend. Petrillo's move is an ex-companies and bookers over last weekend. Petrillo's move is an extension of his ban on AFM musicians, particularly conductors, working abroad and is expected to result in a showdown fight between the union and the wax works.

Petrillo's letter said: "It has been called to our attention that several signatory companies are employing the services of musicians who do not belong to the AFM in recording activities which take place abroad. In some instances, members of the AFM are used in conjunction with these nonmembers to make the recordings referred to. This letter is sent to you to call your attention to the stipulation in our agreement that under the circumstances outlined above, you are to record only members of the AFM."

Petrillo said that his move aimed only at "stopping the cut-rate practices of recording companies and recording instrumentalists who go outside the U. S. to enjoy cheaper costs and higher profits and then flood the American market with a product that competes unfairly (Continued on page 47)

(Continued on page 47)

NAMM Convention To Spark Selling Drive by Diskeries

The National Assn. of Music Merchants 51st annual convention, opening in New York Monday (28) at the Hotel New Yorker, will be the focal point for an intensive selling drive by all the major disk companies and some standard publishers. Some 1,500 music retailers are expected to attend the conclave.

clave.

Although the plano and other musical instrument dealers dominate the formal sessions of the NAMM conventions, the disk companies will be prominently represented in the exhibit displays at the hotel. A big push will be made on the three-speed phonograph machines now being distributed by such major companies as RCA Victor, Columbia and Decca.

Exercise of the conclave is ex-tor, Columbia and Decca.

Keynote of the conclave is expected to be better merchandising on all levels of the music industry which has been slipping for the past couple of years. Convention speakers are expected to stress new ways of bringing customers into the stores, training of personnel and inventory management as part of an overall merchandising approach.

Despite the fact that the last ing approach.

Despite the fact that the last couple of NAMM conventions were not productive of any sizable orders, the diskers are hoping to use the conclave as a springboard out of the summer slump. Most of the major companies have come up with special deals and these will be ballyhooed among the NAMM retailers.

AFM VS. DISKER Only 1 Dissent to ASCAP Writer Payoff Plan as Opposition Blows Up

Berlin OK's 5G Nick

Berlin OK's 5G Nick Irving Berlin, who has been getting about $18,000 quarterly from ASCAP for the past year as a unique cleffer with 600,000 performances annually, is expected to drop around $5,000 annually under operation of the new 30-30-20-20 distribution system. Reduction will be caused by the fall in value of the individual performance point created by the acceleration in the promotion rate of all ASCAP writers.

The plan, however, was out-

The plan, however, was outlined to Berlin several weeks ago and he okayed it as "a contribution to the general welfare of ASCAP."

RCA Inks Lanza To No-Guarantee 5-Year Contract

Hollywood, July 22. Mario Lanza will stay in the RCA Victor talent stable under a new no-guarantee pact negotiated in Hollywood today (Tues.) by RCA veep Manie Sacks and Music Corp of America vice-prexy Lew Wasserof America vice-prexy Lew Wasser-man. Turning down Lanza's origi-nal demands for a huge guarantee, RCA will continue the tenor's 10% royalites on uncopyrighted tunes and 6% royalties on copyrighted songs.

Pact will run for five years and guarantees Lanza a minimum of 16 sides per year. All disks will be issued on Victor's $1.25 Red Seal label. Lanza, incidentally, accounted for 26% of Victor's Red Seal sales in 1951 with such hits as "Be My Love" and "Loveliest Night Of The Year," plus big album sales on "The Great Caruso."

Sacks meantime is due to arrive

Sacks, meantime, is due to arrive back in New York either Friday (25) or Monday (28).

KASSNER ABROAD TO PUSH 'BLONDES' SCORE

Ed Kassner, partner with Jack Robbins in J. J. Robbins & Sons, has left for London to set up a European drive on the score of "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes." The legit musical, whose score is pub-lished by the Robbins-Kassner firm, will open in London Sept. 15. Robbins will go to London for the Kassner is lining up four British subsids to work on the show score and will visit Germany, Sweden, Italy and France on a six-week Continental junket.

R & H, Menotti Nights To Wind Stadium Season

Wind Stadium Season
Final stanza of the Lewisohn Stadium Concerts in N.Y. next week (28-2), will feature the first Gian-Carlo Menotti Night, Thursday (31), with the fifth annual Rodgers-Hammerstein Night winding the season Saturday (2).
Marguerite Piazza, Claramae
Turner, Robert Weede and Thomas
Hayward will be soloists for the R&H night, with Salvatore Dell'Isola conducting, Elleen Farrell, Wesley Dalton and Rosemary Kuhlmann will be soloists for the Menotti evening, with Thomas Schippers batoning.

Santly to Simon Music

Harry Santly took over the post of general professional manager at George Simon Music last week. Santly, who had been a contactman with Simon several years ago, was recently on the plugging staff of Bourne Music.

against the new writer distribution plan of the American Society of Composers, Authors & Publishers Composers, Authors & Publishers dissolved at the New York membership meeting last week when payoff system was placed on the agenda for discussion. At the windup of the meeting, the opposition group dwindled down to one dissenting vote although about a half-dozen other writers previously voiced some objections. One factor in the weak showing of the opposition group was the absence of their ablest spokesman, Redd Evans, who left for Europe a few days before the conclave on a long-scheduled trip.

trip.

The bulk of the rank-and-file, however, indicated full support to the new system which has been devised to prevent any drastic income drops from year to year via the incorporation of an availability factor in the distribution machin-ery. It is estimated that well over 50% of all ASCAP writers will stand to gain from the new plan with those in the lower classifications getting the best break.

Both Stanley Adams and Mack David, chief authors of the 30-30-20-20 plan, were accolated by the ASCAP ranks for coming up with an equitable and workable system which goes into effect in October. It was pointed out that the benefits would be spread among the ranks from the expanding revenue of ASCAP.

Both H. J. Lengsfelder and Pinky Herman, who had been fighting against the ASCAP classifications committee headed by Adams, for the past two years, strongly favored the new plan. Some recommendations by Lengsfelder and Herman were embodied in the new system which represented a cross-section of ASCAP thinking on the payoff problem.

Some of the doubting writers, who were holding out for a 100% performance basis, were sold on the new plan after it was explained that the promotion rate under the 30-30-20-20 system would be virtually as fast. The small differential in acceleration between the old and new plans was tagged as "an insurance premium" against any drastic falls in income.

A proposal, sponsored by Pinky Herman, to count seniority years from the year a writer entered ASCAP is expected to be incorporated into the plan. Under the old system, the non-participating membership period, sometimes running to three or four years, was not counted in the seniority rating.

A meeting for Coast ASCAP cleffers will be held in Hollywood July 30. Adams, David L. Wolfe and other ASCAP exces will be on hand to explain the new distribution system.

Capitol's 'Open House' Fete On 10th Anni to Be Held In Scranton Plant

As part of its 10th anni celebration this month, Capitol Records is prepping a fete in Scranton, Pa., home of its pressing plant, Aug. 1. Diskery will hold "open house" at the plant with a special ceremony for its 106 10-year employes there. Cap brass will be repped by Glenn Wallichs, prez; Bill Fowler, v.p. in charge of sales; Bill Fowler, v.p. in charge of sales in charge of merchandising; Hal Cook, v.p. in charge of eastern promotion, and Porges Sandor, head of the international department.

ment.
Promotion campaign for the Scranton shindig will include full page ads in the Scranton dailies, Times and Tribune, and a cuffo platter to visitors at the plant of the company's first hit in 1942. Ella Mae Morse's "Cow Cow Boogie," backed by its 1952 best seller, Kay Starr's "Wheel of Fortune." Several of Cap's name artists will entertain at the plant.

H'w'H

A P 3 £

W.kee Chi.

Mpis. Det. MIDWEST Ome-he Mple. Det

Ven. O ů Č 4 1

Ċ,

SOUTH Nov-for N.O. zeles

4 5

St. L. L'ville

* # $, $, $, $ 11 1 to 12 1 5

EAST Hert ford D.C.

7 E

14 2 E

FAR WEST

ROHAU

KEMB

HOWKEN

Dick Gilbert-KTYL

COPYTISH Variety, Inc. All Eights Reserved.

op Record

AS POLLED VIA LEADING U. S. DISK JOCKEYS

); X		SNIM:
01 A 10	Cr 17	in popularity of 10 points oint. Cities be picture of EVDING II	ENDING JOLI 13	This compilation is designed to indicate those records rising in popularity as well as those on top. Retings are computed on the basis of 10 points for a No. 1 mention. 9 for a No. 2 and so on down to one point. Cities and jockels will vary week to week to present a comprehensive picture of men	M CCD	designed to indicate p. Ratings are co 9 for a No. 2 and week to week to p
Washington of the state of the		This compilation is decay well as those on top. for a No. 1 mention, 9 and jockens will pary we
1	7.	for and

Ž	Eq Bellà—KEKE	1	: -	:	c	-	:	4	ع م	1 2	:	:	:	:	: :	:	:				: :	: :	:		:	: :	:	:	: :	:	:	:	: :	:	:	:	: :	:	:	:	: :	:	: :
e:	Les Malloy—KYA		4	:	:	-	:	:	:	: :	:	2		:	10	3	:	:	:	5	: ~	:	:	:		: :	:	:		1		:	: :	:	:	٥	: :	:	:	:	: :
*	Ray Porkins—KFEL	6	,	63	65	2	:	:	٥	: :	101	-	:	: :	: :		:	:	:		: 4	:		:	:	: :	:	:	: ∞	:		:	: :	:	:	:	: :
Ě	Сіі Ненга—кійс	co	, -	:	4	9	2	22	: 0		-			: :	4				6	:	: :	:			:	: :	:		: :			:	:		:	:	::				: :
į	Mal Tate—WBKB-TV	-	ļ	:	2	:	:	4		: :	:	-	وا	:	6	:	:	:	.:		:	2			:	: :		:	: :	. :		:	: -:	.:		:	: :				: :
2	Rop Parsen—WEMP	-	:	: :	:		-	2	4, 6		S.	:	:	. 67	:		:	:	:	:	: ;	:	:	ا نا:	6	: :		:	: :	:							: :	10		:	: :
	Bob Murphy—Wibic	:	:	:	:	:	:	:		00	:		:		:	:	:		:		: :	:	:	:	:	: :	$ \cdot $	-	:			. 6		4		1:	: :			:	: :	:
S de	Jack Thayer—WLOL	4	20	:	6	2	67	:	م¦.«	:		:	:	: 6	:	:	:		:		: :	:	اف	2	:	: :			100	:				$ \cdot $:	. :		:	:	: :	:	: :
1	Sandy Jackson—ROWH	-	000	:	2	:			: 0	. :	6		:	: :	:	:		:	:	٥	: :	10				: :	2	:	$\cdot \cdot$: :	:				. :		°:		: :	:	: :
o E	Larry Borwnell-WHHH	9	-	m	2	2		:	. ∞	.:	:	4		: :	:	:	:	:	:		: :	:			:	: :			: :			: :	:				:		:	:	: :	$ \cdot $
3	MATW—HidiviuM oot	m	:	5	1	a		9	. 6	:	:		: -	21	:			:			: :	:		»	: :	:		:	: :			: :	:				: :		:	:	$ \cdot $
ě	Bed Watson—WSB	:	က	-		2	:	٠,		: :		2	5	: :	:		9	:	:	: 4	٠ :	:		:		:	10		: :			: :					: l :
إن	Jim Lantz—KCMO	-	ω	:	65	4	:	۰,	. c	:	10	:	:	: :	:	2		:	:	:	1	:			: :	:			: :			: :
š	Dave Walshak—KOTI	:	m	:	-		7	:	: اه	: :	10			: :	:		:	:	: .	٠	, :			:	. :	:		-	: :	ا. ا		$\cdot \cdot$					4
0	UZUW-noiliman don	:	67	-	22		-	: ,	. :	60	:	4	:	: :	:			:	:	:	: :		: 1	20					: ∞
¥	Roger Clark—WNOR	-	ا :	 :	:	:	:	77	: :					~		:	1:	9	:	:	: :				: :	6			ا.	.		: l :		2		4				0 -
	John Wrisley—WSAV	+	2	-	:	2	20	,,					: ~	:	:	:	:	: 2	3		: :	:		:	: اه	:			: :	9		: :
	John Gale—WINN	:	:		10	4	2	:	: 0	7		:	ام	:	:		:	»	:		: :	:		:	. .	:		:	: :		: 6	· :				: :					6		7.00
7	Nord Moore—KXLW	н	:	60	:	:	:	2 2	. L	. :	7	:	: 6	4		:		:	:	: ,	: :	:	:	:	: :	:	:	0	: :	:		: :				: :					. 6		7.00
5	ріск зіцігр—мово	н	-	2	:	0	20	:	: :		5	:	اه	:	:	:	:	-	:	: :	: :	4		\cdot	: :	:		:	: :	:		: :	:			: :				. .	: 02		1 1
2	Lou German—WOTW	:	:			:	:	:	: :	33		:	-	:	.:	:	:		*	: :	: :	:	:	:	: :	:	;	•	:		. .	:	:	:		: :		6	2	: :		: 4	₹ ::
erior	ed Meath—Whec	П	9	67	9	2	20	:	: :	:	6	9	: «	:	4	:	:	:	:	: :	: :	:		:	: :	:	:	: :	:	:	: : :	: :	:			: :				: :			: :5
į	127 McMaster—WMEX	:	-	:	:	:	:	41	: ∞	:	7.	.:	: 0	:	:		:	, 	:	: :	: :	:		:	: :	:		: :	:	:	: :	:	.			: :				: :			Varie
U.	Jerly Strong—WMAL	,-1	2	:	-	5	2	: 9	· :	:	8		:	:		4	:		:	: :	: :	:	:	: =	:	:		: :	6	:	: :	:	:	:		:				.l.			yTight
	DITW-15lliM 220M	г	:	62	7	4		:	: :	:		:	۱,	:	:	$ \cdot $:	: -	a	: .	, ;		:	:	: :	:	2	: :		:	: :	:				: :				: :		9	. io
Ė	Alan Owen-WMID	2	6	ч	:	:	:	:	: :	:	:	:	: ا•	:			ro.	:	:	: :	: :		:	: 4	· :			: :			: :	:	:	٠:	ء					: :
2	Buddy Deane—WITH	н	:	10	:	ŀ	41 0	7	: :	:	:	-	: :	:	8	:	8	:	:	: 9	:	:	:	:	: :			: :		:	: :	:	:							: 2			6
ž	Jack Lacy—Wins	٦.	:	:		١.١		- 1	: :		:	:	:	:	:	1	-	٥	-	: :	: :	6	:	:	: :	3	:	: :		:	: :				: :	:			: :			: ::
_		heart			Half As Much					Way.			time.	End.	Walkin' Baby Back Home.														:			Way.			:				Tree
•	S Areas	Sweet		t	:				4	g the			o H	f of	ck H							Take My Heart	ther.		I Remember' When		H.			.		That		Thut Went to Take Change		1		ere	You"
	Oppula Socture Sicture	sehn		Hea	сћ				2	Alon			S To	dunit	by Ba	Неал	es B		- 1	rsehn		art	Wea	catio	W	Tim.	Misso in	ewsb			2	Be,	5	Thos	Guy	Zon	Hear	ere H	Love Cove		hile	Plun	Off.
	Song Song	leder	18	F My	S Mu	f Fire	nrs.		A-Me	vhere		Tango	9	s Be	1, Ba	n My	g G	٠.۱	* *	Viede	ours	fy He	nelon	V.	embe	Goog	to to	See N	nsh	ythin.	COSSA	ant T	S	Cont	Is a	Littl	My	סמו א	h "I	brain	1 AW	Plank	zsk Is
Ì	rising to one of the party of t	Aut' W	Selica	Here	HeF.	Cise o	H	over	30tch	Some	faybe	Sine.	8 5	Phis	∦alki	lere i	E Z	OSea	A III	, and	H,	ake 1	Watermelo	trang	Rem	ave a	/allicin	ennes	ugarb	Q P	una J	's Me	Neve	5 151	Guy	ng a	ere ir	T US	n'near	Scatterbrain	nce ii	ink 1	pe W.
1	NE ecords on the comp to comp				:				Botch-A-Me		-				-						Ī		م احم	1 0	Ī	E .		F	S	m		Ť	" 	-	¥	Zi	Ħ.	: *	15	Š	0 5	i A	F
	Ose re and do do do do	Vera Lynn London London Auf Wiedersehn Sweetheart.	Percy Faith Columbia Delicado	Al MartinoBBS	ClooneyColumbia	Georgia GibbsMercuryKiss of Fire	Coral Fm Yours	Perry Lee-G. Jenkins. Decca Lover	bia	Nat (King) ColeCapitol Somewhere Along the Way.	VictorMaybe	Leroy AndersonDeccaBlue Tango	Paul-Ford Capitol The Good Old Summertime	Conell Coral This Is Beginning of End.		Tony Bennett Columbia Here in My Heart	Ray Anthony Capitol As Time Goes By	High Winterholter Wieter		HowardMercury Auf Wiedersehn	Eddie FisherVictorYm Yours	_:	Watermelon Weather	Valli Victor Strange Sensation		bia	Capitol 7'm Confecting	oja	oja		ia				la.		y	W.G.W If Someone Hold not and	- Fe				g.
į	ENI ate thos comput d so out present	Lond	Colun	BBS.	Colum	Merci	Cora	Decca	Rosemary ClooneyColumbia	Capito	Victor	Decca	Janite	Coral	Nat (King) Cole Capitol.	Jolum	Sapito	Mercu	1010	Tercu	'ictor	apito	ictor	ictor	ictor	mn\o;	olum	olum	olum	lercui	olumi	oral.	BS:	erca.	olumi	apitol	ercur	וכנסד. היים	niver	apitol	ercur	ecca.	yram
-	indic indic i. 2 are resk to							. S																					ne. C	2	O	0	m f] ≥	0	0	2	- ≥	P	0	Ξ (C	1
	ned to Rating a No to to to to				oney.			Jenki	1e7.			3			و			1487											ie La
	design p. p. p. y. y. y. y. y. regin	1	4	90	Clo	Gibbs	Don Cornell	٥	Clool	Cole	er.	derso	Sagir	H	c) Co	nett.	пy	tarh,		/ard	ler.		Er		er	iett	ye.	tra .	Frank	2	tra.	Smon		r.		onnel	i i	han		13	d t	erson	ta.
1	tion is to	Lyn	V Fa	Marti	Rosemary	gia	S	y Le	mary	(King	Como-Fisher	y An	Paul-Ford	Cone	(Kin	Ben	Anthe	Fic Damone	į.	Hoy	Fisl	artino	Tave I	Valli	Fish	Ben	Ford	Sina	Day-	HOW	Sina	y De	our L	How	Day.	0,0	Fish.	Vaug	Rain	ntho	Page	And	Cos
	mpilati fhose menti will f the		Perc	¥	Rose	Geor	Don	Pegs	Rose	Nat	Com	Lero	Paul	Don	Nat	Tony	Ray	Y 1C L	Don Cornell Core Core	Eddy	Eddie	Al MartinoCapitol	Como-Fisher	June	Eddie FisherVictor	Tony BennettColumbia Have a Good Time	Sammy KayeColumbiaWalkin' to Missouri Paul-Ford Capitol	Frank Sinatra Columbia Tennessee Newsboy.	Doris Day-Frankie Laine. Columbia Sugarbush	Eduy Howard Mercury Be Anything Cindy Lord	Frank SinatraColumbiaLuna Rossa	Johnny DesmondCoralIt's Meant To Be That Way	Al Martino BBS I Never Cared	Eddie Howard. Mercury	Doris DayColumbia A Guy Is a Guy	Helen O'Connell Capitol Zing a Little Zong	Vic Damone	Sarah Vaughan M.C.M If Someone Hod main	Lorry Raine	Ray AnthonyCapitol	Patti PageMercuryOnce in Awhile	Leroy	Buddy Costa
	The compilation is designed to indicate those records rising in por well as those on top. Ratings are computed on the basis of 10 or a No. 1 mention. 9 for a No. 2 and so on down to one point, and jookeys will vary uveek to uvek to present a comprehensive pich sectors of the country regionally. Pos. No. 1 Pos. No. 1 Ratin weeks Ashist weeks Label Song	9	91.	F	12	15	14	» ;	1	6	-	88	4 10		41			۰ ۰				1	4		2]	, i	7 8						2 -					1 00	11			3	4
1		2	-	60	4	2		2	10	21	13	=	12	15	19.	25	4	: 7	1			31	30	27	41		: 27			2 :		: 1			49 2	:		:		: 6	: 21		62
	Pos.	Н	63	62	4	ro	0	- 0	0	10	11	22	3	12		11			20 B		m		92	1-4	1 1	29A	290	1 1	33A	330	33D 37		39 A	39B		- 1	2 E	1			47C	470	1
	•																							•				•				-			- 451 t					•	•	7	1

WITH 4 "OUT OF THIS WORLD" SIDES THAT YOU'LL BE HEARING PLENTY FROM .

ODETOWN STOPIST DOWN!
FIFER RELAXITHINK!

a victor

69

Wish You Were Here' Score Click Erases 3-Yr. Showtune Oblivion

a tune from a Broadway legit musical is stepping out as a potent pop entry. Although the title song from the legituner, "Wish You Were Here," has been on the market less than a month, it's already showing signs of reversing the showtune anathema that's been plaguing the market. The clicko indications of "Here" is giving tradesters an optimistic outlook for the flock of musical show scores that are headed for Broadway in the upcoming season.

way in the upcoming season.

Tune, which was penned by Harold J. Rome, is racking up strong sales in both the record and sheet market. Waxings already on release are Eddle Fisher, RCA Victor; Fran Warren, M-G-M; Jane Froman, Capitol; and Guy Lombardo, Decca. Chappell is publishing the score.

Other time from the country of the strong transfer ing the score.

Other tune from the same show, "Where Did The Night Go." also is showing up as a click potential. Tune's been cut by Tony Martin for Victor and the new Toni Arden-Jan Arden team for Columbla. The Victor original cast album was released early this week and will be oushed by an NBC plugging drive. Victor has a $20,000 investment in the show.

HANDY SUES CARNIVAL IN LICENSING ACTION

Albany, July 22.

W. C. Handy and the New World
Music Corp. filed a suit in Utica Federal Court Friday (18) against the James E. Strates Show, Inc., and for an injunction and ninimum damages of $250 for alleged unauthorized use of "The St. Louis Blues" in carnival performances
June 4 outside Albany and July
14-19 in Watertown.

The action is based on the con-

Olman's Coast 0.0.

Hollywood, July 23.

Abe Olman has arrived for a periodic huddle with Metro and 20th-Fox studio music execs in connection with their forthcoming film scores.

General manager of the "Big 3" (Robbins-Feist-Miller) has publishing exclusivity on these studios filmusicals.

Hit By Exodus, Kaye Will Reorganize Band For Fall 1-Niter Tour

For Fall 1-Niter Tour

Sammy Kaye, who lost the major portion of his orch a couple of weeks ago when 10 sidemen walked out to form their, own outfit, will organize a new hand within the next month. Music Corp. of America, Kaye's agency, is currently lining up a two-month one-niter tour for the band. The trek is expected to teeoff in October.

Kaye will build the new crew around the four sidemen who didn't go along in the mass exodus. They are Lloyd Strang, trombone; Bob Bonsang, trumpet; Bob Kasba, plano, and Ernle Ardie, guitar. George Winslow remains as arranger. Warbler Barbara Benson will be replaced for the fall tour since she's leaving the band next month to be married.

The two-month trek will be followed by a New York hotel date which has not yet been set. Hotel Astor wanted Kaye to come in as a replacemen for the "Grand Ole Opry" last month but Kaye turned the date down. Spot booked Carmen Cavallaro but is still interested in getting Kaye for late fall.

Rise Stevens, Met Opera mezzo-

14-19 in Watertown.

The action is based on the contention that the Strates Shows used the song for profit and without authorization.

Rise Stevens, Met Opera mezzosoprano, will be guest star of the 23rd annual Chicagoland Music Festival, at Soldiers' Field, Chi., Aug. 23.

Barbara Ruick

SERENADE TO A LEMONADE

DELISHIOUS

MGM11279-78 rpm K11279---45 rpm

RETAIL DISK BEST SELLERS

Stores

VARIETY

Survey of retail disk best sellers, based on reports obtained from leading stores in 12 cities and showing comparative sales rating for this and last week.

National

Week Ending July 19

This Last wk. wk. Artist, Label, Title

City-(Jenkins Music)

VERA LYNN (London)
"Auf Wiederschn"—1227 "Auf Wiederschn"—1227....

PERCY FAITH (Columbia)
"Delicado"—39708....

ROSEMARY CLOONEY (Col.)
"Half As Much"—39710..... 9 8 3 5 3 5 1 3 "Haif As Much"—39740.....
ROSEMARY CLOONEY (Col.)
"Botch-A-Me"—39767
AL MARTINO (BBS)
"Here In My Heart"—101....

"Here In My Heart"—101.

JOHNNY RAY (Columbia)
"Walkin' My Baby Home"—39750.

COMO-FISHER (Victor)
"Maybe"—20-4744

LEROY ANDERSON (Decca)
"Blue Tango"—40220.....

TONY MARTIN (Victor)
"Kiss of Fire"—20-4671....
EDDIE EISHER (Victor)

"Kiss of Fire"—20-4671.
EDDIE FISHER (Victor)
"I'm Yours"—20-4680... 9B 10 "I'm Yours"—20-4080.

GEORGIA GIBBS (Mercury)
"Kiss of Fire"—5823....

EDDIE FISHER (Victor)
"Wish You Were Here"—20-4

PEGGY LEE (Decca)
"Lover"—28215 "Lover"—28213 NAT COLE (Capitol) "Walkin' Baby Back Home"—2130

FRANKIE LAINE (Columbia)
"High Noon"—39770.

NAT COLE (Capitol)
"Somewhere Along Way"—2069.

HUGO WINTERHALTER (Victor)

TONY BENNETT (Columbia)

Here In My Heart—39745....
BEN LIGHT (Capitol)
"Perfidia"—2023.... JOHNNY RAY (Columbia)
"All of Me"—39788.....

BIG BAND BASH WITH A SONG IN SINGIN' IN THE AMERICÂN IN RAIN FIVE TOP Billy May Jane Froman Hollywood Cast Capitol ALBUMS

PARIS
Hellywood Cast
M-G-M
E-93 ALBUM Columbia Capitol BDN-309 KDF-309 L-309 M-G-M M-G-M-113 K-113 E-113 CO-6199 KCF-329 DCN-329 C2-88 L-329

5.5 Pcl. Less Spent

Continued from page 2 :

industry last year was estimated at $882,000,000, an increase of $30,000,000 over previous year and approximately same as 1949. Wages and salaries paid by the industry totaled $668,000,000, a slight increase over 1950.

(National income is defined in survey as "aggregate earnings of labor and property which arise from current production of goods and services." It includes compensation of employees and profits of enterprises.)

enterprises.)

National income of radio and TV broadcasting industry in 1951 was estimated at $377,000,000. This was an increase of $78,000,000 over 1950, which in turn was $37,000,000 greater than 1949. Growth of TV was also reflected in payroll of the broadcasting industry, which totaled $295,000,000 last year, compared with $249,000,000 in 1950 and $219,000,000 in 1949.

Earnings (before taxes) of cor-

Earnings (before taxes) of corporations in the picture industry were estimated at $131,000,000, a gain of $6,000,000 over 1950, but

Pic Divvies Off

Pic Divvies Off

Washington, July 22.

Dividends paid out in June by film industry corporations dropped by approximately onefifth from the same month of last year, according to the Department of Commerce. Reporting companies paid out $3,755,000 compared to $4,671,000 a year ago.

For the first half of 1952, dividends totaled $13,656,000 as against $15,063,000 in the same period of 1951,

$14,000,000 under 1949. Earnings of unincorporated (sole proprieor unincorporated (sole proprietorships, partnerships) motion pleture enterprises totaled $43,000,000, a slight decline from 1950, and $1,500,000 under 1949.

Corporate income after taxes of motion picture industry totaled $$4,000,000 last year, a loss of $$11,000,000 from 1950 and a decline of $25,000,000 from 1940. Corporate income of radio and TV broadcasting industry last year was $25,000,000, which was $7,000,000 greater than 1950 and $8,000,000 higher than 1949. Corporate income after taxes of

Corporate dividend payments by Corporate dividend payments by motion picture industry totaled $53,000,000 as compared with $56,000,000 in 1950 and $60,000,000. Dividends paid out by broadcasting corporations totaled $9,000,000, same as 1950, and $1,000,000 greater than 1949. Undistributed income of motion picture corporations totaled $1,000,000 last year as compared to $9,000,000 in 1950 and $19,000,000 in 1949. Undistributed income of broadcasting corporations totaled $16,000,000 last year as compared to $9,000,000 in 1950 and 1949.

JOHNNIE RAY

Picture industry had 219,000 fulltime employees last year, 5,000 less than in 1950. Average annual earnings, however, were greater last year—$3,050 as against $2,911 in 1950.

Employment in broadcasting increased from 49,000 fulltime workers in 1949 to 53,000 in 1950 to 57,000 last year. Average annual earnings likewise increased from $4,469 to $4,698 to $5,175.

ARRANGING

Composition — Orchestrations
Audition Records

JACK TELLER, Box 284
17 Loxington Ave., New York 10, N. Y.
39 Auburn Read, W. Hartfard 7, Cenn.

Another BMI Pin-Up Hit!

VANESSA

Published by Meridian

Recorded by

Hugo Winterhalter (Victor) David Rose (MGM)

Exclusively Licensed by BMI

BROADCAST MUSIC INC. 580 FIFTH AVENUE

Jocks, Jukes and Disks

ner contributes the vocal. It's juke fare.

18 Crosby - Andrews Sisters:
SI-SI Ya In Bahia". The Live

19 Checal. Bing Crosby
19 English and produces

20 English and pro

for easy listening. Kenny piece of material for his styling for contributes the vocal. It's juge fare.

Groshy - Andrews Sisters:

Groshy - Andrews Sisters:

Groshy - Andrews Sisters:

Groshy - Andrews Sisters:

Groshy - Groshy

entry.

Lily Ann Carol: "It's Been So Long" "I Don't Know Any Better" (Victor). Lily Ann Carol raises her platter stock with this rendition of the standard, "It's Been So Long." She attacks the number with a vigorous but capitivating styling. Blending of brassy voice and exciting orch backing is pegged for current market and could take off. Better" is a slower paced number in which the blues mood is projected solidly by her hard hitting pipes.

is more outstanding than the ral, John Scott Trotter backs fully.

gle MacKenzie: "Adios"in', You Can't Love Two'
in',
Ralph Flanagan has a colorful side in "Espanharlem" (Victor) . . . Camarata's conception of "Mandalino - Mandalino" on th Decca label is sock juke fare . . "Mandalino - Mandalino" on the Decca label is sock juke fare. Lawrence Welk orch registers well on "Padam, Padam" (Coral). Ralph Marterie's workover of the oldie, "Peanut Vendor," for Mercury should keep the number moving in the coinboxes for some time to come . . Coleman Hawkins has an okay slice in "Spellbound" (Decca). . . Mills Bros. could score with their rendition of "Blue and Sentimental" on the same label . . . Jimmy Palmer orch hits pleasantly with "Wait "Til the Sun Shines Nellie" (Mercury) . Sy Oliver's "Slick Chick" packs plenty of drive on Decca . . . Joan Shaw moans out a fair blues side in "Troubles" (Coral) . . Bob Anthony's rendition of "Should You Forsake Me" could be another winner for the indie Derby label . . . Arthur Fieldef and the Boston Pops orch have a good commercial side in "Wing Ding" (Victor). Standout folk, western, religious, blues, rhythm, etc.: Hank Williams, "Jambalaya" (M-G-M) . . Le Fexre Trio, "When I've Gone the Last Mile of the Way" (Bibletone) . . Ernest Tubb, "So Many Times" (Decca) . . Dude Martin, "Tal Love a Home" (Mercury) . Viin Bruec, "I Trusted You" (Columbia)

... Ernest Tubb, "So Many Times" (Decca) ... Dude Martin, "I'd Love a Home" (Mercury) ... Vin
Bruce, "I Trusted You" (Columbia)
... Georgie's Tavern Band, "One Dollar-Polka" (Decca) ... Johnny
Hicks, "My Next Gal" (Columbia)
Evangelistic Trio, "Bound for the Kingdom" (Bibletone) ... Johnny
Otis, "Baby Baby Blues" (Mercury)
... Spedy West-Jimmy Bryant,
"Midnight Ramble" (Capitol).

Australia's Top Disks

Sydney, July 16. Wheel of Fortune, Kay Starr

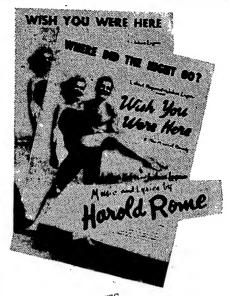

(Capitol). Perfidia, Ben Light (Capitol). Tell Me Why, Eddie Fisher (HMV).

Broken Hearted, Johnnie Ray (Col.)

Bermuda, Bell Sisters (HMV). Cry, Johnnie Ray (Col.) Any Time, Fisher (HMV).

Tulips & Heather, Perry Como (HMV).

Turn Back Hands of Time, Fisher (HMV). Please, Mr. Sun, Johnnie

THE NEW YORK TIMES THE NEW YORK TIMES

Mr. Rome's long score includes were good romantic music, like some good romantic music, like some good romantic music, like you were Here, certain in the Light, rantastic where Did the dividuals, and some amusing
dividuals, and some amusing like and some amusing noigh like soots arkinson
"Don Jose."

By ROOKS ATKINSON

DAILY NEWS Good Sonry That Bounce

The songs, by Harold Rome, are excellent, be they love ballads or satirical to they love ballads or opening numbers love ballads or song, it is the funny a man who can those rare karefree. Yet cally and musical phrase both ingeniated unusual phrase both ingeniated unusual phrase lots the funny sammers of the sa Good Song That Bounce By JOHN CHAPMAN

VARIETY

Rome's songs have more dimension and vitality than any show score he has done, even topping "Call Me Mister" in this regard. Among the impressive lineup, the standard pops are likely to be "Goodbye Love," "Sho pp in g. Around," "Could Be," "Where Did the Night Go?," "They Won't Know Me," "Summer Afternoon," "Don Jose" (from Far Rockaway) and the title tune, and there are apt show numbers in "Camp Karefree," "Social Director," "Mix and Mingle," "Certain Individuals," "Relax" and "Flattery,"

BROOKLYN EAGLE

Harold Rome, working at the top of his form as both tune-master and lyricist, has written a superior score in various moods.

By LOUIS SHEAFFER

A. 10

Walter Winchell

Free Ice Cold Lemonade: Anybody thrushing "Wish You Were Here" from the new show by that name . . .

WISH YOU WERE HERE

EDDIE FISHER RCA Victor (20-4830)

GUY LOMBARDO Decca (28-308)

FRAN WARREN MGM (11270-B)

JANE FROMAN Capitol (2154)

WHERE DID THE NIGHT GO

TONI and JAN ARDEN Columbia (39-766)

TONY MARTIN RCA Victor (20-4758)

WISH YOU WERE HERE (Album)

featuring the ORIGINAL CAST RCA Victor

CHAPPELL & Co. Inc.

RKO Building, Rockefeller Center, New York 20, New York

ERCURY ARTIST

th his Orchestra irrently on tour the midwest eaking all cords

WEDERSEHN,

p Hit

WEETHEART"

On the Upbeat

New York

weeks at Lakeside, Denver, Aug. 7
Stan Kenton's repeat at Blue
Note starts Aug. 29 for two frames Hal McIntyre Inked for month's stay at the Roosevelt.
New Orleans, beginning Aug. 21
Michigan State Kair Aug. 29 through Sept. 1 has booked Les Paul & Mary Ford and Al Martino for musical headliners
Raiph
Marterie foilows Woody Herman into Lakeside Aug. 26.
Freddie Williamson set some more dates for Mugrsy Spanier, Circle "("Boys, Tiny Hill and Danny O'Neil on World Transcriptions — Connie Boswell set for the Flamingo, Las Vegas, Aug. 21
Richard Hayes date at Moe's
Main Street, Cleveland, changed to Aug. 11 with Billy Shepard coming in Aug. 4 — Sportsmen Quartet invades midwest with a string of bookings, the Illinois State Fair Aug. 16 and 17 starting off the dates. They play Skyway Club, Cleevland, Aug. 18-23 and then do the Indiana State Fair Aug. 28-31.
Group then does two weeks at the Jung Hotel, New Orleans, Sept. 3.

Pittsburgh

at the Copacabana, Pittsburgh, Monday (21) . . Pete Kameron, Folkways Music topper and manager of the Weavers, back from a five-week European trek yesterday (Tues.).

Chicago

Bert Weiner joined the Music Corp. of America booking staff... Jaurham Monroe plays Lions Clubs' charity show at Forbes Field tomorrow and Friday (24-25)... Jan Gardens, Louisville, Aug. 18 Johnny Marine as maestro of orch that plays Jackie Heller's weekly quarter-hour teevee program on WDTV...New Ernie Rudy (Ernie Rudisili) orch, made up of 10 of Sammy Kaye's old sidemen, opened two-week stand at Bill Green's Monday (21)...Don McGovern on organ now doubling between 212 Oliver and Oliver Building Restaurant, both under the same management...Ross Hall's band had its option lifted at Monte Carlo untill Oct. 1...Frank Apter taking time off from his real estate-insurance business to play first violin in Civic Light Opera Association's orch, conducted by Karl Kritz, for outdoor opera season at Pitt Stadium.

Kansas City

Kansas City

Ralph Marterle orch played their first date in this area at the Platom Fallroom July 19 to a turnout which topped expectations for a new band. Marterle crew followed up with one-nighters in Iowa and midwest, has a week coming up at Peony Park, Omaha, working to a fall opening on the Coast ... Clyde McCoy orch set for a fortnight at Claridge, Memphis, and then comes to Terrace Grill of Hotel Muchlebach for three weeks opening Aug. 20 ... Tommy Cunningham set by McConkey agency for Muchlebach for three weeks opening July 30, following Sherman Hayes now current in the spot. Charille Parker crew at Tootie's Mayfair out east in Jackson County.

Chautaugua Institute Opens Major Sked Of Concerts, Operas, Plays

Buffalo, July 22,

With widespread public attention focused on the myriad of straw-hats and summer symphony dells as well as on the numerous con-

focused on the myriad of strawhats and summer symphony delis as well as on the numerous concert and other musical projects such as Berkshire, Interlaken and others operating across the country, Chautauqua, N. Y., the grandpappy of all of this type of entertainment, seems to have been largely overlooked. The Chautauqua Institute, located on the shores of Lake Chautauqua, 70 miles south of here, in inaugurating its 79th annual season recently, is offering one of the heaviest schedules in its history for its current session ending August 24.

Besides scores of educational, social, religious, lectures and other general cultural activities, Chautauqua will present eight weeks of symphonic and other musical events and operatic and dramatic productions. The musical programs include weekly pops as well as full scale symphonic concerts by the Chautauqua Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Franco Autori and with Mischa Mischakoff as concert master, together with concerts by the Student Symphony Orchestra, and vocal and instrumental musical offerings by guest stars including Sydney Foster, Patricia Bybell, Calvin Harris, Rose Bampton, Marjorie Gordon, Nino Luciano, Eugene List, Carroll Glenn, Jean Geis, Frederick Wilkins, Richard Nass, Dimitri Mitropoulos, Ruben Varga, Heidi Krall, Laszlo Vargo, Ruth Freeman, Marjorie Prescott, Jane Davis, Frances Lehnert, Hugh Thompson, Leonard Shure, Barbara Steinbach, Arno Mariotti, Margarita Zambrana, Leon Rudin and Nathan Gordon.

Operas include "The Gondoliers," "La Traviata," "Martina," "Lucia di Lammermoor" "Jumpier"

Gordon.
Operas include "The Gondoliers," "La Traviata," "Martha,"
"Lucia di Lammermoor," "Jumping Frog of Calaveras County," "Amahl and the Night Visitors," and "Carmen."

and "Carmen."

Dramatic productions which are under the aegis of the Cleveland, Playhouse group are "Winslow Boy," "Curious Savage," "Yes M'Lord," "Dream Girl," "Second Threshold' and "Velvet Glove."

B'nai B'rith Lodge Sets 8th Gershwin Memorial

Victory Lodge of B'nai B'rith has opened its eighth annual George Gershwin Memorial Contest, which offers a first prize of $1,000 for the best composition. Contest is open to all composers under 30, with compositions limited to those 15 minutes or shorter.

compositions limited to those 15 minutes or shorter.
Dimitri Mitropoulos, N. Y. Philharmonic Symphony conductor, will again serve as honorary chairman of the judges' committee, while Dr. Carleton Sprague Smith, of the N. Y. Public Library, will again be chairman. Chappell Music will place the winning entry in its rental library and the N. Y. Philharmonic will perform the piece.

Decca Ups Paul Cohen

Under Decca's new artists and repertoire setup, Paul Cohen has been upped to assistant to new a&r chief Jimmy Hilliard, but will also continue to handle folk and west-ern recording assignments with Eddle Kissack.

Cohen left for Nashville "last week to supervise sessions with Rex Allen, Decca oatune vocalist who planed in from the Coast.

CAN. LABEL TO RELEASE LEN SMITH BAND DISKS

Detroit, July 22.
Gordon V. Thompson, Ltd., of Toronto, has signed a contract with

Bandland, Inc., Detroit, to press and distribute recent recordings of the Leonard Smith Concert Band under their Gavotte label through-out Canada.

Under the direction of Smith, a cornetist, the band now is engaged in summer concerts at Detroits Belle Isle Park with Sunday programs picked up by WXYZ-TV.

Welk Nets $5,900 In S. D. One-Nighter

San Diego, July 22.

Postwar record for a one-night stand was set at the Mission Beach Ballroom here by the Law-rence Welk orch which pulled a total of 5,635 paying customers at $1.75 apiece.

Welk exited with $5,900 on a $1,500 guarantee against a 60% deal.

Vic McAlpin to Operate Richmond's Alfalfa Firm

Howie Richmond, who recently formed a new subsid, Melody Trails, to publish country songs exclusively, will headquarter the firm in Nashville, Tenn. Tunesmith Vic McAlpin will head the Nashville exerction. ville operation.

Firm will cover the Atlanta-Dal-las-Nashville axis.

U.S.-Franco Pub In Hassle Ove Royalty Set

With pickups of foreign is by U.S. firms becoming increase ly risky, American publishers ly risky, American publishers currently facing an additional stacle erected by the French sic industry. In addition to ing for substantial advances, French publishers recently a that only earnings on sheet a could be applied against the vances.

vances.

Squawks from U.S. publis resulted in the French publis through their collection age the Bureau Internationale D tion Mechanique (BIEM), ag to permit the U.S. publisher select one platter on which royalties could be deducted i the advance. U.S. pubs, how are still insisting that all rei from mechanicals be consider on the same footing as sheet sic royalties.

American publishers point

American publishers point that unless they get a tremen click out. of a French tune, stand to lose money. Foreign call for 50% of mechanicals the original publisher plus a per age to the English lyricist. U.S. publisher thereby gets; one-third of what he would ear an American time. an American tune.

American and French publicate been holding informal recently with the aim of cleup the royalty setup as it all the advances.

Monroe's 1-Niters

Vaughn Monroe's orch will s through eight eastern and western states on its August st ule of one-nighters, winding t Asbury Park, N. J., Aug. 30-3

Monroe will follow immedi with a one-month stand at the light Roof of the Waldorf-As N. Y.

ROBERT Q. LEWI

ROBERT'S QUTIES
ORCHESTRA Conducted by Leroy HOLMES

11280-A ON A SUNDAY BY THE SEA
(From the Musical Production "High Button Shoes")

11280-B ZING A LITTLE ZONG
(From the Paramount Film "Just For You")

M-G-M RECORDS

EARTHSHAKING NEWS

THIS IS WHAT REALLY ROCKED LOS ANGELES

ANTHONY

The Number One Orchestra in the Land

Currently

HOLLYWOOD PALLADIUM

ESTABLISHED 2 POSTWAR ATTENDANCE RECORDS

HERE ARE THE FACTS

RAY ANTHONY . . . 7,007--18,703

BAND NO. 2 6,283-17,564

BAND NO. 3 6,088--17,378

Direction

Personal Management FRED BENSON

8 ő

RETAIL SHEET BEST SELLERS

VARIETY

Survey of retail sheet music sales, based on reports obtained from leading stores in 12 cities and showing comparative sales rating for this and last week.

Week Ending

	tionai atin g	July 19	York,	go, C	n, H. 1	ester, 1	eland, C	eapolis	sas City	Indianapolis	2, A. E	Louis, S	1.3	e, Capi	P O 1
Thi:	k Last	Title 2nd Publisher	New	Chica	Boston	Rochester	Cleve	Minn	Kans	India	Omaha	St. L	San A	. 1 23	N T S
1	2	"Auf Wiedersehn" (Hill-R)	1	1	1	1	1	4	5	•••	1	10	1	5	90
2	1	"Kiss of Fire" (Duchess)	3	3	2	9	2	••	4	2	9	1	_2-	-6-	⁻⁷⁸
3	4	"Blue Tango" (Mills)	4	• 4	5	5	3		1'	4	5'	2	6 _	9	73
. 4	6	"Walkin' My Baby Home" (D.B.H.)	,5	8		2	8	1	6	5	10	4	. 5	2	64
5	3	"I'm Yours" (Algonquin)	8	2	10	٠,	5	٠.	7	1	4	3		10	57
6.	. 8	"Half As Much" (Acuff-R.)	6	6		В	7	5	2	6	8		7	_1_	56
7	5	"Here In My Heart" (Mellin)	9	5	9	:	6	6	8	3	2	в	4		.52
8	7	"Delicado" (Remick)		7	4	8	4			9	3	7	-8-		38
. 9	10	"I'll Walk Alone" (Mayfair)		9		10	10		3		7	5	-9-	3	32
10	9	"Be Anything" (Shapiro-B)		10	3		9			8	6	- ₈ -	10		23
11	12	"Somewhere Along Way" (United)	7	٠.		٠.		- ₂ -	••	••	••	9.		- ₄ -	- 22
12	11	"Botch-A-Me" (Hollis)	2		• • • •	4		-8-			• • •	~	•••		19
13A	-15	"Maybe" (Robbins),			٠.	3		••				·.		1	-8
13B		"Sugarbush" (Schirmer)	• •			• •	• • •	3		• • •		• • •			-8
14	13	Blacksmith Blues (Hill-R.)	••		6			• •		10		·	••	••	6

Major company execs are study-ing the new Petrillo ultimatum to determine its impact on their op-erations. Although the major labels erations. Although the major labels do most of their recordings in the U. S., a portion of their catalog is also etched abroad.

The minor companies, whose repertoire is almost exclusively etched in Europe, will risk losing their AFM licenses. That would mean only, that they could no longer record with U. S. musicians but could still import European-made mästers.

Stan Freeman Funds

Best British Sheet Sellers

(Week ending July 12)

Auf Wiederseh'n Maurice Kiss of Fire Duchess

There's Pawnshop . . Cinephonic

Ay-round The Corner Dash
Tell Me Why Morris
Be Anything Cinephonic
Won't Live in Castle Connelly
I'm Yours Mellin

Second 12 Wheel of Fortune... Victoria

Time Say Goodbye . Pickwick

Cry ED, &H. High Noon. End High Noon. Ed Hig

Be Life's Companion Morris

School Scholarship

Petrillo's 'No Foreign' Ukase

radio."

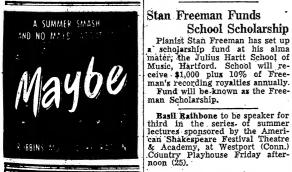

masters.

with the American musician. Their concern is not for musical artistry, but for added profit." Petrillo said that "the public is being fed an increasing budget of synthetic music by important segments of the entertainment industry which the stituation in television which he claimed has adopted the "practice of supplanting like the processing of the entertainment industry which he claimed has adopted the "practice of supplanting like the processing of the proc with the American musician. Their concern is not for musical artistry, but for added profit." Petrillo said that "the public is being fed an increasing budget of synthetic music by important segments of the entertainment industry which care not of music and musicians to the way of the American Indian."

dian."

Petrillo also notified AFM members that they could no longer record with non-members working for companies which have no pacts with AFM. This formal notification to AFM members was backgrounded by several recent instances in which the AFM refused to permit such conductors as Artur Rodzinski, Andre Kostelanetz, Artie Shaw and others from working abroad with non-AFM members.

Petrillo also indicated that he

It's Medic by JESSE GREER Program Today Yesterday's

KITTY FROM KANSAS CITY

TOPPING ALL LISTS

Ohio's $500 Prize For Sesquicentennial Work

Toledo, July 22. Prize of $500 is being offered by the Women's Auxiliary of the Toledo Orchestra Assn. for a five to 10-minute composition for standard symphony orchestra, in ob-servance of the 150th anni of Ohio's entrance into the Union. The winning composition will be performed by the Toledo Orchestra, with Wolfgang Stresemann conductor, on its Junior Concert of March 1, 1953, the state's observance day of the Sesquicentennial.

Competition is open to natives and bona fide residents of Ohio, with Dec. 15, as closing date for entries.

Band Reviews

RALPH MARTERIE ORCH (16)
With Kitty Karr
Pla-Mor Ballroom, Kansas City
One-nighter here last Saturday

(19) of the Ralph Marterie orch was a major event in pop music circles, the first date in this area for this newest of the top bands. Some speculation was attached to the speculation was attached to the Marterle appearance on the score of boxoffice magnetism, but that was settled with one of the best turnouts in several weeks and a gate well over a strong guarantee.

Marterie has made his bid in a comparatively short time, outfit being out intensively only a little over six months and together as unit going on two years. Behind these public engagements is a generous catalog of top instrumental releases on the Mercury label, most of them standards and show songs, but a few of them pops which have made the hit parade list. Latest release is "Peanut Vendor" backed by "Dark Eyes" and already getting a play in this territory.

already getting a play in this territory.

Musical style which has taken Martérie to the top is on the sweet and melodious pattern, highlighted by his own ace trumpet work. Premise that good music attractively styled will draw dancers and record buyers alike, evidently is sound, as the combo is holding the Marterie rep high.

It's a big band, heavy on the brass with an 8-man section evenly divided between trumpets, including the Marterie horn, and trombones, five reeds, string bass, drums, plano. Arranging is done by Matt Alagna, planist, and shows excellent blending of the three sections with trumpet especially outstanding hut with plenty of assists from the other two principal sections. Power, while here aplenty, is generally by-passed for the more tuneful blending and fullness.

Matterie carries a crew of spesound, as the combo is holding the Marterie rep high.

It's a big band, heavy on the brass with an 8-man section evenly divided between trumpets, including the Marterie horn, and trombones, five reeds, string bass, drums, plano. Arranging is done by Matt Alagna, pianist, and shows excellent blending of the three sections with trumpet especially outstanding hut with plenty of assists from the other two principal sections. Power, while here aplenty, is generally by-passed for the more tuneful blending and fullness.

Marterie carries a crew of specialists, some of them being Charley Spero on baritone, Corny Panico on trumpet, and Henry Panico and rums along with Alagna. Recently singer Kitty Karr joined the crew and shows keen possibilities. She's young and a looker and has vocal ability that should make her a valued part of the crew. With a few more tricks of the trade and bandstand savvy, she should develop into a top-flight songstress.

Quin.

LARRY GREEN TRIO
Park Sheraton Hotel, N. Y.
Maestro Larry Green, who was fronting, his own big orch up until a few monthr ago, debuted this newly formed combo, here last week (14). Green recruited two of his orch's sidemen, Bob Varney, drums, and Jimmy Athens, bass, to back his keyboarding and they work together with an easygoing rapport that's excellently pegged to cocktailery tastes.

Trio follows the usual style of cocktail room units in its book and arrangements but by eschewing intricate musical patterns. In favor of a melodic line concentration it becomes a standout attraction for a small room setup. All of its renditions are smooth and easy on the ear and the combo's evident relaxation and enjoyment in its work projects to the tablers.

Trio gives out with standard musical fare, Pops, standards and a plentiful helping of showtunes round out its book. Green sparks the easy mood with its deft work on the ivories. Both Varney and Athens assist capably with their topflight rhythm backing. Maestro's genlal personality and all-around clean cut appearance of the combo are important assets.

CALITER FINECAN RAND

SAUTER-FINEGAN BAND TO TOUR IN LATE FALL

This announcement is not an offer to sell nor a solicitation of an offer to buy any of these securities. The offering is made only by the Prospectus.

NEW ISSUE

258,883 Shares

DECCA RECORDS INC.

CAPITAL STOCK

Par Value 50¢ per Share

Rights, evidenced by Subscription Warrants, to subscribe for these Shares have been issued by the Company to holders of its Capital Stock of record July 22, 1952, which rights expire at 3 P.M., Eastern Daylight Saving Time, on August 8, 1952, as more fully set forth in the Prospectus.

The several Underwriters have agreed, subject to certain conditions, to purchase any unsubscribed shares and, both during and after the subscription period, may offer shares of Capital Stock as set forth in the Prospectus.

> Subscription Price to Warrant Holders $7.625 per Share

Copies of the Prospectus may be obtained in any State only from such of the several Under-writers named in the Prospectus and others as may lawfully offer these securities in such State.

Reynolds & Co.

Laurence M. Marks & Co.

Bache & Co.

Bear, Stearns & Co.

Crowell, Weedon & Co. Carl M. Loeb, Rhoades & Co.

July 23, 1952

Musical Directors Again Click Via Surge of Wax Instrumentals

Record company musical directors and house orchs are again breaking into the hit lists with their own etchings. Current vogue for instrumental platters is considered main factor in sparking the renewed prominence of the diskery maestros in the wax market. In the past couple of months such musical directors as Columbia's Percy Faith, Decca's Gordon Jenkins and RCA Victor's Hugo Winterhalter have broken through with discilicks.

clicks.
Faith is currently topping the in-strumental disk market with his workover of "Delicado" and Win-terhalter is coming up strong with his etching of "Vanessa." The workover of "Delicado" and Winterhalter is coming up strong with his etching of "Vanessa." The teamup of Jenkins with Peggy Lee on "Lover" has been Decca's sock summer entry. Other labels are also getting a big play on their house orch releases as examples by the clicko sales being racked up by Capitol's Les Baxter on "Blue Tango" and M-G-M's LeRoy Holmes on "In A Persian Market."

For the most part these musical directors are performing herculean chores for the diskeries. Besides cutting their pown etchings, they back the company's name vocalists, arrange the sessions and, in some instances pen new tunes. The maestro's company, of course, gets first crack at the new material. Paul Weston, for example, who backs Jo Stafford's dates for Columbia, penned "Shrimp Boats," Miss Stafford's big entry early this year.

Such other diskery maestros as Sy Oliver and Tutti Camarata on the Decca label, Henri Rene on Victor and Frank De Vol on Capivictor and Frank De vol on Capi-tol, have stepped out as potent wax names. Billy May, who last year headed a house crew for Cap back-ing name vocalists and conducting the company's kidisk sessions, de-veloped to such an extent that he's now touring with his own crew and has become one of Cap's important has become one of Cap's important orch properties. Sonny Burke, Decca's Coast artists and repertory chief, also has broken out with his own orch platters.

Anthony's Palladium Boff

Hollywood, July 22. A postwar non-holiday week record at Palladium was set by the Ray Anthony orch in the first of a four-week stand, Initial frame's admissions hit 18,750. Saturday night (19) hit

Wilson's 'Sing Again'

Following up its click publica-tion of Harry Wilson's "Sing Along" song folio, J. J. Robbins & Sons is packaging, another Wilson collection under the title of "Sing Again." The initial folio has sold over 100,000 copies.

Wilson is professor of music at Teachers College of Columbia University, N. Y.

HUB COPS SUSECT RAY TEAR GAS STUNT

Boston, July 22.

Boston, July 22.

Suspected by local gendarmes as a press agent's stunt, a teargas bomb was set off during Johnnie Ray's voçalizing of "Little White Cloud" at the early evening performance at the Met on' opening day (Fri.), which resulted in several women patrons being hospitalized briefly and forcing nearly 2,000 fans to evacuate the theatre.

2,000 fans to evacuate the theatre. A wholesale panic was undoubtedly averted by singer, who announced from stage that air conditioning plant had gone haywire and there was no need to be alarmed, and the instantaneous marshalling of theatre's personnel by manager Max Nayor, who aided the milling crowd to escape the fumes. Exodus was completed in less than 10 minutes, but traffic the milling crowd to escape the fumes. Exodus was completed in less than 10 minutes, but traffic outside was stalled for some time by hordes of curiosity seekers and evacuated patrons.

Coast AFM Wants Live Tooters on BCE Vidpix

Hollywood, July 22. Hollywood, July 22.

American Federation of Musicians Local 47 veepee Phil Fischer suggested to James C. Petrillo that the AFM should urge CBS-TV to make the Bing Crosby Enterprises, in which it bought interest, use live instead canned music in BCE telepix. Outfit has been using foreign tracks and bridges, a practice condemned by AFM.

Fischer feels that since CBS has

Fischer feels that since CBS has inked an AFM pact, it should honor contract by using musicians in BCE product.

Dick Todd to Decca

Dick Todd, who clicked on Rainbow Records' last year with "Daddy's Little Girl," has moved over to Decca Records under a term

Todd will cut his initial sides for Decca with Grady Martin's Slew-Foot Five, a folk-styled instru-mental combo.

Evelyn Knight On AGVA Carpet For Deejay Cuffo

Hollywood, July 22. Evelyn Knight faces an American Guild of Varlety Artists' trial board tomorrow (Wed.) in the first crackdown for alleged violations of ban against appearing on deejay programs originating in niteries and cafes. Champ Butler is slated to appear later.

Both are abouted with a contract of the contract o

Both are charged with gratis appearances on Don Otis' KMPC airer from King's cafe. Deejays are protesting the recently imposed ban, claiming it's injurious to artists who are deprived of free

More Dependents Added To 500G 'Cause' Suit

Dinah Shore, Edith Piaf, M.G-M Records and a French publisher, Paul Benscher Societe, have been added to Columbia, RCA Victor and Hollis Music as defendants in and Hollis Wusic as derendants in a $500,000 suit brought by Mrs. Frances Lamper in Brooklyn Federal Court. Mrs. Lampert claims the defendants infringe on her tune, "Annabella," by releasing the song, "'Cause I Love You."

song, "'Cause I Love You."

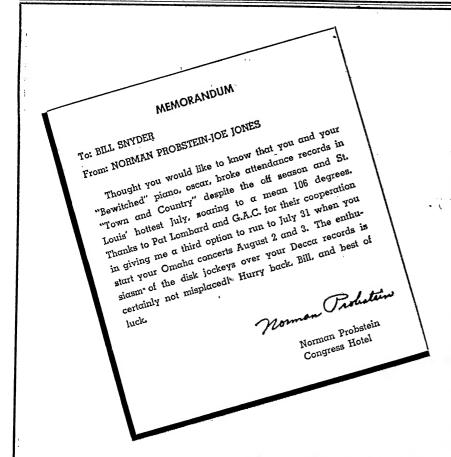

A recent motion by the plaintiff's attorney, Otto Friedman, to appoint a receiver to take charge of sales of records and sheet music on "'Cause," was denied. Plaintiff contends that "Annabella," an unpublished song, was originally shown to bandleader Ted Straeter along with other songs. It's alleged that Straeter turned over the songs to the record companies without returning them to Mrs. Lampert. Straeter is also being sued by Mrs. Lampert.

Harry James orch has been booked for a two-night appearance at the Club Sevenoaks, San An-tonio, Aug. 14-15.

Inside Orchestras—Music

Spins by Martin Block, WNEW, N.Y., disk jockey, of a couple of unlabeled test pressings last week cued Coral Records to pick up the sides for regular commercial release. Jimmy Blaine and Buddy Weed cut the demonstration platters on an indie basis. One of the tunes, "Political Pete," has a topical peg in view of the Presidential elections. Other tune is titled "Swimmin" Milt Gabler, Coral's artists and repertory chief, made the deal with Blaine's manager, Peter Dean.

	Disk Companies' Best Sellers
	nizk comhanics dezi 2611612"
1.	APITOL ARTIST KAY'S LAMENT Kay Starr
2.	IN THE GOOD OLD SUMMER TIME. Les Paul-Mary Ford
3.	SMOKE RINGS WALKIN' MY BABY BACK HOME Nat (King) Cole
4.	TAKE MY HEART
Б.	SOMEWHERE ALONG THE WAY
ŧ	WHAT DOES IT TAKE
L.	DLUMBIA BOTCH-A-ME
2.	HALF AS MUCH
3.	ALL OF ME
4.	WALKIN' MY BABY BACK HOMEJohnnie Ray GIVE ME TIME
5.	HIGH NOONFrankie Laine
E. CO	DRAL
1.
2.	WHO DRANK MY BEER?
3.	AUF WIEDERSEHN SWEETHEART Ames Bros. BREAK THE BANDS THAT BIND ME
4.	STRING ALONG Ames Bros. ABSENCE MAKES THE HEART GROW FONDER
5.	THIS IS THE BEGINNING OF THE ENDDon Cornell I CAN'T CRY ANYMORE
ומ	ECCA
1.	BLUE TANGOLeroy Anderson BELLE OF THE BALL
2,	LOVER
3.	AUF WIEDERSEHN SWEETHEARTGuy Lombardo HALF AS MUCH
4.	KISSES ON PAPER
5.	HONKY TONK ANGELSKitty Wells I DON'T WANT YOUR MONEY
M	ERCURY
1.	AUF WIEDERSEHN SWEETHEART Eddy Howard I DON'T WANT TO TAKE A CHANCE
2.	ONCE IN A WHILE
3,	SO MADLY IN LOVE
. 4.	TAKE MY HEART
5.	I WOULD RATHER LOOK AT YOU
	G-M
1.	LUNA ROSSA
2,	HOLD ME CLOSE TO YOU
3.	WHAT IS THIS THING CALLED LOVE Fran Warren WISH YOU WERE HERE
4.	HIGH NOON Bill Hayes
. 5.·	VANESSA
R(CA VICTOR WISH YOU WERE HERE Eddie Fisher
2.	THE HAND OF FATE
3.	I'M YOURS
4.	LUNA ROSSA A FULL TIME JOB Eddie Arnold SHEPHERD OF MY HEART
5.	SHEPHERD OF MY HEART VANESSA
-	VANESSA

CRISIS SEEN FOR ICE SHOWS

AGVA, Agents Org Draw Battle Lines | STRONG RIVALRY This Week On Franchise Situation

Battle lines between the American Guild of Variety Artists and Artists Representatives Assn. will Artists Representatives Assn. will be drawn tightly this week. Issues around which the vaude performers union and the agency organization will fight the battle of franchises will be made known after tomorrow (Thurs.), when ARA will hold a confab of its Board of Governors in the afternoon and a membership meeting at the Hotel Astor, N. Y., in the evening.

Astor, N. Y., in the evening.

Controversy stems from the resolution passed at the recent AGVA convention calling for issuance of free franchises to qualified agents directly through the union at no cost. Under the present setup, AGVA franchises cost non-association member $50. If obtained through ARA or a similar agency group, union licenses are issued at no cost. Theory behind that move is that the organization will save the union the costs of policing (Continued on page 527) (Continued on page 52)

Lawrence Rodeo Fails

To Play Date in Ohio

New Philadelphia, O., July 22.
Firemen were hot here last Wednesday (16), but not because of a fire.

The firefighters were sponsoring he Lawrence Rodeo at Dover The firefighters were sponsoring the Lawrence Rodeo at Dover Fairgrounds, they thought. They had $1,200 from an advance sale of tickets, minus 35% that had been turned over to advance agents for the show. But the rodeo failed to arrive. A check revealed that the same troupe failed to appear as scheduled at Athens, O., and Parkershurg, W. Va., on the previous Sunday and Saturday.

Strange Bedfellows
Fort Wayne, July 22.
The Ringling Bros.-Barnum & Bailey Circus will appear in Fort Wayne Aug. 12.

It will appear under sponsorship of the Fort Wayne Philharmonic Society.

Hilton's Grosvenor (London) Dicker And Other European Hostels

Hilton Hotels may take over nanagement of the Grosvenor House, London. Under a deal now being proposed, Charles Clore, of being proposed, Charles Clore, of Princess Investments, Ltd., would take over the common stock of the hotel valued at 500,000 pounds at six shillings per share. Current market value of the stock is now three shillings and three pence.

If this proposal is accepted by the Grosvenor House, Clore would turn the inn over to the Hilton Hotels International, a wholly owned Hilton Hotel Corp. subsidiary, for management.

Hilton International will also manage the Castellana Hilton, Madrid, which will be opened late this year, and the Istanbul Hilton, Turkey, on which building contracts are still to be given.

Clore also heads a syndicate

Clore also heads a syndicate which is arranging for financing of a new 650-room inn to be built on Portman Square, London, which, upon completion, will also be managed by Hilton.

Current season is expected to be a critical year for ice shows. The stiff competition from five concerns having seven icers is likely to cause a battle of survival among the various outfits.

the various outfits.

The Sonja Henie show is an added factor that will upset previous understandings as to the division of territory.

As it now stands, the competing forces will be the "Hollywood Ice Revue," produced by Arthur M. Wirtz; Arena Managers Assn., which produces "Ice Capades" and "Ice Cycles"; George Tyson, with "Holiday on Ice" and "Ice Yogues"; the Shipstads & Johnson 'Ice Follies," and the Henie display.

Miss Henie is starting the season

"Ice Follies," and the Henie display.

Miss Henie is starting the season
Sept. 11 in Chicago, ahead of Wirtz, and will wind up in New York at the armory at 61st & Columbus Ave., two days before the Wirtz outfit is slated to go into

(Continued on page 52)

57 G Talent Deal By MCA For Cal. State Fair

Sacramento, July 22.

Music Corp. of America closed deal with the State of California to provide entertainment at the State Fair for $57,500. Tony Martin will be top act for the first half of the 10-day fair, which opens Aug. 28. Xavier Cugat's band will play the last five days, along with a variety show.

play the last five days, along wan a variety show.

MCA will pay for the two shows while California will dig up $12,500 for stagehands, $6,800 for additional musicians and $11,000 for costumes, lighting and scenery.

Cuba, Too, Now Gets Taste of Those Dog-Day Yank Pesos; Niteries Boom

Gloria Jean Booked For Versailles, N. Y.

Gloria Jean, former child screen star, will play her first nitery date at the Versailles, N. Y., starting Aug. 13.

Miss Jean last played New York at the Capitol Theatre some years

Kitty Kallen Pays Off Steel Pier on Date To Tour With Martin-Lewis

Singer Kitty Kallen last week got out of an Aug. 24 date at the Steel Pler, Atlantic City, when she paid the Pier $560 which operator George. A. Hamid stated was the cost of advertising her. She was in at $1,000 for five days.

Miss Kallen seked to be let out at $1,000 for hye days.

Miss Kallen asked to be let out of the stand after contract had been signed because of a chance to tour with the Dean Martin & Jerry Lewis show. Latter will play several weeks of theatres, the Cheż Paree, Chicago, and possibly 10 one-night concert stands.

M&L Set Troupe
Dallas, July 22.
Martin & Lewis, heading a variety show in State Fair Auditorium during the State Fair of Texas, Oct. 4-19, have set two of the seven supporting acts—Kitty Kallen, vocalist, and the Step Bros., dancers. Comic team will bring in Dick Stabile, their old standby, to front a 24-piece pit band for 24 performances in 16 days.

By JAY MALLIN

Havana, July 15.

With hundreds of Americans With hundreds of Americans pouring into Cuba weekly by plane and boat, the island is in the midst of a new development in recent years: a summer tourist season. Last year niteries were caught short by the unexpected influx of tourists during what had previously been a "dead" season. This year a colorful carpet of entertainment has been unrolled.

has been unrolled.

The Casino Nacional is closed, but the Big 3 nightclubs appear sufficient to take care of the Yanks. Undoubtedly the best show in town is Sans Souci's Afro-Cuban number, "Sun Sun Babae." Capturing the color, weirdness and sensuousness of voodoo ritual, it has emotional impact far greater than that usually created by a nightclub number. unfortunately for business, the show's blood-curdling screams and frenzied writhings do not encourage drinking.

Los Xey (5) star at Tropicana,

Los Xey (5) star at Tropicana, playing and singing catchy Spanish tunes. Ana Gloria & Rolando put on one of the best mambo acts to be seen here. One of the main attractions at Tropicana is the fact that its tables are within a glass-enclosed firch which is airconditioned, a pleasant arrangement during hot summer nights.

Montmartre

Montmartre, the only one of the Big 3 conveniently located within the main area of the city, has Ernesto Bonino and Tina de Mola (both Italian) starring, Their duets combine humor and good

(Continued on page 52)

Thanks, Fellas*—I've Never Been Happier!

"AN ALL-TIME SMASH!"-Joe Faber, Manager of the Biltmore Bowl.

America's Premiere .. Comedienne

HOLLYWOOD REPORTER:

"Irene Ryan was nothing less than socko. Her act would make a terrific hit in any of the top niteries in the country."

LOS ANGELES TIMES:

"Trene Ryan proved herself a juvenile Sophie Tucker at her Biltmore Bowl opening. Five curtain calls dispelled any doubt as to the audience's acceptance of her."

VARIETY:

"Miss Ryan is a competent comedi-enne and a forthright mimic, whose simulated sadness is her sock-in-trade."

LOS ÀNGELES MIRROR:

"Miss Ryan is a seasoned performer and opening night pewholders rewarded her efforts with heavy palm-pounding."

LOS ANGELES HERALD & EXPRESS:

"Irene has a flock of good material, but she really socks the audience with her oldtime songs."

MISS RYAN

Now at the BILTMORE BOWL, Los Angeles

Personal Management:

HAROLD E. KNOX 150 So. Kenter Ave. W. Los Angeles 49, Calif.

Motion Pictures: SID GOLD

Public Relations: HENRY ARNSTEN

*And to you, Bud Overbeck—many thanks!

British Act Union Nearing Quota Agreement on U. S. Cafe Performers

After behind - the - scenes campaign which has been going on for more than two years, the introduction of a quota for British cabaret artists in London niteries is now though to be in sight. An agree-ment is expected to be concluded within the next month or two.

within the next month or two.

The Variety Artists Federation, which has been leading the agitation, has met with constant opposition from nitery and cafe operators through their trade organization, the Hotel and Restaurant Assn.

When negotiations were deadlocked lead to the constant of the union annealed to the Ministry of Labor to use its conciliation machinery to keep the talks going, and representatives of the Ministry have taken part in some of the subsequent discussions.

some of the subsequent discussions. Although, it's known that the VAF was seeking a quota of between 40% and 50% for British performers, it's considered likely that they will agree to a compromise settlement, in view of the claim by nitery managements that the employment of British musicians should be regarded as party of the live entertainment offered and should count against a direct quota.

Main resistance to establishment of a quota has been the contention that there are not sufficient name cabaret attractions to sustain a a show.

fixed high percentage. This claim has been actively challenged by the union, which recently inserted a full-page advertisement in its official organ. The Performer, applying for details of available cabaret talent. It has, as result, compiled a list which it claims is sufficiently strong to support its case. It's understood that details of around 200 acts were received in resourse to acts were received in response to the appeal.

Imposition of a quota wouldn't necessarily require governmental approval if agreement was reached between all parties. Minister of Labor would only intervene if the talks broke down and the government wanted to take independent action. action.

Wrestling Rassles Heat

Wrestling Rassles Heat

As Mpls. B. O. Outstander

Minneapolis, July 22.

While pix, baseball, fights and other entertainment regularly on tap almost literally continue to starve here, once-a-week wrestling shows in the municipal Auditorium, the only amusement to prosper locally over the past two years and still attracting record-breaking patronage, is running through the summer for the first time in its 10-year history.

10-year history.

Crowds have been holding up at the fall-winter rate of 6,000 to 9,500

DIOSA COSTELLO

Starring in Frank Sennes, "Mardi Gras-in Rio"

"Mardi Gras. in Rio"
Opening July 29th. Desert Inn
Las Vegus
Winchell says "Tops"
Personal Management
JACK BERTELL
4 West 58th Street, N. Y.
PL 9-5260

Darcel-Colonna-Louis 'Atomic Show' Atomized In Canton-VFW Blowup

Canton, O., July 22.
The "Atomic Fair" combination of Denise Darcel, Jerry Colonna, Danny Daniels, Joe Louis, the ex-heavy champ, and Cetlin-Wilson shows was atomized here last week.

Sponsored by VFW Post 693, the bill was scheduled for six days at Stark County fairgrounds, at a gate of 75c for adults, 35c for youngster. It lasted two days. And on Thursday (17), Mayor Carl Wise revoked the permit of the Cetlin-Wilson shows, sole remainder of the original triple-feature event.

After slim crowds Monday and Tuesday, the vets group was unable to meet the $1500 daily-at-noon payroll for the boxer and hadn't enough in anticipation to take care of the $7,500 package of Darcel-Colonna, et al, booked in by MCA. Although Louis waived $500 Although Louis waived $500 to MCA on the second day, to help pay the entertainers, the steel strike plus an anticipated walkout at Timken Roller Bearing, the city's largest employer—and a censorship slapdown on the midway by city safety director Stanley Cmich—were too much for the boxoffice. A light rain, excessively hot weather for this area and inadequate preliminary promotion didn't help either.

Originally the to-do included an Originally the to-do included an atomic exhibit to be presented by industrial companies and Government agencies. Thus the name, "Atomic Fair" — but the exhibit never appeared.

never appeared.

The carnival was toned down after the mayor and Cmich visited the midway opening night, found gambling and girl shows they thought were not in step with their "cleanup" policy inaugurated when the present Republican administration took office Jan. 1.

Both patter and clothing of the girlie attractions were censored—although during the winter, the city's only burlesk house, the State, plays strippers sans anything.

ROGER

Currently THEATRE ROYAL Dublin, Ireland

WM. MORRIS AGENCY

THE HEART OF CHICAGO'S LOOP ar the Chicago, Harris, Seiwyn and langer Theatres, and adjacent to all evision stations it's the

RANCROFT HOTEL

87 W. Randelph St. Franklin 2-4749 Special Rates for Show Felk Newly Decerated New Management

'Skating Vanities' Sues Trucking Co. For German Snarls

With the east of "Skating Vanities" safely home from Germany, and the show's equipment loaded for a trip to the U.S., suit has been started in Frankfurt against for a trip to the U. S., suit has been started in Frankfurt against Schenker & Co., German truckers, to determine the liability for the difficulties which beset the company in the Russian Zone of Berlin.

"Vanities", was fined about $21,000 by the Russian authorities for alleged smuggling of souvenirs by various members of the company, Russians released the show's equipment, but held two trucks owned by Schenker & Co., for security. "Vanities" attorney Sam Shayon posted a $25,000 bond with a New York bank, and winner of the suit will get the coin. Coin was transferred to Frankfurt. Bond covers the fine and extra storage and handling charges.

The equipment was being held by Schenker until the fine was paid. However, upon Shayon's threat of suit, firm released the equipment. Troupe planed for the U. S. Friday but was forced down in the Azores and arrived in the U. S. Sunday. Harold Steinman, show's producer, remained with the equipment in order to supervise its loading. He arrived in the U. S. yesterday (Tues.). He reported that some items were missing.

The cast went on to Asbury Park to start rehearsals for the new edition of the show, which opens Aug. 1 at Convention Hall there.

GUY MITCHELL, ROBBINS CLICK IN LONDON VAUDE

London, July 22.

London, July 22.

U. S. singer Guy Mitchell, making his Palladium bow yesterday (Mon.) preemed to a top reception, building all the way. He had to beg off. Columbia disker was smartly routined and his songs were enhanced by excellent backgrounding from the George Mitchell singers.

Comedian Archie Robbins scored a clicko with a polished comedy routine which got a spontaneous reaction.

reaction.

reaction.

Others on this two-week bill include comic George Martin, Pauline Grant ballet, adagio dancers Eva & Nick, Olga Varona, trapeze act, and Medlock & Marlow, who show masks of various personalities.

Heat Melts Biz In N. Y. Niteries

The long-running heat wave has melted New York's cafe business considerably and has slowed the tourist flow. Town had a heavy spuit with the Elks' convention last week, but most of this has disappeared, with the present high temperatures.

temperatures.

The Latin Quarter has been hit but not to as great an extent as some of the other spots. The Rivieras, Ft. Lee, N. J.. has also slowed down as have the Copacabana, Hayama-Madrid and others.

cabana, Hayana-Madrid and others.

The recently opened French Casino had some difficulty shortly after its opening July 4, but business has hit a stride of 50% to 60% of capacity. With that figure it's not making any profit, but it's considered a fairly healthy sign in view of the heat and the general state of business.

Pitt Cafe Mgr. Beaten, Robbed of $1,300 Receipts

Pittsburgh, July 22.

Melvin Ackerman, manager of, Lenny Litman's Copa, was badly beaten up and hospitalized last. Wednesday morning (16) by two thugs who grabbed the previous night's receipts of around $1,300 from him and then escaped.

He was attacked on his way to the bank to make a deposit and slugging he got from the pair necessitated 52 stitches in his head and several others around the

THE GUARDSMEN Opening Latin Quarter New York Aug. 29th

1650 Binay, New York NY

OUT NOW! "BEST COMEDY of Comedy for TV, Vodvil and Night Club Entertainers Containing Monologues, Sketches, and Pantomimicry. club Entertainers Containing Mono logues, Sketches, and Pantomimicry Price Five Deliars.

A. GUY VISK WRITING ENTERPRISES

12 Liberty Street Troy, N (The Mirthplace of Show Biz)

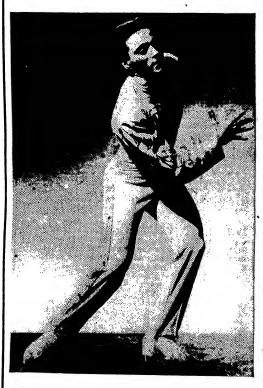

Thank You, and God Bless You

JIMMY DURANTE

For 5 Wonderful and Prosperous Weeks

> The Busboys, Waiters, Captains, Headwaiters, Chefs, Kitchen Help, Butchers, Bartenders, The Girls in the Office, The Press Department, and-The Bosses

> > CHEZ PAREE · (CHICAGO)

SKATING

ARNOLD SHODA

CURRENTLY ROXY NEW YORK

Return Engagement-3rd Season

VARIETY, July 2nd

"Shoda gives a superlative demonstration of ice stepping to a bolero number. It's a dramatic item."

VARIĘTY, July 16th

"Arnold Sheda continues to hit excellent mittings with his intricate and graceful skating ballet."

Thanks to SAM RAUCH and the Rexy Theatre Mgt.

Personal Mgt. ANGIE BOND 461 Anduben Ave. New Yerk City WA. 3-5242 Chapter 3... in the life and travels of —

INTERNATIONAL MUSICAL HUMORIST

MUSICAL-CLOWN SETS PACE FOR AK-SAR-BEN GARBER SHOW By JAKE RACHMAN

"Around 7,500 first nighters helped Ak-Sar-Ben it was a sepen its annual summer showseason. Ak-Sar-Ben tradition and stressing country and music, it kept could and stressing country and of appliause and the Colleum in a constant round of appliause and lapighter.

"Featured was Yonely the musical clown whose antics had the audience weak with laughter. Yonely antics had the audience Welliams and Victor Borge is an artist in the Herb Williams and Victor Borge tradition.

crossite.

"He has violent arguments with his lady assist and the orchestra" and an infinitesima and the orchestra" and an infinitesima and the orchestra trumpet and hewilders the violing according and the property of the control o _Omaha World-Herald, May 20, 1952.

ZANY FRENCHMAN STEALS NEW SHOW AT BLUE ROOM

By ROBERT WEBB

By ROBERT WEBB

Wershillty turned the Roosvelt Hotel Blue Roem into an ocean of chuckles last night as a rare comlination of talent opened a new show.

illustrion of talent opened a new show.

"Comedian musician, liregular Yonely—whose affice have won him a television and supper club following from the most somber of patrons, lowing from the most somber of patrons, lowing from the most somber of patrons, which is the most somber of patrons, which is the second to tickling the most somber of patrons, which is the second to the instrument.

"Fans agreed that Frenchman Yonely whose "Fans agreed languages miced the act, was saides in assorted languages mostclans every ap ene of the shoot versel from his small violin, he ene of the Bue Room. correlon and correct, the year at the pint-sized agual finesse."

New Orleans States, May 20, 1052.

OPENING AUGUST 1 FOR TWO WEEKS EDDY'S, KANSAS CITY

ASSOCIATED BOOKING CORPORATION

urec are seases

We describe to your blue floor was the fractation

We describe to your blue floor was put as in been
But, four weeks in you tryleans had put as in been

P.B: Just call we Colon! Jonely, sub- 11te of your great weeks in New Orleans did its singing. The acrobatic Atomics are also on the bill.

Cuba's Tourist Influx

The lesser night spots seeking tourist trade offer dark rooms ("atmosphere"), medicore local islent (over-age thrushes and stylized rhumba dancers), and high prices for watered liquor (the Colonial charges $1.50 for the first drink—no matter what it is). Not necessarily catering to tourists, but providing genuine "atmosphere," are the string of niteries near the beach in Marianao. Pennsylvania, Panchin and others rarely provide any kind of show, but small bands provide unadulterated rhumbas and mambos, and the poorer class of people who go there put on spectacles of unadulterated and control of the contro

For 25c the tourist can also see uninhibited rhumbaing at the Academia, a dance emporium on Galiano St. For dimes he can try dancing with one of the "hostesses." The only drawback to the Academia is the fact that, since hundreds are crowded together in

HELENE and HOWARD Currently
LAST FRONTIER HOTEL

Dir.: M.C.A. Per, Mgt. TOM SHEILS

JACK DENTUN WORLD'S GREATEST COMEDIAN

Except in Asia, Africa, Australia, Europe and the Americas)

Scattered Bars

Scattered throughout Havana are old famous and infamous bars, and a whole crop of new ones, all of which provide music via jukeboxes. These bars vary from the smoke-filled, not-so-clean ones downtown (Dirty Dick's, Johnny's) to the more genteel ones uptown (Mocambo, Tally-Ho, Turf Club). Prices are low.

None of the Havana hotels has a cabaret, although almost all have bars. The Hotel Varadero-Internacional in the nearby resort town of Varadero had its own cabaret. Only the Hotel Presidente in Havana provides a small orchestra to help ease drinks down, but there is no dancing. Liquor prices at the hotels are in direct ratio to the cost of rooms. (Notwithstanding the summer tourist season, hotel rates are much lower in summer than in winter. A room at the Hotel Nacional drops from around $15 daily to about $7.50.)

Havana film theatres show Hollywood films almost entirely, with a sprinkling of European, Mexican and Argentine filckers. The two top theatres, American and Radiocentre, usually also have excellent shows. San Souci's "Sun Sun Babae" is currently playing at the American simultaneously. Radiocentro has a corps of ballet which amusingly parodies various facets of life in Cuba. Havana's to-hell-with-passengers and pedestrians bus systems were recently cutting-ly caricatured.

Music-lovers can attend an occasional free band concert given by the Havana Municipal Band, directed by Gonzalo Roig. Heavier fare is provided by the Pro-Arte Musical Society, sponsors of concerts by the Havana Philharmonic Orchestra, which has no regular director. The Society brings from the U. S. guest conductors and performers. Tickets are difficult to obtain, since members of the society usually get them all.

Alicia Alonso, Cuba's top ballerina, puts on infrequent performances with her troupe.

Ranging from ballet to burlesque, Havana is prepared to put on any tind of about a Vanca away from Havana is prepared to put on any kind of show a Yankee away from home might desire—and a few he might never have heard about.

AGVA Agents

Continued from page 49 ;

agents and the group would maintain discipline in its own ranks.

with issuance of free franchises, ARA will have to assess membership due to its agent-members. The $50 franchise cost is the membership fee in the organization.

ARA members feel that the union is seeking to destroy their organization so that AGVA can impose its dictates directly upon ead, they believe, individual percenters will be helpless against any union onslaught. onslaught.

ARA's Aid to AGVA

ARA's Aid to AGVA
ARA was instrumental in helping AGVA achieve its present strength.
Agents say that in AGVA's formative days, ARA members forced performers into the union ranks by telling the acts that they couldn't be booked unless they were paid-up members in the union. Thus, recalcitrants were forced into line.

On the other hand ACVA

forced into line.

On the other hand, AGVA spokesmen declare that the original purposes of the Rule A, original agreement between AGVA and ARA, was to police agents, eliminate unethical practices within the trade and to provide a code of fair practice, heart of which was arbitration between both organizations. Same purpose was strengthened with Rule B, which succeeded Rule A.

Rule A.

However, it's pointed out that under present practices, the original purposes of the present franchise system and agency agreements has been nullified. Instead of ARA-policing its members, the origination has become an instrument of protecting its members when 'violating franchise agreements. ARA, it's charged, has no setup to police its members, except in N. Y. Memberships in other cities flout AGVA regulations, and ARA does nothing to police them, it's contended.

Union cited the case of a Florida

Union cited the case of a Florida agent, against whom the union has been trying to get an arbitration for more than a year. It's been unsuccessful and, meantime, agent has been charged with three more violations. Because of the fact that the AGVA-ARA procedures force arbitrations on a national level, local AGVA reps can do nothing but sit by, helpless, and watch agents pile up violations, it's stated. In another case, AGVA said it was trying to get an arbitration on a San Francisco violation for more than a year.

Union believes that it will do a Union cited the case of a Florida

Union believes that it will do a better job of policing on its own without violating rights of individual agents.

lce Shows

continued from page 45 m

Madison Square Garden, Jan, 20. However, Miss Henie will be preceded in New York by "Ice Capades," which opens at the Garden Sept. 9.

Entry of Miss Henie into the icer sweepstakes may wipe out any prior understanding among the ice impresarios. None of the agreements was in writing, but there had been an understanding on division of territory and dates which made it possible for all shows to prosper.

A factor that makes the present situation all the more precarious lies in the fact that all the shows have favorite dates in which it's virtually guaranteed a heavy profit. Thus a show which does well in Boston in November will play Providence, New Haven, Springfield, etc., even at a loss just so that it can hit Boston at the right time. However, if it has to share money in the Hub because of invasion of an icer previous to the stand which was formerly exclusive, an entire series of playdates in New England becomes unprofitable. factor that makes the present in New England becomes unprofit-able.

Every show is now faced with a situation of that kind, and it's seen that the elimination of a few fa-vored dates may turn the forthvorce dates may turn the forto-coming season into a financial fail-ure for some shows. All this to-gether with comparatively bad business conditions around the country is giving ice show opera-tors a severe case of jitters.

Saranac Lake By HAPPY BENWAY

Sy HAPPY BENWAY
Saranac, N. Y., July 22.
All night spots are going full blast in this vicinity, town being overcrowded with vacationists, Among-the niteries getting top play are Durgan's, Schroeter's, Swiss Chalet, Fitzgeralds' and The Birches. Only Durgan's, Swiss Chalet and The Birches use live music, the balance use canned-stuff.

music, the balance use canned stuff.

Stanley Nelson, radio and TV actor, beat his observation period. Ditto Joe (UA) Phillips, who has seen too much of the bed routine. Robert Lewis Dutton, manager of Sunset Theatre, Southern Pines, N. C., bedsided by his frau, who planed in for a weekend chat and look see. She found him gaining. Edwin Rowland, former Broadway production manager, left with an all-clear. He beat the rap in 18 months.

an all-clear. He peat the rap in to months.
Ray (Loew's) McCarthy ended his six months of strict observation by being skedded for surgery. Boy has staged an ace comeback.

(Write to those who are ill).

SENNES 'PEEP SHOW' O TO 16G; OVERHEAD (

Frank Sennes' "Peep Show the Holiday, N. Y., is slated to the Holiday, N. Y., is slated to $16,000 for the second week ing tonight (Wed.). Show did a 000 on its preem. Cast is minus Alan Carney and Ving Miln is slated to leave tonight, so nes will cut overhead with the movex. Sketches will replace the acts.

Although show originally was signed to start showing a pr at $18,000, nut has been low to some extent by a new deal whouse owner Israel Zatkin, who calls for a share in the receif from the first dollar. Senner is lowered considerably with move.

Move.

Holiday is slated to get a version of "Follow the Girls," willie Shore in the top spot mid-August. If present lay doesn't last long, it's expected i an abbreviated version of "and Garter" will go in. Ois show slated for this spot is Diosa Costello unit, which is c rently playing the Cal-Neva Lod Lake Tahoe, Nev.

Sennes was originally slated.

'Sennes was originally slated display "Peep Show" in a tent Wildwood, N. J., but more v nixed by city officials there.

FOSTER AGENCY, LOND

Now Appearing
CASINO TRAVEMUNDS Germany

American Rep. WM. MORRIS AGE TAVEL-MARQUANI AGENCY, PAR

"A GREAT SINGING ACT

CARLTON and KARRO

Hold Over-Now in 6th We D U N E S C L U B Virginia, Beach, Va. Mgt. Al. GROSSMAN, R.K.O. Bids., N.

HAROLD BARNES

"FROM BOOGIE TO BALLET ON WIRE"

Another Return Engagement

NEW YORK

Direction: SAM RAUCH, New York

Continental Variety Favorites

LOLO AND LITA

Just Completed

4 Weeks ALPINE VILLAGE, Cleveland 3 Weeks LOOKOUT HOUSE, Covington 2 Weeks CAL-NEVA LODGE, Lake Tahoe July 29--4 Weeks DESERT INN, Las Vegas Aug 28--2 Weeks MAPES HOTEL, Reno

Thanks to FRANK SENNES

Management, LEON NEWMAN, 48 W. 48th St., New York

...JOHNNY AND JUNE BELMONT... SET A TORRID PACE.

Good looking with bunches of personality . . . left first nighters hollering to Bruce Taylor, The Herald. more . . .

"Extremely good dancers . . . routines are carefully timed and well executed . . ." H. W., The Gazette.

"Young artists . . . dance with freshness and entrance ment . . . Graceful and finished, well studied Original Jacques Trepanier, La Pat Jacques Trepanier, La Patrie.

"Receive lively applause ... Original dances ... Interpretation of the square dance is outstanding ... yet much originality."

R. C., Le Canada.

Just Concluded Return Engagement

"CHEZ PAREE, Montreal" Dir.: LARRY GENGO

FRANK SENNES AGCY.

Miami Hotels' Summer Biz Dips 15-25% From Last Year's High

Miami Beach, July 22.

Despite heavy influx of tourists Despite heavy influx of tourists in this area in recent weeks—according to airlines and railroads—miami and Miami Beach hotels are some 15 to 25% off from last year's record summer season, with a good many hotels and cafes affected. Answer lies in fact that heavy upsurge of motels along the highways leading into the twin-resort cities is drawing off the percentage figured, via lower rates and new buildings-swimming pools and beaches. With it most of the tourists are heavily conscious of dollar values.

Added factor leading to loss of trade was tendency of many Recent Added factor leading to loss of trade was tendency of many Beach hoteliers to limit the lower-priced rooms, thanks to last year's record take and over-confidence that "they'll come back again."

Along cafe row, only the several oceanfront hotels featuring name acts are doing healthy biz. Other spots are off.

The leaders are going all out in bidding for the type of acts they are booking now. Jackle Miles, normally a winter season powerhouse,

COMEDY MATERIAL

HILLY: FUN-MASTER

CLASON'S FUN-MASIER

THE ORIGINAL SHOW BIZ GAG FILE

The Service of the Stara)

25 ISSUES 225

First 13 Files 57.06, All 325 Issues $23.06

Singly: $1.05 Each IN SEQUENCE Only

6.3 BKs. FARODIES per beek $10.00

6.3 BKs. FARODIES per beek $10.00

6.4 BLACKOUT BKS., 6a. bk. $25.00

6.5 BLLACKOUT BKS., 6a. bk. $25.00

6.5 BLLACKOUT BKS., 6a. bk. $25.00

6.6 BLACKOUT
5th Retuza Engagement SHOREHAM HOTEL WASHINGTON, D. C

Grant's Riviera

RESTAURANT AND BAR

58 W. 44 St., New York LU 2-4488 WHERE SHOWBUSINESS MEETS

TALENT CONTEST * MONDAY NIGHTS

Prize: Professional Engagement

WHEN IN BOSTON It's the

HOTEL AVERY

The Home of Show Folk

is being brought in by Jack Gold-man for his Clover Club on Aug. 6. The hotel run is bidding against each other for the type acts in the middle-price brackets. And for middle-price brackets. And for the rest, there's a scramble with musical novelties, strippers and new faces on chance that one will click and bring them in. Representative of this group is the Rocking Lounge, in mid-Beach, which features two colored jazz outfits, with a let-your-hair-down, comeas-you-are-dressed policy that has taken the spot from the red into the biggest profitmaker, comparatively in the area.

Chicago Slips To One Top Nitery

With the dropping of the entertainment policy at the Blackhawk bistro, which has had music and floor shows since 1920, the Windy City, once the No. 2 amusement center in America, second only to New York, has dropped to one top fulltime nightclub in town. With the axing of "Six on a Honey-moon," tab revue there since April 1, cafe switches to food program only Aug. 1.

only Aug. 1.

Loop spot, cradle of many famous bands, changed to revues in April, 1950. Don Roth, owner, however, said that present union demands, backed by amusement taxes and other costs, made it impractical to continue with shows.

practical to continue with shows. City now has only one major showcase, the Chez Paree, where Joe E. Lewis is currently, and Martin and Lewis are set to follow in two weeks. There are three hotels using acts: one, the Conrad Hilton, using ice skating talent exclusively; the Palmer House, which uses names for nine months, and then a revue of its own for three or names for nine months, and then a revue of its own for three or four months; and the Edgewater Beach, which switched to top-drawer fare last fall and intermittently did well with such people as Hildegarde, Carl Brisson and Xavier Cugat, who played the spot five times within a year.

Rest of the inns use just small society-type hands. There are one

Rest of the inns use just small society-type bands. There are one or two clubs with a top entertainment budget of possibly $750, but the rest of the spots are either jazz or strip joints. Within the last year the Vine Gardens dropped headline acts for an inexpensive revue, and the Balinese Room of the Blackstone also gave the ax to talent.

While the "girlie" spots are somewhat under wraps due to the political conventions, the same locations continue to stay in business for years.

for years.

Despite the mouthings that Chicago has become a weekend town, and television has doomed night-club business, the jazz spots have continued in fine fettle. Blue Note in the Loop has been doing very strong business with such attractions as Louis Armstrong, Stan Kenton, Muggsy Spanier and the like. There are at least 12 joints around town that have dixieland combinations, which seem to have gained a tremendous foothold again here. gained a again here.

YVONNE MORAY

OPENING JULY 25th

RKO PALACE

5th RETURN ENGAGEMENT

MANY THANKS TO DAN FRIENDLY Personal Manager: PHIL OFFIN, 48 W. 48th St., N. Y.

Vogue Room Sets Mitzi

Cleveland, July 22.

Mitzi Green is set to start Hollenden Vogue Room's fall season Sept. 5, for two weeks.

Room is staying open through dog days, with Wally Griffin as current show topped, followed by Blackburn Twins and Pam Cavan, Aug. 7; Carl Ravazza, Aug. 21; Carroll & Gormon, Aug. 28.

AGVA Bd. to Meet On Insurance Plan

The American Guild of Variety Artists will hold a special executive board meeting next Monday (28) to discuss the union's accident insurance problem. Expected to come up will be consideration of new insurance plans and dropping of the Matthew M. Adler Agency as the sole broker for the union. It's believed by the union that although it passed a resolution last January giving Adler the right to represent it on its insurance for the next three years, fact that the plan brought in by Adler will be cancelled in November gives the union the right to assign a new broker.

There are several new plans under consideration. One of them broker.

There are several new plans under consideration. One of them calls for increased benefits for the members and others call for a similar plan, but with a cheaper premium.

The Adler agency is expected to dispute the contention that its exclusive is cancelled when the current insurance plan becomes inoperative.

Plaza Sets Kay Thompson

Kay Thompson and the William's Bros. (4) have been signed for the seasonal opening of the Persian Room, Plaza Hotel, N. Y., Sept. 18. Team is in for four weeks.

Saratoga Gambling Ban Seen No Bar To Successful Season for Turf

Saratoga Springs, July 22, With gambling off the Saratoga roster for another summer, this resort town is optimistic, nevertheless, of prospects for a big season. Reports on attendance at other tracks, and indications of top horses running at the meet. are a prelude to what is expected to be a heavy influx of visitors for the racing season starting Aug. 4.

the racing season starting Aug. 4.
Continuation of a special grand jury investigation, at the direction of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, into gambling and corruption in Saratoga County, indicates that the lid will continue. Court of Appeals last week unanimously upheld the legality of the jury's selection. The top niteries are not expected to be open for the second consecutive year.

Last season's successful meeting Last season's successful meeting against the vine reflect in a confounded many who believed the gambling probe, the darkened nightclubs and other factors would adversely affect crowds and wagering. The 1951 season, as a matter of fact, ran well ahead of 1950, ander Agency.

due partly to bad weather.

Observers believe that 1952 may duplicate it. The no-off-track-gambling ban helped rather than hurt the Saratoga racing. Saratogians, Capital District residents and visitors had no other place to bet except at the flat track and the Saratoga Raceway (night harness racing).

Some of the traditional color.

Some of the traditional color disappeared, and the hotels suf-fered, but the Union Ave. course did well. The same picture is apt to be developed this year, although no one can be sure until the season

143G CHI TAX RAP

Chicago, July 22.

Federal government last week filed tax liens totaling $143,264 against the Villa Venice nightclub in nearby Northbrook. Liens cov-

The Fabulous Foursome THE DAY DREAMERS

PALACE, New York

Thanques, DAN FRIENDLY and JOE LOMBARDI for Another Enjoyable and Successful Engagement

Management: HARRY LAWRENCE, 1650 Broadway, New York

MEMO: • • '• TO COLLECTOR OF INTERNAL REVENUE

Dear Sir:

Recently we have played engagements at the CIVIC LIGHT OPERA.....Pittsburgh, Penn. GREEN MANSIONS THEATRE...Warrensburg, N. Y.

MT. WASHINGTON HOTEL...Bretton Woods, N. H.

MAPLEWOOD HOTEL.......Maplewood, N. H.

and soon must head cross country to

HAL BRAUDIS' THUNDERBIRD HOTEL in Las Vegas, Nevada.

We would like to know this -- may we list the PULLMAN COMPANY as a dependent?

Hopefully.

Nelle Fisher Jerry Ross

Personal Management: JACK YAUGHAN & PEGGIE GATES

VARIETY BILLS

Numerals in connection with bills below indicate opening day of show whether full or split week Letter in parentheses indicates circuit. (FM) Fancien Marce; (I) Independent; (L) Loew; (M) Moss; (F) Faramount; (K) RKO; (S) Stoll; (T) Tivoll; (W) Warner; (W) Moss; (F) Fanda (M) Molify Fanda

Roxyettes
Spitalny Singers
Arnold Shoda
Manuel Chod
Manuel Chod
Gerry Mohoney
Blades Belles
ATLANYA
FOX (P) 24 (2)
Johnnie Ray
4 Lads
Garry Morton
B & C Robinson
Wells & 4 Fays
ellage0 New York City Music Hall (1) 24 Step Bros om & Jerry orps de Ballet Rockettes
Sym Orc
Robert Shackleton
Choral Ensemble
Palace (R) 21
Will Mahoney
L & T Leung
Norman Brooks
Parks L & T Leung Norman Brooks Norman Brooks Madge & Karr Honey Girls Yvonne Moray Chester Dolphin Faramount (P) 23 Foot Cornellee Orc Don Cornellee Orc Don Cornellee Trudy Richards Trudy Richards Trudy Richards Trudy Richards Trudy Richards This Foster Phil Foster B & C ROBINSON
Wells & 4 Fays
CHICAGO
Chicago (P) 25
Tu-Tones
Bobby Wayne
Errol Garner 3
Toni Aren
WSHINGTOR
WSHINGTOR
Gloria Jean
Jackle Kannon
Martin Bros

AUSTRALIA

RALIA

| Babs Mackinnon |
| Rosemary Miller |
| Rosemary Miller |
| Valerie Keast |
| Robert Levis |
| Sydney |
| Market Maurice |
| 3 Dates Ladd |
| Guy Nelson |
| Renita Kramer |
| Bounamy & Suzette |
| Sonya Coffeciu |
| 12 Show Girls |
| 10 Nudes |
| 5 Boy Dancers & Singers | MELBOURNE Tivoli (Y) 21 Tommy Trinder Tommy Trinder
4 Botonds
Halama & Konarski
Prof Olgo
Carl Ames
Royston MacGregor
Harry Moreny
Tony Lamond
Peter

Peter
4 Singing Girls
2 Show Girls
4 Dancing Boys
12 Adorables
ADELAIDE Royal (T) 21 amy Hanley

BRITAIN

6 Boy Da

BLIACKPOOL
Opara House (I) 21
Loran House (I) 21
Lo

Swan & Letga
Irving Kaye
Establicals
Establicals
Reggle Redcliffe
R & M Lumar
Tower Circus (I) 21
C Cairoli & Paul
Knie's Hous &
Rose Gold 3
Chezzi Bros
Knie's Horses &
Zebras
Regge Sis
Regge Sis
Lao
Knie's Lippicanas
Jackle Lupescu
Oliveras
Knie's Animal
Carousel

De Vere Girls
George Eirlek
MAGOGENEAST HAM
MAGOGENEAM (1) 21
Sam Bear (1) 21
Sam Bear (1) 21
Sam Bear (1) 21
De Yong & Delysia
Vincent Caygill
Terry Moore,
Dunn & Grant
Gays & Sanner
Jenn & Grant
Gays & Sanner
David & Lee
Lealle Adams
Street Singers
De Lelo ,Ballet
Leroys
Leroys Lingers
De Lelo ,Ballet
Leroys
Files (M) 21
Arthur Lane
John Mann
Deryck Barnes
Dorls Yorke

Empire (M) 21
Torin Gays (1)
Torin Gays (1)
Torin Sadler
Torin Sadler
Rolly Rolls
Jackler
Michael Bentine

Jackle
Michael Bentine
Rex & Bessie
Morris & Cowley
Wilson
Keppel & Betty

Res BRISTO Empire (I) 21
Alyce Dev
Jackie Todd
Jaynes & Cardener
Heltones
B & B. Adams
Addrey Mann
Dove Starr
"calaires"
"Advables
"4) 21

Witton to the control of the control Vocalaires Funfair Adorables Hippodrome (S) 21 Ralph Reader Fred Stone Cibitord Henry Rex Jameson Deris Erea Sweet Cithtord Henry Rex Jameson Their Brown Freeze States Richard Gibert Reyan Bradley Roger Avon Anthony Gill David Bain David Bain David Bain Manuelle Bain Manuel

Grant Ballet
Eva & Nick
Olga Varona
Falladium Girls
Skyrockets Orc
MANCHESTER
Hopodeome (3) 21
Minute
Hutch
Jill Manners
A & V Farrell
Doreen & Victor
Cawalini's Dogs
Jean Paul
Falsac
Wilson
Falsac
Serial
Falsac
Wilson
Forsythe & Seamon
Eddie Gordon & N
MEWCASTLE

Forsythe & Seamor Eddie Gordon & N MEWCASTLE Empire (M) 21 Sugar Chile Robbisone Morecambe & Wise Angelos Len Young & Saylons A J Powers Paula Coutts Condons MOTTINGHAM Empire (M) 21 Bartlett & Ross Motting & Fost Sugar Su

FORTSMOUTH Royal (M) 21 Mitchell Glee Club Jimmy Clitheros Mitchell Glee Jimmy Clithero Karina Arthur White Vadio & Hertz Sonny Burke Rexanos Joyce Dancers

Whitersy YORK Empire (I) 21 Joe Black Mirlam Pearse M & S Davies Nevlile Williams Embassy Lovelles Dorothy Brandon Eddle Hart Bebe Norma NEW ZEALAND

CHRISTCHURCH Royal (7) 21 Armand Perren 3 Fayes Pat Gregory Gerd Bjornstad Chribi Merika Saary

Phillip Tappin
Wim De Jong
Jacques Cartaux
Jumy Elder
Joa Whitehouse
Citsy Trenholm
Terry Scanlon
Bicx & Myrna

Cabaret Bills

NEW YORK CITY

Birdland
Count Basie Orc
Blue Angel
Eartha Kitt
Josh White
Portia Nelson
Orson Bean

Portia Nelson
Orson Bean
Mac Ban Sair
Mac Bancuzcis
Manma Daniels
J Flames
Norene Tate
Garland Wilson
Joel
Garland Wilson
Joel
Capacabem
Capacabem
Joel
Capacabem
Capa

Eduardo Royano Embers Embers Erroll Garner French Casino Cinette Wander Harry Seguela Jane Laste Jane Harry Jasse Bros Buddy Clayton Gordon Hamilton Vincent Travers Harry Lupino & Urbino, Jose Curbelo Ore Hotel Ambassador Jules Lande Ore Hotel Astor

Hotel Ambassador Jules Lande Orc Hotel Astor Carmen Cavallaro Michael Rent Orc Moren Rent Orc Moren Rent Elma Raffloer Joan Walden Adrian Kollini Prio Hotel New Yorker State Stat

MIAMI-MIAMI BEACH

Bar of Music
Bill Jordan
David Billott
Bill Jordan
David Billott
Al Robinson & Ike
Van Kirk
Beachcomber
Lecuona Boys
Steve G, Vs
Los Romanos
Analove
Los Romanos
Ramove
Norma Parker
Schna Marlove Line
Frank Stanley Ore
Milt Fields Ore
Classiblenca
Gracie Barrie
Jimmy Burns
allit Roberts Ore
Clover Club

AMI BEACH

Nov-Elites (3)
Ed May
Carivle Havana Rev
Joey Adams
Tony Lopez Orc
Delimonico
Jack Almeda
Crayton. & Lopez
Carlos & Mellisa Orc
George Mamba
George Minera
Latin-American Rev
Lao & Minera
Five O'Clock
Harry Richman
Martha Raye
Sten Yosh
Len Dawson Orc
Frolic Club
Senorita Herraro

Kathla McCay
Don Charles Ore
Lembardy
Don Enterles Ore
Lembardy
Don Baker Ore
Honty Taylor
Manolo & Ethel
Danny Yates Ore
Rose & Paul
Vincents
Large Monde Carle
Day Yates Ore
Rose & Faul
Vincents
Day Aden Carle
Don Baker Kelly's
Joe Di Lalla
Terry Swope
Doles Dickens
The Large Swope
Doles Dickens
The Ravellus Helen Forrest
Tho Bradys (2)
Freddy Calo Ore
Rotanne
Rotanne
Connie Del Monts

SCUNTHORPE
Savey (I) 21
Tom Moss
Shenton Harris
At Shaw
De Vere Lovelles
4 Water Goons
2 Aqua Malds
SHEPHERDS EUSH
Empire (S) 21
Carroll Levis & Co
Vogelbein's Bears
Bert Brooks
Lawman & Joy
Avril & Irene
SOUTHAMPTON
GARAGE
STORY OF THE STORY
AVRIL & Irene
SOUTHAMPTON
GARAGE
SOUTHAMPTON
HASICAL
SOUTHAMPTON
GARAGE
SOUTHAMPTON
HASICAL
HASICAL
SOUTHAMPTON
HASICAL
HAS Flasi Lane
Rozanne
Connie Del Monte
Ernie Bell Ore
Ernie Bell Ore
Ernie Bell Ore
Man Pepper
The Jesters
Galeiv Club
Len E. Ross
Orga Britett
Georgia Peech
Che-Che
Lynn Clayton
Galety Girls
Green Hard
Do Mar Ore
Johnlina Hotel
Del Casino
Yvonne DeLane

Tony Malas
Randule
Leen & Eddle's
fabe Baker Revus
Marray Swanson
Jackie Gordon
Jackie Gordon
Jackie King
Chuckie Yontaine
Larry Seldin Ders
Same Souci Hefat
Lenny Kennin
Eddle Shyder
Sacony Hofes
Jeff Davis
Russel & Joy
Val Olman Ders
Jackie Gordon
The Saconters
Shore Club
Rosalia & Carlas
Michael Selser Ore
Shere Cut

Michael Selber Or Sheremeda Preacher Rollo & Tohy Fastor's Jackie Small Chi-Chi Laverne Kitty O'Kelly Jamie Lynn Pat Pascall Kenny Lynn Kenny Lynn Vagabonds Club
Vagabonds (4)
Maria Neglia
Chandra Kaly
Dancers
Geo Horton
Frank Linale Oro
Bobby True
Dauglas: Duke Trio

CHICAGO

Blackhawk
Kay Coulter
Renny Bowers
Grant Eastham
Pat Carroll
Dave LeGrant
Barbara Cook
Mariann D'Or
Carl Sanda Orc
Chex Paree

Chex Parce
Chex Parce
Joe E. Lewis
with Austin Mack
Consolo & Melba
Johnny Martin
Chex Adoxables (8).
B Farnon ore (8)
Conrad Hite Hot Hot'l
Adele Inge
Eric Waite
Diana Grafton

CAGO

Charles & Lucille
Cayanaugh
Dennis & Darlene
Marie McClonaghan
Warie McClonaghan
Philip Fraser
Terry Taylor
Donald Tobin
George Zak
Boulevan-deaturs (8)
Edulevan-deaturs (8)
Kejawashear Esach
Tommy Dorsey Orc
with Francis Irwin
Charles Shavers
Beachcombers (3)
Levit and Van
Charles Shavers
Beachcombers (3)
Levit and Van
Helen Wood
Eddie O'Neal Orc

Ambassader Hotel Freddy Martin Orc Stuart Wade Murray Arhold The Martin Men 18 & Ahm Fairell Sevenly Lains Felix Decola Beverly Lains Felix Decola Benna Rubinyi Eddle Bradford Orc B Gray's Bandbox Billy Gray Patti Moore Ben Lessy Pepper Sis (3)

LOS ANGELES Bilfmore Helet
Irene Ryan
Tippy & Cobins
Lor Gatos (3)
Hai Drog Gato
Ann Anderson
Jimmie Ames
Vivian Lloyd
Don Sheffey
Jimmy Wakely
Peny Wakely
Peny Wakely
Peny Wakely
Bobby Ramos Ore
Mecambe
Billy Daniels
Benny Payne
Eddie Oliver

Ben Lessy Pepper Sis (3) Bob Durwood Bill Howe

LAS VEGAS, NEVADA Desert Inn Frank Sinetra

Zeh Carver Ore
Pete Rubind
Village Vanguard
Village Vanguard
Rubind Village Vanguard
Robits Surv
Survis Surv
Robits Surv
Reserved Villams
Chavalds de Espana
The Coloman Ore
Mischa Borr Ore
Mischa Lamar
Royal Ashtons
Danielle Lamar
Royal Marily Ross
Collette Fleuriot
Marilyn Hightower
Marilyn Bross
Mill Trio
Campo Ore
Marila Strate
Cam Desert Inn
Frank Sinatra
Paul Gilbert
Frank Sinatra
Paul Gilbert
Frank Sinatra
Paul Gilbert
Sinclait & Alda
Sill Skipper
El Rancho Girls
El Rancho Girls
El Rancho Girls
Silver Silper
Kalantan
Joaquin Garar
Mac Williams
Joaquin Garar
Joaquin Garar
Joaquin Garar
Mac Williams
Joaquin Garar
Joaquin Garar
Joaquin Garar
Mary Kaye Trlo
Szony's
El Rancho Girls
Silver Silper
Kalantan
Joaquin Silver
Kalantan
Jimmy Cavanaug
Dolly Lee Line
Jimmy Cavanaug
Jimmy Cav

Mary Kaye Trio Szony's Bill Skipper El Rancho Girls Ted Fio Rito Orc

Ted Fio Rito Orc

Silver Silpper
Woo Woo Stevens
Kalantan
Hank Henry
Roberto
Isabelle Dawn
Jimmy Cavanaugh
Dolly Lee Line
George Redman
Pud Brown
Dixielanders

De-Iced Jap Coin

Continued from page 3

and some harsh words before the and some harsh words before the sack of coin was split among them). Actual amount released to the American companies, the Finance Ministry announced, was $2,465,941 in dollars, plus £1,175,082 in sterling. The MPAA was permitted to reconvert the sterling into dollars through a Tokyo bank at $2,30 to the pound (official rate is $2,90). to the pound (official rate is $2.80) This gave the Americans an additional $2 700 600 in dollars, making tional $2.702.600 in dollars, making a total of $5.168.629.

Amount that had piled up until the end of March aggregated approximately $12,000,000 (4,300,000,000 yen). As the result of a long series of negotiations by Col. Richard T. McDonnell, representing the MPAA here, the Jabs agreed that approximately $8,520,000 (2,967,760,000 yen) of that sum should be made available for conversion. Remainder was claimed as taxes or was put to other uses.

Of the 4,300,000,000 yen, the Japanese agreed, the Finance Min-

Of the 4,300,000,000 yen, the Japanese agreed, the Finance Ministry said, to allow 30% to be converted to dollars at the official rate and 40% to be converted into sterling (with the proviso that the sterling could be reconverted into sterling could be reconverted into dollars unofficially). The remaining 30% will stay in the icebox according to the Japs. although McDonnell is known to be making affects to at heart with the state of the state o efforts to get heat under it

Night Club Reviews.

Cire's, Hollywood Hollywood, July 18, Jimmy Wakely, vith Noel, Boggs & Billy Wright, Peiro Bros. (2), Dick Stabile's Orch (8); Tony Martinez Rhumband (5); cover, $2.

Offbeat booking of an oatune stan into this swank Sunset Strip probabily won't produce any great financial return, but it should prove a fine showcasing for Jimmy Wakely in terms of class niteries. He agreed to jump in with, literally, only a few hours notice when Sy Melano was forced to bow out of his bigtime debut because of laryngitis.

out of his bigtime debut because of laryngitis.

Meagre financial outlook stems only from the fact that the town's sophisticates won't give themselves a chance to discover what Wakely has to offer—which happens to be a good show, A poised and personable performer, Wakely pounds over a fine 20-minute stint. He's show-wise enough to stay away from the strictly cactus chapting and inclusion of such items as the currently pop "Anytime" gives the turn a broader appeal. Wakely backs his fine crooning with self-accomp on the guitar and gets an occasional assist on the steel guitar from Noel Boggs and on fiddle from Billy Wright, both of whom he brought in with him. Combo rates constant attention.

Petro Bros., who came in with rates constant attention.

Peiro Bros, who came in with Melano, provide-a fast opener with knockabout juggling, using hats sticks, blocks and clubs to maintain constant attention. Some comedy patter and mock vocalizing add variety to the turn.

Dick Stabile's crew does a fine job of show-backing, meshing neathy with Wakely's assistants to get the proper frame for his vocalizing. On terp stuff, Stabile now is alternating with Tony Martinez.

Kap.

Colony & Astor, London London, July 16.
Hermione Baddeley, Felix King
Orch, Don Carlos Samba Band,
Wallace Rockett Orch; $5.50 mini-

For many years a star in intimate revue, on films, radio, and TV, Hermione Baddeley plays rare cabaret engagements. It is prohably her infrequent appearances on the cafe floor that have resulted in the inadequacy of her material and act, though she's undoubtedly got the talent.

act, though she's undoubtedly got the talent.

This shortage of suitable cafe material, which has so frequently restricted the success of British artists, is undoubtedly due to the limited bookings a local artist can get in the West End. Outside this square mile there is no nitery trade in the country. This, more than anything else, may explain why so many Americans come to Britain and collar the best dates as well as the rave notices.

For this two-week engagement

well as the rave notices.

For this two-week engagement, doubling at these two Berkeley Square spots, Miss Baddeley, has prepped some original material and blended it not too successfully with old numbers. The basic weakness of the act it that it lacks punch and cannot be sustained for more than a modest 20 minutes.

Act is handsomely backed by the Act is handsomely backed by the Felix King combo. Myro.

500 Club, A. C.
Atlantic City, July 16.
Myron Cohen, Tony Bari, The Haydens, Lee Henderson Dancers
(5), Pete Mitler, Joe Frasetto; $3
minimum.

Myron Cohen is the headliner in the 500 Club and has that intimacy that's a must for working this 500-seater. Dialect stories go over well with payees, many of them being punched across with that gesture which sometimes does more to register the story than the spoken word.

Willie Shore, with his takeover of the spot formerly occupied by Jackie Kannon at the Latin Quarter, makes his first N. Y. nitery appearance in three years. Shore is a pleasant performer who knows his way with verbiage and does excellently in the terp department. His dancing remains the highlight of his act. He has the skill of a challeng remains the highlight of his act. He has the skill of a challeng remains the highlight of his act. He has the skill of a challeng remains the highlight of his act. He has the skill of a challeng remains the highlight of his act. He has the skill of a challeng remains the highlight of his act. He has restyled his stuff to advantage.

Business continues excellently at this Lou Walters spot, and for good reason, too. There's enough color and spectacle to make this a top buy for both tourists and natives alike. Fact that the pace can be continued, despite the temporary absence of the flashy Darvas & Julla, is sufficient testimonial to the amount of entertainment in this layout.

The Mme. Kamarova production holds up well and provides not only an appropriate casing for the acts, but stands well on its own as entertainment. The undersea ballet, as well as the other, line contributions, keep up the interest.

The Seven Ashtons, six males and a girl, combine for some hreathaking risky work. They do some amazing tricks, including a male understander who makes foot-to-foot catches and also works three performers on his feet simultaneously.

The singing acts include Marilyn Ross, who does well as the sole America songstress in this talent collection. Other singers are Danielle Lamar, who does a variation of the stripteuse theme while knocking off Gallic chansons, and Collette Fleuriob and Andre Philippe, who do a couple of brief turns effectively. Production dancing is by Marilyn Hightower, who shows considerable accomplishment in the ballet field.

Gautier's Steeplechase provider an added lift toward the end of the show with this pleasing animal act. The ponies are specially shod with l

La Nouvelle Eve, Paris

Rene Bardy presentation of Jean Marsac production of 'flistoires D'Eve," with Jean Villers, Josette Delly, Ami Aaroe, Mayfair
Lovelies (20); Bobby Brandt, Eve
Cirls (28), Danielle Darmance,
Trio Gipsys (3), Tosca De Lac,
Trio Gipsys (3), Tosca De Lac,
Torit & Rene Arno, Jean Laporte
Orch (12); cover, 1,200 francs
($3.50).

Rene Bardy runs La Nouvelle Eve and the original sister counterpart, the Eve, farther down the street on Place Pigalle. Nouvelle Eve is a lush boite with a $3.50 cover and champagne starting at 4,000 francs ($10). Full of splash, nudity, color and what the tourist expects in the way of a Pigalle nitery, this gets SRO play here, mostly with fourist possessing the green and some carriage-trade French set. Show runs continuously from 10:30 to 4 a.m., which breaks for dancing to the agree able music of the Jean Laporle orch.

This is a fast-paced show exquisitely dressed, an eyefiller rather than an outstanding entertainment spot. Show starts with a black and white number with well proportioned gals dancing or posing in revealing costumery in the background. Small revolving floor is well futilized and filled, and there is a fine changeover between numbers, with one blending into another after well-composed finale tableaus.

In between the unending pro-which sometimes does more to register the story than the spoken word.

Cohen has all kinds of yarns most of them told in Yiddish dialect and all well received. And all clean.

Tony Bari, in second spot, is a romantic tenor whose specialty is Neapolitan numbers. Bari has a fine, clear voice, and his numbers are well received.

The Haydens, girl and boy dance team, score nicely. Climax act with Charleston in costume of the "20s.

Lee Henderson dancers (5) complete bill with two numbers, first a boogic-woogie bit and then a number done to "Broadway Rhythm." with Anita Carter doing the vocal. Girls have class and pleased those out front.

Joe Frasetto does a nice job as he emcees and with Pete Miller batons music for performers.

Walk.

Chicago, Chi

Chicago, July 22.
Toni Arden, Erroll Garner Trio,
Bobby Wayne, Tu-Tones, Fred
Reynolds, Jim Lounsbury, Jack
Eigen, Howard Miller, Irv Kaplan
Orch; "She's Working Her Way Through College" (20th).

In for two weeks, this disk jockey show might bridge the gap between the star attractions which the theatre usually lines up for summer fare. There's no top-name value here, and the record names are not in the current "Top 10" listings. However, thought of seeing the disk jockeys in person night pull some curios in, and besides there is all the free air time for plugs and the tie-in with the platter firms.

platter firms.
Individually, all the acts are not bad, but the interjections of non-talent gabbers and the lack of an excellent emcee to tie things together makes each act not only start from scratch, but also overcome the handicap of the jock who just laughed himself to death on his own (?) material.

Total Arden draws closing honors come the handrach of the sock with just laughed himself to death on his own (?) material.

Tonl Arden draws closing honors here, with petite miss using the big-voice style of the male singers now, impressing mostly with her "I'm Yours," which has some sexy overtones; "Lover," which she does straight first and then bops up, and then "Take My Heart." She really whips up things with her "Kiss of Fire" for good finale.

Erroll Garner and his trio are a relaxing 10 or 12 minutes in this hodge-podge, with the 88er playing lots of piano. There are no frills or gab with this artist, and penaps it's a small error, but announcing the numbers might help instead of going sinto each tune without a speech break. Most of his stuff is in the "Laura," "Penthouse Serenade" idiom, which is bit too soft for this vast house, but he overcomes this with some digiting on "Honeysuckle Rose."

Bobby Wayne packages a brace of non tunes, with the youngster

Bobby Wayne packages a brace of pop tunes, with the youngster impressing not only in the "big boom" songs but also in the simple ballad, "Auf Wiedersehn" which is ballad, "Auf Wiedersehn" which is an excellent change of pace. His "Wheel of Fortune," which is his big record seller, is a natural and firm clincher.

ing record series is an accordion due with a great deal of hoke comedy which goes over well. It's not the squeeze-boxing that gets the applause, but the scat singing of "Chinatown," the Bonnel Baker baby voice of "Oh! Johnny," and takeoffs on Three Suns and Harmonicats that get them off well. As to the so-called platter-turners, American Guild of Varlety Artists should be glad when they return to their American Federation of Radio Artists duties next week.

Kaplan continues to do a job batoning the house or-ra. Zabe.

Empire, Glasgow
Glasgow, July 16.
Jack Benny, with Teddy Johnson & Co., McAndrews & Mills,
Reggie Redcliffe, Clifford Guest,
Krista & Kristel, Chris Charlton,
The Harvards; Bill Matthew Orch.

Jack Benny, who makes so much play of. "The meanest man on earth" tag, has a natural audience in Scots, famed "through false legend for their own alleged meanness. Comedian is a solid click here, impressing strongly in 55 minutes of witty one-man talk.

ness. Comedian is a solid click here, impressing strongly in 55 minutes of witty one-man talk. His surprised look of hurt, the big glassy eyes that search out for sympathy, his topical barbs and cracks (like the one he uses about Danny Kaye) are all used to top effect. Benny is a quiet comedian using none of the aggressive vitality associated with other American comics, and for this reason his with here is a welcome contrast. Besides, he shows a good knowledge of the Scottish layout in geography and local conditions, bringing local names into his act and even gagging about the Scottish comedian, Tommy Morgan, currently playing at the rival Pavilion Theatre across the street. In place of Dennis Day (off on vacation to Eire), Benny uses the young English singer and former disk jockey, Teddy Johnson. Latter is a very green and former disk jockey, Teddy Johnson Latter is a very green onable with a disarrange mig smile, and he proves a sound foil for Benny's fooling, adding swile, and he proves a sound foil for Benny's fooling, adding in singer doing an impersonation of Johnny Ray singing "Cry" and the comic garding doing an impersonation of lord by find the provides are to bring on his violin is solid for laughs, this culminating in singer doing an impersonation of lord bring down on his knees, then his back, determined to make. Comic's act is neatly rounded of by offistage playing of a gramo-phone record revealing his innermost thoughts, the while Benny does a solo on 'fits violin. Prior to disage a solo on 'fits violin. Prior to this, he introduces three gals from Hollywood in a takeoff, the "Landrews Sisters" act bringing solid mitting from stubholders. Gals are a ludicrous trio, with the turn having been tested recently on a marrier of the state ing been tested recently Benny TV show in America, Benny's artistry and showman-ship are strong talking points among vaude goers and T-viewers here. His superb timing and clown-ing merit top praise on his first-ever visit to Glasgow, and there's no doubt it won't be his last.

no doubt it won't be his last.

Support bill on this occasion is fairly strong, with neat dancing from McAndrews & Mills, mystifing magic by Chris Charlton (assisted by a femme, Betty), and easy-on-the-eye grace plus skill on the trapeze from two twin-stylegarbed femmes, Krista & Kristel. Bill Matthew handles the baton competently and aids Benny in some initial repartee.

Gord.

Metropolitan, Boston

Boston, July 18.
Johnnie Ray, Gary Morton, Bud
& Cece Robinson, 4 Lads, Wells &
4 Fays, Joe Reisman Met Orch
(17); "Captain Pirate" (Col).

In an attempt to cash in on the current popularity of Johnnie Ray, the spacious Met has relit its stage for the second time in four months, and while opening show was disappointing boxoficewise, less than half capacity at 4,367 seater, the bobbysoxers made up in vociferousness what they lacked in numbers. However, Martin & Lewis during their stint here last March falled to pack 'em in opening day but built to wind with a boff gross, and Ray may do likewise.

Ray had the kids screaming from his walkon, throughout his sobbing renditions of "Walking Baby Home," "Little White Cloud," "All of Me," "Broken Hearted" and the cause of his rapid ascendancy, "Cry." Sometimes accompanying himself at the 88, Ray also wanders around the stage clawing the air and giving out with emotional spasm that leave the audience and himself limp.

The balance of the layout is fast and scores neatly. Emceed by Gary himself limp.

The balance of the layout is fast and scores neatly. Emceed by Gary Morton, whose flippancies keep the audience in gay mood, bill gets off the floor with tumbling and acro antics of Wells and the Four Fays. Reaping almost as much screaming as the headliner, the Four Lads, a vocal group identified with Ray's platters, hit the applause jackpot with harmonizing of; "Shine," "Mocking Bird" and "Wabash Cannonball."

Bud & Gees Bahinson elicit to me and so with the service of the service

nonball."

Bud & Cece Robinson, slick terp duo, are especially solid cavorting through softshoe, Charleston and tap routines, enhanced by their attractiveness.

Steel Pier, A. C.
Atlantic City, July 17.
Dagmar, Alan Carney, Annell &
Brask, Buster Shaver & Olive, 4
Evans, House Orch (10); "Rodeo"
(Mono).

Dagmar is the best draw George Hamid has had in his Steel Pier vaudeville so far this year, filling almost to capacity (5,200 seats) the Music Hall both evening shows and drawing well in the earlier stanzas.

She gives the payees a full half hour of laughs, Most of her stuff is written so that it intentionally focuses on her ample figure, her biggest attraction as far as those out front are concerned anyway. Her material is worked into skits with her husband, Danny Dayton; Alan Carney, who emcees, plus other members of the company. She bounces on, after flowery intro from Carney, attired in tightly fitting golden sequin evening gown. Goes through a bit whereby she is welcomed by a "Chamber of Commerce" representative (Dayton) with wrong words and wrong meaning keeping them guffawing. Sings two numbers, "Them There Eyes" and "Embraceable You."

Dayton, Carney and Dagmar pull one of the payees onto the stage

Lott & Joe Anders, Johnny Barnes, Pauline Thorn & Escorts (2), Day Dreamers (4), Roy Benson, Mme. Claude Valots, Ben Wrigley (3), Nio Natto, "Shadow in the Sky" (M.G.), reviewed in Variety Dec. 19, '51.

With most of the acts on the current Palace bill knowing this house through previous visits here, the layout has a great measure of smoothness and good playing values. Program has a booking conflict at the open and close, with juggling an integral part of both acts, but the turns are sufficiently separated so that the effects are minimized.

At the curtain, Lott & Joe Anders work a pair of unleycles, with male doing manipulations of hoops, clubs and balls while riding the wheel. They work rapidly and get a good warmup for the house. Closing turn is Nio Naitto, Oriental wire-walker, who similarly spends some time juggling. Her work, however, comprises mainly acro maneuvers on the strand, and she holds the crowd neatly. In the deuce, Johnny Barnes provides some okay taps. He goes in heavily for rubber-legged antics, which aren't as smooth as they should be, but his picturesque routines plus an essentially fast tap and good rity the Drittle bracet where and good my amount a good exit.

In the comedy department, Ben Wrigley, the British import, who's assisted by a man and woman, hits the jackpot with his limber-limbed comedy. He does comedy contor-

the jackpot with his limber-limbed comedy. He does comedy contortions excellently, has some zany dance steps and a well-built routine that adds up to top applause. Roy Benson's magic and a good line of chatter similarly keep the audience interested. His tricks are standard, but he distinguishes himself with his banter.

Under New Acts are Mme. Claude Valois, Day Dreamers (3) and Paule Thorn & Escorts (2). Jo Lombardi does his usually good job at the baton.

Paramount, L. A.

Los Angeles, July 18.

Xavier Cugat Orch (20) with
Abbe Lane, Los Barrancos, Eddy
Garson with Chico Chico, Jose
Wong, Carmencita, El Gringo,
Diablito, Ki Ki; "Stolen Face" (Lin).

Casine, Ricki; "Stolen Face" (Lip).

First of the big stage shows planned by the recently refurbished downtown Paramount shapes up as a profit-maker, although not as strong as anticipated. Layout itself, however, is a hefty 50 minutes of entertainment cued to the Latin mood and slickly sold by Xavier Cugat.

Maestro-himself does comparatively little in the layout. He indulges in a little humor regarding his recent marital publicity and languorously fiddles "Estrellita" as his spotlight offering. In addition to the Cugat orch, which could do more instrumental stuff, show boasts some fine south-of-the-border talent in Los Barrancos, an excellent dance team that pounds over everything from mambo to jitterbug; El Gringo, who scores heavily with a tambourine specialty. Eddy Garson, whose slick ventriloquism is matched by some good comedy material, and Jose Wong, who has dropped his "Irish Eyes Are Smiling" gimmick in favor of Latune vocal surprises.

Top-billed in support is Abbe Lane (Mrs. Cugat), a sultry singer, whose closing spot encompasses a medley of tunes popularized by Cugat, Gal is a looker and handles herself well.

Casino-Toronto

New Acts

DORETTA MORROW Songs 22 Mins. Thunderbird, Las Veras

Nitery debut of Doretta Morrow, before release of her co-starring stint with Mario Lanza in Metro's "Because You're Mine," is not too advantageous for the thrush looker in this spot. She will have to depend pretty much upon word-of-mouth enthusiasm to bring in crowds. Her year's performance in "The King and I" would be an okay lure in New York, but in Vegas, most fun-seekers are tempted by standard saloon acts, screen names, platter faves and the like, instead of musicomedy nomenclature.

Miss Morrow is a looker with momenciature.

Miss Morrow is a looker with frame to match. Her soprano goes over a wide repertoire of songs. Venturing into "King and I" numbers immediately, Miss Morrow makes a good impression with "Getting to Know You," "Whistle a Happy Tune" and "I Have a Happy Tune" and "I

"Getting to Know You," "Whistle a Happy Trune" and "I Have Dreamed." Reaches into standard catalog for "You're a Sweetheart" and "They Can't Take That Away From Me," before giving full voice to "Because You're Mine." Latter, by Nicholas Brodsky, is from score of her recently completed pic and wins high favor. Gallic coupling of "Give Em the Co-La-La," and "La Seine" is neat contrast, with transition into "Hello, Young Lovers" a honey. "Cumbanchero" is employed as a quickle encore following salvos for

"Cumbanchero" is employed as a quickle encore following salvos for "Lovers."

Miss Morrow shows warmth and keeps chatter to minimum. Her fine arrangements are by Jack Hayes, who accomps at the Steinway onstage. Promise is shown for class spots.

MME, CLAUDE VALOIS Equestrienne 8 Mins.

DINO VALE

DINO VALE

Songs
12 Mins.
Casino, Toronto
Föllowing preliminary nite club work, this marks first stage appearance of a young man who alternately blends a whispering style with robust baritone letouts. His opening "Walking My Baby Back Home" is a pleasantry done by other youngsters, ditto his dramatic "I Hear a Rhapsody," but he then hits the audience with his minicry of the finger-snapping Billy Daniels in "Black Magie," a trick falsetto in the Ink Spots "I T Didn't Care" and a wham satire on Johnnie Ray's "Cry." However, youngster's act is based on the attempted mimicry of established headliner songsters' styles and it's just another imitation medley that is never as good as the originals' material he is lifting. Vale's own voice is pleasant to listen to and he should develop his own style instead of imitations that are not up to the excellence of the originals

McStay.

DAY DREAMERS (4)

DAY DREAMERS (4)

DAY DREAMERS (4)
Songs
11 Mins.
Palace, N. Y.
The Day Dreamers, comprising three boys and a girl, are built along the standard of most mixed quartets. This team has been around for some time on radio and tele, but haven't been previously documented in Variety's New Acts files.
Quartet has smoothly tailored arrangements. They knock out novelty, rhythm and ballads to provide variety. Numbers include "Big Wide Wonderful World," wind up with "Old Man River" given a big treatment. It nets them an excellent mitting. Jose.

PAULINE THORN & ESCORTS

Equestrienne
3 Mins.
7 a'ace, N. Y.
Mme. Claude Valois, who has been with the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus for several seasons, displays a skilled highschool horse turn. Mme. Valois is strikingly gowned a la matador, and makes an impressive appearance.
The beast knocks off some tricky steps. Madame paces him through broken rhythms, tango steps and a rapidly-paced waltz which gives her good exit mitting. The turn is well routined with a minimum of wasted motion. Jose,

TV No Threat To Dutch Pix

props, has been substantially streamlined.

There are fewer seats, and these are concentrated in one section of the stand. Technicians for radio, TV and telephone wires have been moved further to sides, again toning down distractions. Thanks to a heavy wire mesh fence surrounding speaker's stand—not evident on screen—nulsance of platform crashing muggers seems well eliminated.

Yesterday's (Mon.) video audiences could easily spot VIP's, like Senate Secretary Leslie Bliffle, sitting on stand, without previous confusion.

confusion.

There are still impromptu shots, such as the one of Illinois Governor Adlai Stevenson taking a last-minute look at his notes and giving his tie a final twist before going to the speaker's stand. But without these, show would lack spontaneity.

Readjustment of the Teleprompter is. if anything, a disappointer is.

spontaneity.

Readjustment of the Teleprompter is, if anything, a disappointment to John Q., who got a kick of behind-scenes peep into the ways of politicos during the GOP meet. Device has been lowered out of range of cameras, so that effect of those who use it is exactly the same as that of reading from notes, with occasional lowering of the head to get the next thought. Only visual aid in opening speeches was a map to illustrate areas of Far East discussed by Sen, Douglas.

Cameras are definitely more selective in pickups from the floor, making for greater interest. Indications are that there will again be complete coverage, hence dull moments are inevitable. But floor shots, especially closeups, show increasing showmanship and know-how. On opening day these were confined to shots of pretty show increasing showmanship and know-how. On opening day these were confined to shots of pretty delegates, closeups of attentive faces, and a human interest shot of a delegate munching sandwich during his speech. This is convention flavor; the viewer gets an on the scene feeling from such camera eavesdropping.

Greatest asset to current coverage is, undoubtedly, advantage of personalities better known to the public than Republicans. Demmies, with their 20-year tenure, have become household familiars, and are exploiting this to the hilt. Opening day's speakers were, too, far better on the oratorical side than Republicans mustered. Stevenson, current man of the hour, for example, carried more general interest than anyone the GOP's could muster on their first day. All this made for better programming and a faster moving show.

Party leaders may well be thankful to TV for not once training cameras on the half empty galleries at the opening gavel. Whether or not this was deliberate, it was certainly a break for the Demmies.

Running story on the first day.

Running story on the first day was largely a pool job. ABC was the gabblest of the nets, with three studio interviews interrupting studio interviews interrupting story in first two hours. Actually, this type of interruption adds color and interest when the going this color and interest when the going gets dull.

With the convention still young, and viewers still fresh, however, this seemed to be too much of a good thing.

Generally, commentators are already of the conventions and the conventions are already or a relations.

commentators Generally, commentators are taking criticism to heart, and there's far less gabbiness and interpretation of a running story. This is all to the good, giving viewer a chance to see for himself. All three nets are making greater use of identifying superimpositions, and commercials are tighter. Average was three within first 90 minutes of coverage, with almost 45 minutes uninterrupted by plugs, except for 10 second superimposed commercials.

Final score will not be in until

Final score will not be in Final score will not be in until last vote has been counted and last delegate returned home. But the initial efforts are promising and there's little doubt that this convention's floor story will be told with more coherence and less confusion than its predecessor.

AGMA Wins Fight on Wage Hikes, Foreign Ratio in New Metop Pact

from the Metropolitan Opera Assn. but only after a stiff fight, in its new two-year pact for '52-'53 and '53-'54, signed last week. Main problems involved pay increases and ratio of foreign talent. Met management cited deficits as reason for not wanting to raise scales, while Met general manager Rudolf Bing wanted the present foreign ratio thrown out. AGMA held its ground on both sides and won out.

Principal singers hired on a per-Principal singers hired on a performance basis had minimum salary raised from $100 to $150. Singers hired on weekly basis were upped from $150 to $175. Minimums for stage directors and choreographers were raised from $150 to $200; for assistant stage directors, $150 instead of $130. Solo dancers on weekly basis will get $125 minimum instead of $100.

Apprentice singers on weekly salary will now start at $135, get $150 the second year, and $175 the third, instead of the $120-135-150

AGMA also won a couple other AGMA also won a couple other concessions involving salaries. Talent getting less than $250 a week or per performance will no longer have to furnish their own costumes and wigs. Met will furnish these to them, as well as to any secondary role singers. Guild believes this will save singers a lot of money.

Tour Concessions

Tour Concessions

AGMA also won two new tour concessions. If the Met exercises an artist's option for the annual spring tours, artist must be guaranteed at least three weeks of consecutive employment. Guild had neither a tour guarantee, nor the continuous engagement angle, before.

Bali Dance Group Set For N.Y. Run at Fulton

For N.Y. Run at Fulton
Ben Boyar will be company manager and Isadora Bennett pressagent for the N. Y. run of Dancers of Ball, which Columbia Artists Mgt. will present at the Fulton for four weeks, starting Tuesday, Sept.
16. Production is being staged by a Britisher, John Coast.
Group of 45 will include a gamelin orchestra of 23. Columbia prez F. C. Schang flew to Bali personally this spring to set up the first U. S. visit of the dance group; which is coming here under sponsorship of the cultural department of the Indonesian government.
Troupe will tour major U. S. cities for 12 weeks following the N. Y.
run.

Bard Fest Mulled At Stratford (Ont.)

On decision of a group of local businessmen, with municipal financial backing, to make Stratford, Ont., the scene of an annual Shakespearian Festival, Tyrone Guthrie, manager of the Old Vic and Sadler's Wells, flew from London to Toronto last week at group's request to huddle on project. (Guthrie was also producer of Benjamin Britten's "Peter Grimes" at Covent Garden.) On decision of a group of local

Plan is to stage large-scale Plan is to stage large-scare out-door Shakespearian productions, with international guest-stars, in Stratford's midtown park, with its Shakespearian gardens along the Avon River, and immediately com-mence construction of an Eliza-bethan-style theatre with audience citting around three sides of the

Barn Business Mixed: Hub Start Sluggish; Berkshire Loft-Perks

Boston, July 22. Boston, July 22.

Local strawhat season is getting off to a sluggish start with figures running far behind last season's. "Nina," the Edward Everett Horton vehicle, pulled just over $6,800 at the Boston Summer Theatre, Falk & Capp 917-seat intown strawhatter, while the duo's suburban house, the County Playhouse, with "Kiss Me, Kate," nabbed nearly $11,000. The musical is currently in for a week at the Boston Summer Theatre, with Mae West's "Come Up, Ring Twice" at Framingham.

"Goodbye Again," starring Vin-

"Goodbye Again," starring Vincent Price, wound up a week at John Hancock Hall with a sluggish $7,000. "Angel in Paris," starring Hona Massey, is current.

'Show-Off' $5,100, Stockbridge Stockbridge, Mass., July 22.

After a slow opening night, George Kelly's "The 'Show-Off' built to a $5,100 gross at the Berkshire Playhouse here last week. Margaret Hamliton and Thomas Coley were featured as Mother Fisher and Aubrey Piper, with the resident company in support. Director William Miles has picked English novelist-playwright Charles Morgan's "The Flashing Stream" for this week's bill. Featured are former Playhouse players Eleanor Wilson, William Roerick, Howard Whitfield and Gage Clark.

Tone $6.100, Matunuck

Matunuck, R. I., July 22. Matunuck, R. I., July 22.
Franchot Tone, starring in "The Second Man," with Irene Manning,
Walter, Brooke and Betsy Von
Furstenberg, hit a comfortable
$8,100 at Theatre-By-The-Sea,
Matunuck, last week.
Dorothy Gish in "The Man," with Oliver Thorndike, is current. Management has added an extra Sunday night performance Aug. 3 for the Mae West show, "Come Up, Ring Twice," booked for that week.

'Charley' $16,500, Chevy Chase

Inside Stuff—Legit

Something of a stir was caused last week by word of a protest filed with Robert L. Joseph, producer of the forthcoming "My Darlin' Aida" musical, based on the Verdi opera, by the Coordinating Council of Negro Performers. Protest is built around Joseph's reputed aim to cast a white singer "in makeup" for the role of Aida, as is usually done in the operatic version, although Aida, like her father Amonaso, are Ethiopians in both the opera and the new musical. Three Negro sopranos, Muriel Rahn, Camilla Williams and Margaret Tynes (latter two from N. Y. City Opera Co., and first-named from the original Broadway "Carmen Jones"), are known to have been auditioned for the Aida role by Joseph. It's claim of the CCNP, however, that the producer has failed to give the same concession to Negroes as to whites in casting for the show. For instance, it maintains that a concession has been made in signing Dorothy Sarnoff, a soprano, for the Amneris role, usually taken by a mezzo or contraito. CCNP aiso feels management is creating the impression it can't find a qualified Negro for the lead role.

The CCNP was formed six months ago to aid Negro talent to find employment, in pix and elsewhere as well as legit. It feels, for instance, that Hollywood could have cast a Hilda Simms for "Pinky," instead of a white girl (Jeanne Crain). Group that conferred with Joseph recently on the protest consisted of Fred O'Neal, an Equity veepee; Lester Walton, former ambassador to Liberia; J. Rosamond Johnson, and Dick Campbell, concert manager and former head of USO-Camp Shows' Negro department.

Producer Joseph snapped back at the Council over the weekend, calling their efforts "a: grossly unjustified manifestation of racism in reverse." He added that "if their point of view were accepted, a non-Negro couldn't play Othello, a gentile couldn't appear as Shylock, a non-Japanese as Butterfly, and so on. . . It's regretful that this racial issue should be injected into this kind of project. It's totally un-American and without justification."

Irving Barnes, Pittsburgh radio and TV baritone, who has a small part in "Porgy and Bess" and understudies William Warfield, will sing the leading role in the George Gershwin musical for one performance in his hame town. That'll be the extra matinee Friday (25) at the Nixon Theatre, where the third afternoon show was added because the opening was delayed until last night (Tues.). Barnes was featured on the Duquesne "Show Time"series over WDTV in Pittsburgh when he auditioned for and landed in "Porgy and Bess." Decision to let the home folks hear him sing Porgy was made last week by the producers and Gabe Rubin, operator of the Nixon. For that one performance, the top will be dropped to $2 ($2.60 including taxes).

Awards Committee of the National Labor Council of the National Conference of Christians & Jews last week nominated Actors Equity to receive a National Brotherhood Award for its leadership in the recent victory against segregation at the National Theatre in Washington. Accolade is scheduled to be presented at a dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria, N. Y., Sept. 14, on eve of the American Federation of Labor convention.

Legit Bits

stands these weeks and complete a tour gravarrate, use the continuous engagement angle, but the standards without a standard to the continuous engagement angle, but the sales with the retained lange who agreed to this rule when the continuous engagement angle, but the sales with the retained lange who agreed to this rule when the continuous engagement angle, but in operation some once years previously the felt that the Meth should be a moderate to the continuous by the continuous to the continuous angle, but in he retained lange with a previously the felt that the Meth should be a moderate to the continuous by the continuous continuous to the continuou

Barns Seen 'Slap-Happy' Anomaly Of Highgrade Product on Subsidy Level

By NEO ARMSTRONG

Santa Fe, N. M., July 22.

Having been embroiled recently in the fahrenheit proceedings of two stummer stock operations, and having better than nodding acquaintance with half a dozen others, one notes conditions sharply changed in the medium. The portrait of youngsters at play on stages during the summer months, the great star making a personal appearance out of sheer love of drama, the eager beginners rainting scenery and tacking post-personal appearance out of sheer love of drama, the eager beginners painting scenery and tacking posters around town, are a completely bygone concept.

Summer stock as practised in many stands today is an earnest, even grim, affair. Trading on the cowbarn tradition, and enjoying many of the liberal benefits of trade-union indulgence, summer stock is heavily boxoffice conscious and has precious little amateur standing left.

Not only do some stars receive handsome pay, and generous living expense allowances, but they frequently get a percentage of the gross. Many summer stock ventures now turn a good profit on the season.

Actually, in many summer thea

Actually, in many summer thea-res around the country, summer stock has become an extension of the road, or, rather, a supplement. The frantic bidding by cowbara exploiters to obtain the earliest rights to reproduce current and recent Broadway comedy successes is a fair indication of the true funchal role of the rural stage. These mal theatres and their managers now well aware that their audi-

(Continued on page 58)

'Flame-Out,' Comedy-Melo Of U. S. Air Force in Korea, Sock in Bolling Base Bow

Washington, July 22.

Washington, July 22.

"Flame-Out," a comedy-drama written and directed by Alan Mowbray, had its preem here Sunday night (20) before military brass at Bolling Air Force Base Theatre after 17 warmup performances at various southern bases.

Performed entirely by airmen on active duty, most of whom have professional acting experience, play deals with "skeletons in the Closet" of a group of pilots as revealed during a sweating-out of a rainy period in MIG Valley in Korea. Questionable circumstances involving shooting down of one of the pilots, a cancer victim, throwing suspicion on the wing-man assigned to protect him, make for a strong ending.

Although held down by regulations in ruggedness of dialog, Mowbray has put together a compact, well-paced, exciting bit of theatre which should appeal to civilians as well as Air Force Gi's who get a great kick out of familiar situations portrayed. With a less restricted script which a Broadway commercial production would allow, and which Mowbray plans the retains commercial rights), play offers possibilities of another "Command Decision."

"Flame-Out" will have a two-day run, beginning Friday (25), at Mitchell Air Base, Hempstead, LI. In charge of production is Maj. Jack Starnes Clay, a former adagio dancer who performed under name of Jack Starnes.

Evy.

St. L. Community Group

St. L. Community Group Ousted After 23 Years

St. Louis, July 22.

St. Louis, July 22.

A long-standing hassle between owners of the Artists Guild, home of the Community Playhouse in the west end, and the actors group, last week resulted in the group being ousted from its quarters after 23 years of occupancy. Group termed the eviction "harsh" and "unwarranted," especially after their long association with the Guild.

47 Theatre Parties Set So Far for Bernardine

Irving L. Jacobs' production of "Bernardine," by Mary Chase, is "Bernardine," by Mary Chase, is set for the Playhouse, N. Y., although no contracts have been signed yet. Comedy has skedded the unusual amount of 47 theatre parties thus far.

With Guthrie McClintic directing, show goes into rehearsal Aug. 25, for tryout opening at the Wilbur, Boston, Sept. 22. It goes next to Washington, before its N. Y. bow. No leads set yet.

Pop-Priced Play Sked Mapped on Coast For Fall by Henry Duffy Los Angeles, July 22.

Pop-priced series of plays and musicals will be launched this fall by Henry Duffy, vet local legit producer, who is returning to production on a year-round basis. Duffy has taken a 10-year lease on the Carthay Circle, long-dark 1.518-tion on a year-round basis. Duffy has taken a 10-year lease on the Carthay Circle, long-dark 1,518-seat film house located off Wilshire Bivd., near Beverly Hills.

House will undergo extensive alterations before opening. Duffy plans to scale the Carthay Circle at a $2 top for straight plays and $3 for musicals.

Broadway vehicles and names will be basis for the Duffy season, he reported, with inital productions to be announced shortly. In his heyday here, between 1924 and 1942, Duffy operated three houses locally, two in San Francisco, two in Oakland and one in Portland, presenting such names as Will Rogers, Billie Burke, Jane Cowl., Carlotte Greenwood, Frank Craven, Randolph Scott, Eve Arden, Joan Fontaine and others.

COMEDIE FRANCAISE CO. IN BUENOS AIRES BOW

Buenos Aires, July 15.

The Comedie Francaise Co., arrived in Buenos Aires this week and had barely 48 hours for final rehearsals before opening Friday (18) in Moliere's "Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme" at the Odeon The-

Classic has been produced only ciassic has been produced only once before in Buenos Aires, at the Colon Opera Theatre in 1936. Leading parts at the Odeon will be played by Louis Seigner and Beatrice Bretty.

played by Louis Seigner and Beatrice Bretty.

Comedie must limit its performances in Buenos Aires to six, as most of its members are due back in France for film or legit commitments. Second production will be "Ines de Castro," by Henri Montherlant, followed by "Les Tempts Difficiles," by Edouard Bourdet, in which young actress Helene Perdriere will make her first bow to an Argentine audience. "Le Mariage de Figaro" will be the fourth production, and Salacrou's "Les Flances du Havre" the only concession to modernity, According to time-honored custom, closing performance will be a poetic reading, including Aifred de Musset's "On ne Saurait Penser a Tout."

After the Comedie folds Aug. 5.

After the Comedie folds Aug. 5, it may proceed to Santiago de Chile for a couple of stands. It has already visited Rio de Janeiro, Sao Paolo and Montevideo.

Guild Upping Buffalo

Michael Rosenberg has been signed for the lead role in "Uncle Sam In Israel," which Herman Yablokoff will present Oct. 13 at the Public Theatre, N. Y. Producer is now in Israel seeking additional talent for the show.
"Uncle Sam In Israel," a Yiddish musical, has book by Benjamin Ressler and music by Sholom Secunda.

'Porgy' European Tour Dates Set

Kansas City, July 22.
"Porgy and Bess," with its allNegro cast, is set to tour Europe this fall, opening Sept. 1 for two weeks at the Vienna Opera House.
The 65-member company then goes to the Titania Palace Theatre, Berlin, Sept. 15, in connection with the Berlin Fine Arts Festival, and follows with date at the Stoll Theatre, London, Oct., 6.
Plans for the tour were revealed

atre, London, Oct., 6.
Plans for the tour were revealed last week here by Blevins Davis, show's producer and angel. Whole idea of the tour, Davis said, is to counter Communist propaganda that American Negroes receive no recognition in the arts, Last year he sent the Howard U. Players, a Negro group, to the Ibsen Festival in Norway.

After the London data the Negro group, to the Ibsen Festival in Norway.

After the London date, the Gershwin opera has bids to appear at European festival centers in Milan, Zurich, Brussels, The Hague and Paris before returning to Broadway. The company opened in Dallas last month, and just concluded a three-week Chicago stand. Davis is guaranteeing the tour to extent of $200,000. Undertaking is: on a non-profit basis, however, and is under auspices of the State Dept. This is much the same arrangement under which Davis sent Ballet Theatre over for a tour of 23 European cities two years ago.

Following its Chicago closing, "Porgy" is scheduled for two weeks in Pittsburgh and four weeks in Washington. Principals are William Warfield, Leontine Price and Cab Calloway, with Alexander Smallens conducting.

Davis currently is spending some time here at his Glendale Farms home, east of the town.

M'w'kee Road Hypo Meet Starts; St. Paul to Follow

Matts, M. Faul to rollow Milwaukee, July 22.

The 1952-53 campaign to improve theatregoing conditions on the road was launched yesterday (Mon.) in Milwaukee. Subscription audience of 6,000 is being sought for the six-play subscription series sponsored here by the Theatre Guild-American Theatre Society, under auspices of the Council of the Living Theatre. Sam McDowell is in Milwaukee to direct the campaign.

ell is in Milwaukee to direct the campaign.

Tomorrow (Wed.), reps of the Council and Theatre Society will meet with civic leaders in St. Paul, with view to a similar campaign there for a five-play program. The Minneapolis campaign will begin next Monday (28). Goal there is also 6,000 enrollees for a seven-play subscription series.

1st Pitt. Barn Casualty, But Owner to Carry On

Pittsburgh, July 22. First strawhat casualty here was Francis Mayville's Wheel Playhouse at The about, Wagon Pines, highway dine-and-dance place on Route 19. Mayville, who started the under-the-tent operation late last summer, tried it with being ousted from its quarters after 23 years of occupancy. Group termed the eviction "harsh" and "unwarranted," especially after their long association with the Guild,

James W. Harmon, prez of the Guild, said the move was made after the board of governors decided that more space was needed by the Guild for its own use, and that the tenancy of the actors was too expensive for the Guild. Alvin Mendel, prez of the actors was too expensive for the Guild. Alvin Mendel, prez of the actors was too expensive for the Guild. Alvin Mendel, prez of the actors was too expensive for the Guild. Alvin Mendel, prez of the actors was too expensive for the Guild. Alvin Mendel, prez of the actors was too expensive for the Guild. Alvin Mendel, prez of the actors was too expensive for the Guild. Alvin Mendel, prez of the actors was too expensive for the Guild. Alvin Mendel, prez of the actors was too expensive for the Guild. Alvin Mendel, prez of the actors was too expensive for the Guild. Alvin Mendel, prez of the actors was too expensive for the Guild. Alvin Mendel, prez of the actors group, said the group will continue repleased from five too in Brooklyn," "Jane" and the Roland-Young production of the Roland-Young production of "The Country Girl." Two more plays will be selected from "Call Mendels, prez of the actor group, said the group will continue replease will be selected from "Call Mendels, prez of the actor group, said the group will continue replease will be selected from "Call Mendels, prez of the actor group, said the group will continue replease will be selected from "Call Mendels, prez of the actor group, said the group will continue replease will be selected from "Call Mendels, prez of the actor group will continue replease will be selected from "Call Mendels, prez of the actor group will be selected from "Call Mendels, prez of the actor group will continue replease will be selected from "Call Mendels, prez of the actor group will be selected from the group will be selected from the group will be selected from the

Ink Rosenberg As Lead For Yiddish 'Uncle Sam' Agents Burn at Lawyers Muscling Into Field; Threaten Reprisals

Woolley Sets Final Plans For Fall Reading Tour

Monty Woolley is in N. Y. this week from his Saratoga home to discuss final details with National discuss final details with National Concert & Artists Corp. for his fall concert-reading tour. Tour, which was booked last spring by Selma Warlick, head of NCAC's lecture department, will run for six weeks, opening in October, with Wooley giving performances four nights a week, traveling as far as Kansas. Wooley will give readings and do excerpts from plays, including "The Man Who Came to Dinner." Although actor has done these readings informally in Saratoga this will be his first tour, and his first tieup with NCAC.

Miami Musicals Plan Balked By Tooter Local Call for More Players

Miami Beach, July 22.

American Federation of Musicians localed here cut off any plans for continuance of legit musicals at the Cameo Playhouse, when producers Sandy Scott and Nick Condos, who had planned to bring in "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" and "Kiss Me Kate" after click of Martha Raye in "Annie Get Your Gun," nixed local's decision to increase number of orchestral memcrease number of orchestral mem-

Decision by the producers may mean shuttering of the only professional summer project in the area. For "Annie" they had been okayed for use of a minimum of six musicians. To this number they didded for mean to have mod okayed for use of a minimum of six musicians. To this number they added five men, to insure good background of the Irving Berlin score. When the company shifted Sunday (20) to Dade County Auditorium, in the heart of Miami, for one performance, they were told 20 men would be required. Offer of 15 to be utilized was nixed, with decision not to run any more musical plays resulting on part of the producers.

Incident recalls last year when Carol. Bruce came in with "Pal Joey" at the Roosevelt, Miami Beach, and was told that she would have to use six men in addition to the two pianists who had been playing the accompaniment in summer stock elsewhere. This resulted in lobby concerts by the added local music makers, there being no score arrangements for them to play.

Kelly, Young Set for Tour In 'Country Girl' on Coast

In 'Country Girl' on Coast

La Jolla, Cal., July. 22.

"Season in the Sun," fourth offering this Season, opens tonight
(22) at La Jolla Playhouse, with Nancy Kelly, of the Broadway cast, and Howard Duff starring, and staging and lighting by James Neilson. Coast premiere of "Affairs of State" is set for next Tuesday (29), with Marsha Hunt and Tom Powers starred.

Deal is reportedly set for Miss Kelly and Robert Young to star in the Paula Stone production of "Country Girl," opening Aug. 22 in the Russ Auditorium, San Diego, before going on the road.

Frear Park Bows

Frear Park Bows

Troy, N. Y., July 22.

Frank Myers will open his second season at the Frear Park Summer Theatre with "Harvey" tomorrow (Wed.), presenting it for eight performances in two weeks. Myers, who has appeared at the Spa Summer Theatre in Saratoga, will hold all shows for a fortnight this year.

Other pieces tentatively scheduled are "The Man Who Came" To Dinner," "Born Yesterday," "Angel Street" and "An Inspector Calls." Betty Shannon (Mrs. Myers, who also has played at Saratoga), directed "Harvey."

Company includes Fred Downey, holdover from last year, Pat Keasby, Carl Sarine, Alex Glass, Jane Gabriel, Charles Foelix and Gerald Perschetz. Don Birkmayer is house manager. Myers holds a lease on the theatre, located on a knoll in municipal park, overlooking the Hudson River.

Prominent play and literary agents in N. Y. are beefing about a condition that has cropped up in the last 10 years and has become most acute the past year—invasion of their field and prerogatives by lawyers.

It's claimed that certain lawyers are not content merely to handle legal matters for their talent cli-ents, but are also performing du-tles of agents, and even poisoning the mind of talent against their agents.

It's known that a few top agents, plenty burned over the situation, have been discussing it informally and mulling such action as taking their beefs to (a) the N. Y. License Commissioner and (b) the Bar Assn. There's been talk of formal meets to be held on the matter in early fall, with threats of boycott against certain lawyers, economic pressure, etc.

Claiming that certain lawyers are taking business away from them, agents cite these grievances:

- 1. An agent, unlike a lawyer, requires a license from, and is supervised by, the License Commissioner.
- 2. An agent, unlike a lawyer, pays an annual franchise fee to Actors Equity Assn.
- An agent, unlike a lawyer, has the background, knowhow and low-down on scripts, producers, direc-tors and authors.
- 4. An agent, unlike a lawyer, doesn't represent conflicting interests, while there are lawyers who, in the same production, represent the producer, author, director, actors and/or the investors in (Continued on page 59)

De Mille, Dollar, Caton Preems Set for Fall By Ballet Theatre in N. Y.

Ballet Theatre in N. Y.

New works by Agnes de Mille, William Dollar and Edward Caton will be presented by Ballet Theatre during its three-week stay at the Met Opera House, N. Y., starting Sept. 25. The De Mille work, tentatively fitled "Civil War Suite," has sets and costumes by Lemuel Ayres, and music by Virgil Thomson arranged by Jerome Moross. This isn't a new score originally written for this ballet, but music by Thomson which hasn't been published, and which Moross is specially arranging for the suite. Work is in three scenes, and will be Ballet Theatre's most important new offering. Miss De Mille's "Tally-Ho" may also be revived.

Troupe will also present a new production of "Graduation Bally-which is being built on the Coast, and will be rehearsed there by its original choreographer, David Lichine, when Ballet Theatre plays the Hollywood Bowl Aug. 7-9 and 14.6. Other summer date of the troupe is at Red Rocks, Col., July 25-26, under auspices of the Denver Symphony Society.

After its N. Y. date, which ends Oct. 12, Ballet Theatre will start a tour Oct. 14 in White Plains, N. Y., that will take it to 93 U. S. and Canadian cities, winding in Providence, R. I., April 18.

HARRITY 'SONATA' SET FOR WHITE BARN BOW

"The Dogface Sonata," new play by Richard Harrity, concerning Panama and the waiting war, will be tried out Saturday and Sunday nights (26-27) by Lucille Lortel at her White Barn Theatre, Westport, Conn. Robert Lanning will stage. Harrity, at present an indie TV producer, had his short play. "Hope is A Thing With Feathers," done on Broadway in 1948.

Texas State Fair Pacts Terrell to Stage 'Boat'

Dallas, July 22.

State Fair of Texas has signed St. John Terrell, Lambertville, N. J., musicals-in-the-round impresario, to produce a one-hour tent showing of Jerome Kern's "Show Boat" on the midway through the fair's run, Oct. 4-19.

Terrell will import his cast, and stage three dally shows, with added shows on weekends.

Strawhat Reviews

Here's Mama

Ogunquit, Me., July 17. Lane presentation of Carol Irwin tion of comedy in two acts (It by Frank Gabrielson, Stars Pegg) Directed by Ralph Nelson; settings Coursey, At Ogunquit (Ite.) Play rsey. At Ogunquic Case. Flay14. '52; 33 fop.

Rosemary Rice
Robin Morgan
Dick Van Patien
Judson
Patien
General Gates
Carl Frank
Alesman G. Albert Smith
Holl Marstong
Francis Compton
Janet Parker
Lills Skalas
Paul Jackson, Young
Paul Jackson, Young
Empany Delmar rist uffeur Cullen . Kenny Deimandary Atherton Ella Treble

This is a slick transferral of an already kudos-loaded TV strip from an electronic to a direct-impact medium. It was good before, and can't help but be better nowin-warmth, color and sans plugs for coffee. Whether it could be considered a realistic possibility for N. Y. would be based on whether enough customers would pay to sit in on the humorous and lovable antics of characters who were concurrently on tap for free. It's better this way, but is it that much better?

Kathryn Forbes' novel, "Mama's Bank Account," has been parlayed into plenty of coin via John Van Druten's legit production, "I Remember Mama," which was subsequently filmed, and then the CBS-TV series, "Mama," which is the direct progenitor of this permutation. The law of diminishing returns is bound to begin operating at some point, and this might be where.

Frank Gabrielson who has all-Kathryn Forbes' novel, "Mama"

at some point, and this might be where.

Frank Gabrielson, who has authored most of the "Mama" episodes for CBS, is still writing episodes here, which in subsequent very kindly notices are sure to be termed "vignettes." An attempt is made in the second (and final) act to tie it all up in a semblance of unity, but the effort isn't wholehearted. A serial writer always leaves something for next time, even though with the latest episode the show is going off the air apparently forever. Here there's a senseless cliffhanger, too, with a kid introduced in the last few minutes of action who is about to go schizoid as result of the neglect of an opera-singer parent, with the only resolution of the disturbing situation the onlooking family's heightened regard for their "Mama."

The episodes, for all practical interest was a supersection of all practical interest was a supersection.

family's heightened regard for their own more-considerate "Mama."

The episodes, for all practical purposes, may be counted by the number of scenes, of which there are 16. "Mama" is presented with a telephone, with plenty of play around this gadget, only here the dialect is Norwegian. A superannuated grocer of 35 pleads for the hand in marriage of the 1912 teenster daughter. Papa loses his job. Papa finds a job, miraculously by means of the telephone of a few episodes back. Nels is discovering the world of women, and after the nightly flashing of his father's watch fails to hold the interest of a particular gal, he goes out and gets himself tattooed. Papa's old flame from the old country sweeps into town as the prima donna of a touring opera company, with a lot of comfortably humorous business stemming from this.

The cast, with but a few minor exceptions, is the CBS-TV troupe, and if the playing is flawless throughout, it's perhaps no wonder, considering the time they've been at it. Peggy Wood and Judson Laire are so near-perfect in the main roles that one can't imagine other actors ever having essayed the parts, or ever daring to try them in the future. Rosemary Rice, Robin Morgan, and Dick Van Patten were certainly the three most agreeabley owngsters ever to he assembled in k Van Patten were certainly three most agreeable young-s ever to be assembled in

Dick Van Patten were certainly the three most agreeable youngsters ever to be assembled in front of an iconoscope, and here their attractiveness is enhanced by addition of color and a few dimensions. Lilia Skala is believable as a Norse soprano, and Ruth Gates does her usual nice stint as Auntiferny. Kenny Delmar planed in from the Coast to project a comedy sailorman for 10 minutes.

The staging is adequate, with the present longish waits between episodes sure to be cut down as time goes on. The principal set, a cut away of the family's living room and kitchen, is straight from TV. 260; United Nations, S.F. (28-2).

"Moon is Blue" (David Niven. as yellow) and extremely effective. A scrim of the front of the house is lowered frequently for good results, and is used at the beginning along with a tape of the TV intro theme, with heach main character being brought into focus with baby spots. At this gan its invasion of the theatre.

Don.

Jeroa Madam"—Philharmon to Cooper Stott. (21-2).

"Gold Night Ladies"—National. of Style.

"Good Night Ladies"—National. of Style.

"Curs and Dolls"—Shubert. Chi-run las Supplied Style.

"Song of Norway"—Aud., Porture of Norway"—Aud., Porture of Norway"—Aud., Porture of Norway as yellow. A style.

"Song of Norway"—Aud., Porture of Norway"—Aud., Porture of Norway as yellow. A style.

"Song of Norway"—Aud., Porture of Norway as yellow. A style.

"Song of Norway"—Aud., Porture of Norway as yellow. Sp. Sp. (21-2).

"South Pacific" Janet Blair.

Webb Tilton—Opera House. S.F. She istoric moment, TV technique beliated to the style.

"Stalag 17"—Geary, S.F. (21-2).

Peter Frest

Spring Lake, N. J., July 22.

John Powers presentation of com three acts by Nicholas Cosentino d by Cosentino. At Ivy Tower ise, Spring Lake, N. J., July 21, 52 Ann Der Playhouse, spring takes.

Ann Dere Bertha Grace Powers Julia Fontayne Grace Powers Julia Fontayne Edith Bell Peter Frost Earl Dawson Jennifer Ledbetter Mary Graham Horace Granville Rea John Powers Romnie Marshall Mark Ediot Horace Granville Blark Elic Ronnie Marshall Blark Elic Fedrico Benvenuto ... Charles Massinge

Nicholas Cosentino's move from Mulberry St., N. Y., where he settled in September, 1935, with "Moon Over Mulberry. Street," into the world of women's magazines and classical music in his new comedy, "Peter Frost," has not been made with comfortable

Cosentino seems awed by his new surroundings, in which the women are all beautiful and glamorous, work hard and live dangerously, and in which they want their affahrs of the heart to be "gay and free and with no obligations." He becomes so impressed with them, that they never develop into living people, but behave like the playwright thought those, who were discovering the word "sophistication" in the 1920s, must have acted.

As seen in its "prior to Broadway" presentation at the Ivy Tower Playhouse, "Peter Frost" starts out with an original idea in having the lady editor of Women of. Today magazine visit in the home of the son of her deceased rival, the former editor and publisher of Lady Fair. Their rivalry dates back to the days of their student days in Rome and they were busy "living in sin" with the same man.

She brings along her daughter.

She busy along in sin" with the same man.

She brings along her daughter and is out to get rid of Lady Fair at all costs, even if she has to buy it. Peter Frost, the titlercharacter, is more interested in composing music than in publishing and editing his inheritance, but he won't give up the magazine.

Peter thinks he wants to marry the lady editor until he learns about 22-year-old girls over a bottle of scotch with the daughter. Mother's old lover is flown in from Rome, now a productive parent of 14 children, for the surprise finish. It is so much of a surprise that it loses its effectiveirom kome, now a productive parent of 14 children, for the surprise finish. It is so much of a surprise that it loses its effectiveness.

The playwright has failed to create inherently humorous scenes in which the characters can be genuinely witty or amusing. His dialog has too many jokes, which seem funny to Cosentino, but, do not stem from the situations. They become the playwright's private jokes about his characters.

Yielding the direction to the autor, Earl Dawson, Ivy Tover's resident director, plays the title role, giving Peter Frost more humor and sympathy than does Cosentino. Dawson fills in the gaps and never does Peter become the silly ass that he could have been.

been.
Edith Bell, with the daughter role, doesn't have much more to do than look desirable; Grace Powers, as the lady editor, puts fire into an anger scene, and Mary Graham has the one well-written part in the whole comedy, that of Peter's frustrated and museum-going girl friend.
Cosentino, in his staging, handles his play with too much respect. He plays it straight, thereby making the high-comedy qualities making the high-comedy qualities seem as pseudo as they actually are.

"Peter Frost" comes off as a good try for warm-weather fare, but, in its present state, should never venture out of the rural Vera.

Current Road Shows

(July 21-Aug. 2; "Bell, Book and Candle" (Joan ennett, Zachary Scott—Harris, bi (2) 2;

Legit Followup

Wish You Were Here COMPERIAL, N. Y.)

Wish You Were Here

(IMPERIAL, N. Y.)

Musical version of Arthur Kober's Catskill camp comedy.

"Having Wonderful Time," which preemed at the Imperial June 25, has excited almost as much trade and outside comment since its bow as before its premiere.

Before, it was such problems as the 20-foot long, $23,000 swimming pool which prevented out-of-town tryouts and made paid previews to heterogenous audiences necessary. Now it is such matters as the unusual methods employed by management to get attention, as well as the show changes, in effort to offset original notices.

Heavy radio and TV spot campaign is plugging "Wish" in unexpected places. Life magazine last weekend, in a two-page picture-text "prescription for an alling show," referred to the "major job of play doctoring" and cited changes made since the preem, so that "the patient has a brighter chance of survival."

Return visit to the musical confirms this. There is a change in tone of the show. It's more sentimental and romantic. The love story is more simple and idyllic, rather than complex, to be now a sweet love story of kids at camp. The love story has been changed completely around. Biggest change now has the young watter (Chiek) offering the girl (Teddy) marriage, instead of an affair arrangement. Teddy, who'd been on the make before, looking for a guy, is now only running away from an unhappy alllance-to-be. Her ill-matched fiance now bravely gives her up. Book has a different ending and more force.

The pool, though used briefly, has sock impact to audiences who are apparently completely sur-ing and more force.

The pool, though used briefly, has sock impact to audiences who are apparently completely surprised and excited by it. Where it stood empty part time previously, it's now used constantly during the scene, for maximum effect. A third change finds some of Fay's malapropisms taken out.

Poignancy of working girls sav-

Poignancy of working girls sav-ing up all year for the two-week camp splurge to find mates or at least winter "contacts" or dates, and then being disappointed — which poignancy critics seemed to find lacking—is more pointed up now.

Altogether, "Wish" is a verypleasant show, tuneful, funny and smooth-running, with no dull or dead spots. Such tunes as "Could Be," "Where Did the Night Go" and the title song are standout; vocal arrangements are unusual, and the cast young, peppy, talented and hard-working. It's a good show without arty pretenbingh; a 86 or even $4.80 top would appeal more to conventioneers, tourists, buyers and the family trade this show is meant for and should be aimed at.

Bron.

Barn Notes

Jo Hurt, last on Broadway in "Cradle Will Rock," more recently singing on TV and in niteries, will play Annie in "Annie, Get Your Gum" at Finger Lakes Lyrics Circus, Skaneateles, N. Y., July 29-Aug. 2... Barry Martin, Dorothy Rice and James Holland to do leads in "Anna Lucasta" at Oldtown Theatre, Smithtown Branch, L. I., week of Aug. 4... John Forsythe and John Dall to have leads in "The Hasty Heart" at Westport (Conn.) Country Playhouse next week (28), with Mary Fickett, daughter of Homer, Fickett, director of "Theatre Guild on the Air" in the sole femme role.

Ruth Manning, legit TV actress.

Ruth Manning, legit-TV actress to appear next week in "Affairs of State" at Lakes Region Playhouse. Gilford-Laconia, N.H.

Gilford-Laconia, N.H.

Jeroam Staff, of the William Morris agency's tele sector, has optioned "Masquerade," a play
he wrote last season in conjunction with Lawrence Hazard, to Cooperman & Watkins, for planned production in the fall.

Frank McMullan, associate professor of play production at Yale, is guest director for Ohio State U.'s Stadium Theatre production of "Charley's Aunt," in arena style, which opened a five-night run last night (Tues.) at Columbus.

Plays Out of Town

Time for Elizabeth La Jolia, Cal., July 20.

edy
Marx an.
Marx. Dire.
Marx. Dire.
Nellson. At La
'52; $4.20 top.
Mr. Robinson
Walter Schaeffer
Miss Greene
Ed Davis
Harrison Oglethorpe.
St. Hilly Schaeffer
Mr. McCherson
The Court of Mr. McCherson
The Court of Mr. McCherson
The Mr. McCherson 20 top.

20 top.

20 top.

20 top.

21 top.

22 top.

23 top.

24 top.

25 top.

26 top.

26 top.

27 top.

28 top.

29 top.

29 top.

20
Groucho Marx' return to the stage after 22 years is a significant, curious theatre event. Shedding his Marxian trappings, Groucho plays an essentially straight role in "Time for Elizabeth," season's third offering at La Jolla Playhouse.

offering at La Jolla Playhouse.

A pleasant if uneven comedy,
"Time for Elizabeth" is the Groucho-Norman Krasna collaboration which ran a week on Broadway, with Otto Kruger starring, in September, 1948. Since revised extensively, the play remains a filmsy souffile with too many laughless lines to be a first-rate comedy and insufficient penetration for a study in irony. Nonetheless, it has moments of sharp wit in which fruths are well stated and the perverseness of human desire is effectively put into focus.

Portraying a businessman with tively put into focus.

Portraying a businessman with full inventory of troubles, Groucho proves a good actor while projecting the warmth of a great humorist. Occasionally he yields to temptation—and audience hopes—with a Marxian leer, uplifted eyebrow and stooped walk. It's to Groucho's credit that he uses his famed mannerisms so sparingly. The play would disappear, going from unpretentious comedy to farce. Gone, too, would be Groucho's characterization.

By no means is Groucho's shed-too, would be teroucho's characterization.

By no means is Groucho's shedding of Grouchoisms the play's major value, for then it would be only a negative curiosity piece. Not only does Groucho play a different role, he plays it well. Guided by James Neilson's skillful, understanding direction, Groucho sustains character and is truly funny without props. (Groucho consented to a La Jolla appearance only on condition that Neilson, Playhouse resident director on leave from Columbia Pictures, handle staging.)

only on condition that Neilson, Playhouse resident director on leave from Columbia Pictures, handle staging.)

Of necessity, Groucho's interpretation disappoints many in the sellout audience. Particularly at the start, laughter is hesitant in anticipation of familiar Groucho gestures that never materialize. Faced with an unreasonable handicap, Groucho's performance is all the more remarkable for its dogged devotion to his acting intent.

As the wife, Mary Philips is superb. Expressing genuine devotion and unsaccharine niceness, she seems a firm anchor for any dramatic uncertainties that may have distressed Groucho. Young romance is provided ably by Peggie Castle and Johnny Sands, and such character pros as Russell Hicks, Dick Elliott, Leonard Mudie and Will Wright are convincing. Sig Ruman and Madge Blake are effective as the stollid, hopelessly square couple, while both Marie Lund and Claire Carleton turn in capable jobs.

effective as the stolid, nopelessy square couple, while both Marie Lund and Claire Carleton turn in capable jobs.
Two sets, the office of a high-powered business executive and the living room of a Florida apartment, are excellent Ariel Ballif creations.

Danger, Mem Working
Hollywood, July 18.
George Boroff production of drama in three acts (four scenes) by John D. Stewart. Directed by Mordecai Gorelik, Setting by Joseph Gantman. At Circle Theatre Workshop, Hollywood, July 17, 1952; $2.40
top.

top.
Desmond Doherty. Watson Downs
Patrick Hoy Harry Cooper
Erskine Craig Nelson Welch
Gerry McMahon John Alderson
John Peoples Bobert Arnold
Charles Quinn Donald Elson
Fred Scanling Edwin J Breen
Mary Reilly Garol Hill
Sam Toler Tom Batten
Major Trumbell Jeff Torey

Production in the fall.

Frank McMullan, associate professor of play production at Yale, is guest director for Ohio State of "Charley's Aunt," in arena style, which opened a five-night run last night (Tues. at Columbus.

Mary Morris' Return

Arden, Del., July 22.

Mary Morris returns to the stage as Mrs. Muskat in "Liliom" this week, at Robin Hood Theatre, Arden, with John Drew Devereaux in the title role and Barbara Bel Geddes as Julie.

She's also scheduled to play the Geddes as Julie.

She's also scheduled to play the Geddes as Julie.

She's also scheduled to Rome" and he departs, with the more humane engineer beginning to pick up the threads and resume his teamwork methods.

Generally interesting, the script currently is suffering from slowness and verbosity. What it needs most is a faster first act and at least one action scene added:

Despite the drawbacks, Mordecai Gorelik has managed to stage it with some tension, and fine performances help the script over the rough spots. Best are Jeff Torey (Jeff Corey) as the troubleshooter and Nelson Welch as his adversary, with competent support from Harry Cooper as an Irish character, Watson Downs as a foreman and John Alderson as a worker.

Single office set by Joseph Gantman helps set the rough and ready mood.

Kap.

'Slap-Happy'

ences will be composed largely of winter city-dwellers who probably didn't get a chance to see the hit on Broadway or on tour.

on Broadway or on tour.

More and more, in recent years, the role of the summer theatre has become that of giving a bargain-counter view of at least one celebrity in something resembling a professional production of a recent Broadway hit.

Since there are hundreds of Broadway hit.

Since there are hundreds of these june-bug theatres around the country, since many of them play to 3,000 or 4,000 persons a week for eight and ten weeks, and gross as high as $150,000 in one season, and yet, while doing all this, enjoy important professional exemptions, the logical query is: how commercial can an amateur get?

This question has obviously been there are hundreds of

This question has obviously been bothering Actors Equity in recent years, and perhaps the time has come when other facets of the pro-fessional stage should be concerned.

Script Supervision

Script Supervision
Why isn't the Dramatists Guild interested in the way in which an author's script is handled in summer stock? Because of the multiple productions, royalities from stock rights have become handsome, but little supervision is maintained over casting, script revisions or physical production. However, the possibility is enormous that in our summer as many theatregoers may possibility is enformous that in our summer as many theatregoers may see a recent comedy success in 100 summer stock productions as saw the original on Broadway during a 12-month run. And at least, a dozen different versions of the play would be unconstituted.

would be presented.

Constant employment of profesional actors and high-grade commercial literary products on a semi-pro or outright amateur level is a curious phenomenon of summer stock, and possibly the clue to the mystery of what summer stock is becomming.

Time to Grow Up

Time to Grow Up
There is no longer any pretense of workshop, training school, or experimental theatre about the majority of the pasture palaces. These beach Barnums are in show business for the buck as much as anyone, and they are exploiting some of the best theatrical properties in a curiously impractical way. The moment the indelicate issue of finances is raised in connection with summer stock, a hue and cry instantly arises from the cowbarn with summer stock, a nue and prinstantly arises from the cowbarn impresarios who scream that their limited operation, small theatres and high costs make a full-scale professional operation impossible for them.

It's time now for summer which has been adolescent for 20 years, to become adult and assume a responsible position in the thea-

There seems little question that summer stock, still functioning on the creaky frame of amateur standing, needs a whole new evaluation as a permanent feature of what is left of the legitimate theatre.

As long as summer stock continues to demand pauperizing exemptions and privileges, this phase of the legit theatre will remain a sort of slap-happy, star dusted adolescent and never be able to grow up.

Plays Abroad

Globe Revue

London, July 15.

nent Froductions presentation of in two acts 128 scenes) with Dora, Joan Heal, Diana Decker, Graham Jeremy Hawk, George Benson, Ian chael, Myler Easen, Hillary Alam Marmont, Irin Hald, Tisselfty Spentionor Blair, Directed by William ell, Mysler, Richard Kayne, Nocl. d, Richard Addinaell, Charlet Cast. Two Mysler Country of the Control in his sketches, and Arthur Macrae has not only written some of the best sketch items but has contributed a substantial share of the music and lyrics. Myro.

onvinced that however untashlonamed scoring heavily with her solo number, "The Jewel Song."

Male cast members aren't so generously served by the writers, but George Benson shines in some comedy pieces and Graham Payn has some pleasing vocal spots. Jeremy Hawk, Myles Eason, Ian Carmichael and Timothy Spencer round off the cast.

Best individual number by far figure of the wordly-wise widow; is Noel Coward's "Bad Times Are Just Around the Corner," which the writer recently introduced in a West End cabaret. Paul Dehn again displays a nice light touch low stairs.

Continued from page 57

which event, one or more parties may benefit to the detriment of others.

Alice Ghostley others, but of the cast.

Alice Ghostley of the soir, (botte, beginning to untainly competitive as well as continued from page 57

Alice Ghostley of the soir, the Bon Soir, (botte, beginning to untainly competitive as well as untainly competitiv

London Theatre Guild presentation of drama in three acts by Lawrence Williams and Nell O'Day, Directed by Desmond Deviz, Set by Kagar Ritchard, Attack and the Company of the Control of t

Ernest Jay
Dorothy Green
Henry Longhurst
Andrew Osborn
Barbara Murray
Ellen Pollock
Clement McCallin
Moray Watson

there have been grumblings and that various members have been after him to do something. He believes some action will be taken in the fall. Bride of Denmark Hill agents in the field, admits that

Rumsey is a little guarded in agreeing that lawyers are taking

International production of the secondary production p

Alice Ghostley of "New Faces of 1952" (Royale, N. Y.) to double into the Bon Soir, Greenwich Village boite, beginning Aug. 5... Hiram Sherman signed for a lead role in "Two's Company," which will star Bette Davis. Jerome Robbins to do the choreography... Harald Bromley bought the Jane Hinton melodrama, "The Fourth Degree," for fall production.

Theatre.

Yetta Zwerling Set
Yetta Zwerling, Yiddish stage comedienne, is set for one of the leads in "My Lucky Day," Yiddish at Zwerling at Zwerling, Yiddish stage comedienne, is set for one of the leads in "My Lucky Day," Yiddish at Zwerling Set
Yetta Zwerling Set

FRANCHOT BARN TOPS NIAGARA FALLS SILOS

Buffalo, July 22.

Maude Franchot's Niagara Falls

There's No Business Like 'SOCK' Business" TRIBUTE TO A TOPPER It's the SANDY SCOTT and NICK CONDOS CAMEO PLAYHOUSE MIAMI BEACH, FLORIDA in "ANNIE GET YOUR GUN"

AND FROM

FROM c o Mariha Raye's Five O'Clock Club

Miss Martha Raye

May I take this means of expressing my thanks to Miami Beach, Florida you for breaking all records for any legit house in the history of this area during your engagement in "Amie Dear Martha: Get Your Gun" at our Playhouse and at the Dade County Auditorium. It turned our summer season from a questionable one, financially speaking, into a re-I would like, also, to thank the wonderful company who played with you, for their fine work. My thanks sounding success. also to Franchot Tone and his company for their work in our initial production of "Petrified Forest" and to The Hagen Tubes & Alexandria and the state of the sta Uta Hagen, Luther Adler and the others who presented

To my co-producer, Nick Condos, my appreciation for the chance to be associated with him; he helped make this legit summer season here possible on a large scale,

And to you, Martha, additional thanks and huzzahs utilizing only the best available. for introducing to our audiences your's and Nick's sotalented daughter Melody Condos, who at seven, altered versues the mained of a bright near regard to the seven of the seve ready reveals the arrival of a bright, new young star.

May we all be associated so happily again come a very soon renewal of legit theatre in this biggest resort city.

Sandy Scott Co-producer → GEORGE BOURKE—Miami Herald:

"More dopth than Ethol Morman's... Martha Raya's 'Annie' is ... hest yet ... a verity and depth which ... is, theatrically better ... always she (Miss Raya) is great ... most heartworming, solidly antertaining, high time musical our town has ever had ...,"

HERB RAU-Miami Daily News:

"It is sold that Irving Berlin wrote the words and music for 'Annie Get Your Gun' with Ethol Mermon in mind...we doubt that Miss Mermon ever get more length than Martha Raye with these words and music... the presentation ... is like no other ... yen've ever seen ... you'll probably never see another one like It ..."

B'way Boxoffice in Further Dip; 'Wish' Over $26,700, 'Joey' 35G, Pacific' $33,500, 'Banana' 18G

Broadway legit continued to slide last week, the terrific heat wave adding further pressure to the usual mid-July boxoffice doldrums. Grosses, in many instances, slipped several thousand dollars below the previous week's marks. Friday everal thousand dollars below the previous week's marks. Friday everal managements reported strong fills was a particularly bad night in many situations, while Saturday matinee had varying results, some good, some bad. Several managements reported strong biz at both Wednesday and Saturday matinees, with price the factor. Patronage seemed all out of town; there was little N.Y. trade. Prospects for the current week don't look much better, between the continuing abnormally high temperatures and the Democratic convention.

Estimator for Yest West

Estimates and the Democratic Convention.

Estimates for Last Week

Keys: C (Comedy), D (Drama),
CD (Comedy-Drama), R (Revue),
MC (Musical Comedy), MD (Musical Comedy).
Other parenthetic designations refer, respectively, to top prices; number of seats, capacity gross and stars. Price includes 20% amusement tax, but grosses are net: i.e., exclusive of tax.

"Fourposter." Barrymore (39th wk) (C-$4.80; 1,012; $24,996) (Betty Field, Burgess Meredith). Down to $8,500 (previous week, nearly $10,500).

)0).

"Guys and Dolls," 46th St. (87th k) (MC-$6.60; 1,319; $43,904).
enched $40,900 (previous stanza,

WK) (MC-$6.00. 1,1371; $73.40.

Reached $40,900 (previous stanza, $42,600).

"King and I," St. James (69th wk) (MC-$7.20; 1,871; $51,717)

Celeste Holm). Just under capacity with $51,450 (previous frame. $51,700).

"Male Animal," Music Box (12th wk) (C-$4.80; 1,012; $25,903) (Elliott Nugent, Martha Scott, Robert Preston). Grossed $10,320 (previous week, nerrly $11,500).

"Moon is Blue," Miller (72d wk) (C-$4.80; 920; $21,586) (Donald Cook, Barry Nelson, Maggie McNamara). Around $6,000 (previous frame, $5,900).

"Mrs. McThing," Morosco (22d wk) (CD-$4.80; 912; $26,800) (Helen Hayes). Ended run (temporarily with $13,600 take (previous stanza. nearly $13,100). Will reopen Sept. 8.

"New Faces," Royale (10th wk) (R-$6; 1,035; $30,600). Around $22,000 (previous week, almost $23,400).

"Paint Your Wagon," Shubert (36th wk) (MC-$6; 1,351; $41,700) Eddie Dowling). Ended run after 289 performances Saturday night (19) with estimated gross around $10,000 (previous week, about $12,500).

"Paint Joey," Broadhurst (29th wk)

'Pal Joey," Broadhurst (29th wk)

$38,000). "South Pacific," Majestic (170th

Virginia Vincent

DONALDSON AWARDS
Bast Debut Performance-Actress'
1st—Audrey Hopburn
2nd—Gusti Huber
3rd—Janier Paise
4th—VIRGINIA VINGENT
PLAZE 7-1145

Singers having problems, desiring to extend range, develop volume, bring out pure tone and pitch may, he assured that this is pessible with the correct breath control, bearn about the anatomical balance and he amazed liew much better you can ains. Write for applications, siving full self-description, Box V-8978, Variety, 154 West 48th St., N. Y. 36.

'Dolls' $34,650, Chi

Chicago, July 22.
Chicago is trying to ride out effect of complicating factors on the boxoffice. If it isn't the political conventions, it's the heat or strikes. Managements are hoping that Aug. 1 will find the usual upswing in progress. "Porgy and Bess," however, wound up a four-week stay with a great last week. "Guys and Dolis" is advertising in dailles in surrounding areas and is getting some response. "Bell, Book and Candle" is trying for break-even grosses till the doldrums are over. Comedy leaves for Minneapolis and western tour Aug. 16.

for Minneapolis and western tour Aug. 16.
Estimates for Last Week
"Bell, Book and Candle," Harris
(21st wk) ($4.50; 1,000). Just puffing along with sparse $10,400.
"Guys and Dolls," Shubert (21st wk) ($6; 2,100). Not too much here, either with $34,650.
"Porky and Bess," Opera House
(4th wk) ($5; 3,600). Lush ending with $61,500 for final week, before closing Saturday (19).

RAYE-'ANNIE' $17,500 IN NINE MIAMI SHOWS

IN NINE MIAMI SHOWS

Miami Beach, July 22.

Production of "Annie Get Your Gun," starring Martha Raye, at the Cameo Playhouse, ended the week with an estimated gross of $13,500, plus additional $4,000 at Dade
County Auditorium for one performance Sunday (20) at the 2,500seater in the heart of Miami.

Musical has been held over for an additional week, with the Auditorium again skedded for a Sunday-nighter. Featured with Miss Raye are Earl Couvert, Harry Bellaver, Sammy Walsh, Lea Penman, Denny Desmond and Sandra Sands, Cameo presents six nightly and two matinee performances.

'Prince' $34,000, Dallas; $66,600 for Fortnight

pop, but for Fortnight

Dallas, July 22.

"Student Prince," third indoor staging of the '52 State Fair Musicals season, closed Sunday (20) after tallying a $86.600 gross from 41,200 payees for 14 performances. Stars were June Roselle and Wesley Dalton, supported by George Irving, Billy House, Betty-Ann Busch, Jordan Bentley and ballerina Anna Cheselka. Big second week grossed $34,000.

"Carousel" opened last night (Mon.) for two weeks. Revival stars Iva Withers, Brenda Lewis and Stephen Douglass. In featured roles are Jet MacDonald, Eric Mattson, George Irving, Annabelle Lyon and Kazimir Kokic.

'Ladies' Good $15,800

For 2d Detroit Week

Detroit Week
Detroit, July 22.
Second week of "Good Night Ladies" grossed a good $15,800 at the Cass, with evening performances sold out. First week gross was $14,000.
Theatre is air-conditioned, but unless suitable summer fare can be obtained, theatre will go dark until the regular season.

SIBYL BOWAN

CAPE COD MUSIC CIRCUS Hyanis, Mass.

'Bride' $40,000, St. Loo

"The Barterèd Bride" wound up its third one-week frame since 1939 Sunday (20) in the Municipal Theatre Assn's Al Fresco Playhouse in Forest Park with an estimated gross of $40,000. Jarmila Novotna, William Hess and Ralph Herbert took lead roles with Mary Ellen Moylan and Pittman Corry as featured dancers.

"Countess Maritza" is being revived for a one-week frame this stanza.

Pacific, $66,950, 'Norway' 39G, S.F.

San Francisco, July 22.
Legit continues to boom here, with three shows doing good biz last week. Strong plays are due to follow the incumbents, with "Fourposter," starring the Hume Cronyns, due Aug. 11 at the Geary, and "Jollyanna," with Bobby Clark and Mitzi Gaynor, opening opposite at the Curran.

"Country Girl," starring Nancy Kelly and Robert Young, is also due here in about five weeks.

Estimates for This Week
"Soin of Norway," Curran (4th week) (1,771). Sock $39,000 and fourth and final stanza.

"South Pacific," Opera House (3d week) (3,252). Smash $66,950, with current (fourth) week likely to hit over $70,000.

"Stalag 17," Geary (1st week) (1,551). Okay $13,000. Three more weeks to go.

RECORD ADVANCE CUES 'McTHING' COL. SELLOUT

MCIHING CUL. SELLOUT

Denver, July 22.

"Mrs. McThing" has broken the all-time house record advance sale for its Central City, Col., engagement beginning Aug. 2. As of yesterday (Mon.), after one week of public sales, total was $40,87, thus out-selling for a similar period the 12 legitimate productions appearing at Central City since 1932. Central City Opera House Assn. officials expect, by present indications, that the Helen Hayes starrer will be sold out before opening night for the entire 33 performances, which will have four matines and four evening performances per week.

Utah Opera-Legit Fest Breaks Even With 50G

Breaks Even With 50G

Salt Lake City, July 22.
U. of Utah Summer Festival missed going into black ink this year when the Republican convention kept an estimated $10,000 to $15,000 away from the boxoffice. Advance sale for the two productions, "Kiss Me, Kate" and "Samson & Delilah," made it look like a 60G to 65G gross.

Sale of tix for "Kate" dropped off when the convention TV got hot, and with cloudy skies scaring some away from the al fresco musical, final gross came to about $50,000, an even break.

"Kate," starring Patricia Morison, ran July 7-12, and "Samson," with Clara Mae Turner, Lloyd Leech and Jon Geyans, ran July 17-19. University stadium was priced at a top of $3, with special discounts for combination tix. Maurice Abravanel conducted the orch and C. Lowell Lees directed.

off when the convention TV got hot, and with cloudy skies scaring some away from the al fresco musical, final gross came to about $50,000, an even break.

"Kate", starring Patricia Morrison, ran July 7-12, and "Samson, with Clara Mae Turner, Lloyd Leech and Jon Geyans, ran July 17-19. University stadium spriced at a top of $3, with special discounts for combinations or the state of $1.00 to $1.00 Pitt Stadium Repeat
Pittsburgh, July 22.
Summer opera here came a cropper at the midway mark, with "Rio Rita." fifth show of the series of the year so far at Pitt Stadium. Musical was a repeat, having been first done here outdoors in 1947, but it came nowhere near the original figures, doing barely $25,000 on six performances. There were no rain-outs, but threatening weather several nights held down the crowds, and sweltering heat other evenings hurt some, too.

Current Stadium attraction is "One Touch of Venus." which has the most expensive cast of the season, headed by Russell Nype, Kyle MacDonnell, Dick Smart and the dance team of Fisher & Ross. Remaining attractions are "Annie Get-Your Gun," another repeat, "The Student Prince." first time, and "Babes in Toyland,' 'a repeat, too.

Night Club Reviews

La Nouvelle Eve, Paris

Darmance, for her fine acro-ballet work, and Ami Aaroe, a solid looking Swedish dancer, who puts fire into her interpretation of a gal in the throes of temptation.

The handpleked taxi girls dance with stag clients for 200 francs (60c) a dance. They can be had as companions for the evening, with the tah mounting on drinks and dances up to 4,000 for the evening. There are also two taxi boys for unescorted femmes, but the gal does not have to pay for their services.

Room is well decorated and lit, and fine vantage points for the show are in any part of the house. The bar has a 630-franc ($1.80) cover, with drinks starting at 700 francs ($2). Show has a big production nut and needs its SRO to make coin. Show changes every year in November, and heavily populated cast and richness of costumes take the most of the jack.

Thunderbird, Las Vegas

Las Vegas, July 17.

Doretta Morrow, Jay Marshall,
Trini & Manolo, Johnny O'Brien,
Christina Carson, Kathryn Duffy
Dansations (7), Jack Hayes, Al
Jahns Orch (11); no cover or minimum.

Adding still another first to his mounting collection at this nitery, producer Hal Braudis headlines thrush Doretta Morrow (New Acts). Supported by droll Jay Marshall, and the fiery flamenco duo of Trini & Manolo, Miss Morrow contributes to an above-average chapter. Playing against some pretty stiff competition, however, biz is likely to dip midweeks.

Jay Marshall's turn hasn't changed since his last go-round here at another spot. Still brings up chuckles with his self-defamation of character and kidding of his magico. Flowers from his sleeve, ring tricks, trick handker-chief are presented in his offhand way, holding interest. Dialog is clever.

Not too many table-sitters in this gambling resort, it is presumed, will know the authenticity of Trini & Manolo's flamenco and Iberian terpings. It is to the duo's credit that they sell their almost concert-hall setup. Opener has plenty of sparkle, with clicking footwork and castenets. Trini explains sequel, a Gypsy legend called "Eternal Promise," then returns after Manolo has sketched her likeness on canvas with quick brush strokes—all the while narrating the legend. Trini's solo here is outstanding. Pair then give plenty of fire to "Granada" as Johnny O'Brien backgrounds with his warbling.

Kathryn Duffy Dansations prime Trini & Manolo's entrance by some flashing Spanish rounds, featuring Christina Carson. Ballerina again becomes center of attention in finale while fifting on toes to "Serenade" from "Student Prince." Ensemble forms graceful patterning, and costume adornment is especially in keeping with those of Trini & Manolo. Scores are tough, with plenty of changes, Jack Hayes moves in during Miss Morrow's inning to keyboard accomps at the Steinway onstage. Will.

Heatrice Kay with Sylvan Green
Joey Bishop, Szonys (2), Bill
Skipper, Joy Walker, Drusilla
Davis, El Rancho Girls (8), Ted Fio Rito Orch (10); no cover or minimum.

Annual hegira of Beatrice Kay and accomper-spouse Sylvan Green is always marked by ropes-up bit. Addition of comic Joey Bishop and the highly effective terping Szonys makes for an exceptional although extra-long show.

From "Mention My Name in Las Vegas" to "Mention My Name in Sheboygan," la Kay fills the interim with all the ditties associated with her name over the years. Inserts of the hoydenish comedy, the sly winks, extra mugging, and badinage with Green are all accepted with high glee by table-sitters.

badmage with Green are all accepted with high glee by table-sitters.

Bishop is forced to cut much of his material because of overall running time, but he manages to excite plenty yocks. Sober mien is advanced as his stock-in-trade, with explanation that material is "sincere, if not funny" putting viewers into receptive mood for just about everything he has to offer. Vignettes of Ted Lewis, Bette Davis and Laughton nonsense clinch for solid exit.

The incredibly smooth terping of Francois and Giselle Szony has entire house glued with rapt interest. Brother-sister team practically broke in their act in Vega three years ago at another spa. Difference between that tyro period and present exhibitions it quite marked, although they were excellent even then.

Classic feeling is always present as Giselle does her arabesques and controlled body movements, with Francois the perfect partner in all exhibitions. Francois at the keyboard sets mood of "All the Things You Are" for Giselle's solo, then joins her for completion of the rounds. "Tea For Two" is in direct contrast, giving off a lighter attitude, but so adeptly worked out that show is stopped cold by waves of appliause.

Bill Skipper looks like a natura for musicomedy with his all-around talent for terps and warbling.

Bill Skipper looks like a natural for musicomedy with his all-around talent for terps and warbling. Three-way contemporary dance designs are echoed by Skipper with Joy Walker and Drusilla Davis, fronting line of femmes who do little but look sexy. Both routines are on the bright side, allowing some frantic leaps and patterns by the trio.

Ted Fio Rito. is back at the 88, churning out his arpeggios while signaling cues to the orch in all but the Beatrice Kay closing spot when Green usurps the podium.

Will.

Mayfair-Sugar Hill Boston, July 18. Paul White, Vernita, Kir Kats (2), Janice Mickens, "Rubber neck" Holmes, Sabby Lewis Orch (6); no cover, no minimum.

Literati

ety' and Other Anthologies tof what may be a series of ologies, "The Spice of r," is due via Henry Hoit in November, reprising bein November, reprising beculled from the various ersary Numbers of Variery, has been a long suggested hiefly from the name bythemselves who contribute s, humorous, satirical, nosand kindred special stories year to the special annual
ns. The wealth of material he desire to achieve proper all "balance" will necessisertain other choice stories into future anthologies. The ies will be apportioned
y among the byliners.

vepost, Collier's, Reader's

ies will be apportioned:
y among the byliners.
yepost, Collier's, Reader's and kindred national mags ically reprint their "bests" ual anthologies. They are beined by Coronet: mag which ied in with Doubleday for Bedside Coronet," anthology
slude stories by Dale CarAlfred Hitchcock, Harpo.
Eddie Rickenbacker, Frank
et. al. Another Doubleday logy is the "Giamour MagaAfter Five" Cookbook," by y Pepper, and still another.
e "The Catholic Digest,
" which will include
by Fuiton Oursier, Grareene, Clare Booth Luce and in Reynolds. Dickson Hartund Andrew A. Rooney have d Andrew A. R Rooney have e members of the Overseas Club (Bob Considine did the reprising inside stuff stories ar correspondents such as d Tregaskis, John Daly, Ed w, Bob Trout, H. V. Kalten-and Lowell Thomas.

and Lowell Thomas.

Lait-Mortimer Adamant
k Lait and Lee Mortimer, auof "U.S.A. Confidential," refused to join with Crowns hers and the American Bookord Press, which is condup Sydney Satenstein, their me literary agent, in the age newspaper ads of apol0 Neiman-Marcus, Dallas deent store. Mortimer stated ay (21) that he and Lait
I defend the libel suit and r would permit Crown to up yortlons of the tome. "The hers can't cut without our sisten in the state of them."
he said, "and we give it to them."

the publishers' agreement blish the ad, Neiman-Marcus ad its $7,400,000 suit against n and American Book. Suit st Lait and Mortimer, how-remains before the Federal Ad, which broke in the Times Monday, will also aphapaers in Dallas, Houston, worth and San Antonio, Tex., ill as Los Angeles and Chi-addition to the Neiman-Maruit, Lait and Mortimer will d suits brought by Dave Seattle labor union leader;

the Blaine, Tulsa, Okla,
y sheriif; Margaret Chase
U.S. Senator from Maine,
Antoine Gazda, Providence, businessman.
es on "U.S.A. Confidential"
d the 200,000 mark.

Companion Switch
liam A. H. Birnie, editor of an's Home Companion, will ake on added duties of pubof the mag, as of Aug. 1.
ward Anthony, heretofore sher of both Companion and ar's, will restrict his publishuties to the latter.

stands unless they are either distributed by American or American gives its consent. It thus causes publishers to sign with American. Result, the complaint states, is that the distrib does half the dollar volume of all mags sold at wholesale in the U. S., except for those whose publisher have their own distributing companies, such as Curtis Publishing.

Complaint was drawn for the D. of J. by Malcolm A. Hoffmann, special assistant to the Attorney-General, under the general supervision of C: Worth Rowley, acting chief of the anti-trust division in New York.

Chatterly's Jap Retrial

Retrial of the translator and publisher of D. H. Lawrence's "Lady Chatterly's Lover" has opened in Tokyo's Higher Court. In January's District Court decision, publisher Kyuliro Koyama was fined Y250,000 ($694), while translator Sei Ito was acquitted. Both prosecution and defense had appealed against the January verdict, the former claiming the lower court's decision was "unreasonable" the latter criticizing presentation of evidence against published Koyama.

Decision is expected in October.

Decision is expected in October.

Decision is expected in October.

FS&Y Gets Colette
Colette, French novelist, will henceforth be published exclusively in the U. S. by Farrar, Straus & Young, First of the Colette series, which will use new translations, will hit the stalls in October.
Initial volume will include
"Gigi," translated by Roger Senhouse; "Chance Acquaintances" and "Julie De Carnellhan," both translated by Patrick Leigh Fermor. Other of Colette's novels which are skedded for forthcoming
FS&Y volumes are "Cheri," "The Last of Cheri," "Sido," "La Maison de Claudine," "Le Kepi" and
"Belle Vista,"

"Belle Vista."

Lt. Col. Frank Mallen, USMC, editor of the old City News in N. Y. and publisher of a chain of six papers in Westchester County between wars, has just come out with his first book. It's called "You've Got It Coming To You," (McKay, N.Y., $3). It's the only book which tells a vet his rights, privileges and benefits.

Mallen, who enlisted as a private in the Marines in the First World War and has been in and out of the corps so often he's lost count, figures that by 1955 veterans and their families will run to 62,000,000, two-fifths of the population. His is a compact handbook and seemingly covers every angle of post-combat protection.

Good thing for show biz vets to browse through during layoffs. Might find they've got more coming to them than they realized.

Doubleday's Religiosos April Oursler Armstrong, daugher of the late Futton Oursler, is putting finishing touches on "The Greatest Faith Ever. Known," tome her father was working on at time of his death. Doubleday will publish.

lish.

Firm will also publish a junior version of the Bible to be based on Oursler's "The Greatest Story Ever Told," called "The Greatest Book Ever Written." Mrs. Armstrong and Oursler had been collabing on this project. Mrs. Armstrong is also readying a book on lives of the saints.

ing News and Union News with a great last week of an active proceeding to the Embassy for Colombia, Union News, a whole, remains an active proceeding to the great based of American, operated by American, whose is a distribution of its stock and they published of American, operated they with the process of the Embassy for Colombia, and they are the state of the Embassy for Colombia, and they are the state of the Embassy for Colombia, and they are the state of the Embassy for Colombia, and they are the state of the Embassy for Colombia, and they are the state of the state tice-Hall book to be published in September. A segment of the profits, because of Goldenson's ef-forts, will go to further the cere-bral palsy work.

bral palsy work.

Earl J. Hudson, Michigan theatre operator, is making a special trailer on behalf of the Variety Club of Detroit whose pet charity is cerebral palsy. Ladies Home Journal for August is running an excerpt from the book under the title of "She Lived a Miracle," and it was from this tract that the book idea developed.

Bretz-Stasheff's 2d Book

Bretz-Stasheff's 2d Book
Rudy Bretz and Edward Stasheff, who authored "The Television Program: Its Writing, Direction and Production;" for Wyn last year, have turned out another,
"Television Scripts for Staging and Study," which the same publisher will publish next January. New book includes eight royalty-free scripts. Previous volume has been adopted as a standard text in nearly 40 leading universities and colleges, leges.

Stasheff is associate prof of speech at the Univ. of Michigan where he teaches radio and TV besides officiating as a freelance TV writer-director ("I Cover Times Square, ABC-TV, and moderator of "It's Worth Knowing, NBC-TV). Bretz started as a "WPIX (N. Y.) television cameraman and advanced to production manager. He is a TV consultant and teaches at is a TV consultant and teaches at the School of Radio Fechnique.

Jes' Call Him Mark Twain Laurie

Jes' Call Him Mark Twain Laurie
Joe Laurie, Jr. has a 25-year-old literati confession. For years the pint-sized author-comedian, in the heyday of vaudeville, would alibi his bad spelling by giving top billing, on his personal letterhead, to the phrase, "I don't give a durn for a man that can spell a word only one way." He ascribed it to Mark Twain. It endowed him with a slightly literary aura among the bookers and agents on the booking floors of the various vaude circuits.

circuits.

It got so that columnists would quote "Mark Twain," using the Laurle alibi for his own notorious bad spelling, and finally the invitable happened. The author-comedian got tired of Samuel Clemens getting the stand-in billing and decided to drop it, figuring it would then rest for the pure Laurleign that it was. But the ing it would then rest for the pure Laurieism that it was. But the fates—plus a longtime letterhead billing campaign—ordained other-wise: it's still ascribed to Mark Twain, and so for the first time, order to claim his own dubious brainchild, Laurie is making this confession.

Clemens, Marquand, Douglas

Clemens, Marquand, Douglas
Dixon Wecter, editor of the Mark Twain estate, has completed the first definitive biography of "Sam Clemens of Hannibal," which Houghton Miffin will publish.
Philip (New Yorker) Hamburger has profiled a more contemporane ous literary figure, which he calls
"J. P. Marquand, Esquire"—calling it "a portrait in the form onvel"—which HM also will publish this fall. Still another biog,
"The Shape of Sunday," by Betty
Douglas Wilson and Virginia
Douglas Dawson, treats with their late novelist-father, Lloyd C.
Douglas, who died on Feb. 13, 1951.
In the fall of that year the first volume of his autoblography,
"Time to Remember." was published postumously and became a bestseller. His daughters give another perspective on their mate parent in the book slated for Houghton Miffin publication late this year. Same pub is also bringing out an illustrated edition of Douglas' "The Big Fisherman," done by Dean Cornwell, who also did the paintings for the illustrated edition of "The Robe." "Fisherman" was Douglas' last novel.

SCULLY'S SCRAPBOOK

(In line with the annual custom, while Frank Scully is on his vacash these columns are being guested by Frank Scully—Ed.) Languardia

About the best and worst which can be said of Lillian Ross's case-history of Metro's production of "The Red Badge of Courage" is that, at its best, it is a faithful transcription of how dull picture-making can be and, at its worst, it's a lousy trick to play on press agents who had built up Hollywood as royalty's 20th century summer replacement. As for Miss Ross, though hers was a case-history of a boxoffice flop, it could hardly have been a bigger hit as a byproduct if the picture itself had been a hit. Everybody has either read the installments in The New Yorker or is planning to read them. Libraries report long waiting lists. The clinical report will no doubt go into more permanent binding, and when it does may very well become a non-fiction best seller.

nent binding, and when it does may very well become a non-fiction best seller.

From her Boswellian journal it appears Miss Ross began her study as a press acquaintance of John Huston in New York, was invited by him to see how a picture was made in Hollywood, and once on the labyrinthine conveyor-belt moyed into Gottfried Reinhardt's office suite labyrinthine conveyor-belt moved into Gottfried Reinhardt's office suite in the Thalberg building, Louis B. Mayer's creamery (he seems to have had a passion for cream-colored decors), Arthur Freed's tune-shop, Dore Schary's inner sanctum, Dave Chasen's private dining-room, Nick Schenck's modest fortress at 1540. Broadway, the offices of Howard Dietz and Si Seadler in the same building, as well as the closely-guarded counting-machines of Charlie Moskowitz, Judge Leake and J. Robert Rubin. She sat in on the most intimate conferences with all the ease of a wired housefly. All the principals must have thought her quite harmless. She turned out instead to be a well-informed tsetse fly.

She Told All

She Told All

Except for telling at what times the various characters went to the bathroom, she told all. Their lapses into blasphemy, however, are, it anything, underplayed. Even femme stars swear more than Miss Ross credits vicepresidents, directors, producers and songwriters with doing.

anything, underplayed. Even femme stars swear more than Miss Rosa credits vicepresidents, directors, producers and songwriters with doing.

About 30 years ago I heard a Hollywood technician ring about 90% changes on one four-letter word. He used it as a noun, adjective, verh, adverb—everything, in fact, but a preposition. At that point he made it a proposition. In fact, in technical matters he was most articulate. But in language he was strictly a one-note wonder boy. He taught me to watch my own tongue, lested reduce the language of Shakespeare on all levels to those of the Bard's lowest characters.

Now, this was long before college boys began listening to truck drivers and faithfully recording the language they used when trying teget mired vehicles out of the mud. I had been much in the company of construction crews, muleskinners, and drivers of Watson dumpers before I was in my teens and much of their language limitations had rubbed off on me. My gang at college will remember that long before any of them had got snagged into the army they had heard top-sarge talk from none other than their old Scullywag.

But in my middle years I worked hard at cleaning up my dialog. It seemed silly to me to talk one language and have to write just the opposite. Cleaning up direct quotes becomes the job of all newspapermen, and if you can't use exactly what you or others say, why bother te say it in the first place? That was my philosophy.

I didn't hear again the language of my childhood association with construction crews until I began going around picture studios. In all countries it was the same. It then made me wonder how out of such vulgarly expressed directions and commands could come such clean, wholesome and lofty soreen dialog. Then I remembered. It was the newspaper business all over again.

The Starlet Swears

The Starlet Swears

The Starlet Swears

I recall one top director who became conscious of how much swearing was going on around him and how much he was contributing to it. He had a new starlet starting the next day. She was 17, just out of a convent school, blonde, blue-eyed, babyishly beautiful. He needed what innocence she had to bring out contrast in his picture. He explained to the crew that he didn't want her ears fouled up by the general tone of conversation that normally went on around the stage. "The first guy who swears tomorrow gets fired," he warned.

The next morning everybody tiptoed around the set. They didn't get much work done, but it was clean.

After knocking off for lunch the director and the cameraman were discussing how to speed things up from then till quitting time, when the loudest, foulest swearing any had ever heard thundered all over the stage. It came from the direction of the stage door. The director hurried over to the trouble spot.

There stood his convent-bred insenue, sucking her finger and sputtering still. "This parrot, the so-and-so," she explained. "I tried to pet him and he bit me."

Miss Ross's cast of characters talks almost as cleanly as the morning class of that director's. It doesn't appear that any of the people in the cast were ever on guard or that they admonished her that what they were saying about themselves and about each other was off the record. That any of them would have imagined he was sitting for the sort of hard-boiled profile The New Yorker dropped long ago, I doubt. Still, if they had read and remembered her savage piece on Hemingway, they might have kept their guards up.

if they had read and remembered her savage piece on memingway, they might have kept their guards up.

Surprise Ending

Hollywood has been built with high walls and policemen at the gates to prevent just such sort of exposes. Press credentials are granted and withdrawn much as passports, depending on how useful the press contact may be thought to be and how huriful it may prove in print.

Broadway

June Allyson back to the Coast after a three-week vacation on Long Island. The Ben (Bernice) Krasnes' daughter, Sandra, to be married

Long Island.

The Ben (Bernice) Krasnes' daughter, Sandra, to be married in the early fall.

M. A. Schlesinger (South African theatre tycoon) out of the hospital but 15 pounds lighter.

Robert Pirosh, Metro writer-director, here for research on his next pic, "Valley of the Kings."

Joop Geesink, Dutch producer of puppet films, in from Holland Saturday (19) on the Nieuw Amsterdam.

urday (19) on the Nieuw Amsterdam.
Murray Gruhns ("Four Poster""Shrike" angel) making annual pilgrimage to the Jimmy Stroocks at Fire Island.
Scripter Leonard L. Levinson's
19-year-old daughter, Robin, on a year's sabbatical from Barnard, working at Life.
Edward R. Sammis flew to London yesterday (Tues.) to attend preem of his play, "Albert," due at the Saville July 31.

Film and literati flack Evelyn Gersteln giving two classes on

at the Saville July 31.
Film and literati flack Evelyn Gerstein giving two classes on "History of Motion Pictures" at Hunter College this summer.
Writer-producer-director Chester Erskine, back from a European jaunt, will remain in Gotham for a week before returning to the Coast.
Will Yolen formerly a publicist

Coast.
Will Yolen, formerly a publicist
with Warners and Laurel Films, loined flack firm of Opinion
Builders, Inc., as head of its news

Builders, Inc., as nead to the horau.

Nick (Lorang), longtime headwaiter at the Hotel Astor's Hunting Room, until his retirement, died in Binghamton, N. Y. Details in Obits.

Harry G. Ballance, southern division manager for 20th CenturyFox, and Mrs. Ballance vacationing in South America. They will sist
Peru, Chile, Argentine, Uruguay and Brazil. in Peru, C... Peru, C... Pu Brazil. Du and Brazil.

Pat Duggan, Paramount producer, and his wife are in Gotham for a week. Film-maker will participate in advance promotion for his latest, "Just for You," Bing ticipate in advance promotion for his latest, "Just for You," Bing Crosby starrer.

Hot Air Club will hold its 53d annual clambake in New Jersey at Loui's Cocktail Lounge, Route 35, near Keansburg, Sunday afternoon (27). Group will leave by boat from the Battery at 10 a.m.

Anticipating a Stevenson draft in Chicago this week, Universal's Morris Alin, who writes lyrics under the Tin Pan Alley monnicker Morrie Allen, has a uthored a campaign song titled "Stevenson Is the One."

Herbert J. Yates, Republic Pictures prexy, and Loew's Theatres cocktail-partying director, John Ford at the Essex House next Tuesday (29). Ford's Republic re-lease, "The Quiet Man," opens at Loew's Capitol in August. "Electing to play more GI dates rather than pro dates on the Riviera, Hildegarde and her personal rep, Anna Sosenko, are extending their Austro-German stay to be followed by a vacation in Salzburg and Venice, and boating home Aug. 14 on the SS U.S.

Refering to Capt. Harry Manning of the record-breaking SS U.S., the Meyer Davis orch's theme song was "I'm Just Wild About Knots."

Leopold Friedman, Loew's veep and general counsel, flying to London today (Wed.) on a quickle on company business. He only recently returned from a European holiday but this trip embraces contract problems with the British Metro studios and other matters.

Arthur Fatt, head of the Grey and agency, relinquishing his last year's penthouse, a small trap on the Ave. with only $35,000 worth of special built-in shrubbery, for a larger rooftop manse on Park and Bist. Esquire-Coronet publisher David A. Smart may take over the old place.

MCA veep Charlie Miller's daughter, Patricia Jane, marries Howard Matthew Stein, Juilliard School of Music grad, in the fall. Bride-to-be's mother, Adelaide, is the sister of MCA founder and board chairman Jules C. Stein.

Cleveland

By Glenn C. Pullen'

By Glenn C. Pullen company that the provin the proving stand at S. Logiammers.

Mugssy Spanier with singing foster-son, Buddy Charles, playing second date at Moe's Main Street Van Sleet-Marlin stock players offering "Goodbye Again" this week at Chagrin Falls strawhatter.

Disbanding his Cavaliers Trio, guitarist Romeo Fascione teamed to megotia by with Freddy Helkel, violinist, at Steve Drummer's club.

broker here, gave up job to join brother, John Kenley, in organiz-ing new strawhat company at York, Pa.

brother, John Kenley, in organizing new strawhat company at York, Pa.

Jackie Jocko in town to plug his new Mercury recording of "You Can't Get Too Far With a Broken Heart," co-composed by Carl Lampl, localite, Lindsay Sapphire line of dancers moved into Sky-Way Lounge, after two weeks at Alpine Village. Jerri Sothern and Ish Kabibble topping new Sky-Way bill.

Sid Freidman, talent agent, launched at Garden Theatre series of Tuesday "showsased audition" shows featuring new acts wanting to display wares for bookers, theatre and cafe owners.

Milton Harris, publicity-ad director for Loew's local house a dozen years ago, back as manager of Warners' Vogue Theatre, nabe. Comes from Buffalo's Cinema Theatre, which he managed a year.

Bob Peck, Cleveland arranger who once worked for Glenn Miller, Paul Whiteman and Bob Crosby, came out of retirement to ler, Paul Whiteman and Bob Crosby, came out of retirement to arrange music library for Jimmy Mitchell's new orchestra playing this territory.

Paris

Lansing Balley setting up production facilities for a TV series, "Spotlight," here.
Julien Duvivier set Dany Robin as star of film, "Henriette's Ball," to start beginning of August.
Michael Auclair having to bow out of role in Geza von Cziffra film, "The Danube Waltz," for military service.
Top ho. still going to Fernandel Starrer, "The Little World of Don Camille," now in its sixth week here at three big houses.
"Face To The Wind," moppet plc, finally 'getting the okay here for children under 16 after having been banned to them for the last two years.

been banned to them for the last two years.

Jean Boyer and Jean Vital, of Radio Diffusion Francaise, setting up a new film producing outfit, Simoja. First film will be "100 Francs a Second," based on a radio show, and to be directed by Boyer. Felix Oudart, who was suing Marcel Pagnol for 920,000 francs ($2,700) for being removed from a part in the latter's play after rehearsal had started, lost his case. This harks back to 1946, when Pagnol of the product of the pagnol was casting "Cesar." Oudart was replaced by the This narks back to Casar." Oudart nol was casting "Cesar." Oudart had the role but was replaced by Henri Vilbert when Pagnol felt former lacked the proper Marseilles accent.

Miami Beach

By Lary Solloway

Joe Mooney held over at Harbor

Lounge.
Del Casino into Dream Bar in Johnina Hotel.

Johnina Hotel.

Newest entry in local TV films hereabouts is World Wide Films.

Harry Richman costarring with Martha Raye at Five O'Clock Club.

Joey Adams into Clover Club, with Jackie Miles to follow around Aug 8 with Jackie Miles to follow around Aug. 6.

Bobby Lucas set for mid-beach all-nitery, Snooky's Rendezvous, beginning July 30.

Chris Columbo added to Sans Souci Blue Sails Room Show, which features Lenny Kent.

Gracie Barrie replaced Monica Boyar at Casablanca's Club Morocco when latter had to leave for other engagements.

Nautilus Hotel set Buddy Lester and Carol Bruce in line with one-name-weekly policy adopted several weeks ago. Helen Forrest current.

Bogota, Colombia

Bogota, Colombia

Royal Dumbar circus opened four-week stay.
Carmencita Pernett, warbler, off to Puerto Rico and Miami.
Government issued decree authorizing construction of casino at Cartagena, tourist port.
American film distribs luncheoned Maurice M. Bernbaum of Dept. of State at Temel's.
Cine Club, private subscription group, ran "La Ronde" pic. Censors banned public exhibition.
James Alberse, of Time-Life promotion department, in on o.o. Life.

Life.
Pedro Lopez Lagar and stock company closed dull three-week stand at San Jorge and headed for the provinces before taking off for Venezuela.

Alvaro Monroy Guzman new artistic director of Radio Nuevo Mundo. Teresa Gutierrez, top femme announcer, now NM's program chief.

gram chief.

Juan Penaloza, director of Teatro Colon, off to Spain and Italy to negotiate for a director for Colon's achool of dramatic art and another director for its symphony

London

Mote Rotman, foreign manager for Edward Small, in hospital for major operation.

Hyman Zahl, director of Fosters agency, to New York Friday (25) on his regular talent looksee.

Sol Lesser returned to New York yesterday (Tues.) after a prolonged stay in London and on the Continent nent.

nent.

Donald Peers returned from Korea with Joyce Neale and Donald Phillips after a tour of British Korea with Joyce Areas and Millips after a tour of British camps.

A. Davison Dunton, chairman of the Canadian Broadcasting Corp, salled for New York on the Mauretania last Wednesday.

Wait Disney did a personal in last week's "Current Release" TV program, fortnightly feature devoted to general releases.

Sam Eckman, Jr., hosting reception tomorrow (Thurs.) to Charles Goldsmith, who's been appointed MGM's assistant managing director.

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., recording narrations for reissue of his father's silent film, "The Iron Mask," which was written by Richard Llewellyn.

er's stient him, The fron Mass, which was written by Richard Llewellyn.

Show biz contingent currently in London includes Arthur Lubin, includes Arthur Lubin, Grayson, Ira Stewart, Dr. t Kalmus, Sam Marx and London includes Arthur Lubin, Danny Grayson, Ira Stewart, Dr. Herbert Kalmus, Sam Marx and John Perona.

Max Thorpe, Columbia topper, tossed reception for Stanley Kramer, and guests included Joseph A. McConville, who returns to the U. S. this week.

Jeremy Spenser, currently starring in "The Innocents," will be first guest artist in a new BBC radio feature which will spotlight the work of professional performers under 21.

Hayana

By Jay Mallin
Rocio & Antonio doing Spanish dances at Tropicana.
Brenda, dancer, has top billing
in the vaude show at the Marti

Theatre.

Blanquita Amaro, dancer, star-ring in the show at the Campoamor

Theatre,
Mexican tenor Pedro Vargas signed for TV shows on Cuban signed for TV shows on Cuban channels.

Ben Marden, who recently purchased Radio Cadena Azul, now plans to install TV.

Composer-planist Ernesto Lecuona stars on a weekly TV show over Union Radio Television.

over Union Radio Television.

Rene Riera Llanuza leaving for the States to represent Cadena
Oriental de Radio in New York.
Songstress Kay Brown vacationing in Havana. Also (at nearby Varadero) is Frederick Loewe.
Cadena Roja radio station, acquired by new owners, has a new name, Radio Reporter. News programs are to dominate the schedule.

composer - conductor Agustin Lara and his 17-piece orchestra playing in shows at Montmarte Cabaret, Radiocenter Theatre and CMQ-TV.

Chicago

Ralph Bell, actor, in to see wife, Pert Kelton, ill at Columbus Hospital:
George Wilmot appointed manager of the Erlanger, taking over from the late Fred Crow.
Shep Traube in to arrange for route of "Bell, Book and Candle" when it leaves Chicago Aug. 16.
Danny Newman flew to South America for the rest of summer to be with his wife, Dina Halpern, who is starring in Kiddish legit there.

Rita" at Pitt Stadium despite cracked kneecap suffered at dress cracked knesses authored at these rehearsal.

Singer Sylvia Karlton, Karl Kalmensons' dotter and niece of Ben Kalmensons, WB sales chief, marrying Navy Lieutenant Philip Moscowitz in New York Aug. 24.

Portland, Ore.

Portland, Ore.

By Ray Feves

Allan Wieder, RKO field man, in town for a few days.

Jat Herod's Manhattan Cocktail Revue held for a third week at Amato's Supper Club.

Guy Cherney, Loretta Miller and Sheppard Bros. held for a second stanza at the Clover Club.

Bev Kelley, advance man for "Call Me Madam," here to work out details with promoter William Duggan.

"Naughty Marietta" opened a two-week run at the outdoor Holladay Bowl. Ditto "Anything Goes" at the Civic Theatre.

"Song of Norway" opened legit season at the Auditorium. Musical inked for week with opener last night (22). Big sked of musicals and plays set for Auditorium and Mayfair Theatre.

Don Simmons circus revue, with Hoosier Hotshots, Saturns, Howard Hardin, Duanes, El Cota, Kings, Chico Dell, Patsy Jean, and Lamarettes, played two mats and two eves at the Armory here last week.

Berlin

By Hans Hochn
Stravinsky's "The Rake's Progress," presented by the Hamburg State Opera, will be a highlight of the Berlin Cultural Festival.
Berolina started shooting Lehar's "Land of Smile," with Jan Kiepura

Beroina started shouting Lethat and Martha Eggerth as stars. Exteriors will be shot in Siam. "Un Grand Patron," French pic, "Kon-Tiki" (RKO) and "Monsieur Verdoux" (UA) were the best pix of June as chosen by Berlin crix. Ernst Neubach, wellknown songwriter, author 'and director, returned to Berlin after an absence of 16 years, is making a comedy, "You Only Live Once," for CCC. Latest U. S. pix preemed at firstrun houses include "Adam's Rib," "Calamity Jane and Sam Bass," "Beyond the Blue Horison," "The Extle" and "Cyrano de Bergerac."

Ireland

By Maxwell Sweeney Thesper Barry Keegan to London.

Brendan Smith Productionsstrawhatting at Bray, County Wickstrawhatting at Bray, County Wicklow.

Maurice O'Brlen joins Longford Productions for role in. "The School for Wives."

Maurice Elliman, former viceprexy Odeon (Ireland), Ltd., who died earlier this year, left $210,000.

Brid Lynch pacted for Pegeen
Mike role in coming Abbey revival of J. M. Synge's "Playboy of the Western World."

Thesper Noel Purcell planed back from Granada, Spain, after feature role in Mike FrankovichJoe Auerbach pic, "Decameron Nights."

Tom Arnold currently presenting two shows in Dublin, "King's Rhapsody" at the Gaiety and "Ice Show of 1952" at National Stadium. Both clicking.

Benublic's John Warne Mannage.

of 1952 at rational Stateman. Scilcking.
Republic's John Wayne-Maureen O'Hara starrer, "The Quiet Man," now in sixth week at the Adelphi,
Dublin, has broken all house records for length of run.

Minneapolis

Hollywood

Marjorie Lord divorcing John Archer,
Suzan Ball to Dallas to open p.a. tour.
Frank Whitbeck observed 170th birthday.
Paul Weston hospitalized wistomach trouble.
Harry Yon Zell laid up withroat infection.
Clare Booth Luce leased a hou in Beyerly Hills.

Harry Von Zell laid up withroat infection.
Clare Booth Luce leased a hou in Beverly Hills.
David Wayne touring the nort west on vacation.
Dan O'Herilhy planed to Mexicity for a picture.
Otto Lang returned from a to of the Belgian Congo.
Walter Annenberg in from the least for a short visit.
Earle C. Anthony hospitalize with virus infection.
Virginia Mayo in the hosipi with sinus infection.
Frankle Laine and Carl Fish plane in from Honolulu.
Bill Thomas returned to wo after a three-week vacation.
Howard Freeman in town following fold of "Off Thee I Sing."
Wendell Corey to San Diego plug the Community Chest.
Joseph Sistrom leaving for Lot don on Paramount business.
Bullets Durgom, the agent, back in town after six weeks in the ease Ruth Hussey to Minneapolis iplug "Woman in the Wilderness.
Steven Garay gets his find American citizenship papers the week.
Glenn Ford and Eleanor Powe to Mammont Lakes for 10 days.

eek. Glenn Ford and Eleanor Powd Mammoth Lakes for 10 days a

Steven citizenship papers the week.

Glenn Ford and Eleanor Powd to Mammoth Lakes for 10 days in Shing.

Jack Mahoney booked for the Pittsburgh Police Circus late the month.

Vincent Fennelly returned to he month was a factor three week in N. Y.

Pep Lee elected Commander Paramount Post No. 557, Amed can Legion.

Virginia Huston and Manus Paclinton, II, garamounted their exagement.

Jimmy Stewart will official again at the annual Soapbox Denin Akron, O.

Tora Ritter and his horse books for six weeks at the Harring Arena, London.

Randolph Scott won the annual Columbia golf tournament with low gross of 69.

Judy Canova ordered by he medico to take it easy for the reof the summer.

Hume Cronyn and Jessica Tand in from Bermuda to start a low of "The Fourposter."

Cornel Wilde booked for a seriof lectures to drama students in his universities.

Harry M. Warner gifted Woland Hills with a new Americal Legion Town Hall.

Mary Sinclair suspended Paramount for going to Eurowithout permission.

Ted Richmond making a traffor the Savings Bond drive will many Durante starred.

Edward Clark celebrated 160th year in show business on the Savings Bond drive will many Durante starred.

Edward Clark celebrated 160th year in show business on the Edward Clark celebrated 160th year in show business on the Savings Bond drive will many Durante starred.

Edward Clark celebrated 160th year in show business on the Edward Clark celebrated 160th year in show business on the Savings Bond drive will many Durante starred.

Edward Clark celebrated 160th year in show business on the Savings Bond drive will you will be the savings Bond drive will many Durante starred.

Edward Clark celebrated 160th year in show business on the Savings Bond drive will many Durante starred.

To the Savings Bond drive will many Durante starred.

To the Savings Bond Greekeefe."

Tony Curtis and George Tonguests of honor at the annual of vention of the Pacific Coast Marenton of O'Keefe.

Tony. Curtis and George Fguests of honor at the annual of vention of the Pacific Cost Maccians' Assn.

Charles P. Skouras named chiman of the L. A. Communic Chest's publicity committee for I fourth time.

Columnist Louella Parsons is Cedars of Lebanon Hospital reet and will probably be there

Cedars of Lebanon Hospital rest and will probably be then few more days. She was ordet to hosp. by Dr. Myron Prinzme who said she is suffering from haustion.

Trick Dina Halpern, who is starring in Kiddish legit there.

Franchot Tone and Betsy Von Furstenberg at Chevy Chase this week in "Second Man" and Carol Bruce in "One Touch of Venus" at Salt Creek.

Pittsburgh

By Hal Cohen

Nello Sestini, Buddy Lee's trombone player, and Marie Puglisi got married recently.

Kay Lyder back again at Mountain Playhouse in Jemerstown, Pa., for femme leads.

Bernard Buchheit, Manos circuit exec, in Westmoreland Hospital with heart attack.

With his own Carousel closed, Jackie Heller goes into the Twin Coaches this weekend.

Summer students at Carnegie Tech Drama School did Joshua Logan's "The Wisteria Trees."

Johnny Harris handed "Ice Capades" advertising account for local engagement to Dubin-Feldman agency.

F. D. (Dinty) Moore, WB district sales manager, convalescing at Lake Chautauqua after stomach operation.

Jack Goede went on in "Rie"

Minnecapolis

By Les Rees

University of Minnesota Theatre offering "The Circle."

"Guest in the House" on deck for Old Log strawhatter.

Ramon Noval orch continuing at Hotel Nicolet Minnesota Terrace and still draw-loss in cheek at Hotel Nicolet Minnesota Terrace and still draw-loss in cloudes dancer Lois Cofliks songstress Lynn Kelly.

Sc. Paul Heinie's holding over magician Carazin in floorshow that sonicules dancer Lois Cofliks songstress Lynn Kelly.

With his own Carousel closed, Jackie Heller goes into the Twin Coaches this weekend.

Summer students, at Carnegie Tech Drama School did Joshua Inches the Capades and thing the probably be ther few more days. She was order to hosp with of Minnesota University of Minnesota University of Minnesota University of Minnesota University of Minnesota Summer session with the Season and Still daw-loss of the House" of Cult Log Strawhatter.

Ray King and his "Komi-Kings," aparently Magic Bar fixtures, back on joh after fortnight vacation. They're going into third year.

Northwest Variety club annual going for manical cardens of the probable to hosp. Developed from house the few more and still draw-loss o

OBITUARIES

HOMER F. CURRAN

HOMER F. CURRAN.

Homer F. Curran, 67, veteran legit producer and theatre owner, died July 18 in Beverly Hills after a long illness. Curran, who had been credited with stimulating the Coast's legit vitality; operated theatres in Los Angeles and San Francisco for more than 25 years. He also co-managed the Belasco Theatre, L. A., with the late David Belasco, and, after the latter's death, took over the operation himself.

The L. A., with the late Daylar Belasco, and after the latter's death, took over the operation himself.

In 1944, in collaboration with Edwin Lester, Curran helped write and co-produced "Song of Norway." a musical biog of Edward Grieg. The show was launched on the Coast and then sent to Broadway where it had a successful run. Curran teamed with producers Russell Lewis and Howard Young three years later in the producers Russell Lewis and Howard Young three years later in the producers fing Cornelia Otis-Skinner. In 1948 Curran and Lester produced the lavish musical, "Magdalena." It opened at the Ziegfeld Theatre. N. Y., after a Coast preem, but only had a short Broadway stay.

Curran entered the theatrical field with the purchase of the old Cort Theatre, San Francisco. He subsequently disposed of this house, but in 1922 built the Curran Theatre, still one of Frisco's major legit houses. He also acquired an interest in the Geary Theatre there some years ago, In 1927 he foined the newly formed producing team of Fred Butler and Edward Belasco, David Belasco's. Brother. Their initial production of Noel Coward's "The Queen Was In The. Parlor," with Pauline Frederick. During the early 1930s the syndicate produced such shows in L.A. and Frisco as "Camille," with Jane Cowi." "Rebound," with Ina Claire; "Cyrano de Bergerac." with Richard Bennett; "The Vinegar Tree," with Bill lie Burke, and "Tonight Or Never," with Helen Gahagain.

When the trio disbanded in the discount of the produced and an mid-30s Curran continued as an lie Burke, and "Tonight Or Never," with Helen Gahagan.

When the trio disbanded in the mid-30s, Curran continued as an Indie producer. In 1939 he established the Civic Light Opera Assn. in Frisco. After the "Magdalena" production in '48, Curran became inactive as a producer. However, he continued in his post as prez of the Curran Theatre Corp. and his operation of Curran Productions, theatrical property concern in LA.

WILLIAM S. (DOC) WADDELL

WILLIAM S. (DOC) WADDELL
William S. (Doc) Waddell, 89, retired circus pressagent and advance man, died July 15 in Columbus, O. He also was a circus minister with many of the big shows and was known in the trade as "Bishop of the Big Top," He had worked for Barnum & Bailey, Hagenbeck-Wallace, Ringling Bros. and the Sells-Floto circuses.
Waddell, ne William Shackleford Andres, began his circus career as a candy butcher with the old John Robinson circus when he was nine years old. In 1896 he toured the U. S. with the first Thomas Edison pix, lecturing and exhibiting in opera houses. During the following year he toured with the Jim Corbett-Bob Fitzsimmons fight pix. He also flacked for Frank S. Bostock ("the animal king") at the Pan-American Exhibition in Buffalo. He subsequently joined Col. Fred Cummins and his Italian Congress, which played the first Chicago World's Fair.
Waddell managed and directed Gus Lambrigger's wild animal show until his retirement.

CHARLES WARBURTON CHARLES WARBURTON
Charles Warburton, 64, legit and radio actor-director, died of a heart attack July 19 in New York. Warburton had been director of ABC's cross-the-board soaper, "My True Story," since 1944. He had preViously hear on acton director for cross-the-board soaper, "My True Story," since 1944. He had pre-viously been an actor-director for NBC.

Warburton began his acting career in England with Sir Frank Benson's company. He toured the U. S. with the Stratford-on-Avon Players in 1913. He joined the Old Vic Co. after World War I and Came to the U. S. to live here permanently in 1920. He was prez of the Shakesper e Society of America at the time of his death. Surviving are his wife, two daughters and a soft.

more in Times Square, long before its diffusion into Hollywood and Radio City circles, was as much a landmark of Times Square as the hotel itself. He started with Fred Muenschenheim, who built the hosteiry, and for more than a third-of-a-century presided at his top spot as greeter and maitre d'.

Services tomorrow (Thurs.) at Prentice Funeral Home, 55 Main St., Binghamton, N. Y. A son and a daughter survive.

GEORGE RRAHAM
George Braham, 87, retired orch leader and composer, died of a heart attack July 19 in New York. Braham had been an orch leader for the late David Belasco at the Belasco Theatre, N. Y. He also poined songs for several Broadway musicomedies. The son of Dave Braham, who wrote songs for Harrigan & Hart, he was also the uncle of Nedda Harrigan (Mrs. Joshua Logan) and actor William Harrigan.

A sister also survives.

ALFRED SEDGWICK
Alfred Sedgwick, manager of the Palace. Theatre, St. Catharine's, Ontario, died in that city July 11 from injuries sustained when he was hit by a truck. Sedgwick had been in the motion pic biz since 1927, when he joined the staff of the Tivoil Theatre, Toronto. In 1945 he joined Odeon Theatres and had managed the Palace since then. then:

Surviving are wife, son and daughter.

DANIEL E. McMAHON
Daniel E. McMahon, 82, who turned to promoting boxing matches as manager of the old Gaiety Theatre, Albany, and who brought to that house such pugilists as John L. Sullivan and Jack Johnson, died at his home in Albany July 15. McMahon also successfully promoted bouts in various Albany and Rochester arenas, and managed a string of fighters.
Widow and son survive.

PATRICK F. BYRNE
Patrick F. Byrne, 45, salesman for the St. Louis RKO-Radio exchange, was killed, his wife, three children and father-in-law injured July 14 when the automobile he was driving skidded on the wet pavement and turned over near Ziegler, Ill.
Byrne never regained consciousness. None of the others was seriously injured.

HARRY J. BLAIR
Harry J. Blair, 63, veteran music man, died July 20 in New York. For the past 20 years he had been a distributor of professional music copy for organists. At one time he was associated with Broadway Music and Shapiro-Bernstein, publishing firms.

Surviving are his wife and a daughter.

WALDEMAR H. ROSE

WALDEMAR H. ROSE
Waldemar H. Rose, former exec of the Columbia, Okeh and Pathe Recording Co. and founder and prez of the Sapphire Group, died July 20 in New York. He was v.p.
of the Frank L. Capps Co., makers of recording needles, at the time of his death.
Surviving are his wife cinger of recording needles, at the time of his death. Surviving are his wife, singer Annette Hanshaw; a brother and two sisters.

HAROLD GROPPER
Harold (Hal) Gropper, 32, staff announcer for WSYR and WSYR-TV, Syracuse, died of leukemia July 3 in Syracuse. Gropper had been a staff announcer for WRUN, Utica, before joining the Syracuse station in March, 1950. He also worked at radio stations in Denver, Jamestown, N. Y., and Great Falls, Mont. Mont Wife survives.

LESTER D. WATSON
Lester D. Watson, 49, who constructed and installed equipment for Station WOWO, Fort Wayne, Ind., and held many patents for electrical devices, died in Indianapolis July 17 of a heart attack. He developed a filter choke which gave tone qualify to broadcasts. Wife, son, and daughter survive.

ANNA J. PETERSON
Mrs. Anna J. Peterson, 82, pioneer in home teconomics broadcasts, died July 19 in Chicago! She broadcast over KYW, Chicago.

Jake Erlich, 45, former circus giant, died July 18 in El Paso. He had trayeled with many circuses, including Ringling Bros. and Bar-num & Bailey and Al G. Barnes.

FRED O'DONOVAN

Fred O'DONOVAN
Fred O'Donovan, 63, Irish actordirector, died July 21 in London,
He appeared on Broadway in 1909 in J. M. Synge's "The Playboy of the Western World."

VALENTINE MORGAN

Valentine Morgan, 76, veteran istralian film advertising man, ed in Melbourne. July 12 foi-Australian film advertising man died in Melbourne, July 12 fol-lowing a heart attack. Wife, two sons and daughter survive.

BEATRICE H. HAYWARD

Beatrice Herford Hayward, 84, former actress and monologist, died July 18 in Seaconnet Point, R. I.

JULIUS MAY

Julius May, 44, stage manager for Billy Rose for 18 years, died July 22 in New York. Wife and daughter survive.

Lew Hippe, 72, physical instruc-tor and masseur at Warners for the last 23 years and a former Mack Sennett actor, died in Hollywood July 19 following an operation for a lung ailment. His wife and son, Warner Bros. makeup man Louis H. Hippe, sur-

Olive Hoyt, wife of Gerald M. Hoyt, New Brunswick (Canada) dis-trict manager for Monogram and Eagle Lion, and owner of Commu-nity Theatre, Rothesay-Quispam-sis, N. B., died after a heart at-tack July 12.

Mrs. Cornelia Wight Harper, 79, former singer with the N. Y. Philharmonic Orchestra and John Philip Sousa's band, died July 21 in Pepack-Gladstone, N. J.

James M. Fort, 60, background projectionist at 20th-Fox Studios since 1929, died July 19 at his home. Widow, daughter, brother and sister survive.

Harry G. Taylor, 81, specialist in the building of miniature film sets, died July 16 at his home in Burbank.

Mother, 66; of Bill Polk, midwest manager of Willard Alexander Agency, died in Chicago, July 12.

Clair Edwin Crane, 63, projectionist with Columbia Pictures for 15 years, died July 13 at his home in San Gabriel.

Mrs. Florence Finley Roden, wife of Henry W. Roden, screen-writer, died July 16 in Santa Monica.

Maj. C. Court Treatt, 63, author and producer of travelog films, died July 11 in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Lillian Bowles, 69, former concert singer and vocal coach, died-July 16 in Los Angeles.

James Y. Glisson, 91, former ght opera tenor, died July 19 in hiladelphia.

Father, 79, of Albert Dezel, in-dependent film distributor, died in Chicago July 15.

Father of Bert McKay, of Paramount's casting department, died July 15 in Hollywood.

Locarno Pix Fest

Continued from page 2.

distribs and tourist associations, is a much more leisurely, slower-paced affair than its Cannes and Venice counterparts. There are few receptions, formal dress is not required at screenings, and the general atmosphere is closer to that of a hearty, friendly country fair. The organization, unobtrusive but efficient and hearitable more fair. The org but efficient and hospitable, more less lets things run along on their own.

Middle of the Read

NICK LORANG
NICK LORANG
Nick (Lorang) (few knew his surface) veteran headwaiter at the life of his Binghanton, N. Y., led at his Binghanton, N. Y., led at his Binghanton, N. Y., led at his Binghanton, N. Y., led the first of his binghanton, N. Y.

July 16, when a guide rope broke in a carnival where he was employed. Survived by wife and two children.

TAKE ERIJON

Tender of broke tentiousness and snobbism which is a (necessary) part of most other similar affairs, it was a success. The lack of prizes helps the relaxed atmosphere, prevents many laxed atmosphere, prevents ma-neuvers, avoids accusations, jury trouble, etc. Locarno will never be a major fete, but serves its func-tion, also as meeting place for Swiss exhibs-distribs, etc., well. On basis of this year's results, next year will see increased participa-tion there. tion there.

tion there.

Screenings were held nightly in an over 2,000-seat open-airer built in, the Grand Hotel's gardens, by day in the town's two cinemas. A new deluxe showcase, originally scheduled to open for the festival, was not completed in time. A congress for discussion of elucational films and one on films for children, both with screenings, were also held during the local fete, and attended by delegates from several countries. from several countries.

from several countries,

Italy and the U.S. presented the bulk of feature production, followed by France and Great Britain, Top critical favor went to France's "Casque D'Or," directed by Jacques Becker, while the public voiced its approval of "Don Camillo," a Franco-Italian co-production, Besides "The Well" (UA).

Which avoked term franco-like conduction. Besides "The Well" (UA). which evoked very favorable comment at a press screening, the Yank roster included "Pick-Up"
(Col), well-received, "5 Fingers"
(20th), "Bullfighter and the Lady"
(Rep), "With a Song In My Fleart"
(20th), and "Diplomatic Courier"
(20th), Let hand description (20th). Last-named brought some critical comment about the presentation at an infernational festival (20th) of "openly propagandistic material," but a real controversy was stirred up by "African Queen" (Horizon), presented here as a British entry.

German Beef

German Beef
The following protest was lodged: "The members of the German Assn. of Film Journalists present at Locarno voice their regret over the British picture 'African Queen' presented at the Festival. The film' does not attempt an objective portrayal; on the contrary, it emphasizes definite anti-German tendencies. The German journalists are convinced that World War I'German colonial soldiers should ists are convinced that World War I'German colonial soldiers shoulders should not without exception be pictured as incendiaries and executioners, as is the case in this film. This sin contradiction both with the oftwoiced appeal for the motion picture as a means of international friendship and with efforts for a united European partnership."

united European partnership."

The varied Italian selection included three films which are to get U.S. distribution: "It Happened in Rome" (RKO), "Three, Forbidden Stories" (Warner), and "A City On Trial" (20th), as well as "Good Morning, Elephant" (Dear Film), starring Vittorio DeSiea; "Anna" (Lux), with Silvana Mangano; and "Filumena Marturano." Showing of "It Happened in Rome" was al-Filumena Marturano; and of "It Happened in Rome" was almost called off because of a controversy between Swiss and Paris. offices of RKO, and a copy finally was smuggled in from Italy at the last minute. Besides "Casque D'Or," France presented "With Andre Gide" and "Table Aux Creves." Germany was reposed by Eric Pomeration. Andre Gide" and "Table Aux Creves." Germany was repped by Eric Pommer's production, "Naghts Auf Den Strassen," Sweden by
"Franskild," Israel by "Klala
Lebracha," Austria by "Hoellische
Llebe," while Great Britain rounded out its entry with "The Card," starring Alec Guinness, and "Hunted," directed by Charles Crighton, both well received by public and crix.

Most Swiss dietrib-

Most Swiss distribs and exhibs dropped into Locarno for a look at future product. Among celebs future product. Among celebs present during the Festival were French director Jaques Becker and stars Anne Vernon, Arletty and Claude Dauphin; Italians Gluseppe DeSantis, Carla Del Poggio, Bovo, Silvana Pampanini, and Luigi Bovo, Sayana Fampanini, and Luigi Zampa; and Germans Eric Pommer and Rudolf Jugert. Swiss press coverage of the fete was naturally complete, with Germany, Italy, and France also well repped.

MARRIAGES

Gloria Lentz to Fred Hegelund, Ensenada, Mex., June 30, He's stage manager at KNBH.

Moris Lee Light to Larry Higgins; Memphis, July 11. Groom is disk jockey at WHHM, Memphis.

Danny Kaye

Continued from page 2 for its listeners in the United King-dom and overseas.

om and overseas.

Kaye's presence here and the re-Kaye's presence here and the reception he has received have dispelled all fear among the Danes that Kaye would caricature Andersen, their national hero. Late yesterday (Mon.) Kaye visited the Danish Parliament and presented to Premier Eriksen the script of the American film. Today he will visit Odense, birthplace of Andersen, where the house in which the author, was born is preserved as author was born is preserved as Kaye's Ho p 'Invasion' Newcastle, Eng., July 15. Who let Danny Kaye watch a serious operation at the Royal Vic-toria Infirmary here?

Question is to be raised at next meeting of the regional hospital board, following complaints by senior surgeons over the comehegging of the regional hospital board, following complaints by senior surgeons over the come-dian's visit to the infirmary last Thursday (10).

It wasn't until Kaye had left the

he wash't until kaye had left the hospital that senior surgeons knew he had been there. They were told he was invited by a surgeon who had attended one of his performances at the City Hall.

ances at the City Hall.

Regulations regarding attendance at hospital operations in Britain are of the strictest, only doctors, medical students and doctors, medical stud-nurses being permitted.

Reissues or TV?

Continued from page 1

salvage task by the bank, but it didn't materialize.

didn't materialize.

One of the difficulties faced by the institution on determining the most profitable disposal method in the U.S. is the fact that the 13 films available now have no particular b.o. strength. That's how they got in trouble in the first place, of course, and why the bank never got its coin out of them in their original release.

That means that they have little

That means that they have little value for reissue. On the other hand, if they're handed over to tele, it must be recognized that their reissue value will be totally and permanently cancelled out.

and permanenty gancelred out.

Enterprise product includes such biggies: as "Arch of Triumih" and "Body and Soul," Similarly tied up by the Universal suit are Walter Wanger's "Secret Reyond the Door" and "Lost Moment" and Nunnally Johnson's "Mr. Reabody's Mermaid" and "Senator Was Indiscreet."

Among pix available for sale once the Bank determines on poli-cy are three from Eagle Lidot. They are "Ruffless," "Northwest Stam-pede" and "Let's Live a Little."

B. of A. last week moved its New York offices from United Art-ists gliq to the RKO bldg., where it has more space.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Macdonald Carey, daughter, Hollywood, July 12. Father is film actor.

Mr. and Mrs. Budd Lesser, son, Hollywood, July 12. Father is a television writer.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom King, son, in Chicago, July 14. Father is publicity director for Chicago Stadium and Arthur Wirtz Enterprises.

Mr. and Mrs. Baden Powell, son,

Mr. and Mrs. Baden Fowell, Son, Hollywood, July 12. Father is radio producer.

Mr. and Mrs. Hal Kanner, daughter, New York, July 17. Mother is Joanne Wheatley, soloist with the Fred Waring TV show; father is a music arranger.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stasney.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stasney, daughter, Philadelphia, July 10, Mother is the daughter of Charlie Gosnell, veteran Pitt musician.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Radkoff, on, Pittsburgh, July 5. Father's Pitt Playhouse actor.

Mr. and Mrs. Lou Crosby, daughter, Palo Alto, Cal., July 17.
Parents do "The Orosbys Calling" over KSJO, San Jose.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Paley, daughter, Santa Monics, 1919 19.
Father is an agent at MCA.

AMERICA'S FASTEST RISING STARS!

"NOONAN AND MARSHALL HIT OF POLICE SHOW!"

-Los Angeles Herald & Express

"Headlining are Noonan and Marshall whose local following will be enhanced by this stint . . . act zips along . . . Pete Marshall's singing and straighting provide the foil for Tom Noonan's impersonations and humor . . . punched over with savvy and a sense of timing that clicks strongly, Boys earn a begoff to provide a rousing finale for the show."

---Variety Kap

Eddy's K. C.

"Tommy Noonan and Pete Marshall are new to Kansas City. Their lovely comedy pattern is well suited to this room. It's a good session that demonstrates their versatility . . . 'Chef Alberni' a sock closer.'

Variety
Quin

Opening

PALMER HOUSE

Chicago July 31

Many thanks to these wonderful people who have made 1952 a great year.

NOONAN & MARSHALL

MURIEL ABBOTT DON AMECHE LEO COHEN ROY COOPER GEORGE EDDY ALICE FABER JOE FABER CLIFTON FADIMAN JOHN GRANDE DAVID HIGH GEORGE S. KAUFMAN JACOB KOSLOFF FRANCES LANGFORD SAM LEVINSON LOS ANGELES POLICE DEPT. GARRY MOORE SAMMY RAUSCH IRWIN SCHUMAN ED SULLIVAN LOU WALTERS BEN WEINBERG -

Exclusive Managements

MILTON DEUTSCH AGENCY

9157 Sunset Blvd.

Hollywood, Calif.

Noonan and Marshall

Published Weekly at 154 West 46th Street, New York 36, N. Y., by Variety, Inc. Annual subscription, $10. Single copies, 25 cents. Entered as second class matter December 23, 1805, at the Post Office at New York. N. Y., under the act of March 3, 1872, COPYRIGHT, 1932, EV VARIETY, INC. ALL. RIGHTS RESERVED

VOL. 187 No. 8

NEW YORK, WEDNESDAY, JULY 30, 1952

PRICE 25 CENTS

W 'KING' OF TIN PAN ALLEY

Sen, Johnson Sees TV Ending Era Of Non-Stop Politico Windbags

By HERMAN A. LOWE

Chicago, July 29.

There's a revolution coming in the format of the American political convention, in the opinion of some very astute political people—and you can trace to television. By the time the curtain descended on the Democratic convention last Saturday, experts of both major parties were agreed on these things:

things:

TV is here to stay as probably the greatest single medium in carrying the convention story to the American people, and should encourage more voting in the Presidential elections.

courage more voting in the Fresidential elections.

The traditional pattern of the convention, as seen over video, often limps and drags, has lots of unnecessary hot air, and frequently comes out just pure "ham."

It will be necessary to tighten up convention procedures and probably even to revamp and streamline the whole jerry-built structure whose clumsy 19th century formula is sadly out of date.

Television may eventually cause the ultimate revolution of replacing the present form of convention with the nationwide presidential primary.

This is the present to the convention with the nationwide presidential

primary.

'This is the way some of the best political observers feel, although most of them do not wish to be (Continued on page 30)

Fred Allen Suffers Attack; Old Gold May Cancel His TV Show

Fred Allen suffered an attack two weeks ago while vacationing at Cape Cod, Mass., and has been ordered by his medicos not to work until at least the first of next year. As a result, Old Gold may cancel his "Two for the Money" show, which he was scheduled to preem on NBC-TV early in the fall, replacing it with another package until Allen is well enough to resume work. Allen suffered an attack

Adlai's Station Stock
Washington, July 29.
The Democratic nominee for The Democratic nominee for president, Adlai Stevenson, and the man who will probably suceed him as governor of Illinois, Edward J. Barrett, each have minority interests in competing applications for a television station in Springfield, Ill.

Stevenson holds about 2% of the stock of Sangramon

Stevenson holds about 2% of the stock of Sangramon Valley TV Corp. in Springfield which is applying for channel 2. Barrett is a 10% owner of WMAY-TV which is bidding for the same channel. Gov. Stevenson has a substantial Interest in radio station WJBC in Bloomington, Ill., via his 25% ownership of the Bloomington D a i l y Pantograph, which holds 90% of WJBC.

RCA and Col Mull New 'LP' 45 RPM Disks

Both RCA Victor and Columbia Both RCA victor and Columbia Records are reportedly ready with a new form of long-playing 45 rpm disk. This differs from the trade-accepted LP, which is the 33 rpm that Columbia ploneered and which has now been widely accepted by has now been widely accepted by all companies for albums and long-hair music.

Victor has had an LP 45 idea in mind for some time, and has perfected the large-spindled 7-inch disk to the extent of getting the grooves closer together so that more music than the average 3 mins. "popular" disking could be accommodated. RCA reportedly

FOR MUSIC BIZ

By ABEL GREEN

The new "king" of Tin Pan Alley
—the phonograph record — has completed its revolutionization of the music business.

The pyramiding manner in which almost the entire music biz keys its very existence to "that record" is recharting the entire course of a business which, traditionally, has been sparked by the "professional" man. His contact with vocal and instrumental talent was the pipeline from the creator to the public.

pipeline from the creator to the public.
Today, the No. 1 contact is the a.&r. man; two, the disk jockey; and three, the drive for the live talent, such as it is, on radio and TV, in niteries and vaudfilmers.
The a.&r. (for artists & repertoire) execs at the sundry diskerles rate the No. 1 consideration. They must be hurdled in order to get a recording. The deejays are romanced for the plugs, and then—and only then—as the tune manifests public appeal by "coming up on the chart" are the live vocalists, bands and kindred artists wooed for plugs. They, too, are caught in this new cycle and gean their programing to popular taste as evidenced on the platters. The ad agencies and kindred program builders fall in line automatically. To the long-established music publishers this is frustrating albeit (Continued on page 52)

Radio Not Liable For Ad Lib Libel

at Cape Cod, Mass., and has been ordered by his medicos not to work until at least the first of new force of the Money, show, which he was scheduled to preem on NBC-TV early in the fall, replacing it with another package until Allen is well enough to resume work.

Comedian was stricken while on the beach and it was originally believed that he had suffered a mild sunstroke. Further diagnosis, however, revealed that the attack was due to his chronic high blood pressure and a virus infection. He's reported to be still seriously ill and under constant care of his doctors.

Exess of the Lennen & Mitchell gency, which handles the Old Gold account on the show, stated this week that they hope to retain "Money" if they can find an emce capable of subbing for Allen, but said it would be a tough job. They're now scoutting the field and hope to arrive at a decision this week. Show is to be a vidifilm quitzer similar to Groucho Marx's "You Bet Your Life." With the Mark Goodson-Bill Todman package outin producing, Allen had that ago.

Turn Au Lib Libel

Chicago, July 29.

In a precedent - setting decision, rederal Judge William J. Chicago, July 29.

In a precedent - setting decision, rederal Judge William J. Continued on page 79)

In a precedent - setting decision, rederal Judge William J. Continued on page 79)

In a precedent - setting decision, rederal Judge William J. Continued on page 79)

In a precedent - setting decision, rederal Judge William J. Continued on page 79)

In a precedent - setting decision, rederal Judge William J. Continued on page 79)

In a precedent - setting decision, rederal Judge William J. Continued on page 79)

In a precedent - setting decision, rederal Judge William J. Continued on page 79)

In a precedent - setting decision, rederal Judge William J. Continued on page 79)

In a precedent - setting decision, rederal Judge William J. Continued on page 79)

In a precedent - setting decision, rederal Judge William J. Continued on page 79

In a precederal Judge William J. Continued on page 79

In a pre

DISKS GALL TUNE | Legion Reported Lifting Red Tag From All But 20 or 30 H'woodites

BBC Head Can't See TV

London, July 29.

The new chairman of the Board of Governors of the British Broadcasting Corp. is '67-year-old, exdiplomat Sir Alexander Cadogan At a press conference after his appointment was announced by Winston Churchill, he admitted he had never seen a TV program and was not a keen radio listener.

Of TV, he said he was waiting for technical improvements and for the programs to get better before buying a set.

Lloyd's Insurance Gives KTLA Profit On Chi Conclave

Hollywood, July 29. Although the networks ran in the red in carrying the convention coverage, KTLA, the only indie telestation on the Coast to handle the Chi politicos, winds up with a profit as a result of a hunch played by manager Klaus Landsberg. He took out a policy with Lloyd's of London, indemnifying the station against loss in the event the conventions each dragged beyond 6:30 p.m. Friday, their respective weeks. Republicans finaled on time, but the Democrats dragged on Saturday afternoon, and the insurance payoff, undisclosed, represents a profit on the entire operation. Premium was "about 5% of our normal income for period insured." It's understood the nets heard of Landsberg's scheme, applied for policy after conventions started, but Lloyd's nixed it as too late.

UH INCASTE UlyMIPICASIS

Helsinki, July 29.

Finnish radio officialdom is livid and vivid at the brushoff they claim to have received at hands of American networks, both from time on U. S. air allotted and personnel sent here to cover Olympic games.

Finns claim that when arrangements were made for technical fargmes would get ample air coverage by top sportscasters like Bill stern, Red Barber, Ted Hussing, Harry Wismer, et al.

Covering for NBC are Jesse (Continued on page 32)

All but 20 or 30 of the more than 200 Hollywoodites listed by the American Legion as of dubious loyalty will be cleared before the Legion's annual convention opens in New York Aug. 24, it is understood. The organization's officials, working with columnist George Sokolsky in the east and actor Ward Bond in Hollywood, reportedly have been culling painstakingly through letters of explanation which those named on the original Legion list were asked by their studios to submit.

It's understood that a new list will be issued at the time of the convention containing the names of those players, writers, directors or producers who refused to submit the explanatory letters or whose explanations have not satisfed the Legion and its aides in this project. No mention will be made of the others, who by this process can be assumed to have been "cleared"—although the Legion shles at the use of that word. One of those prominently involved in the project, but who refused to permit use of his name at this time, said that (Continued on page 79)

(Continued on page 79)

Finns Think U.S. Radio Slipped 'Em a Mickey On Meagre Olympicasts

VIRGINIA. BEACH

Presents

THE HOUR OF CHARM

All Girl Orchestra and Choir

EVELYN and HER MAGIC VIOLIN

Under the Direction of PHIL SPITALNY With no further cuts in production costs seen possible otherwise, emphasis by the major studios now is going to be on getting more output per year from creative talent. That's behind Metro prexy Nicholas M. Schenck's plea to studio employees recently for "a day's work for a day's pay" and is the line that other left play to follow. other lots plan to follow.

other lots plan to follow.

Exec pay cuts imposed by Metro this month are said by top-echelon insiders to mean very little, per se, in moneysaving to the company. Their purpose, reportedly, is largely psychological, with the focus trained on producers, directors, writers and other creative people on the lot.

rrained on producers, directors, writers and other creative people on the lot.

As company toppers figure it, there are two ways of saving money as far as the personnel that turns out the pictures is concerned. One is by cutting salaries. That hurts morale and in turn hurts production, so the saving is not quite so great as it superficially appears.

The other method of saving is by getting more pix out of the workers. If a producer making $100,000 a year turns out one film during that period, he costs the studio $2,000 a week. But if under a speedup he makes two films in the same time, his salary ratio has been reduced to $1,000 a week.

That also means, of course, that a studio can do with half as many producers. It is along that line that Metro hopes to make real substantial savings. The exec paycuts were only a method of showing that the boys in the front offices are in the battle, too, and are in effect leading the way.

Other economies have brought production costs down by 15% to 20% in the past three years, but the bottom has been pretty well reached. The "stretcher-out" is the only method said to be readily available to attempt still further savings.

Bergman-Rossellini Set To Continue Italo Prod.

Rome, July 29. Ingrid Bergman-Roberto Rossel-Ingrid Bergman-Roberto Rossellini production combo will continue to turn out pictures in Italy; it was disclosed this week by the Ponti-De Laurentiis Studios here. Couple's most recent film, "Europe '51," is scheduled for release in the U. S. late this year.

After a summer vacation at the resort town of Santa Marinella north of Rome, the Rossellinis are slated to return to the capital this fall to put their next picture before the cameras. Though currently in the writing stages, the subject is unknown.

Pre-Coronation Vidpix Slated for Int'l Screens

London, July 22.
A series of four programs to boost Britain at time of next year's coronation are to be produced by the BBC-TV film unit, for presen-tation throughout the world. Pic-tures will be directed by Philip Dorte and will be shown in the weeks immediately preceding the cerremony.

Although made primarily for ritish screens, the BBC hopes Although made primarily for British screens, the BBC hopes they will be shown in all countries with a TV network. They will be made available to U. S. stations on a reciprocity basis.

Precedental Nev. Saloon Date for Ballet Theatre

Date for Ballet Theatre
For the first time in nitery and ballet history, a full-sized major ballet troupe will terp in a night club. The Ballet Theatre has been set by the William Morris agency for the Last Frontier, Las Vegas, Aug. 22-Sept. 2. Troupe will do two shows nightly at 9 and 12, presenting two of its hit ballets,
"Fancy Free" and "Rodeo." Both are modern works based on American themes, with former choreographed by Jerome Robbins and fatter by Agnes DeMille
"Fancy Free" is a tale of three sailors on leave in N. Y., and "Rodeo" is a southwestern saddle
"Saga."

saga.

Ballet Theatre is now in Hollywood, for appearances at the Bowl Aug. 6-8 and 14-16. Troupe appeared on Broadway at the Warner Theatre in April, setting a precedent for a major terp troupe as stage bill with a film feature. Producer Lucia Chase at first turned down the Las Vegas bid, but changed mind after the troupe asked for the extra chance to dance. Troupe is due back in N. Y. to open a fall season at the Met Opera House Sept. 15.

Not Much Need for An Actor in Films; Director Counts Most'—Heston

Hollywood, July 29.

"There's not much need for an actor in films," Charlton Heston told ABC commentator Bill Tusher Sunday (27) in an adlib interview.

Heston opined that pix "are not really an acting medium. There are possibly a dozen films a year in the whole industry where you really have to be an actor. In other pix, a good director can do almost all the work for you. You cannot have a good film without good di-rector. "I don't mean that there rector. "I don't mean that there aren't good actors in films," the TV-film thesp added. "I think actors can do good work in films, but there's not much need for an actor in films. The actor is unimportant. Emphasis has been on the physical exterior of the performer, and if that's the thing you're looking for primarily, obviously everything else is secondary."

Heston Scouting For Play
Chariton Heston returned to New York over the weekend after starring in two films on the Coast, revealing he was looking for a play in which he and his wife, actress Lydia Clark, could appear together on Broadway this season. Music Corp. of America, which represents him, has been scouring the town for the right property, Heston said.

The couple will appear together next week in a strawhat revival of Herman Wouk's "The Traitor" at the McCarter Theatre, Princeton, N. J. Heston stated that under his contract with Wallis-Hazen Productions he can take a year off from pix for a Broadway show.
While on the Coast the former

While on the Coast the former TV actor appeared in "Pony Express" for Paramount and "Ruby Gentry" for 20th-Fox.

Subscription	Order	Form
--------------	-------	------

Enclosed find check for $ Please send VARIETY for Two Year

•	*		T M	o rear:	5
То	• • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • •
	GP 1	ease Print	Name)	• • • • • •
Street
City			Zone	State.

Regular Subscription Rates One Year-$10.00 Two Years-$18.00 Canada and Foreign-$1 Additional per Year

154 West 46th Street

New York 36, N. Y.

JACK SHAINDLIN Musical Director of Louis de Rochement's "Walk East on Beacon"

Ben Marden Buys Cuban Network; Expanding for TV

Ben Marden, an American show Ben Marden, an American showman for more than three decades, has expanded his activities on an international scale with his purchase of an II-station radio-TV network in Cuba. Marden has taken over the Cadena Azu (Bluz Network) from Amado Trinidad, who founded it a dozen years ago and had operated it ever since. The purchase price is believed to be in excess of $1,000,000.

Dan Arnstein, the taxicab tycoon, is involved financially with Marden, but is taking no active interest in the operation.

Marden, who during the '20s and den, but is taking no active interest in the operation.

Marden, who during the '20s and '30s was a key figure on the show biz scene with his operation of such New York niteries as the Cotton Club in Harlem, the Silver Slipper, Palais Royal and the Riviera, has in more recent years been involved in financing of Broadway legit shows and operation of theatres. He currently owns the Playhouse, N. Y. legit theatre, in addition to many realty parcels in Manhattan. Marden is taking an active part in the operation of the radio-video chain, whose headquarters is CMCY, Hayana. He has shifted his home to Havana, at least until he has completed a reorganization of the network, and has begun a $250,000 refurbishing job of the Hayana headquarters. His main interest will be in developing the chain for television. He-is importing personnel from Mexico, Spain and the U. S., including talent and technicians.

The chain, which will continue as an exclusively Spanish-speaking

The chain, which will continue as an exclusively Spanish-speaking medium, had been a losing propo-sition for some time prior to Mar-den's take over.

DANNY KAYE EXPLAINS DANISH 'INCIDENT

Back from a triumphant visit to Denmark, marred only by a visit to the home of Hans Christian Andersen at Odense, Danny Kaye ex-plained the incident which oc-curred at Danish national hero's shrine. He said he meant no dis-respect when he sat on Andersen's hed and performed some antics for hed and performed some antics for the photographers.

After Kaye left Denmark, there were some protests from Hans Christian Andersen organizations, but the press did not blame Kaye as much as it did his advisors, according to one report from Denmark. Kaye arrived in New York from Copenhagen via London on Monday (28) and left yesterday (Tues.) for Hollywood). Following a month's vacation, he's set for a two-week vaude engagement in San Francisco.

All in all, Kaye scored so sensationally that he's been invited back next year for a vaude engagement at the 4,000-seat K. B. Hallen Theatre in Copenhagen.

Theatre in Copenhagen.

Hersholt Again Heads Fund
Hollywood, July 29.
For the 16th consecutive year
Jean Hersholt has been elected president of the Motion Picture Relief Fund.

SCULLY'S SCHAPDOON

By Frank Scully

Desert Sprin

decensing world a SCULLY'S SCRAPBOOK

Desert Springs.

The other night I caught four old goofs discussing world affairs in the light of the refurbished party platforms. They were loaded with more degrees than a thermometer assembly plant. One pundit, who looked like a reconditioned Nazi, had an accent you couldn't cut with a cleaver. If they knew any of the answers they never made even one clear through all their academic triple-talk. But they had a sponsor, so somebody must have talked in a straight line before this quartet of dried-out candled yams got set up before the TV cameras.

They carried on the discussion presumably in the library of the moderator. But I've heard more lively sounds from Grant's Tomb. I never saw a home library so badly abused.

erator. But I've heard more lively sounds from Grant's Tomb. I never saw a home library so badly abused.

The next day I found myself in a round-table discussion. It was about the sanctity of the home and how it has all but disappeared from the American scene. Norman Taurog, who is pretty round himself, was parked on one sector of the perimeter. I was on another. Art Wilde, publicist on Taurog's latest pic, was sitting in as moderator. Two Smith College sophs, S. Frances Scully and Marianna Moran, formed our beautiful audience.

The roundtable discussion took place in a darkened alcove of the Paramount stúdio eatery reserved for top execs, producers, directors and stars—the sort of place where guys who can afford to have leather patches sewn on their Harris tweed jackets are allowed to eat. The luncheon consisted of cold consomme, corned beef and cabbage and ited coffee. Nothing subversive, as you can plainly see.

It was the day after director Taurog had finished shooting "The Stars Are Singing," the first starring role for Anna Maria Alberghelli, the teen-age Italian coloratura who had already distinguished herself in Menotit's "The Medium" and Par's "Here Comes The Groom."

Taurog, blooming with well-tanned health for all his 40 years in show biz, was back in his happiest grove: klds. Taurog has directed so many that you'd think he'd be getting pretty tired of such a routine. But that's just the point. Developing young talent is so unpredictable that it can never become a routine.

Taurog's Inter-Faith Family

But that's just the point. Developing young talent is so unpredictable that it can never become a routine.

Taurog's Inter-Faith Family

Aside from training kids to become great actors, Taurog raises them at home as well. He is the most catholic-minded man I have met in years. He himself is a Jew, his wife is a Methodist, one daughter is a Catholic, one a Jewess and I forgot what he said the other child was. But they all operate under the old sampler of "God Bless Our Home." It was regarding this vital matter of home life and how people treat it that the roundtable discussion began. It used to be that the humbles home was a man's castle. What went on there, what was said, enjoyed a totally different range of liberty than what went on and what was said elsewhere. At home you could say the most ridiculous things on night and completely reverse your field the next without being held accountable to any outside agency on either court. But today that isn't wholly true on any level. Informers have become the new patriots. People will even call you at home on the phone, which itself is a mechanized invasion of privacy, and at the end of the conversation have been known to say, "Do you mind that I recorded our conversation? Of course, if you do I'll destroy it." Now, I'm the worst extrover I've ever met, but even I resent this sort of thing.

Fund-raising parties have also become bigtime in modern homes. People who won't invite you to their homes for luncheon, dinner or even a spot of tea will often leap with delight at the idea of throwing open their homes for some charitable or political pitch.

Indeed this has become such a common practice that oldtimers who have been schooled in the belief that the greatest honor you can bestow on another is to invite him to your home for a meal and a session of thinking out loud have practically disappeared from modern homes.

Taurog pointed out a most beautiful example of this. It was before he had directed "Boys Town." He had come to know Father Flanagan until their relationship

How To Repay Hospitality

"The next day he came to the studio and asked if he might borrow my secretary. He wanted to write to all those good people. Naturally I thought he wanted to write bread-and-butter letters. But when I saw him enclosing checks in the letters I became suspicious. I asked him how come?

him enclosing checks in the letters I became suspicious. I asked him how come?

"He explained it very simply. 'Norman,' he said, 'I had a wonderful time meeting all those good people at your house last night. I simply couldn't profane the sanctity of your home that way.' I pleaded with him. I told him these people did this of their own beautiful free will. There was no pitching or prodding from me. Somebody might have said, 'Let's surprise him,' and they went ahead from there, but I hadn't needled them into anything of the sort.

"But in his quiet, willful way he went on dictating the letters and returning the checks. Of course, you know what happened. To a man and woman, they tore up the checks, wrote out new ones for increased amounts and mailed them to the treasurer of Boys Town."

From there we began confessing experiences we had enjoyed in his hallowed company. He thought so much of home, any home, that he once told me that a boy with his family, no matter how poor, had advantages over the best that Boys Town could give him.

One time Alice and I were riding with him to a Boys Town-Loyola football game. We were discussing a full-page review of "Going My Way," written by a Father Hugo for The Catholic Worker. He had panned the picture from beginning to end, said he hadn't seen the picture and, God willing, never would. We thought this was carrying higher criticism to ridiculous altitudes. Father Hugo. He is a saint's and said, "Don't you say anything about Father Hugo. He is a saint's treat siven.

He Played The Retreat Straight

He Played The Retreat Straight

We learned later that Father Flanagan had attended a retreat given by the young Father Hugo and had returned to Boys Town so inspired by "Give it all away and follow Me" that he began giving away his own meagre wardrobe. Indeed, his own bishop had to call him in and restrain his zeal.

Nevertheless, he managed to play Santa Claus till the day he died. He learned that the mother of the Scully Circus and our youngest fleat from heaven were going to Norway to see how their grandmother had fared under Nazi occupation. Nearly 80 at the time, she had fought them in her own valiant way. He wrote Alice urging her by all means to go and enclosed $100 to buy her mother things which her home surely must need.

Years ago the Circus stopped overnight at Boys Town, and Syl, the current Smith College soph, picked up a crushed daisy and insisted on keeping it for the rest of the journey. "St. Edward walked on it," was her simple explanation.

"That kid knew what she was talking about," agreed Norman Taurog. "In our family we will always revere his memory."

HOLLYWOOD'S GROWING GAMBLE

DuM Ready to Buy, But Is Hughes Ready to Sell RKO Pix Backlog?

Chris J. Witting, director andgeneral manager of the DuMont Television Network, said yesterday (Tues.) that he had talked with Lou Chesler, Tom Slack, and "a half dozen other people" on acquisition of the RKO film library but still has never had assurances that the 300 or so pix are for sale. "Obviously, DuMont would like to have them," he added.

DuMont has been tled in with the RKO backlog sale in Wall St. and trade reports. Chesler, Montreal financier, and a group of Canadian associates have been trying op ut a deal together by which they'd take over the pix and hand them to DuMont for distribution on a guarantee basis.

Chesler has been in huddles for several months with Slack, attorney for Howard Hughes, controlling stockholder in RKO, and Noah Dletrich, Hughes' principal lieutenant. They have been east a number of times and Chesler has spent most of his time in recent months in New York.

Chesler reportedly has a plan by which he'd acquire 2,000,000 RKO shares from public holders and trade these to RKO, for the pic library. Some of the financing reportedly would come from DuMont for the shares acquired by public tender.

Witting said that all types of deals had been discussed and DuMont would be interested in ad(Continued on page 79)

Yank Distribs Ponder Fate in Argentina With Death of Eva Peron

Major company foreign department execs were pondering this week whether the death of Eva Peron, wife of the Argentine dictator, would be good or bad for Yank film distribs. Evita, as she was known, was a former pic actress, and thus took an active interest in the affairs of the Argentine industry.

tress, and thus took an active interest in the affairs of the Argentine industry.

She provided a ready ear for native producers, who were largely responsible by their pressures for the recently-lifted 2½-year embargo on all Hollywood product. Some of the foreign department execs feel that without the pipeline to the government via Evita, the embargo would never have been imposed and the varied stumbling blocks to lifting it wouldn't have been invented.

There is also a thought that without Mme. Peron in the background, her husband may eventually give up his dictatorship. That would be helpful to the American (Continued on page 22)

MAG'S WIDE PUBLICITY FAILS TO HYPO BADGE

Despite the renewed interest created in the film by Lillian Ross' recent series in the New Yorker, Metro's "Red Badge of Courage" still failed to measure up to the metros "Red Badge or Courage" still failed to measure up to the boxoffice standards in Gotham. Entire production of "Badge" was traced by Miss Ross in five sepa-rate pieces which also focused on MG's top-echelon studio and home-office one-rations operations.

m-G's top-echelon studio and homeoffice operations.

"Badge" played three art spots in N. Y. this month following publication of the New Yorker series but biz was dull, bringing less than $2,000 to the Trans-Lux 72nd St. in a week's run. Film, which opened at the Trans-Lux 50th St. Theatre, N. Y., last year, was budgeted at $1,500,000. It's near the end of its general release with a fraction of the negative cost in sight as total distribution income. Miss Ross in her articles spotlighted the pact that erstwhile production chief Louis B. Mayer had been against the lensing of "Badge" from the time the idea for the pic originally was proposed. John Huston directed the Gottfried Reinhardt production, with Audie Murphy starred.

Goldwyns Going to Italy

Samuel Goldwyn, now in New York from the Coast, and his wife, Frances, sall for Genoa around Aug. 9 en route to Austria, where they plan a month's vacation.

Technicolor print of the producer's newest, "Hans Christian Andersen," will be ready in September.

Roach Wants Stars In 40-Week Combo Pix, Telepix Deal

Signing of stars on a 40-week continuous basis, during which their services would be required for both vidpix and theatrical films, is being planned by Hal Roach on his return to theatrical films, is being planned by Hal Roach on his return to theatrical film-making, from which he has been absent since 1944. To launch his comeback in conventional feature films, Roach has set an ambitious program of six films for his first year of operation, with shooting on the first of the sextet expected to get underway before the end of this year.

Under Roach's plan stars contracted for 40 weeks would work in two theatrical pix during that period and as many vidpix. as Roach deems feasible. As Roach explains it, it would be similar to a player being under contract to a major studio, with the actor drawing a weekly salary and providing his services as required. Roach believes the idea would be advantageous to him as a producer as well as to the actor. He points out that it will save him considerable coin on talent costs while at the same time providing the actor with employment over a long, continuous period.

Roach, currently in New York, is conferring with distribs on a release deal for the contemplated pix and is also talking with agencies and sponsors for the sale of two vidpix series. Veteran producer, miffed at high percentage rates asked by the filmerles for distribution, said he was weighing a return to the First National system of re-(Continuèd on page 17)

Grael Sullivan Back To

Gael Sullivan Back To TOA After Kefauver Job

Gael Sullivan, who had been on leave from his Theatre Owners of America exec director's post to direct the campaign for Sen. Estes Kefauver in the Democratic presidential nominee race, returns to his job at TOA next Monday (4). Dick Pitts, TOA's public relations chief, has been handling the exec directors's duties in Sullivan's absence.

directors's duties in Shilivan's absence.

Sullivan returned to New York over the past weekend from Chicago. He'll spend the balance of this week vacationing in Narragansett, R. I.

COMPO Leaders to Gab On Coast, Set 'Movietime'

On Coast, Set 'Movietime'
Limited number of Council of Motion Picture Organizations leaders have tentative plans for a conclave on the Coast in about two weeks for a discussion of industry matters centering on Hollywood and to map plans for the next
"Movietime U.S.A." tours.

COMPO's exec board, comprising Trueman Rembusch, Al Lichtman and Sam Pinanski, and Robert J. O'Donnell, head of the "Movietime" campaign, will participate in the huddles, under pressent arrangement. COMPO is now linning up several groups of screen personalities to take to the road with the "Movietime" banner

In Pittsungn, great in busson, was him Poronto, lofty in Philips and him toronto, lofty in Philips and terrific in N. Y. "Lovely To Look At" (Mr-G), up with topbracket pix for several weeks, is capturing third position.

(Wast), up with topbracket pix for several weeks, will be pracket pix for several weeks, will be not to complete the position.

"Francis Goes To West Point"
(U) is finishing fourth, showing in Composition.

"Francis Goes To West Point"
(U) is finishing fourth, showing in Composition.

"Way Through College" (WB), high on list for some time, is taking fifth money while "We're Not Married" (20th), just getting, under way, is sixth.

"King Kong" (RKO) (reissue) still is good enough to land seventh as proved greater in smaller cities, beating "Samson Roble Deliah" (Par) biz by a big margin.

The Fighter" (UA) looks fine in Denver while "Skrits Ahop" (Mr-G) shapes up strong in Omaha, "Wild Heart" (RKO), mild in L.A. and Detroit, is rated nice in Cincy.

"Scarlet Angel" (U), okay in Indianapolis, looms trim in Montreal.

"Girl in White" (Mr-G) also shapes up fine in latter city.

"Island of Desire" (UA) looks good in Buffalo. "Walk East on Beacon" (Col) is solid in Washington and good in Louisville.

(Complete Boxoffice Reports on Pages 8-9).

TO MAJOR STUDIOS

Hollywood, long noted for the fortunes risked on a figurative roll of the dice, is rapidly becoming even more of a gamble production-wise. And, as the industry is now shaping up, this paradoxically doesn't apply so much to the indles, traditional craps-shooters, as it does to the major lots.

Top studios have been finding in the past few years that, except for occasional flukes, the only even near-reliable road to substantial profits lies in big, expensive pix. Thus, while their market is receding, they are being forced into heavier production risks.

Medium-cost pix have proved most consistent sources of loss and so are being eliminated as far as possible from production programs evolved in recent studio huddles at 20th-Fox, Metro and Paramount. At the same time, there is also greater emphasis on making low-budgeters.

In the light of present conditions and outlook, these little pix would be a nice, economical retreat for the studios if there were any money in them. But there's not. They may provide some income, of course, and they keep a studio busy, (Continued on page 77) Hollywood, long noted for the

Talk Exclusive By Theatre TV On

By Theatre TV On

Walcott-Marciano

The former Metro production chief's interest in the new system was enlisted by Merian C. Cooper, Hollywood producer, who has supervised the editing and preparation of the film for the Broad way date. Cooper communicated a chance at an exclusive on the Joe Walcott-Rocky Marciano fight in September, following their missout which proved fortunate—on the Marciano-Harry Matthews tilt in New York Monday (28) night. Marciano Harry Matthews tilt in New York Monday (28) night. Marciano-Harry Matthews tilt in New York Monday (28) night. Marciano have doksee for himself.

Exactly what part he may play—ff any—in the future of the system is indefinite. He had a number of suggestions to make regarding the demonstration pix he saw and it is presumed there is some and it is presumed there is some and it is presumed there is some possibility he'll get into either the production or exhibition end of Cinerama, or both. There's nothing at all definite as yet, however. Roberts is president of Thomas and Mike Todd), which has productions (Lowell Thomas and Mike Todd), which has productions or page 17)

APPLIES MOSTLY | Rackmil Draws '29 Radio-Disk Analogy to Stress '52 Pix Optimism

Strickling Back to Coast

Howard Strickling, Metro's studio publicity chief, who's been east the past couple of weeks, returns to the Coast Sunday (3).

the Coast Sunday (3).

He hopped into New York last Monday after a 10-day vacation in Canada, and goes to Boston today with Dan S. Terrell, M-G exploitation chief, for two days on promotional preliminaries for "Plymouth Adventure." Pic, a Dore Schary production, will be preemed in the Boston area Thanksgiving week

Mayer Planes East to View Cinerama

Louis B. Mayer made a flying trip east over the weekend to see a demonstration of Cinerama, the wide-screen, three - dimensional type of production that will go on view at the Broadway, N. Y., in September. Financier Dudley Roberts, Jr., who holds a large stake in Cinerama, accompanied Mayer to the outfit's headquarters in Oyster Bay, L. I., Sunday (27), for the demonstration.

The former Metro production

Explaining the optimism on the future of the film industry that caused Decca Records to buy controlling interest in Universal, Milton R. Rackmill this week drew an analogy with the disk blz vis-a-vis radio in 1929. He pointed out that 110,000,000 platters were sold that year—when radio was about to enter the period of its greatest popularity—and that almost 400,000,000 records were sold in 1946.

Rackmil, now prexy of both Uni-larity—and that almost 400,000,000 records were sold in 1946.

Rackmil, now prexy of both Universal and Decca, was with Brunswick in '29. "The heads of our company and of other record companies," he said, "were ready to throw up their hands. They thought their business had reached its peak and was on its way out with the development of radio.

"'Why should anyone buy records', they asked, 'when by flicking a switch people could get all the music they wanted for free?' Yet in 1946, our top year, close to 400,000,000 records were sold."

Rackmil made the point that radio had actually promoted the sale of disks by building new stars, familiarizing millions of people with music and offering a ready means of plugging new tunes. He sees video similarly offering the (Continued on page 20)

Hypoed Fan Mag Sales Reflect Public's Interest In Pix, New Film Faces

Hollywood, July 29.

Public interest in films as re-Public interest in films as reflected in newsstand sales of fan magazines has increased rather than declined in comparison with previous periods, Irving Manheimer, board chairman of Macfadden Publications asserted before his return to New York last week. Manheimer, who is also head of one of the largest mag distributing companies in America, stated that he will be back in Hollywood at frequent intervals to maintain a close llaison with studio chiefs on (Continued on page 15)

National Boxoffice Survey

Break in Heat Wave Ups Biz; 'Jacks' Still No. 1, 'Noon' Sock 2d, 'Lovely' 3d, Francis' 4th

Break in the prolonged heat wave and some fresh, strong product are giving first-runs in major key cities covered by Variety this week a hefty boost. Strong showings are being made despite the opposition of the Democratic national convention in Chi part of the week, especially in keys with TV. "Jumping Jacks" (Par) is the boxoffice champ for second week in a row, forging way ahead of nearest opposition this stanza. Pic, starring Martin & Lewis, is running ahead of their "That's My Boy" (Par) in numerous locations of 16 key cities covered by Variety. "High Noon" (UA), although out for first time this session, is a strong second, being a b.o. giant in Pittsburgh, great in Boston, smash in Toronto, lofty in Philly and terrific in N. Y. "Lovely To Look At" (M-G), up with top-bracket pix for several weeks, is capturing third position.
"Francis Goes To West Point" (U) is finishing fourth, showing in some seven spots. "Working Her Way Through College" (WB), high on list for some time, is taking fifth money while "We're Not Mar-Break in the prolonged heat Rogers" (WB) and "Pat and Mike" (M-G) round out the top 12.

"Dreamboat" (20th), with a big preem session at N. Y. Roxy, promises to be a strong newcomer. "Woman of North Country" (Rep) is standout on initial week in Minneapolis. "Don't Bother To Knock" (20th), also new, shapes up fine in Frisco and is nice on second N. Y. week.

N. Y. week.

"Greatest Show on Earth" (Par) continues solid on its Chi long-run.
Although originally planned to finish there in August, it now looks This there in August, it now looks as if the pic may run past Labor Day; it's now in its 12th week. "Show," which was sock on initial key-city dates, has proved greater in smaller cities, beating "Samson & Delilah" (Par) biz by a big margin

	~~~~~~
7
ASTE	TO .
WZIRIK'	ľV
119101
Trade Mark Registere FOUNDED BY SIME SILVI	d CDMAN
Published Weekly by VARIE	TY. INC.
Harold Erichs, Preside	nt
Hollywood 28	36, N. Y

Hollywood 28

5311 Yuca, Street
Washington 1

1292 National Press Building
Chicage 11

612 No. Michigan Ave.
London, WC2

8 St. Martin's Pl., Trafalgar Sq.

SUBSCRIPTION
.. $10 Foreign ... $11
...... 25 Cents

120

INDEX

Chatter ..... 78 Film Reviews ...... House Reviews ..... Inside Music ..... 60 Inside Pictures ....... 15 Inside Radio ..... 32 Inside Television ...... International ...... Legitimate ..... Literati .....

 Obituaries
 79

 Pictures
 3

 Radio-Television
 26

 Radio-Reviews
 36

 Record Reviews
 56

 Frank Scully
 2

 Television Reviews
 31

 TV-Films
 24

 Yaudeville
 64

DAILY VARIETY
(Published in Hollywood by Daily Variety, Ltd.)
$15 a Year. $20 Foreign

20th Forced Into More Costly Method Of Divorce; Can't Get Govt. Tax Ease

Unable to get required tax assurances from the Government, 20th-Fox has abandoned its original technique for accomplishing divorcement and has been forced into a much more costly and time-consuming method. Company originally planned to have separated theatres from production-distribution June 28, but now won't be ready until about Sept. 30.

20th had hoped to take advan-

ready until about Sept. 30.

20th had hoped to take advantage of the "spin-off" provision of recent tax law. That means that it would not have had to set up both a new production-distribution company and a new theatre company—just one or the other—and thus could have saved time and expense. Its now had to abandon attempts to take advantage of the "spin-off" clause.

Plan was to maintain the pres-

"spin-off" clause.
Plan was to maintain the present 20th-Fox parent company, which would have taken over the production-distribution end of the business, and set up a new company to assume the theatre assets. Stockholders in the parent company would retain their present stock and be given an equal number of shares in the new theatre company.

pany would retain their present stock and be given an equal number of shares in the new theatre company.

Under the "spin-off" clause, 20th exces felt their stockholders had the right to receive the shares of theatre stock without paying a tax on them. Before going ahead, however, they wanted a certification from the U. S. Treasury Dept. that that would be so. They didn't want, to take a chance on their stockholders several years from now being clipped for tax on the theatre stock they get for free. Efforts to get the certification proved fruitless, however. Treasury said it had not promulgated rules yet under the "spin-off" and wouldn't give assurances until it had done so.

Faced with that situation, the company reverted to the well-precedented tax-free method used by RKO and Paramount in their divorcements. This entails terminating the life of the parent company and setting up two separate receiving corporations for the split-up assets.

There's no difference except split-up assets.

There's no difference except technically and in the work involved. 20th now is in the process of getting out new stock certificates, transferring the copyrights (Continued on page 70)

Unusually Close Tie Between Prod., Distrib On 'Sudden Fear'

Making of "Sudden Fear," the Joseph Kaufman indie production which RKO is releasing, was marked by unusually close coordination between the production force and the distribution company, Kaufman revealed in New York this week. Selling and exploitation plans were mapped at the inception of the production, with the sales approach being arrived at the time of the writing of the original screenplay, Kaufman said. Employing this method enabled his company to introduce valthe original screenplay, Kaufman said. Employing this method enabled his company to introduce values which could be used for definite exploitation tieups. Kaufman explained. This, he pointed out, is in direct contrast to the method of trying to arrange tieups following completion of the pic. Thusly, Kaufman noted, he feels that the production team has contributed greatly toward the selling of "Fear." Kaufman revealed that TV would be used extensively to sell "Fear." Since the entire production was made with freelancers, he explained that there would be no difficulty in the use of film clips on video. Consequently, RKO has made up a series of 12 special TV trailers which will be used to plug the pic. They consist of eight ominute spots and four 20-second ones.

With some of the principals—with some of the principals— Joan Crawford and director David Miller—working on a participation basis, Kaufman said he is receivbasis, Kaufman said he is receiving all-out cooperation on personal appearance exploitation. Both Miss Crawford and Miller will hit the road on extensive tours as will Gloria Grahame and Jack Palance, featured players in the film. Kaufman and Don Prince, RKO's eastern publicity topper, leave next week for Cleveland for the pic's opening there.

Small's 800G from TV

Indicative of income potential of feature pix on TV are results achieved by Edward Small since he set up Peerless Television last November to market 26 of his oldies. Contracts to date on the group total $800,000 or about $30,000 a film.

They have been sold in only 26 markets to date, partly be-

They have been sold in only 26 markets to date, partly because of comparatively stiff prices being asked by George Shupert, former Paramount tele sales chief, who has headed Peerless from the start. Outfit is currently on the prowl for additional product.

20th, GE to Sign This Week For Eidophor Equipt.

Deal between 20th-Fox and Gen-Deal between 20th-Fox and General Electric Co., covering production of Eidophor theatre TV equipment, is expected to be signed this week, 20th prexy Spyros Skouras said Monday (28). It is understood that the price of the sets will be about $25,000.

Skouras said he hoped that the first equipment will be ready for theatre installation in about a year. He explained that it will take that

Skouras said he hoped that the first equipment will be ready for theatre installation in about a year. He explained that it will take that much time for GE to tool up for the job. He had previously stated that he hoped 30 or 40 a week would roll from the production line once it was under way.

The $25,000 price for the 20th-controlled Swiss system in color compares with $15,000 for RCA's and about $20,000 for Paramount's large-screen equipment in black-and-white. Eldophor uses CBS's sequential color wheel system.

Demonstration recently of the tinted Eldophor, incidentally, has just about completely crimped sales of other systems which are still commercially available only in b&w. Obviously, no exhib wants to mike the investment in a large-screen setup that may soon be outmoded. To that degree, any increase in the number of theatres currently having big-screen equipment—about 80 of them—is stymied for a year.

RCA last year demonstrated its system in color, but has not been able to turn it out for theatre sale as a result of the ban imposed until recently by the National Production Authority. It is expected to be in there pitching for sales, however, before the Eldophor-GE sets hit the market.

Paramount likewise has been laying low. It is readying a demonstration of its Laurence Chromatic Tube, which will provide color for either home or theatre equipment. When this is ready, Par is expected to make a play for the big-screen color biz.

2d Mono-ABPC Pic Rolls in Late Fall

Rolls in Late Fall
Second picture under the Monogram-Associated British Pictures
Corp. joint production program may roll late this fall according to Mono executive producer Walter
Mirisch, who returned to New York Monday (28) after five weeks of story huddles with ABPC officials.
"We know what we want to make,"
he said, "and it's now a question of clearing story rights."
Sole film to be completed under the company's film-making deal is the Merle Oberon-Richard Todd starrer, "24 Hours in the Life of a Woman." Lensed in Technicolor, portions of the film were turned out on the French Riviera. Distribution date for the U. S. has not been set yet.
Mirisch trains to the Coast either today (Wed.) or tomorrow (Thurs.).

8th Straight U Tinter
Hollywood, July 29.
Black-and-white filming is practically forgotten at Universal-International, where the eight consecutive Technicolor feature, "Lone Hand," went into production last week.

Hefty Ladd Backlog . Stalls 'Shane' Release

Hollywood, July 29.

Paramount has so many Alan Ladd starrers in its backlog that Sane," in which he costars with Jean Arthur and Van Heffin, will not be released until December, 1953, although it was completed last October.

Two other Ladd pictures awaiting release in the Paramount vaults are "Thunder in the East" and "Botany Bay." In addition, the actor has completed "The Iron Mistress" for Warners and is now making "Desert Legion" for U-I.

Int'l Newsreel Pool Of 7 Grinding Out Reels Of Olympics in Helsinki

Ot Ulympics in Heisinki
By BARNEY OLDFIELD
Helsinki, July 29.
It's the first time around for the International Newsreel Pool—and the occasion is the XV Olympiad, here in Paavo Nurmi's hometown.
There are 1,200 listed correspondents of all types, ranging from the 125 who cram the news maw of the U.S. agencies and British Reuters, to Capt. Kim Hwa Jip, who represents the Republic of Korea's Army news-sheet in Pusan.
The four news agencies file an 'average of 150,000 words each day, of which 70,000 are description alone.

of which 70,000 are description alone.

Film aspects of the Olympiad have been a bone of contention since 1949, when reps of the Finn episode in the history of the games began hawking exclusive lensing rights, along newsreel row. Starting price, three years ahead of the games, was $100,000.

One way or another, things like this have been with the Olympies coverage ever since Leni Reifenstahl's sewup in Berlin in 1936. ATV became more and more a fac-coverage ever since Leni Reifenstahl's sewup in Berlin in 1936. As TV became more and more a factor in the U.S., there was a $250,000 initial tag put on that.

Out of this, the International Newsreel Pool was born, and in its 25 participating newsreels from all countries outside the Iron Curtain, a solid front was formed against considering newsreels other than "press" and the Olympics a "world news event." It also meant that no newsreel would bid for the exclusive, and none did.
Crew here is a seven-man affair, headed by Jack Le Vien, Warner-Pathe news ed of New York, who spearheaded the fight, and six cameramen (Jean Magny, WB-Pathe, Paris; Sven Wilquin, Fox-Movietonews, New York; Jean Quilici, Eclair Journal, Paris; Francois Charlet, Gaumont Actualites, Paris; Paul Wyand, British Movietonews, London; and Henry Hawkins, British Paramount, London). It labs (Continued on page 20)

Goldwyn Counsel To Germany to Probe New Tax Problems

George Slaff, studio counsel for Samuel Goldwyn Productions, who has been in New York the past month, has gone to Germany to investigate problems confronting Goldwyn and RKO stemming from application of that country's 4% turnover tax on all business transactions.

application of that country's 4% Enturnover tax on all business transactions.

Leo Horster, Goldwyn's German rep, returned to his Frankfurt headquarters last week after a quick N.Y. visit in connection with the tax difficulties.

Meanwhile, tax burdens on all American film operations in numerous foreign countries are becoming of increasing concern. Newest measure feared is the imposition of a new ad valorem duty by the German government on all film prints. If this goes through, it will mean an added tax of 6% on each new American pic to enter the country. That percentage will be taken from the estimated earnings of the pix. Germany is yielding at present at the rate of $6,000,000 annually to the U. S. companies, a figure which would be much higher if it were not for the various and hefty tax bites.

Particularly vexing to U. S. distribs is the tax situation in France. An admissions levy of 50% plus dubbing charges and other levies have cut earnings in France. An admissions levy of 50% plus dubbing charges and other levies have cut earnings in France, which has a population of 70,000, to about $5,500,000 yearly. This is in contrast to England, with a population of 50,000,000, which gives the American companies total earnings of about $40,000.000.

Spanish Distrib Asks Justice Dept. Aid In Fighting Control in U.S. of Mex Pix

Jolson's 4 Million

Jolson's 4 Million

Al Jolson left an estate valued at $4,044,147, according to an according filed in N. Y. Surrogate's Court last week. Between Jolson's death on Oct. 23, 1950, and April 30, 1952, the executor's report disclosed that the estate had a capital increase of $176,676 and income of $164,318. In accordance with the performer's will, Protestant, Catholic and Jewish charities share in the estate.

At the time of his death, Jolson held 33 stock issues and 10 bond issues appraised at $2,774,707, He left $339,789 in cash and insurance valued at $361,789; real estate worth $150,500 and miscellaneous property appraised at $417,583, Among the royalties reported were $95,073 and $123,727 from the Columbia pix, "The Jolson Story" and "Jolson Sings Again," and $120,804 from Decca Records.

TV Mfrs. Snub Trade Show At TOA's Sept. Meet

Manufacturers of theatre television equipment are snubbing the trade show to be held in conjunction with the Theatre Owners of America national convention in Washington Sept. 14-18. As of the present, not a single theatre-Tver has taken booth space to exhibit equipment, and strong indication is that none will.

Flock of outfits in the field of large-screen video took prominent floor space at recent national sessions staged by both TOA and Allied States Assn. These included Paramount, Trad Television Corp., Radio Corp. of America and General Precision Equipment. Par, which has the photographic system, alone occupied the equivalent of six booths at last year's TOA convention in New York.

New entry in the theatre tele field, 20th-Fox's Swiss Eidophor color apparatus, similarly is remaining aloof from the TOA gettogether.

In addition to picking up the maining aloof from the TOA gettogether.

In addition to picking up the check for the booth space, cost of transporting the heavy equipment and installing it in D. C.'s Shoreham Hotel, scene of the convention, would run into a sizable chunk of coin. That's said to be one reason why the TOA meeting will be marked by the absence of any theatre TV. Another is that the exhibs to attend for the most part will be the same ones who sat in on the convention last year, and who saw the displays at that time.

and who saw the displays at that time.
Furthermore, many theatremen are seen as being in a state of uncertainty about the shape of things to come for the full-screen TV. This is said to be particularly so since the introduction recently of Ediophor, which offers tinted images. Consequence is that the showmen are not in a buying mood at present.

U-l's 11 Tinters

Hollywood, July 29.
Completion of "Mississippi Gam-bler" makes a total of 11 Techni-color productions awaiting release on the Universal-International lot. In addition the studio has a In addition, the studio has a backlog of nine black-and-white pix.

N. Y. to Europe

Henry Bumstead Valentina Cortese Dolores Gray Joe Haimer Joe Haimer Leland Hayward
Arthur B. Lipkin
Raymond Massey
Maureen McManus
William Mull
William Primrose
I. H. Prinzmetal
Ginger Rogers
David Rose
Wally Ross
William Sistrom
Joseph Sistrom
Jimmy Van Heusen
Raoul Walsh
Chle Young In U.J. Of MCX PIX

Difficulty in obtaining playing time in the hundreds of U. S. theatres catering to Spanish-speaking clientels for pix made in Spain has prompted the U. S. distrib of these films to go to the Dept. of Justice for aid. Antenio Mendez, U. S. rep of Cliesa, Madrid production and world-wide film distrib outfit, contends that he has in N. Y. a vault full of films made in Spain which he can't peddle here because of the hold Azteca and Clasz Mohme, distribs of Mexican films, have on the Spanish-speaking market.

Mendez visited the Justice Dept. offices in Washington last December and presented his case to the authorities. The antitrust division of the D. of J., according to Mendez, has been making inquiries, but he hasn't heard as yet what action, if any, will be taken.

Mendez claims that Azteca and Clasa Mehme maintain their hold by controlling the bulk of the Spanish-language product. Their answer to any accusations, according to Mendez, is that exhibs prefer the Mexican to the Spanish-made product.

Traffic in Spanish-language films product.

the Mexican to the Spanish-made product.

Traffic in Spanish-language films is a big biz in the U. S., with such large Spanish-population areas as New York, Chicago, California, New Mexico, Colorado and Texas the principal buyers. Both distribs of the Mexican films maintain offices in these areas to service their accounts there.

Not only can't the Spanish-made films find a market in the Spanish-language theatres, but they are also nixed by U. S. art house ops, Mendez claims. No attempt has been made to add English-language titles, he said, because no U. S. theatre would buy them, anyway. Turndown, he said, is not based on monopolistic reasons, but on political grounds, with exhibs fearful of displaying pix made in Franco Spain.

L. A. to N. Y.

Jules Alberti Ed Barison Lydia Glarke Jeff Donnell John Ford Helen Ferguson Myron Fox Lud Gluskin Lud Gluskin
Frances Goldwyn
Samuel Goldwyn
Irvin R. Gwirtz
Charlton Heston
Johnny Johnston
Elia Kazan
Ken Langley
Jesse L. Lasky
Marks Levine
Frank Liberman
Ted Loeff
Eurene Loring Ted Loeff
Eugene Loring
Louis B. Mayer
Michael O'Shea
Robert Parrish
Barbara Payton
Leonard Picker Leonard Picker Al Rackin Hal Roach Spyros Skouras Mike Sloane Nate Spingold Ruth Warrick Sam Weller Jack Wrather

N. Y. to L. A.

N. Y. to L. A
Milton Bender
Humphrey Bogart
Pat Duggan
Eddie Dukoff
Irene Dunne
James A. Fitzpatrick
Al Goldin,
Danny Kaye
Sol Lesser
Waiter Mirisch
George Ratt
Herb Steinberg
Howard Strickling
Joe Thompson
Europe to N.

Europe to N. Y.

Europe to N.
Siren Adjemova
Lorenzo Alvary
Jack, Benny
Gertude Berg
Valerie Cardew
Maurice Evans
Patric Knowles
Joseph McConville
J. Graves McDonald
Marguerite Plazza
George Raft
Jo. Ranson
Helen Seamon
Joan Shephard
Marie Stroud
Jack Warner
L. Arnold Weissberger
Julie Wilson

EXHIBS' POLITICAL SQUEEZE PLAY

The Exhib-Distrib Paradox

Feverish condemnation by exhib leaders of the Dept. of Justice last week for filing the 16m antitrust suit in Los Angeles brought sardonic smiles to the faces of major company counsels. Weary from 14 hard years of battling D. of J. actions spurred by exhibs, the distribution execs thought it paradoxical now to find leaders of theatre organizations lined up behind them in calling the Department names. As a matter of fact, Theatre Owners of America is named a co-conspirator in the suit, although not a defendant.

In somewhat bitter reaction to this unusual sight, one company lawyer declared that if the majors lose this antitrust suit—with the resultant harm that will inevitably befall theatres—it will be the fault of exhibs. Attorney declared that the suit could be lost for only one reason; the "antitrust atmosphere" in which it will undoubtedly be tried. This "atmosphere," created by the long antitrust history of the pic industry, has resulted, the lawyer charged, from the nudging of the D. of J. by exhibs in the past and the maby antitrust suits brought by theatremen themselves.

Many of the woes that theatres are now faced with, the company counsel declared, have been brought on by the original industry antitrust action (U.S. vs. Paramount, et al) into which self-serving exhib leaders pushed the D. of J. These woes include the end of block-booking, changes in clearances, start of competitive bidding and many other trade practices which exhibs now regret and which are viewed as generally having wreaked far more harm than the good they accomplished.

Exhib answer to these charges obviously is that it wasn't they who did the harm, but the major companies themselves by the harsh practices in which they indulged, resulting in the courts sustaining exhib charges of illegality.

See Pix Being Sold to TV Long Before 'Monopoly' Snarl Goes Through Court

While as indignant as the rest of the industry at the antitrust suit filed by the Government in Los Angeles last week, some company execs take the realistic attitude that the whole case probably will be thrashed out before the U. S. Supreme Court has the last word on it. They see themselves selling their product to TV within the three years that attorneys figure would be the shortest possible time for trial and appeals that will undoubtedly take the case to the highest tribunal no matter which side wins the early rounds. Dept. of Justice action is based on a charge that the major distribs have conspired to keep their 16m prints from schools, churches, Army camps, etc.—and, incidentally, from TV. Most filmites figure the "incidentally" to be the major reason the suit was brought, that it is pressure to force sale of pix to tele.

Insiders' opinion is that the D.

of J. had no evidence to support a charge of conspiracy regarding refusal to sell to TV, but that there is probably plenty of indication of at least "parallel action" by the companies on 16m distribution. Department, it is figured, thus based the suit on the 16m angle to force the industry's hand on tele.

While fighting any antitrust suit is so costly and troublesome, no (Continued on page 70)

H'wood Filmusicals Eye More Serious Stories For Lift—Pat Duggan

Hollywood is trending toward ore substantial and serious story more substantial and serious story material, plus stronger character development, in its production of film musicals, Paramount producer Pat Duggan declared in New York yesterday (Tues.).

States Duggan: "The bodyless musical of 10 and 15 years ago is on the way out. Big, successful producers, whether in films, stage or Paris, are thinking in terms of 'Allegro,' 'Oklahoma' and 'King and I.' The boy-meets-girl routine is finished."

is finished."

Duggan, former v.p. and story editor for Samuel Goldwyn. Productions, recently completed the first pic on which he has producer's credit. It's "Just for You," Bing Crosby-Jane Wyman costarrer which Par will release shortly. He has been in N. Y. the past few days to discuss a film on his future sked with writer Philip Wylie. This will be an adaptation of "Turnnoil," Lester Del Rey novel which Wylie is cripting.

ting. inevitable, Duggan has his (Continued on page 22)

Annual Megging Award Hollywood, July 29.
Four pictures, released in the L. A. district between April 1 and June 30, were picked to compete for the Screen Directors Guild's annual award, to be presented early next year.
Competitors are: Metro's "Singin' in the Rain," directed by Gene Kelly and Stanley Donen; 20th-Fox's "Five Fingers," by Joseph L. Mankiewicz; Metro's "Pat and Mike," by George Cukor, and Columbia's "My Six Convicts," by Edward Dmytryk.

Prelim Talks On Anglo-U.S. Pact

It now appears definite that preliminary talks on renewal of the Anglo-U. S. film agreement will be held in America. Sir Frank will be held in America. Sir Frank Lee, permanent undersecretary of the British Board of Trade, is due in New York early in September on matters that will include talks with industry reps on the pact that will succeed the present one expiring Sept. 30.

expiring Sept. 30.

Final discussions are expected to be held in London, as have all previous negotiations on Anglo-U. S. film agreements. An American team consisting of Eric Johnston, prexy of the Motion Picture Assn. of America; John G. McCarthy, director of the MPAA's international division, and a rep of the Society of Independent Motion Picture Producers (possibly Goldwyn prexy James A. Mulvey), will (Continued on page 20)

(Continued on page 20)

Prep Senate Hearings On Exhib Complaints

Los Angeles, July 29.

After spending two weeks in this territory listening to complaints by exhibitors, William D. Amis, special investigator, left for Washington to report his findings to Senator John Sparkman (D., Ala.) of the Senate Select Committee On Small Business.

Understood Amis will recommend public hearings to air both sides of the hassle between the theatreowners and the film com-

AID IN 16M SUIT

fluential theatreowners appear embarking on the biggest political squeeze-play in the records of exhibition. It's shaping up as a major effort to gang up on the Department of Justice because the latter, via its recently filed antitrust suit against most film companies, looks to force the sale of pix to telecasters.

Exhibs in many areas aim to enlist the support of lawmakers in

Exhibs in many areas aim to en-list the support of lawmakers in both houses of Congress in com-batting the Government action, which came as a complete surprise and served to rock the film trade with possibilities of its ultimate results with possibilities of its ultimate results.

Civil suit, which was filed July 22 in Los Angeles, Federal Court, charges the film companies with participating in a conspiracy to limit the use of 16m film to the Armed Forces, private clubs, schools, churches and USO centres. That the action was specifically designed to open the way for the licensing of all film to telecasters was seen in a statement issued by Attorney General James P. McGranery. He said that the Department's move was part of a continuing program "to prevent businessmen and others from combining to place restrictions upon what members of the general pub-

DeMille, Freeman In Pact Huddles

Cecil B. DeMille and Paramount studio chief Y. Frank Freeman on a new deal for the producer. It is understood it will be a one-pic contract covering "The 10 Commandments," which he'll remake as his next production.

next production.

The single-film deal in in line with DeMille's wish that he not be under pressure to make pix. His contracts in the past have generally been for two films. The latest wound up with his delivery of "Greatest Show On Earth."

Results of the talks on a new pact have not yet been presented by Freeman to the Par board for ratification. That's expected within a few weeks, however, following in a rew weeks, nowever, following return of prexy Barney Balaban from Europe Monday (28). It is understood that the deal will be similar to those DeMille has had in the past. Par will finance the production and split profits with the producer.

20th's Sales Switches To Avoid Conflicts

Switch in 20th-Fox's exec sales

Switch in 20th-Fox's exec sales personnel, as announced by distribution director Al Lichtman, was seen as a move to avoid conflicts in the duties of Arthur Silverstone and Edwin W, Aaron.

The two execs some time ago were named assistant general sales managers, which led to an overlapping of their respective responsibilities. Aaron, under the new setup, is specifically assigned as sales head of the western half of the country and Silverstone is his counterpart in the east. In the split of the entire domestic market, the six Canadian offices in Calgary, Montreal, St. John, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver will be supervised by Silverstone, giving him a total of 18 branches in all. In turn, the Chicago exchange, which had been part of the eastern territory, has been transferred to the west, giving Aaron 20 offices. Move gives Aaron and Silverstone closer supervision over their respective areas. in all. In turn, the Chicago exchange, which had been part of the eastern territory, has been transferred to the west, giving Aaron 20 offices. Move gives Aaron and Silverstone closer supervision over their respective areas.

There will be no change in the status of William C. Gehring. He retains the title and duties of exec assistant general sales manager,

BIG DRIVE FOR D.C. McGranery Willing 'To Talk It Over' On Govt. 16m Suit Vs. Pic Cos.

Neb. Theatre Asks 750G From 9 Major Firms

Omaha, July 29.

Nine major distributors have been sued for $750,000 triple damages by Clarence D. Frazier, doing business as the Jovo Thacker ages by Clarence D. Frazier, doing business as the Joyo Theater, Havelock, Neb., a suburb of Lincoln. The complainant filed in Federal Court, naming as defendants. Loew's Inc., 2016-Fox, Warner Bros., Columbia Pictures, Universal Fim Exchanges, United Artists, Paramount Film Distributing Corp., Paramount Pictures and RKO Pictures.

The petition alleged violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.

Drastic Economy Unlikely for Par, Balaban Reveals

or careful operation makes the possibility of any drastic retrenchment in the future unlikely, prexy Barney Balaban declared upon his arrival in New York Monday (28) on the Liberte after a one-month European trip. "But," he added, "these are times that call for efficiency and productivity. Whenever we find an uneconomic situation, we try to eliminate it."

Expressing satisfaction with the comfpany's product, Balaban pointed out that budgets have been increased substantially, with the accent upon quality. Asked if quantity would be stepped up in the coming year, he stated that the balance of production would fall within the ability of the advertising, publicity and sales forces to market it properly.

As to the outlook in general, Balaban observed that "each company will prosper according to the number of b.o. hits it can produce." Turning to conditions in the foreign market, he disclosed that business is good overseas but emphasized actual returns are small due to the devaluation of the pound in sterling areas.

In regard to possible Paramount production abroad, Balaban of careful operation makes the possibility of any drastic retrench-

TOA May Move to Be Defendant in 16m Suit

Theatre Owners of America may move to be named a defendant in the Government's suit charging the film companies with conspiracy to deny the licensing of 16m film to telecasters. Theatre outfit was named a co-conspirator in the action named a co-conspirator in the action.

Herman Levy, TOA's counsel, revealed yesterday (Tues.) he will place the matter before the board of directors at a meeting in September. Attorney stated that TOA, by being a defendant, could "better and to the fullest possible extent combat this unjustifiable and unwarranted attempt on the part of the Federal Government to invade the motion picture industry." Indications are that other theatre organizations may seek to intervene in the action.

Stewart Inks 2-Pic U-I Participation Deal

McGranery declared this week he's willing to talk things over with industryites who have been bitter willing to talk things over with industryites who have been bitterly denouncing the Department of Justice's antitrust action looking to force the licensing of 16m pix to TV. "If there's some area for negotiation we (the Justice Department) certainly will be glad to listen," said the A-G.

Reached by telephone at his Washington office, McGranery said, however, that this is not to suggest a quick settlement with the film company defendants via entry of a consent decree. He told Variety that the Department's case is ready and early litigation will be pressed for.

Asked why the complaint was filed in Los Angeles, instead of New York where the defendants' headquarters are 10 cated and where policy is determined, the D. of J. Boss said L.A. was chosen because he figured it would suit the convenience of the film outfits.

While the complaint attacked the unavailability of 16m prints for telecasters, film tradesters immediately had it doped out that the Justice Department's ultimate aim is to compel the licensing of 35m prints as well to the TV-ers.

the Justice Department's ultimate aim is to compet the licensing of 35m prints as well to the TV-ers. For this reason exhibs across the country, fearful that the new medium, equipped with standard Hollywood product, would put them out of business, joined in a chorus of protests.

Named as defendants are all (Continued on page 17)

Toledo Blade Backs Industry Campaign Vs. Ohio Censorship

Support of the industry's campaign to strike down the Ohio censorship of newsreels, and possibly all film censorship, came this week from the Toledo Blade, leading paper in the city in which the film biz has inaugurated a test case. First hearing on the case takes place Aug. 8, when Martin G. Smith, operator of the Westwood Theatre, appears in Municipal Court on charges of showing an uncensored reel.

"The theatres have the strongest possible case against the Ohio censorship of newsreels," the Blade declared editorially. "Newsreel censorship is not only clearly unwarranted but is unnecessary and constitutes nothing more than a bureaucratic chore. The fact that producers are required to pay a 'service' charge is adding insult to injury. . . The most objectionable thing about movies exhibited in Ohio is the censor's seal which precedes them. It says in effect that the people of this state are among a minority of Americans who are judged incapable of deciding for themselves what is best for them to see on the screen."

The newspaper's blast at the state's censorship body had somewhat of an ironic twist, since Dr. Clyde Hissong, chief of the censor body, had bypassed Cleveland in favor of Toledo, fearing that the censor board would receive a bad press in the former city. Only place where Hissong and his staff (Continued on page 15)

STEEL STRIKE NIPS NPA LIFT OF THEATRE CURBS

Washington, July 29.
National Production Authority
officials see little prospect of lifting the ban on theatre construction

ing the ban on theatre construction this year.
Restrictions were due to be removed July 1 but were continued because of steel strike. However, agency promised to review situation upon settlement of strike.
Serious shortage of steel because of length of work stoppage and time required to make up loss in production, officials said, prevents dropping restrictions on theatre construction, at least until Jan. 1.

What Price Clery (SONG-COLOR)

FILM REVIEWS

James Cagney, Corinne Cal-vet, Dan Dalley in tinted, comedic remake of war drama, generally entertaining.

Hollywood, July 23.

20th-Fox release, of $al C. Slegel prototion. Stars James Cagney. Contotion Stars James Cagney. Contotion Stars James Cagney. Contotion Stars James Cagney. Contotion Stars James Cagney.

William Stars Contotion Stars James Cagney.

John Ford, Screenplay, Phoebe and

John Ford, Screenplay, Phoebe

John Ford, Screen

Tay Livingston and Ray Evans. Free viewed July 25, 52. Running time, 110 MiNS.

Captain Flagg. James Cagney Charmaine. Cortinue Captain Flagg. Captain
M.F. Mickey Simpson

The durable heroics of "What Price Glory" undergo a comedic treatment in Technicolor for this fresh version of the Maxwell Anderson-Laurence Stallings stage drama. It measures up as generally- entertaining for the regular run of filmgoers and should find a ready acceptance among them, although there's nothing distinguished enough about the presentation to rate it a class audience.

John Ford's rugged direction details a number of war action sequences, some good and some unbelievable, and handles the comedy with a masculine broadness, dealing with the old war drama's s.a. in the same fashion. Results are of the pulp-fiction, potboiler school but are salable for the general market.

eral market.

are of the pulp-fiction, potboller school but are salable for the general market.

James Cagney, a corpulent Caotain Flagg who looks like he'll bust out of his britches any minute, and Dan Dalley, the braggard Sergeant Quirt, enact the top male roles as rivals for gals and glory with amusing emphasis on frenetics. Both are inclined to mumble or shout their dialog, but the physical business that goes with the lines makes them understandable. Coriune Calvet's charms are freely disp'ayed as the ever-loving Charmaine, ready and willing to give any masculine ally of France aid and comfort. Neither the script nor direction permits the featured players to stand still long enough to take solid form, but despite this handicap, William Demarest, Robert Wagner, Marisa Pavan, James Gleason, Wally Vernon and Henry Letondal get in their licks towards the entertainment. Wagner and Miss Pavan, particularly, score as young lovers.

Story, as scripted by Phoebe and Henry Ephron, scatters itself among episodes dealing with the marines in World War I and the professional and amatory rivalry of Cagney and Dalley. The captain is waiting for a top sergeant to train his raw recruits before going into battle and, meantime, is making time with Charmaine, daughter of innkeeper Letondal. The sergeant shows on the scene and proves to be the unwelcome Quirt. He takes over with Charmaine, Letondal insisting that Quirt marry maine when Flagg goes on leave to Paris.

Upon the latter's return, he finds Letondal insisting that Quirt marry Charmaine but war intervenes, the marines move into action, the sergeant is slightly wounded and tries to take up with Charmaine again, only to have Flagg get back in'o the picture. Just as the latter is ready to make Charmaine an honest woman, war again intervenes and the professional fighting men march off to another battle. As plot unfolds, chuckles come frequently, action spasmodically and over the entire Sol C. Siegel production is a feeling that at any second the picture will break into a mustcal production number. This doesn't happen, but it still serves as a subconscious distraction.

The Technicolor lensing by Joe conscious distraction.

The Technicolor lensing by Joe MacDonald is beautifully done, r-sulting in scenes that appear almost like old master paintings. Score draws on the war tunes of the era such as "Madamoiselle From Armentieres," "Madelon," "Oui, Oui, Marie," etc., to fix the period. There is a new Jay Livingston-Ray Evans tune, "My Love, My Life," that figures excellently in a love scene between Miss Pavan and Wagner. Film's present running time of 110 minutes is way overlong.

Brog.

Affair in Trinidad (SONGS)

Rita Hayworth's personal b.o. will have to hypo her first pic in four years.

Columbia releans of Beckworth (Vincent Sherman) production. Stars Rita Hayworth, Glenn Ford; features Alexander Scoutby, Valerie Bettis, Toria Thatchery Directed by Sherman. Screenplay, Oscar Saal, James Gun, Screenplay, Oscar Saal, James Gun, Gleria Leven, Joseph Walker; editor, Viola Lawrence; songs, Lester Lee, Bob Russell; musical directors, Morris Stoloft, George Duning. Tradeshown N. Y., July 25, 52, Running time, 78 Mills. Bits. Hayworth rs. Morris Stolon, crousebown N Y., July 25, 52, 48 MNS.

Rita Hayworth
Glenn Ford
Alexander Scourby
Tvalerie Bettis
the Twon Wendell Karel Stepanek
ebling. George Voskovec
Steven Geray
Walter Kohler
Juanita Moore
Gregg Martell
Robert Mills
Robert Mill derson.... lters... Franz Huebling. Peter Bronec. Dominique... Olaf..... Martin Pilot..... Coroner....

"Affair in Trinidad," Rita Hayworth's first picture in four years, will have to depend upon the drawing power of the star herself to lure the customers.

Picture's best scenes, from both a selling and entertainment angle, are sequences where the actress sings and dances the film's two songs. Miss Hayworth is cast as an entertainer in a Trinidad dive, which affords a promising start, but after permitting the star to sexily purvey "Trinidad Lady," a samba-type number, the story meanders into a cliche yarn about a murder and a spy ring.

Victim of the killing is Miss a murder and a spy ring.

Victim of the killing is Miss Hayworth's husband, with whom she has not been too happy. As the police inspector, Torin Thatcher is inclined to dismiss the case as suicide, but investigation leads him to believe that an international thief (Alexander Scourby) is involved. Scourby, incidentally, has been one of the singer-dancer's more attentive fans.

Scenting something more sinister is involved. Scourby, incidentally, has been one of the singer-dancer's more attentive fans.

Scenting something more sinister than murder, Thatcher arranges for Miss Hayworth to act as an "undercover" operative to get the goods on Scourby and his accomplices. Thus sworn to secrecy, she can't warm Glenn Ford, who's amateurishly poking into the case to avenge his brother's death. However, before things become any more involved, the police move in to smash the ring. At the same time Miss Hayworth and Ford clinch in a finale closeup.

In addition to scoring in warnling and hoofing "Trinidad Lady," the star also chirps "Twe Been Kissed Before," the film's other tune, to advantage. Both are average songs, but she sells them well. Insofar as her thesping is concerned, the star is handicapped by a trite plot.

Ford gives his role the old college try, but succeeds mainly in effecting a belligerent air. Scourby is a stock menace. Thatcher convinces as the inspector. Choreographer Valerie Bettis, who created the dances for Miss Hayworth, is cast as a tipsy conspirator and does a good job of it in contrast to the routine characterizations of the other supporting players.

Vincent Sherman, who produced for Beckworth Corp. the own inde unit for Coll appears to have been hampered by budgetary restraint from injecting any lavish physical effects. His direction, too, is unable to insert much movement or credibility. Editing of Viola Lawrence could have been tighter. Joseph Walker, per usual, supplied good camerawork, while musical direction of Morris Stoloff and George Duning is adequate.

Gilb.

Lost In Alaska

Slipshod Abbott & Costello; one of their poorer efforts for Universal.

Hollywood, July 25.

Universal release of Howard Christie production. Stars Bud Abbott, Lou Costello, Mitzi Green, Tom Ewell; features tello, Mitzi Green, Tom Ewell; features brough, Screenplay, Martin A, Ragaway, Leonard Stern; story, Elwood (Illiann; camera, George Robinson; editor, Leonard Stern; story, Elwood (Illiann; camera, George Robinson; editor, Leonard Weiner, Previewed July 22, '52, Running time, 74 Mins. canus red Weiner rid Weiner ling time, 76 MINs. Tom Watson.
George Bell.
Rosette.
Nugget Joe McDermott.
Jake Stillman.
Gherman
Henchman ..... Bud Abbott

Minerva Abbott & Costello fail to do right by their fans in "Lost in Alaska." Film is a slipshod 76 minutes of footage marked by more tedious stretches than more tedious stretches than stretches than humor.

Film starts with a poor story by Alba and Jaime Fernandez.

Elwood Ullman and an indifferent scripting job by Martin A. Ragaway and Leonard Stern. Dialog is weak and only a few situations are able to get laughs, mostly because of the basic physical comedy involved. Tipon on the material is fact that the best laugh comes from such an old device as having a whale steak spout back at Costello. Jean Yarbrough's direction did what it could to control the situation but helped little.

Two comics save Tom Ewell, Alaskan prospector, from committing suicide over unrequited love for Mitzi Green, and then flee to the frozen north to avoid a charge of murdering the man. Up in the igloo country, the pair and Ewell dodge the bullets of the latter's friends, to whom he has willed his $2,000,000 fortune in gold, and the plot of Bruce Cabot, salcon-owner, to steal the bullion. A dogsled chase and the loss of the gold in an ice crackup bring the abortive comedy to a conclusion.

Abbott & Costello manage only a couple of giggles with the material. Ewell provides some assistance. Miss Green, in her role of dancehall singer, chirps two uncredited special-material ditties to go with plot situations, but doesn't show to any particular advantage. Cabot and the others fill in loosely. Production values have a penurious look, although extra glossing would not help put this one over. Technical assists are stock.

Brog.

Beware, My Lovely

Drab melodrama of a day of terror in a woman's life; some name importance but spotty

Hollywood, July 29.

RKO release of Collier Young (Finnakers) production. Start da Linko. Robert Ryan; features Taylor Holmes, Bershar Whiling, James Willmas, O. Z. Whitehead, Dee Pollack. Directed by Harry Horner. Screenplay, Mel Dinelli, from his story and play, "The Man's Watherways music, Lith Stevens, Freviewed July 24, '52 Running time, 77 Mrs. Gordon ... Ida Lupino Howard. The Colling the Colling
Filmakers, independent produc-

Filmakers, independent production unit, has come up with a drab suspense melodrama based on "The Man," the Mel Dinelli story and play. Some name importance is lent the picture by the presence of Ida Lupino and Robert Ryan as costars, and the RKO release assures a goodly number of bookings, but the boxoffice prospects are spotty. Program playdates are indicated A fairly tight screenplay by Dinelli, who also served as associate producer to Collier Young, unfolds the inconclusive story in workmanlike manner. The Harry Horner direction manages considerable emphasis on suspense and the trouping of the two stars is excellent, but it still doesn't add up to readily acceptable film entertainment. For one thing, the downbeat yarn comes to a stop, rather than a conclusion, after 77 minutes of teasing an audience with hints of violence that never materialize.

Ryan is mentally unstable, itinerant handyman who makes a pre-materialize.

Ryan is mentally unstable, itinerant handyman who makes a precarious living by door-to-door jobs. Story gets underway with his fleeing a town from what looks like a murder and next finds him hired by Miss Lupino, a war widow, to aid with a housecleaning job. As the day develops, indications of Ryan's instability come out, and gradually Miss Lupino becomes alarmed. Before she is able to take action, however, Ryan locks the doors and makes her his prisoner. Incident after incident leading to violence, and then drawing back from it, occupy the footage as the seemingly never-ending day stretches out. Finale has Ryan, not remembering what has transpired, walking out as night comes and Miss Lupino greatly relieved that it is all over.

Only a small cast was needed for the story. Taylor Holmes is Ryan is mentally unstable, itinthat it is all over.

Only a small cast was needed for the story. Taylor Holmes is good as the boarder whose departure leaves Miss Luoino alone with Ryan. Barbara Whiting walks whith Ryan. Bardara writing walks through a couple of scenes, and Dee Pollack, a grocery boy, is acceptable. George E. Diskant's photography is imaginative, and the Leith Stevens music score good in backing suspense alms.

Frog.

Mex Film Version of 'Crusoe'

Mexico City, July 22.
ersion of "Robinson Film version of "Robinson Crusoe" is being produced here in Enelish and Spanish at the Tepeyac studios by Luis Bunel.

Stars Dan O'Praly. Felipe de

Wemen of the North Country (COLOR)

Generally satisfactory sutdoor action-drama: with skay payoff possibilities.

Hollywood, July 24.

Republic release of Joseph Kane production. Stars Ruth Hussey, Rod Cancon, John Agar, Gale Storm; features J. Carrol Naish, Jisa Davis, Jay C. Flippen, Rod Cancol Naish, Jisa Davis, Jay C. Flippen, Rod Cancol Naish, Jisa Davis, Jay C. Flippen, Production, Relily Raines, story, Charles Marquis, Warren, Prescott Chaplin, camera (Trucolot), Jack Martiz, editor, Richard L. Van, Enger; mude, R. Dale Butts, Previewed July Ass. Rodling times, Rath Hussey, Rod Raines, Rod Rath, Hussey, Rod Raines, Rod Rath, Hussey, Rod Raines, Rod Rath, Mording, Gale Storm, Mulholland J. Carrol Nisis Steve Fawell J. Jay C. Flippen Dawson. Taylor Holmes, Dawis Rod Raines, Raines Axel Nordlund, Jay C. Flipp Dawson. Taylor Holi O'Hara Barry Kel Chapman. Grant With Andre Ducios. Stephen Beka Rick Barton. Howard Pet Tom Gorden. Hank Wor Mrs. Dawson. Virginia Bris

Andre Ducios. Stephen Belausy Nick Barton. Monard Pettis Tom Gorden. Virginia Brissac

This is a generally satisfactory outdoor action-drama that should get an okay payoff in the Republic market. The Trucolor cloaking adds 'some sight values to the standard lineup of action ingredients, and the familiar names should help its booking chances in the general situations.

It's a tried-and-true plot furnished by the story written by Charles Marquis Warren and Prescott Chaplin. Story line almost constantly reminds of many previous large-scale outdoor features but the regular run of audiences will find it acceptable. The Norman Reilly Raine screenplay is put together to provide producer-director Joseph Kane with enough brawling male action to keep the pace moving, and there are some good battle-of-the-sexes touches to catch the attention.

Trouping is entirely competent, if not out of the ordinary, as the film goes about its business of telling how Rod Cameron, newcomer to the Minnesota iron-ore mining section, successfully battles a long-entrenched family which heretofore has had-a strong grip on such activities. With the aid of his friends, Gale Storm and her father, Jay C. Flippen, Cameron gets his operations rolling. In the physical clashes with male opponents, he's more than a match for trouble, but when Ruth Hussey, strong-willed, scheming sister who heads the opposition, turns loose her femme charms and wiles on him, he falls easily, forsakes Miss Storm and marries Miss Hussey. It's a sort of "Bright Leaf" scheme Miss Hussey has in mind, and she sets up her husband slickly to deprive him of his wealth and take over herself. Before her scheme can be completed, though, she tips her hand and Cameron is able to save his new empire. Miss Hussey is shot down by J. Carrol Naish, a banker she has been using, and cameron ends in a clinch with Miss Storm.

Kane's action sequences are well-handled to fit market demands for this type feature. A number of Cameron ends in a clinch with Miss Storm.

Kane's action sequences are well-handled to fit market demands for this type feature. A number of scraps between Cameron and the henchmen of Jim Davis, wild member of the long-entrenched family, come off neatly. For good measure there's the dynamiting of a mining camp and a railroad, mountain trail ambushes and fisticutfs.

mountain trail ambushes and fisticuffs.

Cameron makes a good hero. The Misses Hussey and Storm add charm to the footage. John Agar gets short shrift in the story footage as the weakling in the family. Flippen, Davis and Barry Kelley, revenge-seeking drunk, and Naish are satisfactory.

The Trucolor hues used to dress the feature give a colorful look to the costumes and outdoor settings as lensed by Jack Marta. However, quality of the color is not always consistent. The Dale Butts music score fits story needs, and there are two traditional tunes, "Blue-Tail Fly" and "Erie Canal," spotted for campfire sings.

Arctic Flight

Wayne Morris toplining top-

Hollywood, July 28.

Monogram release of Lindsley Parsons production. Stars Wayne Morris; features Lola Abright, Alan Hale, Jr., Carol Thurston. Directed by Lew Landers; Bricker, based on tory. "Shaw Office Curtain," by Ewing Scott; camera, Jack Russell; editor, Leonard Herman. Previewed July 24, '52, Running time, 78 Mins.

Mins.

Viewed Suly 22; Milks Wayne Morris Miks Wayne Morris Martha Lola Albright Warnerby Alan Hale, Jr. Sarula Carol Diluck Tom Richards Carol Miksook Anthony Garson Father Francois Kenneth McDonald Hogan Paul Bryar Dorgan Dale Van Siekle

"Arctic Flight," presenting Wayne Morris' vs. Communism, emerges a generally interesting and actionful bit of pic fare. Enhanced by neat production values and good performances from the leads, him stacks up as a ton

the leads, the stacks up as a top supporter.

Large portion of the picture's tookage was actually lensed near the Arctic Circle—locale of the story. Taken from Ewing Scott's "Shadow of the Curtain," the Robert Hill-George Bricker screenplay takes full advantage of the exteriors, but at same time never subordinates to any great extent the actual story-line.

Wayne Morrie, an Alaska bush pilot, draws as a passenger wealthy Alan Hale, Jr., biz man from the States who's in Alaska on a vacation and out to get a polar bear. It turns out later that he's actually a Communist spy who is using Morris and his plane in order to take pictures of the area for the Russians. Morris subsequently learns of Hale's identity, but has little luck in convincing the few others in the area of later's in-American activities. Eventually, however, others realize Morris is right and all work to prevent Hale's trek from Little Diomede, to the two-and-one-half-miles-distant Big Diomede, in Russia. Hale escapes in a fight with Morris, but loses his pictures and papers in the scuffie and is soon shot when he nears the Russian territory sans identification.

Morris effectively enacts the lead role, while Hale is good as the Communist agent. Lola Albright, as Morris' first passenger, a schoolteacher assigned to Little Diomede, is tops in a somewhat difficult part, that of a cool, self-possessed femme who only at end of the pic warms up via a romantic interest in Morris, are all good.

Film was directed by Ewing Scott, who also wrote the story, and Lew Landers, although latter now draws solo credit and Scott is credited as associate producer. Flareup of an old leg injury near windup of the Alaskan footage forced Scott to relinquish directorial reins to Landers, who then took over for the remaining interiors. Both did extremely commendable work. Photography of Jack Russell is good, as are the other technical credits. Neal.

Lure of the Wilderness (COLOR)

Remake of "Swamp Water" in Technicolor; fair marquee values and medium boxoffice.

Hollywood, July 24.

20th-Fox release of Robert L. Jacks production. Stars Jean Peters. Jeffrey Hunters. Constance Smith; features Walter Leading of the Hunter Carter. District Hunter Norsen. Constance Smith Hunter Hunter Carter. Walter Bennand. District Hunter Carter. Hunter Carte Jack Elam
Harry Carter
Pat Hogan
Al Thompson Harry Longden... Shep Rigby..... Will Stone Al Rol Will Stone. Robert Adler Square Dance Caller Sherman Sanders Jack Doran. Robert Karnes Sloan George Spaulding Sheriff Jepson. Walter Taylor Young Man. Ted Jordan ...George Spausu.... Walter Taylor Ted Jordan

This is a remake of "Swamp Water." first released by 20th-Fox in 1941. The new version of Vereen Bell's dank melodrama of the vast Okefenokee Swamp in southeast Georgia has a simpler, straight-line story treatment, a slightly different emphasis on main characters, a Technicolor dress and, overall, medium box-office prospects, although some sectional playdates will be excellent. Marquee values are only fair.

fair.

The swamp is less a menace in the Louis Lantz screenplay than it was in the original version, although still used to create stock thrill scenes connected with lurking alligators, slithering reptiles and deadly mud sinks, which help carry the story and provide Jean Negulesco's direction with a chance at some suspense sequences.

chance at some suspense sequences.

While plot is still basically concerned with a man wanted for murder who hides out in the uncharted regions of the swamp, this version takes his daughter into the yilderness with him for a sort of jungle-girl treatment that adds s.a. values. The hunted role is a repeat for Walter Brennan and, performance-wise, he's the film's best asset. Jean Peters is okay as the sulky jungle girl and looks good in the swamp-type costumes the role calls for. Jeffrey Hunter pleasantly projects the role of the young Georgian who aids Brennan get justice after having encountered father and daughter while hunting his lost dog in the swamp. Constance Smith, a country crossroads type of flirt, looks pretty in (Continued on page 18)

(Continued on page 18)

EXHIBS SING BINGO REPRISE

Arbitration Enthusiasm Seen Waning

While chances for setting up an industry-wide arbitration system have brightened a little in the past week as a result of a compromise move by major company toppers, enthusiasm by disstribs for arbitration appears to have perceptibly waned. Three months ago, before the headaches of actually getting the workings of a system on paper, there was great spirit in favor of a voluntary method of settling problems out of court. Distrib execs saw in it tremendous possibilities for eliminating some of the dozens of antitrust suits brought by exhibs, which are threatening to cripple the majors financially.

tremendus suits brought by exhibs, which are threatening to cripple the majors financially.

With the passing of time having given distribution execs and attorneys more opportunity for closeup study of the potentials of arbitration as applied to trade practices, the edge of their enthusiasm has been dulled. They are all still sincerely in favor of arbitration on the theory that it will be worthwhile if it prevents only a relatively few lawsuits. But no great optimism persists that it will keep many exhibs out of the courts. They say that Abram F. Myers, counsel and board chairman of Allied States Assn. of exhibs, has publicly admitted as much.

As lawyers for some of the companies now have it figured, exhibs will go to arbitration if they don't think they have much of a case. But if they feel they've got a good suit, they'll take it to a judge just as quickly as they're doing now.

COMPO Fate Hinges on Success Of Its Drive Vs. 20% Admish Tax

Fate of the Council of MotionPicture Organizations as a going concern is seen largely hinging on the measure of success achieved in the current campaign to kill the Federal 20% admissions tax. Industry toppers said this week they're convinced that accomplishment of the tax-repeal objective will do more in the way of assuring a strong future for the alltrade outfit than any other possible contribution to the general welfare of the business.

It's pointed out that thousands of theatres across the country are not affiliated with any trade group at the present. Many of these exhibs, it's said, more than likely would be willing to share in future joint-industry projects, viactive COMPO memberships, if they're convinced a job can be done on the vital tax situation. This doubtless would bolster COMPO to its strongest position since coming into being, from standpoint of membership roster and treasury funds.

standpoint of membership roster and treasury funds.

Cynical View

However, while a successful tax fight could serve to lure exhibs who heretofore have not joined any trade org, the cynical view persists among some observers that many local exhib associations still will refrain from entering the (Continued on page 15)

Shain, Richey, Short Mulled to Head Push By COMPO Vs. 20% Tax

For Expenses, Etc.

Here's a list of the more important expense items which must be met by the Council of Motion Picture Organizations in the campaign to repeal the Federal 20% admissions tax:

Administration of campaign in New York COMPO office, production of needed materials, research, mailing and other communications, meetings, travel by industryites in the anti-tax fight and publicity.

Total Repeal, Not Cut, Is COMPO's Drive Vs. 20%

Campaign plans by the Council of Motion Picture Organizations against the 20% admissions tax against the 20% aumissions tax are being circulated among exhibs in the field. The objective, it's stressed, is for total repeal of the levy, not a partial reduction.

stressed, is for total repeat of the levy, not a partial reduction.

Main points covered are these: campaign will be carried on with Congressmen and Senators, not with general public; local businessmen affected by the welfare of theatres will be asked to cooperate; tax committees will be set up in states rather than exchange areas; campaign will be on local (state) level, distinguished from Washington lobbying; policy and publicity committee will determine what "copy lines" are to be used; campaign will be coordinated nationally and all progress will be recorded by COMPO in N.Y.; each state committee will be urged to form sub-committees in each Congressional district; COMPO office will develop all informational material.

Basic argument is that the tax By COMPO Vs. 20% Tax

Council of Motion Picture Organization is scouting the field for an industryite to head its anti-tax campaign on a fulltime salaried basis. Post is an executive one operating under the COMPO national tax committee, which is headed by H. A. Cole of Dallas and Pat McGee of Denver.

Billed as candidates so far for the spot are Henderson M. Richey, exhib relations chief for Metro, Sam Shain, former aide to 20th Pox prez Spyros P. Skouras and now operating on his own in public relations, and Paul Short, National Screen Service division manager in Dallas. Those are the three names most frequently mentioned in industry exec conversations anent the post.

Shain's former 20th duties included the job of director of trade relations for the film company. He became immediately acquainted with exhib organizational activity via this work and consequently is considered in some circles as one of the likely candidates for the COMPO post.

Richey, of course, has been active in industry organizational work for years, and Short has been prominent in COMPO affairs and local joint exhib projects in Texas. It's undisclosed whether Richey, who has been eyed for several leave to helm the tax battle.

EYE GIVEAWAYS AS B.O. HYPO

Drive among a group of small, unaffiliated exhibs in New York City to revive bingo, screeno, bank night and other giveaways, to serve as a b.o. stimulant, is gaining momentum. About 40 theatreowners, majority of whom operate one or two nabe houses, will meet in about a fortnight to set in motion plans for bringing back the coin lures which attracted patrons to film houses during the depression area. Because of the still-doubtful legality of the scheme, leaders of the movement wish to remain anonymous.

of the movement wish to remain anonymous.

Support for the drive came from the Independent Motion Picture Machine Operators, an unaffiliated labor outfit which supplies projectionists for many of the theatres interested in the project. Union will join the exhibs in the initial conclave at which the revival procedure will be outlined.

Approach, as explained by one of the leaders of the movement, will see the appointment of a committee of three or four exhibs, plus a union rep to draw up a legal petition directed to Mayor impelliteri. Purpose of the appeal is to assure the exhibs that they will not be harrassed by the N. Y. City (Continued on page 20)

Par Preps 25 In Long-Range Plan

Paramount has 25 features already in preparation for production in 1953. Producers and directors have been given their assignments, many of the scripts are completed and much of the casting has been done.

Par said the lineup was set far in advance as the result of much long-range planning. Polishing off scripts far ahead of lensing schedule provides the opportunity to line up stars and marquee combinations unavailable at short notice.

Of the total, 16 will be in Technicolor, and other tinters may be added if Techni facilities are avail-

COLUMBIA EXPANDING FOREIGN-PIX DISTRIB

Columbia Pictures is expanding its policy of handling foreign-made its policy of handling foreign-made films, company foreign chief Joseph A. McConville disclosed in New-York Monday (28) when he returned on the Queen Mary after a six-week trip to Europe. More British, Italian, French and Spanish-language pictures, he said, will be distributed by the firm in various world markets.

be distributed by the firm in various world markets.

. While declining to name specific films, McConville revealed that he had discussed a number of deals with continental producers. Columbia is already participating with French producer-director Leonide Moguy in a film-making program, and will also distribute two Alan Ladd pictures to be made by Warwick Pictures (Irving Allen-Cubby Broccoil) in Britain.

McConville, who attended Columbia conventions in London and Rome, was accompanied by foreign department exec Harry Kosiner and producer Stanley Kramer when he left for Europe last month. Kosiner returned last week, while Kramer is due back Aug. 18 after a two-month vacation.

Cartoonists OK Pact
Hollywood, July 29.
Membership of Screen Cartoonists Local 839, IATSE, voted approval of the new contract negotated with the Animated Film Producers Assn.

Contract is retroactive to March 15 and runs two years.

Exhibs Drop Demand for Presence Of Co. Prexies at Arbitration Meets

Double Double-Features

Double Double-Features
Tokyo, July 22.
Double features, only recently arrived in Japanese film houses, have fast been superseded by triple features, and, according to one Nip newspaper, will soon be made obsolete by "quadruple headers."
Two-for-one fad, which began in Nagoya, Central Honshu, with pairing of "Valentino" and "A Song Is Born," has been stepped up by rival exhibs, who now tax marquee with ads for a bill of fare containing two U. S. pix and one, or even two, locally produçed films.

D. J. Greene Buys More RKO Stock In Power Rivalry

Wall Streeter David J. Greene continues to strengthen his position in RKO Theatres by further purchases of the circuit's stock, reports to the Securities & Exchange Commission indicate, He acquired 7,000 additional shares in June.

acquired 7,000 additional shares in June.

The SEC reports were said this week by a spokesman for the broker and investment counselor to be only a partial indication of the increasing hold he has been gaining on the theatre chain. He controls a large number of shares held by his clients, who have also been building up their holdings on his counsel.

Greene is a director of RKO Theatres and thus, under SEC rules, must report his purchases. His clients, of course, are not required to do so, and so there is no full indication of the scale on which Greene's power in the chain has been hypoed.

The June purchases, according to the SEC, give the financier a total of 42,250 shares. He holds 16,450 directly and 25,800 in a trust fund established in 1935 for the benefit of his wife, Dorothy. Chemical Bank & Trust, N. Y., is trustee.

Greene, in a proxy fight in oppo-

Chemical Bank & Trust, N. Y., is trustee.

Greene, in a proxy fight in opposition to the circuit's management last fall, amassed enough support to win two places on the six-man board. His continued buying obviously is with the aim of eventually gaining control of the directorate and thus of the company's management.

management.
While he controls the second largest block of the circuit's stock,
(Continued on page 17)

King Bros.' 'Ring' Set For Distrib by UA

For Distrib by UA

Deal has been set for United Artists to distribute the King Bros.' "The Ring," a boxing drama. Pic will go into release in about a month, according to Franklin King, who was in New York this week to close the deal. Pact on "The Ring" in no way commits the brother outfit to further arrangements with UA. He said that inde company would work out future release deals on a picture-to-picture arrangement.

Maurice King, of the brother production firm, leaves for Europe Saturday (2) to case location sites for a trio of productions the King company contemplates making for a trio of productions the King company contemplates making abroad. Properties set for filming abroad are all outdoor action-type drama and can easily be adapted for any foreign locale. Production is expected to get under way in 60 days, he reported. Meanwhile, the Kings will place into production in Hotlywood two films within the next two months. Pix are "Indian Fighter" and "Robinson Crusoe."

Exhibition's reps in the negotiating of an industry arbitration system have withdrawn their demand that film company presidents sit in on continuing huddles on the subject. Exhibs instead have agreed to a new round of confabs with sales managers and company lawyers beginning next Monday (4) in New York.

Despite this reversed stand, the probability is that the chief exces will get together with the exhibs at a meeting this fall.

Officials of Theatre Owners of America and Allied States Assn. called a halt on arbitration discussions several weeks ago when differences on competitive bidding with the distrib negotiators reached an impasse. Exhibs contended at that time that the only chance for arbitration would be for the prexies to take over and possibly give more ground than that offered by the distrib committee.

In the interim, however, sales managers and attorneys among themselves agreed to new "clarifications" of their stand on the various facets of bidding as arbitrable subjects. This was conveyed to the exhibs and the latter okayed next Monday's sessions.

It was also pointed out by the distribs that the company presidents, because of traveling commitments and such, could not convene before Sept. 1. Consequently, that much more time would be lost before negotiations could be resumed.

Plan, which now has been tentatively drawn, is to have the presidents participate in a huddle with the theatremen when (and if) the exhib-distrib negotiating teams come to agreement on the broad terms of an overall plan for arbitration. This, it's figured, could be around October.

This new round of events crys.—lized one aspect of the full picture: While enthustasm for arbitrative: While enthustasm for arbitrative: While enthustasm for arbitrative.

Army Nixes Cooperation For RKO's 'Zero' Over 'Objectionable Scene'

Hollywood, July 29.
RKO's "One Minute to Zero," filmed with military cooperation, has been declared objectionable by the Department of the Army. Orders were sent out to all Army Public Relations offices throughout the world to refuse to cooperate in any way with showings of Public Relations offices throughout the world to refuse to cooperate in any way with showings of the picture.

Official diction says the film "has a sequence which has been objected to by the Army and Defense departments and which the studio has declined to correct."

Understood the offending sequence shows Robert Mitchum, as a colonel, ordering U.S. artillery fire on South Korean refugees on the theory that North Korean emies may be lurking among them. This sequence, the Pentagon contends, was not in the original script, then titled "The Korean Story," when it was submitted for approval.

Joe Moskowitz's Sec Named Eastern Liaison

Named Eastern Liaison

Kay Sullivan, secretary for many years to Joseph Moskowitz when he was 20th-Fox's eastern studio rep, returned to New York from the Coast this week to become New York liaison with the studio. She had gone to the Coast with Moskowitz when he transferred his headquarters there recently to become top aide to production chief Darryl F. Zanuck.

Moskowitz technically still retains the duties of eastern studio rep, which he is handling from the Coast. Miss Sullivan will be in charge of the headquarters he continues to maintain in New York. It had been uncertain when Miss Sullivan went to the studio whether she'd remain after she had organized Moskowitz's office

mes Cigney, Cerinne Cal-i, Dan Dalley in tinted, medic remake of war drama, nerally entertaining.

Hollywood, July 28.

Lane of Sol C. Siegel pro

James Cagney, Corinn
Dalley: Keatures William

James Hill, Robert Wagner, Ma

Ley Adams: James Glesson

Henri Latondal, Directe est, Craig Riff. Robert W. vvan, Caley Adams, Jame Vernon, Henri Lefondal,
hn Ford, Screenplay, Pi Ephrom; based on play Andersen: and Laurence s, Joe MacDonald: editor er; song, "My Love, My Lyingstan and Ray Eva
L July 28, "52, Running

Moore Cokely iac Pete. olsen ompany Cook erguson Cunningham Tincle man Colon man Lieute Rennett

The durable heroics of "What Price Glory" undergo a comedic treatment in Technicolor for this fresh version of the Maxwell Anderson-Laurence Stallings stage drama. It measures up as generally entertaining for the regular run of filmgoers and should find a ready acceptance among them, although ther's nothing distinguished enough about the presentation to rate it a class audience.

John Ford's rugged direction deto rate it a class audience.

John Ford's rugged direction details a number of war action sequences, some good and some unbelievable, and handles the comedy with a masculine broadness, dealing with the old war drama's s.a. in the same fashion. Results are of the pulp-fiction, potbolier school but are salable for the general market.

James Cagney a corrulent Can-school but are salable for the general market.

James Cagney, a corpulent Captain Flagg who looks like he'll bust out of his britches any minute, and Dan Dailey, the braggard Sergeant Quirt, enact the top male roles as rivals for gals and glory with amusing emphasis on frenetics. Both are inclined to mumble or shout their dialog, but the physical bustness that goes with the lines makes them understandable. Corinne Calvet's charms are freely disp'ayed as the ever-loving Charmaine, ready and willing to give any masculine ally of France aid and comfort. Neither the script nor direction permits the featured players to stand still long enough to take solid form, but despite this handicap, William Demarest, Robert Wagner, Marisa Pavan, James Gleason, Wally Vernon and Henri Letondal get in their licks towards the entertainment. Wagner and Miss Pavan, particularly, score as young lovers.

Story, as scripted by Phoebe and Henry Ephron, scatters itself among episodes dealing with the marines in World War I and the professional and amatory rivalry of Cagney and Dailey. The captain is waiting for a top sergeant to train his raw recruits before going into battle and, meantine, is making time with Charmaine, daughter of innkeeper Letondal. The sergeant shows on the scenand proves to be the unwelcome Quirt. He takes over with Charmaine, the sergeant shows on leave to Paris.

maine when Flagg goes on leave to Paris.

Upon the latter's return, he finds Letondal insisting that Quirt marry Charmaine but war intervenes, the marines move into action, the sergeant is slightly wounded and tries to take up with Charmaine again, only to have Flagg get back into the picture. Just as the latter is ready to make Charmaine an honest woman, war again intervenes and the professional fighting men march off to another battle. As plot unfolds, chuckles come frequently, action spasmodically and over the entire Sol C. Siegel production is a feeling that at any second the picture will break into a musical production number. This doesn't happen, but it still serves as a subconscious distraction. cious distraction.

conscious distraction.

The Technicolor lensing by Joe MacDonald is beautifully done, resulting in scenes that appear almost like old master paintings. Score draws on the war funes of the era such as "Madamoisselle From Armentieres," "Madelon," "Oui, Oui, Marie," etc., to fix the period. There is a new Jay Livingston-Ray Evans tune, "My Love, My Life," that figures excellently in a love scene between Miss Pavan and Wagner. Film's present running time of 110 minutes is way overlong.

Affair in Trinidad (SONGS)

Rita Hayworth's personal b.o. will have to hypo her first pic in four years.

Columbia release of Beckworth (Vincent Sherman) production. Stars Rita Hayworth, Glenn Ford; features Alexander Scouthy, Valerie Bettis, Torin Thatcher/ Directed by Sherman. Screen-play, Oscar Salil, James Gunn, from story by Virginia Vam Upp, Berns Giller, Carbon Salil, James Gunn, from story by Virginia Vam Upp, Berns Giller, Carbon Salil, James Gunning, Tardeshown N. Y., July 25, 52. Running tines, 78 Mins.

Chris Emery. Rita Hayworth Steve Emery. Rita Hayworth Steve Emery. Rita Hayworth Steve Emery. Results Results Max Fablan. Bettis Hayworth Carbon Shall Steven Carbon Shall Steven Carbon Shall Steven Carbon Shall Steven Geray Peter Bronee. Walter Kohler Dominique. Juanita Moor Greeg, Mills

"Affair in Trinidad," Rita Hay-worth's first picture in four years, will have to depend upon the draw-ing power of the star herself to lure the customers. Picture's best scenes, from both lure the customers.

Picture's best scenes, from both a selling and entertainment angle, are sequences where the actress sings and dances the film's two songs. Miss Hayworth is cast as ne entertainer in a Trinidad dive, which affords a promising start, but after permitting the star to sexily purvey "Trinidad Lady," a samba-type number, the story meanders into a cliche yarn about a murder and a spy ring.

Victim of the killing is Miss Hayworth's husband, with whom she has not been too happy. As the police inspector, Torin Thatcher is inclined to dismiss the case as suicide, but investigation leads him to believe that an international thief (Alexander Scourby) is involved. Scourby, incidentally, l'eads him to believe that an international thief (Alexander Scourby) is involved. Scourby, incidentally, has been one of the singer-dancer's more attentive fans.

Scenting something more sinister than murder, Thatcher arranges for Miss Hayworth to act as an "undercoyer" operative to get the goods on Scourby and his accomplices. Thus sworn to secrecy, she can't warn Glenn Ford, who's amateurishly poking into the case to avenge his brother's death. However, before things become any more involved, the police move in to smash the ring. At the same time Miss Hayworth and Ford clinch in a finale closeup.

In addition to scoring in warbling and hoofing "Trinidad Lady," the star also chirps "Tve Been Kissed Before," the film's other tune, to advantage. Both are average songs, but she sells them well. Insofar as her thesping is concerned, the star is handicapped by a trite plot.

Ford gives his role the old col-

Insofar as her thesping is concerned, the star is handicapped by a trite plot.

Ford gives his role the old college try, but succeeds mainly in effecting a belligerent air. Scourby is a stock menace. Thatcher convinces as the inspector. Choreographer Valerle Bettis, who created the dances for Miss Hayworth, is cast as a tipsy conspirator and does a good job of it in contrast to the routine characterizations of the other supporting players.

Vincent Sherman, who produced for Beckworth Corp. (her own indie unit for Col) appears to have been hampered by budgetary restraint from injecting any lavish physical effects. His direction, too, is unable to insert much movement or credibility. Editing of Viola Lawrence could have been tighter. Joseph Walker, per usual, supplied good camerawork, while musical direction of Morris Stoloff and George Duning is adequate.

Lost In Alaska

Slipshod Abbott & Costello; one of their poorer efforts for Universal.

Hollywood, July 25 Hollywood, July 25.
versal release of Howard Christie tetion, Stars Bud Abbott, Lou CosMitzi Green, Tom Ewell; features.
Cabot. Directed by Jean Yarh. Screenplay, Martin A. Ragaway, rd Stern; story, Elwoud Ulman;
a. George Robinson; editor, Leontime 17 Methewed July 22, 72, Runtime 17 Methewed July 22, 73, Runtime 18 Methewed July 22, 73, Runtime 18 Methewed July 22, 73, Runtime 18 Me Bud Abbott Lou Costello
Mitzi Green
ott Tom Ewell
Bruce Cabot
Emory Parnell
Joseph Kirk gget Joe McDermott ce Stillman Rex Lease McGillicuddy

Abbott & Costello fail to do ght by their fans in "Lost in laska." Film is a slipshod 76 inutes of footage marked by ore tedious stretches than minutes more humor.

Film starts with a poor story by Alba and Jaime Fernandez.

Elwood Ullman and an indifferent scripting job by Martia A. Ragaway and Leonard Stern. Dialog is weak and enly a few situations are able to get laughs, mostly because of the basic physical comedy involved. Tipon on the material is fact that the best laugh comes from such an old device as having a whale steak spout back at Costello. Jean Yarbrough's direction did what it could to control the situation but helped little.

Two comics save Tom Ewell, Alaskan prospector, from committing suicide over unrequited love for Mitzi Green, and then fiee to the frozen north to avoid a charge of murdering the man. Up in the igloo country, the pair and Ewell dodge the bullets of the latter's friends, to whom he has willed his $2,000,000 fortune in gold, and the plot of Bruce Cabot, salcon-owner, to steal the bullion. A dogsled chase and the loss of the gold in an ice crackup bring the abortive comedy to a conclusion.

Abbott & Costello manage only a couple of giggles with the material. Ewell provides some as sistance. Miss Green, in her role of dancehall singer, chirps two uncredited special-material ditties to go with plot situations, but doesn't show to any particular advantage. Cabot and the others fill in loosely. Production values have a perurious look, although extra glossing would not help put this one over. Technical assists are stock.

s look, although ould not help put this o Technical assists are stoc Brog.

Beware, My Lovely

Drab melodrama of a day of terror in a woman's life; some name importance but spotty prospects.

Hollywood, July 29.

RKO release of Coller Young Gilmakers production. Stars Ida Lupino, Robrata Williams. Stars Was Lupino, Robrata Williams. Stars Williams from his story and play. "The Man's comera. George E. Diskant: editor, Paul Gromera. George E. Diskant: editor, Paul Williams. Stars Williams Williams. Topier Ryan Mins. Gordon da Lupino Howard Theorem. Topier Ryan Must. Williams. Topier Ryan Must. Stevens. James Williams Mr. Stevens. James Williams Mr. Stevens. James Williams Mr. Franks. O. Z. Whitehead Grocery Boy. Dee Pollack

Filmakers, independent produc-tion unit, has come up with a drab suspense melodrama based on "The Man," the Mel Dinelli story and play. Some name importance is lent the picture by the presence of Ida Lupino and Robert Ryan as costars, and the RKO release assures a goodly number of bookings, but the boxoffice prospects are spotty. Program playdates are indicated. A fairly tight screenplay by Dinelli, who also served as associate producer to Collier Young, unfolds the inconclusive story in workmanlike manner. The Harry Horner direction manages considerable emphasis on suspense and the Mel Dinelli story and unfolds the inconclusive story in workmanlike manner. The Harry Horner direction manages considerable emphasis on suspense and the trouping of the two stars is excellent, but it still doesn't add up to readily acceptable film entertainment. For one thing, the downbeat yarn comes to a stop, rather than a conclusion, after 77 minutes of teasing an audience with hints of violence that never materialize.

Ryan is mentally unstable, itinerant handyman who makes a precarious living by door-to-door jobs. Story gets underway with his fieeing a town from what looks like a murder and next finds him hired by Miss Lupino, a war widow, to aid with a housecleaning job. As the day develops, indications of Ryan's instability come out, and gradually Miss Lupino becomes alarmed. Before she is able to take action, however, Ryan locks the doors and makes her his prisoner. Incident after incident leading to violence, and then drawing back from it, occupy the footage as the seemingly never-ending day stretches out. Finale has Ryan, not remembering what has transpired, walking out as night comes and Miss Lupino greatly relieved that it is all over.

Only a small cast was needed for the story. Taylor Holmes is good as the boarder whose departure leaves Miss Lupino alone with Ryan. Barbara Whiting walks through a couple of scenes, and Dee Pollack, a grocery boy, is acceptable.

with Ryan. Barbara Whiting waiks through a couple of scenes, and Dee Pollack, a grocery boy, is acceptable. George E. Diskant's photography is imaginative, and the Leith Stevens music score good in backing suspense aims.

Frog.

Mex Film Version of 'Crusoe

Mex Film Version of "Robinson Crusoe" is being produced here in English and Spanish at the Tepeyac studios by Luis Bunel.

Stars Dan O'Fraly, Felipe de

Women of the North Country (COLOR)

Generally satisfactory outdoor action-drams: with skay pay-off possibilities.

Hollywood, July 24.
Republic release of Joseph Kane production. Stars Ruth Hussey. Rod Cameron, John Agar, Gale Storagt features J Carrol Naish, July Davis, Jay C. Filippen Taylor Holinest, Sarry Kelley, Grand With Carlon Rully Rahes, Cory, Charles Marqui Warren, Prescott Chaplin; camera (Tru coler), Jack Martig editor, Richard L. Var Enger; music. F. Ted. Section 1986. color), Jack Marta Enger; music, R., July 23, '52, Eun Christine Powell, Kyle Ramio... David Powell... Cathy Nordlund... Mulholland...

This is a generally satisfactory outdoor action-drama that should get an okay payoff in the Republic market. The Trucolor cloaking adds some sight values to the standard lineup of action ingredients, and the familiar names should help its booking chances in the general situations.

It's a tried-and-true plot furnished by the story written by Charles Marquis Warren and Prescott Chaplin. Story line almost constantly reminds of many previous large-scale outdoor features but the regular run of audiences will find it acceptable. The Norman Reilly Raine screenplay is put together to provide producer-director Joseph Kane with enough brawling male action to keep the pace moving, and there are some good battle-of-the-sexes touches to catch the attention.

Trouping is entirely competent, if not out of the ordinary, as the film goes about its business of telling how Rod Cameron, newcomer to the Minnesota iron-ormining section, successfully battles a long-entrenched family which heretofore has had-a strong grip on such activities. With the aid of his friends, Gale Storm and her father, Jay C. Flippen, Cameron heretofore has had a strong grip on such activities. With the aid of his friends, Gale Storm and her father, Jay C. Flippen, Cameron gets his operations rolling. In the physical clashes with male opponents, he's more than a match for trouble, but when Ruth Hussey, strong-willed, scheming sister who heads the opposition, turns loose her femme charms and wiles on him, he falls easily, forsakes Miss Storm and marries Miss Hussey. It's a sort of "Bright Leaf" scheme Miss Hussey has in mind, and she sets up her husband slickly to deprive him of his wealth and take over herself. Before her scheme can be completed, though, she tips deprive nim or his wealth and take over herself. Before her scheme can be completed, though, she tips her hand and Cameron is able to save his new empire. Miss Hussey is shot down by J. Carrol Naish, a banker she has been using, and Cameron ends in a clinch with Miss Cameron enus in a cancer was another storm.

Kane's action sequences are well-handled to fit market demands for this type feature. A number of scraps between Cameron and the henchmen of Jim Davis, wild member of the long-entrenched family, come off neatly. For good measure there's the dynamiting of a mining camp and a railroad, mountain trail ambushes and fisticuffs.

mountain trail ambushes and fisticuffs.

Cameron makes a good hero. The Misses Hussey and Storm add charm to the footage. John Agar gets short shrift in the story footage as the weakling in the family. Flippen, Davis and Barry Kelley, revenge-seeking drunk, and Naish are satisfactory.

The Trucolor hues used to dress the feature give a colorful look to the costumes and outdoor settings as lensed by Jack Marta. However, quality of the color is not always consistent. The Dale Butts music score fits story needs, and there are two traditional tunes, "Blue-Tail Fly" and "Erie Canal," spotted for campfire sings.

Arctic Flight

Wayne Morris toplining top-notch supporter.

Hollywood, July 28.

Monogram release of Lindsley Parsons production. Stars Wayne Morris; features Lola Albright, Alan Hale, Jr., Carol Thurston. Directed by Lew Landers; Directed By Robert Bright Carolina, State Courtain, by Ewing Scott: Sandow of the Curtain, by Ewing Scott: Sandow, Joke Russell; editor. Leonard Herman. Previewed July 24, 52. Running time. 78 MINS.

Brickes, Brickes, Brickes, Physics Curtain, by Ewing Russell; editor, Leonard Hermite Viewed July 24, '52. Running time, '8 MMNS, Wayne Morrish Load Albright Wetherby Load Albright Wetherby Carol Thurston Squid Phil Tead Karluck Tom Richards Miksook Anthony Garson Karluck Kenneth McDonald Hogan Paul Bryar Dale Van Siekle

"Arctic Flight," presenting Wayne Morris vs. Communism, emerges a generally interesting and actionful bit of pic farc. Enhanced by neat production values and good performances from the leads, film stacks up as a top values and good performances from the leads, then stacks up as a top supporter.

Large portion of the picture's footage was actually lensed near the Arctic Circle—locale of the story. Taken from Ewing Cott's "Shadow of the Curtain," the Robert of the Curtain, the Robert of the Curtain, the Robert of the Curtain, the Robert of the Robert of the Curtain, the Robert of the Robert that of a cool, self-possessed femme who only at end of the pic warms up via a romantic interest in Morris. Remainder of castees, especially Carol Thurston as the Alaskan femme in love in vain with Morris, are all good.

Film was directed by Ewing Scott, who also wrote the story, and Lew Landers, although latter now draws solo, credit and Scott is credited as associate producer. Flareup of an old leg injury near windup of the Alaskan footage forced Scott to relinquish directorial reins to Landers, who then took over for the remaining interiors. Both did extremely commendable work. Photography of Jack Russell is good, as are the other technical credits. Neal.

Lure of the Wilderness (COLOR)

Remake of "Swamp Water" in Technicolor; fair marquee values and medium boxoffice.

medium boxoffice.

Medium boxoffice.

20th-Fox release of Robert L. Jacks production. Stars Jean Peters, Jeffrey Hunter, Constance Smith; features Walter Bernman, Tom Tully, Harry Shannon, Will Wright, Jack Elam, Harry Carter, Directed by Jean Negulesco. Screen Peters, Jeffrey Carter, Directed by Jean Negulesco. Server Peters, Jeffrey Carter, March Lander, Carter, Directed Languages, Control of the March Languages, Carter, Directed Languages, Lang ...George Sp. ...Walter T

This is a remake of "Swamp Water." first released by 20th-Fox in 1941. The new version of Vereen Bell's dank melodrama of the vast Okefenokee Swamp in southeast Georgia has a simpler, straight-line story treatment, a slightly different emphasis on main characters, a Technicolor dress and, overall, medium box-office prospects, although some sectional playdates will be excellent. Marquee values are only fair.

fair.

The swamp is less a menace in the Louis Lantz screenplay than it was in the original version, although still used to create stock thrill scenes connected with lurking alligators, silthering reptiles and deadly mud sinks, which help carry the story and provide Jean Negulesco's direction with a chance at some suspense sequences.

While plot is still basically con-

chance at some suspense sequences.

While plot is still basically concerned with a man wanted for murder who hides out in the uncharted regions of the swamp, this version takes his daughter into the yilderness with him for a sort of jungle-girl treatment that adds s.a. values. The hunted role is a repeat for Walter Brennan and, performance-wise, he's the film's best asset. Jean Peters is okay as the sulky jungle girl and looks good in the swamp-type costumes the role calls for. Jeffrey Hunter pleasantly projects the role of the young Georgian who aids Brennan get justice after having encountered father and daughter while hunting his lost dog in the swamp. Constance Smith, a country crossroads type of filtri, looks pretty in (Continued on page 18)

(Continued on page 18)

EXHIBS SING BINGO REPRISE

Arbitration Enthusiasm Seen Waning

While chances for setting up an industry-wide arbitration system have brightened a little in the past week as a result of a compromise move by major company toppers, enthusiasm by disstribs for arbitration appears to have perceptibly waned. Three months ago, before the headaches of actually getting the workings of a system on paper, there was great spirit in favor of a voluntary method of settling problems out of court. Distrib execs saw in it tremendous possibilities for eliminating some of the dozens of antitrust suits brought by exhibs, which are threatening to cripple the majors financially.

tremenduts suits brought by exhibs, which are threatening to cripple the majors financially. With the passing of time having given distribution execs and attorneys more opportunity for closeup study of the potentials of arbitration as applied to trade practices, the edge of their enthuslasm has been dulled. They are all still sincerely in favor of arbitration on the theory that it will be worthwhile if it prevents only a relatively few lawsuits. But no great optimism persists that it will keep many exhibs out of the courts. They say that Abram F. Myers, counsel and board chairman of Allied States Assn. of exhibs, has publicly admitted as much.

As lawyers for some of the companies now have it figured, exhibs will go to arbitration if they don't think they have much of a case. But if they feel they've got a good suit, they'll take it to a judge just as quickly as they're doing now.

COMPO Fate Hinges on Success Of Its Drive Vs. 20% Admish Tax

Fate of the Council of MotionPicture Organizations as a going concern is seen largely hinging on the measure of success achieved in the current campaign to kill the Federal 20% admissions tax. Industry toppers said this week they're convinced that accomplishment of the tax-repeal objective will do more in the way of assuring a strong future for the allitrade outfit than any other possible contribution to the general welfare of the business.

It's pointed out that thousands of theatres across the country are not affiliated with any trade group at the present. Many of these exhibs, it's said, more than likely would be willing to share in future joint-industry projects, viactive COMPO memberships, if they're convinced a job can be done on the vital tax situation. This doubtless would bolster COMPO to its strongest position since coming into being, from standpoint of membership roster and treasury funds.

Cynical Yiew

However, while a successful tax fight could serve to lure exhibs

Cynical View
However, while a successful tax fight could serve to lure exhibs who heretofore have not joined any trade org, the cynical view persists among some observers that many local exhib associations still will refrain from entering the

(Continued on page 15)

Shain, Richey, Short Mulled to Head Push By COMPO Vs. 20% Tax

For Expenses, Etc.

Here's a list of the more important expense items which must be met by the Council of Motion Picture Organizations in the campaign to repeal the Federal 20% admissions tax:

sions tax:

Administration of campaign in New York COMPO office, production of needed materials, research, mailing and other communications, meetings, travel by industryites in the anti-tax fight and publicity,

Total Repeal, Not Cut, Is COMPO's Drive Vs. 20%

of Motion Picture Organizations against the 20% admissions tax are being circulated among exhibs in the field. The objective, it's stressed, is for total repeal of the levy, not a partial reduction.

stressed, is for total repeal of the levy, not a partial reduction.

Main points covered are these: campaign will be carried on with Congressmen and Senators, not with general public; local businessmen affected by the welfare of theatres will be asked to cooperate; tax committees will be set up in states rather than exchange areas; campaign will be on local (state) level, distinguished from Washington lobbying; policy and publicity committee will determine what "copy lines" are to be used; campaign will be coordinated nationally and all progress will be recorded by COMPO in N.Y.; each state committee will be urged to form sub-committees in each Congressional district; COMPO office will develop all informational material.

Basic argument is that the tax discriminators and it threatens. By COMPO Vs. 20% Tax

Council of Motion Picture Organization is scouting the field for an industryite to head its anti-tax campaign on a fulltime salaried basis. Post is an executive one operating under the COMPO national tax committee, which is headed by H. A. Cole of Dallas and Pat McGee of Denver.

Billed as candidates so far for the spot are Henderson M. Richey exhib relations chief for Metro, Sam Shain, former aide to 20th-Fox prez Spyros P. Skouras and now operating on his own in public relations, and Paul Short, National Screen Service division manager in Dallas. Those are the three names most frequently mentioned in industry exec conversations anent the post.

Shain's former 20th duties included the job of director of trade relations for the film company. He became immediately acquainted with exhib organizational activity via this work and consequently is considered in some circles as one of the likely candidates for the COMPO post.

Richey, of course, has been active in industry organizational work of years, and Short has been prominent in COMPO affairs and local joint exhib projects in Texas. It's undisclosed whether Richey, who has been eyed for several offer non-M-G trade jobs in past, or Short could take temporary leave to helm the tax battle.

EYE GIVEAWAYS AS B.O. HYPO

Drive among a group of small, unaffiliated exhibs in New York City to revive bingo, screeno, bank night and other giveaways, to serve as a b.o. stimulant, is galning momentum. About 40 theatreowners, majority of whom operate one or two nabe houses, will meet in about a fortnight to set in motion plans for bringing back the coin lures which attracted patrons to film houses during the depression area. Because of the still-doubtful legality of the scheme, leaders of the movement wish to remain anonymous. anonymous or the movement wish to remain anonymous.

Support for the drive came from the Independent Motion Picture Machine Operators, an unaffiliated labor outfit which supplies projectionists for many of the theatres interested in the project. Union will join the exhibs in the initial conclave at which the revival procedure will be outlined.

Approach, as explained by one of the leaders of the movement, will see the appointment of a committee of three or four exhibs, plus a union rep to draw up a legal petition directed to Mayor Impelliteri. Purpose of the appeal is to assure the exhibs that they will not be harrassed by the N. Y. City (Continued on page 20)

Par Preps 25 In Long-Range Plan

Paramount has 25 features already in preparation for production in 1953. Producers and directors have been given their assignments, many of the scripts are completed and much of the casting has been done.

Par said the lineup was set far in advance as the result of much long-range planning. Polishing off scripts far ahead of lensing sched-ule provides the opportunity to line up stars and marquee com-binations unavailable at short no-

of the total, 16 will be in Technicolor, and other tinters may be added if Techni facilities are available.

COLUMBIA EXPANDING FOREIGN-PIX DISTRIB

Columbia Pictures is expanding its policy of handling foreign-made films, company foreign chief Joseph A. McConville disclosed in New-York Monday (28) when he returned on the Queen Mary after a six-week trip to Europe. More British, Italian, French and Spanish-language pictures, he said, will be distributed by the firm in various world markets.

While declining to name specific ous world markets.

While declining to name specific films, McConville revealed that he had discussed a number of deals with continental producers. Columbia is already participating with French producer-director Leonide Moguy in a film-making program, and will also distribute two Alan Ladd pictures to be made by Warwick Pictures (Irving Allen-Cubby Broccoli) in Britain.

McConville who attended Convictions of the control o

Broccoli) in Britain.

McConville, who attended Columbia conventions in London and Rome, was accompanied by foreign department exec Harry Kosiner and producer Stanley Kramer when he left for Europe last month. Kosiner returned last week, while Kramer is due back Aug. 18 after a two-month vacation.

Cartoonists OK Pact
Hollywood, July 29.
Membership of Screen Cartoonists Local 839, IATSE, voted approval of the new contract negotiated with the Animated Film Producers Assn.

Contract is retroactive to March 15 and runs two years.

Exhibs Drop Demand for Presence Of Co. Prexies at Arbitration Meets

Double Double-Features

Double Double-Features

Tokyo, July 22.

Double features, only recently arrived in Japanese film houses, have fast been superseded by triple features, and, according to one Nip newspaper, will soon be made obsolete by "quadruple headers."

Two-for-one fad, which began in Nagoya, Central Honshu, with pairing of "Valentino" and "A Song Is Born," has been stepped up by rival exhibs, who now tax marquee with ads for a bill of fare containing two U. S. pix and one, or even two, locally produçed films.

D. J. Greene Buys More RKO Stock In Power Rivalry

Wall Streeter David J. Greene continues to strengthen his position in RKO Theatres by further purchases of the circuit's stock, reports to the Securities & Exchange Commission indicate, He acquired 7,000 additional shares in June.

acquired 7,000 additional shares in June.

The SEC reports were said this week by a spokesman for the broker and investment counselor to be only a partial indication of the increasing hold he has been gaining on the theatre chain. He controls a large number of shares held by his clients, who have also been building up their holdings on his counsel.

Greene is a director of RKO Theatres and thus, under SEC rules, must report his purchases. His clients, of course, are not required to do so, and so there is no full indication of the scale on which Greene's power in the chain has been hypoed.

The June purchases, according to the SEC, give the financier a total of 42,250 shares. He holds 16,450 directly and 25,800 in a trust fund established in 1935 for the benefit of his wife, Dorothy. Chemical Bank & Trust, N. Y., is trustee.

Greene, in a proxy fight in oppo-

Chemical Bank & Trust, N. Y., is trustee.

Greene, in a proxy fight in opposition to the circuit's management last fall, amassed enough support to win two places on the six-man board. His continued buying obviously is with the aim of eventually gaining control of the directorate and thus of the company's management.

management.

While he controls the second largest block of the circuit's stock, (Continued on page 17)

King Bros.' 'Ring' Set For Distrib by UA

For Distrib by UA

Deal has been set for United Artists to distribute the King Bros.' "The Ring," a boxing drama. Pic will go into release in about a month, according to Franklin King, who was in New York this week to close the deal. Pact on "The Ring" in no way commits the brother outfit to further arrangements with UA. He said that indie company would work out future release deals on a picture-to-picture arrangement.

Maurice King, of the brother production firm, leaves for Europe Saturday (2) to case location sites for a trio of productions the King company contemplates making abroad are all outdoor action-type drama and can easily be adapted for any foreign locale. Production is expected to get under way in 60 days, he reported. Meanwhile, the Kings will place into production in Hollywood two films within the next two months. Pix are "Indian Fighter" and "Robinson Crusoe."

Exhibition's reps in the negotiating of an industry arbitration system have withdrawn their demand that film company presidents sit in on continuing huddles on the subject. Exhibs instead have agreed to a new round of confabs with sales managers and company lawyers beginning next Monday (4) in New York.

Despite this reversed stand, the probability is that the chief exces will get together with the exhibs at a meeting this fall.

Officials of Theatre Owners of America and Allied States Assn. called a halt on arbitration discussions several weeks ago when differences on competitive bidding with the distrib negotiators reached an impasse. Exhibs contended at that time that the only chance for arbitration would be for the prexies to take over and possibly give more ground than that tended at that time that the only chance for arbitration would be for the prexies to take over and possibly give more ground than that offered by the distrib committee.

In the interim, however, sales managers and attorneys among themselves agreed to new "clarifications" of their stand on the various facets of bidding as arbitrable subjects. This was conveyed to the exhibs and the latter okayed next Monday's sessions.

It was also pointed out by the distribs that the company presidents, because of traveling commitments and such, could not convene before Sept. 1. Consequently, that much more time would be lost before negotiations could be resumed.

Plan, which now has been tentatively drawn, is to have the presidents participate in a huddle with the theatremen when (and if) the exhib-distrib negotiating teams come to agreement on the broad terms of an overall plan for arbitration. This, it's figured, could be around October.

This new round of events crysulting entired one aspect of the full picture: While enthuslasm for arbitrature. (Continued on page 15)

Army Nixes Cooperation For RKO's 'Zero' Over 'Objectionable Scene'

"Objectionable Scene'

Hollywood, July 29.

RKO's "One Minute to Zero," filmed with military cooperation, has been declared objectionable by the Department of the Army. Orders were sent out to all Army Public Relations offices throughout the world to refuse to cooperate in any way with showings of the picture.

Official diction says the film "has a sequence which has been objected to by the Army and Defense departments and which the studio has declined to correct."

Understood the offending sequence shows Robert Mitchum, as a colonel, ordering U.S. artillery fire on South Korean refugeës on the theory that North Korean enemies may be lurking among them. This sequence, the Pentagon contends, was not in the original script, then titled "The Korean story," when it was submitted for approval.

Joe Moskowitz's Sec Named Eastern Liaison

Named Eastern Liaison

Kay Sullivan, secretary for many years to Joseph Moskowitz when he was 20th-Fox's eastern studio rep, returned to New York from the Coast this week to become New York liaison with the studio. She had gone to the Coast with Moskowitz when he transferred his headquarters there recently to become top aide to production chief Darryl F. Zanuck.

Moskowitz technically still retains the duties of eastern studio rep, which he is handling from the Coast. Miss Sullivan will be in charge of the headquarters he continues to maintain in New York. It had been uncertain when Miss Sullivan went to the studio whether she'd remain after she had organized Moskowitz's office

L.A. Perks: 'Jacks' Gigantic $81,000, 'Not Married' Fair 21G, 'Lovely' Lush 27G, 'Courier' 19G, 'Kong' Big 18G, 2d

Los Angeles, July 29.

"Jumping Jacks" is the big boxoffice noise here this week, shaping to get smash $42,000 in three regular first-run houses and 2 boffo $81,000 combined with three drive-ins and four conventionals.
"Lovely To Look At" looms good $27,000 in two theatres.

ive-ins and four conventionals ovely To Look At" looms good 7,000 in two theatres.

A fair $21,000 is seen for "Not uried" in three spots. Only a n $10,000 in expected for trange World," playing four lotions. "Diplomatic Courier", is ed just fair with $19,000 in two es while "Untamed Frontier," o. in two houses, looks light 3,000. "Actors and Sim" shapes od $5,000 at the Canon.

Top holdover is "King Kong" the fat $18,000 in five days of cond week in two spots.

Estimates for This Week
Les Angeles, Chinese, Ritz
WC) (2,097; 2,048; 1,370; 7010) — "We're Not Married" lith and "Sea Tiger" (Mono) in $21,000. Last week, "Sally d St. Anne" (U) and "Break-wm" (Indie), $15,000.

El Rey, Arls, Globe, Uptown WC) (861; 814; 782; 1,719; 7010)— "Strange World" (Indie) d"Born to Saddle" (Indie). Thin 0,000. Last week, with Loyola stead of Uptown, "Captain ackjack" (Indie) and "Love Is1d" (Indie), $10,000.

Hollywood, Wiltern (WB) (2,756; 144; 70-$1,10)— "Working Way rough College" (WB) (3d wk). w$6,500 in 5 days. Last week, th five days at Orpheum, $17,500.

Enverly Hills, Downtown (WB) 612; 1,787; 80-$1,25]—"Story ill Rogers" (WB) (3d wk). Light 1,000. Last week, $16,800.

Exyptian, Orpheum (UATC-Metpolitan) (1,538; 2,213; 70-$1,10)— "Story ill Rogers" (WB) (3d wk). Light 1,000. Last week, $16,800.

Exyptian, Orpheum (UATC-Metpolitan) (1,538; 2,213; 70-$1,10)— "King ong" (RKO) and "Leopard Man" (KO) (reissues) (2d wk). Fat 8,000 in 5 days. Last week, leftly $46,200.

Rialto, Hollywood Paramount, oyola (Metropolitan-F&M-FWC) 40; 1,430; 1,248; 70-$1,10)— (Creissues) (2d wk). Fat, (200 in 5 days. Last week, ghty $46.200. Rilato, Hollywood Paramount, yola (Metropolitan-F&M-FWC) (10); 1,430; 1,248; 70-$1.10)—umping Jacks" (Par). Smash 2,000 here; also insuburban fourll, three drive-ins for overall al of terrific $81,000. Last week, llywood Paramount, United tists, "Tokyo Joe" (Col) and nock Any Door" (Col) (reissues) days), $6,700. Os Angeles Paramount, Wilshire PT-FWC) (3,300; 2,296; 70-$1.10) 'Diplomatic Courier" (20th) and lackmalled" (Indie) (L. A. Par y). Fair $19,000. Last week, L. Par, "Stolen Face" (Lip) with vier Cugat heading stage bill, e $34,000; Wilshire, "Robin od" (RKO) and "Water Birds" (CO) (m.o.), $3,700.

Tawaii, Loew's State (G&S-TC) (1,106; 2,404; 70-$1.0)—ntamed Frontier" (U). Light, 0,001. Last week, Hawaii, Fran-Goes West Point" (U) (2d wklays), $3,000.

ies West Four (), $3,000.
ue (FWC) (885; 70-$1)—
test Show" (Par) (3d wk).
o $3,700. Last week, nice c Arts (FWC) (679; 80-$1.20) an White Suit" (U) (9th wk). to $1,600. Last week, big

. on (ABC) (520; $1)—"Actors Sin" (UA). Good $5,000. Last "Navajo" (Lip) "(4th wk),

$1.200.

Four Star (UATC) (900; 85-$1.20)

-"Wild Heart" (RKO) (2d wk).

Mild $5,500. Last week, $11,200.

United Artists (UATC) (2,100;

70-$1.10)—"Kisenga" (Indle) and

"Massacre Hill" (Indie). Just a fill-in here, getting slim $5,000.

D. C. Good Despite Dems' Conclave; 'Kong' Bangup

14G, 'Outcast' Boffo 8G

Washington, July 29.
Considering high interest of cal gentry in Democratic party roceedings, first-run biz is shaped good. Several houses reported rong openings for new pix, and at the return of oppressive heat helping attendance. "King Kong" oks like one of best newcomers Keith's. Art houses have been hing especially well, with "Walk ast on Beacon" at Trans-Lux olding solid after record opening (Continued on page 20)

Broadway Grosses

Estimated Total Gross

8his Week ....$521,390
(Based in 18 theatres)

Last Year ...$523,696
(Based on 18 theatres)

'Jacks' Immense $17,500, Seattle

Seattle, July 29.

Big news here this session is the colossal takings being garnered by "Jumping Jacks" at the Coliseum. It is far ahead of anything else in city, with most other spots lagging. However, "Francis Goes To West Point" is holding well in second frame at Orpheum. Palomar, with "Blondle and Dagwood" unit onstage and "When In Rome," shapes trim. "World in Arms" still is good in fourth round at Blue Mouse.

Estimates for This Week
Blue Mouse (Hamrick) (800; 65-

Estimates for This Week
Blue Mouse (Hamrich) (800; 6590)—"World in Arms" (U) (4th wk).
Good $3,000. Last week, big $3,000.
Coliseum (Evergreen) (1,829; 6590)—"Jumping Jacks" (Par) and "Montana Incident" (Mono). Colossal $17,500. Last week, "Montana Territory" (Col) and "Red Snow"
(Col), $7,700.

(Col), $7,700.

Fifth Avenue (Evergreen) (2,366; 65-90)—"Robin Hood" (RKO) (2d wk), Oke $7,000. Last week, solid $11,700.

Liberty (Hamrick) (1,650; 65-90)—"Duel at Silver Creek" (U) and "Pirate Submarine" (Lip), Good $7,500. Last week, "Washington Story" (M-G), $4,300.

Music Box. (Hamrick) (850-85-90)
"River" (UA) (3d wk) Holding at $3,000 after excellent $3,900 second stanza.

$3,000 after excellent $3,900 second stanza.

Music Hall (Hamrick) (2,282; 65-90) — "Working Way Through College" (WB) (2d wk). Fair $5,000 after $3,800 last week.

Orpheum (Hamrick) (2,599; 65-90)—"Francis to West Point" (WB) (2d wk). Good $6,500 after big $10,-200 last week.

Palomar (Sterling) (1,350; 50-$1)—"When in Rome" (M-G). (2d run) plus stage show, "Blondie and Dagwood" unit. Trim $10,000. Last week, "Walk East on Beacon" (Col) plus Yvette Dare on stage, okay $8,000.

$8,000.

Paramount (Evergreen) (3,039;
65-90) — "Diplomatic Courier"
(20th) and "Maytime in Mayfair"
(Indie) (2d wk). Way off to dim
$4,500. Last week, $8,800.

'Noon' High $13,000 Tops Pitt; 'Robin' Smash 10G, 'Lovely' OK With 13½G

Lovely' OK With 13½G

Pittsburgh, July 29.

General improvement in biz very noticeable in last few weeks, is continuing and the outlook here seems to be much more optimistic than it has been in some time. "High Noon" is shooting the Harris back into the tall brackets with terrific session likely. "Robin Hood" at Warner and "Lovely to Look At" at Penn are also riding out a wave of pleasant prosperity. Fulton is dragging with "We're Not Married." "Jumping Jacks" is plenty strong on Stanley holdover.

Estimates for This Week
Fulton (Shea) (1,700; 50-85)—
"We're Not Married" (20th). a disappointment at ordinary $4,500.
Last week, "Franics To West Point" (U), $4,200.

Harris (Harris) (2,200; 50-85)—
"High Noon" (UA). Crix went overboard for the Gairy Cooper starrer. Smash $13,000 or near heftiest take of year at this house.
Will hold. Last week, "Diplomatic Courler" (20th), $7,000.

Penn (Loew's) (3,300; 50-85)—
"Lovely Look At" (M-G). Big musical is keeping healthy summer biz here intact. Okay $13,500 inoms. May hold. Last week, "Scaramouche" (M-G) (2d wk). off to $9,500, $me near here. Trim $1,500, on top of last here. Trim $1,500, on top of last

Mont'l Marks Time But

"Angel' Sturdy $10,000

"Scarmouche" going into second session is still leading field at Loew's with good total. "Girl in White," doing incely at Palace, is top newcomer.

Estimates for This Week Palace (C.T.) (2,626; 34-60)—
"Girl in White" (M-G). Fine $13.-000. Last week, "Anything Can Happen" (Par), $10,000. "Capitol (C.T.) (2,412; 34-60)—
"Deadline U. S. A." (20th) (2d wk). So-so $10,000, following hefty first at $16,000.

Princess (C.T.) (2,131; 34-60)—
"Scarlet Angel" (U). Trim $10,-000. Last week, "Red Ball Express" (U), $11,000.

Loew's (C.T.) (2,355; 40-65)—
"Scaramouche" (M-G) (2d wk). Good $16,000, after smash $25,000 opener.
Imperial (C.T.) (1.339: 34-60)—

Good $16,000. after smash $25,000 opener.
Imperial (C.T.) (1,839; 34-60) —
"Denver Rio Grande" (Par) and
"Corporal Dolan AWOL" (Mono).
Dull $6,000. Last week, "Montana
Territory" (Col) and "Forbidden
Land" (Col); $7,000.
Orpheum (C.T.) (1,048; 34-60)—
"New Mexico" (UA) and "Taming of Dorothy" (UA). Average $7,000.
Last week, "3 For Bedroom C"
(WB) and "King Bullwhip" (WB),
$5,000.

'Noon' Great 24G In Mild Philly

Philadelphia, July 29.
Personals by Grace Kelly and Katy Jurado gave "High Noon" a fast start at Boyd's over the weekend, overflow helping nearby Warner houses. It is great on first week. "Diplomatic Courier" with upped scale of 85s-$1.20, proved a surprise Trans-Lux entry, first week being sock. "Frantis Goes To West Point" was yanked after one fairly good week at the Goldman. "Jumping Jacks" still is nice in third week at the Fox. "Will Rogers" is slow in initial holdover round at the Mastbaum.

Estimates for This Week
Aroadia (S&S) (625; 85-$1.20) —
"Scaramouche" (M-G) (7th wk). steady $5,000. Last week, $5,500.
Boyd (WB) (2,360; 50-99)—"High Noon" (UA). Lofty $24,000. Last week, "Pat and Mike" (M-G) (4th wk), nice $8,000.

Fox (20th) (2,250; 50-99)—"Jumping Jacks" (Par) (3d wk). Nice $17,000. Last week, big $20,000.
Goldman (Goldman) (1,200; 50-99)—"Francis To West Point" (U). Trim $10,000. Last week, "Anybody Seen My Gal" (U), $11,000.
Mastbaum (WB) (2,360; 50-99)—"Will Rogers" (WB) (2d wk). Slow $11,000. Last week, $17,000.
Mistown (Goldman) (1,000; 50-99)—"Storm Over Tibet" (Col) and "Red Snow" (Col). Drab $5,000.
Last week, "Cripple Creek" (Col), same.

Randolph (Goldman) (2,500; 50-99)—"We're Not Martied" (20th)

Last week, "Cripple Creek" (Col), same.

Randolph (Goldman) (2,500; 50-99) — "We're Not Married" (20th) (2d wk). Oke $13,000. Last week, $16,000.

Stanley (WB) (2,900; 50-99) — "King Kong" and "Leopard Man" (RKO) (reissues) (3d wk). Held at $15,000. Last week, hefty $17,000.

Stanton (WB) (1,473; 50-99) — "Valley of Eagles" (Lip). So-so $7,000. Last week, "Montana Territory" (Col), hurt by broken cooling system, $3,500.

Studie (Goldberg) (500; 50-99)—"Encore" (Par) (5th wk). Nice $2,500. Last week, about same.

Trans-Lux (T-L) (500; 85-$1.20)—"Diplomatic Courier" (20th). Sock $4,000. Last week, "Narrow Margin" (RKO) (4th wk), $3,000 in last 8 days.

'LOVELY' LOUD $10.000. PORT.; 'MARRIED' SAME

PORT.; 'MARRIED' SAME.

Portland, Ore., July 29.

Biz is still perking at all firstruns here this week. All but one have new entries. "Pat and Mike" still looks fast for second week at Broadway. "Lovely to Look At' shapes lusty while "We're Not Married" is just okay in two spots.
Cooler weather is helping boxoffice take.

Estimates for This Week
Broadway (Parker) (1,890; 65-90)
—"Pat and Mike" (M-G) and
"Glory Alley" (M-G) (2d wk). Fast
$9,000. Last week, $16,000.
Liberty (Hamrick) (1,850; 65-90)
—"Red River" (UA) and "Tulsa" (UA) (reissues). Fine $7,000. Last week, "Carbine Williams" (M-G) and "Confidence Girl" (UA) (6 days) (2d wk). $7,000.

Mayfair (Parker) (1,500; 65-90)—
"The Fighter" (UA) and "Red Planet Mars" (UA). Good $4,600.
Last week, "Working Way Through
(Continued on page 20)

At'l Marks Time But 'Angel' Sturdy $10,000 Mild Pix Dull Det.; 'Wilderness' Dim 18G, 'Francis' 11G, 'Jacks' Big 25G, 2d

Key City Grosses

Estimated Total Gross
This Week ... $2,136,760
(Based on 23 cities, 197 theatres, chiefly first runs, including N. Y.)
Total Gross Same Week
Last Year ... $2,436,000
(Based in 25 cities, and 208 theatres.)

'Jacks' Pacing L'ville, Hot 21G

Louisville, July 29.

Martin-Lewis combo in "Jumping Jacks" is setting town on fire this week, Rlaito having lines from opening day. This big house will turn in one of the greatest grosses of year, with smash $21,000 likely. Weather continues torrid but biz at downtown houses is brisk. "Walk East on Beacon" at the State shapes okay. Strand, with "Lady In Iron Mask," likewise is noting an upturn at the wicket, as is the Kentucky, where "Has Anybody Seen My Gal" is lively. "Working Way Through College" at Mary Anderson is doing all right on holdover. Estimates for This Week Kentucky (Switow) (1,000; 54-75)—"Anybody Seen My Gal" (1) and "Just Across The Street" (U). Solid $4,000. Last week, "No Room For Groom" (U) and "Torry Hunter" (U) (2d wk), $2,500.

Mary Anderson (People's)" (1,200; 54-75)—"Working Way Through College" (WB) (2d wk). Holding at nice $6,500 after last week's studry $8,500.

Rialto (Fourth Avenue) (1,000; 54-75)—"Jumping Jacks" (Par). Smash $27,000 or close. Last week's studry $8,500.

Rialto (Fourth Avenue) (1,000; 54-75)—"Jumping Jacks" (Par). Smash $27,000 or close. Last week's "Diplomatic Courier" (20th) and "Corporal Dolan Goes AWOL" (Rep), $8,000.

State (Loew's) (3,000; 54-75)—"Walk East On Reagon" (1) and

"Diplomatic Courier" (20th) and "Corporal Dolan Goes AWOL" (Rep), $1,000.

State (Loew's) (3,000; 54-75)—
"Walk East On Beacon" (Col) and "Sniper" (Col). Getting potent competish from Lewis-Martin across street, but still good at $8,500. Last week, "Lovely To Look At" (M-G) 1/2d wk), $2,000.

Strand (FA) (1,200; 54-75)—"Lady In Iron Mask" (20th) and "Fabulous Senorita" (Rep.) Okay $4,000.

Last week, "Tembo" (Indie) and "Narrow Margin" (RKO), $3,000.

Prov. Big Despite Heat; 'Jacks' Jumping $15,000, 'Rogers' 10G, 'Sniper' 8G

Providence, July 29.

Despite hot humid weather and TV convention here, local stands report biz as encouragingly strong. Topping the list is the Majestic's "Story of Will Rogers." The Strand is now in its second stand with "Jumping Jacks" after terrific opening round. Loew's State with "The Girl in White" looms mild.

Estimates for The Control of the Western Stand with "Estimates for The Control of the Providence of the Pr with "The Girl In White" looms mild.

Estimates for This Week
Albee (RKO) (2,200; 44-65)—
"The Sniper" (C01) and "Dark Command" (Rep). Fairly steady $8,000. Last week, "King Kong" (RKO) (reissue), solid $13,000.

Majestic (Fay) (2,200; 44-65)—
"Story of Will Rogers" (20th) and "Fabulous Senorita" (Rep). Fine $10,000. Last week, "Diplomatic Courier" (20th) and "3 for Bedroom C" (WB), $11,000.

State (Loew) (3,200; 44-65)—
"Girl In White" (M-G) and "Washington Story" (M-G) Mild $9,000.

Last week, "Pat and Mike" (M-G) and "White" (M-G) and "Holiday for Sinners" (M-G) (2d wk), $6,500.

Strand (Silverman) (2,200; 44-65)—
"Jumping Jacks" (Par). Second week opened Monday (28). First week was terrific $15,000.

'ROBIN' RICH $11,000, BUFF; 'DESIRE' DITTO

BUFF; PLNKE DITU

Buffalo, July 29.

Boxoffice is happy here this round, with three new entries shaping up favorably, and hold-overs continuing stoutly. "Island of Desire" looms good at the Buffalo while "Francis Goes To West Point" is likewise doing well at the Lafayette. "Robin Hood" also looks sturdy at the Century.

Estimates for This Week
Buffalo (Loews) (3,000; 40-70)—
"Island of Desire" (UA), Good (Continued on page 20)

Detroit, July 29.

Detroit, July 29.

Biz is slowing up from last week's good pace with "Jumping Jacks" at the Michigan leading the pack in second round. "Lure of Wilderness" is not alluring to the Fox patrons. "Wild Heart" looks like a weakle at the Palms. "Forms okay at the Palms. "I looms okay at the United Arists. "Callfornia Conquest" is slow at the Adams.

Estimates for This Week
Fex (Fox-Detroit) (5,000; 70-95).

"Lure of Wilderness" (20th) and "Red Snow" (Col). Unalluring $18.000.

Last week, "Green Glove" (UA) plus Jackie Gleason onstage, $45,000.

Michigan (United Detroit) (4,000; 70-95).—"Jumping Jacks" (Par) and "Brigand" (Col) (2d wk). Fine $25.000.

Last week, $30,000.

Palms (UD) (2,961; 70-95).—"Wild Heart" (RKO) and "Dark Man" (Indie). Slow $10,000. Last week, "Ivory Hunter" (U) and "Bronco Buster" (U), $8,500.

Madison (UD) (1,900; 70-95).—"Francis To West Point" (U) and "Jet Joh" Monol. Okay $11,000.

Adam (Balaban) (1,700; 70-95).—"Francis To West Point" (U) and "Glory Trail" (M-G). Slow $7,500.

Last week, "Caramouche" (M-G) (36th wk), $3,000.

'Jacks' Wow 12G In Torrid Omaha

Omaha, July 29.

"Jumping Jacks" at the Orpheum is way out in the lead for a torrid session here despite hot weather. "Skirts Ahoy" looks nifty at the small State. The Brandels with "Story of Robin Hood," shapes fine. The Omaha's "San Francisco Story" and "Three for Bedroom C" looms nice. Drive-ins are all doing well because of heat.

Estimates For This Week Orpheum (Fristates) (3,000; 16-70)—"Jumping Jacks" (Pap.) Socko $12,000 or better. Last week, "Diplomatic Courier" (20th) and "Fort Defiance" (UA), $8,500.

Omaha (Tristates) (2,100; 16-70)—"San Francisco Story" (WB) and "3 for Bedroom C" (WB). Fine $8,000. Last week, "Lovely Look At" (M-G) (3d wk), $7,000.

State (Goldberg) (865; 25-76)—"Skirts Ahoy" (M-G). Strong $7,000. Last week, "Carbine Williams" (M-G) and "When in Rome" (M-G) (2d wk), $5,000.

Brandels (RKO) (1,500; 16-70)—"Story of Robin Hood" (RKO-Disney). Nice $8,500. Holds. Last week, "Walk East on Beacon" (Col) and "Brave Warrior" (Col), $5,500.

'Jacks' Tall $32,000 In Hub; 'Noon' Great 17G, 'Courier' Nice at 18G

Courier' Nice at 186

Boston, July 29.

Despite midsummer heat, downtown major spots are doing okay this stanza with "Jumping Jacks" at Met shaping as leader. "Lovely to Look At" at Orpheum and State opened up nicely while "Diplomatic Courier" at Memorial, looks solid, "High Noon" at Astor also is smash, soaring way over advance hopes.

Estimates for This Week
Astor (B&Q) (1,500; 50-95)—
"High Noon" (UA). Nifty reaction to this one, wow $17,000 shaping, Last week, "Sally and St. Anne" (U) (4th wk), $2,300. "Noon" landed biggest Sunday since "Pinky" (20th).

Beacon Hill (Beacon Hill) (682-50-90)—"Run for Money" (U) and "Happlest Days of Life" (Regal) (2d wk). Good $3,300 following nice $4,500 for first.

Boston (RKO) (3,000; 40-85)—
"King, Kong" (RKO) and "Leopard Man" (RKO) (reissues) (2d wk). Second week of 9 days will wind up big $14,000 or over. First was sock $24,000.

Excter (Indie) (1,300; 60-80)—"Laughter in Paradise" (Indie) (2d wk). Holding at near $3,200. Last week, oke $4,000.

Fenway (NET) (1,873; 40-85)—"Lady in Iron Mask" (20th) and "Dolan Goss AWOL" (Mono) Mild $3,500. Last week, "Working Way Through College" (WB) and "Wagons West" (Mono), (2d wk), good $4,500.

Memorial (RKO) (3,000; 40-85)—
(Continued on page 20)

H.O.s, Dem Convention Fail to Hurt Chi, 'Girl'-'Story' Passable $13,000, 'Francis' Hep 16G, 'Clash' 14G in 2d

While there is only one new entry in the Loop this week, the hold-overs show up abnormally strong. Good weather and seeming lack of interference from the Democratic convention (some say it helped) are pushing grosses to some of best figures in months. "Francis Goes to West Point," hacked by "Lady in Iron Mask," at the Roose-velt is leading the second weekers with sock exploitation tied with the political confab to get solid $16,000. The Grand also has an energetic second frame in "Clash By Night" and "Yank in Indo-China" at perky $14,000. Lone new bill is "Girl in White" and "Washington Story" at United Artists with passable $13,000.

United Artists with passable $13,-900.

Palace is doing fine with "Greatest Show on Earth" headed for bright $18,000 in 12th stanza. "We're Not Married" at the Woods winds up three-week stand at nice $12,-900. Second stint of "She's Worthing Way Through college" and vaude at Chicago is down to okay total.

Estimates for This Week
Chicago (B&K) (3,900; 98)—
"Working Way Through College"
(WB) with vaude show (2d wk).
Off to $30,000. Last week, great

Grand (RKO) (1,500; 55-98)—
"Clash By Night" (RKO) and "Yank in Indo-China" (RKO) (2d wk). Excellent $14,000. Last week, $18,000.

Palace (Eitel) (2,500; 98.$1.25)—
"Greatest Show" (Par) (12th wk).
Still as staunch as ever with $18,1000. Last week, $19,000.

Rossevet (B&K) (1,500; 55-98)—
"Francis To West Point" (U) and
"Lady in Iron Mask" (20th) (2d wk), Booming $16,000. Last week, giant $23,000.

State-Lake (B&K) (2,700; 55-98)
"Lovely Look At" (M-G) (3d wk).
Just poking along at $13,000. Last week, $16,000.

Surf (H&E Balaban) (587; 98)—
"Outcast of Islands" (Lop) (5th wk). Neat $3,000. Last week, $3,800.

United Artists (B&K.) (1,700; 55-98)—"Girl in White" and "Wash-ington Story" (M-G). Okay $13,000. Last week, "Something to Live For" (Par) plus "Love Moods" (In-die) and "Models, Inc." (Indie) (2d wk), $14,000.

Woods (Essaness) (1,073; 98)—
"We're Not Married" (20th) (3d wk). Perky $13,000. Last week, $16,000.

World (Indie) (587; 98)-2"Young and Damned" (Indie) (2d wk). Finest biz in six months, lusty $6,000. Last week, $7,000.

'Knock' Robust $14,000, Frisco; 'Married' Okay $18,000, 'Jacks' 15G, 2d

$18,000, 'Jacks' 15G, 2d San Francisco, July 29.
Considering the Chi convention competition, biz is generally good here this session. Top newcomer is "Don't Bother to. Knock," sturdy at St. Francis. "We're Not Married" rates okay in eight days at the Fox. Elsewhere it is largely hold-over. Best of these are "Jumping Jacks" at Paramount and "King Kong" at Golden Gate, both holding remarkably well. "Pat and Mike" looms good in abbreviated holdover of third week at Warfield. Estimates for This Week Golden Gate (RKO) (2,850; 65-95)—"King Kong" (RKO) (reissues) (2d wk). Held at $13,000. Last week, sensational $29,000.
Fox (FWC) (4,651; 65-95)—"We're Not Married" (20th) and "Tough Girl" (Rep.) Okay $18,000 in 8 days. Last week, "Uplomatic Courier" (20th) and "Flesh and Blood" (Indie), $13,500.

Warfield (Loew's) (2,656; 65-95)—"Pat and Mike" (M-G) (3d .wk). Good $9,000 in 5 days. Last week, "Paramount (Par) (2,646; 85-95)—"Dumping Locks" (20th) South Courier" (20th) and "Flesh and Blood" (1000 in 5 days. Last week, "Paramount (Par) (2,646; 85-95)—"Dumping Locks" (20th) South South Courier" (20th) and "Flesh and Blood" (1000 in 5 days. Last week, "Paramount (Par) (2,646; 85-95)—"Dumping Locks" (2,656) (55-95)—"Dumping Locks" (2,656)

Estimates Are Net

Film gross estimates as re-ported herewith from the variported herewith from the vari-ous key cities, are net; i. e., without the 20% tax. Distrib-utors share on net take, when playing, percentage, hence the estimated figures are net in-

The parenthetic admission prices, however, as indicated, include the U. S. amusement tax.

'Francis' Smart $23,000, Denver

Denver, July 29.

"Francis Goes to West Point" is standout this session with big takings for two houses, as biz generally is shaping good among firstruns here. "The Fighter" looks fine in two houses while "Working Way Through College" continues big in second week at the Paramount. "Scaramouche" looks nice in second round at the Broadway, and stays a third.

Estimates for This Week

Estimates for This Week

Estimates for This Week
Aladdin (Fox) (1,400; 40-85) —
"River" (UA) and "Song in My Heart" (20th). Fine $8,000. Last week, "Ivory Hunter" (U) and "Just Across Street" (U), good $7,500.

Broadway (Wolfberg) (1,200; 4085) — "Scaramouche" (M-G) (2d wk), Nice $10,000. Last week,
big $14,000.

Denham (Cockrill) (1,750; 40-85)

Denham (Cockrill) (1,750; 40-85)
—"Jumping Jacks" (Par) (3d wk).
Held at $8,000. Last week, oke $9,500.

$9,500.

Denver (Fox) (2,525; 40-85) —

"Francis To West Point" (U) and

"One Big Affair" (U), day-date with Esquire. Big $19,000. Last week, "Lydia Bailey" (20th) and

"Return Frank James" (20th), fair week, "Lydia Bailey" (20th) and "Return Frank James" (20th), fair $13,000.

Esquire (Fox) (742; 40-85) — "Francis To West Point" (U) and "One Big Affair" (U). Tall $4,000.

Last week, "Lydia Bailey" (20th), and "Return Frank James" (20th), $2,500.

Orpheum (RKO) (1,200; 40-85)— "Robin Hood" (RKO) (2d wk).

Down sharply to $8,000 or less.

Last week, fine $16,000.

Paramount (Fox) (2,200; 40-85)— "Working Way Through College" (WB) (2d wk). Big $11,500. Last week, big $16,500.

Tabor (Fox) (1,967; 40-85)— "Fighter" (UA) and "Red Planet Mars" (UA), day-date with Webber, Fine $9,000. Last week, "Ivory Hunter" (U) and "Just Across Street" (U), good $8,000.

Vogue (Pike) (600; 60-85)— "Pennywhistle Blues" (Indie). Fair $2,000. Last week, "Adventuress" (Indie), $1,500.

"Fighter" (UA), also Tabor. Nice $4,500. Last week, "Ivory Hunter" (UA), also Tabor. Nice $4,500. Last week, "Ivory Hunter" (UA), also Tabor. Nice $4,500. Last week, "Ivory Hunter" (U) and "Just Across Street" (U), good $7,500.

'Robin Hood' Socko 11G, K.C.; 'Sally' Oke $13,000,

Kansas City, July 29.

Picture grosses are on the brighter side here this round with "Robin Hood" leading at the Missouri in a sock week, first at the house in a long time. Four Fox Midwest houses with "Sally and Saint Anne" shapes okay. Holdover of "Lovely To Look At" at Midland and "Jumping Jacks at Midland and "Jumping Jacks at Midland and "Jumping in fine biz. Summer's heat peak of 103 reached on Friday; hence, the heat has not hurt.

Good $9,000 in 5 days. Last week, $12,000.

Paramount (Par) (2,646; 65-95)"Jumping Jacks" (Par) (2d wk).
Strong $15,000. Last week, smash $29,000.

St. Francis (Par) (1,400; 65-95)Don't Bother to Knock" (20th).
Fine $14,000. Last week, "Paula" (Col), $10,000.

Orpheum (No. Coast) (2,448; 65-95)"Anybody Seen My Gal" (U).
Mid $10,000. Last week, "Brigand" (Col) and "Last Train Bombay" (Col), $9,000.

United Artists (No. Coast) (1,207; (Continued on page 20)

'North Country' Preem Fine $8,000 in Mpls.

Mineapolis, July 29.

Mineapolis, July 29.

With the tough Aquatennial festival competition and Dem national convention out of the way, the boxoffice here is starting to look up. It's showing some improvement, but far from great this session. New entries of particular attention are "Lovely to Look At" and "Encore" but doing best is "Woman of the North Country" at the State, helped by world preem bally.

Estimates for This Weck

of the North Country at the State, helped by world preem bally.

Estimates for This Week

Century (Par) (1,600; 50-76)—
"Diplomatic Courier" (20th) (m.o.).
Okay $4,000. Last week, "Anybody Seen My Gal" (U) (2d wk), $4,500.
Gopher (Berger) (1,000; 50-76)—
"Cairo Road" (Indie). Slow.$3,500.
Last week, "Washington Story" (M-G), $3,200.

Lyric (Par) (1,000; 50-76)—"Red River" (UA) and "Tulsa" (UA) (reissues). Okay $4,500. Last week, "Without Warning" (UA) and "One Big Affair" (UA), $4,000.

Radio City (Par) (4,000; 50-76)—
"Lovely Look At" (M-G). Fairly good $11,000. Last week, "Diplomatic Courier" (20th), $9,000.

RKO-Orpheum (RKO) (2,800; 40-matic Courier" (20th), $9,000.

RKO-Orpheum (RKO) (2,900; 40-76) — "Captain Pirate" (Col) and "Montana Territory" (Col). Slow $6,000. Last week, "Francis To West Point" (U), $7,500.

State (Par) (2,300; 50-76) — "Woman of North Country" (Rep). Given boff world preem campaign. Big opening night festivities and Aquatennial tieln along with presence of Rex Allen, Rod Cameron, Ruth Hussey, J. Carrol Naish for blowoff all helped. Nice $8,000 or near. Dream of Jeanie" (Rep), $4,500.

World (Mann) (400: 85-$1 20) —

World (Mann) (400; 85-$1.20) — "Encore" (Par). Healthy $4,000. Last week, "Latuko" (Indie), $3,000.

Francis' Fat 14G, St. L.; Lovely' 20G

St. Louis, July 29.
With temperature soaring above 100 degrees over the past weekend, biz perked up here as natives sought relief from the heat. "Lovely to Look At" is rated sock at Loew's while "Francis Goes to West Point" wound up a fancy week at the Fox last Monday (28). "Diplomatic Courier" looms neat at the Ambassador. "Working Way Through College" still is fine in second week at the Missouri.

Estimates for This Week

Estimates for This Week

second week at the Missouri.

Estimates for This Week
Ambassador (F&M) (3,000; 6075)—"Diplomatic Courier" (20th)
and "Scarlet Angel" (U). Neat
$11,000. Last week, "Anybody
Seen My Gal" (U) and "Red Ball
Express" (U), $10,000.

Fox (F&M) (5,000; 60-75)—
"Story of Will Rogers" (WB) and "Half Breed" (RKO). Opened today (Tues.). Last week, "Francis
To West Point" (U) and "Ivory
Hunter" (U), fancy $14,000.

Loew's (Loew) (3,172; 50-75)—
"Lovely Look At" (M-G). Sock
$20,000. Last week, "Pat and Mike" (M-G) (2d wk), $12,500.

Missouri (F&M) (3,500; 60-75)—
"Working Way Through College"
(WB) and "Pace That Thrills"
(WRO) (2d wk). Fine $11,000 following big $14,000 initial session.

Pageant (St. L. Amus.) (1,000;
75-90)—"My Son John" (Par) (2d wk). Held at $3,000, following big $4,000 opening stanza.
Shady Oak (St. L. Amuse.) (80,75-90)—"My Son John" (Par) (2d wk). Still big at after $4,500.

B'way Up; 'Jacks'-Vaude Terrif 117G, 'Dreamboat'-Bennett-Foster Big 105G, 'Noon' Sock 44G, 'Carrie' 30G in 2d

Broadway first-run, business this session. Cooler weather brought a sharp jump in trade, possibly more out-of-town visitors contributing to this. Saturday was unusually strong, and some rain Sunday slowed a return to torrid conditions. Additional rain late Monday (28) night also kept the mercury withir reason.

Many theatre managers rated the prolonged hot weather more of a bugaboo than the Democratic convention in Chicago although balloting on actual nominees Friday night hurt some theatres badly as prospective patrons stayed home to watch it on TV.

Three new bills all are smash. The Martin & Lewis starrer, "Jumping Jacks," with Don Cornell and Billiot Lawrence band heading the stageshow, soared to a terrific $117,000 at the Paramount to pace the street in its first week. Although launched on the final day of the long heat wave, the Martin-Lewis comedy got off strongly and picked up momentum thereafter.

Also smash is "Dreamboat," with Tony Bennett and Phil Foster topping the stage bill plus iceshow at the Roxy. It is heading for a great $105,000 after racking up the best non-holiday weekend in about a year at this house.

Backed; by a smart, extensive advance campaign, "High Noon" is the third big newcomer. It looks to thing a socko $44,000 or close to the Mayfair. Excellent reviews also helped.

"Carrie" continued great at the Capitol with $30,000 for the second week. "Don't Bother To Knock" also held well at $15,000 in second round at the Globe. Initial holdover stanza for "Story of Will Rogers" also was respectable at $14,000 at the Astor.

"Where's Charley?", with $108,000, being supplanted by "Ivanhoe" and new stageshow tomorrow (Thurs.).

"Affair in Trinidad" opens today at the Victoria after nine very

'Noon' Huge $17,000 In

Noon' Huge $17,000 In

Toronto; 'Jacks' 15G, 2d

Toronto, July 29.

"High Noon" is pacing the town for the newcomers with smash total at the Odeon flagship. "Jumping Jacks" is close behind in second stanza with big returns at the Imperial. "Scaramouche" and "She's Working Her Way Through College" are also healthy holdovers, with film biz generally good this week.

Estimates for This Week
Crest, Downtown, Glendale, Mayfair, Scarboro, State (Taylor) (863; 1,059; 955; 470; 698; 694; 35-60)—
"Lion and Horse" (WB) and "One Big Affair" (UA). Light $10,000.
"Just This Once" (M-G) and "Three Musketeers" (U), same.
Eginton (FP) (1,080; 40-80)—
"Narrow Margin" (RKO) (3d wt). Fair $5,500. Last week, $6,500.
Imperial (FP) (3,373; 50-80)—
("Jumping Jacks" (Par) (2d wt). Big $15,000. Last week, $23,500.

Loew's (Loew) (2,748; 50-60)—
(Continued on page 20)

Lovely' Fair 8G in 2d Gleason-TV Unit Boost 'Sinners' To Terrif $22,000, Cincy; 'Heart' 11G

Cincinnati, July 29.
Major houses are ignoring the dog days here currently. Threeday addition of Jackie Gleason and his video supporters at the flagship Albee plus "Holiday Sinners" supplied lots of steam for this session. It was followed by fast start of "Story of Will Rogers" for week's run there. "Wild Heart" looks like an above-par entry for the Palace. Grand also is heading for solid returns with "Washington Story" while the Lyric has a winning moveover in "Robin Hood."

Estimates for This Week ship Albee plus "Holiday Sinners" supplied lots of steam for this session. It was followed by fast start of "Story of Will Rogers" for week's run there. "Wild Heart" (Mrsc) (Mrsc) and "Breakdown" (Mrsc) Solid $8,000. Last week, "Paula" (Col) and "Breakdown" (Mrsc) Solid $8,000. Last week, "Paula" (Col) and "Breakdown" (Mrsc) Solid $8,000. Last week, "Paula" (Col) and "Breakdown" (Mrsc) Solid $8,000. Last week, "Paula" (Col) and "Mrsc) (Mrsc) (Mrs vance campaign, with generous lift from dailies, helped override summer doldrums. "Will Rogers" opened Monday (28). Last week, "Robin Hood" (RKO), eight days, big $17,000.

Grand (RKO) (1,400; 55-75)—
"Washington Story" (M-G) and "Breakdown" (M-G). Solid $8,000.
Last week, "Paula" (Col) and "Whistle at Eaton Falls" (Col), $7,500.

Lyric (RKO) (1,400; 55-75)—
"Across Wide Missouri" (M-G) and

Break in the 13-day record heat profitable weeks of "Walk East on wave last Thursday (24) and some Beacon" at this house, "Glory new, strong product are boosting Alley" teed off yesterday (Tues.) Broadway first-run business this at the State while "Strange Ones" session. Cooler weather brought went into the Parls on Monday a sharp lump in trade, possibly (28).

Estimates for This Week

Astor (City Inv.) (1,300; 70-1.50)
—"Story of Will Rogers" (WB) (3d wk). Initial_holdover round ended last night (Tues.) dipped to okay $14,000. First round was $19,000.

okay $14,000. First round was $19,000.
Capitol (Loew's) (4,820; 70-$1.50)
—"Carrie" (Par) 3d wir). First holdover stanze ended last night (Tues.) held to big $30,000 or near. Initial week was smash $42,000, but not as great as originally anticipated. Great campaign aided in getting smash opening for pic.

Criterion. (Moss) (1,790; 50-18,180)—"Robin Hood" ("CO-Disney) (5th wk). Current frame ending with $21,000; highly satisfactory in view of length of run. Fourth week was $27,000. Stays on.

Fine Arts (Davis). (568; 90-18,00 m) (700 m) (110 m) (111 m) (111 m). Held with $4,800 after $5,200 for 10th stanza.

Globe (Brandt) (1,500; 50-

Globe (Brandt) (1,500; 50-$1,50)—"Dont Bother To Knock" (20th) (2d wk). Holding in fine fashion with $15,000 after sock $26,000 opening week.

$26,000 opening week.

Mayfair (Brandt) (1,736; 50$1.50) - "High Noon" (UA). Initial round ending today (Wed.) is soaring to terrific $44,000 or near, best here in months. Holding. In ahead, "Anybody Seen My Gal" (U) (3d wk), $5,000.

Normandie (Normandie Theatres) (592; 95-$1.80) - "Encore"
(Par) (18th wk). The 17th session ended last night (Tues.) continued in great style at $5,200 after $6,700 for 18th week.

Palace (RKO) (1,700: 75-$140)

Palace (RKO) (1,700; 75-$1.40)
—"Brigand" (Col) and 3 acts of vaude. Heading for $17,000 or close. Last week, "Shadow in Sky" (M-G) with vaude, $15,000. Both weeks represent no profit for house

Both weeks represent no profit for house.

Paramount (Par) (3,664; 80-$1.80)—"Jumping Jacks" (Par) with Don Cornell, Elliot Lawrence orch heading stageshow (2d wk). Initial stanza ended last night (Tues.) landed sockeroo $117,000. Last week, "Working Way Through. College" (WB), with Jan Murray, Modernaires, Neal Hett orch (2d wk). $48,000.

Park Ave. (Reade) (583; 90-$1.50)—"Island Rescue" (U) (5th wk). Still good at $5,100 in fourth frame ended Sunday (27) after $5,700 for third.

Paris (Indie) (563; $1.25-$1.80)
—"Strange Ones" (Mayer) Opened Monday (23). Last week, "Ways of Love" (Burstyn) (6th wk), dipped to $4,000 after okay $5,500 for fifth week.

Radio City Music Hall (Rocke-

Love" (Burstyn) (ctn wk), dipped to $4,000 after okay $5,500 for fifth week.

Radio City Music Hall (Rockefellers) (5,945; 80-$2.40)—"Where's Charley?" (WB) with stageshow (5th-final wk). Off to $108,000 after okay $116,000 for fourth frame, Winds-up highly profitable run today (Wed). "Ivanhoe" (M-G) opens tomorrow (Thurs.) with new stageshow.

Rosy (20th) (5,386; 80-$2.20) — "Dreamboat" (20th) with Tony Bennett, Phil Foster heading stageshow (Thurs.) likely will hit terrific $105,000. Holds with house set to retain bill for third week although originally booked only for two weeks. Last week, "We're Not Married" (20th) plus Rochester, Richard Hayes, iceshow (2d wk), $78,000.

State (Loews) (3,450; 55-$1.25)—"Gloyy Alley" (M-G). Opened yesterday (Tues.). In a head, "Paulia" (Col) (2d wk) held at $8,000 with boost from preview of "Alley." First week was slow $10,000. R & B) (561; 90-$1.50)—"Man in White Suit" (U) (17th wk).

Sutton (R & B) (561; 90-$1.50)—
"Man in White Suit" (U) (17th wk).
Holding at $7,600 in 16th session ended Monday (28) after $8,500 for

HOW BIG IS IVAN

Nationwide Praise Begins Reaching Countless Millions!

"M-G-M has a real hit in 'Ivanhoe'." —HEDDA HOPPER's nationally syndicated column

"A great picture."—LOUELLA PARSONS' nationally syndicated column

"Tops 'Quo Vadis'. Greatest spectacle in a decade."

-LOUIS SOBOL's nationally syndicated column

"Out-Quo Vadises 'Quo Vadis'."-EARL WILSON's nationally syndicated column

"Better than 'Quo Vadis'."—Nationally distributed N. Y. SUNDAY MIRROR

"Terrific for Robert Taylor."—SHEILA GRAHAM's nationally syndicated column

"Picture of the Month."—CHRISTIAN HERALD

"Picture of the Month."-PARENTS' MAGAZINE

"Thrilled yours truly."-FRANK FARRELL's Scripps-Howard column in N. Y. World-Telegram and Sun

"Clashing tournament scenes are pulse-pounding and the storming of the castle is as rousing a battle as has been filmed in recent years."

-LOOK MAGAZINE

"Best Drama of the Month."—LOUELLA PARSONS in Cosmopolitan Magazine

"Handsome, exciting Technicolor Movie."-woman's Home companion

"A Movie of the Month. Robert Taylor fights, rides and loves his way to glory."—AMERICAN MAGAZINE

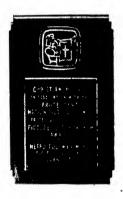

"Picture of the Month."-REDBOOK MAGAZINE

HOE"

EVERY DAY IT GROWS BIGGER AND BIGGER!

"Sock 4th Week!" SAYS VARIETY!

After breaking a 23-year record in its London World Premiere opening, its business continues socko in 5th big week!

THE HONORS BEGIN!
(Left) Christian Herald Award
(Above) Parents' Magazine Medal

PUBLICITY PENETRATION TOPS!

Film Research Surveys, Inc. reports remarkable "Want-to-see" total in public poll in Cleveland, typical of eagerly waiting audiences in first five pre-release engagements.

GIANT N. Y. CAMPAIGN LAUNCHES "IVANHOE" AT MUSIC HALL!

NEVER A SHOW LIKE "IVANHOE"!

Mex City Studio Technicians Delay Strike; Seek 75% Pay Hike, Benefits

Mexico City, July 29.

Although the strike against the film studios here, set for July 24, was moved back a week, optimism has not returned to the trade. Federal board of conciliation and arbitration induced postponement of the tieup until July 31. This would allow confabs that may peacefully settle the squabble, the demand of the technical and manual workers locals of the Picture Production (STPC) for a 75% pay hike, 10 more days paid annual vacations for help with more than 16 years service and more free medical service and more free medical service and medicines.

service and more tree medicar service and medicines.

The studios reiterated to the board that they can't meet these terms. These may be good times for the Mexican film biz, but they are far from bonanza days, the stu-

are far from bonance uays, and still dios claim.

STPC members, including pic players, insist they will strike in sympathy if the tech and manual help walks out.

Producers have the added head-Producers have the added headache of a threat to strike by some 1,500 extras coincident with the studio worker walkout. They want their daily pay minimum hiked to $5.78. It is now $2.31. Extras also demand more pay for wearing formal outfits for pix.

'Wind' Set for Japanese Release After Dispute: Ready Other Big U.S. Pix

Metro's Japan representative, Eddie O'Connor, has mediated the bitter battle between the Toho and Shochiku circuits for the roadshow rights to "Gone With the Wind," by authorizing distribution in Toktoka to the former and allocating the by authorizing distribution in Tokyo to the former and allocating the Kansai area (Osaka-Kobe-Nagoya) to Shochiku. Tokyo will see the film for 10 weeks beginning Aug.
29; Kansai gets it for 13 weeks, beginning Sept. 4. Other U. S. distributors have set releases for the next few months.

Metro's schedule of releases for this year includes "fvanhoe,"
"Scaramouche," "Billy the Kid,"
"Fiesta, "Forsythe "Woman,"
"Across Wide Missouri," "Devil's Doorway," "Singing' in Rain" and "Carbine Williams."
Paramount releases cover "Place

Doorway," "Singing' in Rain" and "Carbine Williams."
Paramount releases cover "Place in Sun," "For Whom Bell Tolls," and "My Favorite Spy."
RKO has set "The Outlaw" and "Tarzan's Magic Mountain" for release in October. This will be first opportunity for U. S. forces to see "Outlaw" in Japan because Army Motion Picture Service has never released the film in Army theatres here. In January, RKO will release "Ft. Apache," "Cloak and Dagger" and "Macao." UA's "High Noon" and "He Ran All Way" will be first-run released. "Cloak and 20th-Fox September release schedule includes "Kiss of Death," "Five Fingers," "Sentimental Journcy" and "David and Bathsheba." Columbia will release "Texas" late this month. Warner's "Inspector General" comes in mid-September." "African Queen" (UA) is set for roadshow starting Aug. 15.

SCOTTISH PIX SET FOR EDINBURGH FESTIVAL

Edinburgh, July 22.

New Technicolor pic about Edinburgh, describing pageantry of the Scot capital and made by London Film Productions, will preem at the International Film Festival here Aug. 18, with the Duke of Edinburgh, consort of Britain's Queen Elizabeth, in the gala audience. Ambassadors, ministers and high commissioners from many different countries will also attend the first screening.

e first screening. Walter Elliott, leading Scot meem-

IMEX. Tourist Spending

Mexico City, July 22.

Lions' world conclave here
boosted coin spending in June.

Local banking circles say June tourists, featuring the Lions' meetmigniand Laddie." Former was produced for the British Transport

Commission. The latter, scripted
by Robert Kemp, has been filmed
by Campbell Harper Productions of Edinburgh.

IMEX. Tourist Spending

Mexico City, July 22.

Lions' world conclave here
boosted coin spending in June tourists, featuring the Lions' meetmigniand Laddie." Former was produced for the British Transport
Commission. The latter, scripted
by Robert Kemp, has been filmed
by Campbell Harper Productions
of Edinburgh. Walter Elliott, leading Scot member of Parliament, has written the commentary. Pic shows the flood-lit Edinburgh Castle, march past of troops and pipers, and excerpts from the military events held here at Festival time each fall.

Two other Scot pix set for screening at the Festival here are "The Heart is Highland and "Highland Laddle." Former was produced for the British Transport Commission. The latter, scripted

Zarah Leander Back In Favor Again in Sweden

Stockholm, July 22.

After incurring public disfavor for her frequent appearances in Nazi-made films during the past war, Zarah Leander (known as Nazi-made films during the past war, Zarah Leander (known as "Die Zarah") apparently again is welcome with Swedish theatre-goers. She recently opened in a show with Karl Gerhard at the Circus Hall and registered solidly. Miss Leander's years in Nazi pic-tures are finally forgotten, the crix wrote the next day in appraising the Circus Hall production. More-over, the actress will soon start a the Circus Hall production. More-over, the actress will soon start a new film to be made in South America and Africa, according to her manager, Harry Heidemaann.

Italo Pix Biz To Resist TV

Television is starting out slowly in Italy, and the problem is how it will be developed and who will be in authority. The Ministry of Telecommunications announced here this week that TV exists now only in the region of Milan and Turin but soon will spread to all provinces of the country. The coaxial cable will run down the boot of Milan and the country of the country of the country.

axial cable will run down the hot of Italy from the northern cities. For the time being, the national radio setup, RAI (Radio Audition Italian) will head the administration; technically and artistically, of TV.

Film circles, which are studying the new medium, expect a bitter fight in the near future or as soon as Italian tele is fully established. Signs of this attitude of the local pix biz was revealed when several American film buyers arrived here to purchase local product for disto purchase local product for dis-tribution in America. They were told by the owners of the Italo product that only film rights are product that only than are to for sale.

Asked why the pictures could not be bought outright, including TV rights, the Italians explained they had some plans of their own. Other local film leaders ander the impression that their own. Other local film leaders are under the impression that American television is so wealthy that TV distribs can afford to pay fabulous prices for their pictures regardless of actual worth.

One Italian company, financed by the owner of a large coffee bar, made two pilot pictures for American TV. Producer, director and crew as well as some of the actors speak no English. It was dubbed in later at recording studies.

LUBIN WOULD FILM JACOBS' YARN IN BRIT

London, July 29.

Bernard Lubin, in London on the last lap of a European vacation, is talking a deal with major British producers for the filming of a story based on W. W. Jacobs' "The Interruption." The Universalor a story based on w. W. Jacobs. "The Interruption." The Universal-International director owns the property personally and would retain the western hemisphere rights. If the deal matures, Lubin would direct and bring over a femme star from Hollywood.

In view of the large number of exteriors required for the film, lensing would not start before next spring. Lubin Intends, as far as possible, to shoot most of the interiors in homes rather than use studio sets.

Lions' Conclave Lifts Mex. Tourist Spending

Col. to Do 2 Alan Ladd Productions in Britain

Columbia is the latest major Hollywood outfit to launch bigscale British production, teeing off with two Alan Ladd starrers which will be made under the banner of Warwick Pictures, new organization headed by Irving Allen and Cubby Broccoli.

Ladd is due here next month, and starts work on the first, "The Red Beret," on Sept. 1. Terence Young will direct from a screenplay by Frank Nugent. "Beret" will be followed by "The White. South," based on Hammond Innes' novel about the whaling industry. novel about the whaling industry Both will be in Technicolor.

U. S. Pix Still Bucking Handicaps in B. Aires; Big Arg. Film Grosses

Big Arg. Film Grosses

Buenos Aires, July 22.

It's now become an accepted fact here that American distributors will only wrest exhibition licenses from the Entertainment Board at a snall's pace, and there's a certain amount of resignation on the subject.

Local producers are given every opportunity of grabbing the best playing time, so that releases of platures like "All About Eve" or "Adam's Rib" have to be post-poned time and again.

The Terbis Co. announced it has 10 German pictures ready for release, and it's certain that better playing time will be available for them than for films from Anglo-Saxon countries.

Some of the local productions are hitting the boxoffice jackpot, possibly because they deal with morbid themes. One of these is "Deshonra" ("Dishonou") (Interamericana) which has grossed $105,075 in four out of seven weeks at the Gran Rex. Pic has an unsually frank treatment of the perversion angle in a woman's prison.

Another local production with perversion angle in a woman's prison.

Another local production with an unusually long run is "La Bestia debe Morir" ("The Beast Must Die") (Argentina Sono Film), adapted from an Anthony Blake mystery story. Picture has run seven weeks at the Monumental Theatre and had grossed $56,050 up to the end of the fifth week.

Hollywood films of "A" rating available at present are "Joan of Arc" (RKO) and "Cyrano de Bergerac" (UA), but they're being exhibited day-and-date at small theatres without the deluxe facilities of houses assigned local product. In Rosario, capital city of Santa Fe, despite the economic depression, "Joan of Arc" made a record gross of $14,033 in the first two weeks.

2D UNIT AT WORK ON 'HOLIDAY' IN ROME

Rome, July 22.

Paramount, which has "Roman Holiday," the "Gregory Peck-Audrey Hepburn starrer, now in production here, is placing a second unit into activity for the next few weeks. Second one, which will lens location shots in and around Rome, is headed by Italian director Luciano Emmer. Emmer has directed "One Sunday in August" and "Girls of Piazza di Spagna."

"Holiday" director, William Wyder, has been working outside, mostly on night shots, for three weeks, and went to the Cine-Citta studios last week for the first interiors.

Pfc Nakamura in Tokyo For Nipponese Pic Stint

For Nipponese Pic Stint
Tokyo, July 22.

Nisei actor Henry Nakamura, undersized soldier with the oversized pants in M-G's "Go For Broke" and immigrant teamster in "Westward the Women," is in Tokyo on 60 days temporary duty from his Korea assignment as Pfc.
with the 521st Military Intelligence Service platoon. He's here to play a part in the Daiei film, "Forever
My Love," being megged by vet
Hollywood director Paul Sloan.
Film, dealing with escapades of two servicemen on duty in the Far East Command, stars Mitsuko
Kimura, cover girl for Life maga-

East Command, stars Mitsuko Kimura, cover girl for Life maga-zine's recent Asia edition, Also appearing in the picture are Metro's Chris Drake, of "Battle-ground,"

M-G's Eckman Vindicated in Empire Default, Rated Pro-British American

Warsaw Pix-Making In Sharp Upbeat; 3 in Prod.

Sharp Upbeat, 3 in Prod.

Warsaw, July 22.

Three pictures are before the cameras in the studios of Film Polski here, Trio includes "Soldier of Victory," "A Day in Warsaw" and a musical tentatively titled, "Mariensztadt Accident." Latter is said to be Poland's first feature-length film in color.

Directed by Wanda Jakubowska, "Victory" is described as a two-part biography of Gen. Karol Walter-Swierczewski, covering his participation in the Spanish Civil War and the period up to March 28, 1947 when he was assassinated. "A Day in Warsaw" is based upon performances given at two of the Polish capital's theatres, the Satirical and Sirena. The three pix now rolling represents a sharp upbeat in production.

'Iwo Jima' Socko In 13 Nip Houses

Tokyo, July 22.

"Sands of Iwo Jima," 20th-Fox thriller of the last war, ended a 12-day first-run date here with a smash $51,430, playing at eight theatres. Over 314,000 people here saw the watered-down version of the pic originally released eaverage. the pic originally released several

the pic originally released several years ago,
"Desert Fox" (20th) in the first three days grossed $33,683 in eight houses. "Winchester "75" (U) did $2,683 playing in one

"Iwo' Tops in Osaka Osaka, July 22.

"Iwo Jima" led in boxoffice returns in the Osaka-Kobe-Kyoto area early this month, doing $12,447 at five theatres. At the bottom of the list of seven foreign films shown during the week was "Valentino" (Col) with a weak $1,053 at one theatre. "Tea For Two" (WB) hit $5,533 playing five houses. Other films released were from Italy, France and Britain.

MEX FILM SETTING B.O. MARK: 58G IN 2 WEEKS

MAKK; 58G IN 2 WEEKS

Mexico City, July 22,
Top boxoffice champ is the Mexican pic, "El Derecho de Nacer"
("The Right to be Born"). If grossed $57,953 in two weeks at the Cine Orfeon, local first-run house. That's tops for any pic in that time at one stand in Mexico.
Pic, produced by Producciones Calindo Hnos. and distributed by Filmadora Chapultepec, stars Jorge Mistral, Spanish juve actor, Gloria Marin, Martha Roth and Jose Baylera, and is directed by Zacarias Gomez Urquiza. Pic is based on the novel by Felix B. Caignet, Cuban author.

London Film Notes

London Film Notes

London, July 22.

Raymond Stross making his first picture for United Artists' release titled, "A Rough Shoot," based on Geoffrey Houshold's book of same name. Pic, which is being scripted by Eric Ambler, will star Jeel McCrea, with shooting to start Sept. 15 at Nettlefold Film studios . . . George Brown's next picture for J. Arthur Rank's GFD release is Martha Albrand's "Desperate Moment," which is being scripted by Pat Kirwan and Brown. Story deals with postwar Germany, with 80% of the film to be made in Germany . . . Sydney Box's next picture is a story on police women, and will be a femme counterpart of Michael Balcon's "Blue Lamp," made by Ealing Studios two years ago. Film will be directed by Muriel Box, his sister, and star Peggy Cummins, Margaret Johnston, Rosamund John, Anne Crawford and Sheila Sim, with shooting to start Sept. 8.

Boulting Bros. first picture for Metro, "Crest of the Wave," which was due to go into production in the middle of August, has been postponed until next spring. Understood the delay is due to diffins of the film delay is cooperation being essential in the making of the film

The House of Commons has now presumably heard the last of the quota default by the Empire Theater, Leicester Square, the principal Metro showcase here. And it took Metro showcase here. And it took an adjournment debate, which began at 1 a.m. Friday morning (25), to do it. The outcome was a complete vindication of Sam Eckman, Jr., Metro chief in Britain, who was described as a pro-British American:

American:

The attack was spearheaded by Stephen Swingler who, with his Labor colleague Woodrow Wyatt, has pursued the quota defaulters relentlessly during the last few months. It was during a recent interrogation of the Board of Trade prexy that he expressed dissatisfaction with government policy, and gave notice to renew his protest on the adjournment.

Swingler's attack covered three save notice to renew his protest on the adjournment.

, Swingler's attack covered three aspects of the quota default situation. Firstly, he complained at the delay in examination of defaults, and contended that at the present rate of progress it would take up to six years to analyze all the 771 first-feature defaulters in the 1950-51 quota year. There were also upward of 2,000 defaults on the second feature quota in the same period, Secondly, he criticized the practice of trade members of the Films' Council sitting in judgment on their own defaults.

Finally, he pinpointed the case of the Empire, which had shown only one British film during the year; and protested that Eckman had been present at the Films Council meetings when the case was considered.

The defense was led by Tom was considered.

The defense was led by Tom O'Brien who accused Swingler of promoting a Communist attack on the U. S., and hinted that the reference to the Films Council suggested that it might be a body of conspirators. O'Brien outlined Eckman's service to the British. Then he explained that during the period of that default, the Empire was giving employment to more than 100 artists, musicians and stagehands with its vaude shows at a cost of nearly $20,000 weekly.

The viewpoint of the defense

a cost of nearly $20,000 weekly.

The viewpoint of the defense was categorically endorsed by the Board of Trade prez, Peter Thorneyeroft, who asserted it was a mistake to assume that if a cinema failed in its quota, those responsible were somehow criminals. In a retort to the Swingler gibe complaining of the inadequacy of prosecutions, he reminded the House that the previous Labor administration had only taken action against 39 of the 2,000 odd defaulters in the first year of the quota.

Percentage of French Pix Released in '51-'52 Up to Recent Season

Paris, July 22. Statistics released by the Center National of Cinema here show that the percentage of French films re-leased here during the 1951-52 sealeased here during the 1951-52 sea-son are up to previous ones in number. With the recent decree by the Ministry of Commerce cut-ting the import of foreign pix from 186 to 138 per year this might create longer day-date playdates and a more selective film market.

With Govt. Policy Set, Brit. Pix Biz Seen Okaying Eady Fund Continuance

Taking its cue from the policy statement made in behalf of the government in last week's House of Lords debate, the British picture industry is condeastly expected to reach early agreement on continuation of the Eady Fund for an indefinite period. It will continue to operate on, a yoluntary basis without any substantial modification.

basis without any substantial modification.

During the debate in the upper house, Lord Archibald, former J. Arthur Rank producer, pressed the government to put the Eady Fund on a permanent and statutory basis, claiming it was one of the three main props of the industry, and that production would collapse without its perpetuation. The main government spokesman, Lord plea, declared the government's support of its continuance but insisted it was ultimately a matter for the industry to decide, and could not be resolved by legislation.

of the four main industry asso-ciations who administer the fund, the two directly concerned with production, the British Film Pro-ducers Assn. and the Assn. of Spe-cialized Film Producers, have for cialized Film Producers, have for some months been campaigning for an extension of the Eady scheme beyond its present deadline of August, 1954. The remaining two, representing exhibitors and distributors, have still to define their policy but are indicating their readiness, to discuss an indefinite prolongation.

$10,000,000 Yield

The standarding of producing in their readiness to discuss an indefinite prolongation.

$10,000,000 Yield

The standpoint of producing interests is based on the elementary assumption that, without a steady flow of Eady coin, British production will fade away. The levy, in the current year which ends next month (Aug. 4), will yield close to $10,000,000, and its distribution among British pix will add almost 50% to the distribs' gross. Without that subsidy, the bulk of native product would operate in the red, and most independent companies would be forced out of business.

The importance of the levy has been underscored by the warning given to the BFPA by some of the leading indies, who have threatened to stop production by next March. Attention to this aspect of the situation was focussed by Lord Archibald during the Lords' debate. Leading exhibitors realize the strategic value of continued cooperation, particularly in regard to Treasury negotiations for admission tax relief, but a moderate number of indies are irrevocably opposed and would like to keep the Eady money to widen their narrow margin between profit and loss. A small number, indeed, have done just that. They have defaulted on their payments to the pool, and as there is no statutory obligation on them to pay up, the industry can do no more than exert pressure. Diplomatically, support for the Eady Fund also has been a potent weapon in the hands of distribs. They used it to good advantage in last year's negotiations for a renewal of the Anglo-American pact and will undoubtedly employ it again when the talks reopen in the near future. American distribs, who make a sacrifice of revenue by their support, get some compensation by being granted extra conventibility from sterling to dollars:

their support, get some compen-tation by being granted extra con-vertibility from sterling to dollars; they also get the full benefits of the funds for their British-made productions. British distributing interests naturally support the unthe funds for their British-made productions. British distributing interests naturally support the un-compromising, stand of the pro-

New Tokyo Film Offices

New Tokyo Film Offices
Tokyo, July 22.
The Tokyo Film Centre, first in a series of eight building projects by U. S. film interests here, has been opened. The one-story structure will house nationwide distribution facilities of the seven major U. S. companies.
Harry Moskowitz, chief of construction for Loew's, coordinated plans with Czech-American architect Antonin Raymond and five Japanese contractors. Second building, a six-story structure now underway in downtown: Tokyo, will be completed in December. This will house general officers for 20th-Fox, Metro and WB.

Ban on Vaude Strippers Before London Council

London, July 29.
At its meeting tonight (Tues,), the London County Council, on a committee recommendation, is to consider the imposition of a ban on strippers in vaude theatres. The council is the licensing authority for variety theatres, whereas the Lord Chamberlain is in control of legit houses.

Strip-tease is normally barred

Strip-tease is normally barred in legit and the council is suggest-ing the new ban to make variety theatres conform to the Lord Chamberlain's policy.

Aussie Wage Tilt Slugs Film Biz

Sydney, July 22.
Introduction of increased weekly basic wage, bringing total to an alltime record of about $25 for males and over $20 for females, is seen as a terrific slug at the motion picture industry here by top film execs. An immediate upbeat in overhead, out of all proportion to the present intake for exhibition and distribution is predicted, with small chance for redicted, with small chance for couping.

Current figuring is that cinema operators, both major and minor, will be forced to seek higher admissions in the period ahead in order to keep pace with opera-tional upbeat, with distributors also compelled to ask for increased rentals throughout the Aussie territory.

Every commercial organization operating here has been granted the governmental okay to increase prices. Assumption currently is that both the exhibs and distribs will delay in seeking additional price boosts ways to offset the new salary titl. Both branches frankly admit that this additional basic wage increase will make current operational methods uneconomical. Also that both sides will have to place all their cards on the table to back each other for a fair and just readjustment of prices on admissions and rentals.

Australia's pic industry is also concerned presently with the marked increase in unemployment following overseas' credit restrictions, curbage of dollars, cuts in governmental revenue and marked slump on the Aussie Stock Exchange. Unemployment upbeat, greatest since the end of the last Everý commercial organization slump on the Aussie Stock S.E., change. Unemployment upbeat, greatest since the end of the last war. It's feared, we will see a marked falling off at the Aussie film boxoffice from now on.

PACKAGE THEATRE IN PARIS SET FOR FALL

PARIS JEI FUR FALL

Paris, July 22.

Bruno Coquatrix will start a package theatre using top film names at the small 500-seat comedie-Caumartin Theatre. Project will start in October, presenting a big star in a play of his own choosing to run for about 30 representations at the house and 30 on the road. Coquatrix feels this will give name stars, who don't wish to be tied up with long theatre contracts, a chance to get back into the theatre, and also pick their own plays. Scale will be jacked up to a $5 top.

the theatre, and also pick their own plays. Scale will be jacked up to a $5 top.

First star to play the theatre will be Daniele Delorme in Hendrik Ibsen's "Doll's House." She has also been slated to do a film version of "Doll's House" for Hoche Productions for more than two years. Robert Lamoureux, radio comic turned legit and film actor, will follow Delorme with a version of "The Deceits of Scapin."

London, July 29.
David E. Rose returned from America yesterday (Mon.) where he has been lining up the cast for his next British Technicolor production, "Toilers of the Sea," which RKO will distribute throughout the Raoul Walsh, who is to direct the film, travelled to London with Rose. Script has been written by Borden Chase.

Hottest Ballet Season In Years Winds Up in Zurich With Cuevas Troupe Bow

With Cuevas 110upe Dow Zurich, July 22.
With first Swiss appearance of the Marquis de Cuevas Ballet, at the Corso Theatre, Zurich, July 14-15, the hottest Zurich ballet season in years has ended. In seven months, three major ballet companies have played here, the New York City Ballet and Marquis de Cuevas Ballet for the first time, and the Ballets Jooss after a hiatus of many years.

de Cuevas Ballet for the first time, and the Ballets Jooss after a hiatus of many years.

Furthermore, German vet dancer Harald Kruetzberg gave a solo recital at the Schauspielhaus; Rosario & Antonio appeared for the first time in this, country at the Corso Theatre to sock returns; the Ballet Janine Charrat, Paris, gave an open-air performance at Rueschikon; and the Stadttheatre staged three ballets with its own cast. Topping them all, financially as well as artistically, was undoubtedly the N. Y. City Ballet, which made two appearances at the Stadttheatre during the Zurich June Festival, to SRO biz.

New interest of the Swiss public towards the ballet equally became evident in the outstanding success of Metro's "An American in Paris" Whereas, in general, musical pix never boasted any sensational b.o. returns here, "American in Paris" had a record-breaking eight-week run at the Scala, with big word-of-mouth and rave reviews, chiefiy in regard to the climaxing ballet sequence.

The Marquis de Cuevas Ballet played to good results, though not SRO, in view of the fact that performances took place in the hot weather period, and prices at the 1,100-seat Corso ranged to $4 top (which is even higher than regular prices at the Stadttheatre and

1,100-seat Corso ranged to $4 top (which is even higher than regular prices at the Stadttheatre and Schauspielhaus). Had it been skedded for the winter season, it would certainly have played to capacity. But even so, b.o. returns were satisfactory and reviews excellent

All-Yank Prod. Setup For TV Short in Italy

Rome, July 22.

"Man from Capri," first in a series of TV shorts, has been completed here and soon will go to N. Y. The series, called "Secret Agent," stars Signe Hasso. It constants who works as a Agent," stars Signe Hasso. It concerns an actress, who works as a foreign agent, with each episode in a different locale of Europe. Producers are Jeff Jones and Bob Edwards.

"Man" is not the first tele film

"Man" is not the first tele film ever to be made in Rome, but it is the first one where an American star, supporting actress, producer, director and cutter, were brought from the U.S.

Sandre Pallavicini of INCOM, Italian newsreel setup, is looking forward to the day when his newsreels and documentaries can fit into Italian TV production.

'Lion's Corner' Folds In London After 1 Day

"Lion's Corner," a new comedy by Bruce Walker, which opened at the St. Martin's last Wednesday (23), has earned the questionable distinction of being the first play for more than a decade to fold after a single performance.

It was presented by Alexander Cumnock and was roundly panned by the crix.

by the crix.

Hallowed Pix

Beith, Scotland, July 22.
For the first time since this town's only cinema burned down over a year ago, the inhabitants are able to go to the pictures without a bus journey of some miles.

A new cinema has been opened in a converted hall in a graveyard.

David Rose Back in London New Rules for Spain on Subsidies Finally Set; Seen Aiding U.S. Distribs

Tri-Dimensional Films In Paris Spot; Use Specs

Parls, July 22.

The Broadway, first-run house on the Champs-Elysees, has booked the four three-dimensional films which were a feature of the 1951 Great Britain Festival. Placing in this theatre which usually features offbeat and art films may prove okay. Polaroid glasses have to be used.

used.

These pix use polarized light to give body to the flat imagery. The film is shot with two lenses that give an overlapping image on the film. When projected, the polaroid glasses give the illusion of depth.

Mex. Film Prod. Sags, B.O. Soars

Mexico City, July 22.
Film production this year shapes up at a new low ebb, but new peaks in boxoffice returns loom. Trade in boxoffice returns loom. Trade estimates are that this year's crop of pix scarcely reach 100, as against 108 in 1951. Estimate is based on the announcement by Hector Fernandez, manager of the Mexican Motion Picture Producers Assn.

Motion Picture Producers Assn.
Only 49 films were produced during the first half of 1952. Threatened strike late this month against the studios by technical and manual workers locals is holding off ual workers locals is holding off new productions.

Fernander revealed a substantial increase in pic-making costs. Average cost per pic now is $69,300. That is some $11,500 more than the price in 1951. Producers are stressing quality more than ever, the association chief said. This spells better boxoffice returns.

4 MAJOR BRIT. CHAINS UP ADMISSION PRICES

UP ADMISSION PRICES

London, July 29.

Although four major theatre groups have agreed to raise admission prices starting next month, there is no certainty that a majority of independents will follow suit. Indeed, some provincial exhibs are seriously contemplating a reduction in scale.

The four circuits who are to boost their admissions are associated British, Odeon, Gaumont and Granada. Charges are to be made in two popular categories, affecting the 29c and 36c seats, which are to be raised by 2c and 1c respectively. There are no statistics available to indicate the extra income which will accrue to these groups, but it has been calculated that if the entire exhibiting industry came into line, revenue would be increased by approximately $6,500,000. The British treasury would also net an extra $2,100,000 by way of increased admission tax.

Loewenthal Forms Own German Film Outfit

Berlin, July 22.

A new German film-making company has been formed by Rodolfo Loewenthal, Mexican Berlin-born film producer, and Wenzel Lue-decke, head of the Berlin Synchron Gesellschaft (dubbing company). New company is Inter-West-Film and is registered in Berlin. Loewenthal planned the establishment of the new film producing outfit last year while he was in Berlin for the first International Film Festival.

national Film Festival.

Program of the new company comprises three pix. First is "Attention! Danger of Life," a Berlin story based on the radio play by Oscar Wutig. Shocking will begin early in September. The second pic, "Domino," will have an international background and be musically based on the same-titled French song.

Story Safely has arrived from Madrid, July 29.

Six months after they were first announced, the new rules about subsidies to the Spanish picture industry and importation of foreign pix were published here July 19 for immediate application. Despite being signed by the Ministers of Information, of Tourism and Commerce, these rules don't constitute any law. However, for practical purposes, they are the law for the film biz.

The first rule says that Spanish

The first rule says that Spanish independent producers and firms that produce in Spanish studios may ask for a subsidy. Also that the Spanish producers or firms may invest capital in co-production ventures or foreigners and Spaniards may invest capital in the production of pix in Spain. However, special permits must be obtained.

tained.

The second rule establishes five categories of films which may apply for a subsidy. The sixth category covers pending deals here. The producers will receive subsidies from 50% to 25% of the foreseen cost of the pic. The Directorate for the Chema will judge to which category a projected pic belongs.

The third rule establishes how.

belongs.

The third rule establishes how the subsidies will be given in importation and dubbing permits for foreign films. The value of such permits will be established by the Directorate for the Cinema. This rule should help to put some order into the dealings in permits, but it's doubtful if it will take them entirely out of the black market.

but it's doubtful if it. will take them entirely out of the black market.

When a producer has his financial plan approved and the importation or dubbing permits, he can import directly the ple or films he wants or sell such permits to importers of foreign films. Then he can use the money for the actual making of his production.

May Bring in Additional Films

The fourth rule says that in case the yearly Spanish production is not sufficient to fill the necessary quota of Spanish pix to be exhibited, some special permissions for entry of foreign films can be given. Part of the foreign capital at the disposition of Spanish studios must be used for modernizing their plants.

The fifth rule establishes that importation and dubbing permits must always be tied up with the production of pix in Spanish studios. The sixth one says that all negotiations and contracts which have been pending (not definitely approved by the Cinema Directorate) will be considered in the next three months and that the new rules will apply to them.

No Conflict With New U.S. Pact

The Director General for Cinemas and Theatres, Joaquin Argamasilla, who will have to supervise operation of the new rules and regulations on permits and substities, declared the new regulations are flexible enough to be compatible with the recent Spanish-U. S. agreement on importation of American pix. He foresaw the new setup resulting in a larger number of Yank pix being imported, with less bureaucracy and in quicker time. This, of course, is exactly what all reps of U. S. distribs here have been seeking for a long time.

London Shakespeare Troupe to Tour Aussie

Iroupe to Tour Aussie

London, July 22.

Drop of 7% in the gross receipts at the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre, Stratford on Avon, has led to a weekly decline in revenue of approximately $850. Average takings during the current season have amounted to $11,110 as against $11,950 during last year's Festival season. The cycle of historical plays which were featured at Stratford last year attracted audiences of over $25,000 and resulted in a surplus of over $6,000 which has been added to the reserve fund of $400,000.

At the end of the current season, the company, with its director, Andrew oscar wutig. Shocing will begin early in September. The second pic, "Domino," will have an international background and be musically based on the same-titled French song.

Steve Sekely has arrived from Hollywood to take over directing job of the first pic.

"LURE # WILDERNESS IS OUTGROSSING
"WITH A SONG IN MY HEART" IN 48
OF ITS FIRST 53 ENGAGEMENTS

——INCLUDING FOX, Atlanta; PARAMOUNT, Nashville; ALABAMA, Birmingham and IMPERIAL, Asheville!

There's No Business Like 20 Century-Fox Business!

Inside Stuff—Pictures

Amazing growth in a few years of the b.o. pull of Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis is seen in the fact that their latest release, "Jumping "Jacks" is likely to give Paramount its biggest grosser since Cecil B., DeMille's "Samson & Delilah" and "Greatest Show On Earth," both produced at many times the cost of Wallis-Hazen's indie-made "Jacks." On the basis of engagements to date, the new M&L-starrer can't fail to do better than $5,000,000 domestic. Their previous release, "Sailor Reware," will hit $4,500,000, and every date played so far by "Jacks" has reached 100% to 160% of the "Sailor" gross, "Greatest Show incidentally, now looks likely to score close to $8,000,000 domestic. It did $4,000,000 on its 300 pre-release engagements and is now doing biz in regular runs that seems likely to reach $4,000,000.

New York newspaper reviews of "Jacks," by the way, will undoubtedly give M&L ammunition to continue the battle with Wallis-Hazen that almost resulted in rupturing their contract recently. Their squawk then was that stories W-H were providing were just strings of gags and did not give them opportunity for proper development, Most of the New York reviewers made this very criticism of "Jacks." W-H, of course, have the logical answer that no matter what M&L themselves or the critics would like, grosses indicate that audiences are pleased with the scripts being provided.

August issue of Park East magazine highlights a story on Joseph urstyn, foreign film distrib who won the precedent-setting victory the U. S. Supreme Court with his film "The Miracle." Burstyn yarn, y Herbert Mitgang, surveys Burstyn's career and his views on the by Herbert Mitgang, surveys Burstyn's career and his views on the foreign film market. In commenting on the high tribunal's "Miracle" decision, Burstyn told Mitgang: "Why did I fight, 'The Miracle' case? It surely wasn't just for the principle. I wouldn't say that, Maybe it was just self-protection, for myself as a small business man, and for the country I came to and adopted. The small man needs freedom more than the big one. Maybe it was because I have a feeling of frustration over not doing more creative work, and this was a form of expression that would leave an original and permanent mark for the arts. I'm not sure, I do know that if I hadn't taken up the fight I would now be a completely defeated person."

Almost all the New York reviews of "High Noon" last week contained interlinear expressions of regret at the breakup of the team of Stanley Kramer and Carl Foreman. Kramer and Foreman were partners in the Kramer productions until Foreman made an enforced exit last year. Foreman screenplayed most of the pix on which the Kramer outfit's reputation was built, with "High Noon" the last to bear his handmark.

pear nis handmark.

None of the critics openly mentioned the split, but the implications were fairly clear to insiders in a number of the reviews. The pic, as a matter of fact, probably profited some by the critics feelings in the matter, since the reviewers appeared to be leaning over backward in their laudatory comments in deference to Foreman.

Paul MacNamara, chief flack for Telemeter, Paramount's pay-as-you-go TV system, jumped on the poor returns recently from the Bob Hope-Bing Crosby telethon to send out a promotion piece pointing up that "entertainment can only be sold on a cash basis." The 14½-hour Hope-Crosby show received pledges of more than $1,000,000 to send the American Olympic team abroad; but only about $300,000 of that amount has been remitted.

"Results were no surprise to people in the entertainment business... It is well known fact that entertainment can be sold only on a cash basis." MacNamara pointed out. He also made note of the fact that had Telemeter been in operation, contributions could have been made at once, while audience_enthusiasm was hot.

As part of its campaign for equality, in newspaper ad rates, the Motion Picture Assn. of America is distributing to advertising managers, publishers and key exhibs throughout the country prexy Eric Johnston's talk on "Why Premium Ad Rates?" Speech was delivered at a press-film symposium sponsored by the Hartford Times in June. Johnston's talk points out that the industry is 'not asking for lower prices that are charged other local firms doing business in a competitive atmosphere. We ask only equality in the matter of cost. A fair shake."

Ohio Censorship

struck was in Toledo although uncensored reels were exhibited in Cleveland and Cincinnati also.

Reps of the Motion Picture Assn. of America, which is spearheading the end-censorship drive, are expected to be on hand for the Smith learing. Observers will be Sidney Schreiber, MPAA chief counsel, and Tim Claggett, New York press rep. Case is being handled for the MPAA by the law firm of Paxton & Seasongood while Marshall, Melhorn, Block & Belt is representing Smith.

Majors Get Going-Over Most of the majors came in for a going-over from the Independent Theatre Owners of Othio in pespect

Majors Get Going-Over
Most of the majors came in for a going-over from the Independent Theatre Owners of Ohio in respect to their attitude on the censorship test in Ohio last week. The ITOO secretary Robert A. Wile in the organization's current bulletin observed that the "much heralded test is now underway as the result of our past president, Martin G.
Smith, in Toledo,
"We should be conditioned to

Smith. in Toledo.

"We should be conditioned to this sort of thing," Wile opined, "but the distributors' lawyers threw some last-minute monkey wrenches into the machinery. You will be interested to know that of all companies, Warner Bros. threw up its hands in holy horror at the thought that one of its men might be arrested; fortunately, Universal men have clean hands and no compunctions, so the reel was run in Cleveland where Universal distributed it.

"The other distributors stuck

Latest Film Catalog

Washington, July 29.

A list of 1,200 theatrical and non-theatrical motion pictures and film strips copyright during the second half of 1951 is contained in the latest semi-annual issue of the

the latest semi-annual issue of the Motion Pictures and Filmstrips section of the "Catalog of Copyright Entries," just published by the Library of Congress.

The motion picture section includes a listing of films usable for television, indexes designed to assist film buyers or persons planning film programs, and a list of copyright claimants, producing companies, sponsors, and authors represented.

The semi-annual catalogs are available from the Register of Cleveland where Universal distributed it.

"The other distributors stuck like glue to the wrong side. However, Martin Smith in Toledo, and F. W. Huss, Jr., our vicepresident in Cincinnati, on the advice of this office, took the bull by the horns represented.

The semi-annual catalogs are available from the Register of Copyrights, Library of Congress, Warland Copyrights, Library of Congress, These catalogs supplement the 1,-250-page cumulative catalog, entitled "Motion Pictures, 1912-39," which was published last year.

Nov. Global Preem For 'Kilimanjaro' Revealed by Einfeld

"Snows of Kilimanjaro" will have a worldwide day-and-date preem early in November, 20th-Fox ad-pub veepee S. Charles Einfeld revealed Monday (28) upon arriving in New York on the Liberte after a four-week European junket. In event French and Italian dub bing of the film is not ready in time for the unveiling, he said that the English version may be screened at the Paris and Rome screened at the Paris and Rome openings.

In the course of the trip, Einfeld met with 20th-Fox reps in Rome, Paris, Munich, Genoa, Naples and Lisbon to map sales and exploitation plans for the studio's upcoming product. Exec described attendance at continental film theatres as excellent. He largely attributed this to the fact that the public looks upon attending a picture as an "important event" inasmuch as most liouses maintain a reserved-seat policy and an air of glamour similar to that of a Broadway show.

WB Due to Reopen Its Theatre on B'way

Its Theatre on B'way

Reopening of the Warner Theatre on Broadway, Warner Bros.'
New York flagship, is expected to take place shortly. Since house shuttered in early June, company has been attempting to peddle the long-term lease. It has held talks with several of the tele networks, but failed to negotiate a deal. Present plans are for WB to operate the house for straight pix.

Whether theatre will open with a Warner pic is still a matter of conjecture. Outfit has been extremely active recently in peddling its product to other Main Stem houses. "Where's Charley?" is currently at the Music Hall while "The Story of Will Rogers" is at the Astor. "Our Lady of Fatima" follows "Rogers" at the Astor and will also be seen at the Bijou in a day-and-date booking. "Big Jim McClain," John Wayne starrer, is slated for the Paramount, to follow the current Martin & Lewis top-liner, "Jumping Jacks."

Warner Theatre reportedly put in a blid for Paramount's "Son of Paleface," Bob Hope-Jane Russell-Roy Rogers starrer, but was turned down when it failed to offer Par what latter considered a big enough guarantee.

Warner sales chief Ben Kalmenson has been conferring with other Stem operators on deals for upcoming films Slated for Read.

Warner sales chief Ben Kalmenson has been conferring with other Stem operators on deals for upcoming films. Slated for Broadway debut for September are "Man Behind the Gun" and "The Crimson Pirate." Following in Oct. and Nov. are "Springfield Riffe," "Top Secret" and "The Iron Mistress."

Fan Mag Sales

the relation of films and fan mags to the public.

During his short stay here Manheimer visited with heads of all major studios and reported to them that what the film-going public wants most, as reflected in their letters and in the policy of the fan mags, is new faces on the screen.

screen.
"Fan magazines only have the
"Fan magazines only have the amount of the letters which they receive from readers requesting receive from readers requesting more information, more layouts, more gallerles of the new up-and-coming stars in their screen fare, Manheimer stated. "Our editors have trouble getting more studios to submit cover and art layouts on newcomers because they want to push the old established stars instead.

"The fan mags are closer to the public than the studios, it would seem. Look through the film publications on the newsstand and notice how much space is devoted to the new and younger players.

If Fan mags have no 'captive audience'—they have to sell in a fiercest ly competitive field and it has been proven that the way to excel is to put more stress on new faces.

'Magazine publishers have an immediate and accurate index to the public's interest in this respect because they can see the newsstand sales, fluctuate from month to month in accordance with the emphasis on new players." The fan mags are closer to the

Even Dry Cleaning Bills Dip When Pix B.O. Sinks; Exhibs, Merchants Co-op

COMPO Dues Collection Differs in Each Area

Differs in Each Area
While the general plan is to have exhibs, write out a check for their COMPO dues and hand it over to film company salesmen for forwarding to the industry org's headquarters, the procedure may work differently in some areas.
Salesmen will make the rounds of theatremen to pick up the COMPO con during the week of Aug. 11.
New York's Metropolitan Motion Picture Theatres Assn. has decided to collect the COMPO money from its members instead of having the drummers soliciting them. Independent Theatre Owners Assn., also N.Y., and a few exhip associations in the field may do the same.

Bargain Rates' a Key Agreement by Majors In Arbitration Setup

Still definitely in as part of the projected industry arbitration system is organized conciliation machinery with which theatremen. chinery with which theatremen, who are in economic distress, will be given the opportunity of obtain-ing relaxed terms on rentals. They're referred to as "bargain rates" in some quarters.

rates" in some quarters.

All film companies who'll be party to the arbitration setup have agreed to the conciliation idea. Under the plan, theatremen who can prove they're undergoing economic hardship will first seek out eased terms from the local branch manager. If the exhilts are not satisfied with the deals offered they can take their beefs to conciliation panels to be set up in each exchange area.

ciliation panels to be set up in each exchange area.

Actually, the idea of such special consideration has been placed into effect by some companies already, but on an individual and informal basis. If success is met in drafting an arbitration program, the conciliation system, it's believed, would be adopted in uniform and formal manner.

Arbitration

Continued from page 7

tion may be ebbing in some quarters, no one is giving up in the pursuit of an agreeable method of settling intra-trade squabbles. This was seen in the exhibs' willingness to reconvene with the non-presidential distrib reps, plus the apparently relaxed attitude of the distrib negotiators on the matter of bidding. tion may be ebbing in some quar-

With the new series of meetings approaching, it's privately agreed on both sides that whatever plan is developed by the two negotiating is developed by the two negotiating committees must be accepted in its entirety by the entire industry. It's pointed out that the various items in the field of trade practices more or less overlap. Consequently, if, say, a paragraph on bidding in the arbitration plan is to be revised, all previous ground covered must be reconsidered in the light of the bidding revision.

bidding revision.

Core of the one troublesome part of bidding is that the arbitration system aimed for must be a voluntary one. Concerning this, it's said, large theatres could be the "villains." If smaller houses in an area have a grievance and the larger spots are a party to the complaint, the latter must be agreeable to arbitration. If they refuse to arbitrate, the lesser situations simply cannot force an arbitration proceeding. 'Another factor, say some ob-proceeding.

'Another factor, say some observers, is that the exhib reps in the huddles are being particularly careful about any language in the arbitration plan which would reflect or even suggest their endorsement of bidding. For this reason, it's said, much time was lost in the past over phraseology in drafting the arbiter plan. the arbiter plan.

the arbiter plan.

Important point stressed by both sides is that the system which eventually is adopted will be an experimental one. It will be subject to re-inspection by the two sides after a given period, of perhaps two years, and must be okayed anew before it's made permanent.

Active support of local merchants to help hypo their own biz as well as theare b.o. is being sought by Indiana exhibs, who point out strongly that poor film business affects the economy of surrounding stores.

"A community without an up-to-date movie theatre is a dead one from "a" business standpoint," the bulletin of the Allied Theatre Owners of Indiana declares, Unfortu-from 'a' business standpoint," the bulletin of the Allied Theatre Owners of Indiana declares. Unfortunately, the bulletin, says, there are some communities where the businessmen take the theatre for granted, and 'it takes a dark theatre to prove the point to them."

The ATOI cites the case of a theatre closing in a small town near Indianapolis. It reports the reopening of the house by the merchants on a cooperative arrangement, with people of the area getting their tickets from the businessmen free, with no strings attached. Fifty business firms, encompassing almost every sort of overation, supported the oreject, the exhib bulletin notes. "It's too bad," it says, "that merchants in some towns can't give this sort of cooperation to the theatre before it has to close because of lack of support."

The Indiana exhib org also notes that many other businesses are suffering "by people staying at home to watch TV." These viewers, it is stressed, do not visit restaurants as often, do not attend the beauty shops as frequently, buy less gasoline, and recuire dry cleaning service less often. "If you think about it," the exhib outfit tells its members, "vou can expand this list almost endlessly." Theatre-owners group suggests this list almost endlessly."

Theatre-owners group suggests that its members join with local merchants to sponsor a theatrerestaurant night, plugging the event with the slogan "Take Her Out at Least One Night a Week," theme of a campaign currently being used in Detroit.

New British Film Prod. Aid

New British Film Prod. Aid
London, July 22.
A new technical aid to production, designed to facilitate filming of musical numbers and big crowd scenes, is to be put into operation at Associated British Elstree studios after three years research work by sound technicians headed by Harold King, the company's recording director.
Known as the "silent playback,"
the device consists of a tiny portable amplifier and a miniature earphone, the same size and shape
as a normal deaf aid.

COMPO Fate

Continued from page 7 =

Continued from page 7

COMPO fold. Leaders of these regional units, because of personality conflicts or the traditional wariness of distrib shenanigans, more or less can be regarded as permanently out of COMPO despite its achievements, it's believed.

Meanwhile, non-members as well as members will be asked to chip in to build COMPO's general fund, which will be tapped to finance the tax program. This means that virtually every theatre in the country will be asked to participate when the drive to collect COMPO dues takes place during the week of Aug. 11.

During that seven-day span film of Aug. 11.

During that seven-day span film company salesmen from all exchange centres will call on the atremen in their respective areas. Exhibs will be asked to sign pledge cards and signature checks in amounts to cover their COMPO dues for the period of one year. Distribs will-match the collections dollar for dollar.

Remarkable strides have been taken in organizational work preliminary to the revenue roundup and the direct efforts to eliminate liminary to the revenue roundup and the direct efforts to eliminate the Feds' levy. Some exhibs in every state in the union have agreed to serve on local committees to handle the tax endeavor, and the first meetings of COMPO groups in all exchange cities took place late last week. Second round of such sessions took place Monday (28) and the third is slated for next Monday. All details of the solicitation of the COMPO dues will have been worked out by the end of that third set of meetings, it's figured.

Paramount

reports:

CARRIE TAKES HER PLACE IN THE SUN AS THE BIG-MONEY LOVE STORY OF 1952...

LAURENCE JENNIFER Olivier and Jones

in WILLIAM WYLERS
Production of

MIRIAM HOPKINS
EDDIE ALBERT

Produced and Directed by WILLIAM WYLER
Screenplay by RUTH and AUGUSTUS GOETZ
From the American Classic, SISTER CARRIE,
by THEODORE DREISER

"Carrie" shapes up magnificently in her first dates! Paramount selected them carefully to prove her magnetic appeal to mass midsummer audiences who everywhere are flocking to see her "seething, passionate love story". (N. Y. Mirror)

And "Carrie" has those beautiful boxoffice legs for long runs—third big week starts today at New York Capitol.

At the Capitol last summer, "A Place In The Sun" began its climb to the top of 1951's grossers. Today in all her dates, "Carrie" is being compared favorably with that great money-hit by both the press and the public.

No wonder "Carrie" is the exhibitor's favorite gal to date today!

Amusement Stock Quotations

For the Week Ending Tuesday (29)

	Weekly Vol. in 100s	Weekly High	Weekly Low	Tues, Close	Net. Change for week
N. Y. Stock Exchange
100	. 30	101/4	91/8	101/8	+ 1/8
CBS, "A"	13	343/8	337/a	343/8	+ 3/8
CBS, "B"	. 11	341/4	333/4	341/4	+ 1/4
Col. Pic.	. 52	131/4	113/4	131/8	+11/2
Decca	113	87/8	81/8	83/8	1/4
Eastman Kodak	. 178	443/4	44½	443/4	+ 1/2
Loew's	. 221	127/8	125%	123/4
Paramount	. 84	223/4	221/8	223/4	+ ½ + ½
Philco	107	331/4	323/8	321/2	+ 1/8
RCA	294	. 271/2	265/8	263/4	, ,,,
RKO Pictures	. 128	41/8	37/8	4
RKO Theatres	. 115	33/8	31/4	33%
Republic,	. 18	4	33/4	37/8	+ 1/8
Rep., pfd.		97/8	97/a	97/8	, /0
20th-Fox:		151/4	15	151/8	+ 1/8
Un. Par. Th		141/8	131/8	14	, /6
Univ		121/4	12	121/4	5/8
Univ. pfd.	2	65	65	65	+1
Warner Bros	61	123/8	121/8	12½	1/8
Zenith	24	791/2	77	77 1	5/8
				• •	/6
N. Y. Curb Exchange	0.4	151/
Du Mont		151/4	151/8	15%	+ 1/4
Monogram		0/0.	27/8	. 3
Technicolor	12	$21\frac{7}{8}$	213%	211/8	+, 1/2
Over-the-Counter Securi	ties		Bid	Ask	•
				15%
Chesapeake Industries (				41/4
U. A. Theatres			41/2	51/2
Walt Disney				8
Quotations
· (Quointions	·	cu, vg Di	egjus.or	.,

Exhibs' Squeeze Play

lic may see on their television sets."

TV Behind Suit?

Theatremen believe the sult stemped from much D. C. political counter little difficulty in Ilning up the support of lawmakers via the tweet television interests. As a result, the theatre ops are resorting to political counter attack, hopeful of bringing enough pressure on the D. of J. from Congress to discourage any active pursuit of the complaint.

There were many tipoffs on the course which the battle will take. Typically. Trueman Rembusch, former president of Allied States Assn. and now prexy of Allied Theatre Owners of Indiana, revealed that several members of the unit's board of directors want a complaint lodged with the House Small Business Committee, asking the House group to intercede in exhibition's behalf.

Rembusch also disclosed that atempts will be made to line up Senators Capehart and Jenne of exhibition's behalf.

Rembusch also disclosed that attempts will be made to line up Senators Capehart and Jenner of Indiana plus all the states' House reps in the exhibs' camp. Rembusch added: "It is the private feeling of exhibition in this traditionally Republican state that the Justice Department's action smacks of politics between television and the present Democratic administration."

Abram F. Myers Allies's have smacks of politics between television and the present Democratic administration."

Abram F. Myers, Allied's board chairman, reminded that in several instances in the past he has warned of the "insidious efforts being made by television interests through political channels to gain access to the choicest films. Those warnings apparently were ignored by the film companies; at least no effort was made to oppose the activities in Washington of the television lawyer-politicians. Therefore the good faith of some (film) company executives, as well as the fate of the theatres, is involved in this proceeding."

Myers promised that Allied — whose membership comprises thousands of small, indle theatremen throughout the nation — is going on the warpath and "will exhaust all remedies available; including appeals to committees of Congress." The exhib leader further warned that "18,000 theatres are not going to be destroyed at the whim of any bureaucrat acting at the behest of the television industry, however useful the latter may be to certain politicians."

Exhibs Side With Distribs
Curious aspect of the situation is that the theatremen — who haven't been named defendants in the Government suit—are carrying the ball for the distributors, who were listed in the complaint, at least initially. Distrib reps state they need plenty of time 'to study the suit before strategy can be mapped.

Another factor drawing more than routine interest is the extent

Curious aspect of the situation is that the theatremen — who haven't been named defendants in the Government suit—are carrying the ball for the distributors, who were listed in the complaint, at least initially. Distrib reps state they need plenty of time to study the suit before strategy can be mapped.

Another factor drawing more than routine interest is the extent of political pressure which the exhibs can bring to bear in their behalf. Some observers in New York believe that the showmen could exert great power, actually $2.40.

Maver-Cinerama

Continued from page 3

duced the pix for a Broadway run at a cost of about $750,000. T-T holds exclusive world rights to the Cinerama system for five years, but the company must make two films a year during that period to fulfill terms of the deal.

fulfill terms of the deal.

Todd, who was originally to be the producer of the films for T-T, is now said to be working only on the promotion and advertising of the product, with no voice in management or financing of the company. T-T, which will shortly change its name to Cinerama Productions, Inc., has options to buy a total of about 1,000,000 shares of Cinerama, Inc., stock. That would give it working control of the system.

Right to Buy 500,000

Right to Buy 500,000

Right to Buy 500,000
It has the right to buy 500,000 shares of the 999,999 held by Reeves Soundcraft Corp. (headed by Hazard Reeves, who played a part in the development, along with inventor Fred Waller) and 500,000 shares held by Cinerama, Inc. T-T is entitled to buy the first 200,000 shares of common at 60c upon presentation of its first film prior to an Oct. 31, 1952, deadtilne. Options are good until 1954, when with completion of the third pic T-T can buy 50,000 shares at $6.

TOP EXHIBS PROTEST SUIT TO TRUMAN

SUIT TO TRUMAN

Dallas, July 29.

Threatened use of the nation's pix house screens was included in messages to President Truman and Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic nominee for President, over the weekend by six local theatre chain execs. Protesting last week's Government suit filed in L. A., which would, in effect, force film studios to make their pix available to TV, local exhib group branded the suit "political."

Wires were signed by R. J. O'Connell, v.p.-genral manager of Interstate Theatres, Inc.; Ed Rowley, prexy of Rowley United Theatres; Claude Ezell & Associates; Phil Isley, of Phil Isley Theatres, Inc.; H. J. Griffith, of H. J. Griffith Theatres, and Col. H. A. Cole, head of Texas Allied Theatres.

Top exhibs here, at a protest meeting, chose Rowley to head a committee for group action in Texas. Accepting the post, Rowley stated Texas exhibs will not stand by and see "this great injustice deprive us of our livelihood. If, necessary, we plan to use all the talents and resources at our command to combat this unfair action brought against us by the Justice Dept."

ITO's Wile Protests

ITO's Wile Protests Govt.'s 16m Suit

Govt.'s 16m Suit

Columbus, July 29.

A strongly-written letter of protest to the Government's antitrust suit against distributors refusing to sell 16m film to television was fired off to the U. S. Department of Justice last week by Robert A. Wile, executive secretary of the Independent Theatre Owners of Ohio. The letter said:

"The officers of this organization, which represents several hundred theatres in Ohio, with an investment of many millions of dolars, instruct me to convey to you their shock and amazement at the antitrust suit filed against the major distributors for refusing to sell their 16m films to television.
"In view of the economic state of the theatres at the present time, we are at a loss to understand how you can feel that competition can be fostered or the antitrust law be served by building a new industry which would deprive all of these theatres of their income. We earnestly hope that you will reconsider this act when you realize that the investments of several hundred theatre owners and the livelihood of several thousand of their, employees would be jeopardized if your prosecution were successful."

The letter was addressed to Atty. Gen. James McGranery. Coples were distributed to members of the ITO.

Roach Deals

Continued from page 3

lease, whereby he would make direct deals with regional exhibs.
Latter would guarantee the cost of the film on a territorial basis and would handle the distribution themselves on a states-rights pro-would nandle the distributions themselves on a states-rights procedure.

Roach has brought to New York pilot films of two one-hour shows, both broken up into quarter-hour segments. Each quarter-hour unit is a complete story in itself, allowing for multiple sponsorship of the hour-long shows. Vidpix are known as "Children's Hour" and "Actors' Hour." If his new arrangement goes through, Roach expects to use his "staff" players in these films. It is the producer's contention, that players should only be used in short sequences on TV, enough to arouse interest in theatres. theatres.
"A name player," he says, "can'i

theatres.

"A name player," he says, "can't sustain a half-hour television show for 39 weeks without losing the interest of the audience." He believes that tele can be a valuable adjunct to theatrical pix and decried the ostrich-like attitude of the major filmeries. "The future of the business is great" he maintains, "but the large companies cannot continue to exist without other sources of income."

Roach said that he had discussed his combined vidpix-theatrical films scheme with Leonard Goldstein, Leo McCarey and George, Stevens, and that all three had expressed interest. He noted, however, that there were no talks on specific deals.

McGranery

continued from page 5
companies except Paramount and Metro. There was no evidence of a conspiracy involving Par and M-G said the D. of J. Listed as an alleged co-conspirator but not a defendant is the Theatre Owners of America.

Film business generally is not taking the case on its face value, but instead believes there's a gimmick hidden in the surprise Government action. Those on the top level state that the making of narrow-gauge available to schools, churches, etc., is of minor consideration, certainly far short of the stature which justify any large-scale suit as the one filed.

That leaves only the conclusion that television interests are putting on a squeeze, hunting a back-door method to force the release of features to TV. Whether the features are on 16m or 35m is insignificant, it's said, since the question involved is the negative rights in the pix.

Film company homeoffice exects and attorneys were especially riled over the fact that no effort by the D. of J. was made to consult with them prior to institution of the action. Also causing suspicion among the New Yorkers was the D. of J. selection of the L. A. Federal Court. Although the suit was filed on Tuesday (22); it was not until last Thursday that copies of the complaint reached Gotham.

On this count, film company reps believe there should be little difficulty in switching the case to N.Y. if it reaches the litigation stage. Companies will' press this on the grounds that the industry's principal business activities are conducted in N.Y. and a trial 3,000 miles away would result in inconvenience and many hampering delays.

Suit Unites Pixites

In addition to coming as a big

Suit Unites Pixites

In addition to coming as a big In addition to coming as a big shock, the Government attack had the immediate effect of uniting producers, distribs and exhibs in the same camp. Republic prez Herbert J. Yates said he failed to understand how Rep could conceivably be one of the targets. He pointed out that Rep has been licensing films to TV for the past 12 months and commented that no D. of J. rep "had made any effort to learn the true facts from us in this matter."

Exhib toppers across the coun-

D. or J. rep "nad made any errort to learn the true facts from us in this matter."

Exhib toppers across the country were agnast over the suit and hastened to tell McGranery so. Wilbur Snaper, president of Allied States Assn., penned a quick letter to the Attorney General protesting the action. Trueman Rembusch, head of Indiana Allied, publicly stated that his outfit plans to "initiate action looking toward correction of the underhanded and misleading attempt of the television monopoly through the U. S. Department of Justice to force motion picture producers to make available their film at a pittance to free Tv."

Officers of Independent Theatre Owners of Ohlo, Columbus, conveyed their "shock and amazement" anent the suit in a letter to McGranery. "The investments of several hundred theatre owners and the livelihood of several thousands of their employees would be jeopardized if your prosecution were successful," Robert A. Wile, ITOO's exec secretary, said in the letter.

were successful," Robert A. Wile, ITOO's exec secretary, said in the letter.

Harry Brandt, N. Y. circuit op and head of Independent Theatre Owners Assn., in another letter to McGranery, branded the suit as "ill-advised and contrary to the American principle of free enterprise because the showing of a theatrical feature film on television destroys its commercial value for theatrical exhibition—the normal market for which the film was originally produced."

Brandt added: "This suit furnished tangible evidence of the misleading attitude that has been so ingeniously generated in important Government circles and in the public mind." Brandt further complained that "self-seeking forces" constantly are striving to dupe the public into believing that everything capable of being televised should fall within the public domain without regard to property rights.

IA Would Up TV Jobs as Offset To Theatre Foldos

Meeting in executive session here this week prior to the 41st biennial convention, Aug. 4-8, officers comprising the executive board of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees and Moving Picture Operators are considering ways and means to organreaching ways and means to organize TV unions and to increase employment in television for their present members in order to offset job losses caused by theatre closings.

In planning convention details and preparing final reports for the convention, the board also was deconvention, the board also was de-bating measures that could be taken to help stimulate film at-tendance and aid in bringing about repeal of the Federal 20% amuse-ment admission tax besides other-wise taking action that would as-sist in keeping exhibitors "in business."

Among those here for the preliminary meetings are Interna-tional president Richard F. Walsh, his assistant, Thomas J. Shea, and general secretary-treasurer Wil-liam P. Raoul and their staffs.

Walcott-Marciano

Continued from page 3 =

ager. Gate proved somewhat disapager. Gate proved somewhat disappointing, and Marciano and the International Boxing Club, the promoters, felt badly about losing the $75,000 or so that theatres might have added. There was muttering at the stadium that Hurley had "outsmarted" himself.

Result is that IBC, Marciano and undoubtedly Walcott will be in a favorable mood to dicker for the September fray. However, it is understood that by no means out of the picture is the possibility of understood that by no means out of the picture is the possibility of home tele showing the fight with the local territory blacked out. Brief duration of the Marciano-Matthews setto would have posed a problem for the theatres that they haven't run into before in their telecasts. Other fights have gone the full route or most of it.

gone the full route or most of it.

Customers in theatres who got only five minutes of fisticuffs for $2.40 or $3.60 would have no more room to squawk, of course, than those who paid much more to get into the stadium. Nevertheless, theatremen are fearful that such an event would cause undue grousing.

Lee Roberts who produces grousing.

ing.

Joe Roberts, who produces special pix of IBC fights for theatres not equipped with tele, had cameramen on the scene Monday night. He decided, however, not to at eramen on the scene monday night. He decided, however, not to attempt to make or sell a film on the round-and-a-half. It was felt that not enough coin would be had from it to make it profitable.

from it to make it profitable.

Even had the glove-slinging gone the full distance, Robert wasn't committed on making a pic, and he had made no attempt to sell it in advance. He has come to the conclusion that only fights filled with sufficient thrills to make them interesting are worthwhile for the 20-minute pix he's been distributing, since the film can't ever be better than the fight itself. Therefore, Roberts had his cameramen shooting on the gamble that if the battle proved exceptionally interesting, he'd rush a film out the following day.

D. J. Greene

Continued from page 7

he'll still undoubtedly require plenty of support from indie share-holders at the next annual meeting. Howard Hughes is the largest stockholder with 929,000 of the close to 4,000,000 shares outstand-

NEW TEL-AVIV CINEMA

Tel-Aviv, July 22.
The Armon-David, 600-seat cinema, was opened recently in Tel-Aviv. Cinema was under construction for over three years.
Opening picture, French production of "La Ronde," is doing well.

Film Reviews

Larre of the Wildermess comparatively short footage as the other girl.

The Technicolor cameras wielded by Edward Cronjager make much of the story's natural swamp locale, adding interest to the melodramatics as the plot unfolds. It finds Hunter searching the swamp for his dog eight years after Brennan and Miss Peters have taken refuge in its dank depths. They capture him, but later guide him out when he promises to see that Brennan gets a fair trial on charges of murder. Inevitably, it comes out that Brennan is innocent, as he claims, and when the real killers seek to prevent Brennan from making his charges in court, one goes to his death in a mud sink while the other is saved to clear the falsely accused. During the course of events, Hunter, betrothed to Miss Smith, falls in love with Miss Peters to give the melodramatics a happy ending.

The basic passions with which the novel was concerned do not nun as rampant in this version as they did in the earlier screen treatment. Hunter has his romance moments with both the Misses Smith and Peters. Principals have competent support from Tom Tully, Harry Shannon, Will Wright, Jack Elain, Harry Carter and Pat Hogan, in getting this initial Robert L. Jacks production on film. Pleture is well-framed with outdoor values and rates a good music score from Franz Waxman.

Anz Wax
Brog.

Anirs of a Model

(SWEDISH)

Union Film Distributors release of Swedish Film Distributors release of Swedish Film Distributors are by Gustaf Molander. Screenplay, Rune Lindstrom; camera, Ake Dalheyist; music, E. Eckert-Lundin. Tradeshown in N. Y., July 25, 52. Running time, 22 MiNS. Alf Kiellin, Mai-Britt Nilssen Mariame J. Coreus Mariame J. The Count. Olof Wi-Consul-General. Olof Wi-Consul-General. Olof Wi-Consul-General.

Gregerson
Buind.

Fig. 0h-The

(In Swedish; English Titles) Aside from a couple of disrobing scenes and two love sequences, "Affairs of a Model" has little to "Affairs of a Model" has little to offer the American market. This Swedish import has too many pro-duction flaws, is overacted and has a silly story. Also, it has no names that mean anything on U.S. marquees.

Tale of a jobless artist's model who falls in love with a rising young sculptor, (he sees her only as a perfect model), is told at a pedestrian pace. Both model and artist center their efforts on sell-ing Parliament on the idea of a national monument, but much extraneous matter is tossed in with excessive verbiage.

Maj.-Britt Nilsson, as the model, indicates some thespian potentiali.

indicates some thespian potentialities as well as suitable chassis for the role. Alf Kjellin suffices as the young sculptor. Stig Jarrel and Olof Winnerstrand top an adequate supporting cast. Wear.

Sen Tiger

Good action melodrama for supporting market.

Hollywood, July 24.

Monogram release of William F. Broldy (Wesley E. Barry) production. Stars John Archer, and Marquerile Chapman; fear John Press, and Jarquerile Chapman; fear John Press, and John Sander, Marquerile Chapman; fear Start McDonald; sevennay, Diocted by Frank McDonald; sevennay, Diocted by Frank McDonald; sevennay, Diocted Verkow; camera, John Martin; editor, Ace Herman, Previewed July 22, '52. Ruming time, 71 MMS.
Jenine Mins. John Archer
Marguerite Chapman
Harry Lauter
Ralph Sanford
Marvin Press
John Mylong
Mary Corday
Paul MeGuire

I mre of the Wilderness around, as various others try to comparatively short footage as the other gain possession of secret treasures hidden aboard the ship before it gain possession of secret treasures, hidden aboard the ship before it sails. At the fade-out, a crooked insurance investigator has been killed while trying to make off with the gems he's located, and several others have either been rounded up or killed while attempting to make off with the fabulous gold treasure aboard. Arcler, who's now proven himself... good citizen, has also proven to be romantically acceptable to Miss Chapman.

Archer turns in a forceful performance to meet the demands of the script while Miss Chapman has little to do as femme interest. Among those impressing in the supporting lineup are Harry Lauter, Marvin Press and Ralph Sanford.

William F. Broidy and Wesley

ford.
William F. Broldy and Wesley
E. Barry, as exec Froducer and producer, respectively, have realized full minor-budget potentialities from the script, which also draws good direction from Frank McDonald.

Neal.

Sculs Au Monde

Seuls Au Monde
(Alone In The World)
(FRENCH)
Paris, July 22.
Discina productions and release. Stark
Rene Lafevre, Madeleine Robinson: features Raymond Cerdy, Louis Seigner, Jean Ozenne, Rapheal Patourni, Directed
fevre; camera, Nicolas Toporkoff; editor,
Jacques Poltrenaud, At Paramount,
Paris, Running time, 99 Mins.
Francois Rene Lefevre (enevieve Madeleine Robinson
Campbell Jean Ozenne
Liouis Seigner
Lawyer Raphael Patourni
Lawyer Raphael Patourni

This film deals simply with the problems of orphaned children and their adaption to life. Obvious story line and lack of penetrating characterizations rob this of the depth and feeling it needs. Moppet work is a bit stilted. Film has little chance abroad, except in lowercase situations.

Story concerns a social worker whose offended humanity has him making off with a bunch of moppets to make a life for themselves outside state institutions. He gets a house donated by a sympathetic house donated by a sympathetic philanthropist and builds his own humane orphanage, where he feels pangs at adaption of his wards. Into this comes a simple, kindly woman who takes the Mr. Chips and kids in hand for an eventual hanny end and kids in hand for an eventual happy end.

Direction is slow and wandering, but manages to make a few poignant points in its theme of childish innocence and adult indifference. Rene Lefevre is touching as the idealistic social worker, and Madeleine Robinson is appealing as the woman, though her character is left murky. Lensing has a tendency to flatness, and editing doesn't take off wordiness of the story. Moppets are a bit self-conscious and not too well handled.

Mosk.

Sound Barrier (BRITISH)

Ralph Richardson, Ann Todd in strong British meller; fine U.S. entry.

١	London, July 22.
۱	British Lion release of London Films Production, Stars Rainh Wichardson An-1000, Nigel Patrick, John Trestin Di
١	rected by David Lean. Screennlay Tran-
ı	tuce Katuran: camera, Jack Hildwird.
1	cultor, Geoffrey Foot: muche Maloolm
١	Arnold. At Carlton, London, July 22, '52,
ı	Running time, 118 MINS.
ı	John Ridgefield Ralph Richardson
ı	Susan Garthwaite Ann Todd
ı	Tony Garthwaite Nigel Patrick
Į	Philip PeelJehn Justin
	Jess Peel
ļ	Will SparksJoseph Tomelty
	Christopher Ridgefield Denholm Elliott Windy Williams Jack Allen
ì	Fletcher
	A.T.A. Officer Donald Harron
	OMACCE Donate narron

The visionary in the film is superbly played by Ralph Richardson. His ambition to make the first faster-than-sound plane has brought him nothing but grief and disaster. He sees his only son killed on his first solo try; he accepts the estrangement of his daughter when his son-in-law crashes while making the first attempt to crash the barrier. But he cannot stop risking lives to make progress, and the final triumph is accompanied by a tender reunion with his daughter and her newborn son.

Other roles are sincerely etched and her newborn son.

Other roles are sincerely etched by a polished team of British artists. Ann Todd's portrayal of the daughter correctly yields the emotional angle. She points up the woman's point of view, selfish but sincere, with a delicate simplicity. In contrast, Nigel Patrick plays her husband in a superficially light-hearted fashion, almost betraying his own emotions on the eve of his fatal crash. John Justin, as the pilot who penetrates the sound barrier, Dinah Sheridan, as his wife, and Joseph Tomelty, as the pressive performances.

David Lean's direction is bold and imaginative while Jack Hild-yard has done a first-class job of lensing.

Le Baquet Des Frandours

(The Smuggler's Ball)
(FRANCO-BELGJAN)
Paris, July 22.
AGDC release of Tevefilm production.
Directed by Henri Storck: screenplay.
Charles Spaak; camera, Eugene Shuttan.
Featurer J. P. Kerien, Francoise Rossy,
Paul Frankeur, Christian Lenier, Daniel
Ivernel, Andre: Valmy, Raymond FelleFrancoise Paris, Mine. Demissed Halls.
Among Paris,
Mine. Demeuse J. F. Kerien
Achille Yves Denlaud
Siska Christian Lenier
Auguste Paul Frankeur

Achilie Siska Christian Lenier Auguste Paul Frankeur This deals with the fatuity of borders in using the recent Benelux frontier agreements as a springboard. Serio-comic-aspects and a profusion of border shifting plus a hacked-up story line make this an uneven plc, and not one to appeal to the art house or sureseater audiences.

Story has the Belgian, Dutch and German' frontier before and after the Benelux formation that cut out customs regulations. A cynic, beloved by the daughter of the head Belgian customs man, is calmly plying his smuggling trade betwixt the countries. There is a love feud when a young customs man comes on the scene and tries to make love to the girl. There is also the story of the shoe manufacturer who goes bankrupt when his country is flooded by cheaper Dutch shoes after the lowering of customs barriers. The smugglers save the day by hauling the shoes to Germany for sale and then have a big party to fete the continuance of borders which gives them a living. Film is as complicated as the problems and has a tendency to wander. Direction is honest but does not sock home the drama or clarify the character and border conflicts.

Yves Deniaud gives one of his familiar laconic takeoffs on a kindly customs man. J. P. Kerien is properly phlegmatic as the smuggling king, and Christian Lenier does well with the difficult role of a simple country lass who is not above loosing the dogs on a rival in love. Lesser roles are good. Lensing is fine and editing keeps coherence in the rapidly-changing border locales. Mosk.

Deshoura (Dishonour) (ARGENTINE)

Sombre yarn of life in Argentine woman's prison. U.S. appeal spotty.

more impressive are the accompanying sound effects. The shrill whistle-like noise of the jet at full speed represents a triumph for the recording erew.

Casting of actors like Francisco de Paula, Guillermo Battaglia and others in tiny bit parts seems a wasteful move, unless, as often happens here, their help was enlisted on a cuffo basis for "partiotic" or "political" reasons.

Political propaganda is one objective of the production, although without any overt mention; the underlying theme is that justice and decent treatment have improved since the present regime, whereas in point of fact conditions in the women's jails are just as bad as they always were.

Some unpleasant aspects of perversion are treated quite openly, which makes it all the more surprising that the Censorship Board should have qualified the picture without restriction for all age groups.

Camera work and montage are outstanding, footage in a wealthy mansion is particularly sumptuous, while the musical background is also carefully suited to the dramatic requirements.

Drama depicts the tribulations of trained nurse Fanny Navarro, who is unjustly sentenced to a term of five-year imprisonment for the accidental fall down a lift-shaft of Tita Merello, a wealthy cripple married to villainous Georges Rigaud. Latter, has seduced the nurse and lets her stand accused of the crime he himself committed, using her as unwitting tool.

Initially, jail conditions are appalling, until with the new regime: a human directress is appointed, who transfers the heroine to the infirmary. Work there allows her to conceal her advanced pregnancy, until with the help of other inmates she escapes through the city sewers, her only thought be born outside jail. He shoots her and she survives only long enough to have the child know her innocence is proved and leave the child to the prison directress' care.

Practically all the footage is allotted to Fanny Navarro, who acquits herself well, although outclassed by Tita Merello and veteran Pepita Munoz. Golde Flami keys her performance with ability as the jail pervert. George Rigaud portrays the heef with a villainous enough evil suavity.

Jail scenes are punctuated with som

Les Deaux Verites

Les Derux Veriles

(The Two Truths)

(FRANCO-ITALIAN)

Paris, July 15.

DFF release of Jacques Boris production. Stars Michel Auciair, Michel Simon Ann-Marie Ferrero. Written and directed by Leonviola; camera. E. Serafin; editor. Benedetti, At Normandle, Paris. Running time, 100 Mins.

Michel Auciair. R. Benedetti, At vormanue, Falls Auglair Ining time, 106 MiNS. Louis Michel Auglair Marie-Louise Ann-Marie Ferrero Maitre Michel Simon Muk Valentine Tessier Prosecutor Ruggero Ruggieri

An attempt to give a two-sided view at court justice does not come off in this plodding film. Lacklustre direction, skimpy scripting and leabored use of coincidence and irony don't give this much chance for the U.S. Erotic aspects of pic and downbeat theme might give this a chance for hypoing in special situations. But general atmosphere and story give this little chance.

This gives the two sides of a murder during a courtroom scene with the familiar ensuing flashbacks. The prosecutor sounds off first in his direct accusation of the accused youth of having led a girl astray, used her as bait to get a job and then finally killing her in anger when she walks out on hing time, 71 Mills

Sen McGrun

John Archer
Jenius

Marguerite Chapman

Art A. Okies

Donald Harron

Technically, artistically and emodioally this is a topflight British offering. Although not a prestige

dictive in the conventional sense

Namy Corden

Marguerite Chapman

Art A. Okies

Donald Harron

Technically, artistically and emodioally this is a topflight British offering. Although not a prestige

dictive in the conventional sense

Namy Corden

Marguerite Chapman

Action

Technically, artistically and emodioally this is a topflight British offering. Although not a prestige

dictive in the conventional sense of the word, it should go a long

the word, it should go a long williams

Monogram's

"Sea Tiger" fills

Monogram's "Sea Tiger" fills

Monogram's "Sea Tiger" fills

Meline's Geaman. John Reces

of a melodramatic supporter. Audiences desiring a dist of actionide of British scientists who have designed aircraft that can fly faster that sound. Cast names spell nice

U.S. boxoffice.

The story, of course, has been actionalized, but the entire theme charles Yerkow original tagged

"Island Freighter," tale details efforts of sea captain John Archer to disprove the erroneous impres sion that he was a Jap agent durfor the spent way in the sam Roes alternative with the familiar ensuing flash actionally and mono

dictionally for the exhibitor in search of an elodramatic supporter. Audiences desiring a dist of actional transporters and the propertion of the size of interamerican release of interameri alternative production. Stare Fanny fills fills in Argen time woman's prison. U.S. ap peal spotty.

Interamerican release of interameri
anger wen set is con
tan Although the word, it should go a long first in his direct accusation of the girl astray, used her as bait to get a job and then finally killiling her

Interamerican release of interameri
anger wen set is con
the woman's prison. U.S. ap peal spotty.

Interamerican release of interameri
anger wen set is con-

Le Desir et L'Ampun,
(Leve and Desire)
(FERNCH)

Paris, July 22.
Marceau ralease of SGDC production.
Start Martine Grad. Antionio Villar; feaires de landry, Carmen Sevilla.
Gerard Landry, Carmen Sevilla.
Gerard Landry, Carmen Sevilla.
Michel Relber; editor, Annick Millett.
Vedettes, Paris, Running time, 90 Mins.

Antonio Villa

Antonio Villa

Carmen Sevilla.

This is attempt at a looksee into the making of a pic, using the film-within-a-film formula. Mixture of lightness and heavier love and desire overtones don't jell, and pie emerges as slow-moving and conventional in unfoldment. Pic was shot in Spain using Gallie and Spanish stars with an eye on both markets, but for the States it does not have much to offer either in treatment, theeping of marquee appeal. Might do as dual fodder with sexy Martine. Carol for exploitation bait.

Story has a French film group going to Spain to shoot exteriors. Once down there, they find that the leading man can't swim and a double has to be found for him. A handsome fisherman is pressed into service and he falls for the predatory leading lady, though engaged to a lovely peasant gal. Usual complications arise, with the fisherman finally being won back by love and country ties and quenching his desire for the star.

Pic has some nice bits of local color that help take off the edge of contrivance and artificiality. Religious pageants, fishing scenes and Spanish dances give it some good dress appeal. Direction of Henri Decoin is light but never gets around to any emphasis, and slimness of story lets him down. Miss Carol is decorative, but not up to par in the thesp department. Carmen Sevilla is a fine looker, and her songs and flamenco are standout. Antonio Viliar can't do much as the desire-smitten fisherman. Rest of the cast is adequate. Lensing is fine. Editing slows the pic, which needed pointing up in movement and pacing.

Vacanze Col Gaugster (Vacation with a Carmeter)

Vacanze Col Gangster (Vacation With a Gangster)

(ITALIAN)

Genoa, July 15.

Lux Film release or a Mambretti production. Stars Mare Lawrence, Lamberto Maggiorani, Glovanna Pala. Directed by Dino Risi. Screenplay, Risi and Ennley Piero Portalupi: est., Flavio Mogherinin nusic, Mario Nascimbene. At Universale, Genoa. Running time, 96 MiNS.
The gangster ... Amberto Maggiorani The prisoner ... Lamberto Maggiorani Clambreto Giordin Clambreto Gantano Pessina Gaetano Pessina

Lack of tighter script and an uneven structure will keep this in the modest brackets despite some good moments. Easy to take pic involves some youngsters who carry the bulk of acting chores.

involves some youngsters who carry the bulk of acting chores.

Story tells of attempts by a gang of boys to liberate an innocent prisoner (Lamberto Maggiorani) from an old castle. Prisoner's far from innocent cell-mate (Marc Lawrence) intercepts their message and when he finds a secret tunnel, escapes in his stead. Kids at first worship their new found "hero," but soon wise up to his true character and help hand him over to police. Also involved is a gangster's girl, who worms her way into gang's escape plans. Film is best when spotlighting the boys in their setting up of escape, and in the scene when they first realize their hero is actually a baddie. Marc Lawrence, here in his initial Italian role, is fine as the gangster; Giovanna Pala, a former "Miss Italy," a looker is his girl, Lamberto Maggiorani is wasted in a bit part. The boys are uniformly competent. Piero Portalupi's camera work is good. Hawk.

Mad Woman)
(Matican-Songs)
Mexican-Songs)
Mexican-Songs)
Mexican City, July 15.
Producciones Zacarias production and release: Stars Libertad Lamarque, for tures Ruben Rolo, Abarto Changuerotti, Fanny Schiller. Directed by Miguel Zacarias. Screenplay by Zacarias and Edmunde Baets camera, Alex Phillips music Manuel Esperon At Cine Alameda, Mexica City, Running time 195 MINS.

Libertad Lamarque, Argentinian tango singer, top show bix name in Mexico, has a fine interpretation here of an exacting role—a philanthropic madwoman. Her interpretation of a rich autumnal Mexico City socialite who loses her reason is so deftly done that horror of the tragedy of insanity is mitigated—even the terrible scene of a public mental hospital crew wresting a mother from her daughter. Miss Lamarque has a fine sense (Continued on page 22) Libertad Lamarque.

"MEMORABLE SUSPENSE DRAMA-

JOSEPH KAUFMAN presents

Joan Crawford Sudden Fear!

JACK PALANCE GLORIA GRAHAME BRUCE BENNETT VIRGINIA HUSTON TOUCH CONNORS

Produced by Directed by JOSEPH KAUFMAN DAVID MILLER Screenplay by

LENORE COFFEE and ROBERT SMITH
Based on Edna Sherry's Story, "Sudden Fear"

A THRILLING NEW HIGH IN SUSPENSE MELODRAMA!

The shock of truth . . .
The dread
of murder . . .
The hope of revenge . . .
HEARTBREAK poised on a trigger of terror!

HIGH ON LIST OF MONEY FILMS" -DAILY VARIETY

"Sudden Fear' is a memorable suspense drama certain to register high on the list of RKO money films this year. Independently made by Joseph Kaufman and taken by RKO for distribution, the picture scores notably. Kaufman's realization of his production responsibilities is socko... Quality casting, with Joan Crawford's name as the big marquee lure... A physical polish that is just right for the story, and many show values that can be exploited, acclaim the picture for large cash returns. For Miss Crawford the picture is a triumph as a performance, and as a vehicle unmatched since her 'Mildred Pierce' of seven years ago. A beautiful job of acting in a role that should appeal to every woman."

- Daily Variety

"A taut chiller... A gripping story of terror and suspense... A genuine shocker which serves as a tour de force for Joan Crawford, whose truly brilliant performance will make a conversation piece for a long time to come. The Joseph Kaufman picture is a smartly produced, superbly directed film that maintains an unrelenting tension from beginning to end. For David Miller, 'Sudden Fear' stands as a directorial triumph."

-Hollywood Reporter

"A powerful story with many high-tension dramatic high lights... With Joan Crawford turning in a deeply moving and exciting performance, the film has every indication of becoming a top grosser of the year."

-Film Daily

"A high-powered melodrama of love and evil design... It beats upon the emotions relentlessly. Showmen can be sure it's the type of melodrama that will bring to the theatre those patrons who go only when the product is strong?"

- Motion Picture Daily

"Excellent fare for any theatre and will get word-ofmouth to pack 'em in. Exhibitors should play it, exploit it, and add considerably to their bank account."

-Showmen's Trade Review

"A well-made, suspense-filled entry...continues to build in intensity until a climactic ending. Interest well-maintained throughout. Crawford is very good...Direction and production in the better class...Could go far boxoffice-wise."

-The Exhibitor

"Audiences that like their drama and melodrama on the taut side—with suspense and sound effects built up to the tolerable limit—will be well satisfied with this film... Reviewer's rating—very good."

-Motion Picture Herald

French Subsidies For U.S. Licenses Studied by MPAA

Without committing the Ameriwithout committing the American industry in any way, reps of the Motion Picture Assn. of America have been sounding out French pic toppers during the past week on what they have in mind regarding subsidies that would give the Vanks additional licenses for sendfilms into France.

ing hims into France.

New decree cutting American imports from 121 to 90 annually has been extremely disturbing to the U. S. distribs. However, it contains a clause indicating that additional permits will be granted if the Yanke provide subsidies to help French producers.

Fayette W. Allport and Gene Van Fayette W. Allport and Gene Van Dee, who were joined in Paris this week by Ted Smith, newly-appointed Continental rep of the MFAA, have instructions to find out what the French are thinking of in terms of subsidies. It has been made clear, however, that this indicates in no way American acceptance of the deeree or of the subsidy plan in no way American acceptance of the decree or of the subsidy plan, Allport, MPAA's London manager, and Van Dee, Rome rep, havebeen meeting with French industry execs rather than government officials, although any pact would be between the U. S. and French governments. However, since the French government and industry are working closely together, and it was undoubtedly pressure from the industry that brought on the subsidy clause in the decree, it is felt that present preliminaries are better taken up with film officials. American producers are split on American producers are split on the subsidy idea. The independ-ents and some of the majors, as well ents and some of the majors, as well as the State Dept., are firmly against spreading largesse. Other majors, however, are understood ready to listen to reason if it will enable them to up substantially the number of pix they send in and coin they are able to thaw.

Bingo Reprise

= Continued from page 7 =

License Department. They point out the games are not illegal, per se, since there is no law which prohibits the running of the games provided the state law pertaining to lotteries is upheld. Various city administrations, starting with the LaGuardia regime, have frowned on the practice and have used the city's, licensing power to prevent their operation, exhibs contend. If a direct appeal to the city government fails, the theatre owners are contemplating setting up a test ernment falls, the theatre owners are contemplating setting up a test case. They are considering establishment of a fund to fight in court any attempt to prevent the rivival of the giveaways. One exhib, who operates a nabe house in Brooklyn, has expressed a willingness to serve as the guinea pig in the experiment.

Money giveaways, exhibs say, pulled many small theatres through the depression years, often boosting their take from 40 to 50%. In the light of the precarious position the light of the precarious position some of these exhibs now find themselves in, they believe time is now ripe for a re-establishment or the coin come-ons.

Exhibs, in their petition to the mayor, will cite the number of theatres going out of biz and the decline in employment among projectionists. Indies contemplating move say they are currently operating at a 40% deficit.

Anglo-U.S. Pact

Illustrated Book Reviews Italo Pic Scene, 1945-51

Italo Pic Scene, 1945-51
Continuing bid by the Italian film industry for worldwide attention was further indicated during the past week by issuance in the U. S. of a lavishiy illustrated 100-page book reviewing the Italian cinema from 1945 through 1951. Distribution was financed by Italian Films Export, the promotion agency subsidized by American film-makers in return for liheral treatment by the Rome government on getting their frozencoin out of the country.

Book contains 'articles from various countries telling of the reactions to Italian pix. It's all in English. In addition, there are articles on various aspects of the industry, such as co-production with foreign producers, the Italo-American agreements, critical studies of tomic, musical historical and documentary films, economic development and other subjects.

Ann Arbor Will Vote On New Amus. Tax Plan

Ann Arbor, Mich., July 29.
Circuit Court has ruled that Ann Arbor voters may cast their ballots at the Aug. 5 primary on a proposed city amusement tax. Court rejected plea of Butterfield Theatres, Inc., that the proposal rould not legally go on the ballot since the voters at an April election voted against a proposed municipal excise tax program.

Butterfield contended that state law provides that a tax proposal, when beaten, cannot be presented to the voters again for two years. The judge ruled, however, that the amusement tax is a new proposal and not a part of the old one.

One.

Under the suggested tax, a 10% amusement levy would be charged on all admissions of more than 26c.

Olympics Pool

its daily output with Suomi-Filmi Oy, turns out three fine grains, and airships one each to Paris, London and New York for the further distribution necessary, About 2,000 feet hits the mailbag each day.

TV held out as a matter of principle, and only BBC-TV came inon a money basis, reportedly at on a money basis, reportedly at about $1,500. The International Newsreel Pool membership also refused to sell to U.S. TV, which left the latter standing pat for the first time on a big show without coverage. It is an odd quirk, in that the U.S. Olympic team was largely bankrolled for the jaunt by: hoopla fund-raising.

TV hoopla fund-raising.

Olympia-Filmi Oy, a special corporation set up by Risto Orko, prexy of Suomi-Filmi Oy, and Toive Sarkka, boss of Suomen-Filmiteolli Suus, will assemble the XV Olympiad into a 9,000-foot feature for world circulation. Project will lay down a 100,000-foot negative before estiting, and is budgeted for 60,000,000 finnmarks. Orko and Sarkka have a crew of 200 on this job, 42 of them cameramen drawn from France, Germany, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Great Britain and Finland.

So far signatures for distribut-

So far signatures for distribut-tion rights are on the line for Ger-many and Scandinavia, with Japan in the offing. Orlo says the West-ern Hemisphere is still in the hagern Hemisp gling stage.

In all this photo welter, Russia sent in six reelers, to which the Finns gave an okay on two and sent the other four packing. Much to everyone's surprise, the four thus denied very quietly packed and left the Russ cinema coverage in the hords of two one of them. and left the Russ cinema coverage in the hands of two, one of them a woman. No protests, no squawks and no threat to withdraw their Olympic team, ask for four new naval bases on the Baltic, or any-thing like that.

go to England toward the end of September.

Americans have been pointing to have the talks in New York or Washington, first as a matter of convenience and second because they feel the atmosphere is more favorable. Lee is coming to the U. S. anyway and it is understood that the British government has agreed now that he can open up the discussions.

Talks are expected to be long and tough, with the British reputdy considering extending their quotas and taking other steps to hold down on Yank earnings and remittables.

UA OPENS IN ALCIERS: NAMES NEW INDIA REP

United Artists this week opened its own office in Algiers as dis-tribution headquarters for the North African territory. Sub-branches also have been estab-lished in Tunis and Casablanca, according to Arnold M. Picker, for-according to Arnold M. Picker, for-eign department v.p. Maurice Aubier heads the new exchange, which will function as part of UA's French organization under the overall direction of Georges Rouvier, Under the new regime at UA, the outfit has been on the prowl for its own outlets throughout the world.

for its own outlets throughout the world.
Terry M. Lindner, Columbia Pictures manager in New Zealand, has: resigned to join United Artists as its special representative in India. He succeeds the late John Lawlor who died last month.
Lindner, who will act as homeoffice lisison with Western india Theatres, Ltd., UA dilistrib in the territory, assumes his new post after 11 years with Columbia's foreign organization. Accompanied by Keith Goldsmith, UA Far East supervisor, Lindner arrived in Bombay last week.

Rackmil Analogy

- Continued from pag

opportunity to exploit pix and build stars.

opportunity to tapace build stars.
Problem of the pic industry, the U-Decca prez declared, is now to "cut the pattern to the cloth." Theatre grosses, he pointed out, still total $1,250,000,000 a year and "when you handle that much still total $1,250,000,000 a year and when you handle that much money, some of it has to stick to your fingers."
Other companies, he added, are now doing what U did seven years ago—trimming costs to the new pattern of the industry.
Rackmil is high on telefilm production.

Rackmil is high on telefilm production. He sees an inevitable marriage of yidpix and theatrical film production at the major studios. Us subsid, United World Filins, is now prepping three senies of telepix and has four finished in the initial round. Company called a short hiatus after this first quartet to inspect and mult the product and has just started up again on the next four. When these have been completed, there will be a further halt, and then another five in the first series of 13 will be made, Rackmil said.

Each of the pix costs about $20,000, he explained, which means that a series of 26 ties up better than $250,000. Nevertheless, the than $250,000. Nevertheless, the U topper declayed, there will be nofeffort made to self them until the senies is completed. He said that U was in the fortunate position of having cash on hand to do this rather than having to use the less profitable and less successful method of making pilots. "There'll be no profits this year or mext in making TV films," Rackmil declared in answer to a query. "The profits lie in the residual rights. They may not be realized for three years or five years, but they'll be there eventually as long as you have your product on film."

rights. They may not be realized for three years or five years, but they'll be there eventually as long as you have your product on film." There are no changes in the offing in either policy or personnel at U, the new prez declared. "You don't tamper with a winning." ("eam," he remarked.

He said that studio exec Leo Spitz was seriously ill and that his future with the company hinged entirely on his health. Production topper William Goetz will stay with U, he asserted.

Goldstein Won't Return Queried regarding reports that producer Leonard Goldstein, who recently left the lot, might return, Rackmil said it was not so. Emphasizing the teamwork at U, he stated: "No one man is responsible for successful productions, and no one man does all the selling. It's the team that counts."

Rackmil said he'd make his headquarters in New York, going to the Coast as frequently as necessary—"It's only nine hours away."

Rackmil stated, "and will be used wherever his vast experience proves valuable."

The plan of merging U and Decca is off, Rackmil said, but the two companies will work together in instances where they complement each other. He admitted that there has been thought of using Decca's distribution organization to handle sales of telepix but a sid that the

has been thought of using Decca's distribution organization to handle sales of telepix, but said that it would take time to make definite

Picture Grosses

WASHINGTON

(Continued from page 8) week, and "Outcast of Islands" in smash first stanza at Playhouse. Estimates for This Week

Estimates for This Week
Capital (Loew's) (3,43; S5-95)—
"Till Sun Shines Nellie" (20th) plus vaude. Fair $18,000. Last. week, "Lady in Iron Mask" (20th) and vaude, $17,000.
Dupont (Lopert) (372; 50-85)—
"Under Paris Sky" (Indie) (2d wk).
Nice $4,000. Holds. Last. week,
$4,600.
Kaith's APKO) (1930. KASS.

Nice $4,000. Holds. Last week, $4,600.

Keith's (HKO) (1,939; 50-85)—

"King Kong" (RKO) and "Leopard Man" (RKO) (reissues). Fine $14,000, and holds. Last week, "Robin Hood" (RKO-Disney). $13,000.

Palace (Loew's) (2,370; 50-80)—
"Diplomatic Courier" (20th) (2d wk). Okay $13,000 after strong $19,000 apener.

Playhause (Lopert) (485; 50-$1)—
"Outcast of Islands" (UA). Sock $8,000, and holds. Last week, "Marrying Kind" (Col) (7th wk), $4,200.

Trans-Lux (T-L) (654; 80-$1)—
"Walk East on Beacon" (Col) (2d wk). Soid $10,000, after record $15,000 first round. Holds again.
Ontarie (K-B) (1,424; 4-74)—
"Something Live For" (Par). Okay $200, despite had two days during convention. Stays on. Last week, "Lydia Bailey" (20th) (3d wk), $7,000.

Warner (WB) (2,174; 50-80)—
"Will Rogers" (WB). Good $15.000

$7,000.

Warmer (WB) (2,174; 50-80)—

"Will Rogers" (WB). Good $15,000.

Last week, "California Conquest"

Last week, "California Conquest" (Col), $9,700.
Mctropolitan (WB) (1,200; 50-80)
"Models, Inc." (Indie). Average $4,000. Last week, "Denver Rio Grande" (Par), same.

KANSAS CITY

(Continued from page 9)

"California Conquest" (Coi) and "Cripple Creek) (Coi), $6,000.

Faramount (Tri-States) (1,900;
50-69)—"Jumping Jacks" (Par) (3d wk). Holds four days, and hitting nifty $5,000. "Greatest Show on Earth" (Par) opens at regular prices next Last week, Martin and Lewis comedy was great $11,000.

Tower, Upiewa, Fairway, Granada (Fox Midwest) (2,100; 2,043, 700; 1,217; 50-75)—"Sally and St.
Anne" (U) and "Rose of Cimarron"
(20th). Okay $13,000. Last week,
"Anybody Seen My Gai" (U) plus "Wagons West" (Mono) added at Tower and Granada, $14,000.

Vogue (Golden) (500; 50-85)—
"Last Hollday" (Indie). Neat
$1,800. Last week, "Odette" (Indie), $1,300.

BUFFALO

(Continued from page 8)

(Continued from page 8)
$11,000 or near. Last week, "Diplomatic Courier" (20th) and "You Can't Beat the Irish" (Lip), $10,000.
Paramount (Par) (3,000; 40-70)—
"Jumping Jacks" (Par) and "Fort Osage" (Mono) (3d wk). Trim $3,000 in 5 days. Last week, great $14,000.
Center (Par) (2,100; 40-70)—
"We're Not Married" (20th) (2d wk). Held at $7,500. Last week, fast $9,500.
Lafayette (Basil) (2,000; 40-70)—
"Francis To West Point" (U) and "Spider and Fly" (Indie). Good $9,000 or close. Last week, "Paula" (Col) and "Red Snow" (Col), $3,000.
Century (20th Cent) (3,000; 40-70)—"Robin Hood" (RKO). Sturdy $11,000 or near. Last week "King Kong" (RKO) and "Leopard Man" (RKO) (refssues), fancy $12,000.

BOSTON

(Continued from page 8)

(Continued from page 8)

"Diplomatic Courier" (20th) and
"Breakdown" (Indie). Nice $18,000.
Last week, "Robin Hood" (RKODisney) (2d wk), $14,000.

Mctrepolitan (NET) (4,367; 4085)—Jumping Jacks" (Par) and "Without Warning" (UA). Opened very big, with giant $32,000 pacing.
city. Last week, "Captain Pirate".
(Col) with Johnnie Ray, others, onstage, disappointing $35,000.
"Jovely Look At" (M-G) and "Confidence Girl" (UA). Opened nicelylast Saturday (26). Last week, "Pat' and Mike" (M-G) and "Montana Territory" (Col) (2d wk), $10,000.

Paramount (NET) (1,700; 40-85)

"Layd in Iron Mask" (20th) and
"Corp. Dolan Goes AWOL" (Mono).
Fairish $9.500. Last week, "Working Way Through College" (WB) and "Wagons West" (Mono) (2d wk), good $11,000.

State (Loew) (3,500: 40-85)—

Fairish $9.500. Last week, "Working Way Through College" (WB)' and "Wagons West" (Mono) (2d wk), good $11,000.

State (Loew) (3,500; 40-85)—
"Lovely to Look At" (M-G) and "Confidence Girl" (UA). Opened Saturday (26) in oke fashion. Last week, "Pat and Mike" (M-G) and "Montana Territory" (Col) (2d wk), oke $5,500.

Jacks' Rousing $22,000.

Indpls: 'Beacon' OK 9G

Indianapolis, July 29.
"Jumping Jacks" o uned bigger an "Sailor Beware" at Indiana "Jumping, Jacks" o sened bigger than "Sailor Beware" at Indian and leads fown with prospects of year's biggest gress despite heat and Dean convention on TV. In fact, exhibitors here figure political confabs helped them except during key sessions. "Diplomatic Courier" at Circle and "Walk East on Beacon" at Loew's are splitting cloak-and-darger trade even, with mild results for each.

Withmaker for This Week* Estimates for This Week

Estimates for This Week
Circle (Cockrill-Dolle) (2,800; 5076)—"Diplomatic Courier" (20th) and "To Shores Tripoli" (20th).
Fair $8,500. Last week, "Working Way Through College" (WB) and
"Big Night" (Indie), dandy $11,000.
Indiana (C-D) (3,200; 50-76)—
"Jumping Jacks" (Par). Terrific
$22,000, and second week is sure.
Last week, "Clash by Night"
(RKO) and "Bal Tabarin" (Rep);
$9,000.
Leew's (Loew's) (Z.427-50-76).

Lacw's (Loew's) (Z.427; 50-76)—
"Walk East on Beacon" (Col) and "Brigand" (Col). Okay $9,000 or near. Last week, "Lovely Look At"
(M-G) (Zd wk), tepid $5,500 in 5 days.

days.

Lyrle (C-D) (1,800; 50-76)—"Scarlet Angel" (U) and "Border Saddlemates" (Rep). Oke $5,500. Last week, "Valley of Engles" (Lip) and "Outlaw Women" (Lip), $4,800.

PITTSBURGH

(Continued from page 8) week's nearly $2,500, which was almost as good as opening session.

almost as good as opening session.

Stanley (WB) (3,800; 50-85)—
"Jumping Jacks" (Par) (2d wk).

The Martin and Lewis boom shows no signs of subsiding and ought to get at least $11,000 or near on holdover. Last week, big $20,000.

Warner (WB) (2,000; 50-85)—
"Robin Hood" (RKO). Looks like socko $10,000, and holds another stanza. Last week, "Models, Inc." (Indie) and "Outlaw Women" (Lip), $5,000.

PORTLAND, ORE.

(Continued from page 8) College" (WB) and "Stolen Face" (Indie) (2d wk) (m.o.), $4,400.

Oriental (Evergreen) (2,000; 65-90)—"We're Not Married" (20th) and "Bodeo" (Mono), day-date with Paramount. Oke $3,000. Last week, "Diplomatic Courier" (20th) and "Valley of Eagles" (Lip), and " $3,600.

and valley of Lagress shifts, 3,600.

Orpheum (Evergreen) (1,750; 65-90)—"Cripple Creek" (Col) and "Captain Pirate" (Col). So-so $6,000. Last week, "Diplomatic Courler" (20th) and "Valley of Eagles" (Lip), $7,400.

Paramount (Evergreen) (3,400; 85-90)—"We're Not Married" (20th) and "Rodeo" (Mono). Oke $7,000. Last week, "Fort Osage" (Mono) and "Here Come Marines" (Mono), $8,200.

United Arthis (Parker) (890; 65-90)—"Lovely to Look At" (M-G).

Tall $10,000. Last week, "Scaramouche" (M-G) (4th wh), $4,300.

TORONTO

(Continued from page 9)

"Scaramouche" (M-G) (3d wk). Holding at good $9,500. Last week, $11,500.

Odeon (Rank) (2.390; 50-90)—
"High Noon" (UA). Smash $17,000.
Last week, "Loan Shark" (Lip),
$7,000.

Shea's (FP) (2,396; 40:80)— "Working Way Through College" (WB) (2d wk). Nice $10,000. Last week, $13,500.

week, $13,000.
Tivoli, (University (FP) (1,436;
1,558; 40-80)—"Rains Came" (re-issue) (20th) and "Assassin for Hire" (20th). Fair $5,000. Last week, Lady in Iron Mask" (20th), week, 'Lady in Iron Mask' (2001), ditto. Uptewn (Loew) (2,743; 40-80)— "Girl in White" (M-C). Weak $6.-000. Last week, 'Francis to West Point" (U), same.

SAN FRANCISCO

(Continued from page 9)

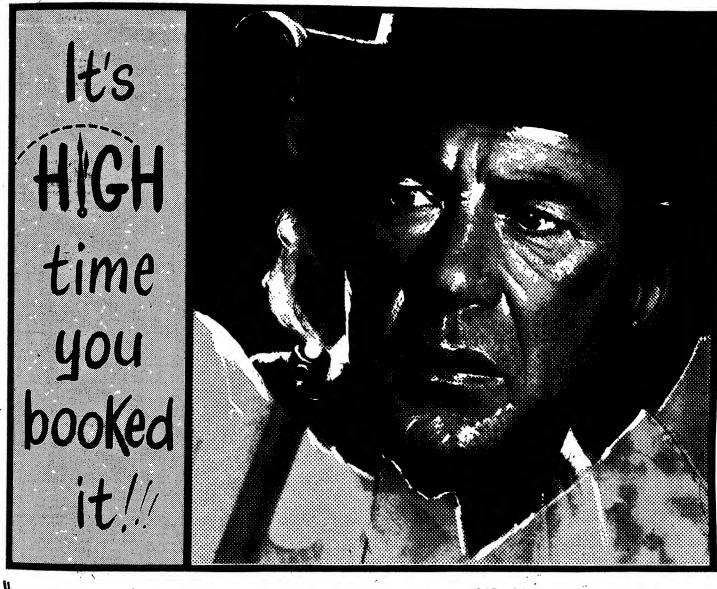

(Continued from page 9)
65-95)—"Tales of Hoffmann" (UA).
Fair $5,500. Last week, "Francis to West Point" (U) (2d wk), $6,500.
Stagedoor (A-R) (370; 85-$1)—
"Laura" (20th) and "This Above
All" (20th) (reissues). Husky $4,000.
Last week, "Lavendar Hill Mob"
(U) and "The Magnet" (U) (2d wk),
$2,800.
Clay (Rosener) (400: 65-85)—

Tlay (Rosener) (400; 65-85)— "Kind Hearts, Coronets" (UA) (4th wk). Oke $2,000. Last week, $2,700.

STANLEY KRAMER PRODUCTIONS presents

COOPER

"ONE OF THE BEST WESTERNS EVER MADE!" -Time Magazine

HIGH NOON

STANLEY KRAMER PRODUCTIONS presents GARY COOPER in "HIGH NOON" with THOMAS MITCHELL LLOYD BRIDGES - KATY JURADO - GRACE KELLY - OTTO KRUGER Lon Chaney - Henry Morgan - DIRECTED BY FRED ZINNEMANN - Screen Play by Carl Foreman - Music Composed and Directed by Dimitri Tiomkin - Director of Photography Floyd Crosby, A.S.C. - RELEASED THRU UNITED ARTISTS

FLASH! OPENING WEEKEND INDICATES SMASH TO RECORD-MAKING BUSINESS IN NEW YORK, PHILLY, BOSTON, PITTSBURGH, NEW ORLEANS, CLEVELAND.

Clips From Film Row

NEW YORK

Herb Steinberg, Paramount's publicity chief, accompanies Jane Russell from New York to Chicago today (Wed.), then continues to the Coast for huddles with Teet Carle, studio publicity head, on upcoming campaigns. Miss Russell personals the Oriental, Chi, in connection with opening of Par's "Son of Paleface," in which she is costarred with Bob Hope and Roy Rogers.

CHICAGO

Bell and Howell showed a 24% sales gain for the first half of 1952 as against the same half, last year, but profits, were smaller.

Roxy, West Chicago, Ill., sold by the Vallos Circuit to the American Legion.

the Val.

Legion.
Cozy and Lyric of South Bend, Ind., shuttered, but the Times in same city has reopened.
Roxy, formerly the Peck, in Pecatonica, Ill., bought by Hans M.
Balle; after remodeling will relight

Balle: after remodeling will relight. Sept. 6.
Balaban & Katz southside houses reverted to 7se prices after a stab at slightly higher admission scale, for several weeks.
Azteca Films set up a branch here with Harry Stern as manager.
Federal anti-trust suit against the Alliance Circuit postponed in Terre Haute, Ind., until Aug. 30.
Phyllis Dezel, wife of independent distributor Albert Dezel, convalescing from virus pneumonia.

MINNEAPOLIS

Joe Wolf went to San Antonio, Texas, to improve his drive-in the-atre there by installing twin screens and a new refreshment stand, W. R. Frank, circuit owner and

W. R. Frank, circuit owner and Hollywood film producer, one of three judges who chose winner of "Queen of Lakes" crown for local Aquatennial.

Reflecting general conditions which affect the boxoffice, building activity for the upper midwest area was slightly over 1% less for the first six months than for the corresponding period in 1951. However, the Minneapolis drop was 23%.

Mann's 400-seater World

"SKIN-TONIC ACTION in Lux care makes:

my skin wonderfully smoother!" says

Jane Wyman

She's Lux Lovely

here landed two Paramount re-leases, "Carrie" and "Encore," on competitive bids against four United Paramount Theatres, Loop firstrun houses.

Frank Eisenberg back to United Artists sales staff after long sep-aration, succeeding Don Miller, re-signed.

At convention here, house man-agers of Eddie Ruben's Welworth circuit made plans for a 10-week showmanship drive to celebrate 20th anni of chain's founding by

Ruben.
Minnesota smalltown theatres cleaning up with advanced admission showings of "Quo Vadis" and "Greatest Show on Earth." Former ran four days to capacity business in little Wheaton and latter broke resords in tiny Worthington.

DALLAS

Joe Duley named manager of the Circle Drive-In at Waco, succeeds Bobbie Chambers, transferred to the Belknap ozoner at Fort Worth. Chambers replaces Fred McHenry, who resigned.

Chambers replaces Fred McHenry, who resigned.

Elbert Smith is new owner of the Gay Theatre at Kountze; he purchased house from Tom Easley.

E. H. Rowley was reelected head of Rowley United Theatres at a meeting of stockholders and directors here. Other officers relected included John H. Rowley, executive veepee and secretary, and C. V. Jones, general manager.

Nelida Darven joined Danne Deane orch currently at Cipango Club, as vocalist. Phil Cate new drummer for Bill McCune orch, now playing St. Anthony Hotel in San Antonio... Chuck Cabet band currently booked into the Balinese in Galveston.

ST. LOUIS

Harold Larkin and Claud Davis, owner of Strand, Ellington, Mo., lighted new 300-car ozoner near lighted new sourcar ozoner neathere.

Adolph F. Meier, owner of the Cuba in Cuba, Mo., will construct a new coner near that town.

Clifford H. Hough, Lebanon, Ill., sold his Lyric in Newburg, Mo., to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Eagleworth.

Fanchon & Marco relighted its St. Louis, a 4,000-seater in midtown, dark since Feb. 21, last

Fred Durbin shuttered his Perry in Perry, Ill., for the summer.

The Pike, 300-seater, Griggs-ville, Mo., closed for an indefinite period by Richard Wade.

Tag for the new theatre in St. Ann's Village, St. Louis county owned by St. Louis Amus. Co., is the Lacosa. House is being readled for fell coming.

the Lacosa. House is being readiled for fall opening.

Fanchon & Marco-St. Louis Amus. Co., took over booking and buying chores for the Crest, Affton, Mo.

Mo.

A. L. Matreci, owner of the Upton, will relight the house in September.

Jack Kane, St. Louis salesman for Lippert Pictures, resigned to be come Indiana-Tennessee-Kentucky and Arkansas rep for Mack Enterprises, Centralia, Ill.

PITTSBURGH

Bud Hahn, who recently resigned Harris Amus. Co. office post, is back in fold again as a relief manager. Publicity duties for circuit now being handled by William Zellor, who runs the downtown J. P. Harris theatre. Ken Hoel quit few weeks ago as ad pub director for Harris after being with company nearly 25 years.

Phyllis Petrof replaced Jean

Phyllis Petroff replaced Marcini as secretary in WB publicity department. Latter's joining her soldier-husband at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., until he ships overseas.

overseas.

Norbert Stern, real estate investor who heads the Associated Drive-In Theatres circuit, is secretary-treasurer of Norjay, Inc., company which plans to construct a big new suburban shopping center opposite the old Allegheny County airport entrance in West Mifflin borough.

borough.

Anton Theatre in Monongahela, recently acquired by William Gray, who also owns the Bentley there, is being completely renovated and an entire new floor will be added.

COLUMBUS

After seven months of house-hunting Robert A. Wile, exec sec-retary of Independent Theatre Owners of Ohio, finally found one and moved his family here from California in July.

California in July.

The ITO, which has labored several years to get Paramount to conform with the practices of other companies and serve Columbus out of Cincinnati rather than Cleveland, has finally won qut, with the distributor making the desired switch.

LOS ANGELES

Paramount appointed James Ricketts temporary branch manager in Denver to succeed Clarence Olson, resigned.

Harold Wirthwein, Monogram's western sales manager, announced the resignation of Jack Frost as manager of the Kansas City exchange, effective Aug. 15.

RKO will release "Under the Red Sea," prepared for the screen by Sol Lesser from adventure films by Dr. Hans Haas, with narration by Elliot Paul.

CINCINNATI

Razing of Orpheum theatre, built in 1900 for William Morris vaude-ville, in opposition to downtown Keith interests' house, announced by its present investment broker ownership. A chain store is to re-place it.

place it.

Jerome Shinbach, RKO Theatres division manager, set up headquarters here Monday (28) in adding Ohio to territory he supervises out of Chicago. Joe Alexander, in charge of Clincy and Dayton (O.) operation, continues as city manager.

Duggan

Continued from page 5

one man's opinion anent television one man's opinion anent television which, in effect, boils down to the observation that TV can't compete with the magic of the big screen. The film-maker said he caught the recent televising of the politico conclaves in Chicago. His conclusion: "When the camera focused on the more than 2,000 persons in the arena, the 21-inch screen reduced them all to pinheads. In contrast, the regular theatre screen depicts big, exciting events in depicts big, exciting events in larger-than-life size. There's no connection between the two."

Duggan is in Gotham with his wife, short story writer and novelist Libby Block. They return to the Coast at the weekend.

Film Reviews

La Loca

La Leea of comedy and her singing is a tasteful relief.
Story is hard-hitting, but avoids propaganda. Miguel Zacarias directs sharply but considerately. Depression and shock are lessened even in glimpses of the local mental hospital and its procedures.
Camera work is excellent. Alma Delia Fuentes is fine as the harassed daughter. Alejandro Changuerotti, newomer to Mexican pix, is firstrate in trast-comedy relief as Miss Fuentes' dipsomanic cousin. Pic is big box office here.

Cente Piccelee Mammae
(100 Little Mothers)
(ITALIAN)
Genoa, July 1.
Columbia release of an Italinter Film production. Stars William Tubbs, Annato.
A. Augusto. Directed by Guida Moguy.
Statemplay, Leonide Moguy, from story
by Jean Guitton; camera, Glorgio Oraini; music, Carlo Innocenni. At Olimpia.
Martino William Tubbs.
Martino William Tubbs.
Mimeelf
The mother Lia Amanda

Rendezvous a Grenade (FRENCH)

(FRENCH)

Paris, July 15.

Sirius release of SFDC-Sirius production, Stars Luis Mariano; features Jean Tissier, Marthe Mercadler, Nicole Maurey, Ollyier Hussenot, Directed by Richard Fottler; screenplay, Andre Tabelt camera. Gerard Carler; editor, Andre Germain, der Aller; editor, Andre Germain, der Mills, Marco Luis Mariano Maxime Jean Tissier Nina Nicole Maurey Amette Marthe Mercadler Chaugeur , Olivier Hussenot This.

This is a showcase job for the popular tenor warbler here, Luis Marlanb. Flimsy plotting, wooden thesping and lack of any eye-catching production numbers make this of little appeal for stateside circuits.

enits.

Plot has bobbysox idol Mariano meeting his lady love every Wednesday in her lush villa far from the Paris hurly-burly. Into this setup comes Mariano's lovable but bumbling foster-father who puts a bug in the gal's ear that starts all the trouble. She sees Mariano mobbed by chicks. and runs off broken-hearted, but is caught up in time for the final clinch.

Direction is plodding. Pic gives evidence of a low budget. Mariano thesps in a listless manner and the babe in the woods fares little better. The few yocks are garnered by Jean Tissier in his attempt at injecting something into the pic as the girl-happy ex-carny man who bungles and straightens out the lives around him.

Mosk. Plot has bobbysox idol Mariano

La Ausente

La Auscrite
(The Absentee)
(MEXICAN)

Mexico City, July 1.

Columbia Pictures release by Internacional Cinere Columbia Pictures release by Internacional Cinere Columbia Pictures
Arturo de Cordoba, Rosita Quintana, Festures Mary Douglas, Andrea Palma, Ramon Gay, Angelica Hartman, Directed by Julio Bracho, Scrigt, Netfall Beltran; adaptation, Julio Bracho; camera, Alex
Pictures Music, Raul Lavista, At Cine
Refere Music, Raul Lavista, At Cine
Refere Music, Raul Lavista, At Cine
Balla, Mexico City, Running time,
118 MMR.

This heavy, conventional drama of a rich man brooding in the be-lief that he has killed his wife must depend largely on Arturo

Cordoba, recently Oscared as top
Mexican dramatic actor; Rosita Quintana, a sightly blonde, and camerawork by Alex Phillips, a champ lenser last year, for its draw. Story is more than a little reminiscent of "Rebecca," a smash in Mexico more than a decade ago.
Film is a current boxoffice champ, being on longrun at the Cine Metropolitan.

Ton roles admirably 6t De Con-

Metropolitan.

Top roles admirably fit De Cordoba and Miss Quintana. Mary Douglass portrays an intruding sister-in-law with rapier sharpness. Character of the child is well done by Angelica Hartman.

Direction could be better which is surprising because it is handled by one of Mexico's tap directors, Julio Bracho. Direction is so jerky, one wonders if censors ordered many cuts.

Doug.

Ouvert Contre X (The-Case Against X) (FRENCH)

Paris, July 1. Paris, July 1.

Gaumont release of Gaumont-Cinephonic production. Features Ephonic production. Marie Dea. Directed by Richard Petitler; screenplay, MarcGilbert Sauvajon; camera, Pierre Levent.
At Baizac, Paris, Running time, 100 MMNS,
Katherine Ephonic production of Marie Dea
Marie Dea
Marie Dea
Marie Dea
Marie Dea
Marie Dea
Marie Dea
Marie Dea
Marie Dea
Marie Dea
Marie Dea
Marie Dea
Marie Dea
Marie Marie Bulleting
Marie Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Marie Bulleting
Marie Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting
Marie Bulleting

Film is a whodunit without any action, suspense or deft characterization to lift it out of the ordinary. It does not have the stature or appeal for U. S. markets. Story concerns a girl accused of murdering a heel who was trying to blackmail her with her past to ruin her new love.

ruin her new love.

Direction of Richard Pottier can't do much to dispel the wordy script which bogs down any action. Obvious plotting and or dinary thesping don't help much. Elina Labourdette is wooden as the unjustly accused and Marie Dea adds a spark of vehemence as the frustrated, jealous rival. Yves Vincent is properly dashing as the ambiitious detective with Yves. Deniaud giving his standard performance as a garrulous inspector.

Mosk.

Eva Peron

Continued from page 3

distribs, among others, if it resulted in restoring the country to its former strong financial position. As things stand now, the embargo has been lifted and import permits are being granted in sufficient number to allow companies to send a stream of new pix into release. But U. S. firms are getting no coin out, despite an agreement entered into with the government two years ago.

Prospects appear nil at the moment of unfreezing earnings because of the severe lack of foreign exchange. Country, which was one of the great grain exporters of the world, has been forced even to import wheat. Result of the whole economic mess is to make it tough on Yank film men, as well as other importers.

New York Theatres

RADIO CITY MUSIC HALL "IVANHOE" TAYLOR . TAYLOR . FONTAINE ofor by TECHNICOLOR . An M.G.M Pictur plus SPECTAGULAR STAGE PRESENTATION

Refreshment Service for DRIVE - IN THEATRES

See Jane Wyman "THE STORY OF WILL ROGERS" A WARNER BROS. PRODUCTION TECHNICOLOR NOW SHOWING LOCALLY

Here's a tale with a mighty happy beginning!

"the funniest of all the -HEDDA HOPPER has the same boxoffice stamina as its predecessors and is even tópping them in many situations ...for instance:

Paramount Theatre, Amarillo, Texas, 11% bigger than FRANCIS GOES TO THE RACES, 35% bigger than FRANCIS;

Chief Theatre, Pocatella, Idaho, 13% bigger than RACES, 3% bigger than FRANCIS;

Lucas Theatre, Savannah, Georgia, 25% bigger than RACES, 44% bigger than FRANCIS;

Majestic Theatre, San Antonio, Texas, 2% bigger than RACES, 5% bigger than FRANCIS;

Jefferson Theatre, Huntington, Indiana, 20% bigger than RACES, 23% bigger than FRANCIS.

with LORI NELSON·ALICE KELLEY·PALMER LEE

and FRANCIS" the Talking Mule

Directed by ARTHUR LUBIN - Story and Screenplay by OSCAR BRODNEY - Produced by LEONARD GOLDSTEIN Based on the character "FRANCIS" created by David Stern • A UNIVERSAL-INTERNATIONAL PICTURE

Colgate's Les Harris Sees Dubious Payoff on Residual Vidpix Rights

The phrase, "residual rights," which some agencies and clients look on as the answer to all their vidfilm budgetary problems, actually may not be the profit-taking panacea that it looks on first glance. That's the opinion of Colgate production manager Les Harris, who believes that it might be more advantageous for a sponsor to have believes that it might be more au-vantageous for a sponsor to have a show produced for him at a lower cost in the beginning, rather than insisting on retaining a share of the residuals and so paying a higher initial cost.

er initial cost.

"Webster defines 'residual' as that which remains after any process of subtracting," Harris said, "and that is hitting pretty close to the mark. A lot of subtraction is likely to take place before any advertiser gets to share in the loot. There have been several instances since the device was introduced. rnere have been several instances since the device was introduced, where a share of the residuals earned a tidy profit, but as a standard attraction for the future, any profits for the client from residuals would amear negligible."

would appear negligible."

Actually, according to Harris, the cost of a package where the client demands a share of the residuals is (Continued on page 34)

SAG Members Urged To Okay New Pact With Vidpic Prods

Hollywood, July 29.

Additional details of pact recentagreed to by Screen Actors Guild and various leading telepix companies have been announced by SAG, which sent copies of pacts and ballots to membership along with recommendation of board of directors that new deal be okayed. Pact is effective as of last July 21,

Arrectors that new deal be okayed.
Pact is effective as of last July 21, subject to Wage Stabilization Board's okay.
Contract calls for guarantee of 13 episodes on series, at minimum of $125 per episode; minimum of $250 per episode for first six episodes and $200 per episode for each one over six where guarantee is for less than 13 episodes; players get minimum of $160 a week on term pacts guaranteeing work 20 out of 26 weeks; $225 per week minimums where pact guarantees
10 out of 13 weeks work.

If producer sells film, SAG is protected with clause in pact. Exclusivity provides thesp will not appear in TV blurbs or films which would be in competition with sponsor.

'BLINKEY'S' $3,200 TAB AS 15-MIN, TELEFILM

Offered as further proof by eastern film producers of how much less expensive is vidfilm production in N. Y., producer Murray less expensive is vidilim produc-tion in N. Y., producer Murray King is currently turning out a new quarter-hour moppet show at $3,200 per stanza. Show is titled "Adventures of Blinkey" and the low budget is made possible, ac-cording to King, by a new process for combining live action with maniforation.

for combining live action with marionettes. Show, dealing with the experiences of an average child in a world of adventures, is scripted by Or. Lucille Emerick, author and child psychologist, who has already created 117 stanzas. King, who is bardling his own distributed. King, the the short of t

MCA-TV Taking Outside Vidpix for Distribution

Hollywood, July 29.
Distribution end of MCA-TV
Ltd. has expanded its activities and for the first time the MCA agency's video arm is handling production.

for the first time the MCA agency's video arm is handling product other than that filmed by its own TV subsidiary, Revue Productions. New product is being distributed on a regional and local basis, not national.

Acquired by MCA-TV Ltd. for distribution are the Abbott and Costello vidpix series made some time ago at the Hal Roach lot, and angeled by A&C; the George Raft series, "I Am the Law," also bankrolled by A&C, and the Werner Janssen "streamlined" music classics;

FATHER KNOWS BEST SET AS VIDPIX SERIES

Latest established radio property to hit the vidfilm route will be "Father Knows Best," the half-hour situation comedy starring Robert Young. Actor, who owns the package, has set a deal with Ted Robinto produce the telepix series on the Coast in which Young will also star. Consolidated TV Sales, on the Coast in which Young Will also star. Consolidated TV Sales, which will distribute, is seeking a network sponsor.

Radio version goes again on NBC this fall under General Foods' sponsorship. TV version will be budgeted at about $20,000 per stanza, which the producers claim is about one-third less than other top-name situation comedy vidfilm shows. Consolidated is attempting to sell the series without benefit of a pilot film and claims to have aroused sponsor interest on the basis of an announcement of plans alone.

Consolidated, incidentally, will also syndicate a new vidfilm western show, titled, "Steve Donovan, Texas Ranger" and being produced by Jack Chertok, producer of the "Lone Ranger" telepix show. Title role is played by Douglas Kennedy. Show is designed for either national or spot sponsorship.

Mfrs. Pick Up Tab For Ed & Pegeen's Vidpix Series for Dept. Stores

New series of Mr. and Mrs. vidfilm shows starring Ed and Pegeen Fitzgerald, which are currently under production at the Seaboard Studios, N. Y., will be sponsored by top department stores in the various TV markets at no cost to the stores. Under a deal worked out by George Kamen, packager of the series, and Seaboard prez Sanford Johnson, the manufacturers whose products will be plugged in each film will pay not only for the film itself but also for air time in each market.

in each market.

Deal calls for four plugs to be carried in each quarter-hour stanza. In return for the manufacturers paying for production costs and air time, the stores in turn will give the products plugged extra display space on their counters and will also take-daily newspaper ads, tying in the pix with their stores. Idea, of course, is a co-op venture to help both the stores and manufacturers sell more goods inside the stores.

14-----Telepix Reviews Telepix Keviews

MY LITTLE MARGIE
With Charles Farrell, Gale Storm,
Hillary Brooke, Don Hayden,
Clarence Kolb, others Producer: Hal Roach, Jr.
Director: Hal Yates
Writers: Frank Fox, George Carleton Brown
30 Mins.; Mon., 9 p.m.
PHILIP MORRIS
CBS-TV, from N. Y.
(Blow)

(Biom)

"My Little Margie," new vidfilm series which is in as summer re-placement on CBS-TV for "I Love Lucy," hasn't improved since its preem June 18. Latest stanza, aired Monday night (28), suffered from the same weak scripting and ludicrous slapstick as the originaler. For the benefit of both Philip Morris, the sponsor, and CBS, it's probably a good thing that "Lucy" comes back into the time slot soon.

Monday night. preem June 18. Latest stanza turn will give the products plugged that "Lucy" comes back into the extra display space on their counters and will also take-daily newspaper ads, tying in the pix with their stores. Idea, of course, is a co-op venture to help both the stores and manufacturers sell more goods inside the stores.

Format of the show will have the Fitzgeralds offering household hints to the wife and husband in viewing households. Pilot film, completed some nine months ago, was titled "Something New," but it's not yet certain whether that ittle will stick. Series is slated to tee off in some 20 markets outside N. Y. during September.

about which the action revolved about which the action revolved was phony.

Ex-film star Charles Farrell, who plays the widowed, romantic father in the series, has not yet recaptured the thesping ability which made him a name 15 or 20 years ago. Gale Storm, in the title role, fared slightly better but hadn't much of a chance with her lines and situations. Hillary Brooke, as Farrell's vis-a-vis, and Don Hayden, as Miss Storm's boyfriend, are still the best in the cast.

Stal.

SPORTS PARADE Distributor: United Artists TV 15 Mins.; Thurs., 11 p.m. BRISTOL-MYERS KTLA, Hollywood

Grooved at the sports fans, this segment appears on KTLA late Thursday nights, appropriately spotted to follow the channel's wrestling matches. A sports newsreel covering highlights of the previous week in sports, it's a natural for this particular segment.

for this particular segment.

On the 15-minute spot caught were shots of the Olympic acqua finals; All-Star baseball game; stock car championship race, and the Brooklyn handicap. Best lensing was of the Langhorne race, with some excellent shots of the cars zooming around the dirt course.

course.
Bristol-Myers sponsors this lateevening program, plugging Vitalis and Bufferin. Blurbs are rather mechanical, without any semblance of originality. Daku.

TV Films in Production

as of Friday, July 25

ARROW PRODUCTIONS "RAMAR OF THE JUNGLE" 28 half-hour jungle adventure telept series resume in August. Producers: Harry S. Rothedhild Leon mades. Flum Producer Maduph Flothow Director. Wally Fox

BREAKSTON-STABL PRODS. SAFARI Service Studios: Hollywood SAFARI BILL" series of 26 half hour pix to begin shooting August Loca-ishots to be filmed in British East Africa,

Martha Hyer heads cast, parts to fill.
Producer-director: Breakston-Stahl
Associate producer: Irene Breakston
Technical executive: John R. Carter

WILLIAM F. BROIDY PRODS.
"WILD BILL HICKOK" series of halftiour western adventure series now in oreparation to resume shooting mid-Autust. Guy Madison, Andy Devine set gust. Guy Magison, And, Devine estlear, Robust' series featuring Jimmy Slarr now being prepped for fall.

"CASE HISTORY" featuring Regis Toomey, Sara Hayden, and "TRAIL BLATFRS" with Alan Hale, Jr., as set lead, also in preparation for fall shooting, which we will be a series of the control produced wellow for fall shooting.
Control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control
produced with the control produced with th

JACK CHERTOK PRODS.

General Service Studios. Hollywood "LONE RANGER" half hour series of 52 videoaters now shooting John Hart, Jay Silverheels set leads. Producer: Jack Chortok Associate Producer: Harry Poppe.

FEDERAL TV CORPORATION
Glowyn Studios, Hollywood
"MR. AND MRS. NORTH" series of half hour situation comedies now shooting first 39. Barbara Britton, Richard Denfroducer: Federal TV Forducer: Federal TV
Orporation.
Director: Ralph Murphy.

DESILU PRODUCTIONS

DESILU PRODUCTIONS

General Service Studios, Holywood

"I comeral Serv

FRANK FERRIN PRODUCTIONS

8528 Sunset Blvd., Hollywood
Casting: Virginia Mazuca
"SMIL PD'S GANG" series now shootsee Ed McConnell. Nino Marcel head cast, oddeer-director: Frank Ferrin soddeer-director: Raiph Ferrin seistant director: Do Olsen

be made once a week for NBC. DeSoto-Plymouth sponsoring. Producer: John Guedel Film producer: I. Lindenbaum Directors: Bob Dwan, Bernie Smith

FLYING A PRODUCTIONS
6920 Sunset Blvd., Hollywood
"ANNIE OAKLEY" new series of 52
half-hour videoaters now in praparation.
Gail Davis, Billy Gray head cast. Parts to fill.

Second series of, 52 half-hour Gene Autry Western telepix shooting. Gene
Autry Western telepix shooting. Gene
Autry Hestern telepix shooting. Gene
Autry Hestern telepix shooting. Gene
Autry Hestern telepix shooting. Second series of 52 half-hour videolers. Jack Mahoney, Dick Jones head cast.
Producer: Douis Gray
Directors: Wallace Fox. Geo. Archainbaud
New series of half-hour western dramas entitled "DEATH VALLEY DAYS" now shooting.

coding.
coducer: Darrell McGowan
rector: Stuart McGowan

W. R. FRANK PRODS. General Service Studios: Hollywood Group of 4 30-minute "MEDAL OF HONOR" telepix now shooting. Producers: W. R. Frank, William Dean Director, Reginald LeBorg Production Manager: Bart Carre

GROSS-KRASNE, INC. General Service Studies: Hollywork formers Service Studies: Hollyw sories 28 half hour telepix July 28 sponsored / Lever Brothers, Patrick McVey and une Nigh set leads. roducers: Jack J. Gross and Philip N. Krasne

JOHN GUEDEL PRODS. oo Taft Bldg. Hollywood
t Linkletter starring in a series of 15-minute vidgix titled "LINKLETTER
THE KIDS."
ucer-director: Maxwell Shane clate producer: Irvin Atkins

JAN PRODUCTIONS, INC. JAN FRUDUCTIONS, INC.
General Service Studios: Hollywood
"IT'S THE BICKERSONS" series of hafour comedy telepix now shooting, Lew Parker and Virginia Grey set leads.
Producer: Jack Denove
Production supervisor: C. M. Florence
Director-writer: Phil Rapp

EDWARD LEWIS PRCDS. Motion Picture Center, Hollywood Series of 13 half-hour telepix featuring ene Dunne as femce now shooting roducer Edward Lewis roduction manager: William Stevens

THE McCADDEN CORP. General Service Studios: Hollywood
"THE BURNS AND ALLEN SHOW"
now shooting series of half hour comedy
telepix. The Carnation Co. sponsor.
Cast: George Burns and Graele Allen,
Fred Clark, Bea Benadaret, Harry Von
Zell.

Zell.
coducer Ralph Levy
irector: Ralph Levy
'riters: Paul Henning, Sid Dorfman, Harvey Helm, William Burns

MARCH OF TIME
369 Lexington Ave. N. Y.
"AMERICAN WIT AND HUMOR" seles of 26 half-hour pix. Thomas Mitchell, arrator, with east including Gene Lockart. Jeffrey Lynn, Arnold Moss, Ann ur and Olive Deering, ur and Charles are sense.
Director: Fred Stephanl.

PATHESCOPE PRODUCTIONS

580 Fifth Ave.. New York City

780 We shooting "THE HUNTER," series

181 Alchour teleplix, sponsored by

182 First Control of the State of the State

William Reproducer: Ed Montagnetison heads cast,

Production Supervisors; Walter Raft,

Robert Drucker

Director; Oscar Rudolph.

FILMCRAFT PRODS.

8451 Meirose. Hollywood
GROUCHO MARX starred in 39 half-hour audience participation film productions, to

Producer: Roland Reed Director: Howard Bretherton "MY LITTLE MARGIE" series of half hour comedy telepla now shooting. Charles Farrell and Gale Storm head cast. Philip Morris, sponsors. ip Morris sponsors. lucer: Hal Roach ector: Hal Yates

REVUE PRODUCTIONS Eagle Lion Studios: Hollywood Half-hour series of adult drama tele x now shooting for Revue Prods. coducer: Revue Productions irectors: Richard Irving, Norman Lloyd

HAL ROACH PRODUCTIONS

HAL ROACH PRODUCTIONS
Hal Roach Studies: Cuiver City
AMOS 'N' ANDY" series of character comedy tejepix now shooting. Sponsored by the Comedy tejepix now shooting. Sponsored by the Comedy tejepix now shooting the Comedy
Childress, Emestine Wade, Johnny Lee,
Horace Stewart.
Supervisors: Freeman Gosden, Charles
Correll, Sidney Van Keuren
Director: Charles Bardon Series
Directors: Charles Bardon Series
Assistant director: Emmett Emerson

Vidpix Chatter

Hollywood

Barney Gerard has submitted a video series, "The Beloved Judge," to a TV production company as a projected deal on which he would act as producer . . . Bing Crosby Enterprises sold 13 "Royal Playhouse" vidpix to Radio Audizioni Italia . . . Gioria and Lyle Talbot set for roles in Flying A vidpix series. Director George Archain-ALL ROAG SENDIOS: Curver City

All Road Sendios: Curver City

Blatz Beer for CES-T.

Cash Tim Moore, Spencer Williams, Alvits

Blatz Beer for CES-T.

Cash Tim Moore, Spencer Williams, Alvits

Broad Selvant.

Supervisors: Freeman Gosden, Charles

Supervisors: Freeman Gosden

Freeman Gosden

Supervisors: Freeman Gosden

Supervisors: Freeman Gosden

Supervisors: Freeman Gosden

Supervisors: Freeman Gosden

Supervisors: Freeman Gosden

Supervisors: Freeman Gosden

Supervisors: Freeman band takes cast and crew of Gene Autry oaters to Lone Pine for location shooting . . . Filmcraft Pro-

CLIENTS SWITCH TO SPOT VIDPIX

Scorecard of Webs' Vidpix Shows

Following Is the lineup of major network shows which will be on film this year, as compared to those aired via film during the 1951-52 season. For the upcoming year, CBS will have 12 and NBC will have 13 film shows, while ABC will have two. DuMont airs a number of vidfilm packages but these are sponsored locally or regionally and not on a full network basis.

1952-53

Fred Allen Show (NBC)
Amos 'n' Andy (CBS)
Amos 'n' Andy (CBS)
Biff Baker, U.S.A. (CBS)
Biff Baker, U.S.A. (CBS)
Biff Baker, U.S.A. (CBS)
Big Town (CBS)
Burns & Allen (CBS)
Cavalcade of America (NBC)
The Doctor (NBC)
Dragnet (NBC)
Frour-Star Theatre (NBC)
Four-Star Theatre (CBS)
Gangbusters (NBC)
Greatest Fights (NBC)
Greatest Fights (NBC)
Groucho Marx (NBC)
I Love Lucy (CBS)
Lone Ranger (ABC)
Ozile & Harriet (ABC)
Man Against Crime (CBS)
Our Miss Brooks (CBS)

Available of the upcoming year, CBS will have two. 12 film shows, which Milm shows, while ABC will have two, the surface of the upcoming year, CBS will have two, the show which will have two, the surface of the upcoming year, CBS will have two, the surface of the upcoming year, CBS will have two, the surface of the upcoming year, CBS will have two, the surface of the upcoming year, CBS will have two, the surface of the upcoming year, CBS will have two, the surface of the upcoming year, CBS will have two, the surface of the upcoming year, CBS will have two, the surface of the upcoming year, CBS will have two, the surface of the upcoming year, CBS will have two, the surface of the upcoming year, CBS will have two, the same of the upcoming year, CBS will have two fill have two, the surfac

H'wood Alarmed as Vidpix Producers Move Into Lush Foreign Markets

Hollywood, July 29

oackagers, on the lookout for additional revenue to get off the vidpic hook, are eyeing Hollywood's lush foreign market. In past weeks, many packagers have been overturned for pooling their product to be sold in world-markets. It's no secret that NBC, and

CBS, in organizing syndicates, had foreign sales in mind, and Holly-wood studio heads are alarmed at the growing movement to invade their pix stronghold.

Desilu, for example, is making Desilu, for example, is making a feature length film out of several "I Love Lucy" episodes and is eyeing the foreign market for sales. Similarly, Jack Webb's "Dragnet" is being sought for overseas. Plan of one operating syndicate is to pool 1,000 pix to be "dumped" in foreign markets for whatever they'll bring. Due to the cost factor, films would be subtitled rather than dubbed but could serve as a good second feature, particularly since many boast names usually available only in top product.

One concept is to splice three names usually available only in top product.

One concept is to splice three episodes from as many different series, and present them a la Maugham's "Trio" as a feature.

Foreign project would open up new vistas to vidpic producers and put them in better trading position for private financing, and bank loans. Additionally they're eyeing vidpic sales to theatres in towns where there's no television.

There's already talk of theatres to show only selected half-hour, 15-minute shorts originally made exclusively for television. Due to low costs, these houses could operate cheaply. It's figured program of dramatic, comedy features plus panel or quiz show and newsreel could be sold for package for less than $100.

Guinness' Topper Vidpix Deal on Tap

Bernard L. Schubert, the radio-TV packager, is currently in England, with negotiations reportedly land, with negotiations reportedly in progress which may find Alec Guinness doing a TV film series based on the "Topper" characterization. If deal jells, series would be made abroad.

In view of Guinness' current boxoffice appeal in this country, it's reported that both CBS-TV and NBC-TV have expressed interest in underwriting the cost of the series in exchange for an exclusivity.

Arnold, Gwenn Signed

Ralph Cohn, head of Screen Gems, Columbia's vidpix subsidiary, returned to New York Monday (28) following a two-week stay on the Coast setting up production on the 39 telepix for Ford. Nine yarns have been selected and writers have been assigned to the properties. Among "names" signed to appear are Edward Arnold and Edmund Gwenn.

Music Pubs Eyeing Telefilms as New Source for Plugs

Music publishers and song-pluggers, who have seen their major plugging media shift gradually from sheet music-to name bands to radio disk jockey shows, are now eyeing with considerable optimism the various musical film libraries being turned out by indie vidfilm producers and designed for TV deejay shows. With more than 17,000,000 TV sets now in circulation and with more and more stations programming the musical briefies all through the day and night, pubs and pluggers envision the pix as one of the best means of plugging they've yet had.

Illustrative of the format of such the pix as one of the best means of plugging they've yet had.

Illustrative of the format of such films is the series turned out by Seaboard Studios, N. Y., and being distributed by United Artists.TV.
Seaboard has produced 101 of them to date and is now working on a 10-per-month schedule. Unlike the Snader Telescriptions and others which have sound-on-film, Seaboard is shooting its series in a silent version, for synchronization either with one particular disk or with several top-selling records. Films have the tunes acted out in pantomime or interpreted by dancers, and one of them is an animated cartoon.

Majority of the record companies and music pubs are cooperating closely with Seabord by turning over pre-release pressings on their disks so that the studio can time its productions for when the record is getting the biggest play. Under the distrib deal set up by UA-TV, stations subscribing to the service can have unlimited use of the films.

Seaboard as with other vidfilm producers making such plx, has no special arrangement with the (Continued on page 30)

(Continued on page 30)

TREND UPWARD FOR '53 SEASON

A sizable swing of advertisers from network video stanzas to film series placed on a national spot. basis is shaping up for the '52-53 season. Already four spenders have set their spot vidpix deals and at least five others are considering similar from-web-to-spot switches. In some of the latter cases, time has already been bought on a chain, but spot placements will be used to supplement the stations lined up by the nets. In effect, the bankrollers are letting the webs sweat to clear whatever outlets they can; then the agencies will go out on their own to place their telefilm programs on stations of their own choice in markets the skein is unable to clear.

The new business going the spot-vidpix route this fall includes: Pacific Coast Borax, which will back a celluiold version of its oldtime radio stanza, "Death Valley Days," in all 63 markets, via McCann-Erickson agency; Miller Hi-Life beer, which will sponsor "The March of Time," a half-hour weekly stanza in 45 markets for 39 weeks, via the Mamilton Watch-International Silver "Jewel Theatre" which will go into about 20 markets, handled by Young & Rubicam and BBD&O for their respective clients.

It's emphasized that these stantage are in addition to canned series.

cam and BBD&O for their respective clients.
It's emphasized that these stanzas are in addition to canned series already making the national spot rounds, such as the Electric Companies' "Electric Theatre," General Baking's "Hopalong Cassidy." "Gruen Theatre," and others. Some of the backers mulling a move to spot have been network spenders and a few are new to the medium.

Siphoning Off Web Coin
If the trend continues, as it gives evidence of doing, not only may it take income away from the webs but it can make their clearance problems more difficult. Sponsors placing their shows on a station-bystation basis picked up some cream availabilities as long ago as May for network clearance. This situation, further complicating the clear-(Continued on page 34)

(Continued on page 34)

Fromkess' 240G Jungle Telefilms

Leon Fromkess, prexy of Arrow Productions, Coast vidplx outfit, is currently in New York to confer with agencies on a national sponsorship deal for "Ramar of the Jungle," starring Jon Hall. Fromkess, formerly a v.p. of Samuel Goldwn Productions, has brought with him the first 13 pix of the jungle adventure series. Entire series of 13 was brought in at a cost of $240,000, according to Fromkess.

series of 13 was brought in at a cost of $240,000, according to Fromkess.

Filming on the half-hour telepix will resume in September, with another group of 13 set for production. Stories are currently being prepared and a unit is shooting hackgrounds in the Belgian Congo and South Africa.

In addition to "Ramar," Fromkess revealed that Arrow is set to begin work on two new series in the fall. Slated to roll in October is the first of 26 half-hour films dealing with "King Arthur and the Knights of the Round Table." In December, outfit will begin work on an unrelated dramatic series employing some of the top names in Hollywood.

Fromkess, a veepee at Goldwyn for seven years said that the new vidpix industry is beginning to attract the top theatrical producers "although there is no money in it yet." Banks, he revealed, are still reductant to finance telepix since they're still unaware of the potential of the market. Entrance of experienced film-makers, according to Fromkess, is beginning to weed out the fly-by-nighters who attempted to cash in on a single pilot pic.

27 TV Network Shows Going Pix Route in Fall; Doubles Last Season

Like 'Em on Pix
Partial answer to audience acceptance of vidilm shows as compared to live programs is offered by 'Big Town,' Leversponsored show which switched from live to film in April. Ratings show a steady rise for the program, indicating that most viewers find it even better on film. Thus, even though the film budget is higher than was the live budget, Lever is reportedly well-satisfied with the switch, particularly in view of the fact that it retains subsequent-run rights.

particularly in view of the fact that it retains subsequent-run rights.

According to national American Research Bureau ratings, the show, aired Thursday nights via CBS-TV, climbed from a 31.1 in April to 36.7 in May, then dipped to 36.0 in June, when the hot weather occasioned a dip in all TV ratings. Record is even better for the local N. Y. market. According to Videodex reports, "Big Town" jumped in N. Y. from a 21.4 in March to a 22.2 in April, then climbed to 26.8 in May when it went film and to 28.6 in June.

Lever Considers Vidfilm Re-Runs Good Economics

Despite mounting pessimism on how valuable re-runs to vidfilm packages will actually be, a number of sponsors are going in for second-runs on vidfilm shows as an inexpensive way to grab off a quality program which might snare almost as high ratings the second time around as the first. Case in almost as high ratings the second time around as the first. Case in noint is "Big Town," the Lever Bros. package on which United TV programs, which is handling non-Lever syndication, has already lined up second-run sponsors in a number of markets.

Under terms of UTP's deal with Lever and the Ruthrauff & Ryan agency, Lever retains a six-month clearance between the first and second runs. Since "Big Town" switched from live to film in April. stations getting it second-run can tee off the first week in October. With Lever bankrolling on some 20 CBS-TV markets, other stipulations are that the second-run be on a non-CBS putlet, be bankrolled by a non-competing sponsor and aired on a night other than Thursday, when the show is aired on the CBS net.

That means that different stancas of the same vidfilm show may be playing on two different stations in the same market during the same week. Thus, the re-run rights are drawing considerable agencyclient interest for the N. Y. area. As soon as UTP wraps up a deal for N. Y., Lever will be bankrolling "Big Town" first-run on Thursday nights via WCBS-TV, while a local sponsor will be bank-(Continued on page 30)

Any doubts still remaining about television's steady swing to film programming are being rapidly dispelled by the influx of major network shows which will be on film work shows which will be on film during the upcoming fall season. Latest live show scheduled to make the switch to film this fall is CBS-TV's "Man Against Crime," which raises the total of network shows on film to at least 27, or double the 14 which rode the networks last year.

This figure includes only those programs sponsored on a patton.

last year.

This figure includes only those programs sponsored on a nation-wide basis by major advertisers, and does not include the many vid-film packages bankrolled on a local or regional setup by other sponsors. While the total of network film shows represents but a fraction of live programs, the switch to film has been so insistent that some top industry exees are now predicting that all shows, except for the comedy and variety types, will ultimately be on film.

Despite the fact that some trade observers are beginning to doubt that the value of residual rights to vidpix will be as great as originally anticipated, that's still the primary reason for the shift from live to film. Lever Bros., for example, switched its "Big Town" to film mainly for that reason and Camel cigarets is following the same line of reasoning on "Man." But the audience acceptance of network film shows is also a major factor.

Camel used a film series, "The Hunter," as summer replacement

But the audience acceptance of network film shows is also a major factor.

Camel used a film series, "The Hunter," as summer replacement for "Man" this year and found it so successful that it decided to go film with "Man" also. As a result, star Ralph Bellamy is cutting short his vacation in Europe to return to N. Y. to start lensing the show next month. Esty agency, which owns the show and thus will control the residual rights, has turned over production to Pathescope, which also lensed the "Hunter" series. "Man" returns to its CBS-TV slot Oct. 8 and Esty hopes to have at least six stanzas in the can by then.

Pointing up the trend to film, "Man" is the third show aired live last year which will switch to film in the fall, Other two are CBS-TV's Burns & Allen and NBC-TV's Red Skelton show. Two other live shows shifted to film near the end of last season, including "Schiltz Playhouse of Stars" and "Big Tr. vn." On an individual network basis, NBC will have 13 and CBS will have 12 shows on film, while ABC has the other two, "Lone Ranger," and the upcoming "Ozzie & Harriet."

WJZ-TV's 35 Pix Features Per Week

WJZ-TV, New York key of ABC-TV, launches a five-hour-long weekly session of old pix on Saturday afternoon (2). Program diet same week. Thus, the re-run rights are drawing considerable agency-client interest for the N. Y. area. As soon as UTP wraps up a deal for N. Y., Lever will be bankrolling "Big Town" first-run on Thursday nights, via WCBS-TV, while a local sponsor will be bank-(Continued on page 30)

Best Foods Buys WNBT

Late Nite Film Theatre

Importance of late-night film stanzas on tele stations is underlined by the fact that Best Foods, via Benton & Bowles agency, has bought the "11th Hour Theatre" beamed on WNBT, N. Y., Saturday playhouse," which leads the rating field mand integrate the commercials. BF-takes over the show, which currently has participating sponsors, early in September.

TV Packagers Bracing at Bit, Wait for ABC 'Full Speed Ahead' Okay to Take Shows Off Shelf

The package-happy gentry in-television are bracing at the bit, waiting for the word from Wash-ington that will restore the ABC network to good competitive graces and, through the sanction of a merger, permit United Paramount Theatres to pour some $30,000,000 into the depleted network treas-ury.

merger, permit United Paramount Theatres to pour some $30,000,000 into the depleted network treasury.

William Morris, Music Corp. of America and all the other talent package houses with a stake in TV are standing by, waiting for the FCC signal which will permit them to resurrect some hundred valuable properties which have been accumulating dust because there's no place to spot them.

A lot of these properties were already showcased on ABC—such as the Playwrights Co.-inspired "Celanese Theatre," the "Pulitzer Playhouse" series and flocks of other shows in dramatic, comedy and vaudeo veins, that were yanked primarily because ABC, lacking funds to expand, was unable to satisfy the clients clearancewise. In addition to these, there are shelves upon shelves of newly-auditioned properties that have no place to go because NBC and CBS television are practically sold out with little or no cream time availabilities.

The clients are around. Many have expressed interest in picking up the tab on dormant showswhen and if facilities open up. It's recognized, that once ABC gets the D.C. greenlight to merge interests with UPT (and all indications now point to a Labor Day finalization and erasure of all merger bottlenecks), the millions of dollars poured into ABC coffers for programming will invite more and more station affiliations into the fold. And with new postfreeze outlets, on the horizon, it's conceded that, with fresh manpower, coin and qualitative programming, ABC will have but one direction in which to move—and that's upward.

Coke Mulls Kosty Return to Radio

Coca-Cola may be back on CBS Radio this fall with a new half-hour show spotlighting Andre Kostelanetz and his orch, one of the net attractions in Coke programming. While Coke's interest so far has been mainly in the show and not so much in which network would get its business, the fact that it was on CBS last season with Edgar Bergen and was close to pacling for Bing Crosby this season indicates that the Kostelanetz show will wind up on CBS.

Soft-drink firm had been talking last season about bankrolling a Kostelanetz show on NBC-TV, but after an expensive kinescope audition was lensed, the deal fell through. As for Crosby, Coke had placed an order with CBS for his show several weeks ago but backed out when Crosby decided to go into the ice-cream manufacturing business on the side, for fear that its

the ice-cream manufacturing business on the side, for fear that its product might be competitive with ice-cream.

MBS SPORTS BONANZA: GOLF, GRID CLIENTS

GOLF, GRID CLIENTS

August is proving a sports bonanza for Mutual. Harry Wisner, now a general executive in Tom O'Neil's AM-TV empire, will cover two golf tourneys which the web is beaming on a co-op basis while Chevrolet and Admiral are picking up the tabs for other events. Wismer will cover the All-America Golf Tournament at Tam-O'Shanter on Sunday (3) at 7:30-8 p.m. and will do the World's Championship of Golf on Aug. 10 in two segments.

Chicago will also be the scene of the All-Star Football Game which MBS will beam on Aug. 15 from 9:15 p.m. to conclusion, with Al Helfer and Jack Drees spieling and Admiral bankrolling. Skein will also have the Soap Box Derby for Chevrolet

Drive-In's AM Wedding

Houston, July 29.
KTHT will start soon all night operations. Qutlet announces that the Stuart Drive-In, owned and operated by R. E. Stuart, will be the origination point of an all-night broadcast each night.

Jameson Brinkmeyer will be featured in a $5,000 glass studio built atop the drive-in.

Ozzie & Harriet's $3,000,000 Brace Of ABC Sponsors

Lambert Pharmacal (Listerine)

Lambert Pharmacal (Listerine) has bought the open alternate week sponsorship of "Adventures of Ozzle and Harriet" on ABC radio and television, to start this fall. Hotpoint previously had picked up the AM-TV package on a skip-a-week basis, contingent on ABC's lining up a second backer. It's a $3,000,000 deal, with each sponsor putting up $1,500,000.

Setup on "Ozzle and Harriet" is similar to the format evolved by ABC for getting sponsors in a two-medium spread. It's figured that the advertiser gets advantages by having the same stanza in both AM and TV, in view of the merchandising-promotion potentials and also a two-medium ride assures full national coverage. At the same time, due to the relatively high cost of video, the alternate week backing makes it economical for the spender who wants to stay in both fields.

Same pattern is being followed on Walfer Winchell's mooning

Same pattern is being followed on Walter Winchell's upcoming gabfasts, for which Gruen is al-ready set and another alternating sponsor is being sought.

sponsor is being sought.

"O&H," which has been the toprated radio stanza on Friday nights, will remain in the ABC sked in its 9 p.m. slot. Video spot had not yet been firmed up. Maxon, agency for Hotpoint, and Lambert & Feasley, agency for Listerine, are getting together this week to decide also on the details of which weeks they will take. Series will be in vidpie form, produced by Ozzle Nelson in conjunction with the network.

Lambert's inking of "O&H" follows cancellation of "Sammy Kaye Show" on CBS-TV. Program went off after last Saturday's (19) broadcast. It had been in the 7-7:30

VARIETY Cavallo's JWT Post

Peter H. Cavallo, July 29.
Peter H. Cavallo, Jr., has been named radio-teevee director of the local J. Walter Thompson ad agency here, succeeding Hal Rorke, who recently resigned to move to the coast. Cavallo joined the agency in 1945.

who recently resigned the coast. Cavallo joined the agency in 1945.
Robert M. Gilbert has been upped to assistant radio-TV director, and C. Ross Littig was appointed administrative assistant of the radio department.

RCA's Net Shaved As Expenses Rise

first half of year, increased operating expenses at Radio Corp. of America shaved net to 70 cents a share on common stock from $1.02 in 1951.

in 1951.

Radio Corp. earned $11,299,930 on peak volume of $305,637,825 in the first six months of this year, compared with $15,703,361 realized on $302,332,933 a year ago. Cost of operations increased to $282, 500,895 from $270,021,572, while
Federal taxes amounted to $12,037,
000 compared with $16,608,000.

000 compared with $16,608,000.

For the second quarter, products and services sold totaled $141,966,494, compared with $116,742,178 net profit increased to $4,223,410 or 25 cents a share on common from $3,801,819, or 22 cents a share a year ago. Operating expenses increased to $133,471,084 in the second quarter from $112,174,359.

WCBS-TV 'Spectacular' Flaunted Opposite Rival Radio City, N. Y., Hqs.

WCBS-TV, N. Y., is flaunting its promotion right in front of the headquarters of the rival NBC and ABC executive offices at Radio City, taking over a spectacular at 50th St. and Sixth Ave. directly opposite the RCA Building. It's expected to be functioning by Friday (1).

Large sign, formerly plugging Gruen watches, gives the time in neon numerals and will also flash Gruen watches, gives the time in eon numerals and will also flash running program notes and announcements. Contract was set by Bob Patt, WCBS-TV promotion director, with Douglas Leigh and also includes four-sheet posters which the Leigh organization has on Railway Express trucks in suburban New York.

Deal is a time-for-space swap, with Leigh's subsidiary, Flamingo frozen foods, getting time on the outlet in return for the spectaculars and poster displays.

CBS, on the Coast, did a similar bally directly opposite NBC h.q., on Sunset & Vine at the time of CBS "Jack Benny raid."

DURWARD KIRBY

GARRY MOORE SHOW—CBS-TV
GOODYEAR TELEVISION PLAYHOUSE—NBC-TV
BOB AND RAY SHOW—NBC-TV
HILLTOP, HOUSE—CBS-RADIO

Ed Barrett's 'New Type News'

Ed Barrett, the former editor of Newsweek who resigned to become assistant Secretary of State in charge of "Volce of America," has negotiated a deal whereby he'll join NBC. He's scheduled to move into the network's AM-TV news operation Aug. 1 on a freelance "project basis" to work on "super secret" assignment. Pacting of Barrett is cued to the programming concepts projected by Sylvester L. (Path Weaver, NBC's radio-TV head. Primarily Barrett will function in an area designed to vest news presentations with a greater scope and effectiveness.

It's long been Weaver's contention that the real interpretive news job is yet to be done, notably in video, giving it a depth and dimension which will illustrate how news events influence the course of history. Exact nature of the project is being kept under wraps.

DuMont Web's Further Separation From Lab; Full Autonomy Due Soon

Dodge's Agency Shift

Bruce Dodge is leaving the Kenyon & Eckhardt radio and tele-Kenyon & Ecknard radio and television department in a couple of weeks to join Welss & Geller as AM-TV head.

He'll operate out of the Gotham office of the Chicago agency.

Jessel Set For NBC-TV 'All Star'; Also Berle, Harris

Hollywood, July 29.
George Jessel makes his videbut next September heading his own show on NBC-TV's "All Star Review." Joe Bigelow, the series' exce producer, has set a solo shotfor Jessel with an option for more, which may make Jessel a regular with the other rotating Saturday night comics.

If Jessel returns from Europe in time, he'll open the show's season on Sept. 6. Otherwise, he takes the following Saturday. Others set so far are Jimmy Durante, Martha Ray and Milton Berle. Tallulah Bankhead is still a strong possibility, as is Phil Harris.
Durante is booked for the third outing, Sept. 20. Berle, in addition to his own Texaco telecasts, is committed for two shows in the first I? weeks. Martha Raye, one of last season's regulars, will be back in the rotation from New York.

WDTV's 'Happy's Party' Gets 4-Station Spread By Florida Citrus Assn.

By Florida Citrus Assn.

First television network show to originate from DuMont's WDTV, Pittsburgh, has been bought by the Florida Citrus Assn. for a fourstation spread. Show is "Happy's Party," which played in Pitt as a one-hour production but will be trimmed to a half-hour for the spot booking setup. Agency is J. Walter Thompson.

Show is to be aired Saturday mornings on WDTV, DuMont's WABD, N. Y.; WNBW, the NBC o&o outlet in Washington, and the ABC-owned WXYZ-TV, Detroit. Program, which was originally designed in cooperation with the Pitt school system, deals with juvenile dental hygiene as explained by Happy, a puppet.

COLEMAN, WATTICK TO DO CLEVE, BROWNS

Cleveland, July 29.

Appointment of Ken Coleman and Don Wattrick to be the television and radio voices respectively for the Cleveland Browns' football games was announced this week.

Coleman, a sports announcer at WNEB, will do the radio broadcasts for WTAM and a five-state network with 19 outlets in Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, Kentucky and West Virginia. WTAM takes over the radio broadcasts this year from WERE where they had been handled by Bob Neal, now the sports voice for TV bascball telecasts. Neal also did the television show.

Wattrick is from Detroit and will do the television broadcasts over WXEL. He did the Detroit Lions' games last year.

DuMont network may be completely divorced from the DuMont Lab's plant at Passaic, N. J., in the near future, thereby following the lead of the RCA-NBC setup, CBS-TV and CBS-Columbia, etc. Web excess revealed this week that they have been granted more and more autonomy in recent months and that the network is now working pretty much on its own.

autonomy in recent months and that the network is now working pretty much on its own.

Actually, it was pointed out, there would be no particular advantage in separating completely, the two branches of the DuMont corporation at this time. When, however, the network achieves a sufficient volume of business to warrant a completely autonomous setup, the necessary steps will be taken to effect the move. Right now, Chris. J. Witting, as director and general manager of the net, operates the network with only a distant supervisory touch from Passaic, but the web and factory still work under the same accounting system, the network paychecks are forwarded from the plant, etc.

New accounting system is being completed at this time to give the network its own setup, and when that is completed, the net will be almost totally divorced operation-wise from the parent company.

'Luigi' to Preem CBS Tele City

"Life With Luigi," to be

"Life With Luigi," to be sponsored by General Foods, through Benton & Bowles, has been given Sept. 22 as starting date as the first network show out of CBS Television City. It airs live at 6:30 (9:30 N. Y. time) after "I Love Lucy" on Monday night.

Net's new $25,000,000 plant had been slated for early October opening but one of four main studios will be made available for "Luigi" only. TV cast replacement will be Sig Rumann for Hans Conreid, with J. Carrol Naish, Alan Reed, Mary Shipp and Jody Gilbert doubling over from the AM version.

Norman Tokar flew in from N. Y. to discuss the directorial assignment with Harry Ackerman, Cy Howard and Mac Benoff.

THORNDIKE, JENSEN ON 'OMNIBUS' SERIES

Joseph J. Thorndike, Jr., former Life managing editor, and Oliver Jensen, once a member of the mag's board of editors, have been appointed editorial executives for "Omnibus," the Ford Foundation's upcoming tele series.

Bob Saudek, director of the foundation's Tv-Radio Workshop, said that Thorndike and Jensen will be responsible for planning and editorial content of the 90-minute series which will start over CBS-TV on Nov. 9 at 4:30-6 pm. In 1950 the pair founded Picture Press, outfit which turned out picture tomes.

Potter Seeks 4 TYers

Dallas, July 29.
Tom Potter, local oil man, has applied to the FCO for four TV outlets in the South and Southwest. Potter previously owned and operated KBTV which is now WFAA-TV, which he sold to the Dallas News.
Applications are for outlets at Baton Rouge, La., UHF Channel 30; Beaumont, UHF Channel 31; Austin, UHF Channel 24; Chaltanooga, UHF Channel 43.

NBC'S FRONT-LINE CASUALTIES

50% Rate Slash Major Stymie?

Chicago, July 29.

Scene of activity in the prolonged CBS-affillate "rate reappraising" hassle shifted to Chicago today (Tues.) when the full committee sat down again with Columbia prexy Frank Stanton and his key radio network associates in another bid to arrive at a satisfactory solution. By late afternoon there were indications that an agreement might be reached before adjournment. This, in turn, would go before the full affiliate family, possibly next week, at a still-to-be-decided meeting ground.

Chief stynie thus far in failure to come to terms on a rate structure has been the reported insistence of the CBS high command that the affiliates agree to a 50% slash in the nightline rate structure, as against a reported 20% hike in the daytime rate. On the other hand, the affiliates are said to be willing to settle for a 25% nightline rate cut.

other name, the armace are said to be wining to settle for a 25% nighttime rate cut.

Best guess in some industry quarters is that the solution will lie in establishing one basic rate for day and night.

WNBT's Experimental Assembly Line Production; 1-Studio, 1-Crew Formula

wnBT, Gotham key or NBC-1v, is undertaking a one-month test of "assembly line production" of its tele stanzas, starting Aug. 4. Idea is to originate all WnBT's live local strip shows, from 9 a.m. to 11:20 p.m., from one large studio which will be operated on a "turret" basis, the cameras moving ret" basis, the cameras moving from one section of the studio to ret" basis, the cameras moving from one section of the studio to the next.

While this type of operation has been used in the hinterlands and to some extent by other New York outlets, it's the first time it has been applied on such a large scale by a metropolitan channel. The object is to come up with a more efficient method of production facilities charges for local airers.

Under the new plan, each strip show will be done every day by the same crew, with standing sets and from the same base of operations. At present the local WNBT shows come from a variety of NBC-TV studios and are done by crews not exclusively assigned to the Gotham operation. The new setup is expected to result in a more efficient operation with benefits passed on to bankrollers. It fits in with the station's concept that live programming is essential to a local stations and its advertisers, and now the technical and production facilities will also be keyed to the local advertisers' needs.

Assembly line will be set up in Studio 3 at the WOR Try Square, which NBC-TV had perviously sublet from WOR, N. Y. If the trial is successful, the system will be made permanent, although not necessarily continuing in the WOR sludios. NBC facilities at 106th St or in Brooklyn may be used.

No More Friday Godfrey Shows

Arthur Godfrey will drop Friday from his broadcasting schedule over CBS when he returns from vacation extending through August. Star did final Friday program last week (25). Godfrey explained that for 19 years he had miked six days a week, and then eliminated Saturday. Godfrey told his listeners that as an "old foof," he thought four days would hereafter be sufficient. Godfrey, has been doing the Friday show from his farm in Virginia, while the rest of the cast performed in a New York studio.

CBS-TV Preps Three

Hollywood, July 29.

Three new TV series are being readied at CBS for piloting. Frank Galen, staff writer-producer, has two in the works and Cy Howard is prepping the script and casting for "Miss, Ruby Stevens," to star Gloria Grahame in a comedy-drama of the soap opera genre. It will be kinnied next month.

Two properties under Galen's supervision are "Vanity and Mrs. Fair" to be produced by Danny Dare, and a televersion of the radio councy, "Meet Millie."

Hugh Terry Upped

Denver, July 29.
Hugh Terry has been upped from veepee to prexy and general manager of Aladdin Radio & Tele-

Terry, who'll lead KLZ's fight for a tele channel in Denver, has been a director of the National Assn. of Radio & TV Broadcasters for the past eight years, a rep at the UNESCO radio conference in Paris and is on the radio advisory committee for the Voice of

White's 'Who, Me?' On Calling Turn For Rate Pattern

Denial that he played any part in suggesting an agreement on a rate structure affecting CBS and its af-filiated stations was voiced last week by Frank White, veepee and general manager of the NBC radio and television networks.

general manager of the NBC radio and television networks.

"What actually happened was this." White told Variety:

"On Friday of last week George Storer, owner of several stations, one of which is affiliated with NBC, called at my office. I made no statement to him as to the intentions of NBC with respect to rates and there was no suggestion of an agreement or understanding between us as to changes in the rate structure of any network.

"NBC's network rates are currently under study and have been for some time. We have reached no conclusion as to what we may ultimately suggest to our affiliated stations and any future revision which we make will be on the basis of full and free discussion with them and will depend on their and our belief as to what is appropriate. "We have no agreement or understanding with anyone in the industry and our future action will be dictated by our own conclusions as to what revision may be necessary and not by action that others may take."

PICCADILLY CIG COIN FOR MAGGI McNELLIS

When Maggi McNellis preems her new stanza for WJZ-TV, N. Y., tomorrow (Thurs.) at 9:30-10 p.m., she'll be in the same sponsorship family as she was on "Leave It To the Girls."

"Girls" was bankrolled by Regent cigarets, of which Frank Riggio is prexy. The new McNellis show is backed by Piccadilly cigs, of which Louis Riggio, brother of Frank, is topper. Agency is Hilton and (Lou) Riggio. Incidentally, initial edition of the "video magazine" airer will include film clips of Miss McNellis and hubby Clyde Newhouse at the opening of the Glen Cove, L. I., strawhatter.

AXE FALLING ON SEVERAL EXECS

By GEORGE ROSEN

With the political conventions out of the way and NBC prexy Joseph H. McConnell back at home base, the network's "total integration" steamroller takes on full speed ahead this week, with the web's new veepee and general manager, Frank White, entrusted with the task of putting NBC's administrative house in order.

In the wake of the streamlining there will be some major casualties as well as those in a lower level, designed to effect wholesale economies and unify the web's personnel structure. Scheduled for payroll lopoff on the "early agenda" are, among others, Gen. Lyman Munson, who was brought in originally at top coin to oversee the network's stake in film, but eventually wound up with the title of director of operations reporting to veepee Edward A. Madden.

Also, slated for axing, it's reported, is Fred Shawn, who has been director of AM station relations. Under the new integrated by veepee Harry Bannister, Sheldon Hickox, Jr., now director of TV station relations, takes over as director of both facets as No. 2 man. Tom Knode moves up into the newly-created post of manager as No. 3 man.

Along with station relations, two other NBC divisions get immediate the station of the content of the station relations, two other NBC divisions get immediate the station of the station relations, two other NBC divisions get immediate the station of the station relations, two as No. 3 man.

Along with station relations, two other NBC divisions get immediate attention. These are programming and advertising-promotions. Charles H. (Bud) Barry, newly-named head of programming for both AM and TV, will name Tom McAvity as No. 2 man of the integrated division, Jack Cleary, eastern program manager, will take over managerial reins in AM under McAvity, with Carl Stanton managing the TV department. Mitchell Benson will head up talent development for both radio and television.

Rudd Lawrence Upped

Rudd Lawrence Upped

Rudd Lawrence Upped
New boss man in promotion-advertising under the integrated pattern is Rudd Lawrence. With both Jim Nelson, in TV promotion, and Jake Evans, of AM promotion, both falling into the unification formula, still to be resolved is their future status.

Davidson Taylor, Jr., becomes overall head of news-special events-public affairs, with Bill McAndrew taking over the news and special events phases for both AM and TV and Ed Stanley the integrated public affairs programming. Tom Gallery heads up both AM-TV sports. On a lower level, the news departments are slated for a going-over.

Major confusion prevalls within (Continued on page 31)

Mpls. Beefs on 'Today' Blackout Makes Hubbard Skeptical on 'Ratings'

Skeptical on 'Katings'

Minneapolis, July 29.

Stanley Hubbard, KSTP-TV and radio station president and general manager, says his faith in television and radio shows ratings has been shaken as a result of what happened when KSTP-TV had to go off the air during the "Today" show last Wednesday morning (17).

"Our rating of 'Today' hasn't been very high, but when it went off after hardly getting started the calls of protesting and inquiring TV set owners paralyzed our studio switchboard for hours," explains Hubbard. "There were many more telephone calls than the rating would show, and surely every setowner watching and liking the show didn't bother to telephone us.

"It makes me wonder how much

"It makes me wonder how much value the various ratings of TV and radio shows have."

radio shows have."

The KSTP-TV equipment breakdown, keeping the station off the air nearly two and a half hours was caused by dust, resulting from "excessive maintenance," that broke down the insulator and crystal osculator," according to Hubbard.

4 Agencies Jockey for $3,000,000 GOP Billings; Decision in Few Days

Angel in the Winds

Angel in the Winds
Chicago, July 29.
Bob Hope turned up as a surprise last-minute guest on NBC-TV's "Ask Me Another"
last Thursday night (24).
Former Baseball Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler was slated to appear on the panel but hadn't shown up 10 minutes before airtime.
Hope, who did a comedy commentary for NBC during the political conventions, was standing in the wings at the Studebaker Theatre, where
"Ask Me" originates, waiting to go on with his own show.
He quickly consented to sub
for Chandler.
Show is packaged by Louis

for Chandler.
Show is packaged by Louis G. Cowan. Cowan donated $1,000 to the Olympic fund, with the comic bypassing a guest fee. "Ask Me" has a sports format and Hope, as a partowner of the Cleveland Indians, held his own in the questioning.

Web' Resolved: 'Amateur Hour' To CBS (Both AM-TV)

CBS-TV and the P. Lorillard Co. came to terms this week in their argument over where "The Web" is to be slotted this fall, thereby resolving the triple cigaret programming switch into which CBS had entered with Lorillard, American Tobacco and R. J. Reynolds. Under the deal as finally worked out, "Web" goes into the choice Sunday night at 10 slot, with CBS-TV also inheriting "Original Amateur Hour."

Radio version of "Amateur Hour," which Lorillard recently axed off the ABC net; switches over to CBS Radio for a Thursday night spotlighting in the fall but sans the Lorillard bankrolling. Understood a new AM client is on tap. TV version, which had occupied the Tuesday night 10 to 10:45 period on NBC, goes off to make way for the upcoming Fred Allen vidfilm quiz, "Two for the Money." Video "Amateur" is now to be aired on CBS Saturday nights from 6:30 to 7:30 starting Sept. 28, with Lorillard (Old Gold) bankrolling the second half-hour. CBS must still find a sponsor for the first half of the show.

CBS-TV's triple ciggie switch,

the show.

CBS-TV's triple ciggie switch, which blew up considerable smoke, started originally when American Tobacco optioned the Thursday night at 9 period for its new "Biff Baker, USA" series. "Man Against Crime," sponsored by Reynolds' Camel cigarets, had been in the (Continued on page 31)

TV_MARATHONS PAY OFF DOWN TEXAS WAY

San Antonio, July 29.
It seems that local TV viewers keep their promises much better than those in California or New than those in California or New York Marathon TV programs in those two states brought big pledges to charity but when it came to collecting the cash, pro-gram sponsors were sorely disap-pointed. New York collections pointed. New York collections totaled about one-third the amount pledged, California's about one fourth.

At an all night Telethon bere on WOAL-TV last month for Cerebal Palsy, pledges plus collections at the telecast were announced as $70,000. Final collections now reveal a total of $76,000 which indicates that local viewers who pledged actually paid the amount given on the telecast.

agencies grabs off the lucrative Republican Party billings in the all-media campaign to elect GOP standard bearer Dwight D. Eisenhower as the next President, will be resolved in the next few days. About $3,000,000 (all of it to be spent within an approximate 60-day period) is involved.

spent within an approximate 60-day period) is involved.

Four agencies are reported in the running. These are Young & Rubicam, BBD&O, Kudner agency and McCann-Erickson. That Y & R should wind up with a major slice of the biz wouldn't come as a particular surprise to the trade in view of the pre-convention role played by Y & R prexy Sigurd Larmon and his key aides at the agency in promoting the Eisenhower presidential aspirations.

On the other hand, BBD&O (which had the GOP billings during the general elections four years ago) figures prominently in the picture because of prexy Ben Duffy's close association with Gov. Thomas E. Dewey. The BBD&O chances have become even more strengthened since the Chi convention in view of the Eisenhower appointments of top Dewey aides to his up-front campaign entourage.

While in some quarters it's reported that Y & R and McCann-while in some quarters it's reported that Y & R and McCann-Erickson will share the GOP biz, it's reported else where that BB&O stands a good chance of grabbing it all. Still others say that Kudner agency's closeness to General Motors (wealthy auto merchant Arthur Summerfield, chairman of Republican National Committee is the link here), projects it prominently in the foreground. Time is of the essence in view of the difficulty of grabbing choice TV time on such short notice. Also, it's recognized that the account invites a multiplicity of agency headaches, entailing considerable travelling expenses, staff additions, etc.

Democratic biz is being handled

Democratic biz is being handled by the Joseph Katz agency in Bul-timore. GOP billings are esti-mated at approximately $2,500,000.

TV 'Cavalcade' Set By DuPont

NBC-TV, after trying all summer to sell a full-hour Tony Miner-pro-duced dramatic series for its Wed-nesday night at 8 spot, has finally tossed in the towel on that project nesdav night at 8 spot, has finally tossed in the towel on that project and is turning the time over to other bankrollers. First to sign on is duPont, which pacted for the 8 to 8:30 period alternate Wednesday nights only for the TV version of its "Cavalcade of America." Agency is BBD&O.

Video "Cavalcade" will be on film, with 13 of the half-hour productions having already been completed by several indie producers on the Coast. Screen Gems, Columbia Pictures' wholly-owned TV subsid, for example, has lensed six of the vidpix. In moving into the Wednesday night period, the duPont show will be bucking CBS-Triends. There's already considerable trade speculation over not only how well the show will do against Godfrey but whether its potentialities are strong enough to lure other bankrollers in to round out the hour. out the hour.

out the hour.

As for Miner, it now appears definite that NBC will be forced to give him a Sunday afternoon time, despite the fact that his $2,000 per week salary should apparently rate him a Class A period. While NBC still has several alternate-week sponsor spots to fill, these are for times in which shows are already committed. As a result, the only time remaining for Miner is on Sundays. He's currently producing "Curtain Call" for RCA Victor this summer, but RCA will bring the Dennis Day sho back into that Friday night period in the fall.

'Greig System' to Parlay WHUM-TV Into Black Ink on First UHF Day

Washington, July 29. When the FCC issues a permit for channel 6 to WHUM in Reading, Pa., probably in a few weeks, it will pave the way for construction of one of the most remarkable television station operations in the world. For when WHUM-TV television station operations in the world. For when WHUM-TV takes to the air this fall (it is shooting for Oct. 15), it will be the first commercial UHF station to get into operation, the most powerful TV station ever built, and, although it is starting in a city without local TV stations, it will be in the black the very day it begins broadcasting.

we in the black the very day it begins broadcasting.

How such a phenomenon can happen with a UHF operation is a story which has its origin in the faith and foresight of Humboldt J. Greig, owner of WHUM, and the technical know-how of General Electric engineers. The WHUM-TV operation, which will be the G-E "showcase of the ultra highs," will have the first Klystron high-power amplifier to be used commercially. Made for G-E by the Varion brothers who developed it, at Stanford University, WHUM's Klystron carries 14 kw power. Employing an Helica antenna (giving 25 to one gain), the WHUM-TV signal will have an effective radiated power (ERP) of 261 kw. This is greater power than all the New York and Philadelphia TV stations combined.

Greig purchased the Klystron in Greig purchased the Klystron in 1951 when it was the fashion to speak of UHF as "another FM." It was said that UHF was limited in coverage, that there would be no transmitter tubes of sufficient

(Continued on page 36)

DuMont to Preem New Studio Plant

DuMont, most sorely pressed among the major networks for studio space, will be able to start breathing easief by Aug. 15, when the first studio of its new uptown Manhattan plant is scheduled to launch operations. Studio is the smallest of five in the building, which will be opened officially on schedule by mid-October.

Studios are being constructed.

schedule by mid-October.

Studios are being constructed originally with live programming in mind, but web execs noted this week that, if and when the new trend to film programming requires an overall shift to film production, the new studios can be converted with little extra trouble or expense. Both NBC-TV and CBS-TV, incidentally, are operaing under that same procedure in their new TV cities now under construction on the Coast.

CBS. for example, is concentratconstruction on the Coast.

CBS, for example, is concentrating all its construction presently on a live programming setup, despite the fact that it will have more film shows on the air this fall than ever before. Web is currently farming out production on its own film packages, such as Amos 'n' Andy and Burns & Allen to indie producers on the Coast, but is prepared to convert its TV City to film production whenever the necessity is felt.

McLendon, Noe's 40G For LBS Properties

Dallas, July 29.

The physical properties of the Liberty Broadcasting System was purchased by a former part-owner of the web and a onetime Governor of Louisiana.

nor of Louisiana.

William J. Rochell Jr., trustee in bankruptey, said that B. R. McLendon and James Noe made the high bid of $40,000 for the property. Noe is the father-in-law of Goridon McLendon, former preceding the former 400-station network.

B. R. McLendon is his father.

The austion of the resistance property.

The auction of the radio properties was held in the LBS offices. It was held on order of D. M. Oldham, federal referee in bankruptey, who declared the network bankrupt and $1.400,880 is debt last May.

Charlotte TV Bid

Greensboro, N. C., July 29.
A new firm, the Pledmont Electronics and Fixture Corp., has applied to the FCC for a permit to construct a 316,000-watt television station at Charlotte.

station at Charlotte.

H. H. Everett, president of the firm, said plans were to spend about $700,000 on the project if a permit is granted. Recent FCC decisions allocated two additional commercial television channels to Charlotte. Four applications already have been filed for the available channels.

WCBS Series For Emily Kimbrough

In another major programming switch for WCBS, key outlet of the CBS Radio web in N. Y., a new show starring Emily Kimbrough moves into the 4:15 to 4:30 p.m. cross-the-board slot starting Aug. 18. Show, which will be open for participating sponsorship, replaces the Tommy Riggs program, which has long been one of WCBS' afternoon mainstays. Miss Kimbrough co-authored "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay" with Cornelia Otis Skinner.

Deal for Miss Kimbrough, who is handled by indie packager Lester Lewis, was set as the result of her success. as sub for Margaret Arlen when the latter vacationed in Europe earlier this summer. If the new show proves successful, WCBS plans also to expand it into the 4 to 4:15 strip, replacing the "Johnson Family" program. Harry Marble, who was Miss Arlen's visavity, will take over the same job with Miss Kimbrough.

Move is the latest in a series of programming revamps instituted by WCBS general manager Carl Ward. He had previously dropped both Miss Arlen's show and the Phill Cook program.

Pader in Defense Vs. Joe Cook on Exploitation Manual for TV 'Today'

New York.
Editor, Variety:
Your story in last week's issue about Joe Cook of Minneapolls and the "Today" Exploitation Manual made an amusing yarn. Joe writes a good script. As it happens, many ideas in the manual were put to successful use in Philadelphia before being passed to the field. The "Arab" stunt, for example, possessed sufficient news value to garner extensive comment in the fore being passed to the field. The "Arab" stunt, for example, possessed sufficient news value to garner extensive comment in the Philadelphia press as well as picture placement. Exploitation and its audience-building values are relatively unfamiliar in many quarters, so perhaps Joe can be pardoned for passing up the showman-ship slants provided without putting them to the test.

I'm glad you saw fit to devote substantial space to the piece, because indirectly it highlighted a rather important question: How do you go about focusing as much attention as possible on network radio and TV shows in an era of increasing inferent increasing for ecompetition? What do you do to help your advertisers get the utmost in audience turnout?

Personally, I see a role of increasing importance for exploitation in city-by-city saturation campaigns designed to arouse maximum interest for network shows. Exploitation permits pin-pointing of effort. It is readily adaptable to the advertiser's marketing situation. It welds visual and other appeals together for solid cumulative impact.

We are determined here that no approach shall be spared which can possibly be of benefit to our sponsors. Our criterion is and must be results, rather than opinions based on past experience. For the broadcasting picture is constantly changling, and we must change right along with it to keep in step with all the new developments, which are bound to occur.

EDDY ARNOLD

On CBS-TV for Chesterfield
Cigarettes
Monday, Wednesday and Friday
7: 46 P.M. EDST.
Now in 9th year on Radio Coast to Coast
The EDDY ARNOLD SHOW for Purina Mills
RCA Victor Recording Artist
Exclusive Management
THOMAS A. PARKER
Box 417, Madison, Tenn.

Webs' Dismantling Of Chi Equipment A Herculean Job

When the Democrats finally ran down the curtain on their marathon national convention. started immediately on the Herculean job-the packing up of the $4,000,000 worth of radio and tele-vision equipment used by the various networks and indies on the politico's big show.

politico's big show.

The engineers hardly had time to catch their breaths after the finale before orders came down to start striking the gear. Reason for the haste—particularly in the case of television—is the fact that all three networks—NBC, ABC and CBS—had virtually stripped their New York and Chi studios to shoot the two conventions here. So to get back on the normal program schedule, the cameras, control units, etc., have to be put back into regular service as quickly as possible.

The web engineers figure they

The web engineers figure they The web engineers figure they brought out enough gear to equip five tele stations — except, of course, for transmitters and antennae. And they hope to bundle up in three or four days facilities that took over four months to organize and install at the International Amphitheatre and the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

R. G. (Tommy) Thompson, CBS-TV director of technical operations who headed up the planning and installation of the pool setup, is staying over this week to supervise the dismantling operation.

Even 'Audition' Audience Can Win Prizes Now Via 'Sing the Words'

Audience participants in a preiew performance of a new show will be able to compete for actual cash prizes for the first time to-morrow night (Thurs.), when NBC cuts an audition disk of a new half-hour show, "Sing the Words." Packaged by Jay Herbert, the show will have Morey Amsterdam as emcee and most of the cast from his WNBT, N. Y., morning video show, including vocalist Francey Lane and Milt deLugg and his orch. cash prizes for the first time to orch.

Program will have a musiquiz format, in which Miss Lane will sing only the verse of a tune, from which participants must guess the title for the $500 jackpot. Each time a contestant misses, she'll give out with another line. Johnny Stearns will produce, with Stearns and Willie Stein scripting. Three advertisers are reportedly interested in the package, which is scheduled to preem the last Wednesday night in August.

Convention Post-Mortems

by FARRELL DAVISSON

"These are the pictures you'll see in tomorrow's newspapers," were the words CBS-TV reporter Bill Leonard used to describe the videolensed scene early Saturday a.m. (26) as Democratic presidential nominee Adlai Stevenson stepped out of his Astor St. hideaway. The just-mominated Illinois Governor had paused to let the daily photogs get their still shots, as the three TV networks beamed the scene across the country. In one short sentence, Leonard summed up the conscious, or at least subconscious, dilemma of the hundreds of newsmen and photogs who for the past four weeks have been punching out reams of copy and pounds of pix on a story delivered firsthand to millions of video viewers.

For the first time, on the political telethon, TV was able to really test its flexibility. And this electronic maneuverability—heretofore tested to a lesser degree on CBS's "See It Now" and NBC's "Today"—is now recognited as a new form of journalism the social impact and utility of which is only limited by the imaginations of the men who employ it. On this first major national venture, there was produced evidence aplenty to prove that the men operating this still-young communications medium are rapidly catching up with their 20th Century radicts.

communications medium are rapidly catching up with their 20th Century gadgets.

Dramatile examples were a dime a dozen. There was President Harry Truman watching via NBC, his flight departure from Washington and then his arrival in Chicago. There was Gov. Stevenson being lensed by CBS as he stepped out to greet the crowd at Astor St. the very moment his nomination was made unanimous at the Amphitheatre. There was the whole series of exclusivel scored by the ABC camera crews who set a track record for crashing caucuses and sidebar sessions. And then there was the overall pool coverage which caught both the meat and the spice of the floor sessions.

All these things were brought off by the split-second TV-trapping of the boys who sweated it out in the control room "Black Holes." Fellows such as directors Don Hewitt (CBS), Sonny Diskin (ABC), C, H. (Joe) Colledge (NBC) and Bob Doyle, ABC's lend-leased shot-caller for the pool feed.

Network accounts are still toting up the cost figures with the final tab expected to hit close to the $3,000,000 mark, when all the regular sponsor rebates are calculated. This figure does not include the preemption losses sustained by the indie and network owned stations carrying the convention telecasts. The actual figure probably never will be known but with the web bankrollers actually paying for only a small proportion of the total feed carried by the affiliates, it's estimated toost the indies and the o.ko's better that $500,000 to carry the big show. Thus, for the TV industry as a whole it's by far the biggest and most costly public service project in its young history. The financial arrangement with the trio of bankrollers this time won't set the pattern for future rambling events of this nature, is the off-the-record comment of the network braintrusts.

If there was one thing that gave rise to any friction between the nets and their respective convention clients it was the moves by the affiliates and owned stations to salvage as much individual revenue as possible. While turning over 10 to 16 hours a day to the web feeds, the outlets felt justified in peddling as much station break biz as possible. The bankrollers laying it on the line for the chain coverage weren't too happy about what they dubbed "hitch-hikers."

Admiral Corp., for example, registered a loud beef over the Life Saver-Royal Typewriter chain-break blurbs which ABC sold on its o.&o. stations as a package. It was learned Admiral prexy Ross Siragusa contacted ABC prexy Robert Kintner direct in an attempt to buy up the spots after about the second day of hearing that "What do you stand on, Senator" Live Saver pitch.

Westinghouse managed to control most of the local station ad inserts on its CBS show by working out a co-op deal with its retailers and distribs for a package buy of convention station breaks on the individual outlets in practically all markets except New York and Chicago. Firm did have its difficulties with WBKB, the Chi CBS affiliate, which hung onto as much of its own spot coin as could be worked in.

** * **

During the tedious and time-consuming delegate polling before the hung onto as much of its own spot coin as could be worked in.

During the tedious and time-consuming delegate polling before the Dems finally spawned their candidate, the TV boys entertained themselves by promoting a George Elrath-Betty Furness slate on the theory the pair had snagged more airtime than other convention figure. NBC's Elrath drew the rostrum mike assignment and it was his task to adjust the height of the mikes for each speaker. His duties kept him upfront as much as were the various chairmen.

Although working in the youngest show biz medium, Miss Furness proved herself a trouper in the best traditions of the old school. Each day of both conclaves she waited "in the CBS wings" from the opening to the closing gavel for the cues to go into her 90-second spiels for Westinghouse. Several times it was a 16-hour standby. However, every now and then she got a chance to speak her lines. All in all, she got "on" some 280 minutes during the two conventions. Her longest stage wait was Thursday night (24) during the Dem's fight over the seating of the Virginia delegation when she sat for three hours before the floor wrangling lagged enough for a commercial.

Mutual registered solidly on the station relations front with the Mutual registered solidly on the station relations front with the facilities it made available to its affillates who came into Chicago to cover first hand the activities of the various state delegations. The web set up studios at the Conrad Hilton headquarters and the Amphitheatre for use by the Mutual outlets who had dispatched newsmen to the scene. The facilities, for the nominal fee of $10 per show, were used for both live and taped interviews for hometown airing. Stations, of course, paid their own line charges but found the Mutual service a big help in covering the show from the local angle.

Although there were a few beefs during the heat of the nominating battles that AM-TV reporting favored one candidate or the other, web officials rang down the curtain with the conviction they had provided the citizenry with the most objective coverage of any medium. NBC received unofficial squawks from the Tatt camp during the early stages of the GOP gablest that it was giving the edge to the Eisenhower forces. During the Demo hassle ABC headquarters were hit with a few telegrams and phone calls charging its commentators were leaning toward Kefauver. Most of the complaints were directed at Drew Pearson's "Peoples Poll" on which he asked for wires telling which candidate should get the nod. The crime busting senator led by some 77% on the columnist's ABC survey but the actual number of wires wasn't disclosed.

The relatively few complaints, considering the parties angles in disclosed.

The relatively few complaints, considering the partisan angles involved in a political convention, were brushed off by the network exces who are justly proud of their job of playing the affair down the middle. They point out radio-TV networks have sort of a "natural objectivity" as corporate entities. For example, unlike newspapers and magazines, they take no editorial position on political issues or political figures. Also the sponsors—Phileo, Westinghouse and Admiral—insist upon neutrality on the broadcasts bearing their labels on the simple grounds they are pushing their appliances at Democrats and Republicans alike.

Although NBC's "walkie-lookie" portable TV camera was soon with (Continued on page 30)

NETWORKS' 'GIVE US YOUR ALL'

Blast Religioso 'Exploitation'

Sharp criticism of the invocations at the recent political conventions and intimations that they were aimed at the video audience in a "political exploitation of religion" is contained in the current Christian Century, nondenominational Protestant weekly published in Chi.

Journal, wrote: "Were these petitions (the prayers) really addressed to God, Who judges the heart and is not impressed by windy intercessions? Or were, they tailored, as if they were political speeches; to the television audience? The length and especially the substance of many of the prayers indicate that they were designed for human, not divine, ears."

The religious publication said that most of prayers were delivered "as though God were indeed a mythical Uncle Sam, or possibly even a mythical Uncle-Republican or Uncle Democrat." God is not a Republican or a Democrat and "He is not even an 'American, shocking as it may seem to say it," the magazine declared.

TVA, AFRA to Press for Wedding, Seek Screen Guild Support in 4As

Membership of American Fedration of Radio Artists in L. A., bitter because Screen Actors Guild and Screen Extras Guild used their belance of power position within the 4As to forestall approval of the TVA-AFRA merger, has adopted a motion, asking the two film guilds to support their position. At a 4As meeting earlier this month in N. Y. the pix guilds participated for the first time in months and indicated, they would neither approve nor disapprove such a merger until the question of full film jurisdiction is resolved.

Membership also voted support of full film jurisdiction is resolved. Membership also voted support of the local exee board's position against the proposed five-branch merger, in complete opposition to the AFRA national board, which has voted 34 to 17 to support the merger. AGVA and AGMA have also voted support of the five-brancher, but; Equity and Chorus Equity have not yet voted, and unanimous approval is required before the one-card union can be achieved.

unanimous approval is required before the one-card union can be achieved.

It was also strongly hinted at the meeting that when AFRA has its annual convention in N. Y., Aug. 21-24, it may well be that the conclave will be an AFTRA session. Possibility that TVA and AFRA will proceed with its merger despite lack of approval from the 4As was seen as a way out of the intra-union hassle which has snarled up the two-branch merger, supposed to have been affected last July 1 if there was no five-branch merger at that time.

Claude McCue, Coast rep of AFRA, reported on the status of the pending two-branch merger. (Continued on page 31)

(Continued on page 31)

4 Denver TVers Loom This Year

Denver, July 30.
With the addition of another application for a TV channel, it seems likely Denver will have four stations on the air before snow flies, with hearings scheduled on only two channels.

only two channels.

The newest applicant, asking for channel 20 (UHF), is the newly-formed Mountain States Television Co., organized with Irving Jacobs as president, and with his two brothers-in-law as partners, Jacobs is owner of Mammoth Gardens, used for roller skating, wrestling, boxing, and conventions. He has also produced plays on Broadway, is scheduled to open Mary Chase's new play, "Bernadine," on Broadway this fall, and has options on three other plays. A couple of years ago he opened "Clutterbuck" on Broadway after a week's tryout at Elitch Gardens theatre, Denver.

There is only the one applica-

WCMW Sale Okayed

Canton, July 29.

Canton, July 29.

Sale of WCMW, Canton, to S. L.

Huffman of Canton and J. Irvin Shultz of Detroit has been approved by the FCC. Purchase was made six weeks ago from Kenneth Lope, an attorney, and R. W. Loiehot, president of the First National Bank, at a price of $38,794.

Huffman will continue as president of the company, a position he has held about three years.

WCMW and WHBC, Canton, both have applied for television channel 29, which was allotted to Canton recently.

Mfrs. Plan Meet To Aid Educators Bidding for Video

Washington, July 29

Washington, July 29.
Plans to provide industry aid to educational television will be considered at a meeting of a special committee of the Radio-TV Manufacturers Assn. Aug. 6 at RCA offices in New York, RTMA announced here last week.
Chairman of the committee is Benjamin Abrams, prexy of Emerson Radio & Phonograph Corp, who recently created a $100,000 fund to be distributed to the first 10 education TV outlets to receive FCC permits. Emerson is also spearheading a $5,000,000 manufacturing industry subsidy to help educational stations get started.

spearneading a $5,00,000 halms facturing industry subsidy to help educational stations get started. Abrams has invited heads of the leading 15 TV manufacturers to attend the Aug. 6 meeting. The list includes Frank M. Folsom of RCA, Ross Siragusa of Admiral, Robert C. Tait of Stromberg-Carlson, Paul Galvin of Motorola, Larry Hardy of Phileo, Comdr. E. F. McDonald of Zenith, Dr. Allen B. DuMont of DuMont Labs, and Dr. W. R. G. Baker of General Electric.

Aside from its public relations value, financial support for educational stations will almost surely be explored as a stimulus to TV set sales through development of new markets in educational centers.

ters. The committee has been requested to make its recommendations to RTMA board of directors for consideration at its Sept. 18 meeting in New York.

Zugsmith Claims Renege

Hollywood, July 29.

Al Zugsmith, radio-TV broker who negotiated the sale of KPHO and KPHO-TV, Phoenix, to Meredith Publishing Co., Des Moines, authorized his attorney, Jerry Glesler, to make demands on the former station owner, John Mullen, for Zugsmith's commission on the $1,800,000 sale.

Zugsmith's fee was 5% on the

KICK REVEALED

The three major television net-works—NBC, CBS and ABC—are off on a new tangent. And it's one that, even if only partially suc-cessfully, can throw the program-ming schedules of the webs for a major loop and create economic chaos.

The networks have embarked on a concentrated pitch to the big league spenders in TV, saying, in effect, "give us everything you've got, both radio and television, and we'll make it worth your while."

we'll make it worth your while."

It's probably the most extraordinary package sale kick thus far ventured. So far no client has tumbled for it, despite the fact that it would permit for contiguous rate structures (with a carryover from radio into TV and vice versa) and overall discounts calculated to make a client's mouth water.

The networks have made their approaches on the following basis:
TV, costs are high. They're destined to grow so high that a client can no longer afford to advertise on all three networks.

Only by tossing all their pro-

on all three networks.

Only by tossing all their programming eggs (both radio and TV) into one network basket, the webs-argue, can it become economically feasible, through discounts and contiguous rate structures, for a sponsor to spread himself coast-to-coast.

Some attempts were made in years past in radio, even in the medium's heyday, to achieve a "one big network deal," among ma-"one big network deal," among major clients, but the networks never got to first base with the proposal. It's recalled now, in the period immediately following World War II, NBC made some frantic overtures to latch on to the toprated "Lux Radio Theatre" and grab the bulk of the Lever Bros. programming away from CBS. But Lever—as with all other clients—took the position that the wider it spread itself, the better. TV clients apparently cling to the same belief.

Van Volkenburg Sees Public, Not Legislation, Dictating TV Taste

St. Louis, July 29.

In an address to 200 members of the St. Louis Ad Club last week, J. L. Van Volkenburg, prez of CBS television division, asserted that an "alert and articulate pub-lic" and not legislation is the best on TV. Van Volkenburg expressed the hope that the Congressional committee now delving into the in-dustry would realize that "legislation cannot outlaw poor taste and improper programming." improper programming."

He also said the TV networks' sense of responsibility to the public, with the sets' switches in reach, can assure good taste and programs and that legislation would hamper the medium's potential cultural contribution. Yan would namper the medium's poten-tial cultural contribution. Van Volkenburg also stated that the industry in general is doing a fine job in providing good programs but there is room for improvement and always will be room for addi-tional improvement.

"In four years the number of TV "In four years the number of TV sets has soared to approximately 17,500,000 and TV's growth has been swifter than any other mass communications medium in this country," Van Volkenburg asserted. He also pointed out that time costs have increased eight times since 1949, but in that period "circulation" has increased 18 times.

at Elitch Gardens theatre, Denver.

There is only the one application for channel 20.

Denver saw the Democratic convention on KFEL-TV, which went on the air last week. This station is using material from various national TV chains.

Four of the channels assigned to Denver went with only one applicant each.

who negotiated the sale of KPHO and KPHO-TV, Phoenix, to Meredith Publishing Co., Des Moines, attempted in advertising expenditure went into TV and this was about 7½% of the total spent on advertising. Van Volkenburg also estimated the expenditure may run to about $1,800,000 sale.

Zugsmith's fee was 5% on the Call of the call in which he acted as representative and consultant for Mullen. He claims he was not paid.

NEWEST PACKAGE FCC Meets Today (Wed.) for Action On Expediting ABC-UPT Merger

WBEN (AM-TV) Shuffle

Buffalo, July 29.

Announced return of Ralph Hub-bell as sports director of WBEN and WBEN-TV climaxed a general and when IV climated a general shift this month of Buffalo sports-casters, Hubbell, who has been out of action for 16 months due to ill-ness, will return to duty Aug. 4.

ness, will return to duty Aug. 4.

Earlier, Bill Mazer took a walk from WKBW to WGR to replace Sieg Smith, who moved in turn to nearby CHML in Hamilton, Ont. Mazer is considered tops hereabouts in baseball and basketball play-by-play. Roger Gustafson jumped up to take Mazer's post at WKBW.

CBS-TV Now SRO 5 Nights; Tues.,

With the P. Lorillard-sponsored "Web" moving into the Sunday night at 10 period on CBS-TV in the fall, the network is now Son five nights out of the week. CBS still has Tuesday and Saturday night spots to fill and net execs are concentrating all their efforts on those currently, stalling several other projects, such as opening up in the early-morning hours opposite NBC-TV's "Today" show.
Open time Tuesday is the 8 to site NBC-TV's "Today" show.

Open time Tuesday is the 8 to 9 slot, which brings it opposite the Milton Berle show on NBC and Bishop Fulton J. Sheen on Du-Mont. Web, which is filling the hour with feature films this summer, is keeping mum on the type of shows it is pitching to potential clients for the fall, but, to date, none of them has apparently aroused any sponsor interest.

On Saturday night, CBS has aroused any sponsor interest.

On Saturday night, CBS has started the push by lining up two of three participating bankrollers for Jackie Gleason, which is slated to go. 8 to. 9, but the time from 9 to 10:30 is still wide open. Web is reportedly juggling several program combinations for these periods, with the Ken Murray and Cass Daley shows, plus a new situation comedy series, among those which may get the nod to buck the Max Liebman-Sid Caesar-Imogene Coca display on NBC. Final determination of the shows, however, will again depend on sponsor interest.

10,000 Petition for Kirby TV Show from Coast

Pittsburgh, July 29.
Petition signed by more than 10,000 Pittsburghers, from Mayor David Lawrence on down, will soon be forwarded to Al Jarvis in Holly-

David Lawrence on down, will soon be forwarded to Al Jarvis in Hollywood requesting him to put forward an effort to get all or part of his three-hour afternoon teevee show piped into Pittsburgh. That's because Johnny Kirby, longtime radio and TY fave here who recently was signed by Jarvis as his featured vocalist on the program, has so many friends and fans here. They're responsible for the document which Jarvis should be getting in a couple of weeks, Petition started out as a nice gesture on the part of a few of Kirby's admirers but has since become almost a clvic project.

Kirby had been on KDKA here for years and more recently was starred on a couple of the Duquesne Beer "Showtime" rotating programs right before getting the West Coast offer from Jarvis. He left here more than three months 190. Petition, addressed to Jarvis, eads: "We, the undersigned of Yestern Pennsylvania, are some of he fans of Johnny Kirby, and are nost grateful and appreciative for (Continued on page 31)

(Continued on page 31)

Washington, July 29,
The FCC will meet again tomorrow (Wed.) to decide whether to approve the ARC-UPT merger or continue the Par anti-trust hearings under examiner Leo Resnick until all evidence has been taken.
If the latter course is decided, it's doubtful that a final decision on the question can be reached this year.

year.

It's understood the agency is disposed to grant the petitions of ABCUPT and Paramount Pictures ABC-UPT and Paramount Pictures to eliminate anti-trust issues from proceedings in order to provide a basis for quickly approving the merger. This was indicated when hearings were suspended three weeks ago pending action on the petitions.

week ago pending action on the petitions.

STV Now SRO

Nights; Tues.,

Sat. Spots Open

the P. Lorillard-sponsored by moving into the Sunday that 10 period on CBS-TV in fall, the network is now SPO inghts out of the week. CBS has Tuesday and Saturday and Saturday in the pending Comr. Robert Jones, who has fought vigorously for hearings.

has fought, vigorously for hearings. Jones is now on the scene, Comr. George Sterling is on vacation, and two other members, Edward Webster and Frieda Hennock, may participate in the decision on the participate in the depart.

This change in composition of membership could result in a split decision and such an eventuality, it's learned, is by no means remote. It's also a possibility that deliberations may result in rehashing the agency's overall anti-monopoly policy, with emphasis on network regulations. There's some sentiment, it's learned, for turning over policing of network-affiliate practices to the Department of Justice.

Freelance Talent Ruling Under Fire

Recent National Labor Relations Board decision on freelance talent may soon be under fire from the American Assn. of Advertising may soon be under fire from the American Assn. of Advertising Agencies as well as the American Federation of Radio Artists.

In the WEWS (Cleveland) case, NIRB ruled, 3-2, that freelance TV talent employed by advertising agencies may not be included in a collective bargaining unit with other staffers of the Scripps-Howard station. Under this ruling, the ad agencies are employers of broadcast talent, although the admen's position has always been that the broadcasters and not the agencies are the employers. The agency organization may thus join AFRA in its demand for a rehearing on the case.

Cleveland AFRA's Beef
Cleveland, July 29.
Ted Smoot, executive secretary for both AFRA and TVA here, declared NLRB ruling against the union in the WEWS decision, will be fought "whether by appeal, by direct action or withholding talent from the station."

New Honolulu TV Bid

Honolulu, July 29.
Sixth application has been filed for Honolulu television station.
KCMB is first to apply for Channel 9. Station, controlled by Consolidated Amusement Co., is CBS af-

City has been assigned Channels 2, 4, 9, 11 and 13 for commercial purposes. Radio Honolulu, Ltd., new combine, has made the only application for Channel 11.

Plenty Football Vidfilm Packages Being Peddled by Indie Distribs

that NBC-TV has wrapped up rights to live coverage of college football games this fall, are swinging into pre-production plans for vidfilm highlights of the top games eath week, standout grid events of past years, etc. There are expected to be five or six packages around this season, with sales staffers of this season, with sales staffers of the various syndication outfits involved already out pitching them to stations and potential local bankrollers.

Sportsvision, Inc., for example, will again produce a half-hour series titled "All American Game of the Week," which is to be narrated by either Jack Drees or Tom Harmon. Consolidated TV Sales is distributing and each stanza of the 13-week series is to be available the Monday following each Saturday's game. Spot prices on the package range from a low of $1.46 for the smallest market up to $2,000 for N. V.

United World Films has a series titled "Football Extras," comprising 10 five-and-a-half or six-and-anial minute filmed highlights of top games from previous years.

half minute filmed highlights of top games from previous years. UWF is attempting to sell the series for use between halves of a game, or preceding or following a game. Frice per market ranges from $70 to $500, with the buyer entitled to an unlimited number of runs from September to January 2 1983.

entitled to an unlimited number of runs from September to January 2, 1953.

Another package is "Football This Week," produced by Norman Sper and syndicated by Station Distributors. Format has Sper each week predicting the winners of 12 top games, utilizing action footage of teams involved combined with slow motion film. Prestone has optioned the package for 24 markets and prices in other markets range from $78 to $800.

Besides these packages, United TV Programs will also have a vidifim football package and it's expected that International News Service, United Artists TV and other distribs will also have packages to sell.

St. Paul Daily Sparks Drive for Non-Com'l U. of Minn. TV Stations

Minneapolis, July 29.
The St. Paul Pioneer Press, whose owners are financially interested in WTCN-TV, one of the Twin Cities two commercial television stations, has taken the lead in a drive to induce the state legisla-ture to finance the construction and operation of a University of Minneoperation of a University of Minnesota non-commercial educational TV station which would be a co-operative statewide project with its programs available for commercial TV stations and its facilities at the disposal of other educational institutions and farm and labor groups. Because it fears that the expense of building and operating the TV station would be subtracted from a budget already curtailed by the last state legislature, the university has been hesitant so fâr in applying to the FCC for Channel 2 which has been set aside by FCC which has been set aside by FCC or a Twin Cities non-commercial a wan clues non-commercial educational station, the newspaper points out.

The estimated cost for the station's construction and yearly operation runs up to $500,000 each, according to the Pioneer Press.

The Pioneer Press calls upon the public to urge the university to proceed with its plans for the TV station in the expectation that the legislature will finance it through a supplemental appropriation divorced from the university's regular budget.

Rigrod Heads VHRG

Kigrou Figure Values
Veterans Hospital Radio Guild has elected Carl Rigrod as prexy.
Other officers are Latham Ovens,
v.p.; Adelaide Eakens, 2d v.p.; Hai
Smith, secretary, and Fred Turner,

Smith, secretary, and Fred Adrica, treasurer.
VHRG services hospitals at Kingsbridge, Castle Point, Brooklyn, Lyons, N. J., and Portland, Ore., training convalescent ex-GIs in writing, acting and recording their own wired-network programs.

Cuba Educators Would Use TV in Classrooms

Use TV in Classrooms
Havana, July 22.
About 18 educators and top figures in Cuba's growing video industry participated in a meeting last Friday (18) seeking means of furthering TV as a medium of education. The confab was held at Havana under the university's sponsorship. Dr. Martha Martinez asserted that TV can make use of the best taachers and a greater range of facilities than can be found in most classrooms. Dr. Slivio Machado declared that tele educational programs should be entertaining so as to make them more popular.

more popular.

Raul Gutierrez, representing advertisers, hit at the educators for not making educational programs more interesting. He asserted that few schools had shown any interest whatever in video, and most had not made any efforts to cooperate with broadcasters. Goar Mestre, owner of CMQ-TV, said he thought that educational TV programs should be aimed at "controlled" audiences such as students attendshould be aimed at "controlled" audiences such as students attending classes. Mestre declared that independent educational programs are not self-sustaining financially because advertisers refuse to put much money in them.

In agreement with this was Luis Botifoll, representing the manage-Botifoll, representing the management of TV-El Mundo, Botifoll said advertisers would not indulge in philanthrophy. He added that it was up to the government to support educational programs in cooperation with educators and stations.

Lucky Lager 20G Rocky Mt. Deal

Rocky Mountain Representative has pulled a neat plum out of the commercial pie with the inking of Lucky Lager Beer to a two-hour, across the board disc session on

INTER-FAITH SERIES CUFFOED TO STATIONS

New series of television films of varying lengths, produced by the Christophers, Catholic religious organization, are being made available gratis to TV stations across the country to further the group's inter-faith program to awaken the public to civic and personal respon stibility. First of the vidpix preems on NBC-TV tomorrow night (Thurs,) under the title of "Gov-ernment Is Your Business." Five of the half-hour films have

Five of the half-hour films have been completed, with the Christophers now aiming at a one-permonth production schedule. Organization also has 17 quarter-hour interview pix in the can and 65 one-minute spots, out of a proposed 365-per-year schedule. "Let George Do It." a half-hour Christopher film, was aired last May on WNBT, the NBC web's key N.Y. outlet.

Screen Writers Prep Ultimatum On Telefilm Pact

Screen Writers Guild is

eady to issue a "settlement or strike" ultimatím tomorrow (Wed.) resumption of negotiations the Alliance of Television Film Producers which are now deadlocked over residuals.

Both parties have been discuss ing a pact for months, but the producers consistently refused the SWG residual plan which is based on the principle that original payment to author is advance against percentage or royalties.

SWG compares its proposed system to ASCAP's royalty setup with the writer getting a cut after the producer recoups his negative costs.

Negotiations were recently broken off by SWG prexy Mary McCall, Jr., because participants couldn't agree. Since then Guild leaders have been discussing the situation with an eye toward more positive action. These discussions are creating the viewpoint that further haggling is useless.

If the producer refuse the pe-across the board disc session on three stations. Deal was closed by S. John Schile, RMR v.p. in charge of sales, for stations KUTA in Salt Lake, KVOG in Ogden and KCSU in Provo, and by reps of McCann-Erickson's San Francisco office.

Pact is solid for one year with a tab running to $20,000 and is one of the best packages signed in a long time. Session will be aired from 10 p.m. to midnight, Monday through Saturday.

expressed the blunt opinion that some convention speakers are non-stop windbags and that it will be a good thing when the pressure of TV whittles them down to size.

"I see television as a tremendous thing in the future of our conven-tions," Johnson told VARIETY. uons, Jonnson told VARTETY.
"Even now, a person watching a convention on television, knew more about what took place than any delegate on the floor.

100,000,000 in '56

100,000,000 in '36

"There is no doubt that television will improve conventions. In the future, convention procedure will be guided by expert advice from the telecasters on the best format for handling a convention. The purpose will be to present conventions in their best light to the 100,000,000 people who will be looking in on them in 1956. 100,000,000 people who volocking in on them in 1956.

looking in on them in 1956.

"Conventions may not get shorter, but they will be greatly improved from an audience viewpoint. To actually shorten the conventions might destroy the democratic processes so necessary in our American political system. But, much of the time-wasting procedure will be eliminated and something much more entertaining and educational will be substituted.

"Unless this is deep the state of the state of the state of the substituted.

"Unless this is done, the American audience will not want to waste time watching convention procedures—and you may be very certain that the wise party leaders will not tolerate this.

leaders will not tolerate this.
"Naturally the delegates, knowing his performance is being watched by millions, will make better speeches. The keynote speakers will not put on the long tirades which made the two 1952 conventions notorious. An hour and 19 minutes of yelling and screaming is just too much for the American appetite.
"TV and radio will make the "TV and radio will make the nationwide presidential primary feasible. Under it, all state primaries should be held simultaneously. TV and radio will make it possible for the candidates to present their case to members of their parties without a huge outlay of cash. If each state should hold a primary at a separate time, only a very wealthy candidate could participate because the cost of 48 campaigns—without the help of radio and television, would run into millions." (It is a fact that at least one leading—candidate for the Democratic nomination was able to get into only a few states this past spring, because of the lack of funds.)

Kenneth Fry, radio—TV director

Kenneth Fry, radio-TV director of the Democratic National Comof the Democratic National Committee, believes that any change TV brings to conventions will be "evolutionary" rather than "revolutionary." He expects, however, that video will force such things as shorter speeches and the starting of sessions at the scheduled times. In a kudo to television, he adds:

See Execute Residue Versidue Vers

See Record-Breaking Vote

See Record-Breaking Vote
"In a period of eight years, the television audience grew from 12,000 to half the population of the United States. TV is bringing to the people a better understanding of conventions and greater interest in politics. More people will come out to vote because they have been interested in politics by television.
I think this November will see a record-breaking vote at the polls."
One of the biggest beefs from the great TV audience was in the extreme dullness of the first couple of days of the Republican and Demmy conventions. This was a period of interminable speeches

period of interminable speeches while the conventions awaited the reports of their credentials and platform committees.

A prominent observable of their credentials and platform committees.

while the conventions awaited the reports of their credentials and platform committees.

A prominent observer suggests that television might bring about the following change—the committee would meet a full week before the commencement of the conventions and have their reports ready for the opening day. Then the first couple of days of speeches could be mostly dispensed with, the delegates could start immediately to consider the reports.

Several believe that shorter and quicker speeches will result from pressure by the people back home.

Senator Johnson

quoted on the subject at present.

One, however, who had no compunctions on the subject, is Sen. Ed Johnson, of Colorado, chairman of the powerful Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, which acts on all legislation affecting the broadcasting industry. Johnson expressed the blunt opinion that some conventions neakers are non-wind the policy of the product of the pr delegates to demand an inordinate number of state pollis. What's more, in announcing themselves and their votes, many delegates put out commercials for their home states, their communities, and their favorite candidates. This was to an extent greater than at past conventions. Some of it is attributed to a desire to put an act for the folks back home.

May Settle Hassle Over Snader Firm

Suit to remove Lou Snader and his two daughters as directors of Snader Telescriptions cued negotiations within a few hours to settle the long standing differences between Snader and other directors in the vidpic firm. Talks are progressing and it's understood that the complaining faction has decided against pressing the suit at present and didn't serve Snader with papers.

present and didn't serve Snader with papers.
Suit was filed by Alexander Harry Bisno and Samuel Markovitch. They asked Superior Court to remove Snader and appoint a provisional director to break up three-to-three voting deadlock which prevented passage of any resolutions at the last meeting of the board.
Suit accused 'Snader of "gross mismanagement" and "misappropriation of funds" and charged complaining directors were locked priation of tunds" and charged complaining directors were locked out of offices.

Named defendants with Snader were daughters Suzanne Reinicke and Jayne Gorallo, latter's hus-band Jesse, Snader's nephew, Robpand Jesse, Snaders piùs two John Does. Plaintiffs claim Snader failed to withhold employee income tax so complainants were forced to advance partial payment of $13,000 Internal Revenue claimed was due.

K. C.'s WIBW Sponsoring Farm Tours to Hawaii

Tarm lours to liawall

Topeka, July 29.

WIBW is jumping into the travel field, sponsoring a flying agricultural tour to Hawaii in the early fall.

Wes Seyler, station farm service director, expects to take about 100 Kansas and midwest farmers on a two-week trip to the islands beginning Oct. 25.

Tour is being offered in two groups, one to take off by air from Kansas City Oct. 25, the other by liner from Frisco Oct. 21. Group will play a dual role, vacationing and studying methods, crops and livestock there.

Music Pubs

Continued from page 25

American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers. Instead, rights to use the tunes are cov-ered by the blanket deal each TV station or network has with ered by the blanket deal each TV station or network has with ASCAP. Publishers themselves retain dramatic rights to the tunes but Seaboard has releases from them for the dramatization purposes. And, when three or four disks are available to be synchronized with the same film, the rights clearance is covered by the "mood music" arrangement.

Lever

Conventions Post-Mortems Continued from page 28

drawn from use on the jampacked convention floor as not yet ready for such jostling work, the self-contained "walkie-talkie" radio units proved invaluable for on-the-floor interviews and bulletins. With most of the delegates more than willing to open up for the network reporters equipped with the portable transmitters, the wire services early in the proceedings assigned legmen to birddog the radio-TV newsmen so as to pick up any info the politicos poured into the tiny mikes.

Presence of the flock of mike-toting newshawks led to some confusion among the delegates. When Sen. Paul Douglas during that chaotic sesamong the delegates. When sen, Fail Bouglas curring that chaotic session in the wee hours of Friday morning (25) was trying to get the attention of chairman Sam Rayburn to move for a recess, he grabbed CBS reporter Ed Scott's "walkie-talkie," apparently thinking Rayburn could thereby hear him. Actually, while several million CBS listeners across the country could hear the senator's adjournment pleas, they were inaudible to the chairman only 15 feet away.

* * *

The networks went to great lengths to get their cameras in strategic positions, especially to lens the dignitaries as they entered the convention hall. NBC drafted one of those industrial lift-trucks to elevate its camera above the crowds. But the topper was produced by ABC's Chi chief engineer Ed Horstman who came up with a 45-foot construction crane to swing the web's camera out over the mob. The so-called "giraffe" camera was to be used to shoot the arrival of President Truman. The secret service men in town to prepare for the chief executive's convention appearance took one look at the camera and crew dangling out at the end of the long boom and promptly ordered the contraption removed from the President's route.

Television was upperment in the minds of the indic rodic bases on Television was uppermost in the minds of the indie radio brass on hand for the nominating sessions. With the Federal Communications Commission now handing out TV construction permits, the AM exces kept a close watch over the news machines in Mutual and the Clear Channel headquarters to see if the agency had released another batch of channels.

Chi indic WBKB likely will get the honor of showcasing Demnominee Stevenson on his first post-convention TV appearance. For the past eight months, the Illinois governor has been making monthly reports to the people via WBKB and has another regular report scheduled for Sunday (3).

 Tele Follow-Up Comment

"Broadway TV Theatre," the 90 for which he's famous but his minute drama show which WOR-ry dishes up on Mondays through Fridays, last week came up with two solo tunes and me Money, Three-act comedy that Broadway saw in the '47-'48 season was one of the better pieces to come before the cameras since this well and the other L-M plugs were well anoths ago:

While the Herbert scribt is just

Warren Wade production started several months ago:
While the Herbert script is just about as frothy and contrived as when it preemed at the Henry Miller Theatre; N.Y., in November, 1947, its "story" of a middle-aged actor and his zonantic problems nevertheless had its anusing moments in WOR. EV revival, thanks to engaging performances of a cast headed by Vicki Cummings, Diana Herbert and Tom Helmote.

Tact khat the Irales were so convincingly portrayed may stem from the familiarity of Miss Cummings, Miss Herbert and Maida Reade with the play. For all of them appeared in the Broadway original at one time or another. Direction of Richard Lukin, and Bramwell Fletcher's staging were other assets in accenting "Love's" comedy values.

Yan relates the experience of Rietcher's staging were other assets in accenting "Love's" comedy values.

Yann relates the experience of an actor who suddenly finds himself sheltering an hysterical girl in his home. Curiously, "she remains as a "resident secretary" and her relationship with her host is strictly platonic despite suspicions of the actor's leading lady and household staff. The denoument represents the obvious.

Helmore, as the actor, moved through his lines with a worldly grace. Miss Cummings was delightful as the distrusting leading lady while Miss Herbert was bouncy and pert as the gal who recover from her momentary hysteria. Robert Casey was okay as the juvenile while good support was provided by Miss Reade, Hal Conklin, Leona Powers and Jon Richards.

Cast's performances on the show caught (24) were much moore relaxed than on Tuesday (22). Reason for this, perhaps, could stem from the fact that the 12-day heat wave was broken by Thursday and the players' temperaments reacted accordingly. Plugs for General Tires and Cavalier cigarets were unobtrusive. Withal, "Broadway TV Theatre" probably picked up some of the convention overflow last week when viewers tired of the conleaves duller portions. Gilb.

of the convention vertflow last week when viewers tired of the conclave's duller portions. GHD.

While any rating gain made by Ed Sullivan's 'Toast of the Town'd uring the current summer months has not yet been 'disclosed, the CBS-TV vaudeo presentation certainly rates a hefty audience on the basis that it has not trimmed the production quality one bit during the traditional 'dog-days period. Show last Sunday night (27), for example, was a case in point. With a solid talent 'lineup toplined by Ted Lewis and with plenty of good production mountings, the stanza could have held its own with the best turned out by Sullivan during the regular season. Emcee and his co-producer, Marlo Lewis, both rate nods for the way they've upheld the quality.

Sunday night's production might not have had names of the calibre used during the fall and winter, but it was a neatly-paced divertissement all the way. Sixty-man Naval Aviation Cadets choir from Pensacola, Fla., led off with a selection of spirituals and sea, chanties, displaying good a capella capabilities. Three-dimensional background of a Navy vessel made their work visually attractive. Jimmy Nelson again proved that he's one of the best of the younger ventriloquists, scoring with a new routine in which a sad-faced dummy dogoloned him and his regular puppet, Danny O'Day, Way he handles the three voices in running patter is strictly top-drawer. Maurice Colieano a showing a good concelle talent, was a penchant for finding new young talent, had and with their knockabout acrobatics, with Colleano. Showing a good concelle talent.

Mally in professional style. Ving Mine: Sad and the stream had the week of the younger ventriloquists, scoring with a new routine in which a sad-faced dummy dogoloned him and his regular puppet, Danny O'Day. Way he handles the three voices in running patter is strictly top-drawer. Marice Colieano showing a good concelle talent, and the produce of Sullivan handled his emcee chores well and the other L-M plugs were good.

The theory that summer fare should be light and frothy, which is a good one for warm weather meals, doesn't work as well for television drama. The tendency is for video stanzas to whip up instibstantial, far-fetched plots with little grounding in reality. "Curtain Call," Worthington Miner's series for RCA on NBC-TV was a case in point last Friday (25) when it offered "Summer Evening."

Sharon Wells original television script centered on a 21-year-old Italian lass who came to New York to make her fortune as a dancer, succeeding only in getting a $35-a-week job as a waitress and creating disbellef in her coworkers because of her stories of past riches. Gal, longing for the lish life, conveniently found a key to a grand Gotham brownstone and spent the nights in its lavish surroundings. When a man entered, she thought him a burgiar. But, as was obvious, he proved the owner and was able to save her from arrest—after she showed him the foolishness of his disilusion and cynicism.

That made a sentimental, contrived script. Raimonda Orselli, an interesting-looking and graceful girl, whose background parallels that of the tale's heroine, gave the role of the imaginative miss some charming moments but overall failed to co. vince. Lee Bowman, as the man who learned a new attitude toward life from his brief encounter with the dancer, registered more effectively. But both were hampered by the telegraphed yrm.

William Riva's inter r setting was good, although the exterior of the house was not as realistic. Production, directed by Clark Jones, lacked the defities, of Miner's earlier "Studio One" presentations: at ene point a door was caught being closed (so it later could be opened and a clock read 8 p.m. at what was supposed to be it am.

The dog days may inspire a desire to escape; but the essential elements of realism should" the a n...

The dog days may inspire a desire to escape, but the essential elements of realism shouldn't be Bril.

C'MON TO UNCLE PETE'S
With Pete Boyle, John Merlin
Producer-Director: Bean Squires
30 Mias., Sat. 11 a.m.
WPTZ, Philadelphia
"C'Mon" is standard sprout fare built around personality of Pete Boyle, popular "Chuckwagon Pete", of station's "Frontier Playhouse." Uncle Pete, whose visitors seem to be entirely nieces, sits on his porch in Pumpernickel County and weaves stories of the whimsical and pointless kind generally believed to have moppet appeal.

There are usually a couple cartoon shorts on the program and Boyle, who is also an illustrator, introduces these with drawings of his own. Films appear to give the narrator a bigger charge than the kids and Boyle's laugh comes through trifle too hearty. Humorous interpolations such as "sounds like the third at Hialeah," or "hard as a producer's heart" seem geared for a higher age level than conas a producer's heart" seem geared for a higher age level than con-testants for kittens and puppets.

testants for kittens and puppets.
Other' participant in show is Little Johnny local nitery owner, who plays the mailman. Johnny was one of the midget performers in the Metro production "Wizard of Oz." He does a takeoff on Johnnie Ray's "Cry." To test program's pull, there is a "That's My Pop" contest in which young viewers are requested to send in a drawing and letter. Show's format seems to be in flexible state.
Couple of Italian characters on initial program were out on last Saturday's (26) show.

Gagh.

NBC Casualties

_ Continued from page 27 =

the owned and operated station division, now that Charles R. Denny has been moved over into that facet of the MBC operation as top man, resulting in five o & o veepeeships.

Status of Carleton Smith own status or Carleton Smith over v.p. (formerly top man in station relations) leads the major conjec-ture at the moment. It's under-stood at least one v.p. will go. There's a similar speculation as to White.

Ascendancy of Sylvester L. (Pat) Weaver to head man of radio and television, second in command to prexy McConnell, finds his longtime associate Fred Wile, Jr., no longer reporting to Weaver. It's the first time in some years, dating back to their Young & Rubicam regime, that they've been split up. Wile is now head of radio-TV production and reports to White.

TVA-AFRA

- Continued from page 29

He pointed out that 97% of the AFRA membership and 82% of TVA members had okayed consti-TVA members had okayed constitution for AFTRA, that despite the fact all conditions calling for such a merger had been fulfilled and that the five-branch plan had not been okayed there still was no AFTRA. He said AFRA had agreed if it were the only union rejecting a larger branch merger July 1 or if the five-branch plan was okayed by that date, it would postpone the TVA-AFRA merger, but neither of these things had happened.

but neither of these things had happened.

McCue said the 4As in tabling request to okay the merger of TVA and AFRA said endorsement would jeopardize a five-branch plan. As a result of his report, members adopted the resolution requesting support of SAG and SEC. It's believed opposition of those guilds is based on a 1940 resolution which gave TVA all TV jurisdiction. However, since that those guilds is based on a 1970 resolution which gave TVA all TV jurisdiction. However, since that time SAG has won NLRB elections time SAG has won NLRB elections granting it jurisdiction in Hollywood and N. Y., still the pix guilds want the resolution removed. McCue said he couldn't understand the guilds 'opposition to the two-branch union , since such a union would in no way prejudice the position of SAG or SEG on the jurisdiction hassle.

He also pointed out that the current situation poses a problem of whether membership of AFRA and TVA. which voted overwhelmingly whether membership of AFRA and TVA, which voted overwhelmingly for merger, shall permit a small group of people in N.Y. to say they can't get together. While AFRA has no immediate consideration of going ahead with its merger, flouting the 4As, such a possibility was definitely being discussed.

IVE GOT NEWS FOR YOU With Jack Paar, em Producers: Hugh Wedlock, Howard Snyder

Director: Dick McDonough 36 Mins.; Mon., Wed., Fri., 7 p.m. Sustaining NBC-TV, from Hollywood

NBC-TV, from Hollyweed

Jack Paar, young comic who was expected to be one of the ex-Gl talents who would add freshness to radio humor after World War II and who didn't fill that bill, is doing an effective job with—"I've Got News For You." Comedy quizzer puts the emphasis on the interview give-and-take, with Paar showing well in the ad lib banter. He has a pleasant personality and tossed off a high quota of amusing topical lines, such as "Here's two pounds of money—with which you can buy two pounds of meat."

Naturally, he had some duds, but

Naturally, he had some duds, but the overall result was a bright stanza. The queries are taken from the day's newspaper, which tends to eliminate some of the leftfield posers that crop up on other q-and-a shows. One group of questions dealt with Democratic nominee deait with Democratic nominee Adlai Stevenson, another with sports. A cute gimmick was having one contestant stagger her answers, which resulted in some sly kidding of the White House. It's a novel technique and produced some good technique and produced some good saire.

Guests selected were of a generally high intelligence level, including a pharmacist (with Paar needling the drug stores), a Smith College student (cueing some gab on the pantie-pilfering craze) and a Marine (with the emcee recalling his GI days). He also worked briefly with a couple of toddlers, which hokum could have been dropped.

Directorially some visual interest dropped.

Directorially some visual interest was added with a "mink mike," a "money machine" that dispenses silver dollars and a jackpot that lit up like a pinball machine and waved flags besides. Some of this gadgetry will undoubtedly wear thin; the real humor will come from spoofing the news. Camerawork needs greater precision and setup should permit Paar and the quizees to get closer together for a better two-shot.

Bril.

YOUTH OPPORTUNITY
With Horace Heldt, others Producer: Joe Landres
Director: John Morris
30 Mins; Sun., 9 p.m.
GOLDEN STATE
KLAC-TV, Hollywood
"Original Youth Conner

"Original Youth Opportunity" format with which Horace Heidt once toured the nation has been revived by Heidt, who already has a show on KLAC-TV. Revival isn't a good one, interlarded heavily with commercials for Golden State, with the acts apparently tossed in as filler, so that the half-hour shapes up more as one continuous plug for Golden State than talent program.

tituous plug for Golden State than talent program. Program must have set some kind of a record for overlong plugs, with Heidt pleading repeatedly for viewers to change to Golden State. Last 15 minutes of the show there were 43 mentions of Golden State. Saturation commercials put so-called entertainment portion of the program in a lesser light, and they seemed to be there just to give the blurbers a breather.

Contest was won by Cecil Dandy, who gave out with a good rendition of "September Song." There were five contestants, ranging from fair to good. Production and direction were so-so. Daku.

'Web' Resolved

Continued from page 27

Friday night at 8:30 period but. when Reynolds moved its other show, "My Friend Irma," in there, "Man" was switched back to the Thursday night time. With Lucky Strike taking over that period, however, CBS was forced to find another slot for "Man" so moved it back to Wednesdays at 9:30, forcing Lorillard's "Web" out of that slot. Lorillard was so burned at what it considered CBS' unfair tactics that it threatened to take tactics that it threatened to take the argument to court, before the final settlement was negotiated.

final settlement was negotiated.

Slotting of "Web" Sunday nights at 10 gives the Mark Goodson-Bill Todman package outfit a back-to-back parlay Sunday nights, since both "Web" and "What's My Line," aired at 10:30, are G-T productions. "Web's" Sunday night period is being vacated by Goodrich, which is dropping "Celebrity Time" now broadcast in that period, in favor of moving over to Thursday nights as alternate sponsor with Carnation Milk on the Burns & Allen show. Allen show.

ms, Robert lern, Gall C

SUPER GHOST
With Bergen Evans, Rober
lack, Shriey Stern, Gailton, Hope Ryden Producer: Jay Sheridan
Director: Den Meler
Writer: Midge Beach
30 Mins.; Sun., 6 p.m. (CDT)
Sustaining
NBC-TV, from Chicage
Aside from Def Panger

NEC-TV, from Chleage

Aside from Prof. Bergen Evans, its witty emcee, about the only claim to uniqueness possessed by this latest starter in the crowded quiz field is that it's far and away the most complicated. In fact, the word building game played by the four panelists is so intricate that it'll probably keep viewers sticking around for several weeks trying to figure it out.

around for several weeks trying to figure it out.

Then there's the rapidly building cash jackpot for the home participants that should prove an audience trapper. The game pits the rostrum directly against the write-in contestants who provide the various words Evans gives the panel with three lotters from the particular word and it's the studio players' task to keep adding letters toward the completion of a different word. Whenever the group accidentally completes the same word sent in, the viewer gets $50. Thanks to Evans' generous clues on the opener (27) the quartet stayed ahead of the writer-inners so the jackpot rapidly mounted to $400 before it was won by the next-to-last contestant.

Game is played on individual blackbot and participants of the played on individual blackbot and participants contestant.

last contestant.

Game is played on individual blackboards, visible to the home viewers but not the other panelists. Members impressed as a sprightly group of ad libbers with Evans contributing flashes of sophisticated humor that's made him a hit on DuMont's "Down You Go," also a Louis G. Cowan production.

Dave.

SAN FRANCISCO AT NIGHT
With Lee Gireux; others
Producer: Dick Dinamore
Director: Fred Gadette
30 Mins, Fridays, 9:30 p.m.
HOFFMAN TELEVISION
KPIX, San Francisco
(Foote, Cone & Belding)
Sponsor Les Hoffman, who dazzled local viewers with the Award-winning Dude Martin Show and the first TV football games, returned to the bigger, budget booking (18) with "San Francisco At Night." It needs a whale of a working over.

Night." If needs a whale of a working over.

Show is designed to lens floor shows from better known night spots. The initialer, beamed "live" from the Hawallan Club disappointed. Overall production, was slow, labored, falled to project club's atmosphere to the televiewer.

Series is emeed by smooth-pointed. Overall production, was slow, labored, failed to project club's atmosphere to the televiewer. Series is emceed by smooth-groomed Lee Giroux who's only doing—count 'em—one, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine other shows a week.

Giroux is a slick ad libber, but he played this job straight. Too straight. He lacked warmth and humor in his intros, failed to glamorize the Hawaiian mood. Acts were fair, but integration was rough. Trouble spots may be corrected because Giroux, and his producer, Dick Dinsmore, have reputation for weak starts and strong finishes.

The Achilles heel of this venture is that program will rise and afall cach week on the quality of acts, dependent entirely on each individual club's attractions.

Giroux is the sole connecting rod between the weekly stanzas, since he doesn't sing, dance or emote, it'll be a tough job to establish' week-to-week continuity and vlewer interest.

Director Gadette had technical trouble on the kickoff, losing Giroux's mike once, also the lighting. Bad timing blacked, out the "Fire Dance" finale which promised to be best number in show. Next week: Italian Village.

runes & Cartunes
With Dick Dugan, Cynthia Parker,
Tom Fleid, announcer
Producer: Charles Dargin
5 Mine: Mon-thru-Fri. 6:30 p.m.
WHITE SEWING MACHINE
WNBK, Cleveland
(Fuller & Smith & Ross)
The only trouble with this altoo-brief stanza is that it is fiveminutes in duration. Format calls for Dick Dugan to carleature 'personality in the local news.' plus cartoon of picture submitted by viewer with Cynthia Parker providing background music. Considering the top talent involved, there should be more time, as the stint doesn't do full justice to those involved. Dugan's cartoons have a high professional flair; Mrs. Parker's background plano tic k ii ng would make a joy-program in its own right. Field's announcing is always highly creditable.
White commercials, along the institutional lines, carry the cartoon overture in good taste.

ATS Remedies for Agency-Producer Squabbles on Vidfilm Commercials

Insufficient experience on the part of both agency and production standard film production specificapersonnel is probably the chief cause of friction between agencies and my difference of the control of the production of the control of the control of the product of the produc

Insufficient experience on the part of both agency and production personnel is probably the chief cause of friction between agencies and TV film commercial producers. That's the result of, a study of the problem undertaken by the American TV Society as a service to the industry. ATS survey also found both the agencies and producers complaining that neither gave the other sufficient time. to complete the various phases of the work and that there is an insufficient exchange of information between the two to provide for top quality for the filmed plugs.

Question was researched by agroup of ATS members culied from both agencies and producers. Questionnaire's comprising several mimeographed pages, returns were received from one-third of those surveyed which indicates, according to ATS, the "sefious, widespread interest" in the project, All soft of the survey to all members and many non-members, while the American Assn. of Advertising Agencies has ordered 1,200 copies for distribution to its members, and many non-members, while the American Assn. of Advertising Agencies has ordered 1,200 copies for distribution to its members, and many non-members, while the American Assn. of Advertising Agencies has ordered 1,200 copies for distribution to its members, and many non-members, while the American Assn. of Advertising Agencies has ordered 1,200 copies for distribution to its members, and many non-members, while the study recommended that the agencies and producers from three days to a week to prepare and submit bids and that both agencies and producers from three days to a week to prepare and submit bids and that both agencies and producers from three days to a week to prepare and submit bids and that both agencies and producers from three days to a week to prepare and submit bids and that both agencies and producers from three days to a week to prepare and submit bids and that both agencies and producers from three days to a week to prepare and submit bids and that both agencies and producers from the days to a week to

Circling the Kilocycles

Minneapolis — KSTP-TV (NBC) was off air three hours Thursday morning (24)-due to technical difficulties. Lightning damage to a transmission line during a severe thunderstorm and a "power surge"
kept WTCN and WCCO (radio) briefly silent last Tuesday .

Mary Hartline, the "Princess" in the TV "Super Circus" network show, making personal appearances and giving autographed pletures in biggest department store's toy shop . The Archer-Danielmidland Co., local manufacturers of flaxseed products, has taken over sponsorship of KSTP-TV's Sunday half-hour "R.F.D.-TV" show, directed primarily to-rural viewers
. Approximately 400 Twin Cities youngsters are participating in a KSTP-Public Golf Assn. junior golf tournament which was promoted over KSTP-TV with shows giving golf instructions to the kids and televising the play. Event climaxes July 28 and 29 and Aug. 4 with championship playoffs and awarding of prizes by Gov. C. Elmer Anderson of Minnesota.

Pittsburgh—Charlie Baldour and his wife, Betty Carr, pinchhitting for vacationing Buzz Aston and Bill Hinds on their morning teevee shew. When the Baldours go to Hollywood for the month, of August, Bill Brant and Mitzi Stiner will handle the couple's "Meet Your Neighbor" afternoon program. Pete Smith, who recently resigned as a director at WDTV, has joined the radio-and-TV department of the Fuller, Smith and Ross agency in New York. Duquesne Brewing Co. has dropped its last remaining program on Channel 3, "Time Out Nightly" at 7:30, until the beer strike ends.

New Haven—With his appointment as director of advertising and publicity, James W. Evans has taken over as chief drumbeater for WNHC-TV here.

Pittsburgh—Lloyd G. Chapman, who joined the KDKA staff in 1938 as a page boy and guide, has resigned from the sales department to become promotion manager for the General Paper Corp. of Pittsburgh. He had been on the staff steadily except for a World War II of KIXL, Dallas.

Inside Stuff—Radio

New edition of the semi-annual "Time Buyers Register" lists 1,500 time buyers and details the 4,000 accounts which they handle, Over 900 ad agencies cooperated in compiling the new edition, which was published by Executives Radio-TV Service of Larchmont, N. Y.

The Ralston Rocket, a $30,000 model of a space ship, and Ed Kemmer, star of "Space Patrol," are making their first eastern appearance to aid the March of Dimes at Rockaways Playland, N. Y. The 35-foot "rocket" is actually a trailer and will also be used in various spots around Gotham to plug "Space Patrol," which Ralston sponsors on ABC radio and ABC-TV.

New York's Municipal Civil Service Commission will hold an exam for radio promotion assistant at WNYC on Nov. 1. Post will pay $4,205 annually.

Application blanks will be available at the CSC from Sept. 9-24.

Application blanks will be available at the CSC from Sept. 9-24.

A series of jingles, titled "Get Out the Vote," is being released to subscribers by World Broadcasting System. Robert W. Friedheim, World general manager, said that the series is designed to tie in with the "Register and Vote" campaign of the National Assn. of Radio & TV Broadcasters.

John F. Patt, prexy of the Goodwill Stations and chairman of the NARTB "Register and Vote" campaign, said that public service campaigns such as World's are to be commended. He, and it is "an important tool to help the station manager encourage his audience to vote" and that it "can be a major contribution to broadcasting's drive to remind the American people that their right to vote is one of their greatest privileges."

World package features the Jesters vocal group. Typical lyrics are:

"If you read the papers, don't complain
When some things get your goat.

Don't criticize the politicians,
You get out and vote!"

interlude when he went overseas as a lleutenant and came back a captain. Chapman's now a major in the 314th Infantry, U.S.A.R.

Little Rock—Arkansas Broadcasters Assn. will hold a meeting here Aug. 24-25, including its third annual sales clinic. Speakers will include Lloyd George Venard, prexy of O. L. Taylor Co., and Rep. Oren Harris, chairman of the Congressional sub-committee investigating radio and tele.

Seattle—Hal Davis, program di-rector at KING, indie station here, has gone to KGAE, Salem, Ore, to be manager of that station. Hal Moan has been named program di-rector of KING.

Danny Thomas, Skelton, 'Hurok' for RCA Victor

Hollywood, July 29. Manie Sacks, RCA talent relations veepee. wrapped up a deal with Danny Thomas for a Victor album of "The Jazz Singer" score which the latter is filming for Warner Bros. Sacks also inked Red Skelton for a series of juvenile disks for Victor, some of which will be framed around his radio show character, Júnior.
The RCA exec coincidentally obtained the cast album rights to the forthcoming 20th-Fox pic, Life of (Sol) Hurok," which Life of (Sql) Hurok," which is chieffy a collection of classical works, Sacks; also huddled with Eddie Cantor on the latter's doing additional recordings for Victor.

THE PLUS FOR YOUR PROGRAM—FOR PERFORMANCE PLUS IS SPECIALIZATION

Spotlight Promotions offers a complete service to TV and Radio Producers, Agencies and Networks

P—Prizes with national reputation to promote audience interest

Luxurious fashions coordinated for programs and TV personalities

U—Unlimited subsidiary rights service for character and personalized merchandise

S—Service, Publicity and Public Relations for products and personalities

SERVICE WITH A PLUS

$25,000 worth of prizes every week on "THE BIG PAY-OFF"—By Spotlight Publicity and Promotion for TV's Top-Rated daytime show, "STRIKE IT RICH"—By Spotlight Subsidiary Rights for one of TV's most successful children's shows, "SUPER CIRCUS"—By Spotlight

123 West 44th Street, New York City

PLaza 7-0800

SID DU BROFF General Manager

Your Lucky Strike Hit Parade

presents to all our friends during our 8-week hiatus a special summer service!

ON RADIO—"Your Hit Parade"...starring Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadians. Back on the air Friday, August 29.

Your Lucky 7 tunes that you would have heard last week

as determined by Your Hit Parade Survey, which checks the best sellers in sheet music and phonograph records, the songs most heard on the air and most played on the automatic coin machines.

- 1. WALKIN' MY BABY
- 2. AUF WIEDERSEH'N, SWEETHEART
- 3. KISS OF FIRE
- 4. Blue Tango
- 5. DELICADO
- 6. I'M YOURS
- 7. Here In My Heart

Look for this listing every week. We'll be back on Radio—AUGUST 29 TV-AUGUST 30

ON IV—"Your Hit Parade"... starring Eileen Wilson, Snooky Lanson, Dorothy Collins and Raymond Scott, Back on the air Saturday, August 30.

Saturdays at 10:30 P.M., NBC Television Network

(M. Y. Time)

Television Chatter

New York

Colonial Airlines has renewed Bob Haymes' "Away You Go" over WJZ-TV. Sundays at 11:15 p.m. for another cycle . . . Nelson Case was commissioned an Admiral in the Great Navy of Nebraska; possibly because of his recent association, on the Ken Murray show, with the An'euser-Busch schoon-ers . . . Tomorrow (Thurs.) will be N. Y. Herald-Tribune Fresh Air Fund day on WJZ and WJZ-TV. with FAF guests on all local shows

Quiz features on Fred Robbins' WOR-TV all-night disk jockey program drew over 400 phone calls on Tuesday (22) ayem, jamming the switchboard; as a result the phone setup is being realigned.

Chlorodent (Lever Bros.) re-newed the twice-weekly Patti Page "Music Hall" show on NBC-TV. to carry it at least until the fall sealegit for a week to do "Love From a Stranger" at the Boston Summer Theatre with Signe Hasso.

Hollywood

Hollywood

Gene Law of KNBH production facilities department has been upped to stage manager...Seymour Klate, for three years director of production facilities and art director for KTTV, joins KECATV Aug. 1 as art director, succeeding Herbert O. Phillips, who exits to head CBS's art department in N.Y... Will Fewler joins Red Skelton's writing staff... Miracle Food Plan, with Philco Freezers, inked 13-week pact to pick up tabon "Al Jarvis Movies" on KECATV, five hours weekly...Alan Young has begun prepping his first fall TV show...Jack O'Keefe in from Gotham to join Walter O'Keefe Enterprises, and will help scribble his brother's TV show... Ben Alexander m.c. of "Queen for a Day" on KHJ-TV until Jack Bailey recuperates from an operation. Bailey is expected back in mid-August..."Navy Newsreel," new Navy show, teed off on KHJ-TV on a weekly basis... Albertine James ankled KTTV's program department to join KHJ-TV as secretary to Don Lee TV program manager Elbert Walker... H.J. Caruse bank-rolling semi-final wrestling bout on KLAC-TV Friday nights, and Belvedere. Sewing Machine bought "Film Playhouse" on channel... Motion picture producer Samuel Fuller bought 20-sec. spots on KNBH during Democratic national convention, to plug "Park Row" during the conclave, with blurbs featuring clips from film.

femme spieler ... Dulane has ordered WGN-TV's Sunday night at 10 feature film starting Aug. 10
... Carmelita Pope (Mrs. Charles Ballenger) back on duty Friday (1) as regular panel member of DuMont's "Down You Go." Layoff was for the arrival of a six-pound

London

London

Film star Ann Todd plays the lead in next Sunday's (3) production of "Her Royal Highness," which Eric Fawcet will direct. Play, which was done on the London stage three years ago, will feature Aubrey Dexter, Harry Andrews, Sydney Taffer and Pat Nye. This week's edition of "This Is Show Business" will mark the TV debut of impressionists Tony Fane & David Evans. Program will include the Deep River Boys. Pamela Brown and Noel Gay... New play by Dorothy Wright entitled "A Cradle of Willow" is to be telecast next Tuesday (5). It's been adapted by Eric Crozler and will be directed by Alan Bromly... "Aqua Rendezvous" is to be transmitted from a swimming pool at Bexleyheath (Kent) on Aug. 9. Show is devised and produced by Richard Afton... Two plays from the final of the British Drama League's Annual Festival go on the air tonight (Wed.)... New series of haif-hour comedies, under 'the overall tide ("My Wife Jacqueline" and featuring Joy Shelton and Leslie Phillips, tee off this week... Pat Kirkwood fills the "Stariight" spot on Aug. 7... Tex Ritter set for a personal in the children's program.

Colgate

Continued from page 24

almost certain to be higher than if he had waived the rights. In addition, he pointed out, the client has little assurance that the re-run rights can be sold for a sufficient amount of coln to compensate him for his extra investment. With so many individuals demanding a share of these rights, the client can expect very little in the future.

expect very little in the future.

Even the producer, Harris thinks, would not be able to profit from residuals for more than two or three years, and the life expectancy of even the top-rated shows on a re-run basis will be short. "More and more open-end film programs are appearing on the market," Harris pointed out, "and it is doubtful if major clients will want to continue to buy second-hand productions, which retain some identity with another product."

Prohibitive Re-Run Cost

Prohibitive Re-Run Cost

Prohibitive Re-Run Cost

Even more acute, he said, is the actual cost of a re-run, which would make it almost prohibitive for an advertiser. Screen Actors Guild, Harris noted, had' demanded additional payment to all actors for the third and fourth runs, which would amount to at least 50% of the original fee. Writers are now demanding their share, or a much higher original price. And, Harris said, if and when an arrangement is worked out with musicians covering film music, it is almost certain that a demand will be made for payments for re-runs. "A client expecting to cut his original cost with profits from residuals," Harris said, "could have his entire cost reduction margin wiped out completely by later demands from others involved."

Harris noted that some clients have computated actions with second.

completely by later demands from others involved."

Harris noted that some clients have contemplated setting up their own film-producing organizations to film their properties, but this, too, does not offer many prospects for residual profits. Overhead on maintaining a film setup can quickly eat up future residuals, he said. "Then, too," Harris declared, "the advertiser producing his own property, must take into consideration how he expects to sell future rights and how much it is going to cost. He also must be willing to give up any hopes of really integrating his sales message into the program. If he is expecting a re-run sale, the show has got to be flexible and easily edited to accommodate another advertiser," Harris added.

"With all of these variables, it would seem wise for a allert the too, does not offer many prospects for residual profits. Overhead on maintaining a film setup can quickly eat up future residuals, he said. "Then, too," Harris declared, "the advertiser producing his own property, must take into consideration how he expects to sell future rights and how much it is going to cost. He also must be willing to give up any hopes of really integrating his sales message into the program. If he is expecting a re-run sale, the show has got to be flexible and easily edited to accommodate another advertiser," Harris added.

"With all of these variables, it would seem wise for a client, before succumbing to the landishments of a residual rights deal, to very carefully analyze his chances for recovering any costs from future showings. If there is any question, then it night be more to his advantage to negotiate a lower price for the show in the beginning, and settle for two runs, rather than insisting on retaining the share of the residuals and paying a higher initial cost."

Over the 26-week period the advertiser could save $137,000.

Reason for the differential, it's explained, is that station rate cards reflect the savings effected by elimating high coaxial cable costs. Another factor is that the station wakes almost twice as much on spot time sales as it does on net-work time sales as it

Inside Stuff—Television

Harry C. Butcher, prexy-owner of KIST, Santa Barbara, reports that the outlet got on the air with news of last week's earthquake in California within 24 mhnutes after the tremors started. Although the station was off at the time, 5 a.m., the chief engineer and other staffers rushed down and had the 250-watter beaming at 5:24.

Butcher, ex-aide to General Eisenhower and author of "My Three Years with Eisenhower," is visiting N. Y. this week on TV business; he applied for Channel 3 in S. B. and was in Washington on the application last week.

His latest association with Ike was as reporter, covering the GOP convention for his outlet. Method he used was to call the stain long distance and have his report taped by master control. The "beep" signal device was deleted, he said, because it is intended to warn the unwary that their phone conversation is being recorded "but it isn't necessary when both parties know that they are being recorded." Cost of a nine-minute newscast, he said, was only $6—including tax.

Incidentally, because of the TV business he was unable to attend the Democratic conclave, and KIST had George E. Allen, author of "Presidents Who Have Known Me," covering that convention on an exclusive basis.

Something new in the way of agency-sponsor treatment of talent occurred last week when Mary Stuart, the femme lead on CBS-TV's "Search for Tomorrow," was hospitalized for an emergency operation. When her medicos ordered her to take a long rest before returning to work, a meet was held by Roy. Winsor, Biow agency TV head; Charles Irving, producer-director of "Search;" Bill Craig, Procter & Gamble's TV chief, and Al Morrison, P&G video chief for the products plugged on the show.

They decided to use a' slide each day on the soap opera saying that Miss Stuart is ill and is being temporarily replaced, to pay her half-salary for the four weeks she's off, and to welcome her back as the show's lead on Aug. 25.

Recent Colgate study showing that hot summer weather cuts sharply into TV viewing does not refute results of the NBC-Hofstra survey of summertime viewing, according to NBC-TV execs. Hofstra study, they said, was not designed to measure ratings but rather the cumulative audience over a long period during the summer, to furnish something of a "permanent rating." Thus, NBC argues, even though Colgate discovered that ratings on one show ("Big Payoff") dipped when the weather was good, its survey does not conflict with the NBC-Hofstra claim that there is considerable viewing activity during the summer and that the potential cumulative audience may be high. In addition, according to the NBC execs, the most recent Trendex report, which showed all video shows dipping to a new low for the year, does not mean that TV viewing if off as much as indicated. Trendex report, they noted, covered the first week in July, which included the three-day July 4th weekend. Fact that the weather was abnormally hot during the Trendex rating period, they said, was another factor in the lowness of the ratings.

Leo Burnett ad agency, Chi, is readying some unusual film commercials for fall use on "Who Said That?", bankrolled by Pure Oil. Unusual aspect is that 45 seconds of the minute will be an educational approach on the use and care of an automobile, and only 15 seconds will be used for the sales pitch.

Educational segment of the minute will be handled by Don Herbert, NBC-TV's "Mr. Wizard," using "Wizard" type demonstrations. Atlass Film Corp. did the lensing.

DuMont network hopped on the "Operation Chain Lightning" bandwagon this week via a deal worked out by the web with the N. Y. State Food Merchants Assn. Under terms of the deal, sponsors whose products are plugged on Don Russell's "Take the Break" daytime disk jockey strip, will spotlight the show in their stores, through feature displays, point-of-sale promotions, newspaper ad tie-ins, etc.

Under a $10,000 grant made by the Crosley Broadcasting Corp., research on the effects of television on political campaigns has been started by Miami University, Oxford, O. Dr. Joseph Seibert, head of the university's marketing department, announced that a panel of citizens, unaware of their participation in the test, has been set up and a first sample has been made. Both TV and non-TV communities are included in the test, he said. First report is due in January and the final one six months later. A state school, Miami's marketing faculty has made numerous surveys for industries.

Clients Switch Continued from page 25

ance problem, may result in more bankrollers deciding to switch to the spot concept.

Another reason for advertisers favoring spot placement is that it is favoring spot placement is that it is less expensive, owning to the fact that on most stations the spot rate is lower than the network rate. Thus, it has been estimated, buying one chain's 41 basic stations individually in Class A time for 26 weeks would be 22% cheaper than buying them on a network basis. Over the 26-week period the advertiser could save $137,000.

Reason for the differential it's

Mata William Merris Agency

HARPO MARX NBC-TV

RCA-VICTOR Mgt.: GUMMO MARX

GAL FRIDAY to assist script writer, fiction, educational, documentary. Talented, prolyfic; typing; experienced. New York area. Box V-1117, Variety, 154 West 46th Street, New York 36, N. Y.

RADIO-MUSIC QUIZ:

Who does the music for "DREAM HARBOR" — Heard Mon., Tues., Wed., on ABC?

See Page 35

From the Production Centres

IN NEW YORK CITY . . .

Bert Lebhar, Jr., director of WMGM and Sam Rossant, account exec for the indic, are in Cincy all this week playing in the annual championships of the American Contract Bridge League . . Roy. Holmes, WINS sales manager, off to Lawton, Okla., for his son's wedding Saturday (2) . . . Queens borough prez J. A. Lundy answers letters from Queens residents over WWRL Tuesday (5) nlght . . . Jane Dreyfuss, formerly assistant to Joe Magee at the William Morris office, has moved over to Liebling-Wood as assistant to Prisolila Morganic in the AM-TV department . . Barbara Walters, daughter of Lou (Latin Quarters) Walters and formerly with the Rand ad agency, is Phil Dean's new assistant in the WNBC-WNBT flackery . . Quaker Oats is renewing Mutual's "Man on the Farm" stanza effective Aug. 23; the web is promoting "MOTF Week" Aug. 17-23 . . . Joel Herron and the WMGM orch on vacation through Aug. 6 . Richard Janaver, John Thomas and Craig McDonnell are with "Our Gal Sunday" . . Arline Blackburn with "Lorenzo Jones" . . Eda Heineman has joined "Young Widder Brown."

Carl Ward, WCBS-Radio general manager, in Chicago for a week's confabs . . Frandine S. Petruzzi, assistant publicity chief of WMGM, is editor of the Barnard Alumnae Monthly, which carried off runner-up honors as the best alumni mag . . . Jimmy Durante and June Haver star on Mutual's "Family Theatre" stanza Aug. 6 . . ABC's switchboards consolidated under the SU-7-5000 number . . Lester Gottlieb, CBS Radio program v.p., off on another seven-day hiatus . . . Isabelle Taylor checked out of the ABC flackery Friday (25) . . Cyrus D. Samuelson, WOR-Mutual allocation engineer, was admitted to the bar in the District of Columbia and will add practice before the FCC . . . CBS' Eddie Gallaher will co-chairman the National Celebrities Golf tourney in Washington Sept. 20-21.

Maurice Mitchell, veepee-g.m. of Associated Program Service, will be chief speaker at the Western Assn. of Broadcasters dinner at Jasper, Alberta, in September . R. David Kimble, ex-ad-sales promotion man

IN HOLLYWOOD . . .

IN HOLLYWOOD . . . .

Jim Moser closed his typewriter on "Dragnet" after three and a half years and the line is forming . . . Ralph Austrian, who was active in radio and TV back east for many years, joined "Chuok" Luckman's architectural firm . . . Frank Samuels says he will be 39 Aug. 1 and it's more believable than Jack Benny's fudge . . . It's Bohemian Grove time up north on the Russian River and among the week-enders can be found Bill Gargan, Walter Bunker, Bill Morrow, Edgar Bergen, and Dick Powell . . . Bill Pennell, who used to be Walter Winchell's announcer, folded his "Breakfast in Phoenix" the same time the Liberty network gave up the ghost . . . KFWB deejay Bill Leyden a two-time father . . . Bob McLaughlin, KLAC's biscuit spinner, has an order from the Gardner agency to tape his Club Time for national syndication, with two regional sponsors already set . . . For the 27th consecutive year Don Lee-KHJ will broadcast the Coast Conference football games for Tidewater Associated Oil.

IN SAN FRANCISCO . .

KPIX Boss Phil Lasky gave an address on the television industry to the Stanford graduate school of business seminar . . . Columbia Records dealers bought a classical hour across the board on KEAR nightly . . . Ben Draper to Hollywood for negotiations aimed at networking "Science In Action," local Award winning television show . . Bay Area TV set census hit new total of 413,500 . . . KNBC Boss Lloyd E. Yoder presented with Citation of Distinguished Service from American Legion of California for station's 14-week series, "Communism—A Clinical Analysis."

IN CHICAGO .

Sportscaster Al Helfer and Jack Drees have been assigned mike chores for Mutual's airing of the annual All-Star football game from here Aug. 15... Pergry Taylor has been pacted as regular warbler by Don McNeill for his ABC "Breakfast Club"...'. Joseph Finley added to the Nielsen exec lineup and will head up the Fricso office... WBBM singer George Ramsby won second place at the South Bend sports car race last week... Zenith Radio directors came through with the regular 50c quarterly dividend... Dejay Howard Miller has taken over WCFL's four-hour Saturday night platter session... Cliff Johnson and family again airing their WGN morning show from their Oak Park home after beaming the program from Wisconsin's north woods... Marty Edwards has scripted this week's "Life in Your Hands" yarn aired on NBC... Motorola has upped James Herbert from regional to national sales manager. Same firm is issuing a 10 for one stock warrant... Bob McKec has taken over WGN's post-midnight platter spinning duties... Jack Drees doing the blow-byblow for CBS on the Johnny Saxton-Virgil Akins fight tonight (Wed)... WBBM's Kings Jesters, vocal group, vacationing... WBBM education director Dorothy Miller working out a series of pub-service spots with the Clitzens Traffic Safety Committee.

ALL-STUDENT DRAMA GETS WPIX SLOTTING

New York University's Summer Radio-Television Workshop, currently nearing the end of its 17th

rently nearing the end of its 17th year will make its most pretentious public appearance to date next Monday (4).

At that time over WPIX (8-8:30 p.m.) a student written, student-directed TV drama, "Witch Hunt" will be aired. It's about the Salem witch-hunts.

NYU Workshop director is again Robert J. Landry, rounding out his 10th anniversary this summer. Others on staff include Wallace House, Charles Seipmann, Cledge Roberts, Charles S. Monroe, Robert Wetzel, James Sirmons, Reuben Leadbeatter, Otis Freeman.

The guest lecturers have been Seymour Siegel, WNYC; William Fineshriber, Mutual: Walter Craig, Senton & Bowles; Dr. Arno Huth. United Nations: Leon Goldstein. WMCA; Larry Menkin, TV writer.

Bill Harrington Set For WNEW Noon Strip

Bill Harrington, singing emcee currently doing a cross-the-board hour-long stanza on WJZ-TV, N. Y., starts a 55-minute noon strip for WNEW, AM indie in Gotham, on Aug. 11. He's expectêd to continue his WJZ-TV evening show.

Slot opened on WNEW when the station released Bob Haymes from bits two-wear contract, for a cash

Over WPTZ 'Stars' Pay

Philadelphia, July 29.
Lewis Klein, former employe of Donn Bennett Productions, television packaging firm, has filed suit in Common Pleas Court here over royalties allegedly due him from the long-running telecast "Stars in Your Eyes," now in its second year on WPTZ.

In his complete the second production of the complete the co

Your Eyes," now in its second year on WPTZ.

In his complaint Klein charges that he holds a written agreement with Bennett, who allegedly promised to pay him $30 a week as long the show should run. Klein claims he submitted the idea to Bennett for a college musical variety program first called "College Capers" and later changed to "Campus Capers." He left Bennett's employ shortly after "Stars in Your Eyes" went on the air and now works with WFIL-TV. Program is sponsored by Philadelphia Assn. of Retail Druggists.

Klein is the son of Alfred Klein,

Klein is the son of Alfred Klein, counsel and investigator for the Kefauver Crime Committee ... His father is not representing him, however, since the elder Klein will appear as a witness in the suit.

San Antonio—Tim Collins has joined the staff of KITE here as announcer-newscaster. He replaces Orville Richolson, known on the air as John Richards, who has been named news editor for KHMO, Hannibal, Mo. Collins was formerly with KABC here.

FCC Starts Rolling on Educational Video Grants; N.Y. State Gets Three

Television without commercials

in four cities should soon become a reality as a result of authorizations by FCC last week of the first educational TV stations. Construction permits were issued to the tion permits were issued to the Kansas State College of Agricul-ture for a noncommercial outlet in Manhattan, Kan, and to the New York Board of Regents for stations in Albany, Buffalo and Rochester. The New York stations are to be part of a projected 10-station state-wide network.

wide network.

The authorizations were granted despite the fact that additional legislative action is required to provide the necessary funds to build the stations. However, the agency declared, its action would in no way change its established policy regarding financial qualifications of commercial TV applicants.

Two members of the Commissional Commissions of the Commis educational station in Miami, Fla., by the Dade County Board of Public Instruction was delayed pending issuance of an authorization to TV station WTVJ in Mimi, owned by Wometco Theatre to move its transmitter site. Wometco has greed to lease its present site to Dade County for $1 a year.

Comr. Hyde, in a dissenting opinion on the Kenses great said the ion on the Kansas grant, said the ion on the Kansas grant, said the Commission should have notified the college of "certain basic defects", in its application and given it opportunity for reply.

Pointing out that the Kansas State Board of Regents has not approved construction of the station, though it authorized filing of the application, Hyde declared:

"I question whether granting apvide the necessary funds to build the stations. However, the agency declared, its action would in no way change its established policy regarding financial qualifications of commercial TV applicants.

Two members of the Commission—Rosel Hyde and Robert Jones—dissented from the majority action in issuing the authorizations. They felt that no construct vide to the showing of authority; without a showing that funds are on hand to build.

Action on an application for an application whether granting applications under the conditions resented in this case would be consistent with the Commission's own responsibilities. I doubt out a showing of authority; without a showing of authority; without a showing as to a financial plan, will encourage actual construction."

Comr. Jones concurred with Hyde in his dissent.

BACKBONE OF AMERICA American farmer has always been the backbone of America. Through far-reaching changes in the last twelve years the farmer has become one of America's most important consumers as well.

Here are some of the factors that have made him "Your Best Customer:" in 1940 income from farming was less than $11 billion; in 1951 it was $37.5 billion, In 1950 the farmer's purchases of consumer merchandise were 21/2 times what they were in 1940.

> In 1940 total farm assets were $54 billion. By 1951 they were $153 billion. In this same period, mortgages, in relation to assets, were reduced 67%.

In 1940 the spendable cash held by farm families was $4 billion; in 1951 it was nearly $20 billion-$3,178 per family-many times the liquid assets of the average city dweller.

These are just a few of the statistics that illustrate how important it is to reach the rural market-your best customer. In WLW-Land, WLW radio reaches more of them more often for less.

than any other medium. Ask to see the WLW story of "Your Best Customer".

The Nation's Station

Television Chatter

New York

Colonial Airlines has renewed Bob Haymes' "Away You Go" over WJZ-TV. Sundays at 11:15 p.m., for another cycle . . . Nelson Case was commissioned an Admiral in the Great Navy of Nebraska; pos-sibly because of his recent association, on the Ken Murray show, with the Anheuser-Busch schoon-Tomorrow (Thurs.) will be Fund day on WJZ and WJZ-TV, with FAF guests on all local shows Quiz features on Fred Robbins' WOR-TV all-night disk jockey program drew over 400 phone calls on Tuesday (22) ayem, jamming the switchboard; as a result the phone setup is being realigned. Chlorodent (Lever Bros.) newed the twice-weekly Patti Page 'Music Hall' show on NBC-TV, to carry it at least until the fall sea-

legit for a week to do "Love From a Stranger" at the Boston Summer Theatre with Signe Hasso.

Hollywood

Hollywood

Gene Law of KNBH production facilities department has been upped to stage manager...Seymour Klate, for three years director of production facilities and art director for KTTV, joins KECA-TV Aug. 1 as art director, succeeding Herbert O. Phillips, who exits to head CBS's art department in N.Y... Will Fowler joins Red Skelton's writing staff.. Miracle Food Plan, with Philco Freezers, inked 13-week pact to pick up tab on "Al Jarvis Movies" on KECA-TV, five hours weekly...Alan Young has begun prepping his first fall TV show...Jack O'Keefe in from Gotham to join Walter' O'Keefe Enterprises, and will help scribble his brother's TV show... Ben Alexander m.c. of "Queen for a Day" on KHJ-TV until Jack Bailey recuperates from an operation. Bailey is expected back in mid-August... "Navy Newsteel," new Navy show, teed off on KHJ-TV on a weekly basis... Albertine James ankled KTTV's program department to join KHJ-TV as secretary to Don Lee TV program manager Elbert Walker... H.J. Caruso bank-rolling semi-final wrestling bout on KLAC-TV Friday nights, and Belvedere. Sewing Machine bought "Film Playhouse" on channel... Motion picture producer Samuel Fuller bought 20-sec. spots on KNBH during Democratic national convention, to plug "Park Row" during the conclave, with blurbs featuring clips from film.

femme spieler . . . Dulane has or-dered WGN-TV's Sunday night dered WGN-TV's Sunday night at 10 feature film starting Aug. 10 ... Carmelita Pope (Mrs. Charles Ballenger) back on duty Friday (1) as regular panel member of Du-Mont's "Down You Go." Layoff was for the arrival of a six-pound son.

London

London

Film star Ann Todd plays the lead in next Sunday's (3) production of "Her Royal Highness," which Eric Faweet will direct. Play, which was done on the London stage three years ago, will feature Aubrey Dexter, Harry Andrews, Sydney Tafler and Pat. Nye. This week's edition of "This Is Show Business" will mark the TV debut of impressionists Tony Fane & David Evans. Program will include the Deep River Boys, Pamela Brown and Noel Gay... New play by Dorothy Wright entitled "A Cradle of Willow" is to be telecast next Tuesday (5), It's been adapted by Eric Crozier and will be directed by Alan Bromly... "Aqua Rendezvous" is to be transmitted from a swimming pool at Bexleyheath (Kent) on Aug. 9. Show is devised and produced by Richard Afton... Two plays from the final of the British Drama League's Annual Festival go on the air tonight (Wed)... New series of haif-hour comedles, under the overall title of "My Wife Jacqueline" and featuring Joy Sheltor and Leslie Phillips, tee off this week. Pat Kirkwood fills the "Starlight" spot on Aug. 7. Tex Ritter set for a personal in the children's program.

Colgate

Continued from page 24 =

almost certain to be higher than if he had waived the rights. addition, he pointed out, the client has little assurance that the re-run rights can be sold for a sufficient amount of coin to compensate him for his extra investment. With so many individuals demanding a share of these rights, the client can expect very little in the future.

expect very little in the future.

Even the producer, Harris thinks, would not be able to profit from residuals for more than two or three years, and the life expectancy of even the top-rated shows on a re-run basis will be short. "More and more open-end film programs are appearing on the market," Harris pointed out, "and it is doubtful if major clients will want to continue to buy second-hand productions, which retain some identity with another product."

Prohibitive Re-Run Cost

Prohibitive Re-Run Cost

Even more acute, he said, is the actual cost of a re-run, which would make it almost prohibitive for an advertiser. Screen Actors Guild, Harris noted, had demanded additional payment to all actual responses. Harris noted, had' demanded additional payment to all actors for the third and fourth runs, which would amount to at least 50% of the original fee. Writers are now demanding their share, or a much higher original price. And, Harris said, if and when an arrangement is worked out with musicians covering film music, it is almost certain that a demand will be made for payments for re-runs. "A client expecting to cut his original cost with profits from residuals," Harris said, "could have his entire cost reduction margin wiped out completely by later demands from others involved."

Harris noted that some clients

completely by later demands from others involved."

Harris noted that some clients have contemplated setting up their own film-producing organizations to film their properties, but this, too, does not offer many prospects for residual profits. Overhead on maintaining a film setup can quickly eat up future residuals, he said. "Then, too," Harris declared, "the advertiser producing his own property, must take into consideration how he expects to sell future rights and how much it is going to cost. He also must be willing to give up any hopes of really integrating his sales message into the program. If he is expecting a re-run sale, the show has got to be flexible and easily edited to accommodate another advertiser," Harris added.

"With all of these variables, it would seem visces were the semantic or results."

other advertiser," Harris added.
"With all of these variables, it would seem wise for a client, before succumbing to the landishments of a residual rights deal, to very carefully analyze his chances for recovering any costs from future showings. If there is any question, then it night be more to his advantage to negotiate a lower price for the show in the beginning, and settle for two runs, rather than insisting on retaining the share of the residuals and paying a higher initial cost."

Inside Stuff—Television

Harry C. Butcher, prexy-owner of KIST, Santa Barbara, reports that the outlet got on the air with news of last week's earthquake in California within 24 minutes after the tremors started. Although the station was off at the time, 5 a.m., the chief engineer and other staffer rushed down and had the 250-watter beaming at 5:24.

Butcher, ex-aide to General Elsenhower and author of "My Three Years with Eisenhower," is visiting N. Y. this week on TV business; he applied for Channel 3 in S. B. and was in Washington on the application last week.

His latest association with Ike was as reporter, covering the GOP convention for his outlet. Method he used was to call the station long distance and have his report taped by master control. The "beep" signal device was deleted, he said, because it is intended to warn the unwary that their phone conversation is being recorded." Cost of a nine-minute newscast, he said, was only $6-including tax.

Incidentally, because of the TV business he was unable to attend the Democratic conclave, and KIST had George E. Allen, author of "Presidents Who Have Known Me," covering that convention on an exclusive basis.

Something new in the way of agency-sponsor treatment of talent occurred last week when Mary Stuart, the femme lead on CBS-TV's "Search for Tomorrow," was hospitalized for an emergency operation. When her medicos ordered her to take a long rest before returning to work, a meet was held by Roy. Winsor, Biow agency TV head; Charles Irving, producer-director of "Search;" Bill Craig, Procter & Gamble's TV chief, and Al Morrison, P&G video chief for the products plurged on the show.

Gamble's TV chief, and Al Morrison, P&G video chief for the products plugged on the show.

They decided to use a slide each day on the soap opera saying that Miss Stuart is ill and is being temporarily replaced, to pay her half-salary for the four weeks she's off, and to welcome her back as the show's lead on Aug. 25.

Recent Colgate study showing that hot summer weather cuts sharply into TV viewing does not refute results of the NBC-Hofstra survey of summertime viewing, according to NBC-TV execs. Hofstra study, they said, was not designed to measure ratings but rather the cumulative audience over a long period during the summer, to furnish something of a "permanent rating." Thus, NBC argues, even though Colgate discovered that ratings on one show ("Big Payoff") dipped when the weather was good, its survey does not conflict with the NBC-Hofstra claim that there is considerable viewing activity during the summer and that the potential cumulative audience may be high. In addition, according to the NBC execs, the most recent Trendex report, which showed all video shows dipping to a new low for the year, does not mean that TV viewing if off as much as indicated. Trendex report, they noted, covered the first week in July, which included the three-day July 4th weekend. Fact that the weather was abnormally hot during the Trendex rating period, they said, was another factor in the lowness of the ratings.

Leo Burnett ad agency, Chi, is readying some unusual film commercials for fall use on "Who Said That?", bankrolled by Pure Oil. Unusual aspect is that 45 seconds of the minute will be an educational approach on the use and care of an automobile, and only 15 seconds will be used for the sales pitch. Educational segment of the minute will be handled by Don Herbert, NBC-TV's "Mr. Wizard," using "Wizard" type demonstrations. Atlass Film Corp. did the lensing.

DuMont network hopped on the "Operation Chain Lightning" bandwagon this week via a deal worked out by the web with the N. Y. State Food Merchants Assn. Under terms of the deal, sponsors whose products are plugged on Don Russell's "Take the Break" daytime disk jockey strip, will spotlight the show in their stores, through feature displays, point-of-sale promotions, newspaper ad tie-ins, etc.

Under a $10,000 grant made by the Crosley Broadcasting Corp., research on the effects of television on political campaigns has been started by Miami University, Oxford, O.

Dr. Joseph Seibert, head of the university's marketing department, announced that a panel of citizens, unaware of their participation in the test, has been set up and a first sample has been made. Both TV and non-TV communities are included in the test, he said.

First report is due in January and the final one six months later.

A state school, Miami's marketing faculty has made numerous surveys for industries.

Clients Switch

Continued from page 25 =

ance problem, may result in more bankrollers deciding to switch the spot concept.

Another reason for advertisers Another reason for advertisers favoring spot placement is that it is less expensive, owning to the fact that on most stations the spot rate is lower than the network rate. Thus, it has been estimated, buying one chain's 41 basic stations individually in Class A time for 26 weeks would be 22% cheaper than buying them on a network basis. Over the 26-week period the advertiser could save $137,000.

Reason for the differential, it's explained, is that station rate cards Reason for the differential, it's explained, is that station rate cards reflect the savings effected by eliminating high coaxial cable costs. Another factor is that the station makes almost twice as much on spot time sales as it does on network time. This is the prime reason outlets are more willing to clear for spot shows than for weboriginating stanzas. In fact, many il operators claim that networks aren't fulfilling their true function when they beam celluloid airers.

Other attractions of the spot format are the sponsor's ability to select specific stations and markets and chose the particular time slots that will give him the best exposure. The advantages of spot flexibility are being plugged heavily by the various station reps, many of which are expanding their teles setups. The Katz agency has been particularly active and in recent weeks has made its presentation on spot to over 125 top advertisers and agency men.

HARPO MARX NBC-TV

RCA-VICTOR Mgt.: GUMMO MARX

GAL FRIDAY to assist script writer, fiction, educational, documentary. Talented, prolyfic; typing; experienced. New York area. Box V-1117, Variety, 154 West 46th Street, New York 36, N. Y.

RADIO-MUSIC QUIZ:

Who does the music for "DREAM HARBOR" - Heard Mon., Tues., Wed., on ABC? See Page 35

Your Top TV Sales opportunity Wilmington, Del. to the market which has highest

excome per family in the country

ROBERT MEEKER ASSOCIATES

San Francisco

Represented by

From the Production Centres

...........

IN NEW YORK CITY

IN NEW YORK CITY

Bert Lebhar, Jr., director of WMGM and Sam Rossant, account exec for the indie, are in Cincy all this week playing in the annual championships of the American Contract Bridge League . . . Roy. Holmes, WINS sales manager, off to Lawton, Okla., for his son's wedding Saturday (2) . . . Queens borough prez J. A. Lundy answers letters from Queens residents over WWRL Tuesday (5) night . . . Jane Dreyfuss, formerly assistant to Joe Magee at the William Morris office, has moved over to Liebling-Wood as assistant to Priscilla Morgan in the AM-TV department . . Barbara Walters, daughter of Lou (Latin Quarters) Walters and formerly with the Rand ad agency, is Phill Dean's new assistant in the WNBC-WNBT flackery . . . Quaker Oats is renewing Mutual's "Man on the Farm" stanza effective Aug. 23; the web is promoting "MOTF Week" Aug. 17-23 . . . Joel Herron and the WMGM orch on vacation through Aug. 6 . . Richard Janaver, John Thomas and Craig MoDonnell are with "Our Gal Sunday" . . Arline Blackburn with "Lorenzo Jones" . . . Eda Heinemant has joined "Young Widder Brown."

Carl Ward, WCBS-Radio general manager, in Chicago for a week's confabs . . Frandine S. Petruzzi, assistant publicity chief of WMGM, is editor of the Barnard Alumnae Monthly, which carried off runner star on Mutual's "Family Theatre" stanza Aug. 6 . . ABC's switchboards consolidated under the SU-7-5000 number . . Lester Gottlieb, CBS Radio program v.p., off on another seven-day hiatus . . Isabelle Taylor checked out of the ABC flackery Friday (25) . . Cyrus D. Samuelson, WOR-Mutual allocation engineer, was admitted to the bar in the District of Columbia and will add practice before the FCC . . CBS' Eddie Gallaher will co-chairman the National Celebrities Golf tourney in Washington Sept. 20-21.

Maurice Mitchell, yeepee-g.m. of Associated Program Service, will be chief speaker at the Western Assn. of Broadcasters dinner at Jasper, Alberta, in September . . R. David Kimble, ex-ad-sales promotion manager of WBBM, Chi, has taken over a national

IN HOLLYWOOD . .

Im Mosér closed his typewriter on "Dragnet" after three and a half years and the line is forming . . . Ralph Austrian, who was active in radio and TV back east for many years, joined "Chuck" Luckman's architectural firm . . . Frank Samuels says he will be 39 Aug. 1 and it's more believable than Jack Benny's fudge . . It's Bohemian Grove time up north on the Russian River and among the week-enders can be found Bill Gargan, Walter Bunker, Bill Morrow, Edgar Bergen, and Dick Powell . . Bill Pennell, who used to be Walter Winchell's announcer, folded his "Breakfast in Phoenix" the same time the Liberty network gave up the ghost . . KFWB deejay Bill Leyden a two-time father . . . Bob McLaughlin, KLAC's biscuit spinner, has an order from the Gardner agency to tape his Club Time for national syndication, with two regional sponsors already set . . For the 27th consecutive year Don Lee-KHJ will broadcast the Coast Conference football games for Tidewater Associated Oil.

IN SAN FRANCISCO . .

KPIX Boss Phil Lasky gave an address on the television industry to the Stanford graduate school of business seminar . . . Columbia Records dealers bought a classical hour across the board on KEAR nightly . . . Ben Draper to Hollywood for negotiations aimed at networking "Science In Action," local Award winning television show . . Bay Area TV set census hit new total of 413,500 . . . KNBC Boss Lloyd E. Yoder presented with Citation of Distinguished Service from American Legion of California for station's 14-week series, "Communism—A Clinical Analysis."

IN CHICAGO ...

Sportscaster Al Helfer and Jack Drees have been assigned mike chores for Mutual's airing of the annual All-Star football game from here Aug. 15. Peggy Taylor has been pacted as regular warbler by Don McNeill for his ABC "Breakfast Club". Joseph Finley added to the Nielsen exec lineup and will head up the Fricso office... WBBM singer George Ramsby won second place at the South Bend sports car race last week. Zenith Radio directors came through with the regular 50c quarterly dividend. Dejay Howard Miller has taken over WCFL's four-hour Saturday night platter session. Cliff Johnson and family again airing their WGN morning show from their Oak Park home after beaming the program from Wisconsin's north woods. Marty Edwards has scripted this week's "Life in Your Hands" yarn aired on NBC. Motorola has upped James Herbert from regional to national sales manager. Same firm is issuing a 10 for one stock warrant ... Bob McKee has taken over WGN's postmidnight platter spinning duties. Jack Drees doing the blow-by-blow for CBS on the Johnny Saxton-Virgil Akins fight tonight (Wed).
WBBM's Kings Jesters, vocal group, vacationing ... WBBM education director Dorothy Miller working out a series of pub-service spots with the Citizens Traffic Safety Committee.

ALL-STUDENT DRAMA GETS WPIX SLOTTING

New York University's Summer Radio-Television Workshop, cur rently nearing the end of its 17th year will make its most pretentious public appearance to date next Monday (4).

At that time over WPIX (8-8:30 p.m.) a student written, student-directed TV drama, "Witch Hunt" will be aired. It's about the Salem witch-hunts.

Bill Harrington Set For WNEW Noon Strip

For WNLW Noon Strip

Bill Harrington, singing emcee currently doing a cross-the-board hour-long stanza on WJZ-TV, N. Y., starts a 55-minute noon strip for WNEW, AM indie in Gotham, on Aug. 11. He's expectêd to continue his WJZ-TV evening show.

Slot opened on WNEW when the station released Bob Haymes from his two-year contract, for a cash settlement, so he could switch to WCBS, Columbia's N. Y. key.

Bill Kaland, WNEW program director, is building a show for Harrington which will utilize his piano, accordion and cleffing work in addition to his vocals and spieling.

will be aired. It's about the Salem wilch-hunts.

NYU Workshop director is again Robert J. Landry, rounding out his 10th anniversary this summer. Others on staff include Wallace House, Charles Seipmann, Cledge Roberts, Charles S. Monroe, Robert Wetzel, James Sirmons, Reuben Leadbeatter, Otis Freeman. The guest lecturers have been Seymour Siegel, WNYC; William Fineshriber, Mutual: Walter Crais, Benton & Bowles; Dr. Arno Huth. United Nations: Leon Goldstein. WMCA; Larry Menkin, TV writer.

Philly Packager Sues Over WPTZ 'Stars' Pay

Philadelphia, July 29.
Lewis Klein, former employe of Donn Bennett Productions, television packaging firm, has filed suit in Common Pleas Court here over royalties allegedly due him from the long-running telecast "Stars in Your Eyes," now in its second year on WPTZ.

In his complaint Klein charges that he holds a written agreement with Bennett, who allegedly promised to pay him $30 a week as long the show should run. Klein claims he submitted the idea to Bennett for a college musical variety program first called "College Capers" and later changed to "Campus Capers." He left Bennett's employ and later changed to "Campus Capers." He left Bennett's employ shortly after "Stars in Your Eyes" went on the air and now works with WFIL-TV. Program is sponsored by Philadelphia Assn. of Retail Programs. Druggists.

Klein is the son of Alfred Klein, counsel and investigator for the Kefauver Crime Committee His father is not representing him, however, since the elder Klein will appear as a witness in the suit.

San Antonio—Tim Collins has joined the staff of KITE here as announcer-newscaster. He replaces Orville Richolson, known on the air as John Richards, who has been named news editor for KHMO, Hannibal, Mo. Collins was formerly with KABC here.

FCC Starts Rolling on Educational Video Grants; N.Y. State Gets Three

Television without commercials in four cities should soon become a reality as a result of authorizations by FCC last week of the first educational TV stations. Construction permits were issued to the tion permits were issued to the Kansas State College of Agricul-ture for a noncommercial outlet in Manhattan, Kan, and to the New York Board of Regents for stations in Albany, Buffalo and Rochester. The New York stations are to be part of a projected 10-station state-wide network.

educational station in Miami, Fla., by the Dade County Board of Public Instruction was delayed pending issuance of an authorization to TV station WTVJ in Minu, owned by Wometco Theatre to move its transmitter site. Wometco has agreed to lease its present site to Dade County for $1 a year.

Comr. Hyde, in a dissenting opinion on the Kansas grant, said the Commission should have notified the college of "certain basic defects" in its application and given it opportunity for reply.

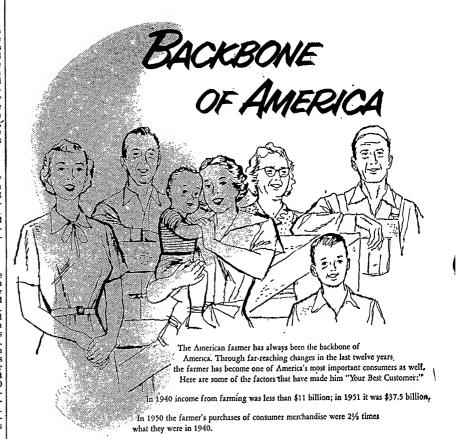

Pointing out that the Kansas State Board of Regents has not approved construction of the station, though it authorized filing of the application, Hyde declared:

wide network.

The authorizations were granted despite the fact that additional legislative action is required to provide the necessary funds to build the stations. However, the agency declared, its action would in no way change its established policy regarding financial qualifications of commercial TV applicants.

Two members of the Commission—Rosel Hyde and Robert Jones—dissented from the majority action in issuing the authorizations. They felt that no construction permits should be issued without a showing of authority; with ut a showing that funds are on hand to build.

Action on an application for an

In 1940 total farm assets were $54 billion. By 1951 they were $153 billion. In this same period, mortgages, in relation to assets, were reduced 67%.

In 1940 the spendable cash held by farm families was $4 billion; in 1951 it was nearly $20 billion-$3,178 per family-many times the liquid assets of the average city dweller.

These are just a few of the statistics that illustrate how important it is to reach the rural market-your best customer. In WLW-Land, WLW radio reaches more of them more often for less than any other medium. Ask to see the WLW story of "Your Best Customer".

The Nation's Station

JIM MORAN & IVAN BLACK Producer: Maely Bartholomew 120 Mins., Mon.-thru-Fri., 11 p.m. Participating WVNJ, Newark

The disk jockey tandems seem to be catching on in the radio and ele field. Rayburn & Finch and Bob & Ray are doing well in these media, probably because they can interview each other with a greater ease than they can anyone else who attempts to horn in on the act.

A new pair, Jim Moran and Ivan Black, are currently duoed at the Blue Ribbon Restaurant, N. Y., on the stand until recently occupied by Paul Denis. Moran & Black sy Paul Denis. Moran & Black seem to be a pair with a screwball line of thought. They are both press agents, with a long string of efferences and credits for various tunts. Moran for example, is best known for selling an icebox to an lakimo, and Black has helped ring some top personalities to public attention.

cubiic attention.

They bring to this hospice a charming sense of the ridiculous. They have a good line of small-talk itat has an ingratiating quality. Toran, for example, is an authority or practical jokes. He described a two that had a true intellectual uality. Black sometimes does a traight, but frequently chimes in with some amusing experiences and observations.

On show caught (20)

On show caught (28), they handled one interview, which soon iceame a side issue to their own ab. Unfortunately, the third man it the mike had little to say except for plugging his own particular eld. Apparently, Moran & Black alized that at the very outset. The uest was at the mike, but practically ignored.

Fortunately this two comes are

Fortunately, this twosome can existain long sessions of gab on 'leir own. It's an asset that's very andy in these days of the American Guild of Variety Artists ban on membership appearing for on cafe-emanated biscuit s. Jose.

"TAND OF THE DAY

"Tith Bill Pone
"Tith Bill Pone
"Tith Bill Pone
"Tith Bill Pone
"The Mins.; Mon.-thru-Fri., 12:45 p.m.
"HITNEY DEPT. STORE

"ABY, Albany
Modest budgeter, featuring transcribed music by name orchesas and a quiz on bands or vocalts, marks the return of Albany apartment store to radio. It is sistently advertised and strongly verchandised. Aside from prodtand price plugs, entries must e delivered to the store; the charreter of some prizes is revealed hy through a visit to a specific department.

Bill Pope, originally half of a

SUNDAY SOUVENIES.
With Cedric Adams, Ramona Gerhardt, Louis Peterson.
Producer-director: Bob McKinsey Writer: Pauline Thorsen
36 Mins.; Sun., 1 pm.
NORTHERN STATES POWER CO.
WCCO, Minneapolis
One of Cedric Adams' 25 radio shows, "Sunday Souvenirs" provides a quietly relaxed, nostalgic 30 minutes of pleasant transcribed ether entertainment, combining good music and interesting gabbing. The local "Mr. Radio" discourses in his usual engaging fashion while reviving yesteryear memories, interrupting the word slimping the reviving yesteryear memories, interrupting the word slimping occasionally to introduce the past's most popular tunes via records or the dueting of organist Ramona Gerhardt and junist Louis Peterson.

Pauline Thorsen's well written

Ramona Gerhardt and planist
Louis Peterson.
Pauline Thorsen's well written script gains, of course, because of Adams' effectively dramatic reading. As always, the rich, soothing voice and the flawless diction and Addms effectively dramatic reading. As always, the rich, soothing voice and the flawless diction and delivery caress the ears.

While directly slanted for elderly and middle-aged listeners, the recital of past events and things which distinguished certain past years also is calculated to hold the attention of the younger element, citing for the latter many important happenings of historical or other import about which they might have heard, and acquanting them, too, with the sort of musical numbers their elders took to heart. Selection of records seemed especially happy and the musical numbers unfailingly intrigued. The Gerhardt-Peterson melodic contributions also proved happy.

Show caught took listeners back to 1927, recalling such personalities as Babe Ruth, Al Capone, Aimee MacPherson, et al, and such events as the Holland tube opening, the introduction of color printing, the talkies' advent, exwith brief attending discussions by Adams. The recording of "You Are Love"—"what you'd probably have heard if you'd have tuned in on CBS then"—still sounded good. From 1927 Adams transplanted his audience similarly to 1938 and the listeners heard "everybody's favorites of that time," including "Love Walked In" and "September Song."

Commercials were cleverly tied in with the narration, and Adams, handling them all, performed the task so expertly that they never seemed obtrusive. The public utility sponsor supplies the electricity here and in other of the state's communities. Stressed were the facts that electricity is the public's "cheapest hired hand," that 6,000 people share the company's ownership, and that it's easy to let electricity do your hard work. Rees.

Mobile—The U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce Friday (25)

reter of some prizes is revealed clearment.

Bill Pope, originally half of a sportscasting team on WGY and ater over WPTR, has become an ennouncer-disk jockey. He acquits himself creditably on the musical end, and authoritatively on the commercials here, despite slight redundancy. The amount of time for entertainment could be increased, and that for promotion, decreased, and that for promotion, decreased. On quarter-hour caught, program ran overtime. Total value of prizes is stated to be more than $200.

Jaco.

Scrap for A.M. Audience; 'Crazy Fishhead' Leads

Honolulu, July 29.
Three top disk jocks are battling for Honolulu's wake-em-up audiences—and who can say which has the best formula?

the best formula?
Akuhead Pupule (which is Hawaiian for "crazy fishhead") is Hal
Lewis, jock-musiclan whose reputation has been enhanced by mainland magazine articles.

Lewis gets a generous share of guest artists, clowns with them and guest artists, clowns with them and even gets them to read commer-cials for local and national spon-sors. Where else but on his pro-gram would the Andrews Sisters show up for free to gag up com-mercials boosting a staid soap?

His informal kidding of sponsors is more mature than in former years, which is commendable, but Lewis, no matter how versatile he is, sometimes strays offbeat to pon-tificate on controversial issues.

Is, sometimes strays outpeat to your tificate on controversial issues.

If he had field to himself, it might be different. But he hasn't. Recent impartial survey raised eyebrows when it showed Robert (Lucky) Luck's competitive "Wake Up Hawaii" ahead of Lewis in listeners. Some of the boys along Radio Row don't believe it yet; others say "we told you so."

Luck is an affable mimic who knows his Island dialects and doesn't hesitate to use them. He's also gained favor as an in-person master of ceremonies. But his list of sponsors—which is what pays off—isn't as impressive as Lewis. It may be that Luck's major draw is among rural and non-white listeners, while Lewis has the city slickers.

Jimmy Walker, who recently listeners, while Lewis and silckers.

Jimmy Walker, who recently switched over to KGU, is a late entry into the eye-opener array.

A former Hula restaurateur, Walker has a loyal following. If anybody can make a dent into the Lewis and Luck near-monopoly, ha's the boy. he's the boy.

Walker will be a natural as a TV

he's the boy.

Walker will be a natural as a TV emcee, which may be another reason why KGU took him over. (But so will both Lewis and Luck.)

Walker's only weakness as a jock may be an addiction to too much chatter and not enough music, but that can be overcome.

KIKI has just added a woman disk jockey for its early morning shows. She's personable Teddy Medina, but she's in a fast-moving field, competition-wise.

KULA tried to invade the early morning field by doubling sport-caster Joe Rose as a disk jock, but it didn't catch. Joe is back spieling sports now, which is his forte. The competition is keen because the morning jock-commentators set the pace for Honolulu radio—and a. m. audiences are mighty potent in this early-to-rise belt.

and a. m. audiences are mighty potent in this early-to-rise belt.

ROUNDUF TIME With Texas Rhythm Boys 55 Mins.; Mon-thru-Sat., 4:05 p.m. Sustaining WPRT, Albany
Eddie Smith's Texas Rhythm Boys tie up a good grade of Western and popular tunes on a new cross the board program titled "Roundup Time." A trio, they double on instruments and vocals. Joe Mack, possessor of a mellifluous, natural tenor, takes the honors in the latter division. He displays more than the usual amount of sweetness and range for a unit of this kind. The standard "Moonlight and Roses" and a "Gypsy" song were given particularly fine treatment by Mack on the last show heard.

The group harmony and the istrumental selections usually come across in good style, although there is some unevenness. The medley section is nicely handled. Weakest part, especially on the Saturday blocks, padded to 70 minutes, is the chatter. Smith, emcee-announcer, has a friendly manner, but his diction sometimes lacks clarity.

Letters from listeners are read and requests are filled. Trio has played restaurant and other dates but his diction sometimes tacks clarity.

Letters from listeners are read and requests are filled. Trio has played restaurant and other dates hereabouts.

Jaco.

Louisville—Richard P. Turpen has been appointed account exec in charge of radio-TV programs and continuity for Boone Advertising Agency. For past two years he has been in the WAVE-TV program and continuity department.

Fritzi Seeger, until recently vp of David Allen & Associates, Chicago, joined Mullican Agency as production manager. She was a nominee for the Advertising Federation of America's Woman of the Year award.

REUBEN. REUBEN

NEUBEN, REUBEN
With Reuben Bradford
Director: Alan Neuman
Froducer: Art Stark
30 Mins.; Sat., 10:36 p.m.
Sustaining
NEC, from N. Y.
This is a corny longhair disk iockey show featuring operatic highlights. The operas are okay but this stanza is saddled with a tedious narration by Reuben Bradford, an operatic aficianado from Texas. Bradford's theory is that opera is a parlay of the world's best music and worst stories and he expands upon this idea with some dreary translations of the operatic plots into modern slang.
This sort of thing was original about 20 years ago.
On the preem stanza. Bradford

about 20 years ago.

On the preem stanza, Bradford massacred Saint-Saens' "Samson & Delilah." He described Delilah as "the pitcher for the Phillies" and used other cliche gems in the same genre. The disked selections from the opera were excellent, Herm.

BURL IVES ENTERTAINS
With Scottish Junior Singers, conducted by Agnes Duncan Producer: Archie P. Lee
30 Mins.
Transcription
BBC, from Glasgow
Chatty sing-song with ballad contributions from two nations,
Scotland and the U. S. A., added up to pleasant easy-on-the-ear radio fodder. Program was minus an emcee, the gals (a Scot junior outfit becoming increasingly known in their native heath) and Burl Ives chatting informally about what number they'd do next. This technique almost came off, though considerably marred by too many artists talking at the same time, result that some of the announcements and song titles were not clearly heard.

Ives had his usual warm friend-

clearly heard.

Ives had his usual warm friendly mikeside manner, distinctively singing numbers like "Big Rock Candy Mountain," "Billy Boy," "The Riddle Song" and "I Gave My Love a Cherry." Gals were best in the traditional Scot Highland ballad "The Road to the Isles" and in "Flow Gently, Sweet Afton." Male balladeer folded the stanza with the farewell song "I'm A-Gonna A-Way."

Artists were obviously given

A-Gonna A-Way."
Artists were obviously given freedom of the microphone minus script restrictions. Audibility would have increased if there had been some form to the conversational interpolations, with pinpointed gals getting talkie chores instead of most of choir in unison.

Gord.

Radio Followups

Georgie Price does so consist-ently a good job in recreating the spirit and flavor that was truly "The Big Time" that it's a wonder "The Big Time" that it's a wonder (1), why this relatively inexpensive but highly palatable CBS radio show isn't sponsored, and (2), makes one wonder anew that if all the facets that Price reprises, from time to time in this series, ever held up consistently there probably would still be a big time vaudeville with us. As a young oldster, a veteran who started almost in diapers with Gus Edwards, Price (who is also the AGVA prexy) has the advantage of maturity and an ultra-modern approach.

Proach.

He has a good supporting team in this Lester Gottlieb package, directed by Will Roland, produced by Lou Melamed and scripted by Draper Lewis. There are talented vocal assists by Sally Sweetland, Doröthy Loudon and Ralph Nyland to Ray Bloch's excellent orchestra. "Big Time" is a bright. Friday night sustainer that should latch on to a bankroller.

Abel.

H. V. Kaltenborn observed (23) over NBC, at the end of Vice President Alben W. Barkley's dramatic, impromptu address at the National Democratic convention: "If he isn't fit to be president at 74—my age, since there are a few months difference between us—then I am not fit to be a radio commentator, and I think I am."

George Hicks. who was working and I think I am."

George Hicks, who was working with Kaltenborn, replied, "We wistfully hope we are anywhere near as good at 74." The sprightly, staccato Kaltenborn seemed to derive personal satisfaction from the Veep's oratorical performance.

Morgan Beatty, also of NBC, called attention to another facet of the speech: the fact that Barkley did not once take time out for a drink of water. Beatty reported this was a lesson that the Kentuckian had long ago learned: "interrupting an address for a drink of water is apt to set off a chain of circumstances."

Greig System

Continued from page 28

power in UHF to send out a signal comparable with VHF, that costs of operating UHF would be prohibitive, etc. None of this talk bothered Greig. He had remembered similar skepticism about VHF television.

The television.

To appreciate the audience coverage the Klystron makes possible, it is desirable to know a few simple facts about television engineering. One is that doubling the leight of the antenna tower reduces to one-fifth the amount of power required at the transmitter. Thus, 200 kw at 2,000 feet gives more coverage than 1,000 kw at 1,000 feet. And since WHUM-TV will have a 1,036 ft. tower on a transmitter site at an altitude of 1,650 ft., its antenna will, in effect, have more than twice the height of the Empire State Building.

With such an operation, WHUM-of the Empire State Building.

With such an operation, WHUM-TV will be able to provide service to a radius of 62 miles, serving 750,000 families in an area of 2, 665,000 population. And in addition, it will provide fringe service to large area in Pennsylvania,
Delaware, New Jersey and Maryland. land.

However, despite the powerful signal which WHUM-TV will transmit, the power cost for the station, including cooling and lighting, will be less than $2 an hour or approximately $200 a week. Greig figures this will be about 2% of the station's business.

- In-Black Formula

How can WHUM-TV be in the lack so soon in an area without How can WHUM-TV be in the black so soon in an area without UHF sets? Greig estimates—and his estimates appear conservative—that there will be 100,000 set owners able to tune in his station on "UHF day." Of these, he figures, 75,000 (or 10% of the families in the area) will either have UHF receivers (soon to be on the market) or VHF sets converted to receive the WHUM signal. There are already 150,000 families in the area with TV sets.

Where the remaining 25,000 set area with TV sets.

Where the remaining 25,000 set owners originate is an interesting development in UHF television. There are some 40,000 set owners within the WHUM area who are tuned in to fringe TV stations via community antennas. These owners pay a fixed fee per month for closed circuit connections with the community antennas. When WHUM-TV goes on the air, these antennas will convert the UHF signal to VHF to enable their customers to receive WHUM-TV without having to alter their sets.

signal to VHF to enable their customers to receive WHUM-TV without having to alter their sets.

Greig will have something of a monopoly on high power UHF for a while. He has the only Klystron built and it may be more than a year before another is available.

Of course, WHUM-TV will have network affiliation (CBS). But it also has lined up plenty of local advertisers to buy time on the station. A far cry from the early days of VHF operation, WHUM-TV will start with a schedule of 109 hours a week, signing on at 8 a.m. and signing off at midnight. In addition to network shows, it will program 30 hours a week of local live shows and 30 hours of film.

It looks like Reading will put UHF on the map.

"REMAINS TO BE SEEN" WESTHAMPTON, LONG ISLAND Coral Recording Artist
DIRECTION: MCA

RADIO-MUSIC QUIZ: MURRAY ROSS

directs the music for "DREAM HARBOR" on NBC 10:15 p.m.

The Capitol Records Story

To corn a cliche anew, there's always room on top. The Capitol Records' success story attests to that. In 10 years, a gleam and a dream have resulted in Cap forging into the Big Four field of phonograph record producers and manufacturers. What's more, it is staying there.

Glenn Wallichs best reprises the hopes and the travail that went into the founding of Capitol at a travall that well mee the founding of Capitol at a time when another Petrillo strike almost threatened to founder the floundering company.

Capitol's impact on the music business is a manifestation of what a mature approach to young ideas can achieve. Unorthdox in its concept, and with a can achieve. Unorthdox in its concept, and with a fresh and keen evaluation of new songplugging and merchandising techniques, Capitol was the first to latch onto the disk jockey as an important key in all these aspects. Cap became the deejays' delight. It serviced them to the hilt, and Capitol capitalized on the platter-chatterers' exploitation impact like no diskery did. It has paid off.

Capitol, however, was founded on a more solid concept than a quick buck. As the pops progressed, as the company acquired increasing capital and surer financial stability, Wallichs & Co. ploughed it back and built up its children's and longhair catalog as well. Cap's sales move to New York last year was further in line with the general Hollywood concept, such as it obtains in films radio and my concept, such as it obtains in films, radio and TV—the Coast is the production line and the east is the sales and financial centre.

Show biz salutes Capitol's decade of achievement with justifiable acclaim for a new entity whose savvy with justifiable acclaim for a new energy whose and showmanship have placed it to the fore.

Abel.

A Packaged Show—In 2½ Mins. By VOYLE CILMORE (Artists & Repertoire)

The formula has always seemed simple enough. Take a performer, add the right tune, stir gentiy, and you've got a hit record. Know how to choose the ingredients that will blend and you're a "good" aker man.

With all the curdled product that's been mixed, it's been comforting to have a nice, clear theory for the process. But, unfortunately, it isn't quite so simple any more. Too much has happened that the theory doesn't explain.

Time and again the combination of star singer and plug tune has failed to jell. Regularly an artist and/or song not up to usual standards of excellence has come through with a smashing disk success. What has happened is that the era of the hit performer and the era of the song hit have passed; now it's the age of the hit record.

If the old formula no longer suffices, we have to find new method for our madness, It's not enough to stir the ingredients gently; we must use fresh skill in- our effort. Records now have to be more actively and creatively produced. They are, in the new analysis, two-and-a-half minute entertainment packages that require the same sort of careful design that goes into a two-and-a-half hour play. There must be a beginning that intrigues, development, climax and satisfying finale.

Today, the artful rendition of a good tune suffocates under a stack of records. The disk jockey has far more than he can even audition, no less play on the air. The harassed dealer can't possibly stock all the releases that are offered him.

It may even be true that a sixteenth of an inch makes all the difference—those first few record grooves that either catch an ear or condemn the balance of the disk to oblivion. That's where the planning begins. And if the opening is successful in demanding attention, it must then be built upon with show-wise construction that never lets you go.

This kind of intensity in the making of a record has be built upon with show-wise construction that never you go.

This kind of intensity in the making of a record has produced some strange sounds and some wild distortions of otherwise pleasing talent. To win notice in the crowd, some people will do anything—and we've all had our guilty moments. But now, perhaps, the law of diminishing returns has set in. Diskeries are releasing fewer sides and expending more promotional effort on those they issue.

Now, maybe, there won't be so many raucous noises coming off platter surfaces. But if—happy day—they fade away, we should still be appreciative of the lesson they've left behind. We've learned to reexamine our comfortable little formulae, and maybe we'll be coming up with even better records from now on.

Well, maybe.

One Way to Beat the Ban

Hollywood.

It was 2:30 a.m. upstairs in the Capitol executive offices—in the lounge, to be precise. Lee Gillette, a pair of drummer's wire brushes in hand, beat rhythmically on a large Kleenex carton and a leather seat cushion. By his side, another "musician" hunched over a very large ukelele, and near him someone else worked a tiny, clinking top piano. An unencumbered man did a voice imitation of a string bass, and up front a talented quartet known as the Pied Pipers sang soulfully into a microphone.

Facing the group over an assortment of portable electronics gear was engineer Bill Miller. The signal he carefully monitored fed downstairs to the building's basement and a spinning recording turntable. There the ensemble effort was inscribed.

This incredible little scene actually happened in the spring of 1948—right in the middle of the strange Era of the Recording Ban. Its atmosphere of secrecy was carefully calculated—not to evade the American Federation of Musicians restrictions, but rather to conceal from competing record companies some of the ingenious and entirely legal methods by which new fecords could be made.

The most surprising feature of the session was its product, a little platter called "My Happiness." Rushed to the public in a couple of weeks, it was an instantaneous success. Its sales approached the 1.000,000 mark and the record

Many Music Biz Greats Started With Capitol 10 Years Ago

By GLENN E. WALLICHS
(President, Capitol Records)

I now sit at the middle of a desk. Ten years ago I was at one end—lifting—and Floyd Bittaker was at the other. We were taking second-hand office equipment into the first quarters of Capitol Records at 1483 Vine Street, Hollywood.

Capitol Records at 1483 Vine Street, Hollywood.

Like any enterprise, Capitol Records began many years before founding of the company. It began in the interests, the work, the convictions of many people. Circumstances put us in touch with each other. Harry Warren was a customer of mine when I had a small radio repair shop on Ivar Street, Hollywood, back in 1935. Mrs. Mercer wanted to buy Johnny an auto radio for his birthday, so Harry Warren sent her to my shop. In the next few years I saw the Mercers frequently and we became friends.

No one who tinkers with radios can resist, at one time or another, building himself some super-type gadget. I started to build recording equipment—home-made variety. By 1937 I had refined my early efforts to the point where I decided to open a small recording studio. I joined forces with Al Jarvis. He had the record shop and together we formed the Hollywood House of Music. Upstairs I launched Glenn Wallichs' Recordings—audition disks, air checks and personal messages, all on acetates.

Many of the greats, near-greats, and greats-to-be of the air checks and personal messages, all on acetates.

Many of the greats, near-greats, and greats-to-be of the music business headquartered in our store at El Adobe, 5205 Hollywood Blvd. Possibly the first incentive to jump into a record venture was born there. People in show business, no matter how busy they may be, conduct an unending diagnosis of their trade. Even when the patient is in booming health, showfolk will call symptoms and prescriptions for "what's wrong with show business." Those in music do the same. Artists, musicians, publishers have problems of such relentless concern that it is impossible for anyone in the environment to keep from becoming involved. I certainly was no exception.

When I decided to exchange the five small radio and repair shops I had established in the Los Angeles area for the Music City location at Sunset & Vine I had a deep interest in the music business. I liked the people, the interest in the music business. I liked the people, the jockeys, pluggers, artists and writers I had come to know. Quite naturally, along with records, a disk jockey show accompanied me to Music City. Peter Potter was the first Music City jockey and Johnny Mercer frequently emceed the shows. On special occasions Mercer would bring down friends. One of them was a pianist-leader who once crammed his whole band into the little studio. The leader's name was Freddie Slack.

Down Vine Street from Music City was a small cocktail lounge, the Radio Room, where a pleasant and eager young pianist would spend his intermissions playing piano or just talking with us. On our first anniversary at Music City he came down with the trio to entertain for the customers. He was Nat (King) Cole.

Still Others

City he came down with the trio to entertain for the customers. He was Nat (King) Cole.

Still Others

There was another musician around at the time. He was a gaunt, intense young man by the name of Stan Kenton. When I first met him, he was playing plano with Vido Musso. He was a modest chap then, and he has never changed.

Margaret Whiting also used to come into the store. Mercer said then she had a great talent, and time proved him to be right.

In the period just before we formed Capitol, Mercer and I had formulated concrete plans. We had an Idea where we wanted to go and a method outlined for attempting to get there. He was working at Paramount. During lunch one day he mentioned to Buddy DeSylva that he planned to venture into the regording business. DeSylva was interested and wanted to know if he might join us. All the initial cash invested in Capitol was his. He had tremendous faith in the idea right from the beginning. If Mercer or I seemed discouraged by the difficulties and the complexities in the early days, DeSylva always repeated, "This is going to be big!" He believed it. He made a verbal deal with us by which we would be equal partners as soon as he made his investment back in any one year. We did it soon and Johnny and I were equal partners.

A young arranger named Paul Weston was brought to Capitol by Mercer. Later Weston introduced a college friend of his about to be discharged from the Navy. On his recommendation we hired a chap named Jim Conkling, now president of Columbia Records.

In creative fields there always will be a coming and going. It's in the nature of the work, the nature of the personalities. Yet I can look back beyond a decade and find so many who have come along this way with us. That's been the best of it. My closest friends continue to be my business associates.

Album Catalog Is Anchor In Stormy Wax Market

By FRANCIS (Director of Al Hollywood.

It is no secret to anyone in the entertainment field that his investment of training, labor, experience, and capital is less secure than it might be in, say, some nice conservative steel company. And it is no secret to anyone in the record business that his occupation lies in one of the most volatile areas of the entertainment industry—one that is sometimes referred to as being "just like shooting dice."

Largely responsible for this extremely high risk is the pretested nature of record sales, a basic condition often overlooked by those engaged in other media. The moviegoer pays his morfey first, and only then may discover that the picture is not to his liking (but he seldom storms the boxoffice demanding a refund); the most skilled reader can hardly do more than skim a novel lightly before deciding to rent or purchase it; the television viewer must see at least part of a program—probably including a commercial or two—before he can decide that it doesn't suit him; and so it is, too, with the radio listener.

The record buyer, on the other hand, can be more discriminating. Not dependent upon reviewers, the opinions of friends, or how the show went last week, he knows with certainty what he buys in the form of recorded entertainment. He may listen thoroughly in the record shop, examing the cover and the liner notes if he is in the market for an album, or even preview the product in the indolent comfort of his home through the medium of disk jockeys. When he pay his money, the record buyer takes virtually no chances.

The record company takes the chances. It is true that it seldom suffers as a result from a shortage of creative and administrative talent, since recording shares with the other entertainment media an element of glamor and a genuine incentive to creative effort. But stockholders as a class are notably immune to the lures of glamor, and while they may be drawn to the industry by its high profit possibilities, they invariably feel that it should offer at least some a trip to Las Vegas.

Good Balance Necessary

It is here that a well-balanced and administered album program performs its most important function. Featuring a wide variety of products and continuing appeal to a broad market, it furnishes both the diversification so highly regarded by investors and a more stable base of operation for the company. The specific formulation of such a program must be guided by the needs of the individual company and its position in the industry; but even the simplest classification of suitable album material reveals an adequate variety for almost any company in any given situation. given situation.

given situation.

Prime in conservative value is classical music. The most durable and accurately predictable in sales behavior, it is also the most responsive to intelligent control in production; for quality (an element somewhat more tangible than popular tastes in popular music) has greater relative importance here than in any other class of recorded music.

Next in point of view of longterm value and minimum risk is semi-classical and such other "in between" music as operettas and outstanding motion picture scores: This category combines a measure of classical durability and predictability with much broader market appeal, and may serve well as a hedge between ultra-conservatism and an average degree of album risk.

The average degree of album risk is probably best represented by such items as dance band collections, jazz series, so-called "listening music" albums, and simple collections featuring a popular artist or a motion picture tie-in. Appealing to the largest existing market for albums, this classification should provide a heavy percentage of profitable but unspectacular sales, a few moderately big sellers, an occasional hit, and a small number of losers. Soundly conceived, produced, packaged, and marketed, music in this category can be the backbone of an album program.

Shows—and Children's Albums

Shows—and Children's Albums

Broadway shows and original and unusual "idea" albums are more speculative. This category is the source of the Yuma Sumac "Xtabays," the "South Pacific," and numerous others somewhat less memorable, and profit and risk here are related more as in single records.

Finally, in a class by itself, is the children's program. Characterized in its successful representative items by an unusual combination of volume sales and Gibraltar-like stability, this field was pioneered in its present form by Capitol. Only recently has its importance been generally recognized, and its desirable features promise a continued growth as a factor both in the album program and in the industry as a whole.

Though very general, this classification illustrates the variety possible in an album program and indicates those elements which may increase its stability. Specific distribution of the classes of products must, of course, be determined by the needs of the individual company, and it should be borne in mind that the program, in addition to providing a stabilizing influence, can perform other important functions. For example, the establishment of a recording idea and a new artist such as Miss Sumac is given its greatest opportunity for success by dramatization in album form; the most effective use of talent and promotion, from the point of view of the artist, the record company, and the motion picture producer, is made through integrated album presentation, as in Jane Froman's "With a Son; in My Heart"; and the broadening and stabilization of a strong popular artist's acceptance is ideally assisted by albums such as Jo Stafford's "American Folk Songs."

Broadly speaking, the album program seems destined to become more and more important in the industry. A short

Broadly speaking, the album program seems destined to become more and more-important in the industry. A short time ago an alarming decline in the demand for album products took place, and many then wondered if this particular facet of recording would continue to be profitable. It seems reasonable to conclude now that this was only a temporary condition, and that the reverse will actually hold true over the long term. The growth in our population's average age level should logically bring an increased ability to pay the higher price of packaged products and a more conservative taste in music. This factor, together with the emergence of long play as the logical album speed and the decline in importance of radio as a purveyor of-music, seems to point to a continuing growth of the album program within any record company hoping to build a profitable and reasonably stable luture.

Capitol History A Saga Of Savvy & Showmanship

Hollywood.

The history of Capitol Records, which climbed into the major leagues shortly after its formation 10 years ago, is one of those classic sagas of successful showmanship parlayed with business savvy.

Back in 1941, songwriter Johnny Mercer felt that his tunes, along with those of other cleffers, were not getting proper showcasing on disks. At the same time, Glenn Wallichs, in his big Hollywood music store, was thinking about expanding his establishment's small custom recording service into something more substantial.

The two had known each other long enough to share their plans, and out of the combination came the idea of Capitol Records, The first break came when Mercer went to his good friend, the late B. G. (Buddy) DeSylva, then executive producer at Paramount Pictures, who showed a lively personal interest in the ambitions of the two young entrepreneurs. After they'd discussed the prospective diskery at length, DeSylva's interest took the more tangible form of a $25,000 investment.

In April, 1042, the new company was incorporated as Liberty Records. When the first board of directors meeting was held, on June 4, the name was changed to Capitol. DeSylva was designated president, Mercer, vice-president; and Wallichs, secretary-treasurer.

From the start, the tyro outfit seemed to be tilting at windmills. The War Production Board announced a 70% cut in shellac available for record manufacture—which meant none for Capitol. But a manufacturer was found to produce a small number of platters for the new company, and on July 1 its first side was released.

No sooner were the initial records out than the American Federation of Musicians announced its first ban on recording by union members; to begin in 30 days. During the frantic month of July, Mercer directed a full schedule of sessions, producing a library of masters that were to last 15 months, the duration of the ban.

Fortunately, it was already clear that Capitol was on the first release, "Cow Cow Boogle," by Ella Mae Morse and Freddie Slack, and "St

The Innovations

The Innovations

There were 300-odd new labels around during the time when Capitol was getting started, and the trade probably didn't give any of them more than six months of life expectancy. Capitol emerged from the crowded field because it parlayed its product with showmanship.

From the beginning, Capitol strayed from typical recording company behavior by cooperating fully with disk lockeys. Wallichs, Bittaker and Mercer personally delivered sample platters to the deejays, initiating a service that has since become standard industry practice.

At the start of 1943, Capitol News made its appearance. The little magazine was an outgrowth of a weekly mimeo letter to dealers, but it adopted the novel approach of giving music news without overloading the Capitol name in its copy. Under Dave Dexter's editorship, it won immediate accceptance in the trade, with record buyers and with the news-hungry Armed Forces. By late 1945, its circulation reached a phenomenal 800,000.

After the war, Capitol invaded the children's field with fresh ideas and a clown called "Bozo," and within a short time a whole series of albums produced by Alan Livingston captured 70% of this newly stimulated children's business.

Special concern with scientific progress in the field led Dusiness.

Special concern with scientific progress in the field led Capitol to ploneer magnetic tape techniques. Later, in the midst of the 1948 record ban doldrums and the depressing "war of the speeds," Capitol again took action by becoming the first major to release disk on all three of the disputed speeds, a step which helped considerably in clearing the air.

Sound Business Policy

Good records and smart merchandising would have meant little without sound business policy to supply momentum. From Capitol's start, Glenn Wallichs envisioned a big company, and his decisions were made with that end, rather than the fast buck, in view.

The first struggles to secure manufacturing facilities, made clear the eventual need for company-owned pressing equipment. In March, 1944, Capitol signed a production agreement with the Scranton Record Co., its biggest supplier, which contained an option to buy the Pennsylvania plant for $2,000,000.

The price seemed astronomical at the time, but within two years Capitol had established itself as one of the industry's Big Four and was capable of handling the deal. In March, 1946, the Scranton purchase was made with funds raised through public sale of stock.

With postwar production thus assured, Capitol went on to expand its company-owned distributing branch program even though it was hard on working capital. By the beginning of 1947 there were 24 Capitol offices throughout the country. Since that time 18 independent representatives have been added to Capitol's sales organization. In 1951 the company's sales headquarters were shifted from Hollywood to New York in order to be closer to the most active, record markets.

Capitol sales doubled in each of the company's first five years; last year they totaled $13.500,000. The number of personnel has grown similarly. There were 17 employees in 1942 imany of them part-time) and there are more than 1,100 today.

Leading the way to success throughout Capitol's first decade has been its roster of performers. With relatively inconspicuous beginnings, stars such as Nat Cole, Jo Stafford, Margaret Whiting, Stan Kenton, Peggy Lee, Les Paul, Mary Ford, and Kay Starr, have built towering record sales on the Capitol label. Mercer, Jim Conkling, and, currently, Alan Livingston, created the atmosphere that new talent needs in the artists and repertoire division.

Capitol's half-dozen best-selling disks of the decade show the variety and freedom of its a&r approach. They are: Pee Wee Hunt's "Twelfth Street Rag"; Peggy Lee's "Mananan"; "How High the Moon," by Les Paul & Mary Ford; "Slipping Around," by Margaret Whiting and Jimmy Wakely, Nat Cole's "Too Young"; and Tex Williams' "Smoke, Smoke, Smoke."

In its first year and a half of operation, Capitol released 43 records; in 1951 more than 620 were issued. Besides taking this important position in the pop singles field and in developing a children's library, Capitol has made big strides in the building of a classical catalog. In 1948, negotiations with Telefunken produced an agreement through which Capitol has been releasing the best of the famous European recordings. In addition, important American musical groups such as the Pittsburgh Symphony have been signed.

The Exec Setup

The Exec Setup

The real continuity of purpose in Capitol's 10-year history has been provided by Glenn Wallichs. Of the original triumvirate, he alone remained active. In 1947, DeSylva resigned because of falling health and Mercer gave up his recording work in order to concentrate on writing for Broadway shows and Hollywood films.

Today, Wallichs is assisted by four vice presidents: Alam Livingston, a&r; Lloyd Dunny advertising and promotion; William Fowler, sales; and Daniel Bonbright, finance. He has been, through the decade, the company's driving force and guidling hand, coordinating the varied demands of a business that embraces nearly equal amounts of scientific, artistic, and business talents.

One Gimmick—A Miracle— Made Hunt's '12th St. Rag' Cap's No. 1 Bestseller

Hollywood.

It takes expert planning to build a record company's success, but an occasional minor miracle helps. Though hits may come from scheming, there have to be a few surprise sensations. And when a surprise turns out to be the company's alltime top-selling disk, it qualifies as one of those little miracles.

In mid-1947, Capitol's Transcription Library needed about 50 selections by a small Dixieland combo to help round out its catalog. Lee Gillette, in charge, didn't have to look any further than the Hollywood Palladium, a block away, for a group to do the job. It was the little intermisson band of Pee Wee Hunt, ex-Casa Loma trombonist. Readily available, Hunt was signed to do 60 tunes in six sessions, and the recording proceeded in routine fashion. On the next to last session, with a few minutes left after the nightly quota had been completed, Hunt suggested trying out a number he had in mind for the final meeting.

fashion.* On the next to last session, with a few minutes left after the nightly quota had been completed, Hunt suggested trying out a number he had in mind for the final meeting.

Hunt's sinal session came in the midst of the turmoil just preceding the 1948 recording ban, and Gillette wasn't able to direct it. It wasn't till a month later, in fact, that he heard the dubs and discovered, to his annoyance, that they included a number whose vocal was too blue for radio. Needing a replacement badly, and prevented by the ban from doing anything new, he, remembered the tune. Hunt had dashed off for him. The acetate was leaning, ignored, against his office wall.

The disk had got pretty rough treatment till now, and Gillette, in the heat of his little emergency, went one step further by playing it on his office phonograph. The music sounded all right, so he sent it on hopefully to the company technicians. They studied it, and agreed that it was, surprisingly, acceptable as a master.

In the business routine, the incident was quickly forgotten. The substituted number went out unobtrusively to subscriber radio stations as one of 10 tunes on a 16-inch platter. It was a little remarkable when, three months later, a South Bend program director wrote in to say that a Pee Wee Hunt transcription—he named the extra tune—was causing comment.

The letter was filed and forgotten till similar messages began arriving from Boston, Richmond, Cincinnati. Gillette and his fellow a&r men at Capitol received the news with pleased astonishment. With the ban on, anything showing signs of success was noteworthy. It was decided "if only just for laughs," according to one exec, to press the recording for regular commercial release.

But it wasn't quite that simple. Hunt's arrangement ran 3:40—a minute too long. Cutting it wasn't easy, but there were two possibilities—an instrumental solo and a strangé-sounding honkytonk piano chorus. No one could decide which should go, so a coin was filipped. The piano stayed and the record was issued.

Wha

Capitol's 10-Year Sales Boxscore

	Smile	TIPUIT	Gross
Year	Releases	Releases	Sales
1942			$ 200,000
1943			750,000
1944		6	2,250,000
1945	48	14	5,100,000
1946	120	19	13,000,000
1947		24	14,500,000
1948		44	16,900,000
1949		85	11,500,000
1950	630	140	12,300,000
1951	620	, 93	13,400,000

You May Miss Out On That Guy 'Just Bad Enough' To Click By LEE GILLETTE (Artists & Repertoire)

The repertoire man is haunted. He may be riding the crest of a so-called 1,000,000 seller; he may have unearthed the year's top vocalist; created the decade's most unusual gimmick, but no matter how high on success he is, there's a presence loitering behind him.

What gives the repertoire man the haunts is a two headed dream. Version one concerns the poor starving unknown who, after successfully attempting to break into the repertoire man's office every day for three years, decides to peddle his wares elsewhere, going across the street. The anon becomes, of course, the sensation of the century. From then on there are whispers. Waddling away from a luncheon, the repertoire man knows that eyes are upon his back, measuring, until he is out of hearing distance. Then the talk begins. "Who d'ya think that genius turned down? And he could have had him for peanuts!"

A switch version of the nightmare concerns the song which the repertoire man: 1, wouldn't listen to; 2, had under his blotter for eight years; 3, claimed was the worst tune ever written.

tune ever written.

Saying "yes" to every songwriter, publisher and artist would be living dangerously. But saying "no" to anyone—sandhogs, girdle salesmen, goose-noodlers or consulting psychologists (all of whom sing their own songs) can also lead to disaster. Finding a middle path between these two extremes is not as simple as it might appear. A repertoire man is often tempted to adopt a stern attitude, appear brusque almost to the point of rudeness, but he quickly realizes 'that all shy, bashful, and retiring-type songpluggers suffer from such an attitude while the more aggressive pluggers can beat anyone at this little game.

It is vital as it is impossible to listen to everything. Every time a gimmick launches a disk on the popularity polls, a new field of experience is opened, and the repertoire man, by his own nature, is compelled to hear associated phenomena. If a Chinese dinner bell catches the waiting ear of the public, the repertoire man automatically finds himself auditioning trolley bells, door bells, elevator chimes, bar bells and the Bell Sisters.

vator chimes, bar bells and the Bell Sisters.

In spite of appearances the repertoire man does have standards of measurement, and while the business is not basically consistent, there are requirements which songs and artists must fulfill. If the repertoire man is visiting in Moose Jaw and his in-laws insist he catch a local tenor at the bowling alley's late show, chances are the lad is quaintly horrible, and the repertoire man may, in complete confidence, give a cold "no!".

Late at night two weeks later, 2,000 miles from Moose Jaw, the repertoire man will wake up in a cold sweat with the terrifying thought, "that kid may be just bad enough."

Promoting Big Black Blobs By LLOYD W. DUNN (V. P., Capitol Records)

I've been an advertising man most of my business life. And through the years one develops certain procedures and convictions which may be applied to the promotion of soap flakes, screw machine products, patent medicines and artificial eyelashes.

Then came the record business. It was "different," they said. I'd heard that story from practically every client in my agency experience.

Only this time it was different. So different, in fact, that I sometimes wonder whether the traditional promotional background is a help or a hindrance.

Take single records, for example. Physically unattractive—a big, black blob. And they all look alike, hits and dogs. Displaying them is likely to bring no results beyond warpage. The potential buyer has to hear them, frequently many times before the urge to buy develops.

quently many times before the urge to buy develops. And every week you have to start promoting a brand new bunch of products, as new records are issued. It presents the same advertising problem as if Colgate issued a new batch of toothpaste or cold cream every week, to be established with buyers. It ain't easy. Albums are easier. They're packaged, for one thing, with attractive illustrations to lend eye appeal. You can afford to advertise albums more extensively because they have longer life and higher unit price. But singles? You don't dare spend too much money on them until they show promise of being a hit. And then, there's not too much point in it, because the record is being played from every housetop.

It isn't quite as bad as that. There are ways to promote records, and successful record companies are using them. But these devices have little in common with traditional advertising techniques.

Which brings us to the point. It takes an open mind to promote records, quite as much as it does to produce them. Sometimes the ugliest sounds make the biggest hits and the goofiest ideas start the greatest smashes on their

and the goofiest ideas start the greatest smasnes on therway.

What does it take to make a good record promotion man? A background of advertising is desirable, of course. But more than that, plenty of imagination, courage, a sense of humor. and bounce.

You gotta like music, too. There's no question that there is more money to be made in selling wallpaper or pickling onions. maybe. But the kick of that new record when you first hear it—the taste of success when it begins to click—it's show business! No one will ever grow old in the record business. Because the minute you begin to think about the hits of yesterday, your mind is off the hits of tomorrow.

And when that happens, there won't be any new hits

A Disker's Best Friend Is His Tape-Recorder

By KEN NELSON (Country and Western Repertoire)

Hollywood.

Hollywood.

The tape recorder has made a traveling salesman out of the country-western repertoire man. Before tape the artists came to him to record. Today he spends half of the year with brief case in hand, a damp shirt on his back, and some cancelled baggage thecks in his pocket. Unlike all other members of the repertoire species, he does at least 60% of his recording "in the field." It may be Broken Boy, Neb., or Nashville, Tenn.

The procedure on these recording dates varies. In my own case I can never plan ahead. I never know until I get there what facilities are available. Many times the equipment (microphones, speakers, channels) is ancient. Sometimes it's a pleasant surprise to discover the newest and most complete electronic facilities. Usually I use any engineer I can find available, but sometimes it happens I end up doing my own mixing. Since I do all of my recording in local radio stations and they can't go off the air while I'm recording, I can't hear too well in the control booth. The net result is many times I never know what I've got until I get back to Hollywood.

One day in Sioux City, Iowa, I remember especially.

got until I get back to Hollywood.

One day in Sioux City, Iowa, I remember especially. I walked in, looked around, and groaned. I couldn't possibly record here. The room was far too small to allow for separation. The microphones were all old. All the equipment left much to be desired. With no alternative we dug in, recorded, returned the results to our Hollywood engineers, and heard them say they couldn't have done better in our own studios. It so happened the "small" room was acoustically perfect!

These six weeks' trips I take three or four times a year done better in our own studios. It so happened the "small" room was acoustically perfect!

These six weeks' trips I take three or four times a year are not all business. There's a social life, too. Most of the time I am a guest at the artist's home, where the country hospitality really loads up the table with food and the chairs with friends. When not expanding the waistline, or recording, I'm traveling around with them on personal appearances.

I'll never forget one trip with Jimmy Heap and his band. He was playing a dance date in Deseret, Texas. The crowd was in evening dress—with jewels. It could have been Ciro's. The next night in another town he played to farmers and country folk. All of which backs up my theory that country music is enjoyed by all types of people—in Texas anyway.

Another phase of this wandering repertoire work is keeping an eye out for new artists coming up. An example is Faron Young. I was riding with an artist to a recording date one day when I heard a young fellow's voice which impressed me; however, the announcer didn't mention his name. Several weeks later I came back through Shreveport, La, especially to find him. The manager of the radio station told me his name. I found him and signed him up fast. Today Young is rising as one of our top sellers.

1,000 Years B. C. (Before Capitol)

Golly, has it been 10 years?

So much will be written in this issue about the past 10 years, about Buddy DeSylva and Johnny Mercer, and maybe even a couple of words about Dan Dexter, that I'd like to dedicate these comments to a partner of mine of 1,000 years ago, Glenn Wallichs, one of the founders of this prominent wax works.

Actually this partnership was just one or two years before Capitol; it only seems like 10 hundred. Glenn was operating a successful appliance store in Hollywood right next to the gas company. The more folks in Southern California were weaned away from wood stoves, the more they were gassin' it up, and, eventually, the gas company took over Wallichs' glen without Glenn Wallichs.

In back of Wallichs' gien without Gienn Wallichs.

In back of Wallichs' mind was the thought of getting into something a bit more creative than requesting folks to cook on more burners. Radio appealed to him, the mechanics of radio and its improvement especially. Glenn tuned in his Atwater Kent and discovered that the one program in Southern California that could stand the most improvement was my "Make Believe Ballroom" (on KFWB, Monday through Saturday).

At the time the fact reports making money off radio program in Southern California that could stand the most improvement was my "Make Belleve Ballroom" (on KFWB, Monday through Saturday).

At the time, the only people making money off radio were canary bird imitators and Peter Potter, who used his own dice on the Beverly Hill Billies. Everyone in radio had a sideline which helped pay the rent. Mine was a record store named "The Stomp Shop" and I needed someone to help pay the rent on the joint that was supposed to help me pay the rent.

Wallichs had a few bucks and a firm conviction that I should add a recording department. I sure could use the few bucks! (Had I but known at the time that his recording department would eventually be Capitol Records, I, too, would have taken up songwriting).

So, along with Eleanor Roycroft, my partner at the time (now owner and operator of the record department at Fife & Nichols) and my self, we formed a three-way thing called the Hollywood House of Music. It was Glenn Wallichs' sight that gave us the first disk jockey remote right from the store, supervised by my favorite technician, Gene Hargrove, whose favorite record—Woody Herman's "Woodchoppers Ball"—would be played daily, just so he could up the gain on the bass solo.

Many collectors will say the first Wallichs recording was one with Mercer or Paul Whiteman or one in that circa (a word I borrowed from Bill Leyden). Actually, the first commercial record made by Glenn Wallichs is one in my possession, "Caterpillar Shuffie" with the Cats 'N Jammers, featuring . . . so help me . . "Frankenstein" Mark, on drums; Stew Becker, trumpet; Dale Sloan, piano; Bunny Donin, bass; Tommy Andrews, accordion; Joe Cook, sax; Tony Schroeder, guitar; and Curtis Gates, now with the Sons of the Pioneers, on the vocal. It was made up at the Stomp Shop and I threatened Wallichs with playing it, if ever Capitol's advance releases are late in arriving. Seriously, the story of Capitol records is the story of a guy who was bound to succeed in any field of endeavor.

with Wallichs and found out really how hard a guy can work who, even when I knew him, had a goal in mind. I don't know what goal he has in mind for the next 10 years, but I'll bet you my original Wallichs recording against any record you may have of the Al Jarvis "Make Believe Ballroom" orchestra conducted by Vido Musso with Stan Kenton at the plano, that he'll make it. Better hope so yourself; it'll help us all.

Cap Sparks Biz Via Multi-Pronged Disk Jockey, TV & Mag Promotions

By MIKE GROSS

By MIKE GROSS

Capitol Records' multi-pronged promotional setup has been one of the company's major assets since its foundation 10 years ago. Functioning out of both the Coast headquarters and the New York branch, Cap's publicity-exploitation projects have widened the range of the whole disk industry's promotion activities. The diversity of its operation has been a potent factor in building artists and hypoing releases, and the department is steadily on the prowl for new outlets. It has spearheaded such promotional efforts as mag publication, disk jockey contacting, TV booking and tie-ins with band agencies.

This year, Cap launched a cooperative publicity-exploitation campaign with General Artists Corp. to spark the sales of its orch waxings. The move was part of a newly-organized industrywide effort to make the public more orch-conscious, but it closely followed the pattern Cap had set up for itself since 1942. From the outset Capitol geared itself for a strong publicity setup, and it's been holding to that line ever since.

Just as Cap is utilizing TV today to promote its artists and its disks, it was the first record company to realize the plugging power of radio's disk jockeys 10 years ago. There were few name platter-spinners then and only a handful of jocks around the country, but their value to a record company as a cuffo showcase for its releases was realized by the Cap brass, and they inaugurated the policy of sending out all new releases to the jockeys. Up until then, radio stations, for the most part, had to purchase their own platters. The Cap disk jockey malling list was an innovation in record company promotion technique and all the diskeries followed along the same lines soon after. There are almost 2,000 deejays on Cap's mailing list today.

Deejay Route

The deejays also have assumed a large part in the an unovation in record company promotion technique and all the diskerles followed along the same lines soon after. There are almost 2,000 deejays on Cap's mailing list today.

Decjay Route

The deejays also have assumed a large part in the company's "live" promotional campaigns. Whenever possible, Cap's publicity-promotion department sets up a deejay trek for its artists, usually following on the heels of a new release. The company foots part of the tab for the jaunt, with the artist and the publishers of the tunes laying out the rest of the expense monies. In some instances Cap's artists have turned down theatre and/or nitery bookings so that they can complete the deejay round which the diskery has set up for them.

During the past two years, Cap has been spearheading tele promotion. Its publicity department has almost taken on the role of a talent agency, in that it's been booking their pactees for guest shots on the flock of vaudeo shows around. This is usually handled in New York when the Cap artists come in from the Coast for promotional duties. The guest shots not only help the artists pay for the expenses of the trip, but also helps stimulate interest in their disks.

Recently Cap has been using TV in conjunction with its 10th anni celebration. Part of its anni fete is the awarding of gold platters to artists who have sold more than 1,000,000 disks, and Dick Linke, Cap's eastern publicity manager, has been lining up network video shows on which the prize platter will be presented to the artist.

Another facet of Cap's promotional setup is its publications department. Diskery allots about $500,000 annually for its four publications—Music News, Record News, Record and Pickups. The mags are distributed cuffo to dealers, except for Music News, on which the tab is 2c a copy, and has been an effective instrument in hypoing ralations between the diskery and the distributor-dealer. The Publications Division, which operates out of the Coast headquarters, is under the supervision of Lloyd Dunn, Cap

Less But Better Jazz in Wax Future With No Bopping or Super-Hip Sounds

By DAVE DEXTER, Jr. (Artists & Repertoire)

Hollywood.

Name singers were mere "extra added" attractions on Bob Weitman's Paramount marquee. Dance bands were the boxoffice lure. And during that hysterical summer following Pearl Harbor—the summer Capitol moved in to expand the majors to the Big Four—jazz records were being swept along in a rising market towards a volume never before achieved by so selective a musical idiom.

James C. Petrillo's 1942-43 ban on etching, the critical shortage of shellac, a price rise which was inevitable—even these factors failed to stem the popularity of recorded hot music. Jazz boomed for a time while dance bands died at World War II's end. But then, abruptly, hot music turned to a "cool" sound and came the awkward, incredible moment when jazz was suddenly a frigid product, not only on shellac but in clubs, in theatres, wherever it had been performed previously.

Now it's a new decade and those of us—Milt Gabler, Bob Thiele, George Avakian, John Hammond included—who still badger our bosses to allow us to find exciting jazz, record it, and help get it into the shops and onto the jockeys' turntables, are hopeful of better times. Bop has come, gone, left only a feeble influence on a music which has survived numerous distortions down through the years. Barnyard tenor saxists are on the wane. So, too, are vocalists of both sexes who helped sink the ship with their exaggerated, ugly, off-the-chord "improvising" glb-berish. With the exit of the cool, super-hip clique (and the resultant decline in influence of several once-influential crities and jocks) there's been a gradual upbeat apparent along the jazz front, particularly on disks.

But bop-perverted instrumentalists, singers, crities and jocks weren't alone in nearly exterminating jazz a few sea-

Giant Market of Adults Should Be Disk Target

Hollywood.

The record industry is, I am sure, the fastest moving and most competitive business in the world. At the beginning of a week, each record company releases six to 12 new sides and simultaneously exposes them to millions of listeners throughout the country by means of the disk jockey. Any one—or none—of these sides may be successful. The next week, regardless of what has happened the week before, each record company again releases from six to 12 new sides. This goes on all year long, and the pyramiding of record artists, new songs and new sounds makes demands on the public's ear far beyond its capacity to absorb.

As a result, the hits always seem to come from where you least expect them, and in today's market the obvious or unusual generally seems to have a better chance because the obvious or unusual record is the only one to make an impression, or even be remembered, among the many which pour out from disk jockey shows.

This situation within the industry is, I believe, responsible for the condition of the music market today. I don't think people have changed nor that their basic tastes in music have changed. They are to a large extent what the music business and its new facilities have made them. There is no immediate solution to the problem. Competition being what it is, only what the Federal government might call "restraint of trade" could change the picture.

Nevertheless, this highly competitive and fast moving situation is not as bad as many people in the music business, particularly publishers and writers, would have you believe. True, it has its disadvantages. It weakens the chances of a "good" song because presumably a "good" song must be widely heard before being appreciated. But there are encouraging points, too. Today, as Stan Kenton once pointed out, music in America is as free as the air, and there is nearly as much of it. Radio, home phonographs, television, and jukeboxes provide an unending accompaniment to American existence. For the most part, a listener may choose among country, classical, and classical selections during any hour of the day or night.

More Music Than Ever

This abundance is bound to have effects. Twentyfive years ago, the amount of music heard by a child was only a fraction of what it is today. Furthermore, what music he did hear was not the performances of the highly talented and select musicians who play the bulk of the music coming out of modern recording studios, radio stations and motion picture studios Undoubtedly many adults today, who were born with fine musical talent, are completely unaware of their own basic abilities because their talent was never developed. They have missed more satisfying lives, and perhaps the music world has missed some great contributions. It cartainly seems likely that today's increased availability and variety of good music will be a great factor in the development of the new generation.

The greatest exposure, particularly in the record business, is to teenagers, and there is no problem in reaching these enthusiastic disk buyers. But there is, of course, another market with completely different tastes—young married and older people, who are important to the selling of albums. This group is harder to reach because the kind of music which most interests it is not generally played by the disk jockies, and in fact has little outlet for presentation.

One reason for the great success of albums from current motion pictures is the simple fact that the film itself is such a great exploitation medium. The same is true of a New York show, explaining the tremendous difference between the sale of an album from a hit show and that of a show which has closed in three months, even though the latter score may be the better one.

There is nothing to prevent a record company from producing on disks the equivalent of a "South Pacific" album, musically speaking. Today, without the show and the success it represents, or without the spending of a prohibitive amount of money on promotion, such an album would be unsaleable. But if an exploitation medium as sons back. The record companies produced too many releases for an admittedly limited market to digest. And many of the older, established, non-bopping jazmen—the big name guys of the 1930s—simply got old. They became lazy, bored, uninspired, and their playing showed it on hundreds of unsalable records. Working regularly in radio, television and motion pictures—you can include recording studios, too—brought security and fish-tailed cads. But hardly any decent jazz is being played these days by the hot men over 35—Ellington, Armstrong, and possibly a dozen others excepted.

That's the way it stands today, as Capitol eyes its second decade. There will be more jazz forthcoming—but only the best, issued less frequently—and it will be made available not only on single biscuits but in album form on three speeds as well. Meanwhile the pops pay the freight; pay for the losses all waxworks incur in trying to appeal to and satisfy a tiny, super-critical market that mar, eventually, become the fairly lucrative market that jazz once was 10, 15 years ago.

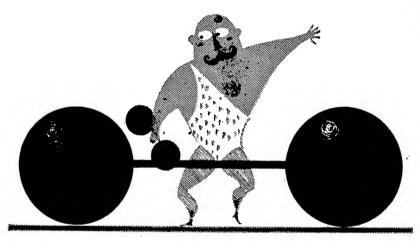

Anybody know of a young Duke, or Satchmo, waiting te cut his first session? Capitol wants him!

K:

it's not the tem

it's the potential

It's quite an accomplishment to reach the age of ten, but still, you're too young to look to the past. In celebrating this important milestone in Capitol's history, we feel confident that—The best is yet to come! Congratulations and good wishes are in order...not to us, but from us...to the artists, song writers, dealers, disc jockeys, operators and the members of our organization to whose friendly efforts we owe so much of the success we have achieved.

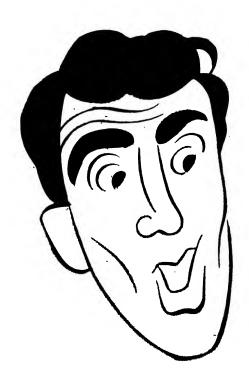

10th anniversary

it's not the ten ... it's the potential

CONGRATULATIONS ON YOUR 10th ANNIVERSARY

DEAN and JERRY

Latest Release

"OH MARIE"

Backed by

"COME BACK TO SORRENTO"

Latest Release

"I CAN'T CARRY A TUNE"

Backed by

"CRAZY WORDS"

P.S.:

We Make Pictures Too. Latest Release "JUMPING JACKS"

JANE FROMAN

Congratulations to Capitol!

Thanks for helping to make all this possible.

Gisele MacKenzie

CURRENTLY JUNG HOTEL, NEW ORLEANS

On the Air—Mario Lanza Show—NBC Returns August 25—"Club 15" 3d Season—CBS

Current Capitol Release

"YOU CAN'T LOVE TWO"

Public Relations RED DOFF, Hollywood

Casino, Toronto

Toronto, June 28.
Gisele MacKenzie, Bobby Win
ters, Grace & Mickey Carroll, Joe Laurel, Billie & Gene Lambert
Jimmie Cameron, Archie Stone House Orch; "Okinawa" (Col).

Gisele MacKenzle, femme singing star of Bob Crosby's "Club 15" show and the former Mario Lanza sries, is breaking in a stage routine here (New Acts) and packing in the customers for the best business in several weeks at the Casino. She is surrounded by a neat stage package which, in swiftpaced diversity, never allows a letdown.

Personal Management BOB SHUTTLEWORTH

CHAPPELL SALUTES

our newest releases:

CARIOCA Les Paul Mary Ford

WALKIN' MY BABY BACK HOME Nat "King" Cole

WISH YOU WERE HERE Jane Froman

Jerome Kern's ROBERTA (Album) featuring Gordon MacRae and Lucille Norman

CHAPPELL & CO., INC. RKO Building, Rockefeller Center, New York 16, N. Y.

Congratulations, and our sincere thanks to these great Capitol artists:

To-BILLY MAY BEN LIGHT and

BOB SAVAGE for ..... PERFIDIA (Peer)

CAN'T GET OUT OF To-JANE FROMAN for....

THIS MOOD (Southern)

To-GISELE MACKENZIE for . . ADIOS (Peer)

To-YMA SUMAC for..... BABALU (Peer)

To-PETE DAILEY for ..... SOUTH (Peer)

TILL THE END OF THE To-JIMMY WAKELY for .... WORLD (Southern)

THE ALMANAC SONG

(Southern)

To-BILLY STRANGE for....

I LOVE YOU 24 HOURS

A DAY (Peer)

To-FARON YOUNG for....

HAVE I WAITED TOO

LONG (Peer)

Peer International Corporation • Southern Music Publishing Co., Inc. Charles K. Harris Music Publishing Co., Inc. • La Salle Publishers, Inc. Melody Lane Publications, Inc. 619 Broadway, New York 19, N. Y. 1608 North Argyle Ave., Hollywood

Mark Schreck Prof. Mgr.

RALPH S. PEER President

Ben Selvin General Mar.

on Capitol the Authentic Rendition

the Magnificent Voice of

is the voice of

(DO NOT FORSAKE ME)

Featured in the Stanley Kramer production High Naon" starring Gary Cooper Released through United Arlists . Music by Dimitri Tiamkin . Lyric by Ned Washington

۲

THE BILLBOARD

"High Noon" Theme Music
"High Noon" Theme Story
Sets Mood and Tells Story

NEW YORK, June 14.—Currently titillating the music fractently is the unique use of termity is the unique user film, song in the Stanley Kramer film, the William Noon, starring Gary (Filiph Noon, starring Gary (Filiph Noon, starring Gary), and to be released mid-

Jove The Script, by Carl Foreman, IT July.

The script, by Gad sperado retels the story of a desperado retels the story of a desperado retels the story of a desperado retels the marshall who sent him turning to a small webset the pictory would classify but in ture as a horse opera; but in ture as a horse copera; but in ture as a horse copera; but in ture as a horse copera; but in ture as a horse opera; but in ture the film is, so note suspense, the film is, so note webset with the film is, so note webset the film is so note that it transcends the film is the film is the film is the film is the film in the film is t

Lyric Parallels Story

Lyric Parallels Story

Music was similarly

"Laura" and in the "Third Man

"Laura" but the milit was in

Theme, but the milit more the

the "High Noon" lim is more tricate. Neither of the other two

the "High Noon" lim is more tricate. Neither of the other two the lims, for instance, used a lyric

"The flick, "High Noon," however,

films, for instance, used a lyric

"The flick, "High Noon," however,

films, for instance, used a lyric

"The flick, "High Noon," but the no' only user's lyric (in) addition to elaborate mood usage, as laid to telaborate mood usage, as laid to taparallels the story of carl et alow in the screen play by Carl to lyric parallels the story alone to lyric parallels the story and lower and the production use, but to story and the story of the story of the story ince of merely advance the story of merely advance the

and soth. He story rely advance the story rely advance in this is the story line in this is the story line in this is remarkable in this is remarkable in the song of music and film, is the gof music and lifticult in two lifticults in the story lifticults in the story lifticults in the story. Ackerman.

CAPITOL RECORD

Capitol

Tex Ritter's background singing throughout the motion picture "HIGH NOON" is being hailed by critics everywhere as a major contribution to the success of this great film. Now he brings you the same stirring rendition on Capitol Records.

CAPITOL RECORD No. 2120 - F-2120

- LUNA ROSSA (Blushing Moon)
   The Voices of Walter Schumann
- SCATTER-BRAIN

Ray Anthony

You're driving me crazy!

Ray Anthony

• LOVE ME OR LEAVE ME

Ella Mae Morse

- YOU'RE DRIVING ME CRAZY!
- WINTER WONDERLAND

The Voices of Walter Schumann

HOLIDAY FOR STRINGS

The Voices of Walter Schumann

BREGMAN, VOCCO and CONN, Inc.
NEW YORK - CHICAGO - HOLLYWOOD

We Too, Add Our Congratulations!

NAT "King" COLE

BILLY MAY

JUNE CHRISTY

MEL TORME

Personal Management CARLOS GASTEL

CONGRATULATIONS

GLENN, JOHNNY, FLOYD, LEE, BILL, LLOYD, ALAN, DAVE, DAN, PAUL, HAL, and All the Other CAPITOL PEOPLE

It Takes GREAT MEN to Build A GREAT COMPANY.

You Have Made My Six Years With Capitol a Real Pleasure.

Jimmy Wakely

JIMMY WAKELY

TOP SELLING CAPITOL WESTERN ARTIST

Just Completed Engagement

at Ciro's

in

Hollywood

Latest CAPITOL Releases

"If You Would Only Be Mine"
"My Heart Has Room For You"
"Four-Legged Friend"
"There's A Cloud In My Valley Of Sunshine"
With BOB HOPE
"When I Say Goodnight"
"There's That Same Old

Lovelight In Your Eyes

Tonight"

STARRING

on

"Colemen's Corral"

KNXT

Hollywood

Tuesday 8:30 to 9 P.M. PDT

Direction#
MUSIC CORPORATION OF AMERICA
Beverly Hills, Calif.

Publicity: ROBERTS-BRADBURY 6335 Yucca St. Hollywood 28, Calif.

MILLS MUSIC salutes CAPITOL RECORDS

Currently Riding High with

"SMOKE RINGS"

LES PAUL - MARY FORD

"BLUE TANGO"

LES BAXTER, CHORUS and ORCHESTRA

CAPITOL Artists+MILLS music=SOLID ENTERTAINMENT

NAT COLE—"Home" • KAY STARR—"Nobody's Sweetheart"

• RAY ANTHONY—"Star Dust" • BILLY MAY—"When My Sugar Walks Down the Street" • DEAN MARTIN—"Who's Sorry Now" • DINNING SISTERS—"A Ghost of a Chance"

• JOE "FINGERS" CARR—"When You're Smiling" • HELEN O'CONNELL—"I'm Gettin' Sentimental Over You" • BEN LIGHT—"Mistakes" • GORDON MAC RAE—"I Surrender
Dear" • BOB CROSBY—"Lonesome and Sorry" • WALTER SCHUMANN—"Moonglow" • JOHNNY MERCER—"Waitin'
for the Evenin' Mail" • BUDDY COLE—"Sophisticated Lady"
for the Evenin' Mail" • BUDDY COLE—"Sophisticated Lady"

OLUIS CASTELUCCI—"Pavanne" • JAN GARBER—
"Dinah" • FREDDY SLACK—"Kitten on the Keys." • MICKEY KATZ—"Bagel Call Rag" • CLYDE MC COY—"Where's My Sweetie Hiding" • LES BAXTER—"Lost in Meditation" •

MARGARET WHITING & JIMMY WAKELY—"Maggie Blues"

• LES PAUL & MARY FORD—"Jealous"—And Many Others.

MILLS MUSIC, INC.

AMERICAN ACADEMY OF MUSIC, INC.

It Is a Great Pleasure for Us to Participate in

Tenth Anniversary Celebration

With Their

#1 SUMMER HIT

IN THE GOOD OLD SUMMER TIME

as inimitably recorded by

LES PAUL and MARY FORD

= 2 1 2 3

CONGRATULATIONS!

EDWARD B. MARKS MUSIC CORPORATION

RCA Bldg., Radio City, N. Y.

Harry Link, General Professional Manager

BEST WISHES CAPITOL RECORDS ON YOUR 10th ANNIVERSARY

TEX RITTER

I trust we will have 10 more pleasant years together.

Current Release

"HIGH NOON"

as he sings it in the Stanley Kramer picture, "High Noon."

Backed by

"Go On -- Get Out"

Harringay Arena – London, England for six weeks

		The same of a second section of the same o
Yitle		Artist
ADIOS		Gisele MacKenzie
AMOR		Andy Russell
ANYTIME	Foy Willir	g · Helen O'Connell
AUF WIEDERSEH'N,
BABALU		- Yma Sumaç
BEAUTIFUL BROWN	EYES	Jimmy Wakely
BECAUSE OF YOU		Les Baxter
BERMUDA		Norman Kaye
BESAME MUCHO		Andy Russell
BLACKSMITH BLUE	$	Ella Mae Morse
BONAPARTE'S RETI		* * Kay Starr
BOUQUET OF ROSE		Jimmy Wakely
BRAZIL		g Sisters • Les Paul
CANDY KISSES	4,111111	Eddie Kirk
CASTLE ROCK		Dave Barbour
CHATTANOOGIE SH	OE SHINI
C,		Skitch Henderson
COME ON-A MY HO	USE	Kay Starr

COOL WATER Tex Ritter - Dinning Sisters Nellie Lutcher The Four Knights CRY OF THE WILD GOOSE Tennessee Ernie DADDY June Christy - Stan Kenton DADDY'S LITTLE BOY Jan Garber DADDY'S LITTLE GIRL Skitch Henderson DETOUR Wesley Tuttle EASY STREET Billy May FOR SENTIMENTAL REASONS Nat King Cole FROSTY THE SNOWMAN Nat. King Cole GEORGIA ON'MY MIND Jo Stafford - Paul Weston GLOW WORM Chuy Reyes Alvino Rey - Johnny Mercer GOODNIGHT IRENE Jo Stafford GREEN.EYES Ben Light . Helen O'Connell HAMBONE Tennessee Frnie HAVE I TOLD YOU LATELY THAT I LOVE YOU Tex Ritter

HEY GOOD LOOKIN'

Tennessee Ernie -- Helen O'Connell HONEYMOON Kay Starr I DON'T KNOW ENOUGH ABOUT YOU

Peggy Lee- Dave Barbour I DREAM OF YOU Andy Russell I GET INFAS Peggy Lee I GUESS I'LL GET THE PAPERS

Hal Derwin - Frank DeVol I HEAR A RHAPSODY Ray Anthony I SEE A MILLION PEOPLE Peggy Lee

I WONDER WHO'S KISSING HER NOW Dinning Sisters I'LL NEVER LOVE AGAIN Andy Russell

I'M YOURS Les Baxter IN THE GOOD OLD SUMMERTIME Les Paul - Mary Ford

IT'S A BIG WIDE WONDERFUL WORLD Margaret Whiting - Frank DeVol

IT IS NO SECRET Joe' Allison IT'S NO SIN The Four Knights 1A77 ME BLUES Les Paul - Mary Ford JEALOUS HEART Tex Ritter . Jan Garber JUST A LITTLE LOVIN' Bob Crosby KENTUCKY WALTZ Tennessee Frnie KISS OF FIRE Les Baxter

580 Fifth Avenue

LAUCHING ON THE OUTSIDE Andy Russell LET'S GO TO CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY MORNING Margaret Whiting - Jimmy Wakely LONGING FOR YOU Les Baxter MAGIC IS THE MOONLIGHT Andy Russell MARIA ELENA Andy Russeli Ben Light MEXICALI ROSE . Skitch Henderson MISIRLOU M-1-S-S-1-S-S-1-P-P-1 Kay Starr MY ADOBE HACIENDA Dinning Sisters MY HEART SINGS Johnny Johnston NEGRA CONSENTIDA Andy Russell OAKIE BOOGIE Jack Guthrie - Ella Mae Morse OLD SHEP Wesley Tuttle OPEN THE DOOR RICHARD The Pied Pipers ORIGINAL DIXIELAND ONE-STEP Paul Weston Wingy Manone PAPER DOLL PARADE OF THE WOODEN SOLDIERS Orrin Hostetter

PERFIDIA Bob Savage The Pied Pipers PISTOL PACKIN' MAMA PLEASE, MR. SUN Les Baxter POINCIANA Benny Carter QUANTO LE GUSTA Jack Smith - Clark Sisters RAG MOP Roy Hogsed Trio The Starlighters - Paul Weston

ROOM FULL OF ROSES

SLOW POKE

Paul Weston - Starlighters SARI WALTZ Frank DeVol SIMILAU Peggy Lee SLIPPIN' AROUND Margaret Whiting - Jimmy Wakely

Helen O'Connell

SMOKE, SMOKE, SMOKE Tex Williams SO LONG Les Baxter SONG OF THE ISLANDS Bob Crosby HTIIO2 Pete Daily TAKE MY HEART Al Martino TELL ME WHY Norman Kaye TENNESSEE WALTZ Les Paul - Mary Ford THAT'S HOW MUCH I LOVE YOU Alvino Rey THE BEST MAN Nat King Cole THE BREEZE AND I Frank DeVol THE PEANUT VENDOR Buddy Cole THE ROVING KIND Les Baxter THE WEDDING SAMBA Chuy Reyes THERE'LL BE A HOT TIME IN THE

OLD TOWN TONIGHT Nappy LaMarre THERE'LL BE SOME CHANGES MADE Peggy Lee WAITIN' FOR THE TRAIN TO COMEAN Peggy Lee WE COULD MAKE SUCH BEAUTIFUL MUSIC

Billy Butterfield

WE'LL BE TOGETHER AGAIN

Pied Pipers - Paul Weston WHAT A DIFFERENCE A DAY MADE Andy Russell WHILE WE'RE YOUNG Pėggy Lee WITHOUT YOU Andy Russell YOU ARE MY SUNSHINE Dinning Sisters YOU ARE THE ONE Margaret Whiting YOU BELONG TO MY HEART Bob Eberly YOU WERE ONLY FOOLING Kay Starr YOU'RE BREAKING MY HEART Ian Garber YOURS Andy Russell

A Flack's Lament

By BUDDY BASCH. (N. Y. Publicist)

How come I never hear my records on the air? I listened to WNEW for a solid half hour and didn't hear one.

Why don't I read more gags about myself in the columns? Don't you know Earl Wilson?

What kind of a press agent are you? I've had you six weeks and not even a Life cover yet!

How about some disk jockey in-terviews? My record on the Meat-ball label is breaking big.

Just got back from Chittlin Switch, Alabama, where I was a big smash. Why didn't I see a thing in the papers there? (There is no paper there.)

Have you looked at the trade papers? My name hasn't been on those charts in weeks.

What do you mean you can't call for me in Mt. Vernon to take me to the Beauty Pageant in Coney Island? What do I pay you for anyhow? I want service.

I tell everyone I meet what a great publicity man you are. That's money in the bank for you. (Yeah, but send cash.)

Why don't you invite the top columnist to my country home for the weekend? They'll all be delighted to come if you say the invitation is from me.

I got something on this jockey, see, so you tell him he better start to play my disks.

What do those A&R men know? I oughta pick out all the tunes myself.

If you're a press agent and know veryone, how about getting me everyone, how about getti four for the Series opener?

Can you turn on the steam even more this week? I'm on the brink of a big contract and the publicity will cinch it.

Don't you know me, kid? I may not be able to pay you much now, but when I hit the big-time I'll re-member. you. We'll make money together.

You know what the trouble is with your office? You're handling too many boy singers (or girl singers, bands, sword swallowers, etc.) How can you concentrate on me?

Don't tell, me you're a press agent. If you were any good you'd have more clients.

Yeah, I asked you to set up some interviews, but can't you take it a little easy? I gotta have some time off.
Why should I pick up the check?
I'm a celebrity. Let the editor pay,

Look, kid. I'm older than you and I've been in the business longer. Let me tell you how publicity should be done.

ionger. Let me tell you how pushibity should be done. . . .

This next record coming out isn't so hot, but maybe if you don't tell the jockeys they won't know. Tell 'em it's gonna be big.

The record company is really behind this song. They're going all out to make this a smash, so you better get with them.

You may not get much money (Continued on page 54)

(Continued on page 54)

YOGI YORGESSON

(CURRENT TOPICAL SMASH RECORD)

I'M GOING TO VOTE REPUBLICAN I'M GOING TO VOTE FOR A DEMOCRAT

CAPITOL RECORDS

BROADCAST MUSIC,

TACIT MUSIC CO.

Capitol

AMERICA'S #1 BAND

Pérsonal Manager FRED BENSON Public Relations
HARRY SOBOL—New York
RED DOFF—Hollywood

Record Promotion
JIM McCARTHY

Direction

GAC SENSHAL AFTESTS ESPECRATION

FREDDIE SLACK

CURRENTLY

at the

CRESCENDO

HOLLYWOOD

Capitol Records

Personal Management
JUNE TEACHER 333 S. Beverly Dr. BEVERLY HILLS

Freddie Slack proving big hit in current engagement. With Slack is tille Mee Morse with he made the original .socke "Cow-Cow Boogle" disc.

Congratulations Capital!

BEN

AND HIS LIGHTENING FINGERS

Best Selling Album:

"JUKE-BOX FAVORITES"

Best Selling Record:

"PERFIDIA"

NEW CAPITOL ALBUM

To Be Released Soon

Direction:

MCA

New 'King'

VARIETY

gratifying as in the case of Herb Marks who observes, 'We start to work on a new tune and then along come Les Paul and Mary Ford with their version of 'In the Good Old Summertime' and we have an in-voluntary and totally unexpected hit out in left field."

Rewrite the Biz

hit out in left field."

Rewrite the Biz

From the diskery viewpoint, most of the a.&r. men are frank in advocating a "rewrite of the music business as it used to be." Says one executive, "Let us face it—the highpowered professional man just can't be so highpowered in this day and age. What live talent is there around for him to romance? The young kids who hang around with the disk jockeys do more good for current plug songs than landing that big Crosby or Dinah or Perry or Tony plug."

A vet music man, Abe Olman, g.m. of Robbins, Feist, and Miller, agrees by pointing to the fact he has a new crop of young songpliggers who are most sociable contact men who know how to stay up late with the late-hour deejays; know how to talk their language and know how to roll with the current moods and trends in music, be it that current yen for "high-note" or "big voice" stylist, or the jive-hound, the melodic school or the deejay who yens to "discover" things.

deejay who yens to discover things.

Fact is that where the music publishers used to make special arrangements, or even pay for atmospheric scenery for choice plugs in the old vaudeville days, in the new disk jockey days the publishers have a corps of special-material writers fashioning special patter, intros, openings, rehearsed ad libs and the like for the deejays.

The disk jock is "romanced" like the acts used to be. There are 400 key plugs who, if they lay on this or that platter, can help project it into the public consciousness. Where a professional man used to romance Nora Bayes, forday he romances Joe Needle-Impresario.

While one school of the publish-

day he romances Joe Needle-Impresario.

While one school of the publishing and writing fraternity scoffs, "The trouble is that these platter-chatterers don't know the music business," the more progressive of the veterans will concede, "Let's face it; with all the young singers coming up they naturally feel more comfortable with our younger staffers contacting them. They 'Mister' me and make me feel like an ak., and when I tell 'em to call me by my first name they're embarrassed. But our kids know how to handle these kids; they know their line of thinking in song styling; and, above all, we may just as well confess that our younger pluggers also have the pep and vinegar to stay up at all hours with them which we no longer have or should do, if we're to run a daytime business also. None of us has forgotten how one great music man thate) Lou Diamond (head of Paramount and Famous Music) tried and couldn't; at 47 his ticker got him!"

New Plug Techniques

New Plug Techniques

New Plug Techniques
In effect, most of the major publishing houses have reorganized their songplugging techniques.
There are still quite a few of the not-so-come-lately plugs around that warrant the full treatment—Bing, Jo Stafford, Como, Doris Day, Tony Martin; the Lombardos, Dinah Shore, Evelyn Knight, Patti Page, Waughn Monroe, Margaret Whiting, Nat Cole, Billy Eckstine, et al.—and of course there are the deejays. deejays.

deejays.

The singers or maestros start to think that now they know more than the a. & r. man; they decide to pick their own songs; perhaps this is where the inferior "angle" tunes crop up and seep through; and the a. & r. is the victim of indecision. He knows that if he indecision is a way to show that if he indecision is a way the sail sometimes; i.e., the artist is telling the production brains (recording chief) at the diskery what to shoot and what not to risk.

to risk.

But the vicious cycle comes back to the fact that, more than ever, an inanimate object — a Vinylite platter running under three mins, regardless of the 33, 45 or 78 rpm speed—is the new "king" of Tin Pan Alley. The pop music business seems to revolve almost entirely around their revolving blscuit.

America's Most Imitated Trumpeter

CLYDE McCOY

SUGAR BLUES orchestra

An Instantaneous Hit Seller!

"SUGAR BLUES" ALBUM

SUGAR BLUES BASIN STREET BLUES BLUES IN THE NIGHT LIMEHOUSE BLUES

THE MEMPHIS BLUES ST. LOUIS BLUES WABASH BLUES FAREWELL BLUES

Current Releases

TEAR IT DOWN WHERE'S MY SWEETIE HIDING?2138
I LOVE TO HEAR A CHOO CHOO TRAIN TO BE LOVED BY YOU2045
ALWAYS LATE (WITH YOUR KISSES) HELL'S BELLS
SUGAR BLUES BOOGIE I JUST LOVE AFFECTION
Direction: MCA

I'M MOVING ON MR. FLY-BY-NIGHT I WAS JUST WALKIN' OUT THE DOOR GOD'S LITTLE CANDLES

THE BOOM SONG WONDERING

.is TEN years old and we are only FOUR but in this short space of time we are proud to have contributed the following to CAPITOL'S CATALOGUE OF HITS,-

FARAWAY PLACES (Margaret Whiting)

RAMBLING ROSE (Gordon McRae and the Star Lighters)

I DON'T SEE ME IN YOUR EYES ANYMORE A-YOU'RE ADORABLE (Jo Stafford and Gordon McRae)

CAN ANYONE EXPLAIN (Ray Anthony)

BEYOND THE REEF (Margaret Whiting and Jimmy Wakely) ~ LL NEVER BE FREE (Kay Starr and Tennessee Ernie)

DEARIE (Jo Stafford and Gordon McRae)

JET (Nat King Cole)

KISSIN' BUG BOOGIE (Tennessee Ernie)

WHEEL OF FORTUNE (Kay Starr)

AUREL MUSIC CORPORATION

1619 Broadway

New York 19, N. Y.

FREDDIE SLACK

CURRENTLY

CRESCENDO

HOLLYWOOD

Capitol Records

Personal Management JUNE TEACHER 333 S. Beverly Dr. BEVERLY HILLS

Freddie Slack proving big hit in current engagement. Slack is Klia Mae Morse with he made the original secke "Cow-Cow Boogle" disc.

Congratulations Capital!

AND HIS LIGHTENING FINGERS

Best Selling Album:

"JUKE-BOX FAVORITES"

Best Selling Record:

"PERFIDIA"

NEW CAPITOL ALBUM

To Be Released Soon

Direction: MCA

New 'King'

gratifying as in the case of Herb Marks who observes, "We start to work on a new tune and then along come Les Paul and Mary Ford with their version of 'In the Good Old Summertime' and we have an in-voluntary and totally unexpected hit out in left field."

Rewrite the Biz

hit out in left field."

Rewrite the Biz

From the diskery viewpoint, most of the a.&r. men are frank in advocating a "rewrite of the music business as it used to be." Says one executive, "Let us face it—the highpowered professional man just can't be so highpowered in this day and age. What live talent is there around for him to romance? The young kids who hang around with the disk jockeys do more good for current plug songs than landing that big Crosby or Dinah or Perry or Tony plug."

A vet music man, Abe Olman, g.m. of Robbins, Felst, and Miller, agrees by pointing to the fact he has a new crop of young songpfuggers who are most sociable contact men who krow how to stay up late with the late-hour deejays; know how to talk their language and know how to roll with the current moods and trends in music, be it that current yen for "high-note" or "big volce" stylist, or the jive-hound, the melodic school or the deejay who yens to "discover" things.

Fact is that where the music publishers used to make special ar-

things.

Fact is that where the music publishers used to make special arrangements, or even pay for atmospheric scenery for choice plugs in the old vaudeville days, in the new disk jockey days the publishers have a corps of special-material writters fashioning special patter, intros, openings, rehearsed ad libs and the like for the deejays.

The disk jock is "romanced" like and the like for the deejays.

The disk jock is "romanced" like the acts used to be. There are 400 key plugs who, if they lay on this or that platter, can help project it into the public consciousness. Where a professional man used to romance Nora Bayes, foddy he romances Joe Needle-Impresario.

day he romances Joe Needle-Impresario.

While one school of the publishing and writing fraternity scoffs, "The trouble is that these platter-chatterers don't know the music business," the more progressive of the veterans will concede, "Let's face it; with all the young singers coming up they naturally feel more comfortable with our younger staffers contacting them. They 'Mister' me and make me feel like an a.k., and when I tell 'em to call me by my first name they're embarrassed. But our kids know how to handle these kids; they know their line of thinking in song styling; and, above all, we may just 'as well confess that our younger pluggers also have the pep and vinegar to stay up at all hours with them which we no longer have or should do, if we're to run a daytime business also. None of us has forgotten how one great music man (the late) Lou Diamond (head of Paramount and Famous Music) tried and couldn't; at 47 his ticker got him!"

New Plug Techniques

In effect, most of the major pub-

New Plug Techniques

New Plus Techniques
In effect, most of the major publishing houses have reorganized their songplugging techniques. There are still quite a few of the not-so-come-lately plugs around that warrant the full treatmenting, Jo Stafford, Como, Doris Day, Tony Martin; the Lombardos, Dinah Shore, Evelyn Knight, Patti Page, Vaughn Monroe, Margaret Whiting, Nat Cole, Billy Eckstine, et al.—and of course there are the deejays. deejays.

The singers or maestros start to think that now they know more than the a. & r. man; they decide to pick their own songs; perhaps this is where the inferior "angle" this is where the inferior "angle" tunes crop up and seep through; and the a. & r. is the victim of indecision. He knows that if he insists and, again, doesn't score, the artist will wall "another lemon," so he sits back and the dog starts to wag the tall sometimes; i.e., the artist is telling the production brains (recording chief) at the diskery what to shoot and what not to risk.

to risk.

But the vicious cycle comes back to the fact that, more than ever, an inanimate object — a Vinylite platter running under three mins, regardless of the 33, 45 or 78 rpm speed—is the new "king" of Tin Pan Alley. The pop music business seems to revolve almost entirely around their revolving biscuit.

America's Most Imitated Trumpeter

CLYDE McCOY

SUGAR BLUES orchestra

An Instantaneous Hit Seller!

"SUGAR BLUES" ALBUM

SUGAR BLUES BASIN STREET BLUES BLUES IN THE NIGHT LIMEHOUSE BLUES

THE MEMPHIS BLUES ST. LOUIS BLUES WABASH BLUES FAREWELL BLUES

Current Releases

TEAR IT DOWN WHERE'S MY SWEETIE HIDING?	2138
I LOVE TO HEAR A CHOO CHOO TRAIN TO BE LOVED BY YOU	2045
ALWAYS LATE (WITH YOUR KISSES) HELL'S BELLS	1988
SUGAR BLUES BOOGIE I JUST LOVE AFFECTION	1937
Direction: MCA

I'M MOVING ON MR. FLY-BY-NIGHT I WAS JUST WALKIN' OUT THE DOOR GOD'S LITTLE CANDLES THE BOOM SONG

WONDERING

is TEN years old and we are only FOUR but in this short space of time we are proud to have contributed the following to CAPITOL'S CATALOGUE OF HITS,

FARAWAY PLACES (Margaret Whiting)

RAMBLING ROSE (Gordon McRae and the Star Lighters)

I DON'T SEE ME IN YOUR EYES ANYMORE A-YOU'RE ADORABLE (Jo Stafford and Gordon McRae)

CAN ANYONE EXPLAIN (Ray Anthony)

BEYOND THE REEF (Margaret Whiting and Jimmy Wakely) LL NEVER BE FREE (Kay Starr and Tennessee Ernie)

DEARIE (Jo Stafford and Gordon McRae)

KISSIN' BUG BOOGIE (Tennessee Ernie) JET (Nat King Cole)

WHEEL OF FORTUNE (Kay Starr)

AUREL MUSIC CORPORATION

1619 Broadway

New York 19, N. Y.

Congratulations

MR. and MRS. JOE "FINGERS" CARR"

*Alias Margaret Whiting and Lou Busch

Congratulations CAPITOL RECORDS

On Your 10th Anniversary

JIMMY BRYANT

#2057 Yodeling Guitar Bryant's Shuffle

TENNESSEE ERNIE

#2170 Tennessee Local Blackberry Boogie

GENE O'QUIN

#2075 Mobilin' Baby I'll Never Be the Same

CLIFFIE STONE

#1960 Carolina Waltz Dead End Street

BILLY STRANGE

#2112 | Love You 24 Hours a Day Hill Train

SPEEDY WEST

#2160 Georgia Street Guitar Midnight Ramble

ON HOMETOWN JAMBOREE KXLA and KLAC-TV

Billy May Pulls 2,500 Payees in Pitt. 1-Niter

Pittsburgh, July 29. Billy May, coming back to his home town again, cracked another hallroom record here last week when he drew more than 2,500 paid admissions on his one-nighter at Kennywood Park. It was the high mark of the season so far at the big amusement center, topping even the Vaughn Monroe business. Earlier in the summer. May played another local park, West View, and broke all attendance figures there, too, for the season.

First engagement May played in Pittsburgh since leaving here and subsequently hitting the bigtime was in April with the Patti Page-Frankie Laine package at The Gar-

Flack's Lament = Continued from page 50 =

for handling me, but think of the

Would you run to the bank and cash this check for me and bring the money to my hotel, then stop at the dressmaker, pick up my eight new gowns and then drop off my contract at GAC? It'll only take you a second.

I got a lot of money behind me and my managers are gonna push me right to the top. You'll see.

I've got so much talent. 'So, how come I'm not working?

Know how you can be popular? I've just written this song and naturally I can't do it myself. But you can give it to all your other clients and tell them to do it.

Darling, don't tell me my latest record isn't my greatest. That depresses me terribly.

What have you gotten me this year besides my birthday in Nick Kenny twice?

Why can't you run this bet to my bookmaker? What kind of an office do you run?

Tell the publisher I've done him a favor to record his song and he better drop everything and get on this. If he doesn't, I'll never do another tune of his . . . you tell him that.

Listen, you ought to be grateful you're handling me. When the news gets around it will make you a big man.

a big man.

I want you to call every booker in town and tell them to catch my new act. Yeah, I know that's not a press agent's function, but you can do me a little favor can't you?

You just get me on a record label and I'll take care of you.

Capitol's Best Sellers of the Decade

(Flip Sides In Italics) 1. TWELFTH STREET RAG .... Somebody Else, Not Me MANANA
All Dressed Up With Broken Heart ...... Peggy Lee SLIPPING AROUND ..... Margaret Whiting-Jimmy Wakely Wedding Bells HOW HIGH THE MOON ...... Les Paul-Mary Ford Walking And Whistling Blues

WHEEL OF FORTUNE ...... Kay Star I Wanna Love You Fer Seventy Mental Reasons TEMPTATION

MOCKIN' BIRD HILL Les Paul-Mary For Chicken Reel

ATCHISON, TOPEKA, & SANTA FE. Johnny Mercer-Pied Piper Conversion While Dancing WORLD IS WAITING FOR SUNRISE .... Les Paul-Mary For

COW COW BOOGIE .... Ella Mae Morse-Freddie Slac Here You Are PERSONALITY .....Johnny Mercer-Pied Piper

If I Knew Then The Best Man
WHISPERING HOPE Jo Stafford-Gordon MacRa
A Thought In My Heart
MY HAPPINESS Pied Piper
Highway To Love

MY DARLING, MY DARLING .... Jo Stafford-Gordon MacRa Girls Were Made To Take Care Of Boys ACCENTUATE THE POSITIVE ... Johnny Mercer-Pied Piper There's A Fellow Waiting In Poughkeepsie

Love Me Or Leave Me

TENNESSEE WALTZ
Little Rock Getaway

DOCTOR, LAWYER, INDIAN CHIEF
A Square In The Social Circle

MY SUGAR IS SO REFINED
Johnny Merce MY SUGAR IS SO REFINED ...... Johnny Merce Ugly Chile

THE HOUSE OF BLUE LIGHTS ... Ella Mae Morse-Freddie Slac Hey Mr. Postman .Kay Starr-Tennessee Ern

HE'S A REALI GONE GUY
Let Me Love You Tonight
SERENADE OF THE BELLS
The Gentleman Is A Dope
THE COLOR TO THE SOLVE

THE CHRISTMAS SONG......
In The Cool Of The Evening .....King Cole Tr THE OPPOSITION'S HEART IN ATLANTIC CITY BY — ESTABLISHING

NEW RECORD
AT THE

500 CLUB

AL MARTINO

TAKE MY HEART

LATEST
CAPITOL
RELEASE

Sweet-HEART of an engagement at the PARAMOUNT

NEW YORK
OPENING
IN THE FALL
1952

Kept the HEART beating in the nation's RECORD Stores and JUKE BOXES with

> HERE IN MY HEART

Jocks, Jukes and Disks

By HERM SCHOENFELD

Guy Mitchell: "Feet Up". "Jenny Kissed Me" (Columbia). The Guy Mitchell-Mitch Miller and song-writer Bob Me_rill combo has come up with another sock item in "Feet Up." It's another bright folk-styled number which Mitchell rides with an ingratiatingly open-voiced attack against one of Miller's horn and choral backgrounds. It's a natural for the jukes. "Jenny Kissed Me" is a beautifully adapted ballad, also executed finely by Mitchell with a haunting soprano voice in the background.

Tony Bavaar: "Blue Tango". "Blue Tango" which has been riding high as an instrumental, should get further impetus via this Mitchell Parish lyric version. Tony Bavaar handles it with a strong interpretation which should get plenty of spins. Reverse is in the big ballad genge grooved for Bavaar's well-conditioned pipes. Bavaar is one of those singers who's due for a smash hit sooner or later and either one of these sides could be it.

Fran Warren - Woody Herman.

Fromer Members of the losth relations with the soon was the losth relation with the sounds" test. It could be big. Reverse is the light relation of the familiar "Carmen" aria. A good linke item.

it.
Fran Warren - Woody Herman:
"Former Members of the 106th Division"."One For the Wonder"
(M-G-M). This is an unusual tandem of voices but it could pay-off, Fran Warren and blues-voiced
Woody Herman work over "106th Infantry," a boogle-styled march tune with putter interludes, with an infectious beat that overcomes

oatune but more obviously contrived than "Mustard."

Andrews Sisters: "Adios"-"Carmen's Boogie" (Deccal. Andrews Sisters, who have been absent from the hit lists for some time, come up with a contemporary-grooved slice in "Adios." Both in the Latin syncopation and over-wrought vocal and instrumental background, this side passes the "new sounds" test, It could be big. Reverse is an eight-to-the-bar adaptation of the familiar "Carmen" aria. A good juke item.

Woody Herman's New Third Herd: "Jump In the Line"-"Stompin' At the Savoy" (Mars). Woody Herman bows in on his own indie label with an infectious Calppso vocal on "Jump In The Line" but it's not any number to set the mar- (Continued on page 62)

Valando

Songs With Largest Radio Audience
The top 30 songs of week (more in case of ties), based on copyrighted Audience Coverage Index & Audience Trend Index.
Published by Office of Research, Inc., Dr. John Gray Peatman, Director. Alphabetically listed.

Survey Week of July 18-24 A Girl A Fella A Reach Umbrella

A GIFI A Felia A Beach Umbrella
Auf Wiedersehn Sweetheart	Hill & R
Be Anything (But Be Mine)	Shapiro-B
Blue Tango	Mills
Delicado	Remick
Easy Street	Johnstone-M
For the Very First Time	Berlin
Forgive Me	Advanced
Half As Much	Acuff-R
Hand of Fate	General
Here Comes That Mood	Life
Here In My Heart	Mellin
How Close	Life
I'll Walk Alone	Mayfair
I'm Yours
In The Good Old Summer Time	. Marks
Just A Little Lovin'	Hill & R
Just For You	Burvan
Kiss Of Fire	.Duchess
Luna Rossa	.Bregman-V
Maybe
Rosanne
Singin' In The Rain — "Singin' In The Rain"
So Madly In Love	Shapiro-B
Somewhere Along Way	United
Sweetest Words I Know	. Life
Vanessa	. Morris
Walkin' My Baby Back Home	DeSylva-B-H
Wish You Were Here-*"Wish You Were Here"
Zing a Little Zong—†"Just For You"	.Burvan
Second Group	Ī
Am I In Love-+"Son of Paleface"	. Famous

Zing a Little Zong—i Just For Ton	Duivan
Second Group
Am I In Love-+ "Son of Paleface"	Famous
Anytime
Botch-A-Me
Busybody	Alamo
From Time You Say Goodbye	Pickwick
Glow Worm	Marks
High Noon—†"High Noon"	Feist
If Someone Had Told Me	Witmark
Once In a While	Miller
Padam Padam
Plink Plank Plunk	Mills
Poinciana	Marks
Scatterbrain
Smoke Rings	Am Academy
Some Day	Famous
There's Doubt In My Mind	Peer
South	BMI
To Be Loved By You	Remick
Watermelon Weather	Morris
Whistle My Love	Disney
Why Did You Leave Me	Roncom
Ton 10 Songs On TV

TOP TO BONGS ON IN

Am I In Love	Famous
Auf Wiedersehn Sweetheart	17:11 #. D
Forgive Me	Advenced
Here In My Heart	Muyanceu
I Love Girls	Meinn
Mayba	Ardmore
Maybe	Robbins
nosanne	ARC
So Madly In Love	Shapiro-B
Sugar Busir	Cabinnaan
What Good Is A Gal	Miller
FIVE TOP STANDARDS	11211101
Country Style
Country Style	Burke
101 10u	Y1714
I'll Guilla Wille Myself A Letter	Dann
Citatinental Journey	Reameter.
There'll Be A Hot Time In The Old Town	Monles
	mar v2

† Filmusical. * Legit musical.

VARIETY Scoreboard

TOP TALENT AND TUNES

Compiled from Statistical Reports of Distribution Encompassing the Three Major Outlets

Coin Machines

I'M YOURS .... DELICADO

BOTCH-A-ME

BLUE TANGO .....

8

Q

Retail Disks

Retail Sheet Music

as Published in the Current Issue

--- WEEK ENDING JULY 26 **--

NOTE: The current comparative sales strength of the Artists and Tunes listed hereunder is arrived at under a statistical system comprising each of the three major sales outlets enumerated above. These findings are correlated with data from wider sources, which are exclusive with Variery. The positions resulting from these findings denote the OVERALL IMPACT developed from the ratio of points scored two ways in the case of talent (disks, coin machines), and three ways in the case of tunes (disks, coin machines, sheet music).

TALENT

		I PALSELLA I
This	rions Last
week.	week.	ARTIST AND LABEL
1	1	ROSEMARY CLOONEY (Columbia) {Half as Much Botch-A-Mę
		POLCU-W-IME
2	2	VERA LYNN (London) Auf Wiederseh'n Sweetheart
3	3	PERCY FAITH (Columbia) Delicado	1
4	5	JOHNNIE RAY (Columbia)	2
5	4	AT MEADOWING (DDG)
_	_	AL MARTINO (BBS) Here in My Heart
6	9	TONY MARTIN (Victor) Kiss of Fire
7	8	GEORGIA GIBBS (Mercury)
•	0	Make Me Love You
8	6	EDDIE FISHER (Victor) (I'm Yours Wish You Were Here
o	U	Wish You Were Here
9		FRANKIE LAINE-D. DAY (Columbia) Sugarbush
10		(Somewhere Along Way	y
10		NAT (KING) COLE (Capitol)	ė
		TUNES
POST	TIONS	TONES
This	Last
	week.	TUNE PUBLISHER
1	1	AUF WIEDERSEH'N SWEETHEART Hill-R
2	3	HALF AS MUCH Acuff-R	-R
3	2	KISS OF FIRE
4	5	WALKIN' MY BABY BACK HOME DeSylva-B-H	-H
_		36 13

VARIETY 10 Best Sellers on Coin-Machines Week of July 19

HERE IN MY HEART ..... Mellin

1. HALF AS MUCH (7) (Acuff-R) Rosemary Clooney Columbia 2. AUF WIEDERSEHN (6) (Hill-R) Vera Lynn London
2. AUF WIEDERSEHN (6) (Hill-R)
2. AUF WIEDERSEHN (6) (Hill-R)
3. KISS OF FIRE (13) (Duchess)
4. HERE IN MY HEART (10) (Mellin) S. Leckstine MGM Al Martino BBS Tony Bennett Columbia 5. DELICADO (9) (Witmark) S. Kenton Capitol 6. WALKIN' MY BABY BACK HOME (10) (DeSylva-B-H) Johnnie Ray Columbia 7. BOTCH-A-ME (4) (Hollis) Rosemary Clooney Columbia 8. I'M YOURS (12) (Algonquin) Don Cornell Coral Eddie Fisher Victor  P. BUILT TANCO (10) (Wills) Lecture Columbia Decca
4. HERE IN MY HEART (10) (Mellin) S. Leckstine MGM Al Martino BBS Tony Bennett Columbia 5. DELICADO (9) (Witmark) S. Kenton Capitol 6. WALKIN' MY BABY BACK HOME (10) (DeSylva-B-H) Johnnie Ray Columbia 7. BOTCH-A-ME (4) (Hollis) Rosemary Clooney Columbia 8. I'M YOURS (12) (Algonquin) Don Cornell Coral Eddie Fisher Victor  P. BUILT TANCO (10) (Wills) Lecture Columbia Decca
4. HERE IN MY HEART (10) (Mellin) SAl Martino BBS Tony Bennett Columbia 5. DELICADO (9) (Witmark) P. Faith Columbia S. Kenton Capitol S. Kenton Capitol Johnmie Ray Columbia Nat (King) Cole Capitol Rosemary Clooney Columbia 8. I'M YOURS (12) (Algonquin) Don Cornell Coral Eddie Fisher Victor P. BUILT TANCO (19) (Wills) Lecture Columbia Decca
5. DELICADO (9) (Witmark) { Tony Bennett   Columbia   P. Faith   Columbia   P. Faith   Columbia   P. Faith   Columbia   P. Faith   Columbia   Capitol   Capi
5. DELICADO (9) (Witmark). P. Faith Columbia S. Kenton Capitol S. Kenton Capitol Office of the Columbia S. Kenton Capitol S. Kenton Columbia S. Kenton Columbia Nat. (King) Cole Capitol Nat. (King) Cole Capitol Rosemary Clooney Columbia Don Cornell Coral Eddie Fisher Victor S. P. M. YOURS (12) (Algonquin) S. P. M. YOURS (12) (Algonquin) S. P. M. YOURS (13) (Wille) S. P. M. YOURS (14) (Wille) S. P. M. YOURS (15) (Wille) S. P. M. YOURS (16) (Wille) S. P. M. YOURS (17) (Wille) S. P. M. YOURS (18) (Wille) S. M. YOURS (18) (Wille) S. M. YOURS (18) (Wille) S. M. YOURS (19) (Wille) S. W. YOURS (19
6. WALKIN' MY BABY BACK HOME (10) (DeSylva-B-H)    7. BOTCH-A-ME (4) (Hollis)
6. WALKIN' MY BABY BACK HOME (10) (DeSylva-B-H)    7. BOTCH-A-ME (4) (Hollis)
7. BOTCH-A-ME (4) (Hollis) Rosemary Clooney Columbia 8. PM YOURS (12) (Algonquin) Don Cornell Coral Feddie Fisher Victor Cheroy Anderson Decca
7. BOTCH-A-ME (4) (Hollis) Rosemary Clooney Columbia 8. PM YOURS (12) (Algonquin) Don Cornell Coral Feddie Fisher Victor Cheroy Anderson Decca
8. PM YOURS (12) (Algonquin)
+ 9 RITTE TANCO (10) (Wille) - Leroy Anderson Decca T
+ 9 RITTE TANCO (10) (Wille) - Leroy Anderson Decca T
T 9. BLUE TANGO (19) (Mills)
Hugo Winterhalter Victor I
10. SUGARBUSH (1) (Schirmer) Frankie Laine D. Day. Columbia
I
Second Group
MAYBE (4) (Robbins)
TILL THE END OF THE WORLD (Southern) Bing Crosby-G. Martin. Decca
SMOKE RINGS (Am Academy) Les Paul-Mary Ford Capitol
LOYER (5) (Famous) Peggy Lee G. Jenkins Decca
WALKIN' TO MISSOURI (Hawthorne)
FOOL, FOOL, FOOL (Progressive)
BIRDS AND BEES (Duchess)
PLL WALK ALONE (10) (Mayfair)
Richard Haves Mercury +
I LOVE GIRLS (Ardmore) Arthur Godfrey Columbia
I I MAY HATE MYSELF IN THE MORNING (Valando) Betty McClaurinDerby I (Nat (King) Cole Capitol +
† Tony BennettCommon +
I MAKE ME LOVE YOU (Pickwick) Georgia Gibbs Mercury T
BLACKSMITH BLUES (Hill-R) Ella Mae Morse Capitol
A GUY IS A GUY (9) (Ludlow)
Figures in parentheses indicate number of weeks song has been in the Top 101

0. SUGARBUSH (1) (Schirmer)	Frankie Laine-D. Day . Columbia ‡
Second Group
IAYBE (4) (Robbins).  IONKY TONK ANGELS (Peer-Int'l).  ILL THE END OF THE WORLD (Southern).  MOKE RINGS (Am Academy).  OVER (5) (Famous).  VALKIN' TO MISSOURI (Hawthorne).  OOL, FOOL, FOOL (Progressive).  ERDS AND BEES (Duchess)	P. Como-E. Fisher Victor Kitty Wells Decca Bing Crosby-G. Martin Decca Les Paul-Mary Ford Capitol Reggy Lee-G. Jenkins Decca Sammy Kaye Columbia Kay Starr Capitol Three Suns Victor
LL WALK ALONE (10) (Mayfair) {  LOVE GIRLS (Ardmore) }  MAY HATE MYSELF IN THE MORNING (Valando)	Don Cornell
OMEWHERE ALONG THE WAY (United).  AAKE ME LOVE YOU (Pickwick).  CLACKSMITH BLUES (Hill-R).  A GUY IS A GUY (9) (Ludlow).  UFigures in parentheses indicate number of weeks fong h	Nat (King) Cole Capitol Tony Bennett Columbia Georgia Gibbs Mercury Ella Mae Morse Capitol Doris Day Columbia
a spares in parcititieses indicate number of weeks song in	us been in the lop in

TV DISK JOCK COMES INTO OWN

SPA to Launch Spot-Check On Music Pubs' Royalties Due Members

writers Protective Assn. is innovating a system of spot-checking of music publishers' books for royalties due its writer-members. Step marks the first time SPA has used this procedure although the SPA right to audit has been part of its basic agreement with publishers for many years.

for many years.

SPA is planning to cover from three to five pub firms monthly with Ted Gurian, regular SPA auditor, to handle the assignment. Pubs will be selected at random unless there is a specific complaint at any one publisher. The audit will cover only current royalties by weather.

writers.

Gurian's audit will be supplemented by book checkup being done by Ed Traubner and Dave Blau. Latter are handling such questions as royalties from lyric book publications and foreign earnings since 1942. Only a few top publishers are involved in the Traubner-Blau checkup while Gurian will comb through the books of all the publishers in the field which have agreements with SPA.

Publishers are not avacated to field which have agreements with SPA.

Publishers are not expected to throw any blocks at the SPA audit. In recent years, relationships between SPA and the pubs have been amicable despite some minor disagreement on interpretations of the 1947 contract. These differences, however, were erased this month after negotiations between SPA and the Music Publishers Frotective Assn.

It's known that SPA excess are not interested in squeezing any publisher out of business by insisting on immediate payments of royalties due. Some pubs have been pilling up substantial debts to writers but SPA has been coperative wherever pubs showed a willingness to pay at the earliest opportunity. SPA is mostly concerned with getting an honest count on royalties for its writermembers.

Pop Programs Run Ahead Of Longhair at Stadium: Kern-Hammerstein Tops

Kern-Hammerstein Tops
Lewisohn Stadium's 35th season, coming to a close this Saturday (2) in N. Y., has proved several points. Pop nights in the longhair series are drawing as strongly as ever, are outdrawing the star-studded serious programs, and have established themselves as part of the Stadium repertory and of N. Y.'s summer music scene.

Top night this season has been the Kern-Hammerstein program, with Jane Pickens, Carol Bruce, William Warfield and David Poleri, which drew a little over 16,000 payees. The Gershwin Night, with Oscar Levant as soloist, drew about 16,000. The Lily Pons-Andre Kostelanetz program, with lighter fare predominating, drew 13,000, and the Rise Stevens-Kosty night pulled 12,500. A ballet night drew 12,000; a Vlenna night 15,000. Closing night this Saturday, with a Rodgers-Hammerstein program, sexpected to be near the record top, from past years' indications.

Where the Kern-Hammerstein Gershwin programs drew 16,000 payees, there were only two longhair evenings that approached this mark. A Beethoven program with Yehudi Menuthin as soloist and Pierre Monteux as conductor drew 13,000, and opening night, with Marian Anderson as soloist, pulled slightly more. There were no other big symphonic night crowds. A "Carmen" concert-form program drew 6,500. Program with Mischa Elman as soloist drew 6,500.

Not only have pop programs outdrew the symphonic, but they've

SPA's 20th Anni

This summer marks the 20th anni of the formation of the Songwriters Protective Assn. which has grown from 55 which has grown from 55 members to over 2,000 in the two-decade span.

two-decade span.

It was organized by Billy Rose, Edgar Leslie and George Meyer, with the support of a dozen top writers, as a reaction to a suggestion by one top publisher that all dividends from the American Society, of Composers, Authors & Publishers go to pubs who would then pay off the writers.

Major gains for the writers

Major gains for the writers under SPA basic contracts have involved the raising of the writers' sh are from mechanical usages from one-third to one-half and the return of foreign rights after the first copyright term has expired.

Col Preps First Band - Building With Lowry Orch

Following the pattern set by RCA Victor and Capitol Records, Columbia Records is embarking on its first band-building project with a new orch headed by a relative unknown, Art Lowry. Lowry, who maestroed a rhumba band in Havana several years ago, is being groomed by the diskery with a heavy promotion campaign. The band will have a commercial swing format framed around Lowry at the keyboard keyboard.

the keyboard.

Columbia has set an early release on four sides by Lowry.
Band promotion was kicked off when the diskery footed all expensed for Lowry's trip to St. Louis and Philadelphia, where Col execs were holding meetings with the territorial distribs and sales personnel.

RCA Victor carried off the first band promotion, with the Ralph Flanagan orch, following with Buddy Morrow's band and most recently with the Sauter-Finnegan organization. Capitol also hit with the Ray Anthony and Billy May aggregations. Columbia entered the band sweepstakes as a result of pressure from distribs who wanted a similar young orch on wax under the Col label.

Lowry, a Brooklyn-born musi-cian, studied with Ferde Grofe and will handle his own arranging.

Remick, Mayfair, Marks Infringement Actions

Remick Music filed suit in N. Y. Federal Court against Frank Camperengo, operator of the Sky Top Hotel, Roscoe, N. Y., for allegedly using its copyrighted tune, "Sepusing its copyrighted tune, "September in the Rain," without a license. At the same time last week, Mayfair Music filed an action against Leo Fleisher, operator of a Parksville, N. Y., hotel, for allegedly infringing on its "I'll Walk Alone" copyright without permission.

In a similar action, Edward B. Marks charged NBC and Benton & Bowles ad agency with using its "Sari" without consent. Marks alleges the defendants enfringed on the operetta's grand rights via its performance over the NBC show. "The Rallroad Hour."

Mitch Miller, Columbia Records artists and repertoire chief, re-turned to the N.Y. homeoffice Monday (28) after a three-week visit to the Coast.

PUBS EYE THEM AS HIT-MAKERS

The video disk jockey is rapidly coming into his own as a potent force in the platter market. Although not yet as numerous or influential as the deejays on the sightless kilocycles, the TV jocks are making their impact felt as an important contributory factor in the hit-making process.

Currently, there are seven TV jockeys in the east who are being romanced by the disk jockeys and the songpluggers. Pioneer of the group is Art Lamb who launched his TV deejay stint on WTTC in Washington three years ago. Since then, he has been joined by Don Russell and Bill Silbert on WABD. Freddle Robbins on WOR-TV, Paul Brenner on WATV (off for the summer months), Ted Steele on WPIX and Paul Dixon on ABC-TV.

The TV jocks are important to Paul Brenner on WATV (off for the summer months), Ted Steele on WPIX and Paul Dixon on ABC-TV.

The TV jocks are important to the diskeries because of their immediate label identification. Don Russell, for instance, shows a picture of the record label before spinning his disks on WABD. Artists also get a more impressive showcasing on their guest stints on these video shows.

The TV jocks, of course, are faced with the problem of coming up with visual gimmicks to accompany their platter spinning. All of tilem use cuffo guest shots by the disk vocalists while Ted Steele. on WPIX goes in for a technique of mouthing the vocal while the disk is being played. Contests with studio participants are also employed occasionally.

Musical vidfilm briefles, such as Snader Telescriptions and others, are being widely used also by the deejays. (See story in TV-Film Section).

As yet, the TV jockeys can make no claims to putting over of any deejays. See story in TV-Film Section).

As yet, the TV jockeys can make no claims to putting over of any song since their total audience can in no way compare to the more than 3,000 deejays on the indie radio stations. The video jocks, however, are expected to increase in number, especially in the afternoon and late hour segments where inexpensive programming is imperative. At such time, it's believed that the platter spins on video will equal the power of the radio deejay plugs.

Lanza's Illness Stalls 1st Album Under New Pact

- Hollywood, July 29.

Mario Lanza falled to show for his first recording date last Thursday (24) under his new RCA Victor deal, hanging up a 30-man chorus and 54-piece orchestra for an $8,000 loss to the diskery. Session was to be held at Republic studios, where Victor does its bigcast cutting on the Coast, but Lanza bowed out on the grounds of illness, too late for Victor to cancel the musicians under the 24-hour notice regulation. Victor proceeded to cut the soundtracks (a Metro filmusical, "Because You're Mine") anyway, with plans to dub Lanza's voice in later. If it works out, overtime rates to musicians will cost Victor at least $4,000 but will cut down on the $8,000 loss.

Lanza's illness had also delayed soundtracking "The Student Prince" on the Metro lot where a 45-man crew was hung up the week before.

Lanza's new Victor deal was only before.

Lanza's new Victor deal was only set last week. RCA's Manie Sacks purposely had stayed over for the "Mine" album date but has since returned to New York.

New Chi Pubbery

Chicago, July 29.
A new firm, Murray Hill Music, was formed last week by Benn
Reyes, Mike Shore and Art
Schurgin.

Music Merchants in Record Turnout; Optimistic Over Future Business

Political Dragtime
Both the Republican and Democratic national conventions in the past few weeks added to the headaches of the music biz this summer. Due to extensive coverage of the political sessions by the networks, most of the music shows were off the air and plurging activities fell off to a plugging activities fell off to a minimum.

Relationships between air

Relationsings between air plugs and sales were sharply demonstrated during the con-ventions when the turnover of sheet music also fell to a new low point for the sum-mer.

ASCAP Wins 1st

Tilt Vs. TV Indies On Licensing Fee

American Society of Composers, Authors & Publishers last week won the first round in its court battle with indie television stations over music licensing fees. Prelim victory was the result of a decision by N. Y. Federal Judge Henry W. Goddard that the video outlets have to answer a questionnaire on their programming operations and financial setup which was submitted to them by ASCAP. Judge Goddard ruled that the information which ASCAP requested was necessary for the determination of proper licensing fees. The information which ASCAP wanted covered complete program logs for specified periods, data of program content in several program categories, an identification of the licensor whenever music is played, card rate schedules, gross billings and other material tion of the licensor whenever music is played, card rate schedules, gross billings and other material which the court found was essential in the dispute. Judge Goddard is acting as arbitrator in the license fee dispute as provided for in the 1950 ASCAP antitrust decree license fee dispute as provided for in the 1950 ASCAP antitrust decree.

Virtually all of the objections to the ASCAP question by the indie stations, who are repped by legalites Stuart Sprague and former Federal Judge Simon H. Rifkind, were disallowed by Judge Goddard. Latter, however, that the financial data supplied by the indie outlets should be keyed so that identification of the stations would be kept confidential.

Dispute Involves 55 TV stations, just half of the 110 stations now in operation, who rejected the ASCAP's per-program licensing rates as unreasonably high. Under the consent decree, either party in the dispute has the right to submit such a dispute to the Federal court. ASCAP currently has blanket licensing arrangements with the network outlets. Any decision in the current case will be retroactive to Jan. 1, 1949.

The ASCAP legal battery included Theodore Kiendl, of Davis, Polk, Wardwell, Sunderland & Klendl; Ambrose Cram, assistant to the late Judge Robert Patterson who was handling the case for ASCAP until his death; and Herman Finkelstein, ASCAP counsel.

David J. Finn Moves Into RCA Sales Spot

David J. Finn, RCA Victor's ad manager, has been moved over to the company's custom record division where he'll take over the sales manager spot. Finn will work under J. P. Davis, chief of the custom record division, according to Paul A. Barkmeier, v.p. over Victor's disk operation.

Custom record department han dles broadcast transcriptions, slidefilm disks and pressings for other labels.

hibitors and visitors at the opening sessions, optimism over future business possibilities is highlighting the convention of the National Assn, of Music Merchants conven-Assn. of Missic Merchants convention at the Hotel New Yorker, N. Y., this week. Four-day convention, the NAMM's 51st, has drawn over 225 exhibitors with over 5,000 music industryites, mostly on the retail level, expected to register.

mostly on the retail level, expected to register.

Although the outlook is regarded as promising, the convention was warned by NAMM prexy Ray Erlandsom that aggressive selling would be necessary to overcome a general "pocketbook strike" on the part of consumers. Erlandson, however, pointed out that high employment should guarantee the existence of spending money despite the temporary slowdown of retail buying.

General music business for the first half of 1952 fell off from the same period last year but Erlandson stated that a "hard sell" attitude could drive revenues upwards. He said that "some aggressive dealers have pushed business to 30% above a comparable month in the previous year, but only because they worked like the devil for it."

Disk retailers and several indie platter labels, which are exhibiting, were generally concerned with the effect of the Federal "fair trade" law on business. Reaction to the new law was nixed with several retailers expressing the view that sales would drop off considerably if the discounts were eliminated. One retailer pointed out that the long-play platters only achieved a mass market as a result of the price cuts instituted by Sam Goody, N. Y. retailer. A suggested solution was lower disk prices with the same 40% profit spread for retailers.

The exhibits this year are cover-retailers.

The exhibits this year are covering a wide range of musical products with most of the instrument, radio-TV, disk and accessory merchandise manufacturers represented. Only Columbia Records, of the major disk companies, did not have an exhibit booth.

About a half-dozen publishers of standard and educational music also were represented with one company, Rite-Way Music Supply, demonstrating a new sheet music display counter suitable for disk retail stores.

Auld Asks 150G For Selling His Platters As Sarah Vaughan Album

Los Angeles, July 29.

Los Angeles, July 29.

Charging that platters he made four years ago are now being marketed without credit, orch leader Georgie Auld filed a $150.000 damage suit in L. A. Superior Court against Loew's, Inc., and its subsidiary M-G-M Records. Auld also asked a permanent injunction halting distribution of the records.

halting distribution of the records.

Auld contends that in 1948, under terms of a recording pact with Musicraft, he etched 48 tunes including "A Hundred Years from Today" and "You're Blase." On these two sides, Sarah Yaughan, at that time a comparative unknown, was vocalist and received a flat $20 per side.

$20 per side.

M.G-M Records bought out Musicraft, Auld declared in his suit, and included the two platters in an album entitled "Sarah Vaughan Sings." However, the suit charges, the reissue of these platters gives sole billing to the singer and adds merely that the record is "with orchestral accompaniment."

Decca Records vocalist Dolores Gray booked into the London Pal-ladium Aug. 4.

Top Record Talent and As Polled via Leading U. S. DISK JOCKEYS

DISK JOCKE DISK ø
C.
POLLED VIA LEADING U. S. D
VIA AS POLLED

CANDING TO THE PROPERTY OF					N H	-		OUTH	_	LIBWIEST	1
CAND CAND CAND CAND CAND CAND CAND CAND					Balti- Bos-	Sch'c-   Roch-  Art.	Tem-	San Se-	1	١ľ٦
Description of the control of the co	L		-		Yark Phil. ford more ton	tady Utica ester City Rome	N.O.	Ant'e ven'h	K'ka	M'nee Det.	2	Tuke
ONTEX-MOVED 118 (1) 10 1 10 1 10 1 10 1 10 1 10 1 10 1	ZR	ETY WEE	EK ENDIR	NG JULY 26	HEW HEW	N.	JE IV	00.		3
1   1   1   1   1   1   1   1   1   1	This compass well as the for a No. 1 m and jockeys u all sectors of t	nlation is designed to ose on top. Rating sention. 9 for a No vill vary week to we he country regi-nally.	o indicate those rec gs are computed o o. 2 and so on dou eek to present a c	cords rising in popularity in the basis of 10 points on to one point. Cities comprehensive picture o)	oort—WABD	пе—МИІВ `	mbers—WF	OX—anida	rtell—WFO3	Leod—WJBJ		оп—ккис
1   19   19   19   19   19   19   19	Pos. Pos. No. this last weeks wk. wk. in log	Artist	Label	Song	Norm P  Bud Br	Earle P	Pat Cha	Bob Jer Stan Fr	Faul Ba	Oon Bel	Ed Perr	mili Hyd
1   Factorial Communication   Factorial Co	1 7		London	Auf Wiederseh'n Sweet	5 2 1 7 2 2	3 3 4	6 9			9	*
1   Secretary Chemistry   Decounting   1   Secretary Chemistry   Decounting   1   Secretary Chemistry   Decounting   1   Secretary Chemistry   Decounting   Dec	9	Rosemary Clooney	REGIUMDIA	Here in My Heart	8 1 6	0 1 0		- 1	2	.1.		:
1	17	Percy Faith	Columbia	Delicado		8, 9, 2	: :	7 9	1		· ·	4
10   Part Part Color   Part Part Part Part Part Part Part Part	13	tosemary Clooney	Columbia	Half As Much	3 8		: :	10	:	101	: ∞
Bigg Weigheihiler   Victor	6	eggy Lee-G. Jenkin	18 Decca	Lover	5 8				2		:
1   1   1   1   1   1   1   1   1   1	6	Tugo Winterhalter.	Victor	- 13	4 2 6		2		5	esi :		Π
1   10   SATE PRIZE CARRIER CONTINUES WINNERS AND REPORT NOT A CONTINUES WINNERS	13	Eddie Fisher	Victor	I'm Yours		s co			3		2
10   10   15   15   15   15   15   15		Perry Como-Ed. Fis.	sher Victor		8 2		:	: "	2			6
44         2 (Right Fibrary Window Windo	5	Johnnie Ray	Canitol	Somewhere Alone the V			:	c		. 0	3. 3	-
3. 15 Google Goldson         Mescarety         Mescarety         1.0 mode         4.0 mod	2 2	ddie Fisher	Victor	Wish You Were Here.		9	: 67		. .	: 6	10
13   All Park Mills	16	eorgia Gibbs	Mercury	Kiss of Fire	:	1	:	6 9	:	:	10 9	: :
27   28   19   19   19   19   19   19   19   1	29	eroy Anderson	Decca	Blue Tango		10	4	83	:			63
15   6 Data Cornell   Octal   Data Referring of Ref.   7   9   9   9   9   9   9   9   9   9	4	une Valli	Victor	Strange Sensation	:		: :		:	7	9
1   Stand Control   State   Stand Control	. 9	on Cornell	Coral	This Is Beginning of E	ıd 7	5	:	9		3		*:
2         Frankle faith         Columbia         Fig. 6         Fig. 7	9	Suddy Costa	Day Columbia			1	8
15   Green Penal/Neutry Florida, Cappinia, In Accord Oil Summertian 8   8   8   7   10   2     15   Neutrical Calibra Mercury So Matight The Road Oil Summertian 8   8   8   7   10   2     15   Neutrical Calibra Controllar High Norm   1   1   1   1   1   1     15   Neutrical Cappinia High Norm   1   1   1   1   1   1   1     15   Neutrical Cappinia High Norm   1   1   1   1   1   1   1     15   Neutrical Cappinia High Norm   1   1   1   1   1   1     15   Neutrical Cappinia High Norm   1   1   1   1   1   1     15   Neutrical Cappinia High Norm   1   1   1   1   1     15   Neutrical High Norm   1   1   1   1   1     16   Neutrical High Norm   1   1   1   1   1     17   Neutrical High Norm   1   1   1   1   1     18   Neutrical High Norm   1   1   1   1     18   Neutrical High Norm   1   1   1   1     19   Neutrical High Norm   1   1   1   1     19   Neutrical High Norm   1   1   1   1     10   Neutrical High Norm   1   1   1   1     10   Neutrical High Norm   1   1   1   1   1     10   Neutrical High Norm   1   1   1   1   1     10   Neutrical High Norm   1   1   1   1   1     10   Neutrical High Norm   1   1   1   1   1     10   Neutrical High Norm   1   1   1   1   1   1     11   Neutrical High Norm   1   1   1   1   1   1     12   Neutrical High Norm   1   1   1   1   1   1     13   Neutrical High Norm   1   1   1   1   1   1     14   Neutrical High Norm   1   1   1   1   1   1     15   Neutrical High Norm   1   1   1   1   1   1     16   Neutrical High Norm   1   1   1   1   1   1     17   Neutrical High Norm   1   1   1   1   1   1   1     18   Neutrical High High Norm   1   1   1   1   1   1     19   Neutrical High High Norm   1   1   1   1   1   1     10   Neutrical High High High Norm   1   1   1   1   1   1     11   Neutrical High High High High High High High High	9 6	Trankie Laine	Columbia
13   2   General Olibus   Microstry   So Markly in Lower   2   8   8   7   10   2   7   7   7   7   7   7   7   7   7	14 6	) Fr	Capitol	In Good Old Summert		2 6		: : :	10
47   2   Nat. Birdle Labele   Coltumbla   High None   7   6   9   9   8   4   4   5   5   5   5   5   5   5   5	13 5	eorgia Gibbs	Mercury	So Madly in Love	3 8			7
15   NA RATINE Colle. Capitol. Whilled May be from: 7   7   6   9   8   8   4   1   1   1   1   1   1   1   1   1	2	rankie Laine	Columbia	High Noon	8	9:	:	: :: ::	:
6 15 Bing Crossby-LWyman, Deced.         2.14tie Zong.         7         6         9         8         8         7           19 2 Vo Damont.         Cornell.         Tim Yealthing Mayer a Columbia.         1.0 Materiary.         Reseance.         9         8         5         7         7         9         8         5         7         7         9         8         5         7         7         9         8         5         7         7         9         8         5         7         7         9         8         5         7         7         9         8         5         7         7         8         8         5         7         7         8         8         5         7         7         8         8         5         7         7         8         8         5         7         7         8         8         5         7         7         8         8         5         7         7         8         8         5         7         7         8         8         5         7         7         8         8         5         7         8         8         7         7         8         8         7         7	16 5	at King Cole	Capitol	Walkin' My Baby Home			-		:;			8
5   5   10   Contell   Correct   Content   Correct   C		ing Crosby-JWyma	an Decca	Zing a Little Zong		:	:					:
29         2 NO. Databaset         According to the control of the con	6 15	on Cornell	Coral	r Kours		6	:	-
	19 2	Rennett		Have a Good Time						-
Adail Death   McG-M   Johnste Ray   Collmbia   A Sinera Am   9   9   9   9     Johnste Ray   Collmbia   A Sinera Am   9   9   9   9   9     Johnste Ray   Collmbia   A Sinera Am   9   9   9   9   9     Johnste Ray   Collmbia   A Sinera Am   1   1   1   1   1   1   1   1   1	0	erry Como-Ed. Fish	her Victor	Watermelon Weather.		e			6	1
1 Johnste Ray   Columbia   A Sinner Am I   9   9   9   9   9   9   9   9   9	-	lan Dean	M-G-M	Luna Rossa	8
John Bay   Counts   All of Mecury   All of M	1	ohnnie Ray	Colúmbia	A Sinner Am I	6					:	:	:
22         5 Kadde Howard         Marcury         Americany         Am	1	ohnnie Ray	Columbia	All of Me								∞ :
1 Four Horsemen   M.CM.   High Noon   1   1   1   1   1   1   1   1   1	27 27	밁	Mercury	Once in a white	leart							10
1 Four Horsemen   M.GM. Indian Love Call   1   1   1     6 Owen Bradiey   Coral   Plink, Plank Plunk   1   1     7 Owen Bradiey   Coral   Plink, Plank Plunk   1   1   1   1   1   1   1   1   1	1		M-C-M	High Noon		, or
6 Owen Bradley Coral Plink, Plank, Plank, I I I I I I I I I I I I I I I I I I I		our Horsemen	M-G-M	Indian Love Call
Mills Bros.   Decca   Just When We're Failing   2   2   2   2   2   2   2   2   2		wen Bradley	Coral	Plink, Plank, Plunk				:
26         Steve Lawrence         King.         Poinciana         9           1         Jary Southern         Decca.         A Mighty Preity Waliz.         4           1         Mary Southern         Decca.         10         3           1         Mary Southern         Decca.         10         3           1         Anes Bros.         Coral.         Aut Weiderschn         2           44         3         Lory Raine         0         3         2           39         2         Peorgy Bros.         7         6         8         8           3         2         Peorgy Brone.         9         8         8         8         8           5         Les Paul-Mary Ford.         Capitol.         Snoke Rings.         9         8         4         8           5         Les Paul-Mary Ford.         Coral.         II Walk Alone.         4         4         4           5         Les Paul-Mary Ford.         Coral.         II Walk Alone.         4         4           1         June Vailin.         Victor.         So Madly in Love.         4         4           1         June Vailin.         Forder to Coral.         In Markina.	1	ills Bros	Decca	Just When We're Fallin					:			:
1 Jary Southern   Decoration	2	teve Lawrence	King.,	Poinciana	6	7	8			:		:   :
Amery Ports   Aut Weldersch'n Aut Welder Aut Weld		eri Southern	Decca	Researching Von Soid Tr.	4		:	:		6		:
44         3 Lorry Raine         Universal         Universal         Universal         Universal         Universal         Tee         2         2         39         2         2         39         2         2         39         2         39         2         3         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4         4	-	mes Bros	Coral				10
39         2         Peggy Lee         Decca.         Just One of Those Things.         7         8         9         8         9         8         9         8         9         8         8         8         8         8         8         8         8         8         8         8         8         8         8         9         8         8         9         8         8         8         8         9         8         8         8         8         8         8         9         8         8         9         8         8         9         8         8         9         8         9         8         9         8         9         8         9         8         9         8         9         8         9         8         9         8         9         8         9         8         9         8         9         8         9         9         9         9         9         9         9         9         9         9         9         9         9         9         9         9         9         9         9         9         9         9         9         9         9         9         9	60	orry Raine	Universal	Un'neath "I Love You" '.				7
1         Vio Damone.         Mercury         Take My Heart.           5         Les Paul-Mary Ford.         Capitol.         Snoke Rings.         4           30         4         All Martinol.         All Martinol.         4           20         21         Don Cornel.         Fin Waik Alone.         4           2         1         Don Cornel.         4         4           3         4         4         4         4           4         5         Mally in Love.         4         4           5         6         Bobby Vanhardo.         Bocornel.         4         6           6         8 Obby Wayne.         Neceury.         10         10         10	. 2	eggy Lee	:	Just One of Those Thin,		L		6		6
20   Les Fall-Mary Ford   Capitol.   Shoke Kings   9   1   2   2   2   2   2   2   2   2   2	; ;	ic Damone	Mercury	Take My Heart	: : : : :	8 9						:
20 21   Don Cornell   Till Walk Alone	0 4	Martino	BES	I Never Cared		6					6
Sarah Yaughan   M-G-M   Corner to Corner   1 June Valii   Victor   So Madiy in Love   1 Guy Lombardo   Decca   Half As Much   6 Bobby Wayne   Mercury   T'm Sorry   10	20 21	on Cornell	Coral	I'll Walk Alone	: :			4		44
1 June Vall. 1 Guy Lombardo Decca Half As Much. 6 Bobby Wayne Mercury T'm Sorry 10	1	Vaughe	M-G-M	Corner to Corner			4
6 Bobb Warne Mercury Trn Sorry 10	-	Valli	Victor	So Madly in Love			4		:	:		: :
	- 9	Sobby Wayne	Mercury	I'm Sorry			6	6	:	: :

CHAILER MAGIC with a new touch

-4851 7-4851

CA VICTOR RECORDS

Major Diskeries Hold Off on Move To Wipe Out Discount Houses

While disk company execs unanimously in favor of the new Federal "fair trade" price-fixing law, none of the major companies have as yet made any move to impose a firm list price on the retail trade. It's expected that if and when the majors decide to wipe out the discount houses, it will be done after the summer period when business picks up.

when business picks up.

Only company thus far to use the teeth in the new law is the indie longhair label. Cetra-Soria. Latter label, which pioneered full-length operas on long-play disks, in entering into an agreement with one retailer in each state to sell their disks at the list price. Under the Federal law, such an agreement binds other retailers in each state to the same price.

binds other retailers in each state to the same price.

Execs of the major companies are understood to be studying all the legal and financial ramifications of the fair trade law before employing it. Several large discount stores have been responsible for huge volumes of platter sales during the past couple of years and the majors are mulling their chances for turning over the same quantity of merchandise under a firm list price setup.

A move against the price-cut-der a firm list price setup.

A move against the price-cutters, however, is believed to be inevitable sooner or later. While not wanting to lose the mass sales of the discount outlets, major execs have in the past been concerned about the deteriorating position of the neighborhood retailer. Latter is regarded as the backbone of the industry and if the nabe outlet is not saved from the competition of the price-cutters, it's feared that the disk business will be centralized in the hands of a few major stores and mail order houses.

Georges Cates, Coral Records musical director, back to the Coast after huddling in N. Y. with newly-appointed Coral artists-and-reper-toire chief Milt Gabler.

Finburgh Exits Music For Insurance Biz

Lee Finburgh, head of the music publishing company which bears his name, is retiring from the music biz to enter the insurance field in Miami, Morton Browne will take over direction of Finburgh's from firm. Finburgh opened his own publishing company last year after working with Bourne Music and previously with Bregman, Vocco & Conn.

RODGERS TO CONDUCT 'GUADALCANAL MARCH

Richard Rodgers will conduct a new composition, "Guadalcanal March," at the Lewisohn Stadium, N. Y., as part of the Rodgers & Hammerstein program slated for Saturday night (2), season closer. Rodgers wrote the work for the TV film, "Victory at Sea," which will chronicle the history of haval operations during World War II. Henry Salmon is producing the film with release set for this fall over the NBC-TV network on a serialized basis.

Freed's 'Moondog Ball' Scores Another Click

Akron, July 29. Alan Freed, WJW, Cleveland Alan Freed, WJW, Cleveland, disk jockey, promoted another sock "Moondog Ball" dance at the Akron Summit Beach ballroom, playing to 3,000 customers at a $2 tab Friday night (25). Charles Brown and orch were headliners with the Clovers combo. Police estimated that 5,000 were turned away.

Freed, who has been conducting a one-man drive in this territory to revive the band business, broadcast his show direct from the Summit Beach spot.

With The Butterball Four

YOU BROKE MY HEART

DIAMOND MINE IN MADAGASCAR

MGM 11271

RETAIL SHEET BEST SELLERS

ochester, Neisner Bros.

troit, Grinnell Bros.

nses City, Jenkins

nneapolis,

Louis, St.

ittle, Capitol

Antonio,

VARIETY

Survey of retail sheet music sales, based on reports obtained from leading stores in 10 cities and showing comparative sales rating for this and last week.

National Rating

Week Ending July 26

This Last

wk.	wk.	Title and Publisher	IZ	10	PE	ļĀ	12	18	Jō	18	Sa	Se	ŝ
1	1	"Auf Wiedersch'n" (Hill-R)	1	1	1	5	4	4	3	6	1	2	82
2	4	"Walkin' My Baby Home" (D.B.H.)	4	4	4	6	1	3	6	4.	_5		70
3	2	"Kiss of Fire" (Duchess)	2	6	6	1	••	6	1	2	_3_		61
4	5	"I'm Yours" (Algonquin)	6	3	7	2	1.,	5	4	1	2	9	60
5	6	"Half As Much" (Acuff-R)	3	2	9	4	. 9	2	7	10	7	1	55
6	7	"Here In My Heart" (Mellin)	5	7		3	10	9	2	3	4	10	46
7	3	"Blue Tango" (Mills)	9	5	8	8	• •	1,		5	6	7	39
8	8	."Delicado" (Remick)	• •	8		9		٠.	5	7	8	8	21
9	11	"Somewhere Along Way" (United)	7			10	2		• •	٠.	٠.	5	20
10	9	"I'll Walk Alone" (Mayfair)	10	&gt; 9	٠,	٠.	٠.	8	8	8	٠.	4	19
11	12	"Botch-A-Me" (Hollis)	8		. 3	٠٠,	٠.		• •	٠.	9		13
12	• • •	"Take My Heart" (Santly-J)			2.	.*	• •			٠,			9
13A	13	"Maybe" (Robbins)		••	5	¥			9	9		·	8
13B	13	"Sugarbush" (Schirmer)	٠.	,.	٠.	• •	3		• •			·.	8
14	••	"Forgive Me" (Advanced)	••	10	• •	7	• •	10		••	••	••	-6

On the Upbeat

New York

New York

Vocalist Johnny Parker opens at the Blue Mirror, Washington, Aug. 4, following with a stand at Ciro's in Philadelphia . . . Sarah Vaughan into Birdland, N. Y., this week.' Spot is also featuring weekly Dixlehand sessions Monday nights with trombonist Tyree Glenn and clarinetist Sol Yaged headlining . . . Songwriter Jule Styne awarded The Word of the Month Club's annual "Producer of the Year" award at Grossinger's last week for his Broadway production of "Pal Joey" . . . Irving Fields trio broadcasting over Mutual network three times weekly from Gray's Inn in Jackson, N. H.

Pittsburgh

Pittsburgh

Baron Elliottt band had option picked up for another six weeks at the Ankara . . . Jacqueline Della Santa, Butler, Pa., singer, signed by Fred Waring for next season . . Walter Gable orch into Club 30 near Chester, W. Va., for an indefinite stay . . . organist Ernie Neff opened Thursday (24) at Sheffield Towers in Aliquippa . . . New Carlton-House keeping Hugh Tully Trio through the summer . . . Vaughn Monroe booked into Bill Green's for two nights, Aug. 4-5 . . . Brad Hunt's band playing nightly at Vogue Terrace but floor shows are now being presented only on Fridays and Saturdays . . Frank Pattera crew into Twih Coaches, on Route 51 between Pittsburgh and Uniontown . . . Vaughn Monroe plays a one-nighter at Conneaut Lake Aug. 21 . . . Howard Roberts, form er trumpet man with Lionel Hampton and Lucky Millinder, playing Robbins in new production of "Porgy and Bess" at Tixon . . Tiny Irvin, ex-Dizzy Gillesple vocalist, doing a single in clubs around town. . Chicago

Bob O'Connor, after a year in

then goes into Melody Mill, River-dale, Ill., Sept. 10 for three weeks.

then goes into Melody Mill, Riverdale, Ill., Sept. 10 for three weeks.

Max Miller and his wife have formed a new diskery and have placed Tommy "Emperor" Jones under contract. He's sliced four sides. Firm has also signed Wêllington Blakey... Four Knights have week at Rancho Don Carlos, Winnepeg, Sept. 4 and then go into Angelo's, Omaha, Sept. 12 for two stanzas, following Nellie Lutcher who's there Sept. 5 for a frame ... Victor Borge booked for Broadmoor, Colorado Springs, Aug. 27... Jeri Southern does 14 days at Commodore Hotel, Windsor, Aug. 12... Gray Gordon, personal manager for Les Paul and Mary Ford, doing midwestern contact sweep for his clients.

Dick Gale set for the rest of summer at Baron's, South Haven, Michigan, along with Don Riccardo's orch... Ronnie Eastman in for month of August at Melody Mill, LaCrosse, Wisc... Revel-Alres into Le Coq d'Or in Toronto today through Labor Day... Bob Vincent has 12 days at the Circle, East Dubuque, Iowa, Aug. 12... Randy Brown headlines at Lake Club, Springfield, Ill., one week, opening tonight... Larry Thompson has two weeks at Henry Grady Hotel, Atlanta... Howard Miller has new stint at the WCFL mikes, Chicago, from 7 to 11 every Saturday night... Leanor Girls opened Colony Club, Ottumwa, Iowa, for two weeks.

Kansas City

Coaches, on Route 51 between Pittsburgh and Uniontown. Donny Conn Trio held over again at Paul Beondy's Blue Moon ... Yaughn Monroe plays a one-nighter at Conneaut Lake Aug. 21 ... Howard 'Roberts, for me ritrumpet man with Lionel Hampton and Lucky Millinder, playing Robins in new production of "Porgy and Bess" at Fixon ... Tiny Irvin, ex-Dizzy Gillespie vocalist, doing a single in clubs around town.

Chicago

Bob O'Connor, after a year in the Navy, has been put in charge of the Chicago office of the Shaw Agency ... Sutherland Hotel has put entertainment into the Orleans Room with Leon Abbey Trio current ... Lenny Colyler and the Bars of Music are a new package and have been set for Cairo's Friday (1) ... Gus Van has two weeks at Eddys', Kansas City, Saturday (2) ... Frank Hogan set Pegzy Taylor permanent female vocalist on the ABC "Breakfast Club" ... Billy Devroe inked for Frolics, Omaha, Aug. 4 ... Norm Dyson has two frames at Lido. South Bend, starting Monday (28) ... Jan Garber orch headlines at Horse Show at the Indiana State Fair Saturday (1) for six days. Band

Inside Orchestras—Music

Mrs. Winthrop (Bobo) Rockefeller, who is currently separated from her husband, is getting billed as the lyricist of a new ballad, "To You, With Love." Jay Chernis, director of the "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" road company, wrote the music and Buddy Costa has cut the tune for the indie label, Pyramid Records.

Art Seger's Pop Labels

Art Seger, head of the Top 10 low-priced disk company, has set up a new pop label, Seger Records, which will sell at regular pop single prices. Company has inked Juanita Hall; Bernice Parks, currently at the Versailles, N. Y.; and Bud Brees, Philadelphia disk jockey, as vocalists.

Company released one disk by Miss Parks a couple of weeks ago and another single by her this week containing the tunes, "You Intrigue Me" and "That's What A Song Can Do."

Breaking through as a

"Sleeper" Hit!

VIC DAMONE

flip side of

'TAKE MY HEART'

MERCURY

Number 5877 & 5877X45

"U. S. SINGERS TOP POLL OF LUXEMBOURG" From the Billboard, July 19, 1952

LUMBIA'S E BIGGEST IN EUROPE, TOO!

> Listeners of Radio Luxembourg, in a recent poll of artists, awarded first place to Columbia's own JO STAFFORD and GUY MITCHELL in the female and male divisions respectively.

NEWEST RELEASES

JO STAFFORD PRETTY BOY (Pretty Girl)

YOU BELONG TO ME with Paul Weston and his Orchestra

78 rpm 3981] * 45 rpm 4-39811

GUY MITCHELL

FEET UP (Pat Him on the Po-Po)

JENNY KISSED ME with Mitch Miller and his Orchestra and Chorus

78 rpm 39822 * 45 rpm 4-39822

No matter where you are, you can't overlook the international superiority of records bearing the name COLUMBIA.

COLUMBIA O RECORDS

AFM Shutters Crescendo, H'wood Spot, in Crackdown Over 1½G Due Hazel Scott

Hollywood, July 29. Sunset Strip's newest bistro, the Crescendo, which opened last May 8, folded last week following a crackdown on operator Harry Steinman by the American Federation of Musicians for not paying $1,500 he owed Hazel Scott, who played the spot about a month ago.

played the spot about a month ago.
John te Groen, prexy of Mussicians Local 47, said he had instructions from the AFM in NY to get the coln due Miss Scott by tonight (29), but that Steinman had not come through. Consequently, he ordered Buddy DeFranco and his quartet not to play the spot, and said Nat (King) Cole will not open as skedded.

Spot shuttered Friday after a open as skedded.

Spot shuttered Friday after a series of reprieves as Steinman sought to work out new deals to permit him to continue operation. Initial reprieve, 48 hours earlier, followed easing of an AFM deamand for a payment of $1,500 to pay off Hazel Scott, who had worked the Crescendo some weeks earlier, earlier,

Form in which Steinman met this demand cued a new hassle. AFM local 47 prexy John te Groen had demanded a certified check for the entire amount. Instead, he got a certified check for half with the remaining $755 in the form of a check which te Groen said was "made out to the wrong local."

Meanwhile American Guild of

was "made out to the wrong local."
Meanwhile, American Guild of Yarlety Artists coast chief Eddie Rio moved in with a demand that Steinman make good some $3,000 in checks which had bounced after they were issued to Champ Butler,
Ella Mae Morse and Pat Morrissey.
AGVA relaxed its ultimatum after Steinman suggested that he be allowed to open a new show Thursday (24) with Nat King Cole on the theory that the Thursday take would be sufficient to meet all claims.

Cole opened as scheduled, but the spot had other creditors swarming around and it was closed Friday afternoon. Steinman's con-tinued efforts to raise the needed coin then bore fruit and he made his peace with the two unions by noon Saturday. noon Saturday.

Crescendo opened May 8 with Billy Eckstine and had been op-erating with difficulty since. Room was the first new Sunset Strip bistro operation in several years.

Ira Gershwin is adding new lyrics for "It Ain't Necessarily So," tune sung by Cab Calloway in "Porgy and Bess." Bandleader has been scoring as Sportin' Life in the touring revival, and part is being built up.

TOPPING ALL LISTS

It's Music by JESSE GREER

Program Today Yesterday's KITTY FROM

KANSAS CITY

RETAIL DISK BEST SELLERS

Williams

ndson

Co:)

—(Don Hospe

udwig innell

Survey of retail disk best sellers, based on reports obtained from leading stores in 11 cities and showing comparative sales rating for this and last week.

National Rating		Week Ending July 26	W York-	Chicago (Hu	Philadelphia-	Omaha—(A. ]	Minneapolis	Louis-(L	Detroit—(Gri	Kansas City-	enver—(The	an Antonio	Seattle—(She	1
	Last wk,	Artist, Label, Title	New	8	H	0	12	St	Ä	Kg	å	Sar	Sea	Š
1	1	VERA LYNN (London) "Auf Wiederseh'n"—1227		3	1	1	1	1	2	1	6	1	1	92
2	3	ROSEMARY CLOONEY (Col.) "Half As Much"—39710	3	5	9	3	6	6	6	2	1	7	2	71
3	2	PERCY FAITH (Columbia) "Delicado"—39708	9	•	7	2		3		5	2	6	3	51
4	4	ROSEMARY CLOONEY (Col.) "Botch-A-Me"—39767	· 8	1	2	10	7		1	8		9	5	48
5	5	AL MARTINO (BBS) "Here In My Heart"—101						2		٠.	3	2	4	33
6	6 ·	JOHNNIE RAY (Columbia) "Walkin' My Baby Home"—39750	6			4	. 2		8			4	9	32
7 A	16	HUGO WINTERHALTER (Victor) "Vanessa"—20-4691	5				4		4				7	24
7B		F. LAINE-DORIS DAY (Col.) "Sugarbush"—39693	'	2	3	7	8					••	••	24
8	10	GEORGIA GIBBS (Mercury) "Kiss of Fire"—5823			-		3		10	•••	4	3	••	23
9A	15	NAT COLE (Capitol) "Somewhere Along Way"—2069	4		5				3	10			••	22
9B	9	EDDIE FISHER (Victor) "I'm Yours"—20-4680		• • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • •	•••	6	•••	٠.,		6	5	5		22
10A	8	LEROY, ANDERSON. (Decca) "Blue Tango"—40220			•••	8	••	. 4			••	8	6	18
10B	9	TONY MARTIN (Victor) "Kiss of Fire"—20-4671				9		5		4	••		8	18
11	11	EDDIE FISHER (Victor) "Wish You Were Here"—20-4830	7	9	4		,		7		••	•	••	17
12	14	FRANKIE LAINE (Columbia) "High Noon"—39770	1	8	•			9		٠.	٠.		••	15
13	13	NAT COLE (Capitol) "Walkin' Baby Back Home"—2130		٠				.:	5	.:	7			10
14A	7	COMO-FISHER (Victor) "Maybe"—20-4744	10		6		٠				9	10		 9
14B	19	JOHNNIE RAY (Columbia) "All of Me"—39788	2											9
15A	17	TONY BENNETT (Columbia) "Here In My Heart"—39745								3				8
15B		DON CORNELL (Coral) "I'll Walk Alone"—60659				5	٠,			9			•••	 8

FIVE TOP ALBUMS

BIG BAND BASH WITH A SONG Billy May Capitol KCF-329 DCN-329

Jane Froman

MY HEART

Hollywood Cast M-G-M M-G-M-113 K-113 E-113

SINGIN' IN THE

AMERICAN IN PARIS
Hollywood Cast
M-G-M
E-93
K-93
M-93

JOHNNIE RAY ALBUM Columbia CO-6199 C2-88 B-2-88

and Champ Butler have a good side in "One Love Too Many" (Columbia)... Another rich side by the Voices of Walter Schumann on "Luna Rossa". (Capitol)... Danny Davis impresses nicely on "Love Came Out Of The Night" (M-G-M)... On the same label, David Rose orch dishes up a flashing instrumental on "Vanessa"... Louis Jordan registers okay with his vocal of. "All of Me" (Decca)... Lionel Hampton orch sock over "Cryin" in solid style, Sonhy Parker vocalling (M-G-M).

Standout folk, western, blues

Shop)

Bros.)

In Sold style, Sonny Parker vocalling (M-G-M).

Standout folk, western, blues rhythm, religioso, polka, etc.; Hank Penny, "Back Up A Little Bit" (King). Little Esther, "Somebody New" (Federal). Golden Gate Quartet, "I Just Telephone Upstairs" (Okeh). Eddle Zack, "Draggin' The Bow" (Decca)... Eddle Gronet Orch, "Politician's Polka" (Coral)... Jon Tilman's Trio, "Jazz Me Blues" (M-G-M)... Gene Autry, "God's Little Candles" (Columbia)... Steve Gibson, "Wait" (Victor)... The Pinetoppers, "Bell Bottom Polka" (Coral)... Elton Britt, "The Robin' Gambler" (Victor)... Rosaile Allen, "It'd Surprise You" (Victor)... Sonny James "Shortcut" (Capitol).

Expand Disk Catalog On Juve-Slanted Americana

Enrichment Materials is expanding its juve disk catalog with the addition of four more platters to be released in September. Enrich-

Arthur Fiedler to Baton Seattle Symph in Alaska If $4,000 Can Be Raised

Seattle, July 29, Seattle, July 29.

Anchorage and Fairbanks, Alaska, will be getting a touch of longhair music early in September, when conductor Arthur Fiedler and 60 members of the Seattle Symphony Orchestra will fly to Alaska if an underwriting fund of $4,000 can be found in the next few days.

few days.

Reports are that Fiedler, conductor of the Boston Pops Orchestra, has reserved time for the Alaska jaunt, and Wallace H. Campbell, president of the Seattle Symphony says it would be a fine public relations gesture from Seattle to Alaska, but that the necessary $4,000 would have to be raised specifically for the trip; that it could not come from the symphony sustaining fund, which is not large enough to insure the coming season of the Symphony here.

coming season of the Symphony here.

The visit of the Symphony to Anchorage and Fairbanks is not a USO tour, but of the two concerts to be given in each city, the first would, he for service personnel, for free; the second, with paid admissions, for civilians.

Orchestra members, instruments and music would be flown round trip by U. S. Air Force planes. Details of the proposed trip have been worked out by symphony business manager Ruth Allen McCreery and Lt. Gen. William E. Kepner, commanding the Alaska Defense Command. The only halls of adequate size in the Territory for a symphony concert are at the Anchorage and Fairbanks bases.

Wrightson, Long Soloists For 4th New Haven Pops New Haven, July 29.

New Haven, July 29.

Pops Concert Series, being al frescoed at Yale Bowl again this summer, unfurls its fourth program of the season tonight (29) with Earl Wrightson and Carolyn Long, plus the New Haven Symphony.

First two concerts of series First two concerts of series drew questionable weather breaks, which had a tendency to hold down attendance. Obvious effect of the elements was pointed up sharply last week at the Sarah Vaughn concert (22), when an advance sale of 4;500 tickets jumped to almost 12,000 stub-holders when a pleasant evening jacked up the window sale.

EDDIE FISHER'S NEW HIT RCA VICTOR RECORD

THE HAND OF FATE

Words and Music By PAT BALLARD

General Music

38/14441441440414

IT'S ONLY THE BEGINNING FOR

This Is The Beginning Of The End

ROBBINS MUSIC CORPORATION.

COMPLETE RECORDING FACILITIES AVAILABLE

Tapa-Disc-Airshots-Demo's Top quality equipment—Stainway Grand—Air Cooled Studio

$12 per hour

Discs Cut from $1.75

GMS RECORDING STUDIO 11 West 18th St. ORegon 5-2317 N. Y. C. 11

Jocks, Jukes and Disks

ket on fire. Herman projects it with a strong rhythm vocal with the band supplying a hardhitting instrumental background. The swing standard on the reverse also gets a 'sharp workover in a fresh gets a 'sharp late 'you're My Destiny' is grandiose ballad with good chances, Tune has a list grandiose ballad with good along the lines of the click "Kiss of Fire." Eileen Barton delivers it with color and drive. Champ Butler also gives this number a strong ride for Columbia. It remains to be seen whether the tango trend has sufficient vitality to lift these sides into the hit lists. On the Coral reverse, Miss Barton cuts up on a cute Latin-styled novelty item with good potential.

Buddy Costa: "To You, With Love". "Fool That I Was" (Pyramid). Buddy Costa: "To You, With Love". "Fool That I Was" (Pyramid). Buddy Costa: who stired some attention with his "Mask Is Off" slice for this indie label, comes back with two more strong vocals. Costa has a firstrate set of pipes tailored for the tear-voiced fans. "To You" is an excellent ballad which gets a lush slice via Costa's vocal and the orch and choral background. "Fool That I Was" is another adaptation of the work in the pop market. Rex Allen twags it in usual country style for good impact. "Jambalaya" is another attractive tune with a *bayou theme. Moon Mullican also has a fine slice of this tune for King.

Platter Pointers

- Selling Records!

ODECCA America's Fastest

Platter Pointers

Columbia Records has packaged a firstrate set of mambo tunes titled "Xavier Cugat At the Waldorf"...on the same label, a sample of Liberace's brilliant keyboard style has also been albumied...Jimmy Blaine and Buddy Weed have a clever satire on the current political scene in "Political Pete" (Coral)...Toni Arden

BOTCH-A-ME ON THE FIRST WARM DAY

Disk Companies' Best Sellers CAPITOL'S WINDUP OF

C.A	PITOL ARTIST
1.	FOOL, FOOL
2.	SOMEWHERE ALONG THE WAYNat (King) Cole WHAT DOES IT TAKE
3.	IN THE GOOD OLD SUMMER TIME. Les Paul-Mary Ford
4.	WALKIN' MY BABY BACK HOMENat (King) Cole
5.	ARTIST KAY'S LAMENT

	HALF AS MUCHAUF WIEDERSEHN SWEETHEART
	SUGARBUSH Fran. HOW LOVELY COOKS THE MEAT
4.	DELICADO	Per	y Faith

4.	DELICADO	Faith
ĸ	HIGH NOON Frankie	Laine

CORAL

COLUMBIA

1.

	ABSENCE MAKES THE HEART GROW FONDER
2.	THIS IS THE BEGINNING OF THE ENDDon Cornell

•	I CAN' I CALL INCLUDED
3.	I'M YOURSDon	Cornell
	MY MOTHER'S PEARLS
	WHO DRANK MY BEER?Chuck	Murphy

	OCEANA RULL
5.	AUF WIEDERSEHN	SWEETHEARTAmes	Bros
	BREAK THE BANDS	THAT BIND ME

DECCA

1.	ARE YOU TRYING TO TELL ME GOODBYE	Foley
2,	AUF WIEDERSEHN SWEETHEARTGuy Lom	bardo

BLUE TANG			 	• • •	 • • •	 . Lero	y.	And	erso	n
BELLE OF	THE B	ALL							~.*

	BELLE OF THE BALL
4.	LOVERPeggy	Lee-G.	Jenkins

5	TILL THE	END OF	THE	WORLD.	Ring	Crosby-G. Martin
••					~8	OTODOJ ON THEME
	JUST A I	THE THE THE	OXIXXI
	JUSI ALL	KILLE A	O VAIN

MERCURY ONCE IN A WHILE......Patti Page

•	I'M GLAD YOU'RE HAPPY WITH SOMEONE ELSE
2.	AUF WIEDERSEHN SWEETHEART Eddy Howard
	I DON'T WANT TO TAKE A CHANCE
3.	SO MADLY IN LOVEGeorgia Gibbs
	MAKE ME LOVE YOU
4.	I WOULD RATHER LOOK AT YOUGloria Har

4.	I WOULD	RATHER L	оок .	AT YO	งข	. Gloria	Hart
		QUARTERS
5.		HEART				.Vic Da	amone
	ROSANNE

٩	P
1	M-G-M
1	I. LUNA ROSSA
1	1. LUNA ROSA. Alan Dean I'LL FORGET YOU 2. STRANGE SENSATION. Billy Eckstine HAVE A GOOD TIME 3. KISS OF FIRE. Billy Eckstine NEVER LIKE THIS 4. WHAT IS THIS THING CALLED LOVE. Fran Warren WISH YOU WERE LIKE
1	3. KISS OF TIRE
1	4. WHAT IS THIS THING CALLED LOVE Fran Warren WISH YOU WERE HERE

5.	HOLD ME CLOSE TO	YOUBilly	Eckstine
	IF THEY ASK ME

RCA VICTOR

1.	WISH YOU THE HAND	WERE HERE OF FATE	Eddle	Fisher
_

İ	z.	SOMEDAY		. Tony	Martin
		LUNA ROSSA
+	3.	I'M VOTING	4.	Tall.	Tichen

- JUST A LITTLE LOVIN'
- A FULL TIME JOB ..... Eddie Arnold SHEPHERD OF MY HEART

I LAUGHED AT LOVE......Sunny Gale FATHER TIME

Vance Asks $4,500,000 Triple Damages in Suit Against ASCAP, MPPA

property from the public and himself. The complaint also asks that ASCAP be dissolved and all publisher members of ASCAP be restrained from operating as a group.

Against ASCAP, MPPA

Extending his record as the most litigating songwriter in Tin Pan Alley annals, Missouri songwriter Edward Vance has filed another antitrust suit against the American Society of Composers, Authors & Publishers, the Music Publishers Protective Assn. and some of their members in New York Fedéral Court, Vance is seeking $4,500,000 triple damages.

Plaintiff, who has been involved in eight or nine similar suits in recent years, charges that the defendants conspired together and with others to get songs from him through alleged fraud, deceit and other unfair competitive means. He claims that his share of earnings on songs allegedly written by himself amount to $1,500,000.

Vance also asked that the defendants be prosecuted under the Federal criminal code for using the mails to acquire moneys and

CROSS-COUNTRY MEETS

Capitol Records top echelon wound up its series of cross-country sales meets over last weekend in New York with a session at the Hotel Warwick. About 100 distribs and salesmen from the eastern territory were given a rundown of Cap's releasing plans on albums and singles for the fall-winter season. Season season.

Heading the sessions were Cap prexy Glenn E. Wallichs; Alan Livingston, vice-prexy over artists and repertoire; Lloyd Dunn, national ad-promotion v.p.; and Dan Bonbright, secretary-counsel. Similar meetings were held recently in St. Louis and Los Angeles.

5 Twin City Jockeys Promote Vocalist P.A.'s

Minneapolis, July 29.

Minneapolis, July 29.
Five Twin Cities disk jockeys have banded together to bring in popular singers to the Prom Ball-room for one-nighters. On their first venture last week with Don Cornell, each pocketed a $250 profit, the net after all expenses having been $1,250.

The jockies are Merle Edwards, WMIN; Jack Thayer and Johnny Morris, WLOL; Siv Widman, WDGY, and Jimmy Delmont, WTCN.

(Week ending July 19)
London, July 2	2
Auf Wiederseh'n Mauri	ce
Blue TangoMil	115
Never	A
Kiss of Fire Duche	SS
Blacksmith BluesChappe	eL
Homing WaltzRein	ae
Pawnshop Corner Cinephon	ίς
Be Anything Cinephon	ile
Tell Me Why Morn	i
I'm YoursMell	in
Won't Live in Castle Connel	13
Time Say Goodbye . Pickwis	cl

Second 12

Ay-round The Corner	Dash
Wheel of Fortune	. Victoria
High Noon	.Robbins
Gandy Dancers Ball.	Disney
Cry	F.D.&H.
At Last	Pickwick
Trust in Me	Wright
Unforgettable	Bourne
Anytime	Victoria
FaithF	lit Songs
A Guy Is a Guy	Leeds
When You're in Love.	Connelly

Cavallare Te San Antone
San Antonio, July 29.
Carmen Cavallaro will headline
the opening bill at the reopening of the Anacacho Room of the St.
Anthony Hotel here on Aug. 12.
Steve Kisley band will play for dancing.

Best British Sheet Sellers | CAB CALLOWAY EYES NEW CAREER AS ACTOR

NEW CAKEEK AS ACIUM

The days of hi-de-ho may be over for Cab Calloway; he intimated here last week. At least that was the suggestion in Calloway's statement that he wanted to enroll at the Old Vic in London for a course in acting when "Porgy and Bess" opens there in October.

Calloway drew fine notices from local critics for his performance of Sportin'. Life in the Blevins Davis-Robert Breen production of the George Gershwin musical drama at the Nixon, and according to Breen, who also directed the show, the bandleader is serious about becoming an actor.

coming an actor.

Schulman to Paris On Copyright Discussions

John Schulman, Songwriters Protective Assn. general counsel, planed to the Coast this week for planed to the Coast this week for the SPA membership meeting to-day (Wed) and will immediately return to N. Y. on the first leg on a hop to Paris. Schulman is due in Paris as U. S. rep to the copyright discussions being held under the auspices of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cul-tural Organization. Charles Toblas, SPA chairman, and secretary Miriam Stern also left for the Coast Monday (28) for the membership conclave.

Words and Music by CARMEN LOMBARDO and SONNY

Recorded by GUY LOMBARDO and his Orchestra on Decca Records

tues the 29th

carmen lombardo at freeport 1.i. and sunny clapp in nashville.

dear carm and sunny-

just returned from a swing thru n.engl. and down as far as nashville and memphis-and am real excited about the swell reaction we're getting on HONKY*TONK SWTHEART. it's nothing short of sensationals we're talking with all the fellers and they're giving us some extra spins, cause they the HONKY-TONK has it!

sheet music calls and orders are comin in, which is a mighty realistic sign. mebbe mitch miller will decide to do it afterall, and it's been comin up at those thursday capitol meetings in calif. also, i am certain dave kapp likes it. still-we've only gotten one record on botcha-me to date, and it's very up there it's way way up there ....

mnwhile, just so you'll be aware-we're going to go after this for live plugs starting this week and gen.prof. mgr. loring buzzell in nye and lucky wilber, our guy in calif., will be showing it all around.

surfused as we are.

But you're as

but my aid,

for (arm only - Howre

P.S. SUNNY down he's getting The same response he got off Fifth Avenue, New York 19, N.Y.

CROMWELL MUSIC, INC. . 666 FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK 19, N. Y. . LORING BUZZELL, Prol. Mgi

Night Club Reviews

VAUDEVILLE

Chez Paree, Chi
Chicago, July 21.
Joe E. Lewis with Austin Mack,
Polly Bergen, Consola & Melba
Johnny Martin, Chez Adorables with Werner Twins (3), Brian Farnon Orch (8); minimum, $3.50;
cover $1.

Due to prior bookings the Chez Paree limited Joe E. Lewis' cur-rent engagement to two weeks. As is, Lewis could stay indef—he's that clicko.

is, Lewis could stay indef—he's that clicko.

Whimisical buffoon is commenting on the nation's political status, he's hoping for a women in the White House, and making sundry remarks about the politicians who crowd the room during this political convention period. Of course, the majority of his snides are about the lack of his success with the bangtalls, and although he has some new ribaldry, the seatholders yell for the old standards, "The Groom" and the somewhat newer tune, "Biggest Pair of Parakeets." Even without the bluish chants the tremendous ad libs keep the customers guffawing. Austin Mack makes his usually valuable contribution to the act with his planobacking and sage advice.

Polly Bergen, a pert miss from Hollywood, is a pleasant addition to the floorshow. Redhead mixes her tunes nicely and ranges from the raucus "We'll Go Honky Tonkin'" to the simple, yet strong "Younger Than Springtime," both which go over well.

Consola & Melba run the gamut of ballroomlogy, from beguines to of which go over well.

Consola & Melba run the gamut of ballroomology, from beguines to waltzes, with the pair getting some fast handclaps for the big lifts. However, it's the strains of "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles," with the bubbles floating from the ceiling as the couple spin around, that bring out the spontaneous applause. Startling effect has been further enhanced with the femme in fluorescent paint, which seems to color the foamy spheres. Dance gets a big hand.

Johnny Martin has more to do Consola & Melba run the gamut of ballroomology, from beguines to waltzes, with the pair getting some fast, handclaps for the big lifts. However, it's the strains of "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles," with the bubbles floating from the ceiling as the couple spin around, that bring out the spontaneous applause. Startling effect has been further enhanced with the femme in fluorescent paint, which seems to color the foamy spheres. Dance gets a big hand.

Johnny Martin has more to do with this' show than in previous revues, doing a brace of tunes in both production numbers and singing them excellently. Werner Twins have been added to the chorus and the pretty pair spark the line through two fast turns which should appeal to the convention trade. Brian Farnon, be-sides doing the solid batoning, also does the neat vocals for the back-ing of Consola & Melba. Zabe.

Chez Parec, Montreal

Montreal, July 25.

Danny Crystal, Alex & Gelina,
Tip, Tap & Toe, Wally Aspell, Line
(7), Palm de Luca Orch (8), Peter
Barry Orch (5); minimum $2$2.50.

What with the new rate of exchange (the Canadian dollar being at par and above the U. S. buck) and the lack of dough heavy tourists, the Chez Paree, like most of the other saloons around town, has cut its show budget considerably. However, the layout currently on view maintains above-par value at all times. view mai all times all times.

Headliner in present showcase is Danny Crystal, making his fourth appearance in Montreal and still one of the brightest young comics on the circuit. He has a smooth, ingratiating manner, his ad libs are sharp and neatly paced and his 35-minute stint builds solidly.

ad libs are sharp and neatly paced and his 35-minute stint builds solidly.

Opening with a couple of stories that are pointed but not too original, Crystal boffs the house with his musical and song sessions. A switcheroo on the singing commercials as done by Laine, Como, et al., loses some of its impact but guy comes back fast with his bits on Billy Daniels, etc. Big selling point with most of Crystal's material is his savvy in cutting at the right time and never milking with the obvious.

Tip, Tap & Toe, yet trio of hoof-

Versailles, N. Y.

Bernice Parks with Hal Kanner and Tony Scott and choir (4);
Emile Pettl and Panchito orchs; $5

The Versailles is back to solo attractions, segueing into a name policy again after a successful season with the tabloid Georgi: Haleproduced floorshow musicomedy Bernice Parks is concurrent, Gloria Jean, from pictures, makes her nitery bow next month, and Edith Piaf returns post-Labor Day for her sixth season.

This is a someback also for Miss Parks who was last here two years ago, has since been to London, and in the vaudfilmers, but apparently is intent on riding the cafe cres anew, particularly coupled with her recent platterings for the Segar (indie) disk label.

Backed by her own mixed choir (4), with Hal Kanner as special (4), with Hal Kanner as special conductor and Tony Scott her special planist, Miss Parks earries quit an entourage for a saloon songstress. She is patently striving for individualistic impact as a song stylist, and achieves her objective in the main. Very personable, smartly accounted and flashing a pashy chassis, she was a shade too eager-beaver opening night (dinner show), but better at the supper show, especially with elimination of the somewhat affectatious "Cockles and Mussels."

the supper show, especially with elimination of the somewhat affectatious "Cockles and Mussels."

Miss Parks is a modern songstress who must rise or fall on her stylizing, which is true of all vocal delineators. She is more than adequately endowed with the basics—good form and good volce—so that therefore it's 'a matter of show-manship savvy and song selectivity. She has the first s.s. but 'should edit her repertoire, namely, the slowerdowner that comes with the Irish traditional. Also slow is that "New Orleans Rising Sun," but with elimination of "Cockles" undoubtedly the sequencing plays better.

She made needless to-do about her tired volce, having to cut four sides that morning, etc.—something the customers don't and shouldn't want to know about. The natural mental inquiry was then why risk a premiere by such arduous pre-opening night fatigue, and the fact that Art Segar (of the brand of the same name) had a merchandising fever on for "You Intrigue Me" and "That's What a Song Can Do." This is as much of an intra-trade secret as the fact that her cutting of "Walking My Baby Back Home" is some sort of a disk bestseller on Segar's "Top 10" editions. Miss Parks' stress on the disks leaves an audience void in her fallure to identify it as a major brand. It's the tipoff to something that might be construed as a slight pretentiousness. If she can't brag it's a big league label like Victor, Columbia, Decca or Capitol a judicious few lines about certain indie labels also enjoying bestsellers would establish that intimacy and inside-stuff show bir rapport.

For the rest, the crack Emile Petti and Panchito orchestras know how to dish un the danceauter.

timacy and inside-stuff show biz rapport.

For the rest, the crack Emile Petti and Panchito orchestras know how to dish up the dansapation to general satisfaction; they go as much with the lease as the affable maitre d' Robert and the savvy hosting of Nick (Prounis) and Arnold (Rossfield). These veteran bonifaces' combined careers date back to the pre-Prohibition era and into the "lobster palace" days of the now traditional Diamond Jim Brady and Lillian Russell days, and could probably make a book in itself. Nick & Arnold have witnessed the evolution of the New York night life scene from the Rector's and Reisenweber's orbit through the speakeasy and latterday nite club era as few modern bistro bonifaces know it. They reflect it in their operation of the Versailles, notably its cuisine, which is not only superior nite club fare but eclipses many an ultra straight restaurant in its standards.

Club Harrious A. C.

Club Harlem, A. C.

Atlantic City, July 23.

Larry Steele's "Smart Affairs of '53," with Peg Leg Bates, The 4 Tunes, The 3 Chocolateers, Olivette Miller, The 3 Co-Ops, Margee McGlory, The Earls (2), Flick Montgomery & 12 Beige Beauts, Jimmy Tyler Orch (12); $1.85 admission weekdays, $2.50 weekends.

Larry Steele's "Smart Affairs of 1953," two hours of fast entertainment repeating in Club Harlem. resort's top sepia spot, is drawing capacity to early shows and good business at late ones. Weekends it's reservations or no dice, with three Saturday night shows turning 'em away.

The sixth edition of Steele's show deserves and gets payee support: Producer takes four types of American music—western, spirit-uals, blues and progressive Jazz— and works them into à béautifully costumed and well-timed show which is a must with most resort visitors.

which is a must with most resort visitors.

Although Peg Leg Bates is featured, layout is studded with acts which win acclaim. Bates, a terrific act himself for this spot, astounds with his dancing on one wooden and one good leg. Mixes stuff nicely with patter for best response and begs off easily.

Preceding Bates, who holds final spot, is Olivette Miller, a swing harpist of charm and ability whose instrumental and vocal numbers get excellent response. Miss Miller (daughter of Flournoy Miller of "Shuffle Along" fame) reaches her aud with such old faves as "Tea for Two," "Tve Got You Under My Skin;" "Old Black Magic," an improvised boogie woogie bit and a nice number on show biz, "So Much to Do,"

The Four Tunes, with "Sheik of Much to Do,"

The Four Tunes, with guitar, are socko. Open fast with "Sheik of Araby," and go quickly into top number, "Wheel of Fortune." Sentimental "See You in My Dreams" is backed by orch leader Jimmy Tyler's sax. Conclude with neat "Because."

The Co-Ops. a threesome which The Co-Ops, a threesome which became a twosome at show caught due to a member's illness, have varied appeal in song and dance routine. Open with "April in Paris," dramatically sung by girl and hoy beautifully costumed in red. Pair then go into dance which follows the ever faster tempo of the music and whill off to a higher than the property of the music and whill off to a higher than the property of the music and whill off to a higher than the property of the music and whill off to a higher than the property of the property of the music and while off to a higher than the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of the property of follows ows the ever faster tempo of music and whirl off to a big Margee McGlory, impressionist, is okay, with takeoff on Louis Armstrong her best number. The Two Earls are in teeoff spot with acro stint which has wresting-boxing bit as an exciting climax that's well received.

ing bit as an exciting climax that's well received.

Steele, emceeing his new show throughout, works his other acts skillfully into production numbers. The acts on occasion set up these larger parts of the show. "Cavalcade of Jazz" featuring the orch brings the first theme, progressive jazz. It opens the show to get payees in proper mood.

"Negro Spiritual" features Flick Montgomery fronting the chorus to a number sung by Steele.

"Out West" showcases the Three Chocolateers, who deal out liberally doses of western tunes in Negro style. They rock crowd with antics. Finale is fourth theme, encompassing Rhapsody in Blue and "St. Louis Blues," backed by Co-Ops on Berle TV.

Steele's girls (12), 'led by Flick Montgorers.

on Berle TV.

Steele's girls (12), led by Flick
Montgomery, are tastefully costumed for every entrance. Strob is used with telling effect throughout the dances staged in the production bits. Girls make entry through audience with seemingly startling quickness as they move from darkened house into the lights.

lights.

Mrs. Sam Singer and Clifton Williams, who operate Club Harlem, serve no food but depend on bar take to up intake. Same show plays from late June until Labor Day. Spot is air conditioned and seats approximately 500. There's little customer dancing, with show holding major share of attention.

Walk.

Frakson's U. S. Return

Frakson, magico who's been touring Europe and South America for more than a year, returns to the U. S. Sept. 5.

A series of dates are being mapped for him by Al Herman.

Ciro's, Hollywood

Hollywood, July 25.

Rose Marie, Jerry Brandow &
Steve Gondos: Dick Stabile's Orch
(7), Tony Martinez Rhumband
(5); cover $2.

(7), Tony Martinez Rhumband
(5); cover $2.

"It's good to be back in the saloons again," warbles Rose Marie, and proceeds to pour verve into her songs so that the boys in the back room may hear. It's her way of saying via special material that the tiring grind of "Top Banana" her most recent stage project, is now behind her.

The "baby" of early radio is a performer of stature comparable to the comediennes of the hoite belt, and her songs, propelled with a driving personality, get her across in good style. She varies her special material with an ocasional monolog but the lines can stand brightening. As if to prove she has other talents, she takes the finale in a hoofing sesh with Jerry Brandow & Steve Condos. Her mimicry is edged in humored spoofing, the standout being her carbon of Jimmy Durante.

Brandow & Condos have lost none of their edge in this room despite the familiarity with their routines. Their skilled footwork and comedy antics set well here, and they give Rose Marie a goorum for the top billing. They're at the plano, behind the trumpet and winging around the stage, but it's in the hoofing department that the score piles up.

Dick Stabile's backstopping is first rate, and the Latin rhythms of Tony Martinez agitate the footloose and carefree. Helm.

Las Vegas, July 23.
Betty & Jane Kean, Mary Kaye
Trio, Szonys (2), Bill Skipper, Joy
Walker, El Rancho Girls (8), Ted Fio Rito Orch (10); no cover, no
minimum.

Keynote of these next two frames is action, with the Kean sisters' rapid comedy pace, Mary Kaye Trio's dynamic vocalistics, Szonys' terp'ery and Bill Skipper's snapping lead in the line movements. Biz should be plentiful. Keans and Kaye are both topbilled, with, the sisters taking closing slot. Jane Kean emerges first to intone "Wanna Say Hello," which signals Betty Kean's entrance in coonskin cap for ringside handshake tour. The seemingly (Continued on page 66)

Chicago's NEW LAWRENCE

Lawrence & Kenmers Avenues at Sheridan Road Chicago 40, Illineis Longboach 1-2100

JACK DENTON WORLD'S GREATEST COMEDIAN

(Compliments of a Friend)

Thank you, Mr. Seymour Weiss, for have ing me back again at the Blue Room of the Roosevelt Hotel for the past wen-

Lois Lee

New Orleans Times-Picayune, June 27, 1952.

"In vivacious little Lois Lee, the Roosevelt has secured the services of a top flight entertainer whose lilting soprano volce and vibrant personality enchanted her auditors no little. .

"Miss Lee, her abundant chestnut tresses tumbling voluptuously over her well-rounded, decollette shoulders, displayed a voice of considerable range and clarity. She answered several encores after favoring with 'Kiss of Fire,' The Donkey Serenade,' and 'Hello Young Lovers' and was still receiving vigorous applause when she bowed out."

CURRENTLY ON CANADIAN CLASS A FAIR CIRCUIT

THE CHORDS

"Instrumentalists Without Instruments"

Just Concluded

MANITOBA TRADE FAIR—Brandon, Manitoba CALGARY STAMPEDE—Calgary, Alberta EDMONTON EXHIBITION—Edmonton, Alberta SASKATOON EXHIBITION—Saskatoon, Sask.

NOW REGINA EXHIBITION

Regina, Saskatchewan July 28 - August 2

Thanks to ERNIE YOUNG

GENERAL ARTISTS CORP. ew York, Cincinnati, Chicag Dallas, Hollywood, London

Midwest Club Dates and Fairs: HARRY GREBEN 203 N. Wabash Ave. Chicago, Illinois

VAUDERS FORCED OVER 50% LIMIT

Talent Agencies in Drive for Hotels MARTIN-LEWIS, To Install Shows; Top Names Offered

putting on a drive to open new talent operations. They hope that many hotels, currently without niteries and supper clubs, will in-stitute talent policies in the fall.

The date-diggers have been advancing some of their top names in order to achieve that end. For example, Music Corp. of America has been dangling Hildegarde before the Ambassador Hotel, N. Y. The Park Lane, also N. X., has also been approached to open a supper club. Agents have also been contacting major hotels in other cities, now without entertainment rooms, in an effort to get some new spots to open.

So far. the percentage have to open.

So far, the percenters have been meeting considerable resistance. Major argument is the refusal to go into the "20% business," referring to the Federal amusement tax now tacked onto nitery checks. Another point of resistance is the high price of names and unwillingness to open their ledgers for to open their ledgers for going in on percentage deals.

Argument that cafe operations give the inn a healthy share of exploitation hasn't paid off so far. Many hotels' that have profitable dining operations are unwilling to change the format, and those whose dining rooms aren't paying off are unwilling to go to the extra expense of refurbishing a room in order to install entertainment.

Ohio Board Split On Cafe Penalties

Columbus, O., July 29.

The four members of the Ohio Liquor Board are almost all certain that the Alpine Village of Cleveland and the Club Casablanca are guilty of permitting "indescent" entertainment, but when it comes to the penalty to be ladled out, each board member has a different idea of the punishment.

Chairman Frank Krebs said the guilty ruling would be entered on the minutes but that no penalties would be applied because of the deadlock. Whether this can be interpreted to the effect that no punishment will be administered to the two clubs, he did not say.

This is the way the board split: One member wanted both cases dismissed, one wanted liquor licenses revoked in both cases and two members wanted to suspend the permits.

A majority of the board, Krebs said, felt "that such entertainment on the permit places should not be condoned."

condoned."

The Alpine Village was cited for lewd entertainment for the appearance of "Minsky's Follies," and for operating two fixed bars under a permit allowing only one fixed bar. Club Casablanca ran into trouble with the liquor department for Sally Rand's fan dance, which Miss Rand vigorously but futilely defended in a hearing before the board.

Mpls. Cafes Join Drive To Curb Drunk Driving

Minneapolis, July 29.
Nightclubs and bars here are starting a campaign, supplementing that of newspapers to comb starting a campaign, supplementing that of newspapers, to curb drunken driving. A committee comprising members of the industry has been named.

As a starter, the niteries and bars are employing posters in their establishments and taxicabs, and on billboards, to get the message over to the public.

One poster reads "Minneapolis Is America's Safest City—Let's Keep It That Way." Another on the outside and in taxicabs asks that "On Your Night Out, Ride a Cab."

Team for New Act

Pittsburgh, July 29. Marty Allen, Pittsburgh nitery comic who recently dissolved his partnership of several years with partnership of several years with Rex Dale, who is quitting show biz, has teamed with another singer on the Coast, Mitch DeWood, Danny Thomas' singing cousin. Allen and DeWood will break in the new act with DeWood on some western bookings.

Union Pays U.S. For Coin Advance To Stranded Unit

The tangled affairs of "Water Capers" the Noel Sherman-produced water show which had been touring South America, are now being straightened out by the American Guild of Variety Artists. Show was stuck in South America and individual performers had to appeal to the U. S. State Dept. for return transportation.

return transportation.

The Government advanced plane fares to 10 performers after they had signed notes to repay the advance. Union then took $4,000 out of its welfare fund and forwarded that money to the State Dept., taking over the notes. However, AGVA is holding Sherman responsible for the coin, and he's been put on the unfair list.

Union had a $3,500 bond for responsible for the coin, and he's been put on the unfair list.

Union had a $3,500 bond for salaries and $1,000 for transportation, which was inadequate in both departments since Sherman had a weekly payroll of more than $4,000 and transportation costs of considerably more than that. Sherman brought down 54 performers to Central and South America. Bad grosses in several stands brought a stalemate at Montevideo. Several acts went home on their own, 10 received ald from the State Dept. and most of the remainder went to work for a Brazilian impresario who gave them sufficient coin to return home in addition to their salary.

The bond fiasco is likely to cause a more stringent attitude toward posting salary and transportation guarantees.

Judy Canova Settles With Aud on Date

An old legal difference between Judy Canova and Ak-Sar-Ben was finally settled by the District Court. Judge Carroll O. Stauffer granted the Omaha organization a $707 judgment against the hillbilly entertainer in what was described as a "semi-friendly" ending to the lawsuit.

satisfaction of the judgment.

racked the 50% takeout limit by acts working theatres. Name short age and desire for turns assured of turning in a profit to the theatres is forcing house operators to go over the limit which made them equal partners with top turns.

equal partners with top turns.

Dean Martin & Jerry Lewis are getting 70% of the gross in their dates at the Mastbaum, Philadelphia, Aug. 18, and the Paramount, Los Angeles, Aug. 28. Danny Kaye is getting the same percentage for the Curran Theatre, San Francisco. In addition, a Music Corp. of America spokesman, booking M&L, statted that a 70% bid has been proferred by the Paramount, N. Y., as long as six months ago. MCA is currently weighing offers from the Roxy and the Par for appearances by that duo around November.

Naturally, the act getting 70%

Roxy and the Par for appearances by that duo around November.

Naturally, the act getting 70% would pay for the surrounding yaude show and possibly the picture. Just how much other expenses would be borne by the acts haven't been revealed as yet.

Martin & Lewis' previous stand at the Paramount last year brought them $50,000 guarantee plus 50% of the gross over $100,000. They took out about $72,000 on the first week. Bob Hope got the same terms at the Paramount, and took out close to $65,000. Both paid for surrounding talent.

On the other hand, Kaye, with only his accompanist to pay at his last trip at the Roxy, N. Y., took out $37,000 for the first week. He got a $25,000 guarantee plus 50% over $110,000.

The 70% distribution marks a new trend in theatre salarles. Even at that figure operators feel that they'll be taking no chances with such attractions.

The danger in such deals, according to theatre operators, lies in the fact that other top-rated acts feel ing to theatre operators, lies in the fact that other top-rated acts feel zact that other top-rated acts feel that they're also worthy of similar deals. House owneres feel that they'll have to prove their draw before they can even be considered for 50% of the gross, let alone 70%.

De Haven, Monroe, Hildy Set for Springfield Cafe

Set for Springfield Cafe
Springfield, Ill., July 29.
Lake Club, which had dropped name acts for the summer, is swinging back with the booking of Gloria De Haven for the week of
Aug. 9 during the Illinois State Fair. Film songstress will be followed by one-nighter of Vaughn Monroe Aug. 17.
While nitery is trying to fill
September dates, Hildegarde returns for nine days Oct. 17.

A Plug for the Capt.

An old legal difference between fludy Canova and Ak-Sar-Ben was finally settled by the District Court. Judge Carroll O. Stauffer granted the Omaha organization a $707 judgment against the hillbilly entertainer in what was described as a "semi-friendly" ending to the lawsuit.

A year ago last May, Ak-Sar-Ben's $1,250 breach-of-contract suit against Miss Canova was withdraw from trial when attorneys for both sides said they had reached an agreement whereby Miss Canova would make a free appearance here and Ak-Sar-Ben would dismiss its action.

Complete agreement was never reached. The suit grew out of a $1,250 down payment made to a snepresentative of Miss Canova to insure her appearance here for a show in July, 1948. The entertainer failed to show up, the complaint charged. Her answer was that she had not been informed of the date.

In 1948 she did make an appearance in the Om a ha Auditorium with a company and Ak-Sar-Ben attached her share of the receipts, amounting to $707. The money was held and last week the court ordered it released to Ak-Sar-Ben in satisfaction of the judgment.

A Plug for the Capt.

Wiesbaden.

Editor, Variery:
There is a Capt. W. A. Allsbrook, in charge of entertainment in the Wiesbaden area and possibly beyond that, more than casual who rates mention. Being an ex-theatres and influence, pass a lot of acts from all over the world—acts who play before the Armed -Forces. from all over the world—acts who play before the Armed -Forces and through him, and his interest and influence, pass a lot of acts from all over the world—acts who play before the Armed -Forces and through him, and his interest and influence, pass a lot of acts from all over the world—acts who play before the Armed -Forces, from all over the world—acts who play before the Armed -Forces, from all over the world—acts who play before the Armed -Forces, from all over the world—acts who play before the Armed -Forces, from all over the world—acts who play before the Armed -Forces, from all over the world—acts who play before the

Agents Groups United in Move to Balk AGVA Try 'To Kill Off Agcy. Orgs'

Merriel Abbott Opens New Revue Oct. 8

New Revue Oct. 8
Chicago, July 29.
Merriel Abbott's new revue,
"Hold Everything," will open Oct.
8. Rod Alexander and Bambi Linn will headline, with Alexander directing the tab musical.
Revue, which will hold forth at the Palmer House for three months, then tours for at least another three months. At present, Joe E. Howard, Jeff Warren, Leo
De Lyon, Tom Horgan and Patricia
Manning are pacted for the show.

Philly AGVA's Plan for Sharp Slice in Agents

Philadelphia, July 29.
In a double-barreled blast at both the booking agents in this area and the Pennsylvania State Labor Board, which licenses them, Dick Jones, executive secretary of the Philadelphia Branch of the American Guild of Variety Actors, announced plans to halve the everincreasing number of 10%-ers operating in this area.

Counted with the ACVA driverses

erating in this area.

Coupled with the AGVA drive on the fiesh-peddlers will be a campaign by the union to improve dressing room conditions in local niteries and to end the almost general practice of "mixing." State laws frown on "mixing," but enforcement, according to Jones, is virtually nil.

virtually nil.

The AGVA plan to decimate the ranks of the bookers is simple, but eminently workable. Every agent hiring AGVA talent will have to appear before the union's executive board before Sept. 15 in order to qualify for a franchise. The board will give him the franchise free, but first the 10%-er will have to answer a flock of questions concerning his past treatment of performers.

Jones said the booking agent

Jones said the booking agent Jones said the booking agent business has gotten completely out of hand here, thanks to laxity in Harrisburg, the state capitals "A clean collar and $110 are all you need in Pennsylvania to set as a booking agent," the AGVA secretary declared. "In 1946 there were (Continued on page 68)

Leo Stein Quits Hotel To Operate Pitt's Horizon

To Operate Pitt's Horizon
Pittsburgh, July 29.
One of Pittsburgh's best-known hotel figures, Leo J. Stein, has resigned his maitre d' post at the Hotel Schenley after nearly 30 years to become manager of the town's newest nitery and dining place, the Horizon Room at the Greater Pittsburgh Airport. This is the 550-seat cafe which will be operated by Andy Chakeras, who on the Vogue Terrace for several years. He has since sold the Vogue to John Betera.
In addition to the Horizon Room

In addition to the Horizon Room itself, Stein will also be in charge of several banquet rooms at the Airport for Chakeras. Horizon Room opens Aug. 15 with Ted Lewis, who brings his band and show in for two weeks.

Dobrow Exits WM

Harold Dobrow is exiting the William Morris Agency's vaude and foreign department in New York Friday (1).

He had been with the agency more than 15 years, having started in cafes. He switched to foreign and later doubled in vaude.

Eric Thorsen, baritone, opens at the Seabright Yacht Club, Sea-bright, N. J., Friday (1).

Artists Representatives Asm., together with affiliated organizations, have set up a united front in its battle with the American Guild of Varlety Artists on the union's threat to issue franchises individually and not through any organization. At a meeting last week at the Hotel Astor, N.Y., attended by most of the N.Y. membership plus representatives from Detroit, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Chicago, ARA voted unanamously to attempt to "open the door for negotiations" with AGVA and, failing that, will "stand together to resist AGVA's attempt to kill off agency organizations."

ARA last week passed a resolu-

attempt to kill off agency organizations."

ARA last week passed a resolution in which the members reaffermed adherence to ARA and promised not to seek AGVA franchises individually. Agents also passed a resolution declaring that AGVA's attempt to deal with agents individually would be contrary to the best interests of the agency field. ARA also urged that a negotiation committee be appointed to work out terms mutually beneficial to both organizations. Committee would also be empowered to draw a letter to be sent not only to ARA members, but also to other agency organizations and indicagency organizations and indicagency organizations and indicagency organizations. The resolutions passed by the membership. ARA also agreed to ads in theatrical trade papers. Membership agreed to back up the ARA board of governors in any steps it deems (Continued on page 68)

'Star' Vice 'Peep' At N.Y. Holiday

Sharp drop in receipts at the Holiday Theatre, N. Y., to below $9,000 has caused the sudden withdrawal of Frank Sennes' edition of "Peep Show" tonight (Wed.), and Harold Minsky's "Star and Garter" will open Friday (1). De-cision was reached Monday night.

Garter" will open Friday (1). Decision was reached Monday night.
Minsky's layout, playing the Capri nitery, Atlantic Beach, L. I., was rushed into the breach until "Follow the Girls," now in rehearsal, is ready. Latter show will have Willle Shore playing the role originally essayed by Jackle Gleason in the Broadway edition.

The first week of "Peep Show" scored a heaithy $19,000 and following stanza $16,000. Continued heat wave was regarded as one factor that caused the earlier shuttering. "Peep Show" will be refurbished by Mervyn Nelson into a cafe unit and will open at the Riverside, Reno, Aug. 21.

The Holiday, following "Girls," will get the Diosa Costello unit, now at the Cal-Neva Lodge, Lake Tahoe, Nev. There's also some talk that Sennes will produce a unit headed by Sherry Britton for this house and for nitery engagements.

Titles "Peep Show" and "Star & Garter" were leased from Mike Todd, who did the original Broadway productions of both.

Alan Gale to Reopen N.Y. Nitery on Aug. 29

Comedian Alan Gale will reopen the Celebrity Room, N. Y., Aug. 29. Gale operated that spot for a time last year and closed the room (the former Dario's Martinique to return to Miami Beach.

Comic will appear at the dinner show only. The midnight and 2 am. sessions will have a revue, "Nowhere to Broadway," which will have Dane & Collins, Linda Lombard, Eddie Hanley (latter doubling out of the legit musical, "Top Banana"), Geene Courtney, Bobby Baxter and Joan & Ernie Hayden. Gale will work his show with Eddie Stewart, who has been with him in Miami and New York, and the Haydens.

Night Club Reviews

undisciplined antics of Betty bring most of the pair's yocks. Her brasiness occasionally causes the brasiness occasionally causes the brasiness occasionally causes the brasiness occasionally causes the brasiness occasionally causes the brasiness occasionally causes the brasiness occasionally causes the brasiness occasionally causes the brasiness occasionally causes the brasiness occasionally causes the brasiness occasionally causes the brasiness occasionally causes the brasiness occasionally causes the brasiness occasionally causes the brasiness occasionally causes the brasiness occasionally causes the brasiness occasionally causes the brasiness occasionally causes the brasiness occasionally causes the brasiness occasionally causes the brasiness occasionally causes the brasiness occasionally causes the brasiness occasionally causes the brasiness occasionally causes the brasiness occasionally causes the brasiness occasionally causes the brasiness occasionally causes the brasiness occasionally causes the brasiness occasionally causes the brasiness occasionally causes the brasiness occasionally causes the brasiness occasionally causes the brasiness occasionally causes the brasiness occasionally causes the brasiness occasionally causes the brasiness occasionally causes the brasiness occasionally causes the brasiness occasional causes the brasiness occasional causes the brasiness occasional causes the brasiness occasional causes the brasiness occasional causes the brasiness occasional causes the brasiness occasional causes the brasiness occasional causes the brasiness occasional causes the brasiness occasional causes the brasiness occasional causes the brasiness occasional causes the brasiness occasional causes the brasiness occasional causes the brasiness occasional causes the brasiness occasional causes the brasiness occasional causes the brasiness occasional causes the brasiness occasional causes the brasiness occasional causes the brasiness occasional causes the brasiness occasional causes the brasiness occasion brashness occasionally causes the blue lights to flicker, but El Rancho guests don't seem to mind. With Jane chirping "Harry Plays and Margaret Sings," Betty knocks Ted Flo Rito off his 8B perch for some slam-banging of "Missouri Waltz." Interim rough-house is continued during Jane's excellent Louella Parsons lampoon, picked up by Betty in a mad scene from "Streetcar." Gals toss in their two Billy Daniels impresh and "Souse American Way," before a brief gem of "African Queen." Neat-touch of "Bring Back Those Minstrel Days" has Jane's piping an' Betty's terping for exit salvos.

Kaye Trio leads off with tremendous vitality, putting tablers in fine fettle. Unusual sounds, big and resonant or highly rhythmic, emerge from the trio. Mary is pivotal figure with her amplified quitar, flanked by her brother Norman and the very funny Frank Ross, who deubles on tubs and squeezing an accordion. Into "Got You Under My Skin,' trio slows down for ballad "Here in My Heart." Their sock vocal percussions are brought in to surround "Lonesome Road" and "Get a Kick Out of You."

Francols & Giselle Szony are holdovers. The graceful and elegant manner of their dancing is again cheered, with opening pas de deux and a newly created "September Song" focal points for the attentive audiences. Pair serve as sions can stay forever. Lary. blue lights to flicker, but Jane Kean.

Bill Skipper's darting terps and okay warbling set off line's opener with extra dash of pepper. As a youth from Trinidad, he comes to Manhattan in search of dames, finds Joy Walker and comply femmes who surround him. His suitcase dance is a honey and pulls a big hand.

Ted Fig. Bite orch peatly show.

London, July 22.

June & Julie, Arnold Maine,
Edmundo Ros & Arnold Bailey
Orchs; $5.75 minimum.

The peak summer weeks are lean days for the nitery operators, who frequently try to keep running costs down by giving a break to little known talent who can be booked at a modest figure. Currently, with the mercury staying uncomfortable in the eighties, the Bagatelle has given a chance to two gal singers, who have a teagh assignment in following an experienced artist like Julie Wilson.

June & Julie have a simple rou-artist like Julie Wilson.

June & Julie have a simple routine of half-a-dozen numbers, mainly in the lighter key, which are put across without much embellishment but with a pleasing sense of harmony. Material and style are okay, but the duo lack that intangible quality of projecting charm which is necessary for holding and captivating a cafe audience.

With this season, the Bagatelle captivating a cafe audience.

With this season the Bagatelle inaugurates a change in tradition, giving a solo spot to Arnold Maine, planist in the Arnold Bailey band. He has a nice light touch on the ivories and does a good job with a couple of George Gershwin medleys. It helps to bolster a lightweight offering.

The Balley accompaniment is done in their usual polished style, and the Edmundo Ros aggregation offers its familiar standout selections of Latunes.

Myro.

Eddys², K. C. Kansas City, July 25.
Larry K. Nixon, Dolores Hawkins, Tony DiPardo Orch (8); $1 cover.

ins, Tony DiPardo Orch (8); $1 cover.

'Midsummer show at the Eddy establishment combines comedy and songs for a big package of entertainment. The 40-minute show introduces Dolores Hawkins, Columbia-Okeh songstress, to K. C., and brings back Larry Nixon for his third round of comedy. Both are capable performers, and result is a swiftly paced show that holds interest throughout.

Miss Hawkins has the opening assignment, brought on by bandleader Tony DiPardo and off to cheery start with "Get Happy." In more dramatic vein she warbles "I'll Walk Alone," switches to a jivey "For You-My Love," which draws her a hefty hand. Reverses her field for sultry "You Made Me Love You," and gets back to the livelier mood with "Ooo-wee." Closes with "Sing, You Sinners," a good workout for her deepthroated vocalling, and registers strongly with the customers. Columbia has a comer in this blonde gal, an accomplished pop and ballad singer, and a looker as well. Although this is his first time in Eddys', Nixon has played other spots here in recent years and is beginning to have a following here. As a chatter comic he has developed considerably, revealing a raft of new material and giving it polished delivery and timing. Nixon is on with a parody, "Old Pals of Mine," and quickly gets into his comedies, touching upon subjects of wives, television and doctors for his steady string of laughs. Here and there comes a risque inference, but all neatly done.

500 Club, A. C.
Atlantic City, July 24.
Jack E. Leonard, Beverly Hudson, Jaye Bros., Spic'n Span, Lee
Henderson Girls (5), Pete Miller,
Joe Frasetto; $3 minimum.

Jack E. Leonard, bulky comedian, who is no stranger to resort audiences, heads well-balanced show at 500 club.

Comic fits well into night spot picture with his brand of humor, making most of his fun from the situation of the moment, using band or payees in front tables as his foils. While this backfires every so often, Leonard in the end has them on his side. Pipes "Sometimes I'm Happy," and "See You in My Dreams" for good returns.

Beverly Hudson, given second spot on bill, gets good start with oldie "I Got Rhythm." Offers "When Your Lover Is Gone," and

LEE MONTI'S

TU-TONES

Currently Appearing CHICAGO THEATRE Chicage

LEN FICHER ARTISTS CORF. Rast Lake St. CX 4-7353 Chicago

then "Alexander's Ragtime Band." Makes nice appearance and puts songs over socke with strong pipes, hammering last number for all it's worth.

Jaye Bros., clever song team, are in third spot with nice vocals. "Hello My Baby," "Pretty Baby" and "When By Baby Smiles at Me," carboning Ted Lewis, are well received. Then score with "If Didn't Care." "Prisoner of Love" and "Shine." Go off to top appliance plause.

Spic 'n Span are in teeoff spot. Negro tapsters have nice routine and get big hand. Lee Henderson girls (5) are eye-grabbers in two routines.

Joe Frasetto does usual nice job emceeing.

Walk.

Fairmount, Ottawa

Ottawa, July 24.
Rudy Docky, Bob Rollins, Chris
Dee, Wally Wanger Girls (5), Jimmy Lyteel Orch; 75c cover.

In the close, intimate setup of the Fairmount Club, this okay lineup satisfies. Acts are no standouts but general tone of show keeps everybody happy, Rudy Docky tees off with a dance-with-a-doll routine that's only so-so, leading into that juggling and comedy fiddling and mugging, all panto. Highlight of act and show is Docky's seven big looxer dogs in a basketball game, the ugly-pussed canines bouncing balloons in a general melee that has the table-sitters hopping.

Rollins, who emces, works pieces of the audience into an act, uses giveaways and forms balloons into figures, working with an unbilled femme aide. Acro-terps by muscular Chris Dée includes a well-done bit of balancing on blocks.

Wally Wanger Girls (5) are on three times, opening the show with a can-can routine, followed by a "Holiday For Strings" item with Helen Gallagher featured in taps, and tlosing with a "flapperette" number in costumes based on styles in the '20s, Jimmy Lytell orchestra plays slow and smooth for dancing and is okay with the show.

Nautilus, Mianui Beach

Nautilus, Miami Beach (DRIFTWOOD ROOM) Miami Beach, July 28. Patsy Shaw, The Bradys (2), Freddy Calo Orch; minimum $2.

Patsy Shaw, The Bradys (2), Freddy Calo Orch; minimum $2.

This hotel's Driftwood Room has been the surprise of the summer season, with a steady upsurge in patronage for some weeks.

Currently there's Patsy Shaw, who has played the better spots in this area and built a following. Lusty singing comedienne has returned with a good portion of new material, plus a change in physical appearance that adds much to the projection. New wardrobe also adds to impression. Her delivery is broad when it comes to the gags and stories. On the special material side she gets them with "Las Vegas Story," "Come Home, Moe Pincus," straight "Broadway Hall Of Fame," a tribute to femme stars of past, back to laugh-lined stuff via tale of young lass married to a tired musician; winds with loud lampoon on Latin thrushes. Encores with giggle-raising "Traveling Saleswoman" and, for change-of-pace, "How Deep Is the Ocean," skillfully handled. Has them all the way, building into sock bowoff. The Bradys hold over with their Latin terps and garner fair mitting. Freudie Calo orch is apt on the showbacks, and keeps the dance adicts happy.

Lary.

Birdland, N. Y.
Count: Basic Orch (16), Lester
Young Quintet; $1 general admission, $2.50 minimum.

This middown Broadway spot is currently one of the handful of jiveries operating on a regular all-week basis in New York City. Although this hepeat hangout ones was exclusive territory for the "progressive" and bebop set, club has recently been tacking with the prevailing musical winds in the direction of good old-fashioned Dixieland and swing. It hasn't, however, given up the ghost completely, and such innovators as George Shearing, Dizzy Gillespie, Miles Davis and other futuristic exponents are still booked regularly.

Count Basie, who fronted one of caponents are still booked regularly.

Count Basie, who fronted one of the great outfits during the band biz heyday of the 1930's, is headlining the current Birdland program with a crew organized last year. It's another solid jump aggregation of five reeds, seven brass and four rhythm, including Basie on the keyboard. Band has a hardhitting instrumental attack with a couple of excellent sax sidemen carrying most of the solo assignments. Brass section blasts with precision in colorful, contrasty arrangements. The piano-bassguitar-drums setup furnishes a rhythmic rockbed for the whole aggregation.

Alternating with Basie's orch on aggregation.

Alternating with Basie's orch on the bandstand is Lester Young, who, incidentally, was with Basie in his most successful days. Young is accomped by a standout trumpet man, Joe Newman, and a three-

(Continued on page 68)

COMEDY MATERIAL For All Brunches of Theutricula BILLY FUN-MASTER

CLASON'S FUN-MASTER

THE ORIGINAL SHOW BIZ GAG FILE
(The Service of the Stars)
35 155UES 925

First 13 Files $7.00. All 35 issues $25.00

Simply: $1.95 Bach in SEQUENCE Only (Beginning with Ne. 1—No Skipping)

3 BEK. PARODIES per book $10 to MINSTERL BUDGET

4 BLACKOUT BKS. TO
HOW TO MADE SERVICE CEREMONIES
GIANT CLASSIFIED ENCYCLOPEDIA
OK GAGS, $300. Worth over a thousand
NO C.O.D.'S

BILLY GLASON

200 W. $4 St., New York 19 Dept. Y

WHEN IN BOSTON

1650 Biway New York NY

It's the HOTEL AVERY

Avery & Washington Sts The Home of Show Folk

GEORGE PRENTICE

PUT THE "PUNCH" in "PUNCH and JUDY"

RETURN ENGAGEMENT!

PALMER HOUSE, CHICAGO July 31st Thru Sept. 3rd

Thanks to MERRIEL ARROTT

Direction-MARK LEDDY and Leon Newman

ENGLAND'S ECCENTRIC COMEDY STAR JUST CONCLUDED

Opening Aug. 7 CASINO, Montreal

RECENT ENGAGEMENTS

LAST FRONTIER, LAS VEGAS

RADIO CITY MUSIC HALL, NEW YORK ROXY, NEW YORK PALACE, NEW YORK

TELEVISION JIMMY DURANTE ED WYNN ED SULLIVAN

JAMES MELTON

Personal Management: HAROLD DUBROW WILLIAM MORRIS AGENCY

TO ALL VARIETY AGENTS AND AGENTS' ASSOCIATIONS:

Do Not Accept Any Franchises Directly From AGVA Under Their Arbitrary Rules

ARA Membership—Over 500 Agents Unanimously Voted For Unity

The ARA negotiated contracts with AGVA have protected you for over 12 years.

Agents must refuse to be regulated without a fair negotiated agreement.

Agents cannot be in a position to have claims made and processed against them without the backing of a strong organization.

DON'T JEOPARDIZE YOUR INVESTMENT IN YOUR BUSINESS.

A FREE FRANCHISE TODAY WILL BE EXPENSIVE TOMORROW.

Full cooperation between ARA and AGVA as existed for over 12 years is necessary.

A Healthy relationship of agents with AGVA must be reinstated in the interests of AGVA, its members, and agents.

We want now to negotiate a proper contract with AGVA. AGVA was required to negotiate since January, 1949, by the contract between AGVA and ARA. ARA constantly requested negotiation.

Healthy relationship of AGVA and its members with agents' associations will continue to create additional employment for AGVA members at maximum compensation and conditions to AGVA members.

AGENTS AND AGENTS' ASSOCIATIONS ARE VITAL TO THE VARIETY FIELD.

DON'T LET YOUR BUSINESS SLIP THROUGH YOUR FING-ERS BY ACCEPTING A FRANCHISE DIRECTLY FROM AGVA. WE INVITE ALL AGENTS' ASSOCIATIONS AND INDIVID-UAL AGENTS TO JOIN ARA NOW.

Unitedly Yours,

ARTISTS' REPRESENTATIVES ASSOCIATION, INC. 1270 6th Avenue, New York City

ENTERTAINMENT MANAGERS' ASSN. OF CHICAGO, INC. 203 N. Wabash Avenue, Chicago, III.

Including — CINCINNATI DALLAS
CLEVELAND DENVER

EL PASO DES MOINES KANSAS CITY ST. LOUIS

ENTERTAINMENT MANAGERS' ASSN. OF PITTSBURGH, INC. 754 Century Bidg.\ Pittsburgh, Pa.

MICHIGAN THEATRICAL BOOKING-AGENTS ASSOCIATION 900 National Bank Bldg., Detroit, Mich.

THEATRICAL AGENTS, INC., OF NEW ENGLAND 260 Tremont Street, Boston, Mass.

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA THEATRICAL AGENTS ASSN.

580 Washington Street, San Francisco, Cal,

Agents Groups Unite

will be a bitter struggle in the union's attempt to bypass agency organizations in issuing free franchises to all agents instead of getting $50 from indie agents and issue free franchises to percenters through ARA and similar organizations. ARA charged members $50 annual dues, same fee as an agent would have paid for a franchise issued independently. sued independently.

ARA is backed in its fight with the union by agency groups in Chicago, Los Angeles, New England, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Miami Beach and elsewhere.

A spokesman for AGVA declared that a few individual applications

A spokesman for AGVA declared that a few individual applications have already come in. However, ARA denied that any applications have come from its members. An officer of ARA declared that acts will stick with the agents who can give them work. He said, "We represent the cream and the strength of the agency business. Most actors cannot afford to be without work for any length of time. They will have to come to us ultimately even though their union forbids it." Another declared that although there are about 9,000 AGVA ts, there

PADDY WING

"Artistry in Ballet Taps" OPENING JULY 28 GLENN CASINO BUFFALO, N. Y.

Followed By
EARLY BIRD-Spokane, Wash,
CLOVER CLUB-Portland, Oregon
CASTLE CLUB-Vancouver, Wash,
SHAMROCK HOTEL-Houston, Texa
ADOLPHUS HOTEL-Dallas, Texas

Management: HARRY W. LAURENCE 1650 Broadway New York 19, Ņ. Y. Circle 6-6439 necessary in order to preserve the organization.

Indications point up that there will be a bitter struggle in the union's attempt to bypass agency organizations in issuing free franciscular and particular that the union have about 20,000 acts to choose from in setting up dates:

in setting up dates:
Union maintains that it has sufficient control over its members to have them steer clear of agents on the unfair lists. There will be plenty of qualified agents to get work for them. There's the danger, it was pointed out, that agents if put on the unfair list will lose many acts who will have to go to a licensed percentery for work.

Philly AGVA

Continued from page 65

only 38 agents in Philadelphia. Now there are 105 licensed agents and 120 associates. All told, there are 225 people making a comfortable living out of approximately 900 actors.

The figure of 225 bookers and ane ngure or ZZD bookers and associates dates back three months, Jones said, adding "there are prob-ably a couple dozen more now, as the situation grows worse every day,"

The union's only hope is a get-The union's only hope is a get-tough policy, the secretary assert-ed. Between Sept. 1 and 15, every booking agent will be called in to, answer the board's questions. Jones said they, had enough infor-mation and complaints already on hand, concerning exorbitant com-missions and mistreatment of acts, to deny franchises to over half of the town's licensed agents.

Enforcement of the mixing laws in Philadelphia were called "a joke?" and the AGVA will do its own policing of the spots.

Curiously, the AGVA drive on the agents is finding support in the ranks of the bookers. Some of the town's older established booking offices are wholehearted support-ing Jones' campaign against the malpractitioners and the johnny-come-latelys.

Grosvenor House Bid

By Hilton Chain Nixed

The bid to secure control of Grosvenor House, Park Lane, on behalf of Hilton Hotels, has been rejected. Charles Taylor, M. P., chairman of the company, has told stockholders that the board is not able to recommend acceptance of the offer, which was made by Charles Clore through his Princes Investments. Investments.

Investments.

The board consider that the ordinary stock, which has a par value of 70c, is currently worth $1.70.

The ofter for a controlling block of stock was on the basis of 85c a

Saranac Lake

SATABLE LARC

By Happy Benway
Saranac, N. Y., July 26.
Seventy-five TV specialists met at the Will Rogers Hospital for their fourth, session of the Saranac Lake Tuberculosis Symposium.
Medical director Dr. George E.
Wilson hosted.
Robert J. Goldstein, theatrical attorney and ex-Rogerite, '49, in, from Plainfield, N, J., for a general checkup. He is back working with a 100% all-clear.
Don Wright, artist and designer with Radio City Music Hall, who beat the rap, was in for weekend vacash.

with Radio City Music Hall, who beat the rap, was in for weekend vacash.

Thanks to Rube Bernstein and the gang at the Lambs Club for the playing cards shot in for the gang here. Ditto to Jack Frazer of the yesteryear trio, Weber, Beck & Frazer, and Joe McCarthy, IATSE executive, for magazine and news matter for our reading table. Ray (IATSE) Van Buren rated surgery from his observation period, so he's in and out of the general hospital. He took the operation like an old veteran.

Ford Raymond, ex-NVA, a musician who graduated here in '36, was in from Los Angeles. He took a general checkup and rated the green light.

Patients were handed a real treat in preview of "The Will Rogers Story" (WB).

Bea LaFountain, frau of Durgan's bonlface, Mose LaFountain, while driving home hit and killed a large black bear weighing over 200 pounds. Front of car was demolished.

Robert Nesbitt, Paramount theatre manager, left for Steubenville, O., where he will continue the cure.

cure.

Lawrence Garber, N. Y. projectionist, in from Brooklyn for a week's vacash and general checkup. Write to those who are ill.

Dick Henry, Ex-Morris, Opening Own Agency

Dick Henry, who will be leaving the William Morris Agency nitery dept. early in September, expects to open his own agency. Retirement agreement with the agency had been set shortly before Henry left for a brief vacation a couple of weeks ago.

Henry, who's been with the Morris office for more than 20 years, anticipates his own setup will comprise a vaude-cafe and outdoor dept. which he will head. Other percenters will handle video and club dates.

Vaude, Cafe Dates

New York

Jimmy Symington, opens at the Congress Hotel, St. Louis, Aug. 15 to Sept. 7. Goes into the Carnavar Room of the Sherry Netherland, N. Y., Sept. 24... Julie Wilson, who returned to the U.S. Monday (28) after a stand at the Bagatelle, London, is at the Mark Hopkins Hotel, San Francisco, Oct. 28.

Night Club Reviews

man rhythm section. This music is in the more modern groove, with Young's supple sax technique in the forefront. Young is virtually a regular at this spot, appearing every couple of months with various other headliners. Herm.

El Cortez, Las Vegas Las Vegas, July 23.
Joaquin Garay, Mae Williams;
Alice Hall Quartet, Joe Rotundi;
no cover, no minimum.

Latest combination in this intime downtown Vegas mitery has the comedy and warbling of Joaquin Garay and thrushing of Mae Williams. New three-show's - night policy has resolved into sound idea, with tables filled for each layout.

Garay is especially good in the smaller niteries, creating a feeling of camaraderie essential to such spots. 'Although he often trips over the borderline of Indigo, his almost innocent manner of delivery offsets any offensive material. Takes off with Mexicano linguistics of 'Gay Ranchero,' switching to English. Medley of old tunes is received okay, but his Calypso "Senorita What's Her Name" pulls outright mitts and yocks. Long Texan gabsesh into "Smoke, Smoke, Smoke That Cigaret" could be cut, however.

Miss Williams is a valuntuous

That Cigaret" could be cut, however.

Miss Williams is a voluptuous songstress with full-throated pipes. Her rich deep tones come out in opener, "Kiss of Fire," and are lightly bandied in "Sing You Sinners." Tribute to Jane Froman follows with "I'll Walk Alone." Special lyrics to "No One Woman" is lightly bounced rhythmically, and closer, "Making Whoopee," has deft know-how.

Alice Hall. Quartet sizzles the curtain-raiser slot with "Hawaiian War Chant," featuring her skat vocals and expert squeezeboxing, Bassist Pua Almedia adds authentic island verblage to the chant. Joe Rotundi takes over at the 88 for accomping, aided by drums and bass.

Will.

Gatineau Club, Ottawa

Jerry Cooper, Johnny Howard, Chet Clark, June Oliver Girls (6), Harry Pozy Orch (8); 75c cover, $1 Sat.

Johny Howard comes to the Gatineau Club with a big, rosy reputation from Montreal, where he gets annual top rating, but the Gatineau crowd, though liking him, took to him moderately when caught. Howard is a good worker with okay material, but he gives the customers little that's new in routining, doing so-so impressions. Chet Clark, youthful and clever harmonica player, begged off at show caught with okay renditions of some classical toughies followed by "Basin St." and "12th St. Rag."

Jerry Cooper, held over to work

Jerry Cooper, held over to work with the chic June Oliver girls in production numbers, is teeing off the show with "Lullaby of Broadway" number and ending with smash "Roaring '20s" business, both routines also holdovers but still strong enough, Cooper's songs and trombone-playing spark the whole show, which manager Joe Saxe tags the "Roaring 20s" revue, highlighted by a sock exotic specialty with the girls. Lighting, music arrangement and boff terps combine with Cooper's smooth, forceful work to make this a standout.

out.

Harry Pozy orch is plenty okay for both show and dancing, Johnny Johnston is at the cocktail lounge plano.

Gorm.

Clover Club, Miami

Miami, July 28.
Joey Adams with Al Kelly, The Nov-Elites (3), Louise Brown, Los Romeros, Tony Lopez Orch; minimum $3.50.

Switch from two production units ("Hour of Charm" and "A Night in Havana") with high budgets, to a straight-act presentation sans production ideas, seems to have clicked for Jack Goldman in its mainland year-round spot. He's moved in Joey Adams as his top-liner with a supporting cast that makes for a slow start but builds to solid satisfaction and healthy biz.

Adams is normally a Beach-side fave. In this move to the Miami sector, he's pulling them from the oceanfront hotels as well as building via pull of local radio fans who heard him on recent "Rate Your Mate" (CBS) airer. Works in his puckish approach rapidly via stories and gags for rapidly mounting audience reaction. Al. Kelly does the doubletalk routine, standard with the pair, for a solid session.

The Nov-Elites, preceding, almost steal the proceedings with their sock instrumentals (bass, accordion, guitar), special material and laugh-lined vocalistics and impressions:

and laugh-lined vocasistics and impressions:

Louise Brown is a well-gowned thrush who, on show caught, was tangled up-with virus. Her three specials, contain possibilities. Los Romeros tee off matters with flamenco work, plus other Latinanties that are fair. Tony Lopez orch is tops, on the backgroundings.

Lary.

Heller Hits Road

Pittsburgh, July 29.
With the Carousel, which he owns, closed down for the summer and the cancellation of his quarter-hour Wednesday evening TV show here for Amana Home Freezers, Jackie Heller's hitting the road again until September, when his downtown room will reopen.

Last weekend Heller played the Twin Coaches, on Route 51 be-tween here and Uniontown; next week, he goes into the Club 30 near Chester, W. Va., and on Aug. 11 begins a fortnight's stand at the Elmwood Inn, Windsor, Canada, across from Detroit.

CARROLL

GORMAN King Recording Artists

Yeaman's Supper Club Detroit July 28 to Sept. 7

Address: 313 Seventy-Eighth Street Miam Beach, Florida

HELENE and HOWARD

Currently

LAST FRONTIER HOTEL
Las Vegas, Nev.
Dir.: M.C.A.
Per. Mgt. TOM SHEILS

Grant's Riviera

RESTAURANT AND BAR 58 W. 44 St., New York LU 2-4488

WHERE SHOWBUSINESS MEETS TALENT CONTEST

MONDAY NIGHTS Prixe: Professional Engagement

Duplicate Prizes Awarded in the Case of Ties

"The Day Dreamers have a catalogue that will appeal to all tastes. Nets them an excellent mitting."

Jose, VARIETY

"Hottest new combo in years."
NICK KENNY, N. Y. MIRROR

"We must vote The Day Dreamers the best singing ensemble that we have heard in a long time. They work together like a top-flight team should work."

CINCINNATI POST

THE

That Fabulous Foursome

IREAMER

Currently GLENN CASINO BUFFALO

Followed by

EARLY BIRD CLUB.....Spokane CLOVER CLUB.....Portland CASTLE CLUB... Vancouver, Wash. YEAMAN'S ......Detroit SHAMROCK HOTEL.....Houston ADOLPHUS HOTEL......Dallas

> Management: HARRY LAWRENCE 1650 B'way. Cl. 6-6439

Another French Nitery for Stem; Cafe Mambo on Sugar Hill Site

New York nitery business is expected to upbeat in the fall. List of cases will be expanded considerably via present plans and most spots are expected to get toprated

Largest reopening currently on the calendar is that of the former Gilded Cage as the Cafe Continental. Concessionaire Abe Ellis, who holds a chattel mortgage on the spot, is currently making a deal to get the place reopened with a show comprising U. S. and imported acts.

Ellis has been in on most of the operations of this club since he obtained the mortgage on the spot when it was the Hurricane. Since then, it's been the Zanzibar, Van-ity Fair, Bop City, Harem, Para-dise and Gilded Cage.

dise and Gilded Cage.

Other openings forecast for the Stem area include that of the Mambo Club on the site last known as the Sugar Hill. This spot will most likely have two Latin bands and a Latin show. At the same time, the Havana-Madrid, may switch to a policy of American turns instead of continuing with its present Latin policy.

On the eastside, the Orch Club

On the eastside, the Orch Club will be reopened as the Parisian Frolics by Monte Gardiner.

El Borracho, N. Y., Sued By Govt. on Overcharges

By GOVI. On OVERCHARGES
Federal Government has filed sult against El Borracho, N. Y.
cafe, for $50,020 triple- damages for charging over-ceiling prices.
Sult filed in Federal Court charged that the eatery effected savings on food and drink costs which should have been passed on to the pa-

Original overcharges, according the Government, was $16,673. pot is frequently by many show

Held Over 3rd Week WASHINGTON, D. C.

FOSTER AGENCY, LONDON,

Now Appearing
CASINO TRAVEMUNDE

American Rep. WM. MORRIS AGENCY TAYEL-MAROUANI AGENCY, PARIS

IN THE HEART OF CHICAGO'S LOOP near the Chicago, Harris, Selwyn and Erlanger Theatres, and adjacent to all television stations it's the

RANGROFT HOTEL 89 W. Randelph St. Franklin 2-4746 Special Rates for Shew Felk Nawly Decorated New Management

ARENA MGRS. ASSN. IN 3-DAY A.C. MEET

Arena Managers Assn., organization of arena owners, will hold its annual three-day confab at Convention Hall, Atlantic City, starting Monday (4). First two days will be devoted to bookings of "Ice Capades" and "Ice Cycles." John Harris (Harris Amus. Co., Pittsburgh) will officiate at this part of the meeting.

Harris (Harris Amus, Co., Pittsburgh) will officiate at this part of the meeting.

Walter Brown, prexy of the Boston Garden, Boston, will officiate at the Wednesday session, which will discuss attractions being offered to arena operators. Vote will be taken on which shows will tour next season. AMA has already agreed to another Gale Agency package of the "Biggest Show of 1952.

AMA will elect officers at this shindig. "Ice Capades" will fete the AMA membership at a banquet at Hackney's restaurant on Tuesday.

Memorial Arena, Ft. Wayne, Ind., has applied for membership in AMA. Application will be voted on Wednesday.

Organization has refained Cliff Lewis, formerly with—MGM to be advertising and publicity manager for "Ice Capades."

Closeup on 'Soldiers In Greasepaint' As Detailed by Ex-B'way GI

Editor VARIETY:

Editor VARIETY:

Yesterday I received my copy of VARIETY from a little lass in one of New York's talent agencies who has been sending them to her "friend" in brown for more than 20 months. (If in case you need a testimonial, six others read it after I do.) It took me a short time after I finished it to decide to write to you and because I have some-arter I misned it to decide to write to you and because I have something to say and I want to get it out of my system.

Towards the end of 1950 I was lifted from a soft chair and premature ulcers that I had procured at Dahlman & Dahlman—now a defined, modulation, company—and lifted from a soft chair and premature ulcers that I had procured at Dahlman & Dahlman - now a defunct production company—and placed in a southern climate area. I was given an MI rifle, 90 pounds of props, and two pairs of solid steel combat boots. I was going to be a soldier, you see; or at least that's what their original intention was. I went through all of the preliminaries like a miscast soubret, completely out of character. Fortunately, I completed the 16-week run-of-the-play, but the plans for release from the infantry contract had been already conceived and accumulated in my throtfled brain. So I made the plunge, and after a few days of interviews, lunges, retreats, en gardes, and more lunges, I was placed in the Soldier Show Branch of Special Services. Anyone who went through it in the last war will agree that this is a very difficult thing to do. It's more or less like trying for summer stock in the middle of the season.

No Fishers or Damones
My intention in writing you, however, is not to tell you about myself personally. I want to talk about dozens of guys that I have met and worked with since being in the service. I want to tell you about guys that were on Broadway or Hollywood & Vine, or Des Moines, and even Nashville. Maybe they weren't names like Damone and Fisher, and maybe you have never heard of a comedian named Don Mullin, or an actor named Don Leone, or a dancer named Mickey Miller; but they're in show biz for sure, and you'll hear about them in a few years. Some of them are former assistant directors, or production assistants, or set designers, some are aerial artists, writers, announcers, young for sure, yet their claim to life is what tors, or production assistants, or set designers, some are acrial artists, writers, announcers, young for sure, yet their claim to life is what we all love, the world of drama, and music, and comedy, and all the things that comprise what we call show business. And this they have carried with them into the armed services in their hearts, and in their work. This has been transplanted from the commercial outlets into their respective assignments and army posts. From one

ments and army posts. From one (Continued on page 70)

'Partner' Walks, So Coast Crescendo Folds

Hollywood, July 29.

Possibility of a reopening of the Crescendo, Sunset strip nitery shuttered by the sheriff Friday (25) as a result of financial difficulties, is held improbable in the wake of new union tangle. Hollywood, July 29.

the wake of new union tangle.

The American Guild of Variety Artists had greenlighted plans for reopening after operator Harry Steinman tendered a check signed by a downtown businessman covering coin owed singers Ella Mae Morse and Champ Butler. Businessman apparently was to have been a partner but changed his mind over the weekend and stopped payment on check.

AGVA is still trying to collect

stopped payment on check.

AGVA is still trying to collect $750. AFM local 47 is trying to collect $1,000 owed Hazel Scott and other musicians who played there. Receivers now control physical property and it's reported
Steinman is barred from premises.

COAST AGVA FORCING PAY FOR D.J. GUESTING

Hollywood, July 29.
Crackdown on deejay programs interviewing performers from restaurants where their programs emanate will make deejays or eateries sign a minimum basic agreement and post bond to pay performers a one-night scale.

Vaude union feels gratis per-formances are being abused. Per-formers appearance is serving as a customer lure even though he may only be interviewed and not do his regular act.

regular act.

Coast AGVA chief Eddie Rio says, "if they want to use performers, let them act as regular employees." Union also wants clubs to go through various legal technicalities, including paying insurance, withholding, social security and income tax.

B&P Union Settle Pay Issue For 'Bagels,' Offset Cast Walkout

Ticket Specs Upset By Coronation Route

London, July 22,

Publication of the official Coro nation route has upset the calculations of many speculators, who tions of many speculators, who gambled that the royal pageant would follow the 1937 course. Leading ticket brokers, who were compelled to delay allocations until the route was announced are now beginning to sort the thousands of applications that have come from all parts of the world. Window seats will vary from around $25 up to a ceiling price of $100.

With nearly a year to go before the Coronation, all the leading London hotels have already posted SRO notices. It would have been a capacity week anyway because the ceremony clashes with Derby Week.

Damone Pulls 2,500 In Vermont Benefit

Burlington, Vt., July 29.
Vic Damone pulled 2,500 into Centennial Field Wednesday (23)
for "Music Under the Stars," Burlington Free Press Foundation benefit. Singer was flown here from San Antonio.

Crowd was one of biggest for Crowd was one of biggest for any outdoor music program in history of city. Seats were $1.20 and $1.80 with children in at 60c. Warren S. Freeman, of Boston, directed "Music Under the Stars which offered three bands and variety entertainment for two

A walkout of the cast of "Bagels and Yox," while playing last week at the Laurels, Long Beach, L. I., was averted after a truce between Beckman & Pransky and Arthur Sommers of the Brandt Theatre chain, on the one hand, and the American Guild of Variety Artists, on the other. Agreement is for no payroll cuts until a new contract is negotiated by Sept. 7, when show is slated to open in Boston.

Cast protested to the union that the management had asked the cast to take a layoff at no pay. When the acts refused, management then stated that if the cast insisted on getting paid, the management would revert to contracted salaries instead of current payroll wages, which were higher, since management had raised the pay without putting the higher amount into the contract.

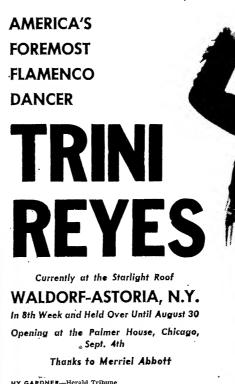

contract.

After negotiation with the union, it was agreed that present wages would be continued. Cast had also asked for restoration of a cut that had been instituted earlier this year. However, that will be negotiated when deal is being made for the new contract.

Cast also felt that it had been entitled to redress on the matter of commissions. It felt that Beckman & Pransky, as show's producers, had no right to take 10% from the acts. This issue will be negotiated.

Show opened this week at the Brighton, Brooklyn.

Toledo Opener
Toledo, July 29.
Fall season of the Toledo Sports
Arena will get under way earlier than usual, with "The Biggest Show of 1953," Sept. 24.
Headliners are Stan Kenton's orch, Nat "King" Cole and Sarah Vaughan.

MY GARDNER—Herald Tribune
"Trini Reyes, billed as the (world's greatest Flamence dancer) and . . . she is."

LEE MORTIMER—New York Mirror "Trini Reyes, flery Flamence dancer, knocks herself out in some excellent dances."

GENE KNIGHT—World-Telegram and Sun
"Take a tip from me and keep your eye en Trini when she goes into the Farruca."

ROBERT DANA—World-Telegram and Sun
"The petite brunette of concert skill was dynamic last night."

JOSE—VARIETY
"To break up Los Chavales act the Waldorf brought in Trini Reys, one of the best famma Flamencoists around, She displayed pyrofechnics and natural skill of the iberian terp to hit a high appliand rating."

SYLVESTER—News
"Trial Reyes is one of the ablest and prettlest Spanish dancers produced in this country, best since Carmen Amaya."

Direction:

LARRY GENGO FRANK SENNES OFFICE

225 West 57th St. New York, N. Y.

VARIETY BILLS

WEEK OF JULY 30
Numerals in connection with bills below indicate epening day of show whether full or split week

Letter in parentheses indicates circuit, (FM) Fanchen Marco; (i) independent; (i.) Loew; (M) Moss; (P) Faramount; (R) RKO; (S) Stoll; (T) Tivoli; (W) Warner; (W) Welfer Reade

New York City Music Hall (I) 31 Roger King Mozlam Moscelyn Larkin Roger Calder Patricis Rayney Bob Williams Chick Chester William Maun Rockettes Corps de Ballet Sym Ore

Sym Orc
Falsce (R) 1
Joe Jackson Jr
Betty Brett
Phill Lawrence &
Mitzl
Leonardo & Anita
Ben Yost Vikings
Congaroos
Prof Backwards
Linda & Constant

Paramount (P) Eiliot Lawrence Orc Don Cornell Mickey Deems 4 Evans Trudy Richards (Wisc)
Palace (h) 4 enly
Asylum of Horrors
VIRGINIA
(Minn)
State (p) 1 enly
Asylum of Horrors

Roxy (I) 1

Roxy (1)
Tony Bennett
Phil Foster
Roxyettes
Spitalny Singers
Arnold Shoda
Manuel Del Toro
Ann Nichols
Gerry Mahoney
Blades & Belles

AUSTRALIA Lowe & Ladd . Guy Nelson Renita Kramer Bouna Overbury & Suzette Sonya Corbeau 12 Show Girls 10 Nudes 6 Boy Dancers & Singers

WASHINGTON
Capitol (L) 31
(ary Small ee Davis
aye Bros

tros & Hale

ADELAIDE
Royal (T) 28
Jimmy Hanley
Babs Mackinnon
Rosemary Miller
June Lansell
Valerie Keast
Robert Levis MELBOURNE

MELBOURNE
Tivoll (T) 28
nmy Trinder
lotonds ama & Konarski
f Olgo
l Ames
rston MacGregor
rry Moreny
y Lamond

eter
Singing Girls
Show Girls
Dancing Boys
Adorables SYDNEY
Tivoil (T) 28
Mara & Maurice
3 Daresco

12 Show Girls 10 Nudes 6 Boy Dancers & 6 Boy Dancers & 12 Ballet NEW ZEALAND Christchurch Tivoli (i) 22 Armand Perren Payes Gerd Biornstad Chribi Marikk Saary Phillip Tappin Mim De Jong Joe Whitehouse Clasy Trenholm Terry Scanlon Guus Brox & Myrna TATN BRITAIN

Derek Dixor

Yvonne Duprez
Harry Mullins
COVENTRY
Hippodrome (I) 28

BLACKPOOL Opera House (i) 28 Lester Ferguson Terry-Thomas Somprini Dandy Bros Harry Balley Pamela Kay Corps de Ballet

Harry Mullins
COVENTRY
Hippodrome (D) 28
Max Wall
Dicky June
Blocky June
Heddley Ward 3
P & P Page
Liazed Tp
Jean Faul
Sherman Fisher Gls
DERBY
Hippodrome (S) 28
Johnnie Lockwood
Maureen Comfort
Terry Brent
Anton Petrof
Blakeman 3
Al Gillyon Pamein Kay
Corps de Ballet
Regency 8
Albert Marland
Magyar Dancers
20 Tiller Girls
Roof Top Lovelles
Falace (i) 28
Tessle O'Shea
Douglas Maynard
Chris Charlton
Joe Crosbie
A & B Black
Bentley Sisters
Will Carr Co Anton Petr Blakeman Al Gillyon Crochet Stevano (i) 28 Paul Steyano EAST HAM
Granada (I) 28
2 Alfredos
Al Shaw
Hal Lennon & Val
V & M Norman
5 Internationals
Siblons

Will Carr Co
Tower Circus (I)
C Calroll & Paul
Knie's Llons &
Tigers
Rose Gold 3
Chezzi Bros
Knie's Horses &
Zebras Chezzi Bros
Knie's Horses &
Zebras
Reges Se
Reges Se
Lao
Knie's Lippizanas
Jackie Lupescu
Oliveras
Knie's Baimal
Knie's Baimal
Knie's Baimal
Knie's Baby Elephants
Little Scott
Annette's Circusette
Winter Gardens
Frasars Harmonica
Freddie Sales

Shions
Metropolltan (I) 28
Wally Brennan
Michael Corb
Minallytich Bros
Joe Avon
Joe Avon
Barbara Stetson
Bway Girls
Palace (I) 28
J Winters & G
Fielding
D Neal & P NewIngton

D Neal & Ington
Jenks & Williams
4 Musical Derricks
Phil Lester
Marle De Vere

Phil Lester
Marle De Vere
Giris
EDINBURGH
Empire (M) 28
Arthur Lane
John Mann
Deryck Barnes
Doris Yorke
FINSBURY PARK
Empire (M) 28
Gypsy Rose Lee
Adelaide Hall
G & A Noonan
Shamvas
Lest Proise Poupee

Frasers Ilaymonica
Codie Sales
Servicia Puppets
Fave & Tamara
Billy McCornack
Kathleen Gray
Doreen Hinton
12 Beau Belles
Konnie Ronald
Ronnie Ronald
Billy Whittaker
Mimi Law
BRADFORD
Alhambra (M) 28
Laurel & Hardy
MacKenzle Reid &
Dorothe
Lonsdale Sisters
Cingalee
Harry Worth
Kenways
Lorraine
CARDIFF G & A Noonan
Shamvas
Les Trois Poupee
2 Alfredos
Morecanbe & Wise
Frances Duncan
GLASGOW
Empire (M) 28
Sugar Chile Robinson
Len Young

Sugar Chile Robinson, Young
Len Young
Clifford Stanton
Jean Kennedy
Jean Kennedy
A Franks
S & P Kaye
S & P Kaye
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Fakinan
Faki

Harry Worth
Kenways
Lorraine
CARDIFF
Hew L(5):28
Carroll Pevis Co
Misser Co
Misser Co
Misser Co
Misser Co
Misser Co
Misser Co
Misser Co
Misser Co
Misser Co
Misser Co
Misser Co
Misser Co
Misser Co
Misser Co
Misser Co
Misser Co
Misser Co
Misser Co
Misser Co
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misser
Misse

CHICAGO
Chicago (P) 1
Les Paul & Mary
Ford
Frank Fontaine
Duke Art
GAYNORS
DULUTH
(Minn)
Lyric (P) 2 only
Asylum of Horrors
HabiNG
State (P) 5 only
Asylum of Horrors
HabiNG
State (P) 5 only
Asylum of Horrors
HabiNG
State (T) 5 only
Asylum of Horrors
HabiNG
State (P) 6 only
Asylum of Horrors
HabiNG
State (P) 6 only
Asylum of Horrors
HabiNG
State (P) 6 only
Asylum of Horrors
HabiNG
State (P) 6 only
Asylum of Horrors
HabiNG
State (P) 6 only
Asylum of Horrors
HabiNG
State (P) 6 only
Asylum of Horrors
HabiNG
State (P) 6 only
Asylum of Horrors
HabiNG
State (P) 6 only
Asylum of Horrors
HabiNG
State (P) 6 only
Asylum of Horrors
HabiNG
State (P) 6 only
Asylum of Horrors
HabiNG
State (P) 6 only
Asylum of Horrors
HabiNG
State (P) 6 only
Asylum of Horrors
HabiNG
State (P) 6 only
Asylum of Horrors
HabiNG
State (P) 6 only
Asylum of Horrors
HabiNG
State (P) 6 only
Asylum of Horrors
HabiNG
State (P) 8 only
Asylum of Horrors
HabiNG
State (P) 8 only
Asylum of Horrors
HabiNG
State (P) 8 only
Asylum of Horrors
HabiNG
State (P) 8 only
Asylum of Horrors
HabiNG
State (P) 8 only
Asylum of Horrors
HabiNG
State (P) 8 only
Asylum of Horrors
HabiNG
State (P) 8 only
Asylum of Horrors
HabiNG
State (P) 8 only
Asylum of Horrors
HabiNG
State (P) 8 only
Asylum of Horrors
HabiNG
State (P) 8 only
Asylum of Horrors
HabiNG
State (P) 8 only
Asylum of Horrors
HabiNG
State (P) 8 only
Asylum of Horrors
HabiNG
State (P) 8 only
Asylum of Horrors
HabiNG
State (P) 8 only
Asylum of Horrors
HabiNG
State (P) 8 only
Asylum of Horrors
HabiNG
State (P) 8 only
Asylum of Horrors
HabiNG
State (P) 8 only
Asylum of Horrors
HabiNG
State (P) 8 only
Asylum o Royalty Girls
LEEDS
Empire (M) 28
Sophile Tucker
Forsythe & Seamo
Clifford Guest
Scott Sanders
MacDonald &
Graham
Nat Hope
Paula Coutts
LeRoys

Les Zentays Royalty Girls

LEICESTER
Pajace ($) 28
Valita & Aldino
Hercules
John Gresham laris Reggie Dennis Dam Bros Rondart Sensational Jeretz Delly Kin

LINCOLN
Reyal (1) 28
m Moss
enton Harris Tom Mo-Shenton Ha. Al Shaw Betty Sinde De Vere Loylles 4 Water Goons Aqua Maids ONDON (M)

2 Aqua Maids
LONDON
Pailadium (M) 28
Guy Mitchell'
Billy Cotton Band
Archie Robbins
George Martin
George Martin
Grant Ballet
Eva & Nick
Olga Varona
Palladium Girls
Medlock & Marlowe
Skyrockets Orc

MANCHESTER
Hippodrome (S) 28
Pat Kirkwood
Billy Russell
Billy Banks
Vic Wise Vic Wise
Dumarte & Denzer
Les Richards
Sisto Co
Eric Williams
B & J Clyde

Eric Williams

& J. Clyce

NEWCASTLE
Empire (M) 28

JENE
Annette
NOTTINGHAM
Empire (M) 28
o Mitchell Choir
mmy Clitheroe Empire (M) 78
Geo Mitchell Choir
Jimmy Clitheroe
Karina Vitte
Arthur White
Vadio & Hertz
Sonny Burke
Rexanos
Jon Goyce Dancers
SCUNTHORPE
Joe Black
Miriam Pearse

M & S Davies Eddie Hart Nelville Williams Bebe Norma Dorothy Brandon TV Loviles

SHEPHERDS BUSH SHEPHERDS BUSH
Empire (S) 28
B Rhodes & C Lane
Guy Euride
Marche & Braun
Caroline & Richards
Sharron Sisters
Denys Hackett
Los Rumbaleros
$OUTHAMPTON
Grand (I) 28

SOUTHAMPTON
Grand (I) 22
Frankle Howerd
Max Geldray
Marcia Owen
Glodys Morgan Co
2 Harvards
Lester Sharpe &
Iris
Lee Young &
Annette

Annette
SUNDERLAND
Empire (M) 28
4 Graham Bros
Joan Keen
Irene Dickson
Alan Ritchie
Carter & Barr
Syd Jeffrey

SWANSEA
Empire (M) 28
Lesters Midgets
Festival Fountains
Revel & Fields
Nitwits
McAndrews & Mills
Yolandos

SWINDOR Empire (!) 28 nmy Gay rbara Ford Jimmy Gay
Barbara Ford
Jean Dene
Anita & Charles
Terry Stunt
Phyllis Fisher
Michael Ormond
Margot Austin
Bennie Humphrey
Derek Dene
De Vere Midinettes
WOLVER-

De Vere Midinettes
WOLVERHAMPTON
Grand (I) 28
Alyce Dey
Jackle Todd
Haynes & Gardiner
Meltones
Adams
Audrey Mann
Dave Starr
Vocalaires
WOOD GREEN
Empire (S) 28
Georgie Williams
Bob. Grey

WOOD GREEN
Empire (S) 28
Bob Grey
Bob Grey
Mavis & Robey
Sonny Day & Tonl
Jacoby
Rita Kotchinsky
Barry Brian
Larry Gordon Girls
VORK
Empire (I) 28
Cecil Sheridan
Noel Talbot
Joy Brennin
Stephen Black
Joy Brennin
Stephen Black
Tommin
Mckey Read
Evelyn Henry
Moxons Shamrocks
2 M°s
Gass & Keegan

Cabaret Bills

NEW YORK CITY

Birdiand Count Basie Orc Blue Angei Eartha Kitt Josh White Portla Nelson Orson Bean

Orson Bean

Bon Solr

Mae Barnes
Hamish Menzels
Jimmy Daniels
3 Flames
Norene Tate
Garland Wilson

cariand Wilson
Copacabana
Al Bernie
Sonny Howard
Poter Hanley
Bonny Howard
Poter Hanley
Marti Orc
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Roll
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla Chico
Rolla

HACKNEY
Empire (S) 28
Harry R wson
Joan Price
V commond
Ian Hynes

"mood
Larry Wilson
Johanie t ruchley
Jimmy Kidd & June

HACKNEY
Hamy Regis
Hirs Shaw Regis
Horace Diaz Ore
Village Barn
Peggy Norman

Teddl King Bourbon & Baine Zeb Carver Ord Pete Rubino

rete Rubino
Village Vanguard
Robert Clary
Sylvia Syme
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Berner
Bern

MIANT-MIANT BEACH

MIAMI-M.
Allison Hetel
Beachcombers (4)
Julio & Meschcomber
Lections Boys
Steve Gillis
Los Romanos
Alvarde
Ramova The Bradys (2) Freddy Calo Ore Paddeth Club Iris Adrian Flash Lane Ramova
Norma Parker
Selma Marlove Line
Frank Stanley Ore
Milt Fields Ore
Gilbert & Kacy
Casablanca Hotel
Gracie Barrie,
Sammy Walsh
Milt Enberts Ore

Gracie Barrie Sammy Walsh Mit Roberts Ore Clover Club Nov-Elites (3) Ed May Carlyle Havana Rey Joey Adams Al Kelly Louisc Brown Los Romeros Tony Yoner Ore Louisc Brown
Los Romeros
Fony Lopez Orc
Diamond Horseshoe
Collazito Orc

Collazito Ore
Sonia
Larry Delmonice
Jack Almeda
Crayton & Lopez
Carlos & Mellsa Ore
George Mann
Latin-American Rev
Lar Fyello O'Clock
Martha Raye
Kirby Stone Quintet
Ben Yost 5 Mitchell
Len Dawson Ore
Senorita Herraro
Kathle McCoy
Don Charles Ore
Lombardy
Don Charles Ore
Lombardy
Don Charles Ore
Lombardy
Taylor
Jinorthisuse Hetel
Manolo & Ethel
Danny Yates Ore
Rose & Paul
Vincents
Delmonic Marthe Mello
Mello Ethel
Danny Yates Ore
Rose & Paul
Vincents
Delmonic Mello
Mello
Mello
Delmonic Mello
Delmonic Carlo
Delmonic Mello
Delm

Rozanie Connie Del Monte Ernie Bell Orc San Marino Hofel Mao Pepper The Jesters Galety Cjub Len E. Ross Olga Barrett Lord Iris Georgie Banch Olga Barrett
Lord Iris
Georgia Peech
Che-Che
Lynn Clayton
Gaiety Girls
Green Hair Girl
Bob Morris Orc
Johnina Hetel
Del Casino
Shirley Ward
Tony Matas
Randum

Smirrey Warts
Rates
Michael Selker Ore

Shoremede

Shoremede

Prescher Rollo 5

Neil Selver

Neil Selver

Neil Laverne
Kitty O'Kelly

Jamie Lynn

Pat Pascall

Kenny Lynn

Vagabonds (4)

Maria Neglia

Chimace Kaly

Maria Neglia

Mari

CHICAGO Terry Taylor Donald Tobin Donald Tobin Donald Tobin Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Gotte A Go

Chez Paree
Martin & Lewis
Kitty Kallen
Mayo- Bros (2)
Barr and Estes
Dick Stablle
Johnny Martin
Chez Adorables
Brian Farnon Or Johnny Martin
Chez Adorables
Brian Farnon Orc
Conrad Hilton Hof'l
Adole Inge
Eric Waite
Dlana Grafton
Charles & Lucille
Cavanaugh
Dennis & Darlene
Marie McClenaghan
Yvonne Broder
Philip Fraser

LOS ANGELES

Ambassador Hotal
Freddy Martin Orc
Stuari Wade
Murray Arnold
The Actan Farrell
Bar of Music
Doodles & Spider
Beverly Laine
Felix Decola
Benno Rublnyl
Eddle Bradford Orc
B Gray's Bandhox
Bully Gazy
Pepper Sis (3)
Bob Durwood
Bill Hows

Bilimore Hotel
Irene Ryan
Tippy & Cobina
Los Gatos (3)
Hal Derwin Ore
Cafe Gala
Ann Anderson
Jimmie Ames
Vivian Lloyd
Don Sheffey
Ciro's
Rosemarle Circ's

Rosemarle

Condos & Brandow
Dick Stabile Orc
Bobby Ramos Orc

'Mocambe
Benny Payne
Eddie Oliver

LAS VEGAS, NEVADA

Flaminge ews Sister Andrews Sisters
Ike Carpenter Ord
Stewart Rose
Flamingo Starlets Orc

Finmingo Starlets
Desert inn
Diosa Costello
Don Reynolds
Lolo & Lita
Roberta & Alleia
Carlton Hayes Ore
El Cortez
Showtimers
Helen Boice
Alice Hall 4
Instrumentalists

Instrumentalists
Last Frontler
Margaret Whiting
Wiere Bros
Mildred Seymour
Jerry Wallace
Jimmy Sisco
Jean Devlyn Girl
Revue
Bobby Ramos Orc

Betty & Jane Kear Mary Kaye Trio Szony's Bill Skipper Joy Walker El Rancho Girls Ted Flo Rito orch Silver Silper Woo Woo Stevens Kalantan Woo Woo be Kalantan Hank Henry Roberto Lavanugh Holly Lee Line George Redman Brown Holly Lee Line Holly Lee Line George Redman Brown Hers Holly Lee Line Holly Lee Line Holly Lee Line Holly Lee Line Holly Lee Line Holly Lee Line Holly Holly Lee Line Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Holly Hol

Dolly Lee Line
George Redman
Pud Brown
Dixielanders
Thunderbird
Mills Bros
Frank Payne
Petro Bros
Donna Phillips
Johnny O'Brien
K Duffy Dansati
Al Jahns ore

20th Divorce

__ Continued from page 4 =

of all its properties from the parent company to the new producing-distribution company, replacing letterheads and a myriad of other troublesome and costly details. The operation will take about three months, which is the reason for the delay.

for the delay.

Actually, refusal of the Treasury to grant the tax-free certification will cost the Government money. Expense involved in setting up the new corporation and transferring all the assets is a tax-deductible item, so it is not only costly to the stockholders, but to the Treasury.

Corporation was set up in Police.

Soldiers in Greesepaint

end of the States to the other, from mare 48

Chorwon, Korea, the "entertainment specialists" have been doing a job that is commendable. Mill-tarlly speaking, they may not be the best soldiers in the world, but I assure you from my observations, they are the most contumacious. What they do to get a show on the boards is met by one of the most David Gordon, (PFC. U.S. Army) the best soldiers in the world, but I assure you from my observations, they are the most contumacious. What they do to get a show on the boards is met by one of the most gratifying feelings a person can have for members of his profession. They deserve kudos, and in hypothesis. sion. They abundance.

sion. They deserve kudos, and in abundance.

Since being in the Army, I have traveled thousands of miles and been in a dozen camps, whether it was fouring in a show or on temporary duty to set up a soldier show section. I've worked with countless members of the biz and I'm proud of all of them. Perhaps I am overemphasizing their importance, but I have good reason to, for they work ledious hours, they do things that are not usually asked of them; yet these men are limitless in initiative and drive. Their verve for accomplishment is astounding. I have seen performers, who prior to induction never knew exactly what constituted scenery, design and bulld sets. I have had former backstage men play straight to comics from the Windy City. I've been with men on a troopship and played nine shows on the deck, one right after the other, in order to insure that all the troops have a few laughs.

Not only are these men working as "soldiers in greasenaint." but the other, in order to insure that all the troops have a few laughs.

Not only are these men working as "soldiers in greasepaint," but also as operators of service clubs, NCO messes, hobby shops, libraries, PX stores, and numerous other duties which are considered a "Special Service" for Grs. In my case, I am booker and coordinator of James Sauter's and Abe Lastfogel's USO units in Central Japan areas. As you see, we do anything and everything; we put on bazaars, circuses, one, two, and three-act plays, revues, variety shows, musical comedies, radio and television shows, pageants, concerts, and if you think theatre-in-the-round isn't old hat for us, a look at the shows the 10th Special Service Co. now touring Korea would disprove that altogether. They do shows in gulltes, on hill-tops, in ravines, tents, in bunkers, and in some cases when things are real comfortable, they get a chance to use a bare stage in an army-built theatre. Not only the audiences encircle the performers, but more than once they are even looking from directly above the group. Can Broadway beat that??

$12 'Production' Budgets

I've participated in some shows where a budget was $12, with

$12 'Production' Budgets
I've participated in some shows where a budget was $12, with three of that going for badly needed bulbs. This is where "promotion" comes in, and before that show hit the floor, you never saw so many pieces of equipment and costumes in your life. Whether they were borrowed, lifted, or out and out stolen, the men in the section procured them. Perhaps this is why we're mostly PFC's. But that's another story, and in relating it I would probably lose the one stripe that has taken me so long to get. Maybe in later years when I'm a civilian I'il do a "Hargrove." Every unit in the army is a source, from Signal Corps and Quartermaster to the Provost Marshal, from the unit supply room to the general's office. The show has to get on and if cooperation is nil, then initiative is premium.

The calibres of the many show I've seen or heard about, or par-

The calibres of the many shows I've seen or heard about, or par-ticipated in, are extremely high. Smuttiness or takeoffs on religious Smuttiness or takeoffs on religious denominations are rare, the same for racial satires. The soldiers want laughs, but their taste for clean humor, however broad in sense, does not limit their appreciation for material with thought behind it. No need to mention that good old American hillbilly songs will tear down any house, the same for a good looking blonde tapping away or warbling a ditty. The soldier show men know this, and they give the troops what they want, as much as they possibly can.

(PFC, U.S. Army),

Pix to TV

Continued from page 5

one relishes it. Industry attorneys are so burned at the manner in which the D. of J. action was taken that a number of them are itching to take it to trial. They feel that it might be a good opportunity. that a number of them are itching to take it to trial. They feel that it might be a good opportunity to get the Supreme Court to break down once and for all the theory that "parallel action" necessarily indicates conspiracy.

'No Conscious Conspiracy'

In the 16m case, as well as in sales to TV, attorneys claim there was no conscious conspiracy, but was no conscious conspiracy, but merely parallel business judgments by execs based on parallel sets of facts. In other words, it was equally evident to all companies that if they made their product available to 16m customers—whether a church bazaar or a TV station—they'd be putting themselves out of business by damaging the only basic source of sufficient coin to keep them alive, the theatre. theatre.

theatre.

Attorneys further point out that the Clayton and Sherman antitrust acts prohibit only "unreasonable" restraint of trade. They maintain that the companies can logically argue in the courts that restraint in the 16m situation was "perfectly reasonable," since it meant keeping themselves in business or not.

While the lawyers feel they have the arguments to win the case, and, as a matter of fact, might be able to set some highly important precto set some ingnly important predents, some down-to-earth exces think the time in fighting it will be wasted, since it is only a matter of time until the dam breaks on selling pix to tele.

RKO's Deal

They point to the disclosure last week that a deal is hot for RKO to hand over its entire pre-1949 backlog to the DuMont Television Network. Should that occur, they say, it would undoubtedly be followed by release of product by other majors.

other majors.

It is pointed out further that Republic, though it has been named a defendant by the Justice Dept., is already making its older product available to tele. Even the D. of J., it's figured, can't be thinking in terms of forcing studios to make new films available to a medium that obviously couldn't afford to meet the negative costs.

In a few years, of course, with many more stations on the air, the situation is expected to be different. Even then it is highly unlikely there will be any new features on the air, but the ability of tele to pay substantial sums is seen to pay substantial sums is seen likely making the medium a regu-lar subsequent-run outlet for pix.

Par Economy

Continued from page 5

stressed that such a move would be made only if a film's script called for foreign backgrounds or atmosphere. To illustrate his point, he noted that "Roman Holiday" is now rolling in Rome and portions of the Bing Crosby starrer, "Little Boy Lost," are being lensed in Paris. Stories of both pictures require Continental locales.

money. Expense involved in setting up the new corporation and transferring all the assets is a tax-deductible item, so it is not only costly to the stockholders, but to the Treasury.

Corporation was set up in Delaware May 1 by 20th to succeed 20th's circuit-owning subsid, National Theatres Corp. New company is National Theatres, Inc., to which stock of NTC will be transferred the day divorcement becomes effective.

Will tear down any house, the game for a good looking blonde tapping away or warbling a ditty. The soldier show men know this, and they give the troops what they want, as much as they possibly can.

That's about all I can write at the moment.

Must fill an itinerary for USO mit No. 1023 today, and tonight we was a non-committal whether this purchasing policy would be resumed in the future. He noted that such a decision would have to be made by the company board.

Must fill an itinerary for USO mit No. 1023 today, and tonight we are starting a new package show for hospitals in the Yokohama-Tokyo area. We'd like to see more show the catting (an Italian resort) and yence of its common stock through purchases on the good to the troops what they want, as much as they possibly can.

That's about all I can write at the moment.

Must fill an itinerary for USO mid to succeed a starting a new package show for hospitals in the Yokohama-Tokyo area. We'd like to see more show to the store through purchases of its common stock through purchases on the game of the spon that they want, as much as they possibly can.

That's about all I can write at the moment.

Must fill an itinerary for USO made in the future. He noted that such a decision would have to be made by the company board.

Balaban, who said he devoted eight days to business while again that the game of its common stock through purchases on the store through purchases on the store through purchases on the store through purchases of its common stock through purchases of its common stock through purchases of its common that set was non-recommitted. Although Paramount has retired

Roxy, N. Y.

Föster. Tony Bennett, Phil Föster, Arnold Shoda, Manuel Del Toro & Ann Nichols, Gerry Mahoney, Gae Foster Roxyettes, H. Leopold Spitalny Chorus, Skating Blades & Belles, Paul Ash House, Orch; "Dreamboat" (20th), reviewed in Variety July 23, "52. Phil

The Roxy's layout is more colorful than usual. The combination of ice and stage talent provides an entertaining excellently produced package. There's appeal for the younger set with singer Tony Bennett, and comedian Phil Foster should entice a modicum of adult trade.

trade.

Bennett, backed by bass, drum and piano, seems to be concentrating more on genuine singing. Current try indicates that he's breaking loose from the shackles of an artificial style. As a result, he sounds better than during his Christmas show at the nearby Paramount.

amount.

There's more vigor, taste and a greater feeling for music and lyrics in his emancipated style. There's still a heavy reliance on the disk tunes that brought him to prominence on the Columbia label, but the latter-day issues, such as "Since My Love Has Gone," has a fragile delicacy and charm. "Blues in the Night" gets a good going-over in a bluesy style, and a reprise of "Because of 'You," carboned from his disk, shows a contrast between his old and new singing patterns.

Foster's reminiscences of his singing patterns.

Foster's reminiscences of his "youth" provide a healthy peg for laughter. The bits that he's been showing on various tele and radio stands still hold up. The additions similarly hit yockpots. He's on for a lengthy stand during which he seems to be having as good a time as his audience. His mitt is strong enough for an enecore.

ice section of the show The ice section of the snow has some excellent production. The Gae Foster formations provide some fast and colorful sequences, and the overall production under Sammy Rauch's supervision provides a fine setting for a good set of clusters.

vides a fine setting for a good set of skaters.

Per usual, Arnold Shoda provides the highlight of this section. His solo has impeccable choreographic taste plus a skillful interpretation. He singles to "Malaguena" in a bit which captures the apirit of the music. In tandem with Gerry Mahoney, he does "Blue Tango," an excellently considerable plaudits.

Other act during the rink display is by Manuel Del Toro & Ann Nichols, who do a brief but effective bit in a lighter vein. The Skating Blades and Belles dress up the production handsomely.

Other production dressings are by the Roxyettes and the H. Leopold Spitalny choir. Paul Ash with the house orch does his usually good showbacking.

Paliadium, London

Palladium, London

London, July 22.
Guy Mitchell with Joseph Antman & George Mitchell Singers, Billy Cotton Band, Archie Robbins, Olga Varona, Medlock & Marlowe, Pauline Grant Ballet with Gillian Lynne, George Martin, Eva
& Nick, Tiller Giris (16); Woolf
Phillips' Skyrockets Orch.

sponsored TV. It earns a solid sponsored TV. It earns a solid mitt.

Following custom, bill opens with the Tiller Girls doing a simple terping routine; they give way to Oiga Varona, aerialist whose graceful poses are more impressive than the stunts. Gal has style and polse, giving glossy finish to the act. Medlock & Marlowe consistently get a good reaction for their celebrity portait gallery. Masked appearances of famed Hollywood characters are followed by a Churchill-Attlee routine which is always surefire.
George Martin, a local comedian, who has recently been allotted his own TV program, makes his Palladium bow in the casual, effortless manner which he's developed on the air. His style is often ahead of his material, and some of his best gas have already been exploited on video. Nevertheless, he's one to watch.
Pauline Grant Ballet makes its Palladium return for the first time in almost two months, but has been brought forward in the bill and is no longer the final item before the intermission. This is an important change and a positive help to this accomplished troupe. Their current ballet, "Rondo Capriccioso," again features Gillian Lynne, and the three movements danced against a regular are performed with grace and precision.

Their current ballet, "Rondo Capriccioso," again features Gillian Lynne, and the three movements danced against a regular dropcloth without special decor, are performed with grace and precision.

To close the first half, Val Parnell has booked Billy Cotton's band, an infallible attraction at any time of the year. This is easily the best showmanship combo in the business, and soloists Alan Breeze, Clem Bernard and Doreen Stephens keep the entertainment and the fun rolling. "Im Going to a Wedding," "Shrimp Boats" and the inevitable "Lovely Bunch of Cocoanuts" are among the high-spots.

Eva & Nick, Continental adagio duo, are also Palladium newcomers. They have a highly stylized routine which is touched off when the gal goes into the splits from a back somersult. This is a spectacular facet of an act which is noted for its skill and originality.

Myro.

Paince, N. Y.

Mage & Karr, Norman Brooks,
Larry & Trudy Leung, 3 Parks,
Chester Dolphin, Yvonne Moray,
Will Mahoney, Honey Girls (4);
"The Brigand" (Col), reviewed in Variety June 4, '52.

"It's not how old the joke is," says Will Mahoney. "It's the confidence you put into it."

That just about sums up why Mahoney has been one of the sock variety acts for more than three decades, why he's once again whamming the customers at the Palace. Of course, this isn't the Palace of the good old days—but when the kilts-attired comedianhoofer prances off on his exit, it has become the old Palace all over again. The passage of time hasn't hoofer prances off on his exit, it has become the old Palace all over again. The passage of time hasn't dulled his. sense of comedy, his footwork—nor a confidence in a standard act that makes it seem new all over again.

Mahoney is still doing the old standbys—the costume-shearing bit with the tall soprano, the eccentric steps, the always-wham dance bit on the xylo, with the tongs strapped to his feet as he taps out the musical rhythms. There are, also, the always-bubbling wit, the effervescence that never allows audience interest to lag, and the ability to spin a joke or story while, to the more discerning eye, he is trying to catch a breather from his physical exertions.

This is a bill whose saving grace.

Paramount, N. Y.

Don Cornell, Mickey Decms, "rudy Richards, 4 Evans, Elliot aurrence Orch; "Jumping Jacks" Par), reviewed in Variery June, '52.

With Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis on the screen as an insurance policy at the bo., Paramount this stanza is obviously not wasting much moola on the live attractions. The 50-minute layout is satisfactory under such conditions.

Don Cornell, former band singer, heads the bill, which is backgrounded by Elliot Lawrence's orch. Cornell, a romantic baritone in the jive idiom, has quite a following among the juve trade, and teen-age femmes, particularly, were finding him plenty pleasing at the show caught.

Pleasant-looking and retaining a knowing naivete; Cornell bills himself as an Italian kid out of the Bronx. He makes with a few gags along that line that don't hurt his score at all on Broadway as he gives an Italo twist to "Marie."

Warbling's not spectacular for quality or range, but. combined

Warbling's not spectacular for quality or range, but combined with Cornell's rough sort of charm, he clicks okay in this setting. Tunes include "My Blue Heaven," "This Is the Beginning of the End" and "I Walk Alone."

"I Walk Alone."

Another Decca chirper, as is Cornell, is in the deuce spot on the bill. She's Trudy Richards, an attractive blonde. She's nicely courturiered but displays pipes marked more by a hoarse quality than by tone or ear-appeal.

tone or ear-appeal.

Understandably nervous at her first big theatre date, she'd do better to keep her between-numbers chatter to an absolute minimum. She does "I May Hate Myself In the Morning," "I Waited a Little Too Long," among others and, best of all, "St. Louis Blues."

Comb. Mickey, Deems is in the

of all, "St. Louis Blues."

Comic Mickey Deems is in the trey. No newcomer to the presentation houses, he is, as a matter of fact, using familiar material. His major item is a lament on sleepless Sundays for fathers. It contains a good bit of humor for those who haven't been treated to it previously. Otherwise, material and presentation are modestly winning.

Opener, the 4 Evans, is a family

ly. Otherwise, material and presentation are modestly winning.
Opener, the 4 Evans, is a family tapstering turn comprising pa, masister and brother. It's more noteworthy for sentimentality than outstanding terpology, and gets over very satisfactorily on that basis. The oldsters, with hair well-grayed, show plenty of zip. They do a duo and then roundup with the youngsters. Kids likewise do a number together, and then the femme, a looker with plenty of gams, does a solo acro turn. While neither parents nor kids working separately would mean much, act as it stands adds up neatly as a bit of a heart-warmer if not spectacular from the terp standpoint.

Lawrence's orch is plenty on the brass side with seven men in that category as against a quintet of reeds and a trio of rhythm, but it's good backing for the Par show. Maestro doubles on the plano, from which he does some of his conducting, bouncing up for the m.c. chores, which he handles satisfactorily. Unit actually gets too little time of its own to register significantly. Herb.

Steel Pier, A. C.

Atlantic City, July 25.

Les Paul & Mary Ford, Ton
Parris Trio, Behney Girls, Herkie
Styles, House Orch; "Bal Tabarin" (Mono).

the more adult customers; and it's paying off on the maturity and integrity appeal. The singer maken opitch for his recordings and even talks affectionately about his wife, an approach that is traditionally suicide when spieled at the teenagers.

agers.

He is relaxed and nonchalant, is working in a take-it-or-leave-it manner, plus patter, and is very successful on audience response. Onens with "Byc-bye, Blackbird." manner, pus pance, manner, pus pance, successful on audience response, lopens with "Bye-bye, Blackbird," its "Never Let the Sun Set on a equarrel," "Wonderful," "Summertime" and "Are the Stars Out Tonight?" To the repeated requests of the youngsters, he does come across with "Laura" and "Exactly Like You," but he's complacent toward the squealers. Haymes does, however, stand up and sing, minus the gymnastics.

Neat supporting bill has June & Martin Barrett for neat tap work and challenges; Raymond Chase for concertina work, including a terrific "Hot Canary" finish; Pryde & Day for effortless juggling on unicycles; and Professor Backwards for his standard hlackboard work in upside-down writing of lengthy polysyllables. All acts are over to neat returns, with Jimmie Cameron expertly m.c.ing. rplus ful on audience with "Bye-bye, Blackburg, with "Eye-bye, Blackburg, war Let the Sun Set on a ful," "Summer Out To

Unit Review

Aqua Follies of 1952

Aqua Follies of 1952
(WIRTH POOL, MPIS.)
Minneapolis, July 26.
Katherine Rawls, Championship
Divers (7). Eddie Chamberlain,
Lida DaValle, Burt Hanson, Aqua
Quartet, Tom Martin, Paul Sydell,
Johnny O'Brien, Fedi-Fedi, Aqua
Dears (24). Aqua Darlings (24),
Ben Barnett's Orch (14); producerdirector, Al Sheehan; water ballet director, Helen Starr; stage ballet director, Dorothy Lundstrum; 14 performances: each here and in Seattle; $3.60 top.

Like the Shipstad-Johnson Like the Shipstad-Johnson "Ice Follies" and other such once-a-year visitors here, this locally produced "Aqua Follies" has developed into an annual "must" with the public hereabouts, And it again delivered its pleasant package of combined water and stage extrayaganza to 14 capacity audiences in the beautiful al fresco municipal park setting, the 5,000-seat Wirth Pool.

Minneapolis producer director seat Wirth Pool.

Minneapolls producer director
Al Sheehan actually has done himself proudest in the current 13th edition. While built along conventional aquacade lines and following the identically established format which has stood him in such good stead previously, this 1952 offering hits a new high in smoothness, production values, costuming,
lighting, routining, flash and quality of the acts.

It's being produced solely for 14

it's being produced solely for 14 performances here and 21 in Seattle, where for the second successive year is will also be presented in conjunction with a municipal festival.

cessive year is will also be presented in conjunction with a municipal festival.

Stage and water offerings again are interwoven. Show's musical arrangements are especially boff, notably for the opener and a "La Scala" presentation that comprise mediev of this season's Broadway musical show and opera favorites, respectively Music receives top-drawer treatment from big league voices of featured vocalists Lida DaValle and Burt Hanson, who are backed by a male quartet, the chirping continuously embroidering the water and stage activities.

The diving maniacs with their yock-packed daredeviltry, paced by Eddie Chamberlain, and several stage acts see to it that there's no dearth of comedy along with the thrills. Providing the high diving of every variety are champs Hobie Billingsley, Earl Clark, Bruce Harlan, 12-year-old Marion Park, Bob Maxwell and Jim Strong. Katherine Rawls, the show's star again, clicks with her swimming exhibition. Contributions by the water ballet and stage dancing girls, groups of 24 each, punctuate the show.

Four well-conceived and neatly-executed/production numbers reach their climax with LaScala presentation that centers around a huge water-squirting fountain, surrounded by prop swans. Others have South Seas, musical comedy and supper club themes.

On the stage Paul Sydell's extraordinary balancing pooches stimulate palms activity; comedian Johnny O'Brien's patter pays off big in laughs, and his harmonica numbers also register. The contortion of Fedi-Fedi, creating the effect of a mixed midget dancing effect of a mixed midget dancing effect of a mixed midget dancing effect of a mixed midget dancing effect of a mixed midget dancing effect of a mixed midget dancing effect of a mixed midget dancing effect of a mixed midget dancing effect of a mixed midget dancing effect of a mixed midget dancing effect of a mixed midget dancing effect of a mixed midget dancing effect of a mixed midget dancing effect of a mixed midget dancing effect of a mixed midget dancing effect of a mixed midget dancing e Findings Styrockets Orch.

There can be no two opinions and the proper many than the control of the state of his disks, he hits the top backet on his first entrance here and early the control of the state of his disks, he hits the top backet on his first entrance here and eliminating the union of the state of his disks, he hits the top backet on his first entrance here and eliminating the union of the state of his disks, he hits the top backet on his first entrance here and eliminating the union of the state of his disks, and the ability to discribe the control of the state of his disks, he hits the top backet on his first entrance of the control of the state of his disks, and the ability to the state of his disks, and the ability to his proper forms the customers a non-stop performs the customers and the control of the state of his disks.

This is a bill whose saving grace, the first the state of his disks, and the state of his disks, and the state of his disks. This is a bill whose saving grace the first the state of his disks. This is a bill whose saving grace the first the state of his disks. The state of his disks, and the performance of the control of the state of his disks. The state of his disks. The state of his disks. The state of his disks. The state of his disks. The state of his disks. The state of his disks. The state of his disks. The state of his disks. The state of his disks. The state of his disks. The state of his disks. The state of his disks. The state of his disks. The state of his disks. The state of his disks. The state of his disks. The state of his disks. The state of his disks. The state of his disks. The state of his disks. The state of his disks. The state of his disks. The state of his disks. The state of his disks. The state of his disks. The state of his disks. The state of his disks. The state of his disks. The state of his disks. The state of his disks. The state of his disks.

New Acts

STEPHEN GOLMANN

STEPHEN GOLMANN
Folk Songs
20 Mins.
Bar Vert, Paris
Gallic folk singer has a wellrounded French-English repertoire that fills 20 minutes with ease. Simplicity, candor and humor make Golmann a good entry for the intime spots. With foot atop a chair and guitar in action, he warbles the folk laments and legends for pleasing results. Golmann has a clear voice and good delineation of the character of his songs.

mann has a clear voice and good delineation of the character of his songs.

He has an infectious laugh and an offbeat accent that add to his American folk renditions. Heard for good results are his versions of "Clementine," "Molly Malone," "Streets of Laredo," "Foggy Foggy Dew" and "Blue Tail Fly."

Golmann also gives out with French songs written by himself that deal with ancient tales, the thieves who couldn't tear themselves away from a buildight and the man who found a dead borse in his bathtub. Heard to good advantage are "Actualities," "Au Loin Dans La Plaine" ("Far Off on the Plains"); "Le Cheval Dans Le Balgnoire" ("The Horse in the Bathtub"); and "Ma Guitar Et Mol" ("My Guitar and I").

He opens in the U. S. in September at the Blue Note, Chicago, Correct placing and atmosphere will be important in putting over this fine but specialized act. Gallic popularity in the States now should help this. Specialized disking and word-of-mouth may build this.

Mosk.

JO ANN JORDAN TRIO

JO ANN JORDAN TRIO
Songs
30 Mins.
Yeaman's, Detroit
Two boys and a girl mesh nicely to give the Jo Ann Jordan Trio's original adaptations burlesquing opera a sprightly, polished and funny treatment. Their stylings of the popular ballads are fresh and smooth.
The three have worked together four years, mostly in cocktail lounges in Montreal and midwestern cities. They are well-balanced and poised. Miss Jordan is a bouncy blonde, petite and pretty, with a nice figure highlighted by the right gown and the right bodyenglish. She has a large voice, capable of projecting warmth in the ballads. Her husband, Kenny Armstrong, holds down the piano and baritone spots, while Peter Rubman, on the bass, chimes in with a fine tenor and adept comedy.
Trio has plenty of material. Do

Rubman, on the bass, chaines in with a fine tenor and adept comedy.

Trio has plenty of material. Do "Idle Poor," medley of "Good Day" and "Great Day." Miss Jordan solos with "Lady Is a Tramp" and "Sorrento," also medley "I'll Remember April," "Summer Time," "I've Got My Love to Keep Me Warm," "June," and "September Song," Rubman solos with "Begat" and the 'Largo el Factotum aria from "Barber of Seville." Trio does "Quanta Lagusta" and "Gandy Dancer's Ball." Closing numbers for both shows are well executed takeoffs on various operas. Trio receives sock reception at Yeaman's and is ready for the better niteries.

Chilck Miller Trio

Strawhat Biz Mixed; Boston Spotty. Toronto Solid, Stockbridge Dented

Boston, July 29.

John Hancock Hall, located in midtown Hub, did so-so biz for appearance of Ilona Massey in Guy Bolton's new play "Angel in Paris," with local crix handing it a unanimous thumbs-down. A sluggish $5,100 was reported. "Petrified Forest," co-starring Gene Raymond and Geraldine Brooks, is current.

"Kiss Me, Kate," at Falk & Capp's Boston Summer Theatre, hypoed an otherwise mild season with a nice $11,700, while Mae West, appearing in "Come Up, Ring Twice," at duo's suburban spot, the County Playhouse, likewise racked up the best gross of the season with a slick $12,500. "Gramercy Ghost," starring Veronica Lake, is current at BST, fwith the musical, "On, Your Toes," in for a week at Framingham.

"Sleep of Prisoners" reopened the Brattle under its new management and reported a fairish $2,200 to first stanza of a two-week stint.

'Carousel' $25,085, Toronto
Toronto, July 29.
With standees at every performance except opening night, "Carousel," with Dorothy MacNeil and Jack Kilty, broke the Melody Fair house record for a smash $25,085, this topping the previous "Great Waltz" record by $1,100.

staturday night (26) also set a performance record of $3,910, with 179 standees paying $1.50 each, and the 1,640-seater tent setup scaled at a heavy $3.40 top with tax.

'Waltz' 13G, Danbury
Danbury, Conn., July 29.
Fourth week of Melody Fair, with "The Great Waltz," hit almost $13.000, best figure to date.
Met soprano Lois Hunt joined the company last week as prima donna and focused interest in the operetta.

Stand, playing Tuesday through Sunday, with Saturday matinee, is still light on two early-week nights. Management is now bolstering these nights with theatre parties.

'Stream' $4,500, Stockbridge
Stockbridge, Mass., July 29.
Demo convention, coupled with unusual heat and humidity for the Berkshires, dented the Berkshire Playhouse gross last week, with final count $4,500 for Charles Morgan's "Flashing Stream." However, total gross for the season thus far is much above the same six weeks last season, and director William Miles has decided to extend his current season an extra week. He has booked Edward Everett Horton in "Nina" for the 12th week.
Victor Wolfson's comedy, "A

in "Nina" for the L2th Week.
Victor Wolfson's comedy, "A Murder in the Family," adapted from the French of Gilbert Sauvajon, preems here this week. Helen Craig, Douglas Watson, Larry Gates and Amy Douglas are featured.

Ilka $6,300, Saratoga
Saratoga, N. Y., July 29.
Ilka Chase, making her first appearance at the 578-seat Spa Summer Theatre here, drew a solid $6,300 in "Over 21," last week, at a $3 top. It was the season's highest figure for a non-musical production. Business for producer John Huntington is reported to be 35% ahead of last year's total, for a comparable period.
"The Fig Leaf," new comedy by

"The Fig Leaf," new comedy by John Gerstad and Norman Brooks, is being tried out this week, with Ernest Truex and Sylvia Fields in

'April' $7,100, Olney

'April' $7,100, Olney
Olney, Md., July 29.
Despite high interest of nearby
Washington customers in the Democratic convention in Chicago,
Olney Theatre here rang up a comfortable $7,100 last week for Constance Bennett in "I Found April."
Carol Bruce is current in "One Touch of Venus." with advance stance Bennett in "I Found April."

Carol Bruce is current in "One Touch of Venus," with advance sales promising a good weck. Olney is already getting enough calls to indicate a sellout for "An Evening With Beatrice Lillie," due here Sept. 2 for a six-day run Olney has upped the tab for this show to a $2.40 minimum and $4.20 top.

tain-raiser, then racked up a happy gross on "Happy Time" (Mischa Auer). Biz fell off for "Remains To Be Seen," dipping to the season's only loss. Figures again hit the profit trail last week (21-26) with Edward Everett Horton in "Nina."

Eva Gabor is current with "Her Cardboard Lover" and indications are for an okay stanza.

"Man" $3,500, Matunuck
Matunuck, R. I., July 29.
Heat and the Democratic convention hurt the Theatre-By-TheSea here last week. Barn managed to gross $3,600 with Dorothy Gish in "The Man." Starting very slowly show took in most of that figure over the weekend.

Mae West is current this week in "Come On Up, Ring Twice." Package drew the biggest advance sale at the theatre in its two years under management of Donald Wolin and Harold Schiff.

Geddes in Arden 'Forest'
Arden, Del., July 29.
Barbara Bel Geddes will make her third appearance of the season at Robin Hood Theatre herenext week (4), playing in Robert E. Sherwood's "The Petrified Forest." John Drew Devereaux and Jack Klugman will support.
Same trio will play leads for "Born Yesterday," week of Aug.
25. At end of barn's 10-week season, Miss Geddes and her husband, Windsor Lewis, who is director of Robin Hood Theatre, will take a short vacation before the star's return to "Moon Is Blue" on Broadway.

Parkway 'Whistle'
Greensboro, N. C., July 29.
The Parkway Playhouse opened its 1952 season last week with "The Silver Whistle," first of five weekly productions. This is the sixth summer session in this mountain resort.

sixth summer session in this mountain resort.

Batchelor Owen, of St. Louis, Playhouse director, played the leading role. Cast included Sue Durham, Stuart Arrington and Elvira Prondecki.

Miles Adds Horton Week
Stockbridge, Mass., July 29.
William Miles has added a week to the regular season at the Berkshire Playhouse here, booking Edward Everett Horton in "Nina."
"Macbeth," starring Staats Cotsworth and Muriel Kirkland, will be the bill for the 11th and last week on the regular Playhouse subscription season.

Huron Tryout

Huron Tryout
Huron, O., July 29.
Huron Playhouse, staffed by a troupe of 23 students and six staff members from Bowling Green
State U., will present the premiere of a play written by Mary Fournier, of the university, titled "Five Traveling Men," Aug. 13-17.
Group is currently in its fourth season, and each year presents a new, untried play. Dr. Elden T.
Smith has directed the summer theatre since 1951.

St. Michael's Group Scoring Winooski Park, Vt., July 29. First half of St. Michael's Play-house season is running well ahead a year ago, according to manager d Warren.

house season is running well ahead of a year ago, according to manager Ed Warren.
Players, Inc., repertory company out of Catholic U., and recently back from a USO tour of Japan and Korea, took over as permanent summer session stock company last year. Director is Brennan Moore, who staged some plays last season. He also took the part last week of the brat in "Jenny Kissed Me." the role he created on Broadway.
"Blithe Spirit" opened well despite the GOP convention, while "Charley's Aunt" did the company's best business in two years. This week it's "George Washington Slept Here," with "Three Men on a Horse" and "The Silver Whistle" to finish up. Plays are given nightly. Tuesday through Saturday.
Company isn't alternating with Merrimae Playhouse, as last season.

'Albert R. N.' for London

FREYMAN TO SUB LATE MUNSELL AT OLNEY

Olney, Md., July 29.

Ciney, M.A., July 25.

Evelyn Freyman, co-producer with Kenneth Banghart of the Oiney Theatre here, will take over the post of manager, succeeding Warren P. Munsell, Jr., who died yesterday (Mon.). Howard Atlee will serve as assistant manager.

Markova as Fall Guest
Alicia Markova is rejoining Ballet Theatre for its fall engagement at the Met Opera House, N. Y., Sept. 25-Oct. 12, as guest artist.
Ballerina was with the troupe from 1941 to 1946, branching out with her own Festival Ballet in England, co-partnered with Anthony Tudor.
Pacting is a 10-strike for Ballet
Theatre, giving it the two foremost dance interpreters in America of the classic "Giselle" ballet.
Miss Markova will alternate in the Olney as assistant manager.
Olney will go ahead with its plans to stage Munsell's new play.
"Comin' Thru the Rye," on Aug.
19, prior to a Broadway opening.
Funeral services for Munsell will held in Lauteneville Md. Thrus be held in Laytonsville, Md., Thurs-

'Cabalgata' Set For Fall U.S. Tour

Newly-formed producing firm of Shore-Reyes will bring the Spanish musical extravaganza_"(Cabalgata," back to this country for a fall tour. Revue has been playing South and Central America and for the past three years has been headquartering in Mexico. Production was last seen when Sol Hurok brought the company to the United States in 1949 for a short tour. However, accent on this tour. Howe However, accent on tour. However, accent on this trek will be more on one-night stands rather than lengthy theatre engagements. American tour starts Oct. 1.

New producers are partners in the Mike Shore Advertising Agency. Mike Shore has optioned several story properties for winter production and has invested in several shows. Benn Reyes was formerly a theatrical pressagent and newspaperman, and was histrumental in booking the Vatican Boys Choir two years ago in Mexico, along with other attractions.

LA JOLLA SETUP SWITCH SEEN FOR NEXT SEASON

Los Angeles, July 29.

Los Angeles, July 29.

La Jolla Playhouse, after six years' operation, may not resume next summer, at least not in the present setup, according to co-producer Mel Ferrer. Difficulty in getting talent is one factor.

House was started at La Jolla in 1947 by Ferrer, Dorothy McGuire and Gregory Peck, with a loan of $15,000 from David O. Selznick, since repaid. Site was chosen for its proximity to Hollywood, and because Peck was born in nearby San Diego. Theatre seats 499 persons.

New type operation is being mulled for next season, but no details are available.

Darcel 'Happy Time' Bows Barn Tour in Barnesville

Barnesville, Pa., July 29.

Marcel Ventura package of "The Happy Time," starring Denise Darcel, opened at the Kenley Theatre here last night (Mon.). Gregg Juarez plays opposite Miss Darcel, as Desmonde, with Jules Racine directing. Racine also acts as advance man.

Racine directing. Racine also acts as advance man.
Traveling with the show are Robert Decost (Papa), Marly McLeod (Mama), Richard Trask (Bibi), Patty Foster (Sally), Al Thayler (Louis) and Burtor Mallory (Grandpere). Resident members Madeline Mecklen, Joe Vispi, Leslie Cutler and Jim Scott fill other roles.

Tour finishes in Bbston Sept. 14, just two days before Miss Darcel reports to Metro for a new Esther Williams film.

Wagner Inked as Regular On Pitt Playhouse Staff

On Pitt Playhouse Staff
Pittsburgh, July 29.
Frank Wagner, who staged the musical numbers and did the choreography for three Playhouse musicals, "Of All Things," "On Your Mark" and "Wonderful Good," will become a permanent member of the community theatre staff this coming season. Wagner will teach stage movement at the Playhouse school, give dancing instruction to top.

Clinton's .750 Average
Clinton, Conn., July 29.

Lewis Harmon's Clinton Playhouse has finished up its fourth week with a batting average to date of .750. Three shows out of the first quartet have come through on the black side of the ledger.

House opened with the Milton Lyon production of . "Kiss Me, Lyon production of ."Kiss Me, Large ... which was a nice b.o. cur-

Need for Legit In New Community Setups; Building Programs Eved

Ballet Theatre Signs

Markova as Fall Guest

most dance interpreters in America of the classic "Giselle" ballet. Miss Markova will alternate in the title role with BT's star, Alicia Alonso, also famed for her Giselle. Miss Markova is skedded for a series of guest appearances with the Teatro Colon Ballet in Buenos Aires next month. She may dance with Ballet Theatre for its Chicago date at Xmas time, then exturn to England for guest dates with Sadler's Wells Ballet the rest of the season.

Barn Impresario. Sticks

Up for Strawhatters But Norwich, Conn.

Editor, Variety:
Ned Armstrong's story on summer stock operations in last week's Variety did not leave much of an impression of actual stock conditions.

The idea of training youngsters and beginners in painting scenery is not a bygone concept. Without, them, summer theatres couldn't exist, and in a few years, there would be no addition to the technical ranks of crafts and unions for television, stage and pictures, as well as no new development of promising talent.

As to stars, they're used in compromising talent.

As to stars, they're used in competitive areas in order to be able to pay the good salaries that are prevalent in stock. Because of the increased costs in operation, the stars are necessary for higher box-officer.

I agree that summer stock is a

I agree that summer stock is a grim affair, as practiced today. Agents have created a stranglehold on talent and are taking advantage of the dilettante quality of many summer theatre managers who are basically actors and directors and not managers. They have created an artificial scarcity of names and boosted the salaries for these names beyond the earning capacity of theatres. They play one man-names beyond the earning capacity of theatres. They play one manager against the other and force them into the position of playing a name and suffering losses. This has now reached a point where many summer theatres, if they reopen next season, will reopen under new managements.

There are managers who have der new managements.

There are managers who have given 15 and 20 years to summer stock. Their efforts have raised it to a standard that cannot even be encompassed today by Broadway theatres, because of cost factors. They have stayed 15 and 20 years in summer theatre operation because of tenacity and love of theatre.

cause of tenacity and atre.

It is very simple, but hardly fair, for an individual to castigate a phase of industry that is doing much to keep the whole legitimate theatre alive and create new audiences.

Helen Howe Resumes

Cites 'Dilettante' Influx

San Diego, Cal., July 29.

San Diego, Cal., July 29.
Southern California is witnessing a situation that is familiar in many other sections of the country—communities in need of professional entertainment, having the money to buy it, but with no thates or plans to furnish it.
There is virtually no professional living theatre as cultural outlet in all of southern California, except, of course, the infrequent road show, and the summer fare at La Jolla Pfayhouse.

The whole problem appears to be an enormous cultural lag attributable to two main factors:
(1) the growth in the last 10 years of what can be called "cottagecities," and (2) the general failure of people in show business to grasp the significance of this in relation to providing themselves with a new plan for servicing a new public.

What has happened in this ps.

lic.
What has happened in this named 25 years is prob-What has happened in this nation in the past 25 years is probably so novel, civic-wise and socially, that the failure up to this time to grasp the root of the dilemma of the decline of theatre is most understandable. However, the time now seems to have come when this great overall picture of social and economic change within the civic core of most cities must be studied, and studied thoroughly, if the future of show business on live stages is to be materially enhanced by various efforts, being made in this direction.

If, as is so widely indicated, the this direction.

If, as is so widely indicated, the main body of potential theatregoing public has moved en masse to ranch-type and Hollywood-type homes 25 and 30 miles from the old town where it works, and if the crumbling ruins of old theatres, and makeshift auditoriums, and obsolete theatres remaining no longer properly service a community and its cultural needs, some great program should evolve for programshould evolve for programming a remedy.

program should evolve for programming a remedy.

One of the most important aspects quite simply seems to be that of providing these communities with an assist in meeting their own problem.

New Suburban System

San Diego is a fair example of what has happened to cities throughout this nation. Not many years ago this was a relatively small city; good as a show town for a one-night stand, and, on occasion, a week. It still is for the giant musical comedy hit or star-studded comedy.

a week. It still is for the giant musical comedy hit or star-studded comedy.

However, as reported in Variery this winter, the major cities of this nation are dividing and sub-dividing amoeba-style and the great residential tide is moving away from downtown to the new suburban centers of living.

San Diego, the city, now embraces a whole system of suburban communities flung around the western end of the county and extending down the coastline from Delmar to Chula Vista, and each suburban living center is a new city with populations ranging from 25,000 to 50,000. All these cities—La Mesa; Linda Vista, Pt. Loma, Mission Beach, Pacific Beacn, La Jolla—are connected by major four-lane highways with staggering stream of automobile traffic daily and nightly.

This is the pattern of the new American city—the old town, like downtown San Diego, an area dense with business establishments, and one or two major industries.

American city—the old town, like downtown San Diego, an area dense with business establishments, and one or two major industries. There is financial stability and actual wealth in the hands of several hundred thousand home-nwning theatre alive and create new auurences.

Summer theatres can only be successful if operated by those people who exist for these summer theatres. It is not easy for someone to come out of Broadway theatre, with its deals and compromises, and enter summer theatre and make a success of it. Too many have dropped large sums of money and given it up as a hopeless cause, blaming the industry and not looking to themselves as the reason for their failure.

(Producer, Norwich Summer Theatre) hundred thousand nome-wage-earners.

However, except for the pur-chase of housing, food and cloth-ing, the city of San Diego, and the county itself (in size as big as Rhode Island) has no place to Rhode Island) has no place to spend its money.

"Blueprint Wanted
There is a great deal of talk in San Diego this summer about building a new theatre. Civic and cultural groups are meeting with reps of city government. Some are for a big theatre, some for a small. Actually, no one here quite knows what the community needs.

Many cities, and certainly San Diego exemplified this, know they need a community theatre capable of fulfilling numerous cultural requirements. They meet, discuss and fumble the issue. These com-

Helen Howe, solo actress, is resuming theatrical work, giving her new "Characters and Carleatures" program at Aspen Institute, Aspen, Col. tonight (Wed.).

During absence from the theatre the past several seasons, Miss Howe has written three novels, published by Simon & Schuster.

Mgt.-Operated Quota Plan Mulled As Answer to Equity Alien Snarl

London, July 29.

A last-minute move to break the deadlock that has arisen between British and American Equity over interchange of talent between the two countries is being made in London this week. Maurice Evans, while here on a film assignment, and as a U. S. Equity veepee, has been repping the American union talks with the British organization, and is known to have drafted a new formula which embraces the principle of a reciprocal quota.

Evans planes from here Thursday (31) and is due to report on his confabs to Equity Council next Tuesday (5). During his, last few days in London he has been continuing his talks with local Equity toppers, and has been exchanging views with prominent legit managements.

Musicals Teevival Does

Terrif Biz in A

Melbourne, July winds up four weeks of boxoffice at His Majestys he williamson. Again starring tayes in her original "Annie," at current pace, according to Williamson off Prior commitments, ho after the four weeks. Unde the state will return to Aussi next year to do a new munder the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial in the same managerial views with prominent legit managements.

Although negotiations are being conducted with utmost secrees; it's understood that Evans has been seeking establishment of a new principle, aimed at taking away from the two unions the power of veto on the employment of foreign artists. Instead of, the customary Equity control, it's suggested that the quota, if approved, should be policed by managements, who would have to agree among themselves on the number of alien artists to be permitted annually. The British Ministry of Labor, which has been kept informed on progress of the talks, has indicated it wouldn't obstruct a management-operated quota. Hitherto, its policy has been to seek the opinion of British Equity before giving its seal to an application for a work permit.

a work permit.

If broad agreement reached between the interested parties, it's hoped that formal ne-gotiations will follow, and that in (Continued on page 74) interested

SMA Retorts to Stiefel. Kneeter Blasts; Mgrs.' Inconsistencies Cited

Clinton, Conn.

Clinton, Conn.

Editor, Variety:
As publicity chairman of the Stock Managers Assn., and producer at the Clinton Playhouse, I cannot let two items in the July 16
Variety pass without comment.
Milton Stiefel, this spring, expressed himself against the SMA resolution attempting to do away with non-musical package productions for summer theatres, and, as always, against simultaneous and unrestricted release of plays for stock.

unrestricted release of plays for stock.

We had made arrangements early last fall to present "Kiss Me, Kate" at Clinton this—summer. Herbert Kneeter, some 45 miles away at Norwich, Conn., also made early arrangements to offer the musical. If Stiefel wanted to present the show at the same time, I felt that he had the right (even though he was geographically placed between the other two theatres). The play agent felt he would ruin his property in this area with three companies doing the same show simultaneously.

As soon as I heard of the turndown for Stiefel, I protested to the agent and then phoned Stiefel to inform him that I would' join in any fight for his right to do the play whenever he wished. A few minutes later I was informed that he (Stiefel) had resigned from SMA, making no appeal to the organization to fight this restriction. For the record, Stiefel has booked the Mae West package, "Come On Up," which includes 15 other players.

py, which includes 15 other players.

Item number two concerns Kneeter's blast at SMA. After signing the anti-package resolution and making hours of speeches against packages, particularly harping on the high salaries of stars, Kneeter booked the Mae West package. Kneeter is quoted in Variery as saying that the impresarios are "killing off their own golden goose through lack of cooperation, personal avarice and failure to hold the line against demands of agents," The same Kneeter cries out loudly against exorbitant star salarles. He reputedly paid Miss West a $3,500 guarantee.

Come now, who's calling whom what!

Come now, who's calling whom

Terrif Biz in Aussie

Melbourne, July 22. "Annie Get Your Gun" reviv Melbourne, July 22.

"Annie Get Your Gun" revival winds up four weeks of terrific boxoffice at His Majestys here for Williamson, Again starring Evie
Hayes in her original role.
"Annie," at current pace, could have stayed six months to sellout, according to Williamson officials.
Prior commitments, however, compel Miss Hayes to bow out after the four weeks. Understand that she will return to Aussie early next year to do a new musical next year to do a new musical under the same managerial banner.

Musicals Testing Spot In Midwest

Chicago, July 29.
Testing ground for Broadway musicals may evolve here in the midwest, if plans of Mrs. Hope Abelson, producer at the North Shore Musical Theatre, jell.
Femme is basing plan on outcome of the musical version of "The Drunkard," which will be last presentation of the tent operetta company, Sept. 2. Old melodrama will be played straight, with music arranged by Leo Kopp fitting the original post-Civil War period.
Mrs. Abelson feels that not enough American composers have a chance to get their wares heard, enough American composers have a chance to get their wares heard, except for top names. She's willing to set aside a week for a full production of an attractive score, with a name and professional cast provided, and all productions and traveling expenses paid. There's also chance that the non-profit organization might also back the selection for further commercial presentation.

ganization might also back the selection for further commercial presentation.

Tent musical, now in its third stanza, is non-profit, with all ex-cess boxoffice turned over to charity. So far, season has been very successful, best of all to date.

ANDERSON SIGNED FOR 'BODY' READING TOUR

Judith Anderson has been signed by producer Paul Gregory to appear with Tyrone Power and Raymond Massey in a reading tour of Stephen Vincent Benet's "John Brown's Body" this fall. Gregory is producer of last season's "Don Juan in Heil" hit.

"Body," verse epic of the Civil War has been adapted and will be

"Body," verse epic of the Civil War, has been adapted and will be staged by Charles Laughton. It will tour for 10 weeks, starting about Nov. 1.

Jap Opera Co. Set for U.S. Tour; N. Y. Group Tie Seen

Tour; N. Y. Group Tie Seen

Tokyo, July 22.
Twenty-five members of the Yoshie Fujiware Opera Co. will sail for America in August to make their first appearance in N. Y.
There's talk of group combining for appearances with the New York City Opera Co., according to U. S.
Embassy officials here. First performance, "Madame Butterfly," is set for Oct. 9.

Leading singer of role of Chocho San (Butterfly), Michicko Sunahara, is currently appearing in the Puccini opera in Paris, and will be unable to sing the role in the U. S. In her place will be Harue Miyake. Shizuko Kawasaki and Kazuko Matsuuchi will alternate in the role of Cho-cho San's maid, Suzuki.
Yoshie Fujiwara, tenor and man-

nate in the role of Cho-cno San's maid, Suzuki.

Yoshle Fujiwara, tenor and manager of the company, reports the troupe is scheduled for performances in Chicago, Denver, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Honolulu, in addition to the N. Y. appearance.

New Logan-Krasna Tie

Joshua Logan has acquired Norman Krasna's new romantic com-edy, "Kind Sir," and plans to pro-duce it next spring. He'll also di-he's calling whom Logan was director and co-producer on Krasna's "John Loves Mary" in 1946-47.

Schnitzer to Shepherd U.S. Artists in Berlin

Robert C. Schnitzer, who managed the production of "Four Saints in Three Acts" at the May Paris Arts Festival, has been appointed general manager for U. S. attractions at the coming Berlin Festival of 1952. He held same spot at the first Berlin Festival last year.

U. S. participants in the September fest include the "Porgy and Bess" legiter; N. Y. City Ballet; Eugene Ormandy as guest maestro with the RIAS Symphony Orchestra, and Astrid Varnay and Polyna Stoska as guest stars with the Berlin Opera.

NCAC Prepring 2-Week Fall Tour of 'Wilderness': Maps Further Legit Trek

Tour of a legit troupe in "Ah, Wilderness" on the college and club circuit, similar to the Margaret Webster Shakespearean setups of a few seasons ago, is being readied by National Concert & Artists Corp., which handled the Webster tours.

The Equity Library Theatre production of last season would be utilized, but only as base for a special, more elaborate setup. Production would also have ANTA's support and tag, because of the b.o. pull of a legit "name" organization as xponsor. zation as sponsor.

NCAC has wanted another legit NCAC has wanted another legit attraction since the Webster Bard deal, having made two successful tours with the group, and having had a full third season booked when Miss Webster canceled the project because of increased costs and financing snaris. ANTA, after several meetings, came up in June with the idea of an ELT-enlarged production of "Wilderness" for NCAC.

This was pretty late for NCAC's type of bookings, but its pop at-tractions department, headed by Selma Warlick, is now working on Selma Warlick, is now working on a two-week tour within a 100-mile radius of N. Y., covering smaller communities and colleges. In September, when clubs and colleges resume for the season, NCAC hopes to extend the tour-to a much longer period. Bureau won't know until then, when officials return to their desks, about the venture.

Bureau feels there is a market

Bureau feels there is a market Bureau feels there is a market for legit troupes in off-beat spots, away from the UBO circuit of towns, in areas that can't afford regular touring shows. NCAC would like to make these legit tours an annual affair, sending out tours an annual anair, sending out two or three such units, once or twice a year. But it wants a re-sponsible legit organization as sponsor, for selling purposes.

Loring, Levine, Walker Pacted for 'Buttrio Sq.'

Eugene Loring finished his choreographic chores on the Stanley Kramer pic, "Five Thousand Fingers of Dr. T." starring Mary Healy and Peter Lind Hayes, and arrived in N. Y., Monday (28), to prep work on "Buttrio Square," musical which Gen. Genovese and Eddie Woods are to present, with Billy Gilbert, Lawrence Brooks and Susan Johnson. Dale Wasserman is to direct. Maurice Levine was signed as conductor and also to do choral arrangements. Don Walker will do music arrangements. Book and music are by Gilbert, Arthur Jones and Fred Gilbert, Arthur Jones and Fred

Gilbert, Arthur conect Stamer. Rehearsals have been set for Aug. 20, with tryout in Boston. Call for singers was announced for yesterday (Tues.); for dancers, end

'Happy Marriage' Due In London Next Month

'Venice' a Hot Toddy, But Socko Biz Comes from Non-Beachites -

D.C. Junket for N.Y. Crix To O.O. 'Porgy & Bess'

To O.O. 'Porgy & Bess' Because "Porgy and Bess' won't play N. Y. and has a different cast from its prior Broadway presentation, pressagent Bill Doll is setting up a junket for N. Y. drama critics to Washington for the second night of the musical's run there, Aug. 5.
Show, which completes a two-week run in Pittsburgh this week, is skedded for four weeks in D. C.
before going overseas.

Alexander Smallens, "Porgy" musical director, will leave the show a week before its D. C. bowout, and fly to Europe on final music preparations. Smallens is also on leave of absence from the show this week, to fill some Lewisohn Stadium, N. Y., concert conducting dates.

Concert 'Regina' For Carnegie Hall

Three concert performances of Marc Elitzstein's 1949 Broadway musical, 'Regina,' are skedded for presentation at Carnegie Hall, N. Y., in the coming season. Musical, based on Lillian Hellman's drama, "The Little Foxes," was presented in concert form at the Lexington YMHA, N. Y., last month with most of the original Broadway cast. Favorable reaction sparked the Carnegie Hall idea. It's also cued six stage performances of "Regina" that will be done by various community theaters in the U. S. this season. There's also some talk of a Broadway or N. Y. opera house revival. Sets and costumes from the original are available. nal are available.

nal are available.

Meantime, Blitzstein is in Atlantic City, putting finishing touches to his new musical, "Reuben, Reuben," which Cheryl Crawford plans to produce this season. Blitzstein hopes to have the work finished by Sept. 15.

His adaptation of the Berthold Brecht-Kurt Weill "Three-Penny Opera," tried out successfully in concert form at the Brandeis Mu-

Brecht-Kurt Weill "Three-Penny Opera," tried out successfully in concert form at the Brandeis Music Festival in Massachusetts last month, is also a prospect for this season. Work will be recorded this

GOLDEN SONG OLDIES AS 'ANIMAL' B.O. GIMMICK

John Golden dreamed up an unusual bit of exploitation for his current Broadway comedy, "The Male Animal," at the Music Box Theatre. Vet showman bought a.m. spots for a fortnight over longhair station WQXR.

longhair station WQXR.

Instead of straight plugs, one-time songwriter Golden conceived a contest involving identication of many of his song hits. "I Can Dance With Everybody But My Wife," "Just We Two," "Poor Butterfly" and "Goodbye Girls, I'm Through" were refrained. First 30 wires naming the Golden oldies were awarded a single seat to "The Male Animal." In the fortnight, more than 1,000 wires correctly identified the songs. Producer emceed his own contest via taperecording.

Blondes' Preps Another Full Tour; Leads Sought

"Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" will go out this fall for its second full-season tour, tentatively set to open Sept. 15 in Montreal, Carol Channing and Yvonne-Adair, of the original company, aren't available, being set for the London production Jack Hylton is readying

In London Next Month
Glasgow, July 22.

John Clements' new play, "The Happy Marriage," here on a preLondon tuneup, is scheduled to open at the Duke of York's Theatre, London, Aug. 7. It is based on Jean Bernard Luc's French farce,
"Lee Complexe de Philemon," Clements, English actor-manager, also directs and co-stars with his wife, Joan Hammond.
Clements, normally associated with classical and period plays, plans to return soon to this kind of dramatic production. His current comedy is playing to solid summer biz here.

will go out this fall for its second full-season tour, tentatively set to open Sept. 15 in Montreal, Carol Channing and Yvonne-Adair, of Channing and Yvonne-Adair, of channing and Tyonne-Adair, of
channing and Tyonne-Adair, of solid, being set for the London production Jack Hylton is readying.

Main problem of producers Herman Levin and Oliver Smith is son, will go out with the troupe again, as will Eric Brotherson.
John C. Wilson, the stager, now in London, is due back Friday (1), when auditions will start for new

Mike Todd is enjoying a pleas-antly rude awakening with his Jones Beach (N. Y.) outdoor oper-etta, "A Night in Venice," all be-cause the so-called "captive audi-ence" on which he had counted as a surefire boxoffice nucleus just ain't. The business that he is do-ling—and it's socko-comes not ain't. The business that he is do-ing—and it's socko—comes not from the Jones beachcombers, as was expected, but is widely drawn from New York City and the near-by Connecticut and New Jersey suburbs.

suburbs.

The bridge toll clockers at Jones Beach attest to that by the fact that as many as 4,000 cars have been clocked (at 60c, which goes to the State Park Commission) coming over the toll bridge that leads into JB after 7 p.m. nightly. Todd first noticed it at the parking lots near the stadium housing his willight the 3600 to 4. lots near the stadium housing his "Might In Venice"; the 3,600 to 4.000 cars in that area would clear out around 5-6 p.m., and only around 70 to 100 cars remained, which he presumed were those who might take in his outdoor operetta or be doing something else.

operetta or be doing something else.

By the same token the Marine Circus, the afternoon show which Mike Todd, Jr., supervises, has been unable to buck the sun. When the weather is good the beach is too tough competition, and the answer was the meagre $1,100 young Todd did with the midafternoon aquacade last Saturday. When it suddenly rains or becomes cloudy he does better, as on one uncertain afternoon when the mob was chased off the beach; that week-day aft the gross went up to $1,600. That's not enough business, however, but because of contractual commitments, the aquacade will be continued into August.

The idea of appending the Marine Circus as a supplementary 50c afterpiece was tried out by Todd last week but he is cooling off on that because he feels it (Continued on page 74)

(Continued on page 74)

100G Daniel Boone Drama Scoring in Asheville: Run May Be Extended

Asheville, N. C., July 29.
"Thunderland," frontier drama of the life of Daniel Boone, enters its fourth week Friday (1) in the forest amphitheatre hewn out of the wilderness eight miles south of Asheville

forest amphitheatre hewn out of the wilderness eight miles south of Asheville.

If officials of Sunset Mountain Attractions, Inc., which is presenting this drama with original music, with profits pledged to Asheville-Biltimore College, can extend the contracts of the 20 principals; who are members of Actors Equity, and the 50 dancers and singers, the play will run until Sept. 6. Otherwise engagement may end Aug. 30. "Thunderland," written by Hubert Hayes, last represented on Broadway with "Tight Britches," and with music and lyrics by Lamar Stringfield, who won a Puiltzer Prize some years ago for his Southland mountain music; was affected by three days of rain the opening week. But since the July 4 dress rehearsal-opening, attendance has climbed steadily, and now the Daniel Boone vs. Indians thriller is playing to an average of 1,000 residents and tourists nightly.

playing to an average of 1,000 residents and tourists nightly.

No matinees are given, and Monday night shows are eliminated in favor of Sunday night tourist traffic.

favor of Sunday night tourist traffe.

Unusual aspects about this Asheville operation might be of interest to showmen and civic organizations in other states, where an amphitheatre drama would be an added tourist attraction. In the first place, several hundred people bought bonds without reading the script of "Thunderland," and a total of $100,000 was raised in a few weeks without a single audition for show angels.

Clarence E. Morgan, former Mayor of Asheville, is president of Sunset Mountain Attractions, Vicepresidents are Julian A. Woodcock, W. Elbert Chambers. James O. Angel and Robert F. Phillips, president of board of trustees, Asheville-Biltmore College. Robert I. Presley and W. Averill Harris are the treasurers, John M. Carroll is chairman of the promotion committee and secretary is W. T. Duckworth, Jr.

Strawhat Reviews

Evening With Beatrice Lillie

Coonamessett, Mass., July 28.
Richard Aldrich presentation of Edward Duryea Dowling production of concert show in Programmer Stars Beatrice Ellille: Store Beatrice Stars Beatrice Stars Beatrice Online: Stars Beatrice Could, Kenneth Walton, Virginia and planos. With Miss Lillie, Grandler, Miss Banks, Joan Poggi, Edn Courtleth, At Falmouth Phyliotes, Coonamessett, Mass., July 21, 22.

Newport, Ogunquit, East Hambon, Princeton, Olney and the other houses which have booked "An Evening With Beatrice Lillie" can now start dusting off the SRO sign and clearing out extra corners in which to stack the money, judging by the business the international comedienne, did at Richard Aldrich's Falmouth Playhouse here this week.

this week.

Booked here as the starting point for her eight-week tour of strawhats. Falmouth went clean for the week, turning away nearly as many people as those able to get in. Rucking extreme heat and the Democratic convention, both matiness and all evening performances found the boxoffice cluttered with potential customers hoping for turn-backs. Miss Lillie could stay here as long as she wants.

Seeing this terrific business.

here as long as sne wants.

Seeing this terrific business,
Aldrich quickly engaged the concert show for a vacant week at his Cape Playhouse, Dennis, Mass.
week of Rug. 25, and the turnaways at Falmouth are already buying up the ducets.

Aimed for the class trade, Miss Lillie also seems to draw from those who are hard to pry away from their television sets. They have seen her on TV. Now they want to see her in person. They were willing to pass up Senator Kefauver, an old TV friend, for her.

were willing to pass un Senator Kefauver, an old TV friend, for her.

"An Evening With Beatrice Lillie" is an intimate variety concert show with carriage-trade trimmings. Reginald Gardiner is used as emcee and tries to keep the audience in the soirit of things while the star is chan-ing costumes. The first act is given over to familiar Gardiner monologs, such as his
"Trains." his bantomiming as a recorded trio sings "Mississipon Mud" and his longhaired "Conductor."
Gardiner also appears with Miss Lillie in an old English revue sketch by Herbert Fargeon, modeled along the lines of father telling son the facts of life. It's Gardiner's number, with Miss Lillie providing the reactions.

Also in Act I. Miss Lillie plays to a sketch. "A Star's First Night." being the chatty lady visiting the actress backstage after the performance, sings her well-known
"Wind Round My Heart." and acts in another skit. "References." in which she plays an impertinent, inefficient maid toosing as her mistress giving character references on herself. In both sketches she is given able support by Kenia Bank, who will tour with the package. In "References." the part of the mistress will have to be cast at the places visited. At Falmouth, the places visited. At Falmouth, the places visited. At Falmouth, the reach the mister of the second act is given place's visited. At Falmotton part was played by Edna Court-leigh.

The whole second act is given over to Miss Lillie and her songs, with Kenneth Walton at the plano. This is what the audience has been writing for, and the star and her following play together as a team. Her instinctive timing stands her no ood stead, and if, during a number, she feels impelled to put in an impromptu bit of business, she does so, but cuts it short, or drags it out, depending on reaction of her audience.

Mingled with such favorites as "Rhythm" and "Marvelous Party," are songs which Miss Lillie has sing in England, but are new here. Included are "Not Wanted on the Vovage," "He Was a Genţleman," "Come Into the Garden, Maude" and a zither number in which the star sinss risque lyrics with wide-eved innocence to make it the high point of the act. She also includes a medlow of tunes popular during World War I.

may not be everybody's cup of tea, but he is a good foil and balance for Miss Lillie.

There are hopes of bringing "An Evening With Beatrice Lillie" to a small Broadway house in the fall if the first act is cleaned and tightened up, it should go. ened up, it should go.

The Dogince Sonata

Westport, Conn., July 23.
White Barn Theatre Foundation, Inc., white Barn Theatre Foundation, Inc., captured by Richard Harrity, laged by Robert Laning, Settings beloard Merrill, 4t White Barn Theatre, captured by 27, 52. I, 52.
Jerry Ansbacher
Doug Taylor
Charles Aidmar
Arch Johnson
Michael Prince
Richard Merril!
JO Rabb Luis M Dana

Richard Harrity's one-act play, "Hope Is a Thing With Feathers," first performed on Broadway several seasons ago, has already become a standard curtain-raiser of prevailing interest and distinction.

prevalling interest and distinction. There has been much speculation therefore about his first full-length play. This is it.

Harrity wrote "Dogface Sonata" in the early days of World War II, when he was attached to the Caribbean Defense Command, sitting out the conflict in the defense of the Panama Canal. It is a famillar story, the reactions of a cross-section of American youths relegated to defense assignments in dreary tion of American youturs relegated to defense assignments in dreary outposts. This time they are deposited in an isolated Coast Artillery station on the edge of a Panama jungle.

Panama jungle.
You can pick 'em from left to right, the surly, intolerant hate-spreading one; the romantic, caught in the spell of a native jane; the Dick Rover, grim and fine, but twotimed by his stateside wife; the overgrown one, displaying his "kid's" picture at the drop of a card; the southern boy with the comedy relief.

Harrity writes with warmth and Harrity writes with warmth and honesty, but with limited sense of characterization. These are surface people from a thousand memories, people from a thousand memories,

And "Dogface Sonata" certainly gets a surface performance at Westport. Ten days of rehearsal in the summer is high dispensation, but the young players this time fail to match the privilege: Robert Laning, the director, has given them to ramble and mutter, and half the time, even in the small, pleasant proportions of this stand,
they are incoherent.

Jo Rabb is the only lady in the company and she has some moving moments as a Panamanian student who is disheartened by the world she finds beyond her homeland. Miss Rabb is also guilty at times of catching incoherence from the men in the company.

Jerry Ansbacher and Doug Taylor share the best of the male roles and give the best performances, while the evening's only fun and charm comes from Richard Merrill as the beguiling southern boy.

Minimum sets, also by Merrill, are first rate. And "Dogface Sonata" certainly

Minimum sets, also by Merrill,

The Flashing Stream

The Flashing Stream

Stockbridge, Mass., July 22.

Berkshire Playhouse presentation of drama in three acts (five scenes) by Charles Morgan. Features Eleanor Wilson. William Roerick, Howard Whitfield, Gare Clarke. Staged by William Miles. Setting by William Roberts. At Berkshire. Isparbuse. Stockbridge, July 2crkshire. July 2crkshire. Stockbridge, July 2crkshire. Stockbridge, July 2crkshire. July 2crkshire.

charles Morgan, successful Brittsh novelist and erstwhile drama discovered for the power of the parts and all their endingers. The net is brought to a flash finish with "There Are Fairies in the Bottom of Our Garden," employing the feathered fan and the long string of pearls and all their endingers. The Playwrights Co. got this sechalarly prose style, has turned out a thin piece of playwriting that at times lacks lucidity, and at string of pearls and all their endingers in the producer and director of the prackage. Is along with the show and will remain with it for the four. New skelches will doubt lessly be tried out, or the ones now in use will get the fixing they need. Gordiner should try out new material, unless there is a fresh majority from the new generation of the arregoers who missed him in his two Broadway appearances. His him overlist and erstwhile drama critic of the London Times, using his scholarly prose style, has turned out a thin piece of playwriting that at times lacks lucidity, and at stimes Charles Morgan, successful Brit-workers are stationed at an experimental spot on the island of St. Hilary in the Atlantic. Their devotion to the task and Ferrers' iron hand have turned their existence into a monastic one.

During an unsuccessful experiment Selby, close friend and top-co-worker of Ferrers' is killed. To replace him, his sister, Karen, also a math whiz, is brought on to replace him, contrary to Ferrers' desires. Then sex and love rear their heads. Conflicts ensue, abetted by the Admiralty's impatience with fallures of the experiment; passes by Lady Helston, wife of the genial Rear Admiral in command of the island, at Ferrers, and her antipathy to Karen.

After another experimental fail-by Lady Heiston, when the grand of the island, at Ferrers, and her antipathy to Karen.

After another experimental failure and Ferrers' adamant refusal to admit an error in his figures, the station is to be closed. A last-minute falsehood by Karen to sympathetic Lord of the Admiralty Harrowby staves off shutting down of the station. Karen's lie was that she had discovered an error in Ferrer's calculations. The latter accepts the subterfuge and the high spiritual side of Morgan's proponents of singleness of mind and spirit becomes a bit besmirched.

William Gibberson, in his first appearance at the local playhouse, gives a good account of himself as Lieut. Commander Brissing, showing the earthiness of the character. Gaye Jordon is at her best as Lady Helston, the catty, sexy wife of the humorous Rear Admiral Helston. The latter part is well lined by Gage Clarke. John Austin lends simplicity and understanding to the part of Harrowby. William Swan comes up with another of his fine performances as the vacillating Lieut. Commander Sandford. William Roerick and Eleanor Wilson do all they can to bring to life two mathematical geniuses in love, but the playwright's pomposity is too great a handicap. Director William Miles brings out all the potentialities the script contains. William Robert's set is his best of the season.

Opus has a six-month London rund a very Paris tenure to its credson.

Opus has a six-month London run and a year Paris tenure to its credit. In the liability column is an eight-performance run in New York back in 1939. A revival, though the bomb destroyer theme is most timely now, would undoubtedly meet with the same N.Y. verdict., Russ.

Quota Plan

- Continued from page 73 :

the meantime the new American Equity ruling, with its $500 weekly minimum for imported artists, will be suspended and British threat of reprisals nullified.

American thespers now working in London consider the final clause in the new American Equity rules provides a convenient "out" in paving the way for new negotiations. This permits any of the rules to be changed, amended or revoked by the Council at any time without prior notice, revoked by the Council at any time without prior notice, Precedent for a managementoperated quota in the theatre was established some years ago, when vaudeville houses came to an agreement with the Variety Artitsts Federation. This pact lays down a fixed percentage for foreign acts, but gives the managements a completely free hand in choice of artists.

Two Productions Balked
Equity put a ban on employ-

Equity put a ban on employment of British actors in the U. S. theatre unless they received more than $500 a week, and decided that all foreign companies must employ 60% of Americans in their casts.

Rulings have already snarled two productions, the importation by the Playwrights Co. of a London cast for "Trial of Mr. Pickwick," and the Theatre Guild's importation of the present London production of Shaw's "The Millionairess," starring Katharine Hepburn.

Guild had planned to bring the

Legit Followup

Тор Вапана (WINTER GARDEN)

(WINTER GARDEN)
Jack Carter, subbing for Phil
Silers for two weeks as lead in "Top Banana," knocks himself out in a hard-working impersonation of a know-it-all TV comedian, for firstrate results, Himself a TV name
(the Jack Carter Show, etc.), Carter puts on a brash, hearty and varied performance that keeps the show spinning at a merry rate. His routine is closely imitative of Silvers, while he lacks a little of the latter's terrific speed and staccato, mile-a-minute delivery.
But his enthusiasm and all-round

mile-a-minute delivery.

But his enthusiasm and all-round drive, combined with his own comic style (such as his imitations of Churchill, Jessel, Dr. Kronkhite, a trained seal, etc.), make him an admirable substitute, and a legit draw in his own right. A genuinely funny performer, he broke up other cast members several times on the night show was caught.

Some other recent cast changes on the night show was caught.

Some other recent cast changes have been distinct improvements. Danny Scholl, as romantic singing lead, is personable, and of fine voice, and has a big edge on his predecessor. Audrey Meadows ialso fine. Attractive, and a good singer, she doesn't punch as hard as did Rose Marle, and comes of better. Her big song, "I Fought Every Step of the Way," carries more impact than before.

Johnny Coy is an okay replace-

Johnny Coy is an okay replacement for Bob Scheerer, with as good a style in tap dancing, and more actual work in his presentation.

Show holds up very well after nine months. Big moments are still sock—the early bits about burlesque and the wonderful late-evening burlesque throwback: the lesque and the wonderful late-evening burlesque throwback; the singing dog bit; Sans Souci number, etc. Old reliables like Joey Faye, Herbie Faye and Jack Albertson still deliver 100%, and Judy Linn is the same winsome heroine. Show is laying off this weekend (2) until Labor Day, to dodge the heat and resultant slack biz.

The Seven Arts Hall, Inc., has been chartered to conduct a producing and theatrical business in New York. Directors are Yoshiko Fujii, Albert H. Socolov and attorney Gloria Agrin.

'Venice'

Continued from page 73 =

spoils the mood of "Night Venice." He utilized the intern spoils the mood of "Night In Venice." He utilized the intermission as a showcase with a "sample" of the ensuing aquacade, but found the extra take not worthwhile. Besides the mood aspects, he has been further complicated by the sundry unions raising the issue that it was a two-in-one-show, and warranted overtime.

ssue that it was a two-in-oneshow, and warranted overtime.

Fancy Grosses

Todd says he grossed $111,574 last week, exceeding the record high for the preceding (fourth) stanza, which clocked $103,000. He points to the $6,100 "Venice" tix sold at the dark Rivoli Theatre, on Broadway, on one day, as evidence that the Jones Beach pull is strictly away from the Long Island spot and has nothing to do with a captive audience. He also has four Skouras theatres on Long Island selling tickets, but avers that of the 111G take last week, possibly only 10% came from offthe-beach. Todd has discovered that that clientele is too enervated by the sun and constitutes what he calls "the chopsuey trade; they eat and hit the sack early after a long day on the sand."

Todd needs $35,000 to break be-can's the chopsucy trade; they eat and hit the sack early after a long day on the sand."

Todd needs $35,000 to break besides a large hidden nut such as 180 treasurers and $7,300 for ads.

The Rivoli b.o. on Broadway has clocked daily sales of $4,600, $1,800, $2,100, $2,200 and $2,700 oh one Monday-Friday a week ago, which is typical of the pace. Saturday and Sunday sales at the Rivare nil. The four Skouras theaters in Queens and Long Island which sell pasteboards for "Venice" average $700 a day each, the best one being a Queens Blvd. house which gets nearer $900 on the day. Both Rivoli and the Skouras theatres don't charge Todd for any-which gets house Both Rivoli and the Skouras theatres don't charge Todd for anything but the lights; besides, the four theatres also run cuffo trailers advocating "it's good for people to get out to the beach," etc.

The Marine Circus is a 2:30 p.m.

affair at 50 and 60c admission and moving it down later in the afternoon has been of no avail; the beach is still too much competition.

'Colony' Still Thrilling Folk Drama in 12th Year, But Dance Disappoints

Greensboro, N. C., July 29. "The Lost Colony," Paul Green's eloquent drama of Sir Walter Raleigh's lost colony on Roanoke Island, is running full tilt in its Island, is running full filt in its 12th season, and again drawing enthusiastic audiences to the waterside theatre on the Island. Sam Selden is still directing, with Cliff Britain assisting and Will Long as technical director, William M. Hardy has replaced John Parker as general manager.

Most exciting change in the play is the addition of a new fight scene between Indians and settlers, which adds suspense and rapid is the addition of a new fight scene between Indians and settlers, which adds suspense and rapid action to the show. This year's acting is firstrate, with Lillian Prince in her sixth successful season as the impetuous, imperious Queen Elizabeth; Robert Armstrong in his seventh year as the stalwart John Borden; Andrew Griffith as dashing Sir Walter Raleigh; Barbara Edwards Griffith as the tender but staunch Eleanor Dare, and Ainsile Pryor as Governor White.

Frederick Young, last season's emcee, this year plays Old Tom, comic character of the show, who develops from a drunken roisterer in the English taverns to a resourceful, dependable leader in the English taverns to a resourceful, dependable leader guarding the fort on Roanoke. Young makes the role one of the highlights this year by skillfully bringing out the transition of Old Tom from lowbrow comedian to from lowbrow comedian to pioneer hero.

Credit for the smooth, profes-Credit for the smooth, profes-sional movement of the show from scene to scene goes to Elmere Oettinger, stage manager; for the attractive costumes, to Irene Smart Rains; for the effective lighting, to James Byrd.

Greatest disappointment of the Greatest disappointment of the show, to one who has seen it many times in other years, is the deterioration of the dance sequences from the former strength and virility established by Foster Fitz-Simons, to the Follies-like posturing of the present choreography. The dances are more reminiscent of Rockettes than of Indians.

"The Lost Colony" is still a of Rockettes than of Indians.

"The Lost Colony" is still a great show; and the final burst of song as the colonists march out to join the Indians and to become indeed "the lost colonists" still gives a lift to the audience and a thrill to any spectator who sees the show time and time again.

Hard.

Legit Need

Continued from page 72

munities have no means of making a nationwide study of the problem, and their elective or appointive commissions for city planning know commissions for city planning know relatively little about the kind of theatre they should or might build, or what the requirements are for a successful modern theatre building.

It's unfortunate that groups in the east, such as Council for the Living Theatre and American National Theatre & Academy, aren't in a position to wheel into San Diego and help those people who want a new theatre to get what they want, and get it built the right way.

way.

If, as' is quite apparent, some large portion of the future of the living theatre lies in farflung comliving theatre lies in tarning community cultural programs not entirely unlike that of the great public library system we have in this country, then the sooner this is faced and understood clearly the sooner a real, practical solution for the renaissance of theatre will be sooner a real, platthat will be evolved.

If the community of San Diego were to build an adequate stage plant to serve its widespread needs, and if this property were not dependent as real estate on making an annual profit, the whole financial picture of the touring play would alter overnight. The house nut would be eliminated, and the operating nut of the show reduced to the point where many plays could tour successfully on a budget 15 to 25% lower than at present. The hunger for theatre exists. The wealth and community awareness exists.

ness exists.

All that seems to be missing is a All that seems to be missing is a sound program for aiding American communities to develop adequate facilities for staging the theatre of tomorrow.

Legit Shows Abroad

Casino (3-4).

y "Piccadilly (6-12).

ble Revus" (Gibe (1-10).

Chancery," Art (7-30).

tie Hut," Lyric (8-23-50).

tie Leenen," Adoptio (6-13).

te calculation (6-23-50).

th Ade Nathine," Phoenix (1-13).

tiv Value," Savor (11-28-31).

tive Value," Savor (11-28-31).

tive Value," Savor (11-28-31).

tive Value," Savor (11-28-31).

tive Value," Savor (11-28-31).

tive Value," Savor (11-28-31).

tive Value," Savor (11-28-31).

tive Value," Savor (11-28-31).

tive Value," Savor (11-28-31).

tive Value," Savor (11-28-31).

tive Value," Savor (11-28-31).

tr Sycimore," St. James (4-20).

tr Sycimore," St. James (4-20).

an af Twillishi", Vic. Pal. (6-18).

joes a Millien," Palace (10-20-51).

MEXICO Communication (4-2).

MEXICO CITY

Week ending July 12)
Is Girl," Colon. of Other," Ideal.
ariume," Moliere.
Backs," Bolivar.
research.
Caracol.
lors," Chopin.

MADRID

MADRID
(Week ending July 26)
ymoon in Four, 'Alcazar.
quaire bessy.' Calderon.
i Romances,'' Alvarex.
to Spain,'' Carlor III.
Night Madrid,'' Comedia.
rai. Violettes,'' Lope de Vega.
manios en in 'mar Relina.
rai te sede,'' Zaraula.

PARIS

PARIS

(Week ending August 2)

nt Par Etage." Casino.

s Dimanche." Michodiere.

nteur de Mexico." Cintelet.

cellans Beis." Comedie.

sques des Carmelltes." Hebertot.

ress D'Algues." Michel.

arde Aventure. The Paris.

s La Callie." Antoine.

strate." Humour.

et." Bernhardt. " Bernhardt." Palais-Royal. Chere," Edouard. 'Anya," Theatre de Pouche. alant," Capucines. Fennme Leih," Montp.-Baty. Paris Galant," Capucines, Petite Femme Leth," Montp.-I Plein Feu," Empire, Puceau," Ambigu, Tete des Autres," Atelier, 'Vampire," Grand Guignol, 'Voleites imperiales,' Mogador, 'Vrale Felle," Folles-Bergere,

AUSTRALIA

(Week ending July 38)

"Felies Bersers" (Tvol., Sydney,
"Sasgulis Over Serrents", Connedy, Mel.
"Sasgulis Over Serrents", Connedy, Mel.
"Larger Than Life," Frincess, Mel.
("astiste", Empire, Sydney,
"astiste", Empire, Sydney,
"Siscoling of Conness," Adel.
"Siscoling of the Conness," Adel.

IRELAND

(Week ending July 26)

Srigadesm." Opera House, Belfast.

dv Wifes Family." Opera House, Cork.
King Fridays.

King Fridays.

Three Sisters." Gate, Dublin.

Three Sisters." Gate, Dublin.

BUENOS AIRES

BUENOS AIRES

(Week ending June 19)

"Mai Suegra," Apolo,
"Las lagrimas famblen," Ateneo,
"De Espana Liega," Argentino,
"Cuando les Duendes," Astral.

La Verbena," Avenida, "" Cagino,
"Elorance est Felle," Cervantes,
"Majuel de Meilna," Comedia,
"La Lampara Encendida," Comico,
"El Diablo en el Telefone," Corrientes,
"Los Chicos Crecen," Licco,
"F.B." El Nacional,
"Sepa Nicola," Marcont,
"Sepa Nicola," Empire,
"Laranche, Sentilhomms," Odeon,
"Celos del Aire," Empire,
"Caronto," Splendid,
"Jerebel," Lasalle,
"Jerebel," Lasalle,
"Herber," San Martin,
"Horbers en mi Viday," Snart, Hornbres en mi Viday," Snart,
"Clas Liene, Alegane," Vara,
"Clas Liene, Alegane," Vara,
"La Verdad Res Tou," Pat.

TOURING ERITAIN

TOURING BRITAIN

TOURING BRITAIN

(Week ending July 19)

"Blue For Roy" Hipp, Golder's Green.

"Brigadoon," Opera House, Belfast,

"Carousel," Pavillon, Bournemonth.

"Cosh Bey," Hipp., Salford.

"Fourpester," King's, Southsea.

"Gay's the Word," New, Oxford.

"Goodnight, Vienna," Royal, Newcastle

"Hollow," Prince of Wales, Cardiff.

King's Rhaprody," Empire. Sheffield.

King's Rhaprody," Empire, Sheffield.

King's Rhaprody," Empire, Sheffield.

King's Rhaprody," Loyerpool.

"Hale Time," Royal, Bath.

"Merry Widew," Hipp., Coventry.

"May Wife's Lodger," New, Northamp.

"Mayy At Sea," Palace Pier, Brighton.

"No, Nanette," Alhambra, Bradford.

"Okiahoma," New, Cardiff.

"Quadrille," Opera House, Manchester.

"Siylish Marriaga," Empire, Sunderland.

"White Sheep," Opera House, Chale. ette," Alhambra, Bradford. a," New, Cardiff. e," Opera House, Manchester. Aarriage," Empire, Sunderland. heep," Opera House, Chelt. Eye Vlew," Grand, Leeds.

-SCOTLAND

(Week ending Aug. 2)

"Quadrille," Lyceum, Edinburgh.
"Florodors," King's, Glasgow.
"Haif-Past Eight," Edinburgh and Royal, Glasgow.

"Lace en Her Petticeat," Alhambra,
Glasgow.

Legit Bits

Jessie Royce Landis, after two years in England, is due back in N. Y. end of August. She closed an 11-month run in "And So to Bed" in London Saturday night (26), and is doing a short tour of the provinces in it . Joanna Albus, co-producer of the Houston Playhouse, is directing "The Innocents," which bows there Aug. 6. Ted Goldsmith advance man on Playhouse, is directing "The Innocents," which bows there Aug. 6.

Ted Goldsmith, advance man on "Porgy and Bess," is leaving end of week to rejoin "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes." Stan Brody will replace Goldsmith, plcking up "Porgy" in Washington Aug. 4, and staying with it for its four-week D. C. run, before it goes to Europe. Bob Ganshaw will replace Brody in the Bill Doll office for the four-week hiatus.

George Bellac's "The Trouble-makers," presented by the New Dramatists' Committee in N. Y. this spring, goes into rehearsal in London Aug. 13 under the author's direction. Gene Lyons, who played the lead in the off-Broadway showing at Palm Garden, will play the same role in England. Hal Cooper, Peter Glenn and Leste Linder are co-producers, while Desmond O'Donovan is London manager. A late September West End opening is planned.

Russ Landi, cousin of the late Russ Columbo, will make his legit debut in Gary Stevens' first producing venture, a musical comedy titled "Chloro-Follies," which he hopes to bring to Broadway this fall.

Norman Roland, legit actor, is vacationing in Everyeit and one of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of the search of Norman Roland, legit actor, is vacationing in France after having played Prometheus in the Delphi (Greece) festival production of "Prometheus Bound." He played in English. rest of cast in Greek.

In English, rest of cast in Greek.

Raymond Massey and his wife off to Europe last Thursday (24) in the Mauretania . Eric Bently succeeded Harold Clurman as drama critic for the New Republic
. . Joan Shephard in N. Y.
from London Monday (28) after season's engagement as featured from London Monday (28) after season's engagement as featured player in the "Irving Revue". ... Laudi Evangeli," a mystery play. Los Angeles, July 29. Los Angeles, July 29. Los Angeles, July 29. Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Angeles, July 29. "Tony Bows on Coast Los Bloomgarden will produce in the fall . . . Elaine Malbin, Dorothy Sarnoff and Howard Jarratt to have lead roles in Robert L. Jöseph's production of Charles Friedman's "My Darlin' Aida," based on the Verdi opera: . Theatre Guild asked Jose Ferrer to stage and act in "The Love of Four Colonels," planned for early next year.

Barn Notes

Dancer Lee Lindsey is touring the barn circuit in "Kiss Me, Kate," in the Bill Calhoun role . . . Edmon Ryan quit the Constance Bennett's barn tryout, "I Found April". Maureen Stapleton will appear in the tryout of "Tin Wedding," by Hagar Wilde and Judson O'Donnell, at Westport (Conn.) Playhouse, Sept. 1 . . . Helen Richards, pressagent for Danbury (Conn.) Melody Fair the last eight weeks, has left to return to her old duties on the Coast as publicity gal on Paul Gregory's "Don Juan" production. Al Perlman and Carlson Spear are taking over press chores at Danbury ... Kaye Ballard makes her tent debut as Annie in "Annie Get Your Gun" at Neptune Music Circus, Asbury Park, N. J., week of Aug. 5. Jordan Bentley plays opposite .. Eugene R. Wood, who appeared in "Over 21" at the Spa Summer Theatre, Saratoga Springs, N. Y., last week, is chairman of the drama department at Ithaca, N. Y., College . . John Martin is starred in "Tobacco Road" at the Scandaga Park (N. Y.) Summer Theatre this week.

Bill Butler just finished directing Menotti's "Old Maid and the Thief"

Theatre this week.

Bill Buller just finished directing Menotti's "Old Maid and the Thief" for a recently-formed troupe which will tour New England in late summer and fall. He's off Aug. 1 for a trip to Arizona, to scout new territory for the touring players.

Massine Mystery Play

Perugia, Italy, July 22.

Perugia, Italy, July 22.
Leonide Massine, famed dancerchoreographer, is producing "Laudi Evangeli," a mystery play based on seven episodes in the life of Jesus Christ, with the Teatro
Communale of Florence, at the St.
Domenico church here in September. Traditional pageant will be choreographed this year and will last an entire evening.

'Norway' Neat $31,500. In Portland Stanza

Portland, Ore., July 29.

"Song of Norway" kicked off the 1952-53 legit season here by racking up a neat $31,500 for five evenings and two matinees at the Civic Auditorium last week (22-26). The 4,000-seat house was scaled to $4.80.

The 4,000-seat house was $4.80.

William Duggan is presenting four musicals at the big house this fall, and sold all four on a season deal, with individual seats set to sell about a week before show sell about a week blook time.

"Call Me Madam" is due in for a week, starting Sept. 1. "Stalag 17" is due at the Mayfair Theatre for a week the middle of August.

Dolls' $27,500, 'Bell' 8G, Chi

Chicago, July 29.
Although there are only two attractions here, both fared badly by last week, due to the Democratic convention. Oddly enough, Loop film houses had an excellent week. Matinees were also weak.
Nothing in sight until Sept. 2, when "Stalag 17" opens the fall season at the Erlanger.

Estimates for Last Week "Bell, Book and Candle," Harris (22d week) ($4.50; 1,000). Demos haven't been kind to comedy; mild $8.000.

"Guys and Dolls," Shubert (22d week) ($6; 2,100). Riding out this week with light $27,500.

'PORGY' FAIR $22,500, 'VENUS' HOT 40 2G, PITT.

VENUS' HOT 40½G, PITT.

Pittsburgh, July 29.

Nixon reopened last week with "Porgy and Bess" after a month's shutdown—first time anybody can remember that the hone has and eight performances of the ...
Blevins Davis-Robert Breen production of the George Gershwin musical brought in only a modest $22,500. Too many factors were against the attraction, principal one probably being the unseasonal period for regular legit, and it never cashed in on the fine notices.
It's been years since anything ever gafnered such raves. Top is $5.20 ($4 plus taxes), and second and final stanza, which is current, doesn't look too promising unless revival suddenly catches fire on strength of continued press help.
Newspapers have gone all out in an effort to push show over the top and this may pay off.
Plenty stiff competition for "Porgy and Bess" was summer opera version at Pitt Stadium of "One Touch of Venus," starring Russell Nype, Kyle MacDonnell and Richard Smart. It got a walloping $40,500 to everybody's surprise, running only slightly behind "Carousel" and "The Desert Song,"
the two previously biggest winners.
"Yenns" got best breaks possible from the weather and while the offering itself wasn't considered too hot, Nype and Miss MacDonnell, a big teevee fave here, proved about. Stadium now has "Annie Get Your Gun," with Sandra Deel back in the title role she first did here under the stars in 1950.

*Central Park' 286 for 7

'Central Park' 28G for 7 In Louisville Al Fresco

Louisville, July 29.
"Up In Central Park," third outdoor show of the current Iroquois Amphitheatre season, closed Sunday (27) after tallying a big $28,000 gross for seven performances. The Denis Du-For production of the Romberg piece, presented by the Louisville Park Theatrical Assn., had a cast headed by Earl Wrightson and Joan Roberts.

"Great Waltz" current week's truction account Mordow (29)

"Great Waltz," current week's attraction, opened Monday (28), with Robert Shafer and Nancy Kenyon in the leads. Genia Mell, ballerina, is dance soloist. Production was staged by Edward Clark Lilley. "Carousel" will follow, starting Aug. 4.

B'way B.O. Continues Slide With Heat, Demos Factors; 'Wish' 25G, Pal Joey' 32G, 'Pacific' $31,000

'Maritza' 36G, St. Louis

St. Louis, July 29.
Combatting interest in the Democratic convention and sizzling temperature that reached 105 Saturday (26), "Countess Maritza" wound (26), "Countess Maritza" wound up its third single frame since 1931 in the Municipal Theatre Assn.'s al fresco playhouse Sunday (27) with only a fair estimated gross of $36,000.

New, modernized version of "Mlle. Modiste" teed off a single frame last night (Mon.). Gross was approximately $3,500.

'Pacific' $73,165, 'Moon' 21G, Frisco

San Francisco, July 29.

"South Pacific." second in the series of Civic Light Opera productions, shuttered Saturday night (26) after four sock stanzas at the 3,250-seat Opera House. Musical, starring Janet Blair and Webb Tliton, hit a hefty $73,165 for its final frame, with house scaled to $4.80.

"Call Me Madam." with Elaine Stritch and Kent Smith, followed "South Pacific" into the Opera House, preeming Monday night (28).

"Stalag 17." with Jan. 37.

"Stalag 17," with John Ericson and George Tobias, chalked up a good $17,000 for its second week at the 1,550-seat Geary with a $3.60 top.

Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo opened Monday (21) at the 1,758-seat Curran with house scaled to $4.80. First week of seven per-formances showed only $4,100. Ballet is set for two frames.

"The Moon Is Blue," with David Niven, Diana Lynn and Scott Brady, moved up to hit a husky $21,000 for its third week at the 1,147-seat United Nations. House is scaled to $4.20.

CAROUSEL' FINE 35+G AT DALLAS STATE FAIR

Al VALLAD DIAIE FAIR

Dallas, July 29.

"Carousel," fourth bill of the State Fair Musicals' season in State Fair Auditorium, grossed a fine $35,500 from 24,000 payees through Sunday (27), first week of a fortnight's stand. Take beat any single week's bo. of predecessors, "Tree Grows in Brooklyn" and "Student Prince," but didn't challenge the hefty $42,715 first week of "Porgy and Bess," season's opener.
First stanza's gross is impressive,

First stanza's gross is impressive, due to bucking the Demmy conclave and 100-degree weather. Local critics Rudosed the staging

Local critics Rudosed the staging lavishly.

Producer Charles R. Meeker, Jr., managing director of State Fair Musicals, Inc., started rehearsals yesterday (Mon.) for "Wizard of Oz," season's penultimate production, which stars Buddy Ebsen and Marilyn Day, supported by ballerina Mařia Tallehief, and comios Erik Rhodes and Joe E. Marks.

Current Road Shows

(July 28-August 2)

"Bell, Book and Candle" (Joan Bennett, Zachary Scott)—Harris, Chi (28-9).

"Call Me Madam"—Memorial Aud., Frisco (28-2); Opera House, Frisco (4-9).

15co (4-9). "Fourposter" (Jessica Tandy, ume Cronyn)—Biltmore, L.A.,

"Good Night Ladies"—National Wash. (28-2). "Guys and Polls"—Shubert, Chi

"Moon Is Blue" (David Niven, Diana Lynn) — United Nations, Frisco (28-2); Aleazar, Frisco (4-9). "Porsy and Bess"—Nixon, Pitt. (28-2).

Another general boxoffice drop hit Broadway last week, the mid-season July slump silpping further in wake of the Democratic conven-tion and the continued heatwave. Feeling, however, is that Broad-way has hit its low point, and that season July stump shiping further in wake of the Democratic convention and the continued heatwave. Feeling, however, is that Broadway has hit its low point, and that it might be on the upturn this week. Several managements complained about the shortage of ice to cool their theatres, and one show, "Fourposter," cancelled its Saturday matinee (26) because of lack of ice and inability to cool off the house.

"Top Banana," originally set to continue with Jack Carter as fourweek sub for the vacationing Phil Silvers, reconsidered under stress of the heat and sagging b.o., and after two Carter-starred stanzas will lay off Saturday (2) for four weeks, to reopen Labor Day with Silyers back. The Winter Garden b.o., however, will remain open.

"Point of No Return," Paul Osori's adaptation of the John P. Marquand novel, starring Henry Fonda, reopens Monday night (4) at the Alvin after a five-week vacation.

Estimates for Last Week

Keys: C (Comedy), D (Drama),

CD (Comedy)-Drama), R (Revue).

rongs, reopens mongay night viry at the Alvin after a five-week vacation.

Estimates for Last Week

Keys: C (Comedy), D (Drama), CD (Connedy-Drama), R (Revue), MC (Musical Comedy), MD (Musical Drama), O (Operetta).

Other oraenthetic designations refer, respectively, to top prices: number of seats, capacity gross and stars. Price includes 20% amusement tax, but grosses are net: i.e., exclusive of tax.

"Fourposter." Barrymore (40th wk) (C-$4.80; 1,012; $24,996) (Betty Fletd, Burgess Meredith). Under $5,000 for seven (previous week, $8,500). Saturday matinee (25) canceled when ice ran out.

"Guys and Dolls," 46th St. (88th wk) (MC-$6.60; 1.319; $43,904). (Grossed $39,500 (previous stanza, $40,900).

"King and I." St. James (70th wk) (MC-$7.20; 1.571; $51,717) (Celeste Holm). Nearly $51,000 (previous frame, $51,450).

"Male Animal," Music Box (13th wk) (C-$4.80; 1,012; $25,903) (Elliott Nugent, Martha Scott, Robert Preston). Up a bit to $10,600 (previous week, $10,320).

"Moon Is Blue," Miller (73d wk) (C-$4.80; 920; $21,586) (Donald Cook, Barry Nelson, Maggie McNamara). Around $6,000 (previous frame, same).

"New Faces," Royale (11th wk) (R-$6; 1,035; $30,600). Around $23,000 (previous stanza, around $22,000). Pral Joey," Broadhurst (30th wk) (MC-$6.60; 1,160; $39,602) (Vivienne Segal, Harold Lang). "South Pacific," Majestic (171st wk) (MC-$6.60; 1,659; $50,186) (Martha Wk) (MC-$6.60; 1,659; $50,186) (Martha Wk) (MC-$6.60; 1,160; $39,602) (Vivienne $31,000 (previous stanza, $33,500).

"Top. Banana," Winter Garden (39th wk) (CD-$6.60-$7.20; 1,519; $51,881) (Jack «Carter). Below $18,000 (previous week, $18,000). Lays off Saturday (2) till Labor Day.

"Wish You Were Here," Imperial (5th wk) (MC-$7.20 1,400; $13,140; $1,140; $1,140; $1,140; $1,140; $1,140; $1,140; $1,140; $1,140; $1,140; $1,140; $1,140; $1,140; $1,140; $1,140; $1,140; $1,140; $1,140; $1,140; $1,140; $1,140; $1,140; $1,140; $1,140; $1,140; $1,140; $1,140; $1,140; $1,140; $1,140; $1,140; $1,140; $1,140; $1,140; $1,140; $1,140; $1,140; $1,140; $1,140;

Lays off Saturday (...)
Day.
"Wish You Were Here," Imperial (5th wk) (MC-$7.20 1,400; $51,847). Over $25,000 (previous week, over $26,700).

'MADAM' FINE $55,200 IN LOS ANGELES FINALE

Los Angeles, July 29.

has two houses alight this week with the twin bows last night (Mon.) of "Fourposter" and "South Pacific." There's no flood of bookings in sight, however, and prospects for the next few months are slim.

are slim.

"South Pacific" replaces "Call Me Madam" on the Civic Light Opera sked at the Philharmonic Aud. "Madam" finaled its fiveweek stand Saturday with a fine total of $267,500. Final week's tally hit a whopping $55,200, just about every seat in the house. "Fourposter" rekindled the Blitmore, dark since the departure of "Stalag 17" a fortnight ago.

"Song of Norway" — Mayfair, Portland (28-29); Met, Seattle (30-2).
"South Pacific" (Janet Blair, de Janiero in September . . . Ac-Webb Tilton)—Philharmonic Aud. tress Elizabeth Hunt has become an authoress, having written a domestic comedy titled "Never Be" (Surprised."

Plays Abroad

The Happy Marriage Glasgow, July 25,

n Clements (in association with An Vivian) presentation of comedy in acts, staged and written by Clem Stars Clements, Kay Hammond g by Laurence Irving. At King's ce, Glasgow. Victor Adams atre, Glasgow. Victor Adams Mansell-Snith Kay Hammond or Prothere Charles Lloyd Pack
ry Mansell-Snith John Clements
ry Mansell-Snith John Clements
ry Monsell-Snith John Harben rey Foster France Zoen
rey Foster Michael Shepley

SRO biz in the middle of peak vacation time and heatwave proves the success John Clements, w.k. British actor-manager, has on his hands with this new modern comedy. It's unprecedented biz for the season, popularly known here as the "Glasgow Fair," when a big exodus to coast and country leaves city theatres with only a proportion of their normal clientele to draw on. But this comedy deserves fully the top coin it's assembling at the boxoffice. It's bright, amusing, brittle and sophisticated, with some top humor situations and clean-cut acting from a good cast. some top humor situations and clean-cut acting from a good cast.

some top humor situations and clean-cut acting from a good cast.

Clements has a four-part chore. He wrote the piece, basing it freely on a play, Jean Bernard Luc's "Le Complexe de Philemon," which he caught on his last trip to Paris. He also presents the production, directs it, and has a leading part, with his wife, Kay Hammond, sharing the stellar billing. With an undoubted success on his hands, he can look forward to a lengthy run.

The plot is simple but intriguing. Helen Mansell-Smith has been married for 11 years. Suddenly, she begins to watch her husband's little mannerisms and weaknesses, and to suspect the beginnings of insanity. She consults an eminent, pompous psychiatrist. About the same time, the husband notices strange little points in his wife's behavior, and similarly consults a psychiatrist. Both husband and wife take the greatest pains over each other's physical and mental comfort, and the result is an amusing situation in which full till is made at modern psychiatry.

Both husband and wife consider that the other is in dire need of "de-complexicating." They must rid one another of all complexes, urges and "isms." The gaiety is added to by various recommended cures.

cures.

Miss Hammond admirably sustains the arduous part of the wife, speaking her lines with remarkable clarity, moving about stage with extreme poise, playing the sophisticated wife to the letter and having the added help of gorgeous gowning. Similarly, Clements, in addition to his megging chores, is the architect husband to solid effect.

A rather precise "ism"-spouting rather precise "ism"-spouting A rather precise "ism"-spouling medico is well portrayed by Charles Lloyd Pack. The best friends are respectively characterized by Frances Rowe and Michael Shepley, the latter especially providing a fine study in staccato, There's pic possibility for France, monosyllabic Army slanguage. Vic-tor Adams is neatly cast as a young man-servant enjoined to spy on his master.

Settings are standout, particularly the third-act scene from the rooftop garden of the Mansell-Smith's London home, with the city lit up for miles around. Laurence Irving has done a swell job here.

Gord.

Lion's Corner London, July 24.

Alexander Cumnock production of 2
her Design Walker Stark Don's naic, decor, Tina Horniman and Martin Beckwith. At St. Martin's Theatre, July 23,
'52. $2 top.
Cpt. "Taffy" Jones Lane Meddick
"Smudger" Brian Masson
"Slash" Tony Hilton
Pte. Preston David Drummond Pte. Hill Roy Grant
Cpl. Noakes Graham Ashley
Price Peter Vaughan
Gerde Kathleen Stuart
Sgt. "Nobby" Clark Garry Marsh
Nellie Doris Hare
Nellie Doris Hare Lt. "Johnny" Johns Donald Price Lt. "Johnny" Johns Donald Price
Russian Officer Graham Ashley

Even making allowances for the "silly season," it is difficult to understand how this drab, mediocre and witless concoction found its way into the West End. It has almost nothing to commend it has no prospects of survival.

Piece is set in a British-occupied chalet on the border of the Russian Zone. The vague and inconclusive plot, with forced incident about spies, stolen documents and cut telephone lines, does little to relieve the gloom. The characters are drawn with an immature hand, and almost every known cliche is crammed into the dialog.

The director is defeated from the outset by the script, and the cast, headed by Garry Marsh and Doris Hare, deserve something better. (Folded after one performance.)

Un Beau Dimanche

(A Wonderful Sinday)

(A Wonderful Sinday)

Paris, July 15.

Michodiere presentation of drama in three acts (five scenes) by Jean-Pierre Aumont, adapted from novel by Pierre Larthomas. Directed by Jean Helvet. Sets by Bertin, Features Francois Perfer, Camille Guerini, Maurice Ronet, Mingle Daems, At Michodiere Theory, as Forter Commissioner Camille Guerini Georges Thierry Maurice Ronet Daniele Marquand Marie Daems

Daniele Marquand ......Marie Daems

"Wonderful Sunday" is third play by legit-pic star Jean-Pierre Aumont. First effort, "Emperor of China," appeared in Philip Barry's adaptation as "My Name is Aquilon" in which Aumont played the lead, on Broadway and in Paris.
Second play was last season's "Happy Island," saftre on Hollywood, in which the author and Ms late wife, Maria Montez, starred in Paris.

Noel Coward has done a translation of this one, but it's still un-would need tightening and energetic rewrite. It needs that now, too.

VARIETY

Story is a simple one. Albert Laporte is a petty bank elerk and has an empty private life. One night on the street he runs into a wounded man, obviously being chased by police. Laporte, eager to involve himself in anything that will take his mind off his lonely existence, takes the stranger home to his apartment to hide him. Man confesses to Laporte that he is a murderer, having killed his wife, whom he believed unfaithful. Second act takes place in home of Daniele, sister of the victim, where Laporte goes to establish an alibi for the murderer. Laporte discovers that the wife was really unfaithful, but when he returns to his apartment he comforts the murderer with a story of her innocence. Murderer commits suicide and Laporte is alone again, but the experience has shaken him into a new state of mind. He wants to lead a life of his own now.

Play has only four characters. Francois Perier is excellent as Laporte. Marie Daems scores as Daniele, and Maurice Ronet, as the murderer, and Camille Guerini, as the police inspector who interprogates Daniele, are okay. Play murderer, and Camille Guerini, as the police inspector who interrogates Daniele, are okay. Play has a monotonous quality that might be overcome in a pic version by adding scenes of murder and chase. "Sunday" is no click in Paris and hasn't been helped by heatwave and lagging summer trade.

Jesus La Caille

Jesus La Caille

(Jesus the Quail)

Antoine presentation of drama in two acts (five scenes) by Frederic Dard, based on novel by Francis Careo. Directed by Pierre Valde. Music by Kosma; sets and costumes, G. Annenkov. Features Helena Bossis, Philippe Lemaire, Jean-Jacques Delbo, Charles Moulin, Lilk
Kedrova. At Antoine Thealtre, Falls, 53
Fernande

Charles Moulin, Lilk
Fernande

Charles Moulin, Lilk
Fernande

Charles Moulin, Lilk
Fernande

Charles Moulin, Lilk
Fernande

Charles Moulin, Lilk
Fernande

Caule Philippe Lemaire
Pope-the-Cow Jean-Jacques Delbo
Cafe Proprietor Leon Larive
Bertha Lila Kedrova

Loupe Raymond Fournier

The Fiea Daniel Cauchy

1st Policeman Jean Dova

2nd Policeman Fierre Valde

This play, v

England or Hollywood, but script would need tightening and energetic rewrite. It needs that now too.

Story is a simple one. Albert Laporte is a petty bank clerk and costumes by G. Annenkov are stuff proper reemin, and costumes by G. Annenkov are swell.

Helena Bossis scores as the weak-willed prostitute, Fernande, as does Lila Kedrova as the comic, hoarse-voiced street-walker, Bertha. Philippe Lemaire, young leading actor of many Freuch pix, registers in the tough, unsympathetic role of Jesus, and Jean-Jacques Delbo and Charles Moulin are good as the rival, underworld roughnecks, Accordion music by Kosma is helpful in bringing back pre-World War I Paris as date of story is stressed. Play should get through the summer nicely and possibly run into next season, though the Antoine Theatre is wanted for a new Marcel Achard comedy in October, French pic version seems a likely prospect, as script offers colorfius tharacters, background and period.

Marcel Marceau Mime

Paris, July 15.

Marcel Marceau presentation of pantomime-ballet show in two acts. Star Marceau; features Gilles Segal, Sabine Lods, Roger Desmare, Zanie Campan. Sergio Gersrein, Luis de Lima, Jean Schmidt, Daniel Bmilfork, Gibbe Grossac, Maupre, Jean Lancelot, Gilbes Leger, Jacques Fabbri, Claude Dealeu, Nicole Moch. Directed by Marceau. Sets and costumes, Jacques Nocl musle by Edgar Blechoff and Kosma. At Sarah Bernhardt Theatre, Paris; $3.

marcel Marceau company is having a big, arty success here. Company is composed of 15 actors and three actresses trained in pantomime and ballet, mixing of which gives show a unique tone. Marceau has toured on the continent and in Great Britain, but his tours liave been solo, without music or assistance of others, and tended to monotony. Offers have been made to take him and company to U. S. next season, but no deal has been concluded as yet. Present engagement has upped him in prestige. Show starts with mimicking of six-day bicycle race by eight players. Marceau follows in solo act, pantomiming a sculptor, skater and subway-rider. Then comes silent playlet, "Duel in the Darkness," based on a Japanese No play. Next is "The Coat," dramatization of Gogol short story of old St. Petersburg, in which a milquetoast office clerk saves up his hard-earned wages to purchase a magnificent fur overcoat that will elevate his social position, only to be robbed of it when he is returning home from a ball. Entire company is in this one and it is the best act of the evening, though it could stan¹ some cutting. Another elaborate pantomime-drama, "Pierrot of Montmartre," concludes the bill.

Marceau, a Chaplinesque mime, and his chief assistants. Gilles Se-

"Pierrot of Montmartre," concludes the bill.

Marceau, a Chaplinesque mime, and his chief assistants, Gilles Segal, Sabine Lods and Roger Desmare, together with the rest of the company, offer a show that is different, and as such alone it has appeal. Sets and costumes by Jacques Noel, especially the fast-changing scenery of "Pierrot," are firstrate, and music by Edgar Bischoff for "The Coat" and by Kosma for "Pierrot" lend main acts a big assist.

Atterburys Prep Sixth Stock Season in Albany

Albany, July 29.

Malcolm Atterbury and wife Ellen Hardies have tentatively set Oct. 28 as opening date for their sixth season of stock at the Playhouse here. Duo is planning a trip through Connecticut and Massachusetts to take a look at summer theatres and assemble a new company.

pany.

There will be many fresh faces,
Atterbury said, and a possible change in operating schedule.

MEMO:

Rochester Arena Preps 2d Preem With 'Woman'

Rochester, N. Y., July 29.

Arena Theatre here, only resident Equity year-round group in the area, is prepping its second premiere next week, Aug. 5, with Jay Looney and Irene Cowani, "The Little Woman." First preem was Phillip Pruneau's "The Halloween Bride," last September. "Woman," story of a fading actress attempting to quit the stage and become just "the little woman," will be directed by Arena's managing director, Dorothy Chérnuck. Leads will be taken by Marian Reardon, Joseph Ruskin, Frank Borgman, George La Buda, Ted Jordan, Ed Ivory and Sarah Scott.

Cherokee Indian Drama Besting Last Year's Draw

Greensboro, N. C., July 29.

"Unto These Hills," authentic Indian drama, in its third season at Cherokee, N. C., is playing ahead of the same period last year, with audiences of around 2,150 a night. Through last week, attendance had reached approximately 36,000, and nights of July 4-5 drew over 3,100 for each performance.

In one night, there were persons.

In one night, there were persons from every state and from three provinces in Canada. There also provinces in Canada. There alse was a man from Rangoon in the audience. Reservations for August have been made for two different parties from Spain. Season will continue through Sept. 1, with performances every night except

Mpls. Legit Preps Early Bow; St. Paul Bypassed

Minneapolis, July 29.
Local legit season gets off to its earliest start in many years, with "Bell, Book and Candle" set for the Lyceum week of Aug. 18.

for the Lyceum week of Aug. 18.
Again under Jimmy Nederlander's management, house also has more early bookings than usual. Already penciled in are "The Fourposter," Sept. 16. and "Call Me Madam," Sept. 22, each for a week. Sandwiched in between "Bell" and "Fourposter" will be the controversial picture, "The Miracle," opening Aug. 25.
"Fourposter" and "Call Me Madam" will play their Twin Cities engagements exclusively at the Lyceum here, passing up St. Paul entirely, as a number of attractions have done in recent years.

London Legit Bits

London Legit bits

London, July 22.

Michael Powell is making his second venture into West End legit with a new play based on Bruce Hamilton's novel, titled "The Hanging Judge." Show, with cast headed by Godfrey Tearle, will be directed by Raymond Massey, and opens at Manchester Aug. 25. Will tour for five or six weeks, after which it comes to the West End . . Abe Berman here to negotiate for Broadway rights of Kjeld Abell's play from the Danish, titled "The Lost Melody."

FOR SALE

75' Theatre - In - The - Round with walls — brand new — $2,600.00. Very attractive — Blue Flamefoil — Tenco anyas, Inc., 37 North Second Ave., Jount Vernon, N. Y. MO 7-1914-5.

PHILA. INQUIRER, July 22, '52

'On Your Toes' Opens at Bucks Playhouse

By David Appel

"On Your Toes," the Rodgers and Hart musical hit among the best seen in recent seasons at New Hope. There is a rich store of both comedy and dance talent.

CALLAHAN DOES JUSTICE

Stepping into the shoes of Bolger is a challenging assignment for any dancer but Bill Callahan, seen last in Philladelphia in "Top Bannan," comes through with feet and colors flying. He is a slick dancer, he knews how to handle a line and he can register with a song. His "Slaughter en leth Avenue" is a gem...

One of the most delightful evenings of the current strawhat season.

Now Playing the Summer Theatres In Rodgers & Harts' 'ON YOUR TOES'

TO: A GREAT GUY GUY THOMAJAN FROM: MARTHA RAYE.

FIVE O'CLOCK CLUB

Miami Beach, Fla. A deep bow to you, for your so imaginative and brilliant of the direction and staging of my production of the direction and staging of my production of the direction and staging of my production of the tevealed a direction of the teve men in your field have rectional flair and talent few men in your sectional flair and talent show business. Bless you ... displayed in my career in show business. Bless you ... and your wonderful talent.

Sincerely.
Martha

Literati

Moliday' Irks Travel Writers

Holiday Irka Travel Writers
Correspondence has been exchanged between the Travel Writers Assn. and Ted Patrick, editor of Holiday mag, because of an alleged slur to the former via a paid ad by the monthly in the July 19 issue of The New Yorker. The copy was construed by the travel writers as impugning their craft—in itself a strange viewpoint in light of the general tourist biz overtiones of Holiday—and Beach Conger, travel ed of the N.Y. Herald Tribune and prez of the TWA. asked Patrick whether this paid ad by his magazine "reflected the attitude of management or some copywriter."

Patrick replied as if answering a management or some copywriter."

Patrick replied as if answering a query anent mss. (or so the Travel Writers Assn. membership feels) that Holiday "has good relations with any travel writer" and that "we will examine any mss. but it must meet the standards of Holiday," etc. There is talk of possible legal action, but it is felt that there exittly agues in that direction and is little cause in that direction and that chiefly it's an ethical squawk, particularly in light of Holiday mag's dominant tourist biz theme.

mags dominant tourist bit theme.
Holiday's ad copy wanted to know.
"who writes best about travel,?"
and then the institutional ad went on to expound that "we don't go for it on Holiday," meaning the orthodox travel writing stuff.

Ben Hecht Autobiog

Ben Hecht Autobiog
First 600 pages of his autobiography has been delivered by Ben Hecht to Simon and Schuster. Completed tome, "A Child of the Century," will be about 1,000 pages long and is skedded for publication in the fall of 1953.

Considerable part of "Child of the Century" will be concerned with Hecht's reporter days in Chicago. Sections will also be devoted to his experiences in Hollywood and to his activities in behalf of Israel.

Stone's INS Tokyo Berth

Stone's INS Tokyo Berth
Marvin Stone, International News Service staffer in London and at present covering the Olympics in Finland, is being upped to INS bureau chief in Tokyo. He'll arrive in N. Y. next week for a short spell and then on to San Francisco, before taking on his new assignment.

new assignment.

Stone will succeed Howard Handleman, dean of U. S. newsmen in Japan, who wants to return to the States with his family after seven solid years in Nippón. Handleman, AP's Russ Brines. (now in Washington) and UP's Ernest Hoberecht used to accompany General MacArthur when major events were pending, which whon them the solbriquet of "Mac and his Three Apostles." Handleman will be INS bureau chief in Frisco.

Trisco.

Chey Enquirer Financing Bid Employes of the Cincinnati Enquirer, who recently bought the 111-year old daily, have applied to the Securities & Exchange Commission to Washington for permission to float a $10,000,000 securities issue. New owners will use $7,600,000 of the financing program for payment of notes issued by the Portsmouth Steel Corp., which enabled them to buy the paper instead of it going to the competitive newspaper, the Cincinnati Times-Star.

Financing program call for raising $4,000,000 through some $40,000 shares of common stock; $3,500,000 by sale of 15-year sinking fund debentures and $2,500,000 by sale of 10-year convertible debentures.

respondence between the eminent British writer and H. G. Wells, Joseph Conrad, John Galsworthy, Bernard Shaw and Somerset Maugham. Pound has been literary editor of the London Daily Mail and editor of the Strand Magazine. Harcourt, Brace also publishing.

Allen Funt's Book
Allen Funt ("Candid Mike" and "Candid Camera"), radio, TV and film exponent of the "snoop" school, has put his findings into book form, which he calls "Eavesdropper At Large," for Vanguard this fall.

Same publisher is bringing out
"A Little Treasury of Main Street USA," selected by John M. Henry
"from the wit and wisdom of America's country editors."

Ed Ford's Column

Ed Ford's Column
Author-comedian Senator Ford, head-man of the "Can You Top This?" radio-TV package, doing a humor column for the N.Y. Mirror titled "Notes to Notables." It was incepted at invitation of Charles B. McCabe, the publisher.

Curtis Pub's Mo. Exemption
The Missouri State Supreme Court has upheld a decision of Circuit Judge Sam C. Blair, Jefferson City, that the Curtis Publishing
Co., is exempt from the Missouri
2% sales tax on magazine sales.
The Court held that the company's operations can be considered only as interstate and that the Missouri General Assembly intended to exempt magazine sales to exempt magazine sales tended from the state

"Sironia, Texas," by Madison Cooper, winner of Houghton Miff-lin's 1952 Literary Fellowship, will establish something of a U. S. record when it is published in October. Its 340,000 words—2,864 mss. pages—took 10 years writing and will run 1,760 pages, the "higgest novel" to come out of America in more ways than one. Businessman Cooper kept its writing a secret for the entire decade, even from his best friends.

D. C. Gois Owen Wister's Papers
Children of the late Owen Wister have donated some 11,000 of the author's papers to the Library of Congress on the occasion of the celebration by the University of Wyoming of the 50th anniversary of the publication of Wister's "The Virginian."

Virginian."

Among the papers is the manuscript of the libretto for "Villon: A Romantic Opera in Four Acts."
The documents also include Wister's correspondence with Ernest Hemingway, Rudyard Kipling, Hamlin Garland, Henry James, S. Weir Mitchell, Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, Theodore Roosevelt, and his grandmother, actress Fanny Kemble.

Lincoln Book Rights Buy

Lincoln Book Rights Buy
Francis Drake Ballard, former theatrical associate of the late Winchell Smith, has purchased for dramatic production all rights to three books on the life of Abraham Lincoln by Irving Bacheller, published by Rinehart and Bobbs-Merrill. The titles, covering Lincoln's boyhood, early manhood and presidency, are "A Boy For The Ages,"
"A Man For The Ages" and "Father Abraham."

A stage adaptation of the first ther Abraham."

A stage adaptation of the first book is in preparation and a musical version of the second book, under the title "Bright Adventure," has been readled, Joseph Cotten recently appeared in a radio adaptation of "A Man For The Ages" and Ballard has commissioned a TV version of the property.

David A. Bader, literary rep who handled the transaction, will be associated in the 1953 production of the stage and television version of the properties.

A stage adaptation of the first book is in preparation and a musing fund debentures and $2,500,000 by sale of 15-year sinking fund debentures and $2,500,000 by sale of 10-year convertible debentures.

Ilka Biog on Mother

Ilka Biog on Mother

Ilka Chase, touring the strawhats in "Over 21," is writing a book about her mother, Edna Woolman Chase, editor-in-chief of Vogue. It will incorporate a history of Vogue, Miss Chase said in Albany last week.

Miss Chase has authored "In Bed We Cry," "I Love Miss Tillie Bean," "New York 22" and "Past Imperfect."

Lewis and Beanett Letters

Lewis and Beanett Letters

Harrison Smith, associate editor of The Saturday Review, was an editor at Harcourt, Brace at the time of Sinclair Lewis' early litterary successes so it is fitting that time of Sinclair Lewis' early litterary successes so it is fitting that time of Sinclair Lewis' early litterary successes so it is fitting that literary in the for "From Main Street to Stockholder the reprint outlets. Usually the latter of "From Main Street to Stockholder the refollow in a cheaper edition by Frederick Muller at London by Frederick Muller at Salt version of the second book, un-der the title "Bright Adventure," by 25.55.

The author has clearly spent, bording and prequently exciting account of London's No. 1 vaude theart, early survivor." Sir Walter Gibbons, of the stage and television version of the property.

In Ballantine's New Setup for coincidental publication—from the same plates—of a 35c and 55c edition, the book inevitably reflects the progress and changes that have same plates—of a 35c and 55c edition in the stage and the control of the region of the property.

In Ballantine's New Setup for coincidental publication—from the same plates—of a 35c and 55c edition in the stage and television version of the second hondon's No. 1 vaude theatre, tracing its history through turbulent periods from the days of its "first gurdent with the same plate vision of the second hondon's No. 1 value the tracing the property.

In Ballantine's N

dental publication of both the 35c and/or 50c reprints along with the hard-cover editions. Houghton Mifflin is experimenting with Ballantine, and Farrar, Straus & Young also may go along with the plan whereby Ballantine pays the author 2.8c. and the publisher 3.7c, or a total of 6½c royalty on the 25c editions. The 35c and 50c editions increase proportionately in rate.

Bob de Graff, a cousin of the late Nelson Doubleday, was the first successful pioneer in reprints, via Pocketbooks, a Simon & Schuster adjunct which Marshall Field later bought, along with S&S.

Today the New American Library sells the biggest volume of these reprints divided into the Mentor brand (highbrow books) and Signet (more popular reading). Pocketbooks (S&S) is runner-up in volume sales and Popular Library (Ned Pines, who publishes Sec College Humor and other pulps rates third. Bantam Books, which is a combination of Curtis Publishing, Grosset & Dunlap, Little-Brown, Seribner, Harpers and Random House) is next followed by Dell (George T. Delacorte), Permabooks (Doubleday), Avon, Penguin, etc. Fawcett's Gold Medal books, a 50c only publishes originals and ot a reprint although feat the same style of s.a. cover r. ...entation. GM also leans to the earthier subjects in context, such as Theodore Pratt's first bestiseller, "Tormented," which dealt with a nymphomaniac.

Major line publishers like to think the reprints are veering away from the cheesecake and deep-cleavage covers but, by and large, the s.a. posturings sell almost as much as the books' basic contents.

Forman 'Camera' Guide Harrison Forman, former March of Timer who caught the first newsreels of the Nazi invasion of of Timer who caught the first newsreels of the Nazi invasion of Poland and photographed both both sides of the Chinese conflict, has come in with a most timely trade book, called "How To Make Money With Your Camera" (McGraw-Hill, $3.50). Primarily a writer, he learned on his first trip to Tibet that a correspondent who couldn't handle a camera was handicapping his product as if he had blindfolded half his readers. It is the most down-to-earth of all "How To" books. At the end, he lists 30 pages of markets for pix, and concludes with an index that would have gained three rousing cheers from H. L. Mencken. Forman's personal story of how he fared around the world with notebook and lens is excellent reading in itself. The 30,000,000 camera users, amateur and pro, will cut down waste film tremendously by following his directives. He even tells in detail how to shoot good commercial stills off TV in your own home, and where necessary includes a release form. His own pix included in the volume are of course magnifique.

Saga of London's Vaude House
To be placed top of the bill at the London Palladium is to receive the Oscar' of international vaudeville. Since Danny Kaye started the fashion in 1948, there has been a non-stop flow across the Atlantic of Broadway and Hollywood headliners; and to all, without exception, it has represented the fulfiment of an ambition. But the first Hollywood star to headline a Palladium program was 14-year old Jackie Coogan who, in 1928, did a double act with his father. This is one of many historical incidents which are recalled by Ian Bevan in "Top of the Bill" published in London by Frederick Muller at $2.55.

In re 'Expunging' a Book

In re 'Expunging' a Book
Crown Publishers, which has agreed to expunge "oftending paragraphs" in future editions of the Jack Lait-Lee Mortimer, book,
"U. S. A. Confidential," as part of its "separate peace" in the NeimanMarcus $7,400,000 libel action, points out that it has full editorial discreption to make deletions
despite any author's objections,
Under the standard writer-publisher contract, a warranty that any Marcus points out that it in discreption to make describe any author's objections.
Under the standard writer-publisher contract, a warranty that any book is "free from libel" is a condition. Thus, technically, any publisher could take a position that this assurance was a misrepresential.

"II S. A. Confitate."

tation.

Deletions in "U. S. A. Confidential," however, will not take place for several weeks or months until the present 13th and 14th printings are exhausted. There are currently 200,000 books in print.

Lait and Mortimer have refused to go along with Crown's settle-ment and plan to fight the sundry libel suits.

CHATTER

Hartzell Spence's circus yarn,
"The Big Top," written with Fred
Bradna, to be published Sept. 9 by Simon & Schuster,
Two of Jerry Wald's RKO pro-

Simon & Schuster.

Two of Jerry Wald's RKO productions have been rewritten as magazine serials. "The Lusty Men," by Horace McCoy, will run in Colliers', and "Size 12," by Jerome Weidman, will appear in Commenditan ductions have been rewritten as magazine serials. "The Lusty Men," by Horace McCoy, will run in Colliers', and "Size 12," by Jerome Weidman, will appear in Cosmopolitan.

Hilda Wright, who joined Ideal Publishing early this year after editing MacFadden's True Romances, named editor of Ideal's Personal Romances.

American slang gets a new analysis in Thomas 2-yies' "Words and Ways of American English" which Random House is publishing Friday (1).

Gordon Gordon's whodunit, "Campaign Train," named book-of-the-month for September by the Unicorn Book Club.
Bob Carson's history of the film industry, "The Magic Lantern," is the Book-of-the-Month selection for December.

Maureen McManus, Holt & Co. publicist, to Europe aboard the S.S. Saturnia for a tour of Italy. France and England, Andre L. Simon, president of the Wine & Food Society and author of more than 40 books about food and wine, has written "A Concise Encylopedia of Gastronomy," that is if an 840-page book that Harcourt, Brace will publish in November may be called concise. Ruth Mitchell, younger sister of Col. (once Brig. Gen.) William Mitchell has written his blography which she titles "My Brother Bill" for early '53 publication by Harcourt, Brace.

Richard L. Stokes, Iong in the Washington bureau of the St. Louis film names. The Crazy Gang, of course, have stayed on top through the years.

"Top of the Bill" is primarily reading matter for the pro. It is, and Sand," currently in Turkey and due back in October for 30-ass it should be, entertaining reading.

Myro.

shots.
The late Dixon Wecter's biography of Mark Twain, "Sam Clemens of Hannibal," will be published by Houghton Mirtin Aug. 22. Wecter was editor of the Mark Twain estate until his death in 1950.

tate until his death in 1950.

"The Tightrope," novel by Stanley Kauffmann, former actor and stage manager, now associated with a N.Y. publishing house, will be published by Simon & Schuster Sept. 2.

Walter Winchell exclusively interviewed Bayard Peakes, the psychopath who killed a girl at Columbia U. to draw attention to his thesis on physics, for a dramatic piece in the N. Y. Mirror last week.

H'wood's Gamble

= Continued from page 3 =

but they can't maintain a major

That leaves nothing for the lots to do except salt their programs with more real biggles on which both the risk and potential profit is great. That's what finds 20th, for instance, going into "The Rohe" and Par "The 10 Commandments."

The big group of middle-grade pictures was always a sort of safety factor for the majors. That safety factor for the majors. That was particularly true in pre-divorcement days, when this type product could be spun through af-faliated theatres and be assured a minimum gross, no matter what the variations in quality.

the variations in quality.

Not only has divorcement started to take its toll, but the playoff pattern has so changed that the middle pix are the real economic weakies. That's partly due to the general decline in theatre biz accounted for by video and other competition, but likewise may be attributed to changes wrought in trade practices by the antitrust decrees.

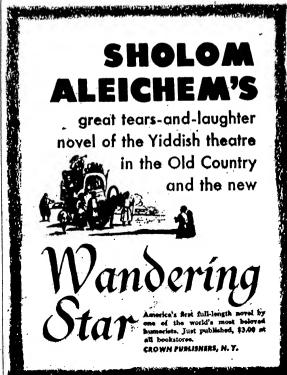

With explice buying each picture

With exhibs buying each picture singly and many of them forced into bidding for product, the medium pix which show no real b.o. dium pix which show no real 1,0,0 muscle just don't get booked. Whereas they once were assured of 10,000 or 11,000 dates, many of them have trouble now getting 6,000 or 7,000.

That takes out the bulwark that supported the majors. And it has put them in the position of tossing big coin into the production pot and hoping for a favorable roll. Not only does it mean risking money on the superpolarities. money on the super-productions, but also on a liberal number of top "A" films that must be budgeted at $2,000,000 or near.

which she titles "My Brother Bill" for early '53 publication by Harcourt, Brace.
Richard L. Stokes, long in the Washington bureau of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, helped George Racey Jordan, now an engineering executive, write "From Major Jordan's same next year as this."

With elimination of a fair number of medium pix and substitution of more high- and more low-budgeters, overall annual production expenditures by the major Jordan, now an engineering executive, write "From Major Jordan's same next year as this."

Broadway

Mrs. Eddy (Chiquita) Duchin to Sun Valley.
Valentina Cortese, film actress; cartoonist Chic Young and nitery thrush Denise Nicole enroute to Europe on the Liberte.
Thea Dispecker, chairman of the American Committee for the Casais Festival, returned last week from Europe.

Festival, returned last week from Europe.
Harris B. Fisher, Jr. has exited Ruppert Brewery (promotion) to return to Wall St. with the G. C. Haas Co.
I. H. Prinzmetal, film industry lawyer and financial advisor, to Europe with his wife on a combined business-vacation swing.
Selma Warlick, head of popular attractions and lecture division of National Concert & Artists Corp., to Mexico next Monday (4) for two weeks.

weeks.
Marguerite Plazza, TV and opera singer, and her husband-manager, J. Graves McDonald, due in from Europe tomorrow (Thurs.) on the singer, and J. Graves McDonald, due and J. Graves McDonald, due and Leurope tomorrow (Thurs.) on the Constitution.

Louis de Rochemont, indie film producer, and author A. J. Cronin enroute to Europe today (Wed.) on the Queen Mary.

Jack Lait, editor of the N.Y. Daily Mirror, expects to be discharged this week from University freatment of a the Queen Mary.

Jack Lait, editor of the N.Y.

Daly Mirror, expects to be discharged this week from University Hospital following treatment of a blood clot in a leg.

Marks Levine, prez of National Concert & Artists Corp., back in N.Y. from a six-week trip to the Coast, visiting local concert managers and talent en route.

Lucia Chase, co-director of Ballet Theatre, honored last week (24) in N.Y. with annual award by Dance Educators of America, for her contributions to the dance field.

Mike Todd's plan to host a clambake beach party Friday (1) for newspapermen, etc., at Jones Beach, called off; too few responses because of the bad day. Todd's "Night in Venice," incidentally, is the outdoor attraction at JB.

"Wild Bill" Elilott, Monogram's western star, rejoined his rodeo at Mineral Wells, Tex., this week after a short tour of New England theatres in behalf of the Children's Cancer Fund drive.

Louis Sobol writes from Hollywood: "They're really beating their breasts and crying the miseries out here—but the gals wear orchids and diamonds and the guys still hith $100 windows at the races."

John Ford, director of Republic's "The Quiet Man," which preems at the Capitol Theatre day. Zl., in from the Coast yesterday. The Cuet Man," which preems at the Capitol Theatre day. (Tues.) to assist in the film's give jobs to 1,000 theatrical folk."

George Durst, of Jamaica, L. I., writes: "Why don't theatrical leaders plan some sort of, a 1933 N. Y. Tercentenary Pageant to run all summer at Randall's Island; a dramatized historical revue that could pre-preem promotion.

Douglas Leigh who, besides his Broadway spectaculars, is also precof Leigh Foods, marketers of canned Flamingo Products, sent the San Antonio Zoo director a supply of frozen Flamingo orange fluice for the nursing of the first flamingo born in captivity.

Jule Styne, producer of "Pal Joey," and Helen Gallagher, comedienne in the Broadway revival, awarded plaques by Show-of-the-Month Club's Sylvia Slegler ower the weekend at Grossinger's, Catskills resort, f

Paris

Paulette Goddard off to Switzer

Paulette Goddard off to Switzerland.

Ethel Smith to Monte Carlo for two galas.

Joe Belifort back from the south of France after a quickie visit with his family.

Stanley Kramer here on way to Israel for huddles on Edward Dmytryk film, "The Juggler."

Renee Passeur into rehearsals of Sacha Guitry's revival of "Don't Listen, Ladies," opening late in August.

New Henri Bernstein play, "Evangeline," for Ambassadeurs in September, to have Danielle Darrieux in lead.

Howard Lindsay, satisfied with "Call Me Madame" in London, mulling idea for new play when he returns to U. S. this fall.

Miles White unable to get back to N. Y. in time to costume Bette Davis revue because of sudden advancing of production date.

Phil Meurice, of the Majestic in Montreal, here to ogle talent for his house. He is interested in Tino Rossi and Maurice Chevalier.

Anita Loos back from Montecatini and will spend a month here finishing adaptation of French hit, "Darling, Darling," for John C. Wilson.

Sgt. John Edenfield, heading Special Services at Allied

ing up talent for the enlisted man's nitery there.

French Tourist Office figures that 1952 is sure to break all tourist records for France. Number will probably break record of 1928 and will pass the 300,000 mark of Americans abroad.

"Million Dollar Legs" (Par) 1935 comedy with W. C. Fields and Jack Oakie being released here at first-run Le Vendome under tag of "Burlesque Olympics" to cash in on Helsinki games.

Rome

By Helen McGill Tubbs

Estelle Frank, TV writer of N. ., vacationing here.
William C. Tubbs planed in from William C. Tubbs planed in from London business trip.

Italian crooner Roberto Muralo at the Casina delle Rose.
Actress Pamela Matthews in Zurich for screen test by Swiss film company.
Lilli Palmer and Rex Harrison

Lilli Palmer and Rex Harrison have taken a villa on the Italian Riviera for the summer.

British Pathe sent a unit to Cortina D'Ampezzo to make a documentary on the Italian dolomites.

Arthur Davis, film distributor, here from the U. S. and buying Italian films for showing in America ica,

The "Roman Hollday" film unit working after sundown here because of the intense heat in Rome at this time of year.

Ottawa

By Paul Gormley

Ottawa Summer Theatre doing Noel Coward's "Fallen Angels" in boff strawhat season. Jerry Cooper in third holdover at Gatineau Club, joined by Joan & Stanley Kayne and Bruce Stev-ens.

at Gatineau Club, joined by Joan & Stanley Kayne and Bruce Stevens.

June Oliver in from N.Y. to produce new show at Gatineau Club, bringing with her five new girls for line.

Bill (Wild Bill) Crone, CFRA staffer staging weekly square dance sessions at Lakeside Gardens with Hayloft Hoedowners.

Standishall has dropped floor show policy temporarily, featuring dancing in outdoor gardens. Norm Richards orch on stand.

Len Hopkins orchestra staying on at fire-ruined Jasper Park Lodge in Alberta, playing for dancing in resort's undamaged convention hall. Cliff Tripp band continuing to replace Hopkins in Chateau Laurier's Canadian Grill here until end of September.

Philadelphia

By Jerry Gaghan

By Jerry Gaghan
Buddy Greco made tour of local deejays to plug his new platter,
"Playing a Losing Game."
Bill Jaffee, local pianist with Jolly Jubilee, USO variety revue to entertain vets in Alaska.
Joseph Levine, local conductor, will make his Hollywood Bowl debut this summer with the Ballet Theatre.

but this summer with the Ballet Theatre.

Peggy Ramsdale, "Miss Greater Philadelphia of 1951," joined ranks of nitery artistes as new headliner at the Celebrity Room, Mark Cohen will open his new Zodiac Room at the Chateau Crillon Aug. 4. Spot formerly operated in the Warburton Hotel, sold last June to a religious organization.

Paul Whiteman will emcee revue at Shibe Park Aug. 18, before start of A's-Washington game, with some 5,000 members of the Whiteman "TV-Teen Club" in attendance.

ance.
St. John Terrell, impresario of the Lambertville Music Circus (Lambertville, N. J.) has signed with the Texas State Fair to produce one-hour version of "Show Boat."

Madrid

By Geeno Garr

Filmax Distributing Agency has nade deals for the latest Athenea films pic, "Surcos" in Asia and in September, to have Danielle Darrieux in lead.

Howard Lindsay, satisfied with "Call Me Madame" in London, mulling idea for new play when he returns to U. S. this fall.

Miles White unable to get back to N. Y. in time to costume Bette Davis revue because of sudden advancing of production date. Phil Meurice, of the Majestic in Montreal, here to ogle talent for his house. He is interested in Time Rossi and Maurice Chevalier.

Anita Loos back from Monteatini and will spend a month here fainshing adaptation of French, hit. "Darling, Darling," for John C. Wilson.

Sgt. John Edenfield, heading Special Services at Allied Air Force Base in Fontainbleau, round-

London

Jimmy Campbell in St. George's Hospital for internal checkup. Julie Wilson arrived in N. Y. yes-terday (Tues.), having sailed last week on the malden voyage of the Julle Wilson arrived in N. Y. yesterday (Tues.), having sailed las week on the maiden voyage of the Flandre.

R. J. Minney, producer and writer, selected as Parliamentary Labor candidate for the Bexley (Kent) constituency.

Robert Stannage, who handled overseas publicity for Associated British-Pathe the last five years, upped to press officer.

London Tent of the Varlety Club holding first annual dinner at the Dorchester in October to raise money for its Heart Fund.

Louise Howard inked for a four-week cabaret date at the Bagatelle next month. Cafe is tossing farewell dinner to Sophie Tucker Aug. 5.

Arthur Dent dickering for a Broadway femme star to play the lead in his film version of Jean Cocteau's "Intimate Relations," which starts rolling Oct. 1.

Virginia Somers, currently filing a short engagement at the Colony and Astor, being pacted for an extended season at the Berkeley beginning end of September. Sophie Tucker, who sails for N. Y. Aug. 7 on the Queen Mary, returns to England in 1954 to celepate her 50-year jubiliee in show biz. After her English tour, she will repeat the celebration in America.

Val Pannell, away on vacation in the south of France, planed in for the opening of Guy Mitchell at the London Palladum but immediately flew back to continue foray and Deep River Boys opening Aug. 4.

Phil Maurice, general manager of Consolidated Theatres, Ltd., Montreal, returned to Canada after seeing Jack Hylton's "London Laughs revue at the Adelphi, and Bernard Delfont's "Folies" show at the Prince of Wales theatre. He wants both for Canada.

Westport, Conn.

Westport, Conn.

By Humphrey Doulens

Mary Hunter visiting the Lawrence Langners.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Massey planed to London.

Marjorie Gateson visiting Mrs.
William Anthony McGuire.

Tossy Spivakovsky, violinist, starring in Connecticut Pops Friday (25).

Faye Emerson and Skitch Henderson have moved into their new home in New Canaan.

Paul Kwartin joining Melody Fair Co. for "Finian's Rainbow" the week of Aug. 4, and "Rosallinda" two weeks later.

Jean Dalrymple at her Bethel farm. Her husband, newly elevated Brigadier General Philligdinter, is now in Korea.

Christie MacDonald, William Gaxton, Theresa Helburn, Lucille Lortel, Mrs. William Anthony McGuire, Armina Marshall, Leopold Godowsky, Madeline Cameron and Queenle Smith at opening of "Hasty Heart" at Country Playhouse, July 21.

Vienna

By Emil W. Maass
Buerger Theatre is prepping "To Dorothy A Son."
Kammerspiele will preem Sidney Kingsley's "Detective Story."
Kufstein festivals (Tyrol) in full swing under direction of Walter Jannsen.
Orchestra leader Karl Boehm

Jannsen.
Orchestra leader Karl Boehm underwent serious eye operation in Gratz state hospital.
Dr. Carl Riedel, film producer, off to Napoli for underwater shots of crabs and spider life.
Producer Walter J. Keller will-reopen Raimund Operetta Theatre with a musical comedy by K. Ambros and I. Neussër.
Josefstadt Theatre will reopen with, Philip Barry's "Philadelphia Story" (German title "Die Nacht vor der Hochzeit"), Paramount and Warner will open offices in Neubaugasse after registering as American Picture Export Assn. (APEA) here.

company p.a., will go out ahead of Jose Greco this season. Kenneth Bacon, of New York Housing Board, flew in to see his wife, Urylee Leonardos, playing Bess in Nixon's "Porgy and Bess" opening.

Bess in Nixon's "Porgy and Bess" opening.
John Shrager advertising agency of New York will open a Pittsburgh branch next month with Wally Allen in charge, Allen has resigned as business manager of the Allied Motion Picture Theatre Owners of held for more than two years, to launch the local project for Shrager.

Birmingham

By Fred Woodress
Tommy Riggs confabbing with Thad Holt and C. P. Persons of WAFM-TV.
WJLD moved its studios from Bessemer to Homewood, Birmingham suburb.
Bob Dillon to take over Avon, town's art theatre which has been dark for six months,
Alabama U Summer Theatre doing "Ring Round the Moon"; close with William McCleery's "Parlor Story,"

Story."

Civic Ballet and Town Players rehearsing outdoor production of "Midsummer Night's Dream" for city's park board.

Atlantic City

By Joe W. Walker
Tony Martin into Steel Pler
Music Hall July 27.
Clark Dennis, romantic tenor,
featured at Ritz Tavern.
Paddock featuring Alan Stone,
Jackie Small and Joe DeMarco.
Denny Dennis unlevels juscler

Jackie Small and Joe DeMarco.
Danny Dennis, unicycle juggler, went into Dude Ranch, July 22.
Stan Kenton opened at Marine Ballroom July 25, being followed by Tony Pastor.
Gateway Musical Playhouse to house "Best Foot Forward" at suburban Somers Point Theatre starting July 30

in July 30.

Jackle Miles heads new bill at Paul D'Amato's 500 Club. Also on bill are Jan Arden and Charlle Carts, the Three Buddles and Lee Henderson girls.

Mexico City

Ricardo Montalban starring here in the pie "The Hat."
Rafael Mendez, trumpeter, vacationing here after TV dates in U. S.
George Kelly dickering Gloria Marin to appear in two pix for 20th-Fox in Hollywood.
Jacob Epstein, ex-Universal manager here, now sales manager for Columbia in Mexico City.
Arturo de Cordova starring on Teatro Coca-Cola, half-hour weekly sponsored show on Station XEW.

Chicago

Kirk Douglas in for world preem of "Big Sky" at the Woods. Katy Jurado, film actress, here for exploitation on "High Noon." Victor Young being feted here for his scoring of "Greatest Show" film.

Arthur Levy left for Minneapolis and Coast as advance man for "Bell, Book and Candle" which leaves Aug. 16 after six-month stay here.

Cy Euer and Ernie Martin came in last night to see the "Guys and Dolls" company manager, Emmet Callahan, and press agent, Gertrude Bromberg.

Honolulu

By Walt Christie

Hal and Sybil Bock here from
Hollywood.
Anita O'Day the draw at the Brown Derby, downtown drinkery.
Jack Meakin and wife, Celeste, here on visit before returning to
Hollywood.
Webley Edwards, producer of "Hawaii Calls" radio show, on the Mainland on biz in connection with the program.

Webley Edwards, producer of Minneapolis

Webley Edwards, producer of Minneapolis

Neubaugasse after registering as American Picture Export Assn. (APEA) here.

Pittsburgh

By Hal Cohen

Sid Dicklers observed their 10th wedding anni.

Zortta playing a return date at Lenny Litman's Copa.

Sportscaster Pie Traynor's wife off for seven-week tour of Europe.

Mother of Harold Lund, boss of WDTV, celebrated her 80th birtiday.

Father of Bill Green, nitery owner, underwent surgery at Mercy Hospital.

Monica Boyar will play off her postponed booking at Monte Carlo week of Aug. 29.

Howard Newman, summer opera

Hollywood

Bob Mitchum to Idaho on a fish-

Bob Mitchum to Idaho on a fishing vacation.
Stanley Rubin recovering from appendectomy,
William F. Broidy returned from eastern huddles.
Bill Williams and Barbara Hale to Durango, Col.
Gloria Grahame filed suit to divorce Nicholas Ray,
Bob Hope returned from the Chicago conventions.
Doris Day will be Collier's cover girl for Aug, 9 issue.
Watter Brennan planed to Honoliulu for a month's siesta.
Buddy Ebsen to Dallas for legit show at Community Theatre.
Joan Crawford to Cleveland to bally her picture, "Sudden Fear," Homer F. Curran's will bequeathed $500,000 to a nephew and a niece.
Kirby Grant will emcee opening niece.

Kirby Grant will emcee opening of the Centennial Jubilee at Rosemead.

Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis vacationing on the golf links at Carmel. Carmel.
Cecil B. DeMilles will celebrate

Carmel.
Cecil B. DeMilles will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary Aug. 16.
Armida in town after two months of touring with Leo Carillo and Duncan Renaldo.
Dick Haymes booked for a fourweek concert tour of England, starting in October.
Foreign Press Assn. tossed a cocktail party for Yumeji Tsukioka, visiting Japanese star.
Hollywood Foreign Correspondents picked Republic's "Quiet Man" as best film for June.
Harry Cohn denied authorizing anyone to negotiate for the purchase of his Columbia stock.
Charles Laughton, Bud Abbott and Lou Costello appear in the 1952 Christmas Seal trailer, filmed at Warners.
Fred Woodress, Birmingham Varder mugg and Post-Herald amusement editor, stopping at Hollywood Roosevelt this week for articles and interviews.

India

Members of the Parliament have raised question of commercializing All-India Radio. Madras Music Assn. decided to

All-India Radio.

Madras Music Assn. decided to launch campaign for popularization of western music.

Madras considering request of film interests for reduction of tax on posters and billboards.

Substantial scattered rains over the south have prompted authorites to lift restrictions imposed on use of electrical power. Theatres now allowed to have normal number of shows.

New foreign film house in Madras, the Odeon, opened with Russian film, "On the Circus Arena." Picture did about $4,000 in its first week, record for city outside of "Samson and Delliah."

Immediately after C. Rajagopalachari became Madras Premier, he gave orders ending the Motion Picture Academy started last year at the request of the previous ministry. With termination of the Academy, awarding of prizes to the best Tamil and Telugu pictures also goes. tures also goes.

Barcelona

By Joaquina C. Vical-Gomis
The Calderon Theatre has a revival of "La Blanca Doble," with Maruja Tomas starred.

vival of "La Blanca Doble," with Maruja Tomas starred.
"The Killers," musical show, is at the Barcelona Theatre. Rafael Somoza and Fuensanta Lorente are starred.

lobe Trotters Deporte are dons ade being rated tops show this year.
Agar Neville
male arred. Harlem Globe Trotters at the Harlem Globe Trotters at the Palacio del Deporte are doing sock biz, trade being rated tops for any sports show this year. Producer-director Edgar Neville in Malaga to make biopic of male dancer Juan Breva. This musical will present different groups of Spanish song and dance music.

Minneapolis

OBITUARIES

WARREN P. MUNSELL, JR.
Warren P. Munsell, Jr., 37, author, playwright and theatrical manager, died. of a heart attack July 28 in Olney, Md., where he was managing the Olney Theatre.
He was stricken shortly after a swim.

He was stricken shortly after a swim.

Munsell, who was son of the Munsell, who was son of the Munsell, who was son of the Theatre Guild, had been in Olney for several weeks. His new play, "Comin' Through the Rye" is scheduled to be unveiled at the Olney Theatre sometime in August. After graduating from Princeton, Munsell turned to the theatre as a career. He wrote such plays as "The Jolly Beggar," "A House Divided," "Angel of Mercy" and "Rich Man, Poor Man." During the past Broadway season he was general manager of "The Grass Harp" and "Remains to Be Seen," A veteran of World War II, Munsell authored a history of the 179th Infantry Regiment of the 45th Division with which he served. He also was a frequent magazine contributor.

Surviving, besides his father, are his wife, Jane; two sons and his ntributor. Surviving, besides his father, are s wife, Jane; two sons and his

EDWARD ELLIS

Edward Ellis, 81, retired film and legit actor, died in Los Angeles July 26 after a three-week illness. In a 63-year career, he appeared in some 18 pictures and more than a score of plays.

Born in Coldwater, Mich., Ellis made his stage debut at the age of nine in "Olivia" at Hooley's Theatre, Chicago, After a number of juvenile roles, he was cast as Simon Legree in an 1890 road production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

Among other plays in which Ellis was seen were "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford," "The Ouija Board," "Red Bat" and "The Corner Grocery." He appeared in such films as "Winterset," "Return of Peter Grimm," "Fugitive From Chain Gang" and "A Man To Remember." He was best known for his starring role in "Remember," which he made for RKO in 1939.

Surviving are two sisters. Edith Ellis, and Mrs. Harrison Milnes:

Surviving are two sisters. Edith Ellis, and Mrs. Harrison Milnes; and a daughter, Mrs. David Thom.

BLANCHE P. STEWART

BLANCHE P. STEWART
Blanche P. Stewart, 49, who was Brenda of the radio team of Brenda & Cobina. died in Los Angeles,
July 25. Althought hurt by a fall in 1942, she had been active in radio until recently.
Launching her radio career in New York on the Jack Benny show, Mrs. Stewart subsequently went to the Coast and appeared on such programs as the Bob Hope, Burns & Allen and Fred Allen broadcasts.
A sister and two brothers sure sister and two brothers sur

L. M. "MIKE" RICE
L. M. "Mike" Rice, Sr., 61, Dallas attorney and film industry counsel, was injured fatally July 21 when his car was struck by a freight train at a suburban grade-crossing in Dallas, Texas. He was also active in the Variety Club Boys Ranch activities.

Rice had represented the Robb

Rice had represented the Robb & Rowley Theatre Circuit since 1925. In addition, he handled legal matters for other motion picture firms. Survived by his wife, mother, and a son.

ELIAS WEINSTOCK

ELIAS WEINSTOCK
Elias Weinstock, 63, general booking agent for the Shuberts and manager of the Booth Theatre,
N. Y., died of a heart attack July 29 at his home in Lawrence, L. I.
He had been in poor health in recent years.

He had been in poor health in recent years.
Weinstock, who was associated with the Shuberts for more than 40 years, is survived by his wife and two daughters. Services are to be held at the Temple Israel, Lawrence, L. I., Friday (1) at 2:30 p.m. with interment to follow in Beth Moses Cemetery, L. I.

ARTHUR E. ANDREWS

ARTHUR E. ANDREWS
Arthur E. Andrews, 58, a former veepee of the Young & Rubicam agency. died in White Plains, N. Y., July 28 after a long illness. Long in the advertising field, he started with a Montreal department store and later was with N. W. Ayer before joining Y. & R. Andrews had been out of the agency business about seven years, having retired.
Surviving

Surviving are his wife, Ellen, and a son.

MRS. JOHN INCE

Mrs. John Ince, widow of the Hate actor-director, died in Holly-dwood July 27. The former actress was known professionally as Ethel Jackson and Ethel Ince. She started on the Broadway stage as a child.

Later she appeared in a number of pix. She retired 15 years ago but she emerged two years ago for a bit in Universal's "Bucaneer Girl."

A son and two daughters survive.

LORLE PALMER

Mrs. Lorle-G. Swenson, 74, refired actress, died in New York, July 21 following a long illness. Known "professionally as Lorle Palmer, she appeared with her late husband, Alfred G. Swenson, in many Bloadway plays. Included were "The 19th Hole," starring Frank Craven, "When Knighthood Was in Flower," with Roselle Knott, and "That Day on Broadway."

JOSEPH NOVAK

Joseph Novak, 72, scenic artist with the Metropolitan Opera House for more than 40 years, died in Fort Lee, N. J., July 24. While with the Met he designed sets for some 52 operas.

Born in Budapest, Novak came to the U. S. in 1902 and worked at the Manhattan Opera House before going to the Met. Survived by his wife, four daughters, four sons and a sister.

GRACE SACHS
Grace Sachs, 63, one-time vaude and burlesque performer, died in New York July 26 after a two-year illness. She started her career in her 'teens and had appeared with Fanny. Brice and Billy Watson's Beef Trust, among other shows.
Surviving are two brothers, Mike and Morris, as well as a niece, Mrs. Belle Cohen. Mike Sachs is the veteran burlesque comedian.

veteran burlesque comedian.

ETTA ADAMS

Mrs. Etta Adams Spriggs Little, 85, former circus and vaudeville-performer, died July 23 in Norwalk, Cal. As Etta Adams she was a trouper at the age of 12. She was the wildow of Jimmy Spriggs, Ringling Bros. clown, daughter of George Adams, also a clown, and granddaughter of Thomas Cooke, owner of Cooke's Royal Circus in England.

MILTON E. HOFFMAN
Milton Ely Hoffman, 72, film pioneer, died July 21 at the Motion Picture Country House after a twoyear illness. At one time he was executive manager at Paramount studio and more recently an assistant in RKO's location department.
His wife, a sister and a brother survive.

PETER MELNIKOFF
Peter Melnikoff, 52, who made frequent appearances in the U. S. as a concert planist since coming from Russia in 1934, died in New York City, July 22. A student at the St. Petersburg Conservatory, he made his professional debut at 12.

A sister survivor

A sister surviver.

FRANK FILAN
Frank Filan, 47, Associated Press photographer and winner of a Pultizer Prize for the best news plcture of 1944, died of cancer July 23 at his home in Los Angeles.
Before and after World War II, he covered Hollywood, retiring only a year ago because of illness.

MRS. MARY ROBERTS
Mrs. Mary Roberts, who appeared in vaude as a member of the Carl Roberts Trio, died recently in New York. A song and dance comedy act, the trio appeared on the leading circuits.

A sister, Mrs. Hughie Fitz, who was known professionally as Mabel Elaine, survives.

HERBERT H. MURRILL
Herbert H. Murrill, 43, director of music for the British Broadcasting Corp., died in London, July 25, after a long illness. A composer and organist, he went to the British Broadcasting Corp. in 1936, and was named music director two years ago.

Mrs. Jane MacKenzie Rothery, 70, one-time violinist with the Plainfield Symphony Orchestra, died in Westfield, N. J., July 23. Widow of musician Claude Rothery, she retired five years agent teaching for 40 years in the New York City public schools.

Lorin H. Rambe, 64, former vaudeville performer, died July 25 at his home near Danville, Ind. He toured the midwest as a tap dancer using the name of Bud Curtis.

rector of the Empire Theatre, Liverpool, Eng. died in Liverpool July 22. He had been linked with show biz for 35 years. He was for merly stage manager at the Em merly stage manager at the Em-pire in Leeds, and the Hippodrome, London.

J. Edward Simon, 61, Toledo, O., pianist, died July 24 in that city. Before World War I he appeared in many concerts in this area.

Mrs. Gypsy Abbott King, 55, wife of Henry King, producer-director, died July 23 in Hollywood.

Mother of Nathan Fadim, co-owner of Fadim-Kaplan Theatres, died in Chicago, July 23.

Lucas V. "Luke" Hill, news editor for KNUZ, Houston, died July 26 of polio in that city.

Michael Siegel, 45, partner in several Chicago theatres, died July 21 in Chicago.

BIRTHS

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Lon Fisback, son, Hollywood, July 19. Father is production coordinator at KTLA.

Mr. and Mrs. Aldo Parisot, son, Pittsburgh, July 6. Father just resigned from Pitt Symphony Orch for a concert career.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Edelstein, daughter, Indiana, Pa., July 23.

Mother's Joan Lubin, Pittsburgh radio and TV singer.

Mr. and Mrs. Darrell McDougle, son, Columbus, O., July 19. He's WBNS-TV film department director.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Lind, daughter, Chicago, July 19. Father is a member of the Lind Bros. vocal memper of .....trio.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Leyden, son, Hollywood, July 24. Father is a disk jockey at KFWB.

Jack Benny

Continued from page 1 people are fundamentally the same over the globe.

people are fundamentally the same all over the globe.

The veteran comic underlines the deep-rooted similarity of radio, video and vaude funny business, pointing out that they are all intimate media. "If you can stand and talk to people intimately," he feels, "they'll listen and laugh."

It doesn't take '18 curtains, a chorus line and elephants, Benny believes. It doesn't take "joken," the CBS comic said. "The important thing is building up character. In fact, it's tougher trying to write just plain gags," Benny declared. "We've polished our characters and their quirks over the years, and what we try to do is explore new facets of their personalities."

Topicality is a vital ingredient, Benny explained, and the comedian has to keep up with the times. "But it's important not to abuse the topical line. It's the simplest thing in the world to get a laugh by panning Washington," Benny said.

Stingiest Man' Genesis

The Benny caricature as the stingiest man in the world, he

'Stinglest Man' Genesis
The Benny caricature as the stinglest man in the world, he recalls, happened by accident, after a couple of scripts featured the penny-pinching penchant. Similarly, the toupee trademark was unplanned, being carried over from a film gimmick. The Benny-Allen "fraud" was also improporting developments. unplanned, being carried over from a film gimmick. The Benny-Allen "feud" was also impromptu, developing after Fred Allen twitted Benny on his fiddling while introing a moppet amateur on a broadcast. About the only running gag that Benny actually planted was last season's cleffing of a tongue-incheek ballad, "When You Say I Beg Your Pardon, Then I'll Come Back to You."

No changes are slated for his

No changes are slated for his CBS Radio airer, Benny said, except that Bob Crosby will take over for Phil Harris. Because he's so cept that Bob Crosby will take over for Phil Harris. Because he's so strong an advocate of the relaxed approach, Benny said, he doesn't plan "anything big" for video next fall. He prefers to work with just a few top people, and feels even if he just "stands before the cameras and tells some stories it can be effective," because in radio the joke is always on him.

"Even in radio, whenever we have two or three successive shows

"Even in radio, whenever we have two or three successive shows with strong guests, we try to follow them with something light and easy." Benny said. "Good pacing demands it. Too often, when you try to top something, when you reach too hard, you conk out. Maybe not every one is tremendous, but there are fewer turkeys and the overall effect is a pleasant, listenable show."

Sunday performances, and he enjoys doing two shows a night. He has played London four times in the past four years, and feels he has a good grasp of what the European payees want. He finds them responsive and sophisticated, and said they "remember everything from my radio shows, which they heard when the program was beamed to the GIs in Europe."

Comic flies to Detroit tomorrow

beamed to the GIS in Europe."
Comic flies to Detroit tomorrow
(Thurs.) to pick up his new auto, which he'll then drive to L. A. His wife, Mary Livingstone, remained on the Coast.

DuM-Hughes

Continued from page 3

vancing a substantial sum if it

vancing a substantial sum if it could be assured of the pix. He also pointed out that the company has a large block of shares in its treasury, some of which might be used for acquisition of the films, if the whole thing set up right.

Kuhn, Loeb & Co., bankers for DuMont, were enlisted by the web to make a first-hand call—apparently to Hughes—in an effort to learn if the vault-load of pix was actually for sale. The Wall St. house apparently got no more definite answer than has anyone else.

Financing

Financing

Kuhn, Loeb did not figure in DuMont's financing plans on the deal except as advisers in the status of the network's bankers, status of the network's bankers, Witting stated.

Chemical Bank & Trust, N. Y., was approached on the financing of the RKO deal some five or six weeks ago, according to v.p. Edwin C. Van Pelt, but nothing has been heard on it since. Bank requested more facts and figures before giving any kind of answer to the attorney who broached the deal.

Witting said that he and Chesany any kind of answer to the attroney who broached the deal.

Witting said that he and Ches-ler had become very good friends in the long-negotiations because the Canadian was the one man who had not taken the position that he could sell DuMont the RKO pix. Chester had only stated the possibility.

As a result of the association that grew out of their huddles, Witting said, Chesler and DuMont may get together on production of special pix for video. Chester is interested in tele and has vast resources, while DuMont has the experience in the field and will shortly have new studios available in New York with production fa-New York with production fa in New York with production facilities.

DuMont's interest in obtaining the RKO films lies in the added strength they'd provide the network. Last year it ran a poor fourth (doing about 5% of all TV network biz), after NBC, CBS and ABC. A big backlog of top feature films would give DuMont some of the power that other webs get with expensive live shows.

Dietrich last week denied reports that Mellon Bank of Pittsburgh, which has done much of Hughes' financing, would supply $7,500,000 "or any other amount," for the purpose of purchasing the backlog. Dietrich also said that he knows of no offer by the Mellon Bank to take Bankers Trust, N. Y., out of the RKO financing picture. It had been reported that Mellon and Bankers, which share a loan to RKO, had under consideration a plan whereby Mellon would take over the Bankers Trust end. end.

RCA-Col

Continued from page 1

has held back on the idea because of a desire not to further upset the record business, as occurred three years ago with the "battle of the speeds."

years ago with the "battle of the speeds."

Col's switch may be motivated by the fact that it has not been able to make much progress with its 45 rpm pops business, despite an excellent achievement via its 78 rpm output of pop hits. A reported Col idea is two pops per side—or four tunes back to back—on its own version of a long-playing 45 rpm. Thus, it feels it may garner a larger share of that business.

At presstime last night there

At presstime last night there were no top executives available for confirmation in both companies. Lorin H. Rambe, 64, former vaudeville performer, died July 25 at his home near Danville, Ind. He toured the midwest as a tan dancer using the name of Bud Curtis.

Clifford C. Clifton, 53, stage di-

Legion Red Tax

= Continued from page 1 =

those not on the list will be permitted to work in Hollywood without interference and that, in fact, many of them already were employed.

"If John Garfield were allye to-day he'd be working," declared

"If John Garneid were anye to-day he'd be working," declared this spokesman. He said that most of the people on the original list had satisfactory explanations of the appearance of their names in connection with activities of vari-ous organizations or events held to be subversive.

ous organizations or events near to be subversive.

Others, he added, have had a change of heart and have indicated it with sufficient sincerity to satis-fy the Legion, Sokolsky, Bond and/ or others engaged in the loyalty check. check.

Removes Unfair Onus

declare

"Most of them," declared the spokesman, "are good Americans—as good as you or I. This project has done them tremendous good in nas dobe them tremendous good in removing an unfair onus from them. In most cases, the Communist label was unfairly attached to them. Others were a little foolish and none of them will suffer the consequences of their errors."

The anonymity-desirous spokes-

The anonymity-desirous snokes-man stressed the amount of work which he and others concerned with the project were putting into a study of each situation. He re-fused to clarify what part the lit-ters themselves were playing, as-serting "the letters are unimpor-tant." He indicated that there was further contact, either by mail or phone, with those named on the original list.

Promising to tell the whole "dra-

Promising to tell the whole "dra-matic" story within a month the or qual list.

Promising to tell the whole "dramatic" story within a month, the spokesman refused to divulge any details of the mechanics by which the names are being culled. It is understood, however, that the letters requested by each studio have been forwarded by them to James F. O'Neil, director of publications for the Legion and editor of its maeazine, which spurred the organization's interest in Hollywood with an article in last December's issue cuestioning the sincerity of the film colony's cleanout of Reds.

O'Neil reportedly forwards some or all of the letters to Sokolsky, who has been highly active over the years in the campaign against Communism. The Hearst columnist is understood to give his opin-

Communism. The Hearst columnist is understood to give his opinition on the worth of the explanations and to use his resources to check on cases where he's uncertain.

Info From Bond

Info From Bond

Where further Hollywood onthe-scene info is thought necessary, it's understood: that O'Neil either sends the letters or at least his request for more dope to Bond. Actor is an exec of the Motion Picture Alliance; Hollywood group that has waged a long fight on Communists among film workers. The Legion loyalty project grew out of a meeting in Washington in April with O'Neil and Donald Wilson, national commander, requested by pic industry toppers. It was attended by a number of company prexies.

Session followed the Legion mag article, which resulted in picketing and other bo.-harmful activities by AL posts throughout the country of pix with which allegedly offensive Hollywoodites were associated. It was agreed at the Washington huddle that the Legion would provide each studio with a list of those people on its lot who were felt to be tainted for one reason or another.

Studios then invited these people

lot who were felt to be tainted for one reason or another.
Studios then invited these people to write their explanatory letters and give them to a top-level exec on each lot. Pronounced aim was to get all the suspect workers out of the limbo in which they were existing and either give them a clean bill of political health or definitely tag them with the Red mark, which would mean their pix were subject to picketing or other reprisals. reprisals

MARRIAGES

Ann Walsh to Frank LaMark, Pittsburgh, July 15. Groom's with Tommy Carlyn orch.
Rose Ellen Orban to John Daley, Jr., Somerset, Pa., July 15. Bride is sister of Frank O. Orban, Jr., Somerset county district attorney and the and theatre owner. Norma Webb to Elbert Walker, Norma Webb to Elbert Walker, Los Angeles, July 19. She's a radio publicist, he's a TV director. Joan Evans to Kirby Weatherly, Beverly Hills, July 25. Bride is a screen actress. Alice Virginia French to William Primrose, N. Y., July 15. He's concert viola soloist.

NO ONE but the but the amazingly dependable amazingly dependable MR. HAMPTON those huge delivers consistently grosses

SIX MONTHS HAVE

of Eastern Engagements

Just Concluded

Including Ten Separate Dates in Nova Scotia
Seville Theatre, Montreal
Casino Theatre, Toronto
Apollo Theatre, New York
Three Rivers Inn, Syracuse
Surf Club, Wildwood

Set., Aug. 2, 9:00 to 10:30 P.M. NBC-TV Saturday Nite Bases Party

HAMPTON

and his Orchestra

CONSECUTIVE

Concert and

Dance Dates

IN

CALIFORNIA

Current Releases

DECCA

MGM

if You Ever Learned to Love Me Jelly Roll Kingfish

Don't Flee the Scene Salty

Midnight Sun Blow-Top Blues Oh, Rock Love You Like Mad In Addition to-

*PARAMOUNT
THEATRE
San Francisco
Week of Aug. 22

PARAMOUNT
THEATRE
Los Angeles
Week of Sept. 19

ASSOCIATED BOOKING CORPORATION

CHICAGO 203 No. Wabash Central 6-9451 JOE GLASER, President NEW YORK 745 Fifth Avenue PLaza 9-4600

HOLLYWOOD 8619 Sunset Blvd. Crestview 1-8131

